cyon were they consumed. A greate wonder dyd he vpon them, and cõsumed them with the fyre. * Besydes thys, he made Aaron *Nu.xvi.b
yet more honorable and gloryous. He gaue hym an heryptage, and parted the fyrst fru-tes vnto him. * Unto him specially he ap- *Exo.xxix.
poynted the bred for sustenaunce, (for ỹ pri- Leui.viii.b.
stes dyd eat of the offrynges of the Lorde)
thys gaue he vnto him & his sede. * Els had *Deut.xii.
he no heryptage ner porcyon in the lãde and and.xviii.
with the people. For the Lord hym selfe is Ezec.xliiii.
hys porcyon and enheryptaunce.

The thirde noble & excellẽt man is * Phi- F
nehes ỹ sonne of Eleazer, which pleased the *Nu.xxv.
God of Israel, because he had the zele & feare of the Lorde. For when the people were tourned backe, he put hym selfe forth ryght soone, and ỹ with a good will, to pacifie the wrath of the Lorde towarde Israel. Therfore

fore was there a couenaunt of peace made with him, ꝑ he shulde be ꝑ principall among the ryghteous & the people, that he & his posterite shulde haue the office of the presthode for euer (Lyke as there was made a couenaunt with Dauid of ꝑ trybe of Juda, that from amonge his sonnes onely there shulde be a kyng:) And that Aaron also & his sede shulde be the heryrage, to geue vs wysdome in oure herte, to iudge hys people in ryghteousnes: that his goodes shulde not come into forgetfulnes, and ꝑ their honoure myght endure for euer.

¶The.xlvi.Chapter.

¶The prayse of Josue, Caleb, and Samuel.

A
Anly & stroge i battayll * was Jelus ꝑ sonne of Naue, which in steade of Moses the prophet was geuen to be captayne of ꝑ people, which accordynge vnto his name was a great sauioure vnto the electe of God, to punysh ꝑ enemies that rose vp agaynst Jsrael, ꝑ Jsrael myght optayne theyr inheritaunce. O how greate, noble, & excellent was he, when he lyft vp his hand, and drew out his swerde agaynst ꝑ cyties? Who stode so manly before hym? For the Lord him selfe brought in ꝑ enemies. * Sto de not the Sunne styll at his commaundement, and one daye was as lōge as two? He called vpon the hyest and most myghtye when ꝑ enemyes prealled vpon hym on euery syde, and the Lorde herde hym with the hayle stones. They smote the heyrheneth people myghtely, & in fallynge downe they slew all ꝑ aduersaries, so that the heathen knewe his hoost, and all his defence, that ꝑ Lord hym selfe fought agaynst them, for he folowed vpon ꝑ myghtye men of them.

* Josue.x.c.

B
* In the tyme of Moses also, he & Caleb the sonne of Jephune, dyd a good worcke, which stode agaynst ꝑ enemyes, with helde the people from synne, & stylled the wycked murmuryng. * And of syxe hundreth thousande people of fote, they two were preserued, to brynge them into ꝑ heritage, namely, a lande that floweth w̄ mylcke & hony. * The Lorde gaue strēgth also vnto Caleb, which remayned with him vnto his age: so that he wente vp into ꝑ hye places of ꝑ lād and his sede conquered the same for an heritage: that all the chyldren of Jsrael myght se, how good a thinge it is, to be obedient vnto the Lorde. And the iudges or rulers (euery one after his name) whose hert wēte not a whorynge, ner departed from ꝑ Lord, and that forsoke not the Lorde vnfaythfully, whose remembraunce hath a good reporte: Yee their bones floryth oute of their place, and their names shall neuer be chaunged,

* Num.xiiii.e. Deu.xxvii.b. Jhn.xxiiii.b Josue.i.a.

* Num.xiiii.g

* Jud.xiiii.e.

(but honoure remayneth styll with the chyldren of those holy men.)

Samuel ꝑ prophet beloued of the Lorde, C
* ordeyned a kyng, & anoynted the prynces ouer the people. In the lawe of the Lord ruled he, and iudged ꝑ congregacyon, and the Lord had respecte vnto Jacob. The prophet was founde diligēt in his faythfulnes: yee in his faythfulnes was the faythfulnes of the vysyon knowne. * He called vpō the Lord ꝑ almyghtye, when ꝑ enemyes preased vpō him on euery syde, what tyme as he offred ꝑ suckynge lambes. And ꝑ Lord thōdred frō heauen & made his voyce to be herde w̄ a greate noyse. He discomfyted ꝑ prynces of Tyre, and all ꝑ rulers of the Philistines. * Before his last ende he made protestacyon in ꝑ syght of the Lord, & his anoynted, that he toke nether substaūce ner good of eny man, no not so moch as a shoo, & no man myght accuse him. After this he tolde, that his ende was at hande, & shewed ꝑ kynge also his ende & death, and from the earth lyft he vp hys voyce in the prophecye, that the vngodly people shulde perysshe.

* 1.Reg.x.a. and.xvi.b.

* 1.Re.xiii.a

* 1.Reg.xii.a

¶The.xlvii.Chapter.

¶The prayse of Nathan, Dauid, and Salomon.

A
After warde in the tyme of kyng Dauid, there rose vp a prophet called Nathan: For lyke as ꝑ fat is taken awaye from ꝑ offeryng, so was Dauid chosen out of ꝑ chyldren of Jsrael. He toke his pastyme with the lyons, as with kyddes, and with beares lyke as w̄ lābes. * Slew he not a gyaunte when he was yet but ponge, and toke awaye the rebuke from his people (what tyme as he toke ꝑ stone in hys hāde, and smote downe proude Goliath with the slynge?) For he called vpon the hyest Lord, which gaue him strēgth in hys ryght hande, so that he ouerthrew the myghtye gyaunte in the battyll, that he myght set vp the horne of hys people agayne. * Thus brought he hym to worshyppe aboue all prynces, and made hym to haue a good reporte in the prayse of the Lorde, that he shuld were a crowne of glory. * For he destroyed the enemyes on euery syde, roted out the Philistines his aduersaries, and brake theyr horne in sunder, lyke as it is broken yet thys daye. In all hys worckes he praysed the hyest and holyest, and ascrybed the honoure vnto hym. With hys whole hert dyd he prayse the Lorde and loued hym that made hym. * He set syngers also before the aulter, and in their tyme he made swete songes. He ordeyned to kepe the holy dayes worshyppfully, and that the solempne feastes thorow the whole yeare shulde be honorably holden, with prayslnge the name of the

* 1.Re.xvii.d.

* 1.Re.xvii.f.

* iii.Re.xviii b.

* ii.Par.v.b.b.

* ii. Para. xxi.a.

Lorde, and with syngynge by tymes in the morynyng in the Sanctuary.

C * The Lorde toke awaye his synnes, and *ii.Me.vii.d. exalted his horne for euer. He gaue hym the couenaũt of ꝑ kyngdome, and the throne of
*iii.Me.iii.c. worshyppe in Israel. * After him there rose vp ꝑ wyse sonne called Salomon, ꝑ for hys sake he droue the enemyes awaye farre of.
This Salomon raygned w̃ peace in his tyme (for God gaue him reste frõ his enemyes
on euery syde, that he myght buylde him an house in his name, & prepare the Sanctuary for euer) lyke as he was well instructe i his youth, & fylled with wysdome & vnderstan-dynge, as it were w̃ a water floude. He cou-ered & fylled the whole lande with similitudes & wyse prudent sentences.

D Hys name wente abrode in ꝑ Iles, becau se of his peace he was beloued. All landes marueled at his songes, prouerbes, simplytudes, and at his peace, and at the name of the Lorde God, which is called the God of
* iii. Me.v.d. Israel. * He gathered golde as tynne, & he *iii.Me.vi.a. had as moch syluer as leade. * He was moued in inordynate loue towarde wemẽ, and was ouercome in affeccyon. He stayned hys honoure & worshyppe, yee his posterite dey-led he also, in bryngynge ꝑ wrath of ꝑ Lor-
de vpon his chyldren, and sorowe after hys
* iii.Me.vii.a ioye: * so that his kyngdome was deuyded, and Ephraim became an vnfaythfull, and
*ii.Me.vii.e. an vnconstant kyngdome. * Neuertheles God forsoke not his mercy, nether was he vtterly destroyed because of hys workes,
that he shulde leaue him no posterite.

E As for ꝑ sede ꝑ came vpon him, which he loued, he brought it not vtterly to naught
but gaue yet a remnaunt vnto Jacob, and a rote vnto Dauid out of him. Thus rested Salomon with hys fathers, and out of hys
sede he left behynde hym a very foolyshnes
of the people, and soche one as had no vnder
*iii.Me.vii.b standynge: * euen, Roboam, which turned awaye the people thorow his councell, and ‡ iii.Me.vii.d Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat, ‡ which caused Israell to synne, & shewed Ephraim the waye of vngodlynes. In so moch that their synnes and myssededes had the vpper hãde so sore, that at the last they were dryuen out of the lande for the same: yee he sought out
and brought vp all wyckednes, tyll the vẽgeaunce came vpon them.

C The .xlviii. Chapter.

C The prayse of Elias, Elyseus, Ezechias, and Esay.

A Then stode vp * Elias the prophet
*iii.Me.xvii. as a fyre, & his worde brent lyke
a. a cresshet. He brought an honger vpon them, & in his zele he made them fewe in nombre. For they myght not awaye w̃ the cõmaundemẽtes of the Lorde.
Thorowe the worde of the Lord he shut the heauen, * & thre tymes brought he the fyre
*iii.Me.xviii
a.
*iiii.Reg.i.c. downe. Thus became Elias honorable in his wonderous dedes. Who maye make his boast to be lyke him? * One that was deed
*iii.Me.xix
c. raysed he vp from death, and in the worde
of the hyest he brought him oute of the graue agayne. He cast downe kynges and destroyed them, & the honorable frõ their sea-
te. Vpon the mounte Syna he herde the pu nyshement, & vpon Horeb the iudgement of the vengeaunce. He prophecyed recompen-synge vnto kynges, * ordeyned prophetes
*iii.Me.xx.a ‡ iiii.Me.ii.c. after hym. ‡ He was taken vp in ꝑ storme of fyre, in a charet of horses of ꝑ Lorde. He was ordyned in the reprouynges in tyme
to pacyfye the wrath of ꝑ Lord, * to turne
*Luce.i.a. the hertes of the fathers vnto the chyldren,
and to sett vp the trybes of Jacob agayne.
Blessed were they that saw the, & were gar-nyshed in loue: for we lyue in lyfe: (but after death we shall haue no such name.)

* Elias was couered in ꝑ storme, but he- B lyseus was fylled w̃ his spyrite. Whyle he *iiii.Me.ii.a.
iii.g.iiii.
lyued he was afrayed of no prynce, and no man myght ouercome hym. There coulde no worde disceaue hym, * & after his death
*iiii.Me.xl
b.
his body prophecied. ‡ He dyd wõders i his ‡ iiii.Reg.
iv.d.vii.viii.
lyfe, and in death were his workes maruelous. For all this, ꝑ people amẽded not, nether departed they frõ they⁹ synnes: * tyll
*iiii.Reg.
xvii.b.
they were caryed awaye prisoners out of ꝑ
lãde, & were scatred abrode in all countrees,
so that of them there remayned, but a very lytle people, and a prynce vnto the house of Dauid. Howbeit some of them dyd ryght, and some heaped vp vngodlynes.

* Hezekias made his cytie strõge, cõueyed C
water into it, bygged thorow ꝑ stony rocke
*ii.Par.
xxxii.a.
with pyron, & made vp a well by ꝑ water sy-
de. * In his tyme came Sennacheryb vp,
*iiii.Reg.
xviii.c.
Esa.xxxvi.d.
& sent Rabsakes, lyft vp his hãde agaynst
Syon, and defyed them with greate pryde.
Then trymbled they⁹ hertes and hãdes, so that they sorowed lyke a woman trauay-lyng with chylde. So they called vpon the Lorde, which is mercyfull, & lyft vp they⁹ handes before hym. Immediatly the Lord herde thẽ out of heauen: (he thought nomo-re vpõ they⁹ synnes, ner gaue them ouer to they⁹ enemyes:) but delyuered them by the hande of Esay. * He smote the hoost of the
*iiii.Reg.xix.
a.
Assyrians, and his angell destroyed them.
For Hezekias had done ꝑ thyng that pleased the Lorde, & remayned stedfastly in the waye of Dauid his father. Which Esaye ‡ iiii.Me.xx Esa.xxxviii.
b.
was greate & faythfull in his visions. ‡ In his tyme the Sunne wente backwarde, and he lengthened the kynges lyfe. Wherby a ry-ghte sprete prophecyed he, what shulde come to passe at the last: and to soche as were sorowful in Syon he gaue consolacyon,

wherwith

wherwith they myght conforte them selues for euermore. He shewed thynges that were for to come and secrete, or euer they came to passe.

¶The.xlix.Chapter.

¶Of Josiah, Hezechiah, Dauid, Jeremy, Ezechiel, Zorobabel, Jesus, Nehemiah, Enoch, and Joseph.

A
3.reg.xxii.xxiii.2.Paral.xxxiii.a

The remembraunce of *Josias is lyke as whan the apotycary maketh many precyous swete smellynge thynges together. His remembraūce shalbe swete as hony in all mouthes, and as the playeng of Musyck at a bāchet of wyne. He was appoynted to turne the people agayne, and to take awaye all abhominacyons of the vngodly, he directed his herte vnto the Lorde, and in the tyme of the vngodly he set vp the worshyppe of God agayne. All kynges (except Dauid, Hezechias and Josiah) cōmitted wickednes, for euen the kinges of Juda also forsoke the lawe of God. For they gaue theyr horne vnto other, theyr honour and worshyppe also to a straunge people.

23
4.reg.xxv.b

Therfore was the electe cytie of ꝑ Sanctuary brent wyth fyre, *ꝑ the stretes therof laye desolate and waste: for they intreated Jeremy euell, whych neuertheles was a prophet ordeyned from his mothers wōbe, that he myght rote out, breake of, *and destroye: ād that he myght buylde vp, ꝑ plant agayne. *Ezechiel sawe the glory of ꝑ Lord in a vysion, which was shewed hym vpon ꝑ charrette of the Cherubins. For he thought vpon the enemyes in the rayne, to do good vnto soch as had ordred their wayes a right And the bones of the twelue prophetes florysshed frō out of theyr place: for they gaue comforte and consolacyon vnto Jacob, and delyuered them faythfully. *How shall we prayse Zorobabel, which was as a rynge in the ryght hande?

9.Esdr.ii.a
i.Esd.iii.a
ii.Esd.b.a

¶

*Also was Jesus also ꝑ sonne Of Josedec: these men in theyr tymes buylded the house and set vp the Sactuary of ꝑ Lord agayne which was prepared for an euerlastyng worshyp. *And Nehemias is alwaye to be commended, *which set vp for vs the walles that were broken downe, made the portes and barres agayne, and buylded oure houses of the new. *But vpon earth is there no man created lyke Enoch, for he was take vpfrō the earth. *And Joseph, which was lorde of hys brethren, and the vpholder of hys people: his bones were couered and kept. Seth and Sem were in great honour amonge the people: and so was Adam aboue all the beastes, whan he was created.

9.Esdr.i.a ii.Esd.iii.a

¶The.l.Chapter.

¶Of Symon the sonne of Oniah.

A
iii.Macc.iii.iii.

Symon *the sonne of Onias the hye preste, whyche in hys lyfe sett vp the house agayne, and in hys dayes made fast ꝑ temple. The heygth of the temple also was founded of hym, the double buyldynge, and the hye walles of the temple. In hys dayes the welles of water flowed out, and were creadynge full as the see. He toke care for hys people, and delyuered them frō destruccion. He kepte his cytie and made it strong, that it shuld not be beseged. He dwelt in honoure and worshyppe amonge his people, & enlarged the entreaunce of ꝑ house, and the court. He gaue lyght as the morynge starre in the myddest of the cloudes, and as the moone whā it is full. He shyned as the sunne in the temple of God. He is as bryght as the rayne bowe in the fayre cloudes, and florisheth as the floures ād roses in the spryng of the yeare, and as lylyes by the ryuers of water: Lyke as the braunches vpon the moūt Libanus in the tyme of Sommer: as a fyre and incense that is kyndled. Lyke as an whole ornament of pure golde, sett with all maner of precious stones, ād as an Olyue tree that is frutefull, ād as a Cipres tree which groweth vp an hye.

When he put on the garment of honourt, 23
and was clothed wyth all bewtye: when he went to the holy aulter, to garnish the couerynge of the Sanctuary: when he toke ꝑ porcions out of the Prestes hande, he hym selfe stode by the herth of the aulter, and his brethren rounde about in ordre. As the braunches of Cedre tree vpon ꝑ mount Libanus, so stode they rounde about him. And as the braunches of the Olyue tree, so stode all the sonnes of Aaron in theyr glorye. And ꝑ he myght sufficyently perfourme hys seruyce vpon ꝑ aulter, and garnysh the offrynge of the hyest God, he stretched out hys hande, and toke of ꝑ drynckofferynge, and powred in of the wyne: so he powred vpon the botome of the aulter a good smell vnto the hyest Prynce.

Then beganne the sonnes of Aaron to syng, and to blowe with trompettes, and to make a great noyse, for a remembraunce and prayse vnto the Lorde. Then were the people afrayed, and fell downe to the earth vpō their faces, to worshyp the Lord their God. ād to geue thankes to the almyghty God. They longe goodly also with their voyces, so ꝑ there was a pleasaunt noyse in ꝑ great house of the Lorde. And the people in theyr prayer besought the Lord the hyest, that he wolde be mercyfull, tyll ꝑ honour of ꝑ Lord were perfourmed, thus ended they theyr mynystracion & seruyce. Then went he downe ¶ and stretched out his handes ouer the whole multitude of the people of Israel, that they shulde geue prayse and thankes out of their lyppes vnto the Lord, & to reioyse in his name. He beganne yet once also to praye, that he myght openly shewe the thankelgeuyng before ỹ hyest, namely thus: O geue prayse and thākes (ye all) vnto the Lord our God, which hath euer done noble and great thynges: which hath increased oure dayes from our mothers wombe, and dealt wyth vs accordyng to his mercy: that he wyll geue vs the ioyfulnes of hert, and peace for oure tyme in Israell. Which faythfully kepeth his mercy for vs euermore, and alwaye delyuereth vs in due season.

D There be two maner of people that I abhorre fro my hert: as for the thirde, whom I hate, it is no people. They that syt vpon the mountayne of Samaria, the Phylystynes, and the foolysh people that dwell in Sichimis.

I Jesus the sonne of Syrach Eleazarus of Jerusalem, haue tokened vp these informacyons and doctrynes of wysdome and vnderstādyng in thys boke, and poured out the wysdome of my herte. Blessed is he that exercyseth hym selfe therin: and who so taketh soch to hert, shalbe wyse for euer. Yf he do these thinges, he shal be stroge in all. For the lyght of the Lorde ledeth hym.

¶ The .li. Chapter.

¶ The prayer of Jesus the sonne of Syrach.

A I Wyll thanke the, O Lorde ād kyng, and prayse the, O God my sauyoure. I wyll yelde prayse vnto thy name: for thou art my defender and helper, ād hast preserued my body from destruccyō, from ỹ snare of traytorous tonges, and frō the lyppes that are occupyed with lyes. Thou hast bene my helper, frō soch as stode vp against me, and hast delyuered me after the multytude of thy mercy, & for thy holy names sake. Thou hast delyuered me from the roaryng of thē that prepared them selues to deuoure me, out of the hādes of soch as sought after my lyfe: from the multytude of them ỹ troubled me, and went aboute to sett fyre vpon me on euery syde, so ỹ I am not bzent in the myddest of the fyre: from the depe of hell, from an vncleane tonge, from lyenge wordes, from the wycked kynge, and frō an vnrygh teous tonge. My soule shall prayse the Lord vnto death, for my lyfe drawe nye vnto hell downewarde.

B They cōpassed me roundē aboute on euery syde, and there was no man to helpe me. I loked aboute me, yf there were eny man ỹ wold socoure me: but there was none. Then thought I vpon thy mercy, O Lorde, and vpon thy actes that thou hast done euer of olde: namely, that thou delyuerest soche as put theyr trust in the, and ryddest them out of the handes of the heathē. Thus lyft I vp my prayer from the earth, ād prayed for delyueraunce frō death. I called vpō the Lord my father that he wolde not leaue me without helpe, in the daye of my trouble and in ỹ tyme of the proude: I prayed thy name continually, yeldyng honoure & thankes vnto it: and so my prayer was herde. Thou sauedest me from destruccyon, and delyueredest me from the vnrygh teous tyme. Therfore, wyll I a knowledge and prayse ỹ, and magnyfye the name of the Lorde.

C When I was yet but yonge, or euer I went astraye, I delyred wysdome openly in my prayer. I came therfore before the temple, ād sought her vnto the last. Then florysshed she vnto me, as a grape that is soone rype. My hert reioyced in her, then went my fote the rygh te waye, yee frō youth vp, sought I after her. I bowed downe myne eare and receaued her. I founde me moch wysdome: ād prospered greatly in her. Therfore wyll I ascrybe the glory vnto him, that geueth me wisdome: for I am adapted to do therafter. I wyll be gelous co cleue vnto the thynge ỹ is good, so shall I not be confounded. My soule hath wrestled with her, & I haue bene diligēt to be occupyed in her. I lyft vp myne handes an hye, then was my soule lightened thorow wisdome, that I knowleged my folyshnes. I ordred my soule after her, she and I were one heart from the begynnynge and I founde her in clennesse. And therfore shall I not be forsaken.

D My hert longed after her, and I gatt a good treasure. Thorow her the Lorde hath geuē me a new tōge, wherwith I will prayse hym. * O come vnto me ye vnlerned, and dwell in the house of wysdome: withdrawe not your selues from her, but talke and comen of these thinges, for your soules are very thyrstye. I opened my mouth, and spake. O come ād bye wysdome without money, bowe downe your neck vnder her yoch, and your soule shall receaue wysdome. She is harde at hande and is content to be founde. Behold, with your eyes, * how that I haue had but lytle laboure, and yet haue founde moch reast. O receaue wysdome, ād ye shall haue plenteousnes of syluer ād golde in possession. Let your mynde reioyse in his mercy, & be not ashamed of hys prayse. Worcke hys worcke by tymes, and he shall geue you your rewarde in due tyme.

* Esa. lv.

* Ecclī. vi.

¶ The ende of the booke of Jesus the sonne of Syrach, whych is called in Latyne, Ecclesiasticus.

¶ The booke of the Prophete Baruch.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

¶ Baruch wrote a boke, durynge the captyuyte of Babylon, whych he redde before Jechoniah and all the people. The Jewes sent the boke with money, vnto Jerusalem, to theyr other brethren: to thyntent that they shulde praye for them.

A Nd these are the wordes of the boke, whyche were wrytten by Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the sonne of Maasias, the sonne of Sedechias, the sonne of Sedecias, the sonne of Helchias, at Babylon in the fyfth yeare, and in the seuenth daye of the moneth, what time as the Caldees toke Jerusalem, and brent it vp with fyre.

And Baruch dyd reade ꝑ wordes of thys booke, that Jechoniah the sonne of Joacin kynge of Juda myght heare: and in the presence of all the people, that were come to heare the booke: yee and before all the noble kynges sonnes, before the lordes of the councell and elders: and before the whole people, frō the lowest vnto the hyest: before all them that dwelt at Babylon, by the water of Sody. Which whā they herde it, wepte, fasted, and prayed before the Lorde.

B They made a collectiō also of money, accordynge to euery mans power, and sent it to Jerusalē vnto Joachim the sonne of Helchia, the sonne of Salō preste, wyth ꝑ other prestes: and to all the people whych were wt̄ hym at Jerusalem, what tyme as they had gotten the ornamentes of the temple of the Lord (that were taken awaye out of ꝑ temple) that they myght brynge thē agayne into the lande of Juda, the tenth daye of ꝑ moneth Siban: namely, syluer vessels (whych Sedechiah ꝑ sonne of Josiah kyng of Juda had made) after that Nabuchodonosor kinge of Babylon had taken Jechoniah, wyth all his princes, lordes, and all the people, ād led them captiue from Jerusalem vnto Babylon.

C And they sayd: Behold, we haue sent you
*Dm.xliii.c Jer.xxv.b money, * to bye you burnt offerynges & incense withall: make you vnleuened bred, ād offre for synne vpon the aulter of the Lorde
¶ Tim.ii.b oure God. ¶ And praye for the prosperyte of Nabuchodonosor kynge of Babylon, & for the welfare of Balthasar his sonne: ꝑ theyr dayes maye be vpon earthe, as the dayes of heanē: that God also maye geue vs strēgth and lyghtē our eyes, that we maye lyue vnder the defence of Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babylon, and vnder the protection of Balthasar his sonne: that we maye longe do thē seruyce, and fynde fauoure in theyr syght.

Praye for vs also vnto the Lorde our God, for we haue synned agaynst the Lorde oure God, and vnto thys daye is not hys wrath turned yet awaye frō vs. And se that ye red thys boke (whych we haue sent vnto you to be rehearsed in the temple of the Lorde) vpō the hye dayes, and at tyme conuenient.

Thus shall ye saye: ‡ The Lord our God D is ryghteous, but we are worthye of confu- ‡ Baruc.ii.b. Dan.ix.a
sion & shame: lyke as it is come to passe this daye, vnto all Juda, and to euery one that dwelleth at Jerusalem: to our kinges, princes, prestes, prophetes and to oure fathers. We haue synned before the Lorde our God, we haue not put our trust in hym, ner geuen hym credence, we haue not obeyed hym, we haue not herkened vnto ꝑ voyce of ꝑ Lorde oure God, to walke in the commaundementes that he gaue vs. Seng the daye that he brought our forefathers out of the lande of Egipt vnto this present daye, we haue beneuer a mysbeleuyng and an vnfaythful people vnto the Lord our God: destroyeng our selues vtterly, and shrynchyng backe, that we shulde not heare his voyce.

* Wherfore there are come vpō vs great Leuit.xxvi. Deut.xxviii.
plages and dyuerse curses, lyke as ꝑ Lorde E hath spoken by Moses hys seruaunt: ‡ whyche 1 Kro.xii.xiii brought our forefathers out of the lande of xiiii.
Egypte, to geue vs a lande, that floweth wt̄ mylck ād hony, lyke as it is to se this daye. Neuertheles, we haue not herkened vnto the voyce of the Lorde our God, accordyng to all the wordes of ꝑ prophetes, whome he sent vnto vs ād to our rulers: but euery mā folowed his awne mynde & wycked ymaginacyon: to offre vnto straunge goddes, & to do euell in the syght of the Lorde oure God.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

¶ The Jewes confesse that they suffre Justly for theyr synnes. The true confessyon of the Christen. The Jewes desyre to haue the wrath of God turned frō them. The Lorde will that we obey vnto princes although they be euell. He promyseth that he will call agayne the people from captyuyte, ād geue them a newe and an euerlastynge testament.

F Or the * which cause the Lorde our A God hath perfourmed hys deuyce, * Dan.ix.b
wherof he certyfyed vs, and oure heades that ruled in Jerusalē: yee and oure kinges, our princes with al Israel and Juda. And soche plages hath the Lorde brought vpon vs, as neuer came to passe vnder the heauen lyke as it is fulfilled in Jerusalem, ‡ accordyng as it is wrytten in the ‡ Dm.xvbiii.c iiii.Reg.vi.a Deu.xxviii.b
lawe of Moses: that a man shulde eate the flesh of hys awne sonne, and the flesh of hys awne daughter. Moreouer, he hath delyuered them into the handes of all the kynges, that are rounde abonte vs (to be confounded and desolate) and scatred them abrode in al landes and nacions. Thus are we brought beneth beneth and not abone, because we haue synned agaynst the Lorde our God, & haue not bene obedient vnto his voyce. * Therfore the Lorde our God is ryghteous, and we with our fathers (as reason is) are brought to ope shame, as it is to se thys daye. And as for these plages that are come vpō vs al ready, the Lorde had deuysed thē for vs: yet wolde we not praye vnto the Lorde our God, that we myght euery man turne frō his vngodly wayes. So ỳ Lorde hath caused soch plages to come vpon vs: for he is ryghteous in all his workes, which he hath commaunded vs: which we also haue not done, ner herkened vnto his voyce, for to walke in the commoundemēts of the Lord, that he hath geuen vnto vs.

* And now, O Lorde God of Israell, thou that hast brought thy people out of ỳ land of Egipte with a myghtye hande, with tokens and wonders, with thy great power & out stretched arme: ād hast gotten thy selfe a name, as it is come to passe thys daye. O Lorde our God, we haue synned, we haue done wickedly, we haue behaued our selues vngodly in al thy ryghteousnesses. Turne thy wrath from vs (we beseche the) for we are but a few left among the heythen, where ỳ hast scatred vs. * Heare oure prayers (O Lorde) and our peticyons, brynge vs out of captyuyte, for thyne awne sake: gett vs fauoure in the syght of thē, which haue led vs awaye: that all landes maye knowe, ỳ thou art the Lorde our God, and that Israel and hys generacyon calleth vpon thy name.

O Lorde, loke downe from thy holy house vpon vs: enclyne thyne eare, and heare vs. * For the deed that be gone downe to theyr graues, ād whose soules are out of their bodyes, * ascribe vnto the Lorde, neither prayse ner righteousmahyng: but the soule that is vexed for the multitude of her sinnes, which goeth on heuely and weakely, whose eyes begynne to fayle: yee soch a soule aforeyeth prayse and ryghteousnesse vnto the Lorde:

O Lorde, we poure out our prayers before the, ād requyre mercy in thy syght, O Lorde our God: not for eny godlynesse of our forefathers, but because thou hast sent oute thy wrath and indignacion vpon vs: accordyng as thou dydest threaten vs, by thy seruaunts the prophetes, sayenge:

* Thus sayeth the Lorde: Bowe downe your shulders and neckes, and serue ỳ kyng of Babylon, so shall ye remayne styll in the lande, that I gaue vnto your fathers. Yf ye wyll not do thys, ner heare the voyce of the Lorde your God, to serue the kynge of Babylon: I shal destroye you in ỳ cyties of Juda, within Jerusalem and without. I wyll also take from you the voyce of myrth & the voyce of ioye, ỳ voyce of the brydegrome ād the voyce of the bryde, and there shal no man dwell more in the lāde. But they wolde not herken vnto thy voyce, to do the kynge of Babylō seruyce: and therfore hast thou performed ỳ wordes that thou spakest by thy seruaunte the prophetes: namely, that the bones of oure fathers shulde be translated out of theyr place.

And lo, now are they layde out in ỳ heat of the sunne, and in the colde of the nyght, & dead in greate mysery, with hunger, with sweard, with pestilēce & are clene cast forth. As for the tēple wherin thy name was called vpon, thou hast layde it waste, as it is to se this daye: & that for the wickednes of the house of Israell and the house of Juda. O Lorde our God, thou hast intreated vs after al thy goodnes, & accordynge to all that great louynge mercy of thyne, lyke as thou spakest by thy seruaunt Moses, in the daye whan thou bydest cōmaunde hym, to wryte thy lawe before ỳ childre of Israel, saying: * Yf ye wyll not herke vnto my voyce, then shall this great multytude be turned into a very small people, for I wyl scatre them abrode. Notwythstandynge I am sure that this folke wil not heare me: for it is an hard necked people. But in the lande of their captyuite, they shall remembre them selues, ād lerne to knowe, that I am the Lorde theyr God, whan I geue them an herte to vnderstande, and eares to heare. Then shall they prayse me in the land of their captyuyte: ād thynche vpō my name. Then shal they turne them from theyr harde backes, and from their vngodlynes. Then shall they remembre the thynges, that happened vnto theyr forefathers, whych synned agaynst me. So wyll I brynge them agayne into the lande, which I promysed with an ooth vnto theyr fathers: Abraham, Isaac, ād Jacob: & they shal be lordes of it, yee I wil increase them, and not minysh thē. * And I wyll make another conenaunt with them: soch one as shal endure for euer: namely, that I wil be theyr God, and they shalbe my people: and I wyl nomore bryue my people the chyldren of Israel, out of the lande that I haue geuen thē.

The.iii. Chapter.

The people contynueth in theyr prayer begonne for theyr deliueraunce. He prayeth wysdome vnto the people. Sheweth that for great aduersitees came vnto them for the displeasure therof. Only God was the fynder of wysdome. Of the incarnacyon of Christ.

AND now, O Lorde almyghty, thou God of Israel: our soule that is in trouble, and oure spryte that is vexed, cryeth vnto the: heare vs (O Lorde) and haue pitie vpon vs, for thou art a mercyfull God: be gracyous vnto vs, for we haue synned before the. Thou endurest for euer, shulde we then vtterly perysh?

O Lorde

O Lorde almyghtye, thou God of Israell: heare now the prayer *of the deed Israelites and of theyr chyldren, whych haue synned before the, and not herkened vnto the voyce of the Lorde their God, for the which cause these plages hange now vpon vs. O Lorde, remembre not the wickednes of our forefathers, but thinke vpon thy power ād name now at this tyme: for thou art ꝓ Lord our God, and the (O Lorde) wyll we prayse. *For thou hast put thy feare in oure hertes, to the intent that we shuld call vpō thy name, and praise the in our captiuite: & that we myght turne frō the wyckednes of oure forefathers, that synned before the.

B Behold, we are yet this daye in our captyuyte, where as thou hast scatred vs, to be an abhominacyon, curse, and synne: *lyke as it hath happened vnto oure fathers also, because of all theyr wickednesse and departynge from the.

O Israel, heare the cōmaundementes of lyfe: ponder thē well with thyne eares, that thou mayest lerne wysdome. But how happeneth it Israel, that thou art in thyne enemyes land? thou art waxē olde in a straūge countre, ād defyled with the dead. Why art thou become lyke them, ꝓ go downe to their graues? Euē because thou hast *forsake the well of wysdome. For yf thou haddest walked in ꝓ waye of God truly, ꝓ shuldest haue remayned styll safe in thyne awne lande.

*O lerne then where discrecyon is, where vertue is, where vnderstādyng is: that thou mayest knowe also from whence commeth *longe lyfe, a necessary lyuyng, the lyght of the eyes, and quyetnes. Who euer founde out her place? oꝛ who came euer into hyr treasures.

C Where are the princes of the heathen become, and soch as ruled the beastes vpō the earth? They that had their pastyme with ꝓ foules of the ayre, they that hoorded vp syluer and gold (wherin men trust so moch) ād made no ende of their gatheringe? What is become of thē that coyned syluer, and were so carefull, and coulde not bryng their worckes to passe? They be roted out, & gone downe to hell, and other mē are come vp in their steades. Yonge mē haue sene lyght, & dwelt vpon earth: but the waye of reformacio haue they not knowne, ner vnderstāde the pathes therof: nether haue their children receaued it, yee right farre is it from thē. It hath not bene herde of in the lande of Canaan, nether hath it bene sene at Theman.

D The Agarenes sought after wysedome, but that which is earthly, lyke as the marchauntes of the lande do. They of Theman are conninge also, and they laboure for wisdome and vnderstandynge: but the waye of true wysedome they knowe not: nether do they thinke vpon ꝓ pathes therof. O Israel how great is the house of God? & how large is the place of his confessiō? *Great is he, & hath none ende: ye & vnmeasurable. What is become of those famouse gyaunters, that were so great of bodyes, and so worthy men of warre? Those had not the Lorde chosen, nether haue they founde ꝓ waye of reformacyon, therfore were they destroyed: ād for so moch as they had no wysdome, they perysshed because of theyr foolyshnesse.

Who hath gone vp into heauen, to take E wysdome there, and brought her downe frō the cloudes? Who hath gone ouer the see to fynde her, and hath chosen her aboue golde, ād so brought her hyther? No man knoweth the wayes of wysdome, nether is there eny that can seke out her pathes. But he ꝓ knoweth all thynges, knoweth her, and he hath foūde her out wt his forknowledge. ‡Thys ‡Gene.i.b same is he which prepared the earth at ꝓ begynning & fylled it with all maner of fowles & beastes. *Whē he sendeth out ꝓ lyght, *Iohan.i.c it goeth: and when he calleth it agayne, it Esa.xxxviii.b obeyeth hym wythfeare. The starres kepe Eccle.xlvi.a theyr watch, and geue theyr lyght, yee and that gladly. Whē he calleth them they saye: here we be. And so wyth chearfulnesse they shewe lyght vnto hym that made them. ‡This is oure God, & there shall none other ‡pt. cxlviii.a be compared vnto hym. It is he that hath Deut.xxxi.a founde out all wysdome, and hath geuen her vnto Jacob his seruaunt, and to Israel hys beloued. *Afterward dyd he shew him selfe *Iohn.i.a vpon earthe, and dwelt amonge men. i.Iohn.i.a

C The.iiii.Chapter.

C The rewarde of them that kepe the lawe, and the punyshment of them that despyse it. A comforte vnto ꝓ people beynge in captyuyte. A complaynte of Jerusalem, and vnder the figure therof, of the churche. A consolacion and comforte vnto the same.

THys is the booke of the commaundementes of God, and the lawe that endureth for euer. All they that kepe it, shal come to lyfe: but soch as forsake it, shal come to death. Turne the O Jacob, and take holde of it: walke by this waye thorowe hys bryghtnesse and shyne. Geue not thyne honoure to another, and thy worshyppe to a straūge people. O Israel, *how happye are we, seyng ꝓ God hath shewed vs soch thynges as are pleasaunt vnto hym? Be of good cheare, thou people of God, O thou auncyēt Israel. ‡Now are ye solde amōge ꝓ heathē, howbeit, not for your vtter destruccyon: but because ye prouoked God ꝓ Lorde to wrath and displeasure, therfore were ye delyuered vnto your enemies: for ye displeased ꝓ euerlastyng God that made you, offeringe vnto deuels & not to God. Ye haue forgotten him that brought you vp, and youre nurse haue

*Deu.viii.f. Iere.xxxii.b Psal.cxlv.a

*Psa.xxxiii.b

‡iiii.Reg xvii.b and.xxb.

ye

pe greued, O Jerusalem.

B Whan she sawe þ the wrath of God was commynge vpon you, she sayde: Herken O ye that dwell aboute Syon, for God hath brought me into great heuynesse: and why? I se þ captyuite of my people, of my sonnes and daughters, which the euerlastyng God wyll bryngе vpon them. Wyth ioye dyd I norysh thē, but now must I leaue thē wyth weppynge and sorow.

Let no man reioyce ouer me wyddowe & forsaken: which for the synnes of my children am desolate of euery mā. For why? they departed from þ lawe of God: they wold not knowe his ryghteousnes, ner walke in the waye of his commaundementes: and as for the pathes of the truth and godlynesse, they had no lust to go in them.

C O ye dwellers aboute Syon, come, and let vs call to remēbraunce the captyuite, þ the euerlastyng God hath brought vpō my sonnes & my daughters. * He hath brought a people vpō thē from farre, an vncurteous people and of a straunge langage: wheych nether regarde the olde, ner pytie the yong.

Deu.xxviii.c
Jerem.v.b

These haue caryed awaye the deare beloued of my wyddowes, leauyng me alone, both desolate and childles. But alas, what can I helpe you? Now he that hath brought these plages vpon you, delyuer you also frō the handes of our enemyes.

Go your waye (O my children) go your waye: for I am desolate & forsaken. * I haue put of the clothynge of peace, and put vpō me the sack cloth of prayer: and for my time I wyll call vpon þ moost hyest. Be of good cheare O my children: crye vnto the Lord, and he shal delyuer you from þ power of the prynces, your enemyes.

Deut.iiii.c xxx.a Psal.cxxx.a

For verely, I haue euer a good hope of your prosperous health: yea a very gladnes is come vpon me from the holy one, because of the mercy that ye shall haue of oure euerlastynge sauyoure.

D Wyth mourning and weppynge dyd I let you go fro me, but with ioye and perpetuall gladnes, shall the Lorde bryng you agayne vnto me. Lyke as þ neyghbours of Syon sawe your captiuite from God. Euē so shal they also se shortly youre health in God, which shal come on you with great honoure and euerlastynge worshyppe.

*ii.xx.xbi.b.

O my children, * suffre pacyently þ wrath that shall come vpon you. For the enemye hath persecuted the, but shortly thou shalt se hys destruccyon, and shalt treade vpon hys necke. My derlynges haue gone rough harde wayes, for they are led awaye as a flocke that is scatred abrode wyth the enemyes. But be of good comforte (O my children) and crye vnto þ Lord: For he that led you awaye, hath you yet in remēbraunce: and lyke as ye haue bene mynded to swarue from your God, * so shall ye now endeuour your selues .x. tymes more, to turne agayne and to seke hym. For he that hath brought these plages vpō you, shall bryng you euerlastyng ioye agayne with your health. Take a good herte vnto the, O Jerusalem: for he which gaue the that name, exhorteth the so to do.

*Esa.liii.

* The wycked doers that now put the to trouble, shal perysh: and soch as haue reioysed at thy fall, shalbe punysshed. The cytyes whom thy children serue, and that haue caryed awaye thy sonnes, shalbe correct. For lyke as they be now glad of thy decaye (and reioyse at thy fall) so shall they mourne in theyr awne destruccion. The ioye of theyr multytude shalbe taken awaye, and theyr cheare shalbe turned to sorowe. For a fyre shal fal vpon thē from the euerlastyng God longe to endure: and it shalbe inhabited of deuels for a great season.

*Jer.l.a.

¶ The .v. Chapter.

¶ Jerusalem is moued vnto gladnes for the retourne of her people, and vnder the figure therof, the churche.

A O Jerusalē, loke aboute the towarde the east, and beholde the ioye that commeth vnto the from God. For lo, thy sonnes (whō thou hast forsaken, and that were scatred abrode) come gathered together, from the east and west, reioysynge in the worde of the holy one, vnto the honoure of God.

Put of thy mournynge clothes (O Jerusalem) and thy sorow, and decke the wyth the worshyppe and honoure, that commeth vnto the from God, with euerlastynge glory. God shall put the garment of ryghteousnesse vpon the, and sett a crowne of euerlastynge worshyppe vpon thine head: for vpō the wyll God declare hys ryghtnesse, that is vnder the heauen. Yee an euerlasting name shalbe geuen the of God, wyth peace of ryghteousnesse, and the honoure of Goddes feare.

Aryse, O Jerusalē, stande vp on hye: loke aboute the towarde the east, and beholde thy children gathered from the east, vnto the west: wheyche reioyce in the holy worde, hauynge God in remembraunce. They departed frō the onfote, and were led awaye of theyr enemyes: but now shall the Lorde bryng them caryed wyth honoure, as children of the kyngdom. For God is purposed to bryng downe all stoute mountaynes, yee and all hye rockes, to fyll the valleys, and so to make them euen wyth the grounde: that Israell maye be diliget to lyue vnto þ honoure of God. The woddes and all pleasaunt trees shall ouershadow Israel, at the commauncommaundement of God. For hyther shall God bryng Israel with ioyful myrth, and in the lyght of hys magestye: with the mercy and rygh teousnes, that commeth of him selfe.

B

¶ The.vi. Chapter.

¶ A copy of the epystle that Jeremye sent vnto the Jewes, whyche were led awaye prysonners by the kyng of Babylon: wherin he certifyeth them of the thynge, that was commaunded hym of God.

BEcause of the synnes that ye haue done agaynst God, ye shall be *led awaye captyue vnto Babylō, euē of Nabuchodonosor the kynge of Babylon. Do whan ye become into Babylon, ye shall remayne there many yeares, ād for a lōge season: namely seuen generacions: and after that wil I bryng you awaye peaceably from thence. Now shall ye se in Babylon, goddes of golde, of syluer, of wod and of stone, borne vpon mens shoulders, to cast out a fearfulnesse before the heathen. But loke that ye do not as the other: be not ye afrayed, and let not the feare of them ouercome you.

*Esay.xlviii.c

Therfore, whan ye se the multytude of people worshyppynge them behynde ād before, saye ye in youre hertes: O Lord, *it is thou, that oughtest only to be worshypped: Myne Aungell also shall be with you, and I my selfe wyll care for your soules. As for the tymbre of those goddes, ꝑ carpēter hath polysshed them: yee gylted be they, ād layed ouer with syluer, yet are they but vayne thinges, and cānot speake. Lyke as a wench that loueth peramours is trymly decked, euē so are these made & hanged with golde. Crownes of golde verely haue they goddes vpō their heades: so the prestes them selues take golde and syluer from them: and put it to their awne vses: yee they geue of the same vnto harlottes, and trymme their whores withall: agayne, they take it from the whores, and decke their goddes therwith. *Yet cannot these goddes delyuer thē selues frō rust and mothes. When they haue couered them wyth clothynge of purple, they wype their faces for the dust of the temple, wherof they is moch among thē. One hath a sceptre in hys hande, as though he were iudge of the coūtre: yet can he not slaye soch as offende him. Another hath a sweard or an axe in his hande, for all that is he nether able to defende hym selfe from battaylle, ner from murtherers.

*Psa.cxliii.a

By this ye maye vnderstande, that they be no goddes: therfore se that ye nether worshyppe them, ner feare them. For lyke as a vessell that a man vseth, is nothyng worth when it is broken, euen so is it wyth their goddes. When they be set vp in the temple, their eyes be full of dust, thorowe the fete of those that come in. And lyke as ꝑ dores are shut in rounde aboute vpon hym that hath offended the kyng. Or as it were a dead body kepte beside the graue. Euen so the prestes kepe the dores with barres and lockes, lest their Goddes be spoyled with robbers. They set vp candels before them (yee verely and that many) wherof they cānot se one but euē as blockes, so stand they in the temple. It is sayde, that the serpentes and wormes, whyche come of the earth, gnawe out their hertes, eatyng them and their clothes also, ād yet they fele it not. Their faces are black thorow the smoke ꝑ is in the temple. The oules, swalowes, and byrdes sle vpon thē, yee & ꝑ cattes runne ouer their heades.

By this ye maye be sure, that they are not goddes, therfore feare them not. The golde that they haue, is to make them beutyfull: for all that, except some body bryght of their rust, they wyll geue no shyne: and whē they were cast into a fourme, they felt it not. Thei are bought for money & haue no breth of lyfe wythin them. *They must be borne vpon mēs shoulders, as those that haue no fete: wherby they declare vnto men, that they be nothyng worth. *Cōfounded be they then that worshyppe thē. For ꝑ they fal to the grounde, they cannot ryse vp agayne of them selues. Yee though one helpe them vp and set them rygh t, yet are they not able to stande alone: but must haue proppes set vnder thē lyke deed mē. As for the tyrng that is offred vnto them, their prestes sell it, and abuse it: yee the prestes wyues take therof, but vnto the sycke and poore they geue nothynge of it, the wemē wyth chylde and the menstruous laye handes of their offrynges: By thys ye maye be sure, that they are no goddes, therfore be not ye afrayde of them. From whence commeth it thē, that they be called goddes? The wemen sytt before the goddes of syluer, golde and wood, and the prestes sytt in their temples, haupnge opē clothes, whose heades ād beerdes are shauē and haue nothyng vpō their heades: roring and cryeng vpon their goddes, as mē do at the feast, when one is deed.

*Esay.xlvi.c

*Psa.cxiii.b

The prestes also take awaye the garmētes of the ymages, and deck their wyues ād chyldrē wythal. Whether it be good or euel that eny man do vnto, thē they are not able to recompence it: they can nether sett vp a kingner put hi downe. In lyke maner they maye nether geue ryches, ner rewarde euel. *Though a man make a vowe vnto them and kepe it not, they wyll not requyre it. They can saue no man from death, nether delyuer the weake from the myghty. They cannot restore a blinde man to his sight, ner helpe eny man at hys nede. They can shew no mercy to ꝑ wyddowe, ner do good to the fatherlesse fatherlesse. Their goddes of wood, stone, golde, and syluer, are but euen as other stones, that be hewen of the mountayne. They that worshippe them, shall be confounded. How shulde they then be taken for goddes? Yee how darre men call them goddes? And though the caldees worshipped them not, hearyng that they were but domme & could not speake. Yet they them selues offre vnto Bell, and wolde fayne haue hym to speake: as who saye, they coulde fele, that maye not moue. But when these men come to vnderstanding, they shal forsake the, for their goddes haue no selynge. A greate sorte of wemen gyrde wyth coardes, syt in the streetes, and burne olyue beries. Now yf one of them be cõueyed awaye, and lye wyth eny soch as come by: she casteth her neghbours in ỳ teth, because she was not so worthelye reputed, ner her coarde broken. Whatsoeuer is done for them, it is but in vayne and lost. How maye it then be thought or sayde, that they are goddes? Carpenters and goldesmythes make them, nether be they eny other thinge but euẽ what the workemen wyll make of them. Yee the goldesmythes the selues that make them, are of no longe continuaunce. How shulde then the thinges that are made of them, be goddes? Vayne therfore are the thynges (yee very shame is it) ỳ they leaue behynde them for their prosperyte. For assoone as there commeth eny warre or plage vpon them, then the prestes ymagin, where they maye hyde them selues with the. How can men thynke then that they be goddes, which nether maye defende them selues frõ warre, ner delyuer them from myssortune? For seynge they be but of wood, of stone, of syluer and of golde: all people and kynges shall knowe hereafter that they be but vayne thinges: yee it shalbe openly declared, that they be no goddes: but euẽ the very workes of mẽs handes, and that God hath nothing to do with them. (It is manifest then that they are no goddes, but the workes of mẽs handes, and no worke of God in the.) They can set no kyng in the lande, ner gene rayne vnto men. They can geue no sentence of a matter, nether defende the lande frõ wrong. For they are not able to do so moche as a crowe, ỳ flyeth betwixte heauen and earth.

*Eccle.v.a

G When there happeneth a fyre into the house of those goddes of wodde, and syluer, and of golde, the prestes wyll escape and saue them selues, but the goddes burne as the balkes therin. They cannot withstãde eny kyng or battel: how maye it thẽ be thought or graunted, ỳ they be goddes? Moreouer, these goddes of wodd, of stone, of golde and syluer maye nether defende them selues frõ theues ner robbers: yee the very wicked are stronger then they. These stripe them out of their apparell, that they be clothed wythall, these take they golde and syluer from the, and so get the awaye: yet can they not helpe the selues. Therfore it is moche better for a man, to be a kyng, & so to shewe his power: or els a profitable vessell in a house, wherin he that owneth it might haue pleasure: yee or to be a dore in a house, to kepe soch thynges safe as be therin, thẽ to be soch a vayne god. The Sunne, the Moone and al the starres, seynge they geue their shyne and lyght, are obediẽt, and do men good. Whan the lyghtenynge glystreth, all is cleare. The wynde bloweth in euery countre: and whã God cõmaundeth the cloudes to go rounde aboute the whole worlde, they do as they are bydde. Whan the fyre is sent downe from aboue ãd cõmaunded, it burneth vp bylles & woddes. But as for those goddes, they are not lyke one of these thinges, nether in bewty nether strengthe. Wherfore men shulde not thynke ner saye that they be goddes, seyng they cã nether geue sentence in iudgment, ner do mẽ good. For so moch now as ye are sure, that they be no goddes, then feare them not. For they can nether speake euel ner good of kinges. They can shewe no tokens in heauẽ for the heythe, nether shyne as the Sunne, ner geue lyght as the Moone: yee the vnreasonable beastes are better then they, for they can get them vnder the rofe, and do the selues good. So can ye be certifyed by no maner of meanes, that they be goddes: therfore feare them not. For lyke as a scarcrowe in a garden of herbes kepeth nothyng, euen so are their goddes of wod, of syluer and golde: and lyke as a whytethorne in an orchard, that euery byrde sitteth vpon: yee lyke as a dead body that is cast in the darcke. Euẽ so is it wyth those goddes of wodd, syluer and golde. By the purple ãd scarlet whych they haue vpon them, and soone fayleth awaye, ye maye vnderstande, that they be no goddes: yee they them selues shall be consumed at the last, whych shall be a great confusion of the land. Blessed is the godly man, that hath no ymages and worshippeth none, for he shalbe farre from reproche.

¶ The ende of the prophete Baruch, which is not in the Canon of the Hebrue.

¶ The ſonge of the

the thzee chyldzen, which were put into the hote bzennynge ouen. The commen tranſlacyon readeth thys ſonge in the.iii. Chap. of Daniel.

AND they walked in ꝑ myddeſt of ꝑ flãme, prayſynge God & magnifyẽge ꝑ Lozd. Aſarias ſtode vp, & prayde on this maner. Euen in the myddeſt of ꝑ fyre opened he his mouth, & ſayde: Bleſſed be ꝑ (O Lozde God of oure fathers) ryght wozthy to be prayſed & honoured is ꝑ name of thyne foz euermoze: foz ꝑ art ryghteous i all the thinges ꝑ thou haſt done to vs: Yee, faythfull are all thy wozckes, thy wayes are ryght, ād all thy iudgementes true. In all ꝑ thinges ꝑ ꝑ haſt bzought vpõ vs, & vpõ ꝑ holy cytie of oure fathers (euen Jeruſalẽ) ꝑ haſt executed true iudgement: yee accozdyng to ryght ād equyte haſt ꝑ bzought all theſe thinges vpõ vs becauſe of oure ſynnes.

Foz why? we haue offended, & done wyckedly, departynge frõ the: * In all thynges haue we treſpaced, ād not obeyed thy cõmaundementes, ner kepte thẽ, nether done as ꝑ haſt byddẽ vs, ꝑ we might proſpere. * Wher foze, all that thou haſt bzought vpõ vs, and euery thige that thou haſt done to vs, thou haſt done thẽ in true iudgement: As in delyuerynge vs into ꝑ handes of oure enemyes, amonge vngodly and wycked abhomynacions, & to an vnrpghtuous kyng, yee ꝑ moſt frowarde vpon earth. And now we maye not open oure mouthes, we are become aſhame & repzofe vnto thy ſeruauntes, ād to thẽ that wozſhype ꝑ. Yet foz thyne names ſake (we beſeche the) geue vs not vp foz euer, breake not thy couenaunt, and take not a waye thy mercy from vs, foz thy beloued Abzahãs ſake, foz thy ſeruaũt Jſaacs ſake and foz thy holy Jſraels ſake. To whõ thou haſt ſpoken & promiſed * that thou woldeſt multiplye theyr ſede as ꝑ ſtarres of heauen, and as the ſande that lyeth vpon the ſee ſhore. Foz we (O Lozde) are become leſſe then eny people, and be kepte vnder thys daye i all the wozld, becauſe of oure ſynnes: So ꝑ now we haue nether pzynce, duke, pzophet, burntofferyng, ſacrifyce, oblacion, incenſe, ner Sanctuary befoze the.

Neuertheleſſe, in a contrepte her te and an hũble ſpzete let vs be receaued, ꝑ we maye optepne thy mercy. Lyke as in ꝑ burntofferyng of rammes and bullockes, & lyke as in thouſandes of fat lambes ſo lett oure offeryng be in thy ſyght this daye, that it maye pleaſe ꝑ, * foz there is no cõfuſion vnto thẽ, ꝑ put there truſt i the. And now we folowe the with all oure herte, we feare the, & ſeke thy face. Put vs not to ſhame, but deale wt vs after thy louynge kindneſſe, & accozding to ꝑ multytude of thy mercyes. Delyuer vs by thy myzacles (O Lozde) and get thy name & honoure: that all they which do thy ſeruauntes euell, maye be cofoũded. Let them be aſhamed thozow thy almyghtye power, & let theyr ſtrẽgth be bzokẽ: that they maye knowe, how ꝑ thou only art the Lozd God, & honoure wozthy thozow out all ꝑ wozlde.

And the kynges ſeruauntes that put thẽ in, ceaſſed not to make the ouen hote wyth wylde fyre, dyre ſtrawe, pitch and fagottes ſo that the flãme wẽte oute of the ouen vpõ a. xlix. cubytes: yee it toke awaye & bzẽt vp thoſe Calders, that it gat holde vpõ beſyde the ouen. But the Angell of the Lozde cam downe into the ouen to Aſarias and hys felowes, and ſmote the flamme of the fyre out of ꝑ ouen, and made the myddeſt of the ouen as it had bene a colde wynde blowynge: ſo ꝑ the fyre nether touched them, greued them, ner dyd them hurte. Then theſe thze (as out of one mouth) prayſed, honoured, and bleſſed God in the fornace, ſayenge,

* Bleſſed be thou, O Lozd God of oure fathers: foz thou art prayſe and honoure wozthy, yee and to be magnifyed foz euermoze.

* Bleſſed be ꝑ holy name of thy glozy, foz it is wozthy to be prayſed, and magnifyed in all wozldes. Bleſſed be thou in toe holy tẽple of thy glozy, foz aboue all thynges thou art to be prayſed, ye & moze thẽ wozthy to be magnifyed foz euer. Bleſſed be ꝑ in ꝑ trone of thy kingdome, foz aboue all ꝑ art wozthy to be well ſpokẽ of, & to be moze then magnified foz euer. Bleſſed be thou, that lokeſt thozow the depe, and ſytteſt vpon ꝑ Cherubyns: foz thou art wozthy to be prayſed, ād aboue all to be magnifyed foz euer. Bleſſed be thou in the firmament of heauẽ, foz thou art prayſe and honoure wozthy foz euer.

O all ye wozckes of ꝑ lozd: ſpeake good of the Lozd, prayſe hym, & ſet hym vp foz euer

* O ye angels of ꝑ Lozde, ſpeake good of the Lozd, prayſe him, & ſet hym vp foz euer.

O ye heaucns, ſpeake good of the Lozde: prayſe hym, and ſet hym vp foz euer.

O all ye waters that be aboue the firmament, ſpeake good of the Lozde: prayſe him and ſet hym vp foz euer.

O all ye powers of ꝑ Lozd, ſpeake good of the Lozd, prayſe hym, & ſet hym vp foz euer.

* O ye Sunne & Moone, ſpeake good of ꝑ Lozde: prayſe hym, and ſet him vp foz euer.

O ye ſtarres of heauen, ſpeake good of the Lozde: prayſe hym, and ſet him vp foz euer.

* O ye ſhowers & dew, ſpeake good of the Lozde: prayſe hym, and ſet him vp foz euer.

O all ye wyndes of God, ſpeake good of ꝑ Lozde: prayſe hym, and ſet him vp foz euer.

O ye fyre & heate, speake good of the Lorde: prayse hym, and set hym vp for euer.
O ye wynter & sommer, speake good of ꝑ Lord: prayse hym, and set hym vp for euer.
O ye dewes & frostes, speake good of the Lorde: prayse hym, and set him vp for euer.
O ye frost & colde, speake good of ꝑ Lorde: prayse hym, and sett hym vp for euer.
O ye yse and snowe, speake good of the Lorde: prayse hym, & sett him vp for euer.
O ye nyghtes and dayes: speake good of the Lord: prayse him, & set hym vp for euer.
O ye lyght and darcknesse, speake good of the Lord: prayse hym, & set him vp for euer.
O ye lyghtenynges and cloudes, speake good of the Lorde: prayse him, and sett hym vp for euer.
O lett the earth speake good of the Lord: yee let it prayse hym, & set hym vp for euer.
O ye mountaynes & hylles, speake good of the Lord: prayse him, & set hym vp for euer.
O all ye grene thynges vpon the earth, speake good of the Lorde: prayse hym, & set hym vp for euer.
O ye welles, speake good of ꝑ Lord, prayse hym, and set him vp for euer.
O ye seas and floudes, speake good of the Lorde: prayse hym, and set him vp for euer.
O ye whalles and all that moue i the waters, speake good of the Lorde: prayse him, and set hym vp for euer,
O all ye foules of the ayre, speake good of ꝑ Lord: prayse hym, & sett hym vp for euer.
O all ye beastes & catell, speake good of ꝑ Lorde, prayse hym, & sett hym vp for euer.
O ye chyldren of men, speake good of the Lorde: prayse hym, & sett hym vp for euer.
O lett Israell speake good of the Lorde: prayse hym, and set hym vp for euer.
O ye preistes of the Lorde, speake good of the Lorde, prayse hym, & sett hi vp for euer.
* O ye seruauntes of ꝑ Lord, speake good of the Lorde: prayse hym, and sett hym vp for euer.
O ye spretes and soules of the ryghteous, speake good of the Lord: prayse hym, & sett hym vp for euer.
O ye holy and humble men of hert, speake ye good of the Lorde: prayse ye hym, and set hym vp for euer.
O Ananias, Azarias and Misael, speake ye good of the Lord: prayse ye hi, & set hym vp for euer. * Which hath delyuered vs frō ꝑ hell, kepte vs from ꝑ hande of death, rydd vs from the myddest of the burning flame, & saued vs euē in ꝑ myddest of the fyre, * O geue thanckes therfore vnto ꝑ Lord: for he is kynde harted, & hys mercy endureth for euer. O all deuoute mē, speake ye good of ꝑ Lorde, euen ꝑ God of all goddes: O prayse hym, and geue him thanckes, for his mercy endureth worlde wythout ende.

*vpsal. cxiii. a cxxxiii. a and cxlv. b. Apoc. xix. c

*Jere. xx. c Esa. xlviii. a

*vi. Mac. vii. d.

The story of Sulanna, whych is the .xiii. Chapter of Danyel after the Latyn.

There dwelt a man in Babylō, called Joachim, ꝑ toke a wyfe, whose name was Sulanna, ꝑ daughter of Helchia, a very faire woman and such one as feared God. Her father and her mother also were godly people & taught theyr daughter accordynge to the lawe of Moses. Now Joachim (her husbande) was a greate rych mā, and had a fayre orcharde iopynge vnto hys house. And to him resorted the Jewes comely, because he was a mā of reputacyon amonge them. The same yeare were there made two iudges, such as the Lorde speaketh of: All the wyckednesse of Babylō, commeth from the elders (that is) from the iudges, whych seme to rule the people. These came oft to Joachims house, and all such as had ony thynge to do in the lawe came thyther vnto them. A

Now when the people came agayne at after noone, Sulanna went into her husbandes orcharde, to walke. The elders seinge thys, that she went in daylye, and walked: they burned for lust to her, yee they were almost out of theyr wyttes, and cast downe theyr eyes, that they shuld not se heauē, ner remembre, that God is a ryghtuous iudge. For they were both wounded with the loue of her, nether durst one shewe another his grefe, And for shame, they durst not tell her theyr lordynate lust, that they wolde fayne haue had to do wt her. Yet they layed wayte for her earnestly from daye to daye, that they myght (at the leest) haue a syght of her And the one sayde to the other: Up, lett vs goo home, for it is dyner time. So they wēt theyr waye from her. B

When they returned agayne, they came together, enquiryng out ꝑ matter betwixte them selues: yee the one tolde ꝑ other of hys wicked lust. Then appoynted they a tyme, when they myght take Sulanna alone,

It happened also ꝑ they spyed oute a conuenient tyme, when she went forth to walke (as her maner was) & no body wyth her, but two maydens, & thought * to wash her selfe in the garde, for it was an hote season: And there was not one person there, excepte the two elders, that had hyd them selues to beholde her. So she sayde to her maydes: go fet me oyle and sope, and shut the orcharde doze, that I maye wash me. And they dyd as she had them, and shut the orcharde doze, & went out them selues at a backe doze, to fet the thynge that she had cōmaunded: but Sulanna knewe not, that the elders laye there hyd within. Now when the maydens C

*Gen. xx. d. Leuit. xv. a.

were

were gone forth, the two elders gat thē vp: and ranne vpō her, saying: now the orchard dores are shut, that no man can se vs: we haue a lust vnto the, therfore consent vnto vs. and lye wyth vs.

If thou wylt not, we shall bringe a testimoniall agaynst the: that there was a yōge felowe with the, and that thou hast sent awaye thy maydens frō the for the same cause. Sulanna syghed, & sayde: Alas. I am in trouble on euery syde. Though I folowe your mynde, it wyll be my death, & yf I cōsent not vnto you, I cā not escape youre hāndes. Well, it is better for me, to fall into your hāde wythout the dede doynge, then to synne in the syght of the Lorde: and with that, she cryed out with a loude voyce: the elders also cryed out agaynst her.

Then ranne there one to the orcharde dore, and smote it open. Now when the seruauntes of the house herde the crye in the orcharde, they rushed in at the backe doze, to se what the matter was. So when the elders tolde them, ỳ seruauntes were greatly ashamed, for why? there was neuer such a reporte made of Sulanna. On the morow after came the people to Joachim her husbande, & ỳ two elders came also, full of myscheuous ymagynacyō agaynst Sulanna, to bringe her vnto death, & spake thus before the people: Sende for Sulanna ỳ daughter of Helchias, Joachims wyfe. And imediatly they sent for her. So she came wyth her father & mother, her children & all her kynred. Now Sulanna was a tender person, and meruelous fayre of face. Therfore the wycked mē commaunded to take of the clothes frō her face (for she was couered) that at the least, they myght so be satisfied in her beutie. Thē her frendes, yee and al they that knewe her, beganne to wepe.

These two elders stode vp in the myddest of the people, * & layed theyr handes vpon the heade of Sulanna: which wepte, and loked vp towarde heauen, for her herte had a sure trust in the Lord. And the elders sayde: As we were walkynge in the orcharde alone, thys woman came in with her two maydens: whom she sent awaye from her, & sparred ỳ orcharde dores: with ỳ a yonge felowe (which there was hyd) came vnto her, and laye with her. As for vs, we stode in a corner of the orcharde. And when we sawe this wyckednes, we ranne to her: and perceaued, ỳ they had medled together. But we could not holde hym, for he was stronger then we: thus he opened the doze & gat hym awaye.

Now when we had taken thys woman, we asked her, what yonge felowe this was: but she wolde not tell vs. This is the matter, and we be wytnesses of the same.

The comē sorte beleued them, as those that were the elders and iudges of the people, & so they cōdēned her to death. Sulāna cryed out with a loude voyce, and sayd: O euerlastige God, * thou sercher of secretes, ỳ that knowest all thinges afore they come to passe: thou wotest, ỳ they haue borne false witnes against me: & beholde, I must dye, where as I neuer dyd eny soch thynges, as these men haue malycyously inuented agaynst me. And the Lord herde her voyce. For whē she was led forth to death, the Lorde rayled vp the spryte of a yōge child, whose name was Daniel, whych cryed wt a loude voyce: * I am cleane from this bloude. Thē all ỳ people turned them towarde hi, & sayd: What meane these wordes, that thou hast spokē? Daniel stode in the myddest of them, & sayd Are ye soch fooles, O ye childzen of Israel, that ye can not discerne nor knowe the trueth? Ye haue here condēned a daughter of Israel vnto death, and knowe not the truety wherfore: Goo syt on iudgemēt agayne, for they haue spokē false wytnesse agaynst her.

Wherfore the people turned agayne in all the haste. And the elders (that is, the principall heades) sayd vnto hi: come syt downe here amonge vs, and shewe vs this matter, seyng God hath geuen ỳ as greate honoure as an elder. And Daniel said vnto thē * Put these two asyde one from another, and then shall I heare thē. Whē they were put asunder one from another, he called one of them and sayd vnto hym: O thou olde cancherde carle, that hast vsed thy wickednesse so lōg: thyne vngracyo' dedes which thou hast done afore, are now come to lyght. For thou hast geuen false iudgementes, thou hast oppressed the innocent, & letten the gylty go free where as yet ỳ Lord sayeth: * The innocēt & ryghtuo' se thou slaye not. Wel thā, yf thou hast sene her tell me vnder what tree sawest thou them talkyng together? He answered: vnder a Holbery tree. And Daniel sayde: very well, now thou lyest euen vpon thyne head. Lo the messaunger of the Lord hath receaued the sentence of hym, to cut the in two, Then put he hym asyde, & called for the other, & sayde vnto hym: O thou sede of Canaan, but not of Juda: Fayrenesse hath dysceaued the, & lust hath subuerted thyne herte. Thus dealte ye afore with the daughters of Israel, and they (for feare) consented vnto you: but the daughter of Juda wolde not abyde youre wyckednesse. Now tell me thā vnder what tree dydest ỳ take thē, speakynge together? He answered: Under a Pōgranate tree. Then sayde Daniel vnto him: very wel, now thou lyest also euē vpon thyne head. The messaunger of the Lorde standeth wayting with the swerde, to cut the in two and to slaye you both.

Wyth that, all the whole multitude gaue

a greate shoute, & praysed God, * which alwaye delyuered them that put theyr trust in hym. And they came vpon the two elders (whom Daniel had conuycte wyth theyr awne mouth: ꝓ they had geuen false wytnesse) & dealte wyth them euen lyke wyse as they wolde haue done with their neyghbours: yet they dyd * accordyng to the lawe of Moses, and put thē to death. Thus ꝓ innocent bloude was saued the same daye.

Then Helchiah & his wyfe praysed God, for theyr daughter Susāna, with Joachim her husbande and all ꝓ kynred: ꝓ there was no dishonestye founde in her. From ꝓ daye forth was Daniel had in greate reputation in the syght of the people. (And kynge Astyages was layed with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persya reigned in his steade.)

¶ The ende of the story of Susanna.

The story of Bell / & of the Dragon, which is the .xiiii. Chapter of Daniel after the Latyn.

I DAniel dyd eate at ꝓ kynges table, & was had in reuerence aboue all hys frendes. There was at Babylō an ymage, called Bel: & there were spēt vpō hym euery daye .xii. cakes, .xl. shepe, āde syxe greate pottes of wyne. hym dyd ꝓ kynge worshyp hym selfe, & wente daylye to honour hi: but Daniel worshypped hys awne God. And ꝓ kyng sayde vnto hym: why dost not ꝓ worshyppe Bel? he answered & sayde: * Because I maye not worshyp thynges ꝓ be made vᵗ handes, * but the lyuynge God, which made heaue & earth, & hath power vpō all fleshe. The kyng sayde vnto hym: thinckest ꝓ not that Bell is a lyuynge God? Or sepst thou not howmoch he eateth and dryncketh euery daye? Danyel smyled, and sayde: O kig, disceaue not thy selfe: for thys is but made of claye within, āde of metall wythout, * neither eateth he euer any thynge.

Then the kynge was wroth, & called for his prestes, and sayde vnto them: If ye tell me not who is thys, that eateth vp these expenses, ye shall dye: but yf ye cā certifie me that Bel eateth thē, then Daniel shall dye, for he hath spokē blasphemy agaynst Bel. And Daniel sayd vnto the kinge: let it so be accordinge as thou hast sayde. The Prestes of Bel were .lxx. beside theyr wyues & children. And the kynge wente with Daniel into the temple of Bel. So Bels prestes sayd Lo, we wyll go out, and set thou the meate there (O kynge) and poure in the wyne: the shutt the doze fast, and seale it wyth thyne awne sygnet: and to morow when thou cōmest in, yf thou fyndest not that Bel hath eaten vp all, we wyl suffre death: or els Daniel, that hath lyed vpon vs. The prestes thought them selues sure ynough, for vnder the altare they had made a preuy intraunce, and there wente they in euer, & dyd eate vp what there was.

So when they were gone forth, the kyng set meates before Bel. Now Daniel had comaunded his seruauntes to bringe all thes, & these he sykted thorow out all the temple, that the kynge myght se. Then wente they out, and spatred the doze, sealyng it wyth ꝓ kynges sygnet, & so departed. In the nyght came the prestes with theyr wyues & chyldren (as they were wōte to do) & dyd eate āde dryncke vp al. In the morning by tymes at the breake of the daye, the kynge arose, and Daniel wyth hym. And the kynge sayd: Daniel, are the seales whole yet? He answered: Yee (O kyng) they be whole. Now as soone as he had opened ꝓ doze, the king loked vnto the aultare, and cryed wyth a loude voyce: Greate art thou O Bel, & with the is no disceate. Thē laughed Daniel, and helde the kynge that he shulde not go in, and sayd: Beholde the pauement, marcke well, whose fotesteppes are these? The kyng sayd: I se the fotesteppes of men, wemen and chyldren.

Therfore the kynge was angrye, and tooke the prestes, with theyr wyues and chyldren, and they shewed hym the preuy dores, where they came in, & dyd eate vp such thynges as were vpon ꝓ aultare. For the whych cause the kyng slewe thē, * & delyuered Bel into Daniels power, which destroyed hym and his temple.

And in that same place there was a great Dragon which they of Babylon worshypped. And the kyng sayd vnto Daniel, sayest thou that this is but a God of metall also? lo, he lyueth, he eateth āde dryncketh: so that thou canst not saye, ꝓ he is no lyuynge God, therfore worshype hym. Daniel sayd vnto the kynge: I wyll worshype the Lorde my God, * he is the true lyuige God: as for this he is not the God of lyfe. But geue me leaue (O kyng) and I shall destroye thys Dragon without swearde or staffe. The kynge sayd. I geue ꝓ leaue. Thē Daniel toke pitch satte and heartye woll, & dyd sethe them together, and made lompes therof: this he put in the Dragons mouth, and so the Dragon burst in sonder: and Daniel sayd: lo there is he whom ye worshypped. When they of Babylon herde ꝓ, they toke greate indignacion and gathered them together agaynst ꝓ kynge, sayinge: The kynge is become a Jewe and he hath destroyed Bel, he hath slayne the the Dragon, and put the prestes to death. So they came to the kyng, and sayd: let vs haue Daniel, or els we will destroye the and thy house.

Now when the kyng sawe, that they russhed in so sore vpon hym, and that necessite constrayned him, * he delyuered Daniel vnto them: which cast hym into the lyons denne, where he was syxe dayes. In the dēne there were seuen lyons, and they had geuen them euery daye two bodyes & two shepe: which then were not geuen them, to the intent that they myght deuoure Daniel.

*Dani. bi. c

E There was in Jewry a Prophete called Abacuc, which had made potage, and brokē bred in a depe platter, and was goynge into the felde, for to bringe it to ỹ reapers. But the Angell of the Lorde sayde vnto Abacuc go carry the meate that thou hast into Babylon, vnto Daniel, which is i the lyons dēne And Abacuc sayde: Lorde, I neuer sawe Babylon: and as for the denne, I knowe it not. * Then the Angell of the Lord toke hi by the toppe, and bare hym by the hearre of the head, and (through a myghtie wynde) set him in Babylon vpon the denne. And Abacuc cried, sayenge: O Daniel * ỹ seruaunt of God, haue, take ỹ breaks fast, that God hath sent the. And Daniel sayde: O God, hast ỹ thought vpon me? Well, thou neuer fayleste them that loue the. So Daniel arose, & dyd eate: and the Angell of the Lorde sett Abacuc in his awne place agayne immediatly.

*Ezec. bili. a

*iii. Regum xvii. a

Upon the seuenth daye, the kynge wente to be wepe Daniel: and whē he came to the denne, he loked in: and beholde, Daniel sat i the myddest of the Lyons. Then cryed the kyng with a loude voyce, sayīg: Greate art thou, O Lord God of Daniel: * & he drewe hym out of ỹ lyons dēne. ‡ As for those that were the cause of hys destruccyon, he dyd cast thē into the denne, and they were deuoured in a moment before his face.

*Dani. xiiii. b. ‡ Deute. xix. b. Dani. bi. c.

After this, wrote the kynge vnto all people, kynredes and tunges, that dwelt in all countreys, sayenge: peace be multyplied vnto you. Ordeyned is my commaundement, in all the dominiō of my realme: that men feare & stāde in awe of Daniels God, * for he is ỹ lyuing God, which endureth euer: hys kyngdome abydeth vncorrupte, and his power is euerlastynge. It is he that can delyuer and saue: he doth wonders and maruelous workes in heauen and in earth, for he hath saued Daniel from the power of the Lyons.

*Dani. bi. c Luke. i. c Act. viii. b Peter. iiii. g. Dani. iii. f

C The ende of the Storye of Bel.

The prayer of Manasses kynge of Juda, when he was holden captyue in Babylon.

LOrde Almyghtie, God of oure fathers, Abrahā, Isaac and Jacob, and of the ryghteous seade of them: which hast made heauen and earth, with all the ornament therof, which haste ordened the see by the worde of thy cōmaundement: which hast shutte vp the depe, and hast sealed it for thy fearfull and laudable name, which all men feare, ād tremble before the face of thy vertue, and for the anger of thy threatēyng, the which is importable to synners. But ỹ mercy of thy promes is greate and vnsearcheable: for thou arte the Lorde God most hyghe, aboue all the earth, longsuffrynge, & exceadynge mercyfull, & repentaunt for the malyce of mē. Thou Lord after thy goodnes hast promysed repētaunce of ỹ remyssiō of synnes: and thou that arte the God of ỹ ryghtwes, hast not put repentaunce to the ryghtwes Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, vnto them that haue synned agaynst the: But because I haue synned aboue the nombre of the sandes of the see, and that myne iniquities are multyplied, I am humbled with many bandes of yron, and ther is in me no breathynge. I haue prouoked thyne anger, and haue done euell before the, in commyttynge abhominacyons and multiplying offences. And now I bowe the knees of my hert, requyrynge goodnes of the O Lorde I haue synned, Lord I haue synned, and knowe myne inyquytie. I desyre the by prayer, O Lorde forgeue me: forgeue me and destroye me not with myne inyquytyes, nether do thou alwayes remēbre myne euelles to punysh them, but saue me (which am vnworthy) after thy great mercy: and I wyll prayse the euerlastyngly, all the dayes of my lyfe: for all the vertue of heuen prayseth the, and vnto the belongeth glorye, worlde with oute ende. Amen.

The fyrst boke of the Machabees.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

¶ After the deth of Alexander the kynge of Macedonia, Antiochus taketh the kyngdom, & many of the chyldren of Israel make couenaunt wyth the Gentiles. Antiochus subdueth Egypte and Jerusalem vnto hys dominion. Jerusalem beynge burnt maketh lawes of her awne, and forbedeth to kepe Goddes lawes. Antiochus fetteth vp an Idole ouer the aulter of God.

A Fter that Alexãder the sonne of Philyppe, kinge of Macedonia wente forth of the lãde of Cethim, & slewe Dari⁹ kyng of the perlyãs and Medes: It happened, that he toke greate warres in hãde, wãne very many stroge cytyes, & slew many kynges of þ earth: goyng thorow to þ endes of þ worlde, and gettyng many spoyles of þ people: In so moch, þ the worlde stode in greate awe of hym, * & ther fore was he proude in his herte. Now whan he had gathered a myghtye stronge hoost, & subdued þ landes & people wyth theyr princes, so þ they became tributaryes vnto him: he fel sycke. And whe he perceaued þ he must nedes dye, he called for hys noble estates (whych had bene brought vp wyth hym of chyldren) * & parted hys kyngdome amõge the, whyle he was yet alyue. So Alexãder raygned. xii. yeare, and then dyed.

* Judith.i.b

* Dani.vii.a and.viii.b.

After hys death fell the kyngdome vnto hys princes, and they optayned it euery one in hys rowme, and caused them selues to be crowned as kynges: and so dyd theyr chyldre after them many yeares, and moch wyckednesse increased in þ world. Out of these came the vngracyous rote, noble Antioch⁹ the sonne of Antiochus the kyng (* whych had bene a pledge at Rome) and he raygned in the C. xxxvii. yeare of the empyre of the Grekes.

* i.mac.viii.a

In those dayes were there out of Israell wycked men, whych moued moch people wt theyr coũcell, sayenge: * Lett vs go & make a couenaunt wyth the heathen, þ are rounde aboute vs: for sence we departed frõ them, we haue had moch sorow. So thys deuyce pleased them well, and certayne of þ people toke vpõ the for to go vnto þ kynge, which gaue the lycence to do after the ordinaũce of þ heathen. * Then set they vp an opẽ scole (at Jerusalem) of the lawes of the heathen & were nomore circumcysed: but forsoke þ holy Testamente, & ioyned them selues to þ heathẽ *, & were cleane solde to do mischefe. So when Antiochus beganne to be myghtie in hys kyngdome, he wente aboute to optayne þ lãde of Egypte also that he myght haue the dompnio of twoo realmes. * Upon this entred he into Egypte wt a stroge hoost,

* Deu.xii.a. Judic.ii.a.

* Jer.xliiii.c

* i.mac.iiii.b

* iii.Esdre. iii.d

* i.mac.i.b.c.

wyth charrettes, elephantes, horsmẽ and a greate nombre of shyppes, and beganne to warre agaynst Ptolomy the kyng of Egypte. But Ptolomy was afrayed of hym, ãd fled: and many of hys people were wounded to death. Thus Antiochus wãne many stroge cyties, & toke awaye greate good out of the lande of Egypte.

C

* And after that Antiochus had smytten Egypt, he turned agayne in the C.xliii. yeare, & wente towarde Israel, & came vp to Jerusalẽ with a myghtie people: & stred proudly into the Sãctuary, and toke awaye the golden altare, þ candylstycke and all the ornamentes therof, the table of the shewbred, the pouryng vessel, the chargers, the golden spones, the vayle, þ crownes, and goldẽ apparell of the temple, & brake downe all. He toke also the siluer & golde, the precious Jewels, & the secrete treasures that he founde. And when he had takẽ awaye all together, caused a greate murthur of men, and so fulfylled his malycious pryde, he departed into hys awne lande.

* ii. Mach.v

D

Thus there arose greate heuynesse and misery all þ lande of Israel. * The princes & the elders of the people mourned, the ponge men and the maydens were defyled, and the fayre beutye of wemen was chaunged: the bryde grome and the bryde toke them to mournynge: the lande and those that dwelt therin, was moued: for all the house of Jacob was brought to confusion.

* ii. Mach.v

* After two yeres the kynge sent hys cheke treasurer vnto þ cities of Juda, which came to Jerusalẽ with a great multitude of people, speakinge peacrable wordes vnto the but all was discreate: for whã they had geuẽ hym credence, he fel sodenly vpon the cytie, & smote it sore, ãd destroyed moch people of Israel. * And when he had spoyled the citie, he set fyre on it, castynge downe houses and walles on euery syde. The wemen and their chyldre toke they captiue, & led awaye their catel. Then buylded they þ cytie of Dauid with a great ãd thycke wall, & with myghtie towres, and made it a stronge holde for them. Besyde all this they set wycked people and vngodly mẽ to kepe it, stoared it wt weapens & vytayles: gathered the goodes of Jerusalem, ãd layed them vp there: thus became it a theuysh castell.

* i.mac.i.b

* i.mac.i.b

And thys was done to laye wayte for the people that went into the Sanctuary, and for the cruell destruccyon of Israell. Thus they shed innocent blonde on euery syde of þ Sanctuary, and defyled it: In so moch that the cytesyns were fayne to departe, and the cytie became an habitacyon of straungers, beyng desolate of her awne sede, for her awne natyues were fayne to leaue her. * Her sanctuary was clene wasted, her holy dayes

* Tob.ii.a & nou.viii.b

were

were turned into mournynge, her Sabbathes were had in derisyon, and her honoure brought to naught. Loke how great her glory was afore, so greate was her confusyō, & her ioye turned in to sorowe.

E *Antiochus also the kynge sent out a cōmission vnto all hys kyngdome, that al the people shuld be one. Thē they left euery mā hys lawe, and all the heathen agreed to ꝑ commaundement of kynge Antiochus: Yee many of the Israelites cōsented there vnto, offerynge vnto Idols, & defylinge the Sabbath. So the kynge Antiochus sēt his messaungers wyth hys commissyon vnto Jerusalem, & to all the cyties of Juda: that they shulde folow the lawes of the heathen, and forbad ether burnt offerynge, meatofferige or peaceofferinge to be made i the temple of God, and that there shulde no Sabbath ner hye feast daye be kepte: but commaunded, ꝑ the Sanctuary & the holy people of Israell shulde be defyled.

E.1.mac.bi.a

He commaunded also that there shulde be sett vp other altares, tēples & Idols: to offre vp swynes fleth & other vncleane beastes: that men shulde leaue theyr childzen vncircumcised, to defyle theyr soules with al maner of vnclēnesse and abhominacyōs: ꝑ they myght so forget the lawe, & chaunge all the holy ordinaunces of God: & that whosoeuer wolde not do accordynge to the cōmaundement of kyng Antioch', shulde suffre death. In lyke maner commaunded he thorow out all hys realme, and sett rulers ouer the people, for to compell them to do these thinges commaundynge the cyties of Juda to do sacrifyce vnto Idols.

Then wente the people vnto the heathē by heapes, for soke the lawe of the Lord, ād compted moch euell i the lande: yee ād chased out ꝑ secrete Israelytes, which had hyd them selues in corners and preuy places.

The .xv. daye of the moneth Casleu, in the F Cxlv. yeare, sett kynge Antiochus an abhominable Idol of desolacyon vpō the altare of God, and they buylded altares thorow out all the cytyes of Juda on euery syde, before the dores of the houses, and in the stretes: where they brent incense, and dyd sacrifyce. *And as for ꝑ bokes of ꝑ lawe of God, they brent them in the fyre, and rēt them in peces. What soeuer he was that had a boke of the Testament of the Lord found by hi, yee whosoeuer endeuored hymselfe to kepe the lawe of the Lorde, the kynges cōmaundemēt was, that they shulde put hym to death. And thorow his auctorite they executed these thinges euery moneth, vpō ꝑ people of Israel that were founde in the cyties.

t.Jnr.xxvi.d.

G *The kyne and twentye daye of the moneth what tyme as they dyd sacrifyce vpō ꝑ altare (whych stode in ꝑ steade of ꝑ altare of the Lorde) accordynge to the commaundement of kynge Antiochus, they put certayne wemen to death, which had caused theyr chyldzē to be circumcised: Not only ꝑ, but they hanged vp the chyldzen by the neckes thorow out all theyr houses, and slewe the circumcisers of them.

g.mac.bi.d

Yet were there many of the people of Israell, whych determined i them selues, that they wolde not eate vncleane thynges: but chose rather to suffre death, then to be defiled wyth vncleane meates. So because they wolde not breake the blessed lawe of God, they were cruelly slayne. And thys great tyranny increased very sore vpon the people of Israell.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

¶ The mournyng of Mathathias and hys sonnes for the destruccion of the holy cytie. They refuse to do sacrifyce vnto Idoles. The zele of Mathathias for the lawe of God. They are slayne and will not fyght agayne because of the Sabboth daye. Mathathias byndyng commaundeth hys sonnes to fyght by the worde of God after the exemple of the fathers.

IN those daies there dyd stāde vp one A Mathathias the sonne of Symeon the preest (out of ꝑ kynred of Joaris) from Jerusalem, and dwelt vpon ꝑ mount of Modin, & had v. sōnes: Jhon called Goddis, Symeō, called Thasi: Judas, otherwise called Machabeus: Eleazer, other wyse called Abarō: and Jonathas, whose syrname was Apphus. These sawe the euel, that was done amōge the people of Juda ād Jerusalem. And Mathathias sayd: Wo is me, alas that euer I was borne, to se thys misery of my people, and the pyteous destrucciō of the holy cyte: and thus to syt so styl, it being delyuered into the handes of the enemyes. *Her Sānctuary is come into the power of straungers: her temple is, as it were a mā that hath lost hys goodname: her precyous ornamentes are caryed awaye captyue. Her olde men are slayne in the stretes, & her yonge men are fallen thorow ꝑ swearde of the enemyes.

*.i.mac.i.b

What people is it, that hath not some possessyon in her kyngdome? Or who hath not gotten some of her spoyles? All her glory is taken awaye. She was a fre womā, & now she is become an handmayde. Beholde oure Sanctuary, oure bewtye & honoure is wasted awaye, & defyled by ꝑ Gentiles. What helpeth it vs then to lyue? And Mathathias rēte his clothes, he and hys sonnes, & put sackcloth vpon them, & mourned very sore. B

Then came the men thyther whych were sent of kynge Anthiochus, to cōpell soch as were fled into the cytie of Modyn, for to do sacrifyce and to burne incense vnto Idols, and to forsake the lawe of God. So, many of the people of Israell cōsented and enclyned vnto thē, but Mathathias and his sonnes remayned stedfast. Then spake ꝑ com-

mysse ponere of kynge Antiochus, and sayde vnto Mathathias: Thou art a noble man, of hye reputacyon and greate in thys cytie, haupnge sayre chyldren and brethre. Come thou therfore fyrst, and fulfyll ꝑ kynges cõmaundement, lyke as all the heathen haue done, yee and the men of Juda, and soch as remayne at Jerusalem: so shalt thou and thy chyldren be in ꝑ kynges fauoure & enryched with golde, syluer & greate rewardes.

Mathathias answered, and spake wyth a loude voyce. Though all nacyons obeye ꝑ kyng Antiochus, and fal awaye euery man from kepynge the lawe of theyr fathers: though they consente to his cõmaundementes, yet will I and my sonnes & my brethre, not fall from the lawe of oure fathers. God forbyd we shulde, that were not good for vs * that we shulde forsake the lawe and ordinaunces of God, and to agre vnto the commaundemẽt of kinge Antiochus. Therfore we wyl do no soch sacrifice, nether breake ꝑ statutes of oure lawe, * to go another waye. And when he had spoken these wordes, there came one of the Jewes, whych openly in the syght of al, dyd sacrifice vnto the Idols vpon the aulter in the cytie of Modyn, acordyng to the kynges commaundement.

When Mathathias sawe thys, it greued hym at the herte, so that hys raynes shoke wythall, & hys wrath kyndled for very zele of the lawe. Wyth that, he start vp, & kylled the Jewe besyde the aulter: Yee & slewe the kynges commyssyoner, that compelled hym to do sacrifyce, ād destroyed the aulter at the same tyme: soch a zele had he vnto ꝑ lawe of God * lyke as Phinehes dyd vnto zābri ꝑ sonne of Salomi. And Mathathias cryed wyth a loude voyce thorow the cytie, sayenge: Who so is feruent i the lawe, & wil kepe the couenaũt, let him folowe me. * So he and his sonnes fled into the mõtaynes, & left all that euer they had i the cytie. Many other godly mẽ also departed to ꝑ wyldernesse wyth theyr chyldre, theyr wyues & theyr catel, and remayned there: for ꝑ tyrãny increased sore vpon them.

Now when the kynges seruauntes, and the hoost, whych was at Jerusalem in ꝑ cytie of Dauid herde, ꝑ certayne men had broken the kynges commaundement, and were gone theyr waye to the wyldernesse into secrete places & that there were many departed after them: they folowed vpon them, to fyght agaynst them i the Sabbath daye, & sayde: wyll ye yet rebell? Get you hence, and do the cõmaundement of kyng Antiochus & ye shall lyue. They answered: * We wyll not go forth, nether wyll we do the kynges cõmaũdemẽt, to defyle the Sabbath daye. Then beganne they to fyght agaynst them, neuertheles they gaue the none other answere, nether cast they one stone at thẽ, nor made fast theyr priuy places, but sayde: we wyll dye all in oure innocency, heauen and earth shall testyfie wyth vs, that ye put vs to death wrongeously. Thus they fought agaynst them vpon the Sabbath, ād slewe both men & catel, theyr wyues & their chyldren, to the nombre of a thousande people.

When Mathathias and his frẽdes herde thys, they mourned for them ryght sore and sayde one to another: If so be that we all do as oure brethren haue done, & fyght not for oure lyues & for our lawes agaynst ꝑ heathen: then shall they the sooner rote vs out of ꝑ earth. So they concluded amonge thẽ selues at the same tyme, sayenge: what soeuer he be that commeth to make battayll wyth vs vpon the Sabbath daye, we wyll fyght agaynst hym, & not dye al, as oure brethren ꝑ were murthured so haynously. Upõ thys came the Synagoge of the Jewes vnto thẽ stronge men of Israel, all soch as were feruent i the lawe. And all they that were fled for persecucyon, came to helpe them, and to stande by them: In so moch that they gathered an hoost of men, and slewe the wycked doers in theyr gelousy, and the vngodly mẽ i theyr wrath. Some of the wycked fled vnto the heathen, and escaped.

Thus Mathathias & his frendes wente aboute, and destroyed the aulters, and circũcysed the chyldre that had not yet receaued circũcysyon: as many as they founde within the costes of Israel: and folowed myghtely vpon the children of pryde, & this acte prospered i theyr handes: In so moch, that they kepte the law agaynst the power of the Gẽtiles & the kynges, and gaue not ouer theyr dompnion vnto wycked doers.

After thys when the tyme drewe on fast, that Mathathias shulde dye, he sayde vnto hys sonnes: Now is pryde and persecucyon increased, now is the tyme of destruccyon & wrathfull displeasure: wherfore (O my sõnes) be ye feruent in the lawe, and ieoparde your lyues for the Testamẽt of the fathers call to remẽbraunce what actes our fathers dyd in theyr tyme, so shal ye receaue greate honoure and an euerlastynge name.

* Remembre Abrahã, was not he founde faythfull in tentacyon, and it was reckened vnto hi for ryghtuousnes? * Joseph i tyme of hys trouble kepte the commaundemẽt & was made a lord of Egypt. * Phinehes our father was so feruẽt for ꝑ honoure of God, that he optayned the couenaunt of an euerlastynge priesthode. * Josue for fulfyllige ꝑ worde of God, was made the captayne of Israel. * Caleb bare recorde before ꝑ cõgregacyon, and receaued an heretage. * Dauid also in his mercyfull kyndnesse, optayned the trone of an euerlastynge kyngdome.

* Elias

* 1.Mac.2.b
* 1.Mac.2.c
* 1.Mac.2.d
* Josue.4.c
* Jacob.42 Roma.iiii.a Gene.3 46 Heb.11.b Eccl.xliii.c 1.Gene.xli.f * Nu.xxv.f Eccl.xlv.i
* Nu.xxvi Josua.i.a
* Nu.xiii.a
* 1.re.ii.f

*Elias beinge gelous & feruent in the lawe, was taken vp into heauen. Hananias, Asarias and Misael remayned stedfast in fayth and were delyuered out of the fyre. In lyke maner *Daniel beynge vngyltye, was saued from the mouth of the Lyons.

And thus ye maye consyder thorow out all ages sence ỳ worlde begāne, * that whosoeuer put their trust in God, were not ouercome. * Feare not ye thē ỳ wordes of an vngodly man, * for his glory is but donge and wormes: to daye is he set vp, and to morow is he gone: for he is turned into earth, & hys memorial is come to naught. Wherfore (O my sonnes) take good hertes vnto you, and quyte youre selues lyke men in the lawe: for yf ye do the thynges that are cōmaūded you in the lawe of the Lorde youre God, ye shall optayne greate honoure therin.

And beholde, I know that youre brother Symon is a man of wysdoome: se ỳ ye geue eare vnto him alwaye, he shalbe a father vnto you. As for Judas Machabeus, he hath euer bene myghtie and stronge frō his youth vp: let him be youre captayne, and ordre the battayll of the people: thus shall ye brynge vnto you all those that fauoure the lawe, & se that ye auenge the wronge of youre people, and recompence the heathen agayne, & applye youre selues whole to the commaundement of the lawe. So he gaue them hys blessynge, and was layed by hys fathers: & died in the. C. & xlvi yeare at Modin, where hys sonnes buryed hym in hys fathers sepulcre, and all Israell made greate lamentacyon for hym.

The. iii. Chapter.

Judas is made ruler ouer the Jewes. He kylleth Apollonius & Seron ỳ prince of Syria. The cowrdelye of Judas towarde God. Judas determineth to fyght agaynst Lysias, whom Antiochus had made captayne ouer his hoste. The prayer of the abstaynars.

When stode vp Judas Machabeus in his fathers steade, & all hys brethren helped hym: and so dyd all they that helde wyth hys father, & fought wyth cherefulnesse for Israell. So Judas gat hys people great honour: he put on a brest plate as a giaunte, & arayed hym selfe with hys harnelle, and defended the hoste wyth hys swearde. In his actes he was lyke a Lyon, & as a lyons whelpe roaringe at his praye. * he was an enemye to the wycked, & hunted thē out: * and brent vp those that vexed his people: So that hys enemyes fled for feare of hym, & all the worckers of vngodlynes were put to trouble: soch lucke and prosperyte was in hys hāde. This greued diuerse kynges, but Jacob was greatly reioyced thorow his actes, and he gatt hym self a greate name for euer.

He wente thorow the cityes of Juda, destroyenge the vngodly out of them, turning awaye the wrath from Israell, and releauynge soch as were oppressed: and the fame of him wēte vnto the vttermost parte of the earth. Then Appollonius (a prynce of Syria) gathered a myghtye greate hooste of the heathē & out of Samaria, to fyght agaynst Israell. Whych when Judas perceaued, he wente forth to mete hym, fought wyth him, slewe him, and a great multitude with him, the remnaunt fled, & he toke their substaūce Judas also toke Appollonius awne swearde, and fought wyth it all hys lyfe longe.

Now whē Seron (another prince of Syria) herde saye, ỳ Judas had gathered vnto him the congregacyon & church of the fayth full, he sayde: I will get me a name & a prayse thorow out ỳ realme: for I wyll go fyght with Judas, & them that are wyth hym, as many as haue despyled the kynges cōmaundement. So he made hym ready, and there wēte wyth him a greate myghtye hooste of ỳ vngodly, to stande by him, and to be auēged of the children of Israel. And when they came nye vnto Bethoron, Judas wente forth agaynst them wyth a small company. And when his people sawe soch a great hooste before them, they sayde vnto Judas: How are we able (beinge so fewe) to fyght agaynst so great a multitude and so stronge, seinge we be so weery, and haue fasted all this daye?

*But Judas sayde: It is a small matter for many to be ouercome wt fewe: yee there is no differēce to the God of heauen, to deliuer by a greate multitude or by a small cōpany: * for ỳ victory of the battell standeth not in the multytude of the hooste, but the strength commeth from heauen. Beholde, they come againste vs with a presumptuous and proude multitude, to destroye vs, oure wyues and oure children, and to robbe vs. But we will fight for oure lyues, & for oure lawes, & the Lorde hym selfe shall destroye them before oure face: therfore be not ye afrayed of them.

As soone as he had spoken these wordes, he leapte sodenly vpon thē. Thus was Seron smytten, and his hooste put to flight, and Judas folowed vpō them beyonde Bethoron vnto the playne felde: where there were slayne eyght hundreth men of them, and the residue fled into the lande of the Philystynes. Then all the heathē on euery syde were afrayed for Judas and his brethren: so that the rumoure of hym came vnto the kynges eares, for all the Gentyles coulde tell of the warres of Judas.

So when kynge Antiochus hearde these tidynges, he was angry in his minde: wherfore he sente forth, and gathered an hooste of his whole realme, very stronge armyes: and opened hys treasury, and gaue hys hooste a yeares wages in hande, commaundynge them

them to be ready at all tymes.

Neuertheleſſe when he ſawe, that there was not moneye ynough in his treaſuryes, and ꝑ thorow the diſcorde and perſecucyon, whych he made in the lande (to put downe the lawes that had bene of olde tymes) hys cuſtomes & trybutes of the lande were mynyſhed: he feared that he was not able for to beare the coſtes and charges any longer, nor to haue ſoch gyftes, to geue ſo liberally as he dyd afore, more then the kynges that were before hym.

Wherfore, he was beuy in his mynde, and
* 1. mac. bi. a thought * to go into Perſides, for to take tributes of the lande, & ſo to gather moch moneye. So he left Lyſias (a noble man of the kynges bloude) to ouerſe the kynges buſyneſſes, from the water Euphrates vnto the borders of Egypte: & to kepe well his ſonne Antiochus, tyll he came agayne.

E Moreouer, he gaue him half of his hooſt, and Elephantes, cõmytted vnto him euery thynge of hys mynde, concernynge thoſe whych dwelt in Juda and Jeruſalem: that he ſhulde ſende out an armye agaynſt them, to deſtroye and to rote out the power of Iſrael and the remnaunt of Jeruſalem: to put out their memoryall from that place, to ſet ſtraũgers for to inhabyt all theyr quarters,
* Joſeph. ra. 7. lib. antiq. and to parte theyr lande amonge thẽ: Thus the kynge toke the other parte of the hooſt, and departed from Antioch (a cyte of hys realme) ouer the water of Euphrates, in the hũdreth and. xl vii. yeare, and went thorow the hye countrees.

* ii. macha. viii. b * And Lyſias choſe vnto hym Ptolomy the ſonne of Dorimenus, Nicanor and Gorgias myghty men, and the kynges frendes. Theſe he ſent with. xl. thouſande fote men & .vii. thouſande horſmen, for to go into the lande of Juda & to deſtroye it, as the kynge commaunded. So they wẽte forth wyth all their power, and came to Emmaus into the plaine felde. When the marchauntes hearde the rumoure of them, they & theyr ſeruauntes toke very moch ſyluer & gold, for to bye the childrẽ of Iſrael to be their bonde men: There came vnto them alſo yet moo mẽ of warre on euery ſyde, out of Siria and from the Paleſtynes.

N Now when Judas & hys brethren ſawe ꝑ trouble increaſed, & that the hooſt drewnye vnto their borders cõſidering ꝑ kynges wordes which he commaunded vnto the people: namely, that they ſhulde vtterly waſte and deſtroye them: They ſayde one to another: Let vs redreſſe the decaye of oure people, let vs fyght for oure folke and for oure Sanctuary. Then the congregacyon were ſoone ready gathered to fyght, to praye & to make ſupplicacyon vnto God for mercy & grace.
* 1. mach. i. b * As for Jeruſalem, it laye voyde, & was as it had bene a wyldernelle. There wente no man in nor out at it, and the Sanctuary was troden downe. The aleaũtes kepte the caſtell, there was the habitacion of the heathẽ. The myrth of Jacob was takẽ awaye, the ꝑpe and the harpe was gone frõ amonge them.

The Iſraelites gathered them together, and came to Maſpha before Jeruſalem: for in Maſpha was ꝑ place * where they ꝑayed * 1. Reg. vii. afore tyme in Iſrael. So they faſted ꝑ daye & put ſackclothes vpõ them, caſt aſſhes vpõ their heades, rẽte their clothes, & layde forth the bokes of the lawe (wherout the heathen ſought the lykeneſſe of theyr ymages) and brought ꝑ Prieſtes ornamẽtes, the fyrſtlinges & the tithes. They ſett there alſo ꝑ * abſtayners (whych had fulfylled theyr dayes) * Num. vi. i before God, and cryed wyth a loude voyce towarde heauẽ, ſayinge: What ſhall we do with theſe? and whyther ſhall we cary them awaye? For thy Sanctuary is troden downe and defyled, thy prieſtes are come to heuyneſſe and dyſhonoure: and beholde, the heathen are come together for to deſtroye vs. G Thou knoweſt what thynges they ymagin agaynſt vs. How may we ſtande before thẽ, excepte thou (O God) be oure helpe?

They blewe out the trõpette alſo wyth a loude voyce. Thẽ Judas ordened * captaynes ouer the people: ouer thouſandes, ouer hundredes, ouer fyftye, and ouer ten. But as for ſoch as buylded thẽ houſes, maryed wyues, planted them vyneyardes, and thoſe ꝑ were fearfull: he commaunded them euery mã to go home agayne, accordynge * to the lawe. So the hooſt remoued, and ꝑyched vpon the ſouthſyde of Emmaus. * 1. Esdr. vi. i * Deute. xx. d Iudi. bii. a

And Judas ſayde: Arme youre ſelues, be ſtronge (O my chyldren) make you ready agaynſt to morow in the morynge, that ye maye fyght wyth theſe people, which are agreed together to deſtroye vs and oure ſanctuary. Better is it for vs to dye in battaill, than to ſe oure people and our ſanctuary in ſoch a myſerable caſe: * Neuertheleſſe, as thy wyll is in heauen, ſo be it. * 1. mat. vi. Luk. xi. a

¶ The. iiii. Chapter.

¶ Judas goeth agaynſt Gorgias which lieth in wayte. He putteth Gorgias and his hooſt to flyght. Lyſias inuadeth Jewry, but Judas dryueth him oute. Judas purifyeth the temple and dedycateth the aultare.

THen toke Gorgyas fyue thouſand men of fote, and a thouſande of the beſt horſmen: & remoued by nyght, to come nye where the Jewes hooſt laye, & ſo to ſlaye them ſodenly. Now ꝑ men that kepte the caſtell, were the conueyers of them. Then aroſe Judas to ſmyte the cheke & principall of ꝑ kynges hooſt at Emmaus, for the army was not yet come together. In the meane ſeaſõ came Gorgias by nyght in to Judas A Joſeph. lib. vii. cap. i.

to Judas tentes: & when he founde no man there, he sought them in the mountaynes, & thought they had bene fled awaye, because of hym. But when it was daye, Judas shewed hym selfe in the felde wyth thre thousande men only, whych had nether harnesse ner swerdes to their myndes.

But on the other syde, they sawe that the Heathen were myghtie and well harnessed, and their hoslmē aboute them, and all these well experte in settes of warre. Then sayde Judas to the mē that were with him: Feare not ye the multitude of them, be not afrayed of their violente runnynge: remembre, how oure fathers were delyuered * in the reed see, when Pharao folowed vpon them wyth a greate hoste. * Exo. xiiii.f

Euen so lett vs also crye now towarde heauen: and the Lord shall haue mercy vpon vs, and remembre the couenaunt of oure fathers, yee & destroye this hoste before oure face this daye: And all ꝑ heathen shall know, that it is God hym selfe, whych delyuereth and saueth Israell.

25 Then the heathen lyft vp their eyes: and when they sawe that they were commynge agaynst them, they went out of their tentes into the battayll: and they that were wyth Judas, blewe vp the trompettes. * So they buckled together, and the heathen were discomfyted and fled ouer the playne felde: but the hynmost of them were slayne. For they folowed vpō them vnto Assaremoth, and into the feldes of Idumea towarde Azot and Jamnia: so that there were slayne of them vpon a thre thousande men. So Judas turned agayne wyth his hoste, and sayde vnto the people: Be not gredy of the spoyles, we haue yet a battayll to fyght: for Gorgias & hys hoste are here by vs in the mountaynes, but stande ye fast agaynst oure enemyes, & ouercome them: then maye ye safely take ꝑ spoyles. * 1. macha. iiii.d.

¶ As Judas was speakyng these wordes, beholde there appeared one parte of the hyll vpō the mount. But whan Gorgias sawe that they of hys partye were fled, and the tentes brent vp (for by the smoke they myght vnderstāde what was done) they perceauynge this, were very sore afrayed: and when they sawe also that Judas and hys hoste were in the felde ready to strike battayll, they fled euerychone into the lande of the heathen.

So Judas turned agayne to spoyle the tentes, where they gatt moch golde and syluer, precious stones, purple & great ryches. Thus they went home, and songe a Psalme of thankesgeuinge, and praysed God in heauen: * for he is gracyous, & hys mercy endureth for euer: And so Israel had a greate victory in that daye. * Psal. cxlii.a Psa. cxlviii.a

Now all the heathen that escaped, came and tolde Lysias euery thinge as it happened. Wherfore Lysias was sore afrayed, & greued in his minde, because Israel had not gotten soch mysfortune as he wolde they shulde, nether as ꝑ kyng commaunded. The nexte yeare folowing, gathered Lysias thre score thousande chosen men of fote, and fyue thousande horsmen, to fyght agaynst them.

So they came into Jewry, and pytched D their tētes at Bethoron, where Judas came agaynst them with ten thousande mē. And whē he sawe so great & myghtie an hoost, he made his prayer and sayde: Blessed be thou (O Sauyoure of Israell) * whych dyddest destroye ꝑ violent power of the gyaunte, in the hande of thy seruaunt Dauyd, * and gauest the hoost of the Heathen into the hande of Jonathas (the sonne of Saul) and of hys weapen bearer. * 1. re. xvii.g * 1. re. xiiii.b

Put thys hoost now into the hāde of thy people of Israell, and let them be confounded in their multitude and horsmen. Make them afrayed, & dyscomforte the boldnes of their strēgth, that they maye be moued thorow their destructiō. Cast them downe thorow the swearde of thy louers, then shal all they that know thy name, prayse the wyth thankesgeuynge.

So they stroke the batell, and there were slayne of Lysias hoost, fyue thousande men Then Lysias seynge the dyscomfetynge of hys men, and the manlynesse of the Jewes, how they were ready, either to lyue or to dye lyke men: he wēte vnto Antyoche, and chose out men of warre: that whan they were gathered together, they might come agayne into Jewry. Then sayd Judas and his brethren: behold, our enemyes are discomfyted: Let vs nowgo vp, to clense and to repayre the Sanctuary.

* Upon thys, all the hoost gathered them togither, and wente vp into mount Syon. * 1. mach. v.a

E Now whan they sawe the Sāctuary layed waste, ꝑ aulter defyled, the dores brēt vp, ꝑ shrubbes growinge in the courtes, like as in a wod or vpon mountaynes, yee & ꝑ the prestes Celles were brōken downe: They rente their clothes, made great lamentacion, cast asshes vpon their heades, fell downe flat to the grounde, made a greate noyse wyth the trompettes, and cryed towarde heauen.

Then Judas apoynted certayne men to fyght agaynst those which were in ꝑ castell tyll they had clensed the Sanctuary. So he chose prestes ꝑ were vndefyled, soch as had pleasure in the lawe of God: and they clensed the Sanctuary, and bare out the defiled stones into an vncleane place. And for so moch as the aulter of burnt offerynges was vnhalowed, he toke aduysement, what he myght do wᵗ all: so he thought it was best to destroye it (lest it shulde happē to do thē eny shame).

shame) for the heathen had defiled it, & therfore they brake it downe. As for the stones, they layed them vp vpon the mountayne by the house in a conuenient place: tyll there came a prophet, to shewe, what shulde be done with them.

R *So they toke whole stones accordinge to the lawe, & buylded a new aulter soch one as was before, & made vp the Sanctuary wythin & without, & halowed the house & the courtes. They made new ornamentes, & brought the candilstick, the aulter of incense, & the table in to the temple. The incense layed they vpon the aulter, & lyghted the lampes whych were vpō the candilsticke, that they myght burne in the temple. They set the shewbred vpon the table, & hanged vp the vayle, and set vp the temple, as it was afore. * And vpon the .xxv. daye of the ix. moneth, whych is called the moneth of Casleu, in the .cxlviii. yeare: they rose vp by tymes in the morninge for to do sacrifice (accordige to the lawe) vpō the new burnt offringe aulter that they had made: after the tyme and season that the heathen had defyled it. The same daye was it set vp agayne, with songes, pypes, harpes and cymbales.

*Exod.xx.b Deu.xvii.e. Iosue.viii.g

* ii.mac.x.a

G And all the people fell vpon theyr faces, worshippynge & thāckynge the God of heauē, which had geuen the the victory. * So they kepte the dedicatiō of the aulter .viii. dayes, offrynge burnt sacrifyces & thankoffringes with gladnesse. They decked the temple also wt crownes & shildes of gold, & halowed the portes & celles & hanged dores vpō the. Thus there was very great gladnes amōge the people, because the blasphemy of the heathe was put awaye. So Judas & his brethren wt the whole cōgregacyō of Israel, ordeyned, * that the tyme of the dedicatiō of the aulter shulde be kepte in his season frō yeare to yeare, by the space of .viii. dayes, frō the .xxv. daye of the moneth Casleu: with myrth and gladnesse.

* ii.pa. viii.b

*Iohn.x.c.

And at the same tyme buylded they vp the mount Syon with hye walles and stronge towres rounde aboute: lest the Gētiles shuld come and treade it downe, as they dyd afore Therfore Judas sett men of warre in it, to kepe it: and made it stronge, for to defende * Bethsura: that the people myght haue a refuge agaynst the Edomytes.

* i. macha. vi.b.f

C The .v. Chapter.

C Judas barnquished the heathen that go aboute to destroye Israel, & to holpen of his brethren Simon & Jonathas. He ouer throweth Ctitye of Ephron, because they denyed hym passage thorow it.

A * As these.ca. gal.iii.d.iii.

IT happened also that when the heathen rounde about herd, how that the aulter & the Sanctuary were sett vp i their olde estate: it displeased them very sore, wherfore they thought to destroye the generacion of Jacob that was amōge them: in so moch that they begamme to slaye and to persecute certayne of the people. * Then Judas fought agaynst the chyldren of Esau in Idumea, and agaynst those which were at Arabathane (for they dwelt rounde aboute the Israelites) where he slew and spoyled a greate multitude of them. He thought also vpon the malice and vnfaythfulnes of the childzen of Bean, how they were a snare and stoppe vnto the people, and how they layed wayte for them in the hye waye: wherfore he shut them vp in to towers, and came vnto them, destroyed them vtterly, and brent vp theyr towres, wyth all that were in them.

* Exo.xvii. and.xviii.a. ii.mach.x.

Afterwarde wente he agaynst the chyldren of Ammon, where of he founde a myghtye power & a greate multytude of people, with Timothy ther captayne. So he stroke many battayls with them, whych were dystroyed before him. And when he had slayne them, he wanne Gazer the cytye, wyth the townes belongynge therto, and so turned agayne into Jewry. The heathen also in Galaad gathered the together, agaynst the Israelites that were in their quarters, to slaye the: but they fled to the castell of Dathemā, and sent letters vnto Judas & hys brethren sayinge: The heathen are gathered agaynst vs on euery syde, to destroye vs, & now they make them for to come, and laye sege to the castell, wherunto we are fled, and Timothy is the captayne of their host: come therfore, and delyuer vs out of their handes: for there is a greate multitude of vs slayne all ready. Yee and oure brethren that were at Tubin, are slayne & destroyed (well nye a thousande men) and theyr wyues, theyr chyldren and theyr goodes haue the enemyes led awaye captyue.

Whyle these letters were yet a readynge, beholde, there came other messaūgers from Galilee, with rēte clothes: which tolde euen the same tydynges, and sayde, that they of Ptolomays, of Tyrus and of Sydon were gathered agaynst the, and that all Galilee was filled with enemyes to destroye Israel * Whe Judas & the people herde thys, they came together (a greate cōgregacion) to deuyse, what they myght do for theyr brethre, that were in trouble & beseged of theyr enemyes. And Judas sayd vnto Symō hys brother: chose the out certaine men, and go deliuer thy brethren in Galilee: As for me & my brother Jonathas, we will go into Galaadithim. So he left Josephus the sonne of Zacharyy, and Azarias to be Captaynes of the people, and to kepe the remnaunt of the host in Jewry, and commaunded them, sayinge: Take the ouersyght of thys people, and se ye make no warre agaynst the heathen, vntyll the time that we come agayne. And vnto Symon he gaue thre thousande men, for to go into Galilee, but Judas hym selfe had

* ii. macha. viii.c

eyght

eyght thousande in Galaadithim.

C Then wente Symon into Galilee, & stroke diuerse batelles wyth ỹ heathen: whom he discomfyted, and followed vpon thẽ vnto ỹ porte of Ptolomais. And there were slaine of the heathen all most. iii. thousande men. So he toke the spoyles of them, and caryed awaye the Israelites, that were in Galilee and Arbatis, wyth theyr wyues, theyr chyldren and all that they had, & brought them in to Jewry wyth greate gladnesse. Judas Machabeus also and his brother Jonathas wente ouer Jordane, ād trauayled. iii. dayes iourney in the wyldernesse: Where the Nebuthees met them, and receaued them louingly, and tolde them euery thynge that had happened vnto theyr brethren in Galaadithim, and how that many of them were beseged in Barasa, Bosor, Alimis, Casphor, Mageth and Carnaim (all these are stronge walled and myghtie greate cities) and that they were kepte in other cytyes of Galaad also: & to morow they are apointed to bringe their host vnto these cyties, to take them, & to wynne them in one daye.

So Judas and his host turned in all the haste in the wildernesse towarde Bosor, and wāne the cytie, slewe all the males with the swearde, toke all their goodes, and sett fyre vpon the cytie. And in the nyght they toke their iournaye from thence, and came to the castell: And by tymes in the morynge whē they loked vp, beholde, there was an innumerable people bearynge ladders and other instrumentes of warre, to take ỹ castell and to ouercome them.

When Judas sawe that the battayll began, and that the noyse therof wente vp & range in to the heauen, and that there was so greate a crye in ỹ cytie: he sayd vnto hys host: fyght this daye for your brethren. And so came behynde their enemyes in three companyes, and blewe vp the trompettes, and cryed in their prayer to God.

But as soone as Timothes host perceaned ỹ Machabeus was there, they fled from him, and the other slewe them downe ryght sore: so ỹ there were kylled of them the same daye, almost eyght thousande mē. Then departed Judas vnto Malpha, layed sege vnto it, and wanne it, slewe all the males in it, spoyled it, and set fyre vpō it. From thence wēte he and toke Casbon, Mageth, Bosor, and the other cytyes in Galaad.

D *After thys gathered Timothy another host, which pitched their tētes before Raphon beyonde the water. Judas also sent to spye the hoste, & they brought him worde agayne, sayinge: All the heathen that be rounde aboute vs, are gathered vnto him, and the hoost is very great: Yee they haue hyred the Arabians to helpe them, & haue pitched their tentes beyonde the water, and are redy to come & fyght agaynst the. So Judas wente on to mete them.

1.mach.5.b

And Timothy sayd vnto the captaynes of hys hoost: when Judas & hys hoost come nye the ryuer: yf he go ouer first, we shal not be able to withstāde him: for why? he wil be to stronge for vs. But yf he darre not come ouer, so that he pitch his tente beyōde ỹ water: thē will we go ouer, for we shalbe stroge ynough agaynst him. Now as soone as Judas came to ỹ ryuer, he appoynted certayne scribes of the people, & commaunded them, sayenge: se that ye leaue none behinde vpon this syde of the ryuer, but let euery mā come to the battayll. So he wente fyrst ouer vnto them and his people after him.

And all the heathen were discomfyted before him, and let their weapens fal, & rāne into ỹ tēple that was at Carnaim. Whych cytye Judas wanne, and brent the temple with all that were in it: So was Carnaim subdued, and myght not withstāde Judas. Then Judas gathered all ỹ Israelites that were in Galaadythim, from the lest vnto ỹ most, wyth theyr wyues and theyr chyldren (a very greate hoost) for to come into ỹ lande of Israell.

E *So they came vnto Ephrō, which was a myghtie, greate and stroge cytye, and laye in their waye. For they coulde not go by it, nether of the ryght hande ner of the left, but must goo thorow it. Neuertheles they that were i ỹ cytye, wolde not let thē go thorow, but walled vp the portes with stones. And Judas sent vnto them wt peaceable wordes sayinge: Lett vs passe thorow youre land, ỹ we maye goo into oure awne countre: there shall no body do you harme, we will but only go thorow on fote. But they wolde not let them in.

*ii.mac.xii.a

Wherfore Judas commaunded a proclamacyon to be made thorow oute the hoste, that euery man shulde kepe his ordre: and so they dyd their best lyke valeaunt men.

And Judas beseged ỹ cytie all that daye and all that nyght, and so wanne it: where they slewe as many as were males, and destroyed the cytye, and spoyled it, and wente thorow all the citye ouer thē ỹ were slayne. Then wēt they ouer Jordane in to ỹ playne felde before Bethsā. And Judas helped those forwarde ỹ cā behynde, and gaue the people good exhortacyō all ỹ waye thorow, tyll they were come into ỹ lande of Juda. Thus they wente vp vnto the mount Syon, where they offred wt myrth* & thāckesgeuynge: because there were none of them slayne, but came home agayne peaceably.

*ii.par.xx.a

Now what tyme as Judas & Jonathas were in the lande of Galaad, and Symon ther brother in Galilee before Ptolomays:

Then

Then Josephus ꝑ sonne of zachary and Asaryas the captaynes, hearinge of the actes that were done and of the battels that were stroken, sayde: Lett vs get vs a name also, and go fyght agaynst the heathen that are rounde aboute vs.

¶ So they gaue theyr hoost a commaũdement, and wente towarde Jamnya. Then came Gozgyas & his men out of the citie, to fyght agaynst them: Josephus also & Asaryas were chased vnto ꝑ borders of Jewry, & there were slayne that daye of the people of Jsrael .ii. C). men: so ꝑ there was a great * 1.Mac.b.d mysery amonge ꝑ people, * & al because they were not obedient vnto Judas and his brethen, but thought they shulde quyte thẽ selues mãfully. Neuertheles they came not of the sede of these men, by whom Jsraell was helped. But the mẽ that were with Judas, were greatly commended in the syght of all Jsraell and all heathẽ, where so euer theyr name was herde vpõ, & the people came vnto them, byddynge them welcome.

After thys wente Judas forth wyth hys brethren, and fought agaynst the childrẽ of Esau, in the lande ꝑ lyeth towarde the south where he wanne the citye of Hebron and the townes that lye beside it: & as for ꝑ walles and towres rounde aboute it, he brent them vp. Then remoued he to go into the lãde of the Philistines, and wente thorow Samaria. At the same tyme were there many prestes slayne in the battayll, whych wylfully and without aduysement wente out for to fyght to get thẽ honoure. And when Judas cã to Azot in ꝑ Philistines lande, * he brake * Deute.vii.a downe theyr aultares, brent the ymages of their Idols, spoyled ꝑ cyties, & came againe into the lande of Juda.

¶ The .vi. Chapter.

¶ Antiochus wyllinge to take the citye of Elymas for a pray is driuen awaye of the citizens. He falleth into sykenes & dyeth. His sonne Antiochus is made kynge. The seege of ꝑ towre of Syon. Eupator commyth into Jewry wyth a great armye. The behauour of Eleazar.

A Ioseph.xii. lib.xii.antiq. NOw when kynge Antiochus trauayled thorow the hye countrees, he herde ꝑ Elymas in Perlia was a noble & plenteous citye in syluer & gold, & that there was in it a very riche temple: where as were clothes, cote armoures & shyldes of golde, whych Alexãder the sonne of Philippe kyng of Macedonia (that raygned fyrst in Grece longe) had lefte behynde hym. Wherfore he wente about to take the citye & to spoyle it, but he was not able: for the citizens were warned of it, & fought wt him. And so he fled & departed wyth greate heuynesse, and came agayne into Babylon. Howeuer there came one whych brought him tydynges in Perlide, * that his hoostes * 1. Macha. iii.c.9.iiii which were in the lande of Juda, were dryuen awaye, and how that Lysias wt forth fyrst wyth a greate power, & was dryuen awaye of the Jewes: how ꝑ they had wonne the victory, & gotten greate goodes out of the hoostes ꝑ perished: how they had broken downe the abhominacyõ, * whych he set vp * 1.macha.i vpõ the altare at Jerusalem, and kenced the Sãctuary with hye walles, lyke as it was afore: pee and Bethsura hys cite also.

Do it chaunced, that when the kynge had herde these wordes, he was afrayed and greued very sore. Wherfore he layed him downe vpon his bed, and fell sicke for very sorowe: ād all because it had not happened as he had deuised. And there contynued he longe, for hys grefe was euer, more & more, so that he saw he must nedes dye. Therfore he sent for his frendes, & sayde vnto thẽ: the slepe is gone fro myne eyes, for the very sorow and veracyon of herte that I haue. For when I cõsidre in my mynde the greate aduersyte ꝑ I am come vnto, & the floudes of heuynesse which I am come in, where as afore tyme I was so mery, & so greatly set by (by reason of my power) Agayne, consyderinge ꝑ euell ꝑ I haue done at Jerusalem, frõ whence I toke all ꝑ ryches of golde & syluer ꝑ were in it, and sent to fetch awaye the inhabytours of Jewry wythout any reason why: I knowe, ꝑ these troubles are come vpon me for ꝑ same cause. And beholde, I must dye wyth greate sorow in a straũge lande. Thẽ called he for one Philippe a frende of his, whom he made ruler of all his realme, & gaue him the crowne, his roabe & his ryng: ꝑ he shulde take his sonne Antiochus vnto him, & bringe hym vp, tyll he myght raygne hi self. * So * ii.Macha. ix.a.b.c.d.e. the kyng Antiochus dyed there, in the .cxlix. yeare. When Lysias knewe that the kynge was dead, he ordened Antiochus hys sonne, (* whõ he had brought vp) to raygne in his * Iosep.xii. fathers steade, & called hym Eupator. Now lib.xii.c.ii. i.macha.vi.a they that were in the castell (at Jerusalem) kepte in the Jewes rounde about the Sanctuary, & sought euer styll to do them harme for the strengthenynge of the heathen.

Wherfore Judas thought to destroye thẽ, and called all the people together, that they might laye sege vnto thẽ. So they came together in the .C.l.yeare, & besieged them, layinge forth theyr ordinaũce and instrumẽtes of warre. Then certayne of them that were besieged, wente forth (vnto whom some vngodly mẽ of Jsrael ioyned them selues also) and wẽt vnto the kyng, sayinge: How lõge wyll it be, or thou punysh and auenge oure brethren? We haue euer bene mynded to do thy father seruyce, to walke in hys statutes, and to obeye his commaundementes: Therfore oure people fell from vs, and where soeuer they founde any of vs, they slewe them: (and spoyled oure enheritaunce) and they

haue

haue not only medled wyth vs, but with all ourr countrees: and beholde, thys daye are they beseginge the castell at Jerusalē, *and haue made vp the stroge holde in Bethsura:
And yf thou dorst not preuente them ryght
soone, they wyll do moze then these, & thou shalt not be able to ouercome them.

D *When ỳ kyng herde thys, he was very angrye, and called all hys frendes, the captaynes of hys fote men and of all his hozsemen together. He hyred men of warre also out of other realmes & out of the Iles of the see, which came vnto hym. And the nōbze of hys Host was an hundreth thousande fote men, & twentye thousande hozsmē, & .xxxii.
Elephātes wel exercised to battaill. * These ame thozow Idumea vnto Bethsura, & besieged it a longe season, and made dyuerse instrumētes of warre agaynst it. But ỳ Je-wes came out ād bzent thē, and fought lyke men. Then departed Judas frō the castell at Jerusalē, & remoued ỳ host toward Bethza
caran ouer agaynst the kynges armye.

So the kynge arose before the daye, and E bzought the power of hys host into ỳ waye
to Bethzacaran, where ỳ hostes made thē to ỳ battayll, blowynge the trōpettes. And to pzouoke the Elephātes foz to fight, they shewed them the sappe of reed grapes & mol
beries. And deuided the Elephātes amonge
the hoste: so ỳ by euery Elephante there stō-de a. C). men well harnessed, & helmettes of stele vpon theyr heades: Yee vnto euery one of the Elephantes also, were ozdened. v. C.
hozsmen of the best, which wayted of the Elephante, goynge where so euer he wēte, and departed not from hym. Euery Elephant was couered with a stronge tower of wod,
where vpon were .xxxii. valeaunte mē with weapens to fight, and within was a man of Inde to rule the beest.

As foz the remnaunt of the hozsmen, he sett them vpō both the sydes in two partes
with trompettes, to pzouoke the hoste, ād
to stere vp soch as were slowe in the armye.
And when the sunne shone vpō their shildes
of golde and stele, the mountaynes glistered agayne at them, and were as bzight as the creslettes of fyre. The kinges host also was deuyded, one parte vpon the hye mountaynes, the other lowe beneth: so they went on,
takynge good hede, and keppynge theyr oz-
dze. And all they that dwelt in the lāde, were afrayed at the noyse of their host, when the multitude wente forth, & when the wea-pens smote together, foz the host was both great & myghty. Judas also & hys host en-tred into the batayll, & slew. vi. C. mē of the kynges armye. Now when Eleasar ỳ sonne of Saura syd se one of ỳ Elephantes decke
wt the kynges badge, & was a moze goodly beast thē the other: he thought ỳ kyng shuld
be vpō him, & ieoparde hi self to delyuer hys
people, and to gett hym a perpetuall name.

Wherfoze he ranne with a cozage vnto the Elephāte in ỳ middest of the hoost, smytynge thē do wne of both ỳ sydes, & slewe many about him. So wente he to the Elephātes fete, & gat him vnder him, & slewe hym: then fell the Elephant downe vpō him, & there he dyed. Judas also & his men seing ỳ power of the kyng & the mighty violēce of his hoost, departed frō them. And ỳ kinges armye wē te vp agaynst thē towarde Jerusalē, & pitched their tētes in Jewry beside moūt Siō.
Moreouer, the kynge toke truse with them F
that were in * Bethsura. * 1. Macha.
i ii. bi.b.
ii. Mach. fi.
a. rb.b.

But when they came out of the cyte (because they had no victuales within, & the lāde laye vntilled) the kyng toke bethsura, & set mē to kepe it, & turned his hoost to the place of the Sanctuary, & layed siege to it a gre.t
whyle. Where he made al maner ordinaūce:
handbowes, fyre dartes, rachettes to cast
stones, scorpiōs to shote arowes, & slynges.
The Jewes also made ordinaunce agaynst
theirs, and fought a longe season.

But in the cyte there were no vytaples,
for it was the seuenth peare of the warres, & those heathen ỳ remayned in Jewry, had eaten vp all their stoare. And in the Sanctuary were fewmē lefte, for ỳ hunger came so vpō thē, that they were scattered abzoade
euery man to hys awne place.

So when Lysias hearde that Philyp (*whō Antiochus the kynge whyle he was * ii. Macha.
yet lyuynge had ordened to bzynge vp An- bi.b.
tiochus his sonne, that he myght be kynge)
was come agayne out of Persia & Medea
with the kinges hoost, & thought to optaine
the kyngdome. He gat him to the king in all the haste, & to the captaynes of the hoost, & G sayde: we decrease daply, & oure vytales are but small: Agayne, the place that we laye
sege vnto, is very strōg, & it were oure parte to se for the realme. Let vs agre wyth these men, and take truce with them, and with all theyr people, ād graunte them to lyue after theyr lawe, as they dyd afore. For they be greued & do all these thinges agaynst vs, because we haue despysed theyr lawe. So the kynge and the prynces were content, & sent vnto them to make peace, & they receaued it.
Now whē the kyng & the princes had made an othe vnto thē, they came out of ỳ castell,
and the kynge wente vp to mount Syon.
But when he sawe that the place was well fenced, he brake the othe that he had made, & commaunded to destroye the wall rounde a-boute. Then departed he in all the haste, and returned vnto Antioche, where he founde Philippe hauyng dominion of the citie. So he fought agaynst hym, and toke the cirye
agayne into hys handes.

¶ The

¶ The. vii. Chapter.

¶ Demetrius raygneth after he had killed Antiochus & Lysias. He troubleth the children of Israel thorow a counsell of certen wycked personnes. The prayer of ye Priestes against Nicanor. Judas killeth Nicanor, after he had made hys prayer.

1 IN the. CLi. yeare came Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus from the cyte of Rome wyth a small cõpany of men, vnto a citie of the see coast, & there he bare rule. And it chaunced, ỹ whẽ he came to Antioche the citie of his Progenitours, his host toke Antiochus & Lysias, to bryngе them vnto him. But whẽ it was tolde hym, he sayd: let me not se theyr faces: So the hoost put them to death. Now when Demetrius was set vpon the trone of hys kyngdome, there came vnto hym wycked & vngodly mẽ of Israel: whose captayne was Alcimus, that wolde haue bene made hye preste: These men accused ỹ people of Israel vnto the kynge, sayinge: Judas & hys brethren haue slayne thy frendes, and dryuen vs out of ourr awne lãde. Wherfore, sende now some man (to whom thou geuest credence) that he maye go and se all the destruccyon, which he hath done vnto vs & to the kynges lande, and lett him be punished with all hys frendes and fauourers.

2 Then the kynge chose Bachides a frende of his, which was a man of greate power in the realme (beyonde the greate water) and faythfull vnto the kynge: and sent him to se the destruccyon that Judas had done. And as for that wycked Alcimus, he made hym hye prest, and commaunded hym to be auenged of the children of Israell. So they stode vp, and came wyth a greate hoost into the lande of Juda, sendynge messaungers to Judas & hys brethren, & speakyng vnto them wyth peaceable wordes: but vnder disceate.

1. mach. 7. b * Therfore Judas & hys people beleued not theyr saying, for they sawe that they were come with a greate hoost.

After this came the scribes together vnto Alcimus & Bachides, trustinge the best vnto them. And fyrst the Assideans requyred peace of thẽ, sayinge: Alcimus the preste is come of the sede of Aarõ, how can he disceaue vs? So they gaue thẽ louynge wordes, & swore vnto them, & sayde: We will do you no harme: nether your frendes: & they beleued them. But the very same daye toke they lx. men of them & slewe them accordyng to the

* ps. lxxix. a wordes that are wrytten: * They haue cast the flesh of thy sayncters, & shed their bloude

¶ rõde about Jerusalem, & there was no mã ỹ wolde bury them. So there came a greate feare and dreade amõge the people, sayenge: there is nether treuth nor ryghteousnesse in thẽ, for they haue broken the appoyntement and othe ỹ they made. And Bachides remoued his hoost from Jerusalem, and pytched his tente at Bethzetha: where he sent forth, & toke many of them that had forsaken hym: he slewe many of the people also, and cast them into a greate pyt. Then committed he the lande vnto Alcimus, and left men of warre wyth hym to helpe hym, & Bachides him self wente vnto the kyng. And thus Alcimus defended his hye prestehode: & all soch as vexed Israell resorted vnto hym: In so moche that they optayned the lande of Juda, and hydmoch euell vnto the Israelites.

Now when Judas sawe all the myschefe that Alcimus and his cõpany had done (yee more then the heathen thẽ selues) vnto the Israelites: he wente forth rõde about all the borders of Jewry, and punyshed those vnfaythfull rennagates, so that they came nomore out into the countre. So when Alcimus sawe, that Judas and his people had gotten the vpperhãde, and that he was not able to abyde them: he wente agayne to the kynge, and sayde all the worst of them that he coulde. Then the kyng sent Nicanor, one of hys chefe princes (whych bare euell will vnto Israel) and commaunded him, that he shulde vtterly destroye the people.

D * ii. Mach. xiv. a * So Nicanor came to Jerusalem with a greate goost, and sent vnto Judas and his brethren wyth frendly wordes (but vnder disceate) sayẽge: there shall be no warre betwixte me & you: I will come wyth a fewe men, to se how ye do, wyth frendshyppe. Upon this he came vnto Judas, and they saluted one another peaceably: but ỹ enemyes were appoynted to take Judas by violence. Neuertheles it was tolde Judas, that he came vnto hym but vnder disceate: wherfore he gat hym awaye from him, and wolde se hys face nomore. Whẽ Nicanor perceaued that hys counsell was bewrayed, he went out to fight agaynst Judas, beside Capharsalama: where there were slayne of Nicanors hoost. v. (M). men: and the residue fled vnto the castell of Dauid.

E * ii. Mach. xiiii. a After this came Nicanor vp vnto mount Syon: and the prestes wyth the elders of the people wẽte forth to salute hym peaceably, & to shewe hym the burnt sacrifices that were offered for the kyng. But he laughed thẽ and ỹ people to scorne, mocked them, defiled their offeringes, & spake disdaynefully, yee and swore in hys wroth, sayenge: * If Judas and hys hoost be not delyuered now into my hãdes, as soone as euer I come agayne (& fare well) I shall burne vp thys house. With that, wente he out in a greate anger. Then the prestes came in, and stode before the aulter of the temple, weppynge & sayẽge.

* ii. Esd. ix. b. xx. b. * ecc. xlvi. xlvii. * For so moch as thou (O Lorde) hast chosen this house, that thy name myght be called vpõ therin, & that it shulde be * an house of prayer and peticion for thy people: Be a-

uenged

venged of this man & his hoost, & let them be slayne with the sweard: remembre the blasphemyes of them, and suffre them not to cõtynue eny longer.

When Nicanor was gone from Jerusalem, he pitched his tente at Bethoron, and there an hoost met hym out of Syria. And Judas came to Adasa with thre thousãde men, & made his prayer vnto God, sayeng: O Lord, * because ỳ mesiaungers of kyng Senacherib blasphemed ỳ, the angell went forth, and slewe an hundred foure score and fyue thousande of them. Euen so destroye thou thys hoost before vs to daye, ỳ other people maye knowe how that he hath blasphemed thy Sanctuary: & punyth hym accordynge to hys malycyousnesse.

And so the hoostes stroke the felde, the thyrteue daye of the monethe * Adar: and Nicanors hoost was dysconfited, & he him self was fyrst slayne in the battaylle. When Nicanors men of warre sawe that he was kylled, they cast awaye theyr weapens and fled, but the Jewes folowed vpon them an whole dayes iourney, from Adazer vnto Gazara, blowynge with ỳ trõpettes, and makynge tokens after them. So ỳ Jewes came forth of all ỳ townes there aboute, and blewe out theyr hornes vpon them, and turned agaynst them. Thus were they all slayne, and not one of them lefte.

Then they toke theyr substaunce for a pray, and smote of Nicanors heade and his ryght hande (* which he helde vp so proudly) and brought it with them, & hãged it vp afore Jerusalẽ. Wherfore, the people were exceadyngly reioyced, and passed ouer that day in greate gladnesse. And Judas ordeyned, that ỳ same daye (namely ỳ thyrtynth daye of the moneth Adar) shulde be kepte in myrth euery yeare. Thus the lãde of Juda was in rest a lytle whyle.

¶ The. viii. Chapter.

¶ Judas consyderyng the power and godly pollycye of the Romaynes maketh peace with them. The reserypt of the Romaynes sent vnto the Jewes.

AJudas heard also the fame of the Romaynes, that they were myghtye & valeaunt men, & agreable to all thynges ỳ are required of them, & make peace wt al men, which come vnto them, and how they were doughtye men of strẽgth. Belydes ỳ it was tolde him of theyr battaylles, and noble actes which they dyd in Galacia, how they had conquered them, and brought them vnder tribute: and what great thynges they had done in Spayne, how that wt theyr wysdome & sober behauour they had wonne ỳ Mynes of syluer & gold ỳ are there, & optayned all ỳ lãde, with other places farre from them: how they had discomfyted & slayne downe ỳ kynges ỳ came vpon them, from the vttermost parte of ỳ earth, and how other people gaue thẽ tribute euery yeare. How they had slayne & ouercome Philip and Perses kynges of Cethim, & other mo (in battaylle) which had brought theyr ordynaũce agaynst thẽ: how they discõfyted great Antiochus kyng of Asia (that wolde nedes fyght wt them) haunynge an hundred & twenty Elephãtes, with horsemen, charettes, and a very great hoost: how they toke hym selfe alyue, & ordeyned hym (with soch as shuld raygne after him) to paye thẽ a greate trybute. * yet, and to fynde them good suertyes & pledge: beslydes all thys, how they had taken from hym India, Media, and Lydia (his best lãdes) and geuen them to kynge Sumenus. Agayne, how they perceauyng ỳ the Grekes were cõmynge to vexe thẽ: sent agaynst thẽ a captayne of an hoost, which gaue thẽ battaylle, slewe many of them, led awaye theyr wyues and chyldren captyue, spoyled thẽ, toke possession of theyr lande, destroyed theyr stronge holdes, and subdued them to be theyr bonde men, vnto thys daye. Moreouer, how that as for other kyngdomes and Iles, which somtyme withstode them, they destroyed them, and brought them vnder theyr dominyon. But helped euer theyr awne frendes and those that where confederat with them, and conquered kyngdomes both farre and nye: & that whosoeuer herde of theyr renowne, was afrayed of them: for whom they wold help to their kyngdomes, those raygned: & whom it lyked not them to raygne, they put him downe. And how they were come to greate preeminence: hauynge no kynge among them, nether eny man clothed in purple, to be magnifyed there thorow, but had ordeyned them selues a perlamẽt, where in there sat thre hundred & twenty Senatours daylye vpon the councell, to dyspatch euer ỳ busynesse of the people, & to kepe good ordre. And how that euery yeare they chose a Mayre, to haue ỳ gouernaunce of all theyr land: to whom euery man was obedient, & there was nether euell wyll ner dyfference amonge them.

Then Judas chose Eupolemus ỳ sonne ¶ of Jhon the sonne of Jacob, and Jason the sonne of Eleazar, & sent them vnto Rome for to make frendshyppe and a bõde of loue with them: that they myght take frõ them the bõdage of ỳ Grekes, for ỳ Jewes sawe, that the Grekes wolde subdue ỳ kyngdome of Israel. So they went vnto Rome (a very greate iourney) & came into ỳ perlamẽt, and sayd: Judas Machabeus with his brethren and ỳ people of ỳ Jewes hath sent vs vnto you, to make a bõde of fredshyppe and peace wt you, & ye to note vs as your louers and frendes. And ꝑ matter pleased the Romaynes right wel, wherfore it was written vp: of the whych ꝑ Romaynes made a wrytynge in tables of brasse, and sent it to Jerusalem: that they myght haue by them a memorial of the same peace & bonde of frendshyp after this maner. God saue ꝑ Romaynes and the people of the Jewes both by see and by land, and kepe the sweard and enemy frō the for euermore. If there come first eny warre vpon the Romaynes or eny of theyr frēdes thorow out all theyr dominyon, the people of the Jewes shall help them (as the tyme requyreth) & that wt all theyr hertes. Also they shall nether geue nor sende vnto theyr enemyes vitayles, weapens, money ner shyppes: but fulfyll this charge at ꝑ Romaynes pleasure, & take nothyng frō them therfore. Agayne yf the people of ꝑ Jewes happen fyrst to haue warre, the Romaynes shal stāde by them wt a good wyll, accordynge as ꝑ tyme wyll suffre. Nether shall they geue vnto ꝑ Jewes enemyes, vytales, weapens, money ner shyppes. Thus are the Romaynes cōtent to do, and shall fulfyll their charge without eny dilceate.

D Accordyng to these articles, the Romaynes made the bonde with the Jewes. Now after these articles (sayde they) yf eny of the parties wyll put to the, or take eny thynge from them: they shall do it wt the consent of both: & what soeuer they adde vnto them or take from them, it shall stande fast. And as touchyng ꝑ euell that Demetrius hath done vnto the Jewes, we haue written vnto hym, sayenge: wherfore layest ꝑ thy heuy yoche vpon ꝑ Jewes oure frendes & louers? If they make eny cōplaynte of the agayne vnto vs, we shall defende them, and fyght with the by see and by lande.

¶ The.ix. Chapter.

¶ After the death of Nicanor, Demetrius sendeth his armye agaynst Judas. Judas is slayne. Jonathas is put in the rowme of his brother. The fryte betwene Jonathas and Bachydes. Alcymus is taken with the palsye and dyeth. Bachydes returneth agayne into the lond. He cometh vpon Jonathas by the counsell of cry tayn wycked persones, and is ouercome. The truce of Jonathas with Bachydes.

A IN the meane season whē Demetrius herde that * Nicanor and hys hoost was slayne in the felde, he procerded further to sēde Bachydes and Alcymus agayne into Jewry, & those that were in the ryght wynge of his hoost, with them. So they went forth by the waye ꝑ ledeth vnto Galgala, and pitched theyr tentes before Melaloth which is in arbellis, and wanne the cytie & slewe moche people. In the fyrst moneth of the .Cli. yeare, they brought theyr hoost to Jerusalem, and rose vp & came to Berea, with .xx. M. fotemen. & .ii. M. horsmen.

*1. Mac. vii. & Josephus ca. xii. lib. xii.

Now Judas had pytched his tētes at Laysa, with thre thousande chosen men. And when they sawe the multytude of the other army that it was so greate, they were sore afrayed, and many conueyed them selues out of the hoost, In so moch that there abode no mo of them but eyght hundred men. When Judas sawe ꝑ his hoost fayled hym, and that he must nedes fight: it brake his herte, that he had no tyme to gather them together: wherfore the man was in extreme trouble. Neuertheles, he sayde vnto them, that remayned with hym. Up, lett vs go agaynst oure enemyes, peraduēture we shalbe able, to fyght with them. But they wolde haue stopped hym, sayenge: we shall not be able, therfore lett vs now saue oure lyues, & turne agayne to our brethren and then will we fyght agaynst the, for we are here but fewe. And Judas sayde: God forbyd, ꝑ we shulde fle from them. Wherfore, yf oure tyme be come, let vs dye manfully for our brethren, and lett vs not stayne oure honoure. Then the hoost remoued out of ꝑ tentes, and stode agaynst them. The horsmen are deuyded in two partes: the flyng callers & archers wente before ꝑ hoost, and all the myghtye men were formost in ꝑ felde. Bachides him selfe was in ꝑ ryght wyng of ꝑ battayll, and the hoost drewe nye in two partes, & blewe the trompettes. They of Judas syde blewe the trōpettes also, & the earth shoke at the noyse of ꝑ hostes, & they stroke a felde from the morow tyll nyght. And when Judas sawe ꝑ Bachides hoost was strongest of ꝑ ryght syde, he toke with hym all the hardy men, & brake ꝑ ryght wynge of theyr order, & folowed vpon them vnto ꝑ mount Azot.

Now when they which were of the left wyng, sawe that ꝑ ryght syde was discōfyte, they persecuted Judas & them ꝑ were wt hym. Then was there a sore battayll, for many were slayne & wounded of both ꝑ parties, Judas also him self was hylled, & the remnaunt fled. So Jonathas and Symon toke Judas theyr brother, and buryed hym in his fathers sepulchre in ꝑ cytie of Modin. And all ꝑ people of Israell made greate lamētacyon for hym, & mourned lōge, sayēge: Alas, that thys worthy shulde be slayne, which delyuered ꝑ people of Israel. As for other thinges pertaynynge to ꝑ battayles of Judas, ꝑ noble actes that he dyd & of hys worthynesse: they are not wrytten, for they were very many.

*And after ꝑ death of Judas, wycked men came vp in all ꝑ coastes of Israel, and there C arose all soch as worcke vngodlynesse. In * Josephus ca. xii. lib. xii. those dayes was there a greate dearthe in ꝑ lande, and all the countre gaue ouer themselues and theyrs vnto Bachydes. So Bachydes chose wycked men, and made them lordes lozdes in ꝑ land. These sought out ꝛ made search foz Judas frēdes, and brought them vnto Bachydes: which auenged hi self vpō them with great despyte. And there came so great trouble in Israell, as was not sens ꝑ tyme that no prophete was sene there.

Then came all Judas frendes together, and sayde vnto Jonathas: Foz so moch as thy brother Judas is deed, there is none lyke him to go forth agaynst our enemyes, agaynst Bachides, ꝛ soch as are aduersaries vnto oure people. Wherfoze thys daye we chose the foz hi, to be oure prince ꝛ captayne to ordre oure battaylle. And Jonathas toke ꝑ gouernaunce vpon hym at the same tyme, and ruled i steade of hys brother Judas Whē Bachides gatt knowledge therof, he sought foz to sley hym. But Jonathas and Symon his brother, perceauinge that, fled into the wildernes of Thecua with al their compayny, and pytched theyr tentes by the water pole of Asphar.

Which when Bachides vnderstode, he came ouer Jozdane with all his hooste vpon ꝑ Sabboth day. Nowhad Jonathas sent his brother Jhon (a captayne of the people) to praye hys frendes the Nabuthytes, ꝑ they wolde lende them their ordinaunce, foz they had moch. So the chyldrē of Jambry came out of Madaba, and toke Jhon and al that D he had, and wēte theyr waye withal. Then came worde vnto Jonathas ꝛ Simon hys brother, that the chyldren of Jambry made a greate mariage, and brought the bride frō Madaba with greate pompe: foz she was daughter to one of ꝑ noblest princes of Canaā. Wherfoze they remembred the bloude of Jhon their brother, and wēte vp and hid thē selues vnder the shadowe of the mountayne.

So they lift vp theyr eyes, and loked, ꝛ beholde, there was moch a do, and great repayre: foz the bridegrome came forth, ꝛ hys frendes and hys brethren met them w tympanyes, instrumētes of musicke, and many weapens. Then Jonathas and they ꝑ were with him, rose out of their lourkyng places against them, and slewe many of them. As foz the remnaunt, they fled into ꝑ mountaynes, and they toke all theyr substaunce. Thus the marrage was turned to morninge, and the noyse of theyr melody into lamētacyon. And so when they had auenged ꝑ bloud of theyr brother, they turned agayne vnto Jozdane.

Bachides hearynge thys, came vnto the E very border of Jozdane with a great power vpō ꝑ Sabbath daye. And Jonathas sayd to hys companye, let vs get vp, and fyght agayne our enemyes: foz it stādeth not with vs to daye, as in tyme past: Beholde, oure enemyes are in our waye, the water of Jozdane vpon the one syde of vs, wyth bankes, fennes and woddes of the other syde, so that there is no place foz vs to departe vnto.

*Wherfoze crie now vnto heauen, that ye maye be delyuered frō ꝑ power of your enemyes. So they stroke ꝑ battaylle. And Jonathas stretched out hys handes to smyte Bachydes, but he fled backwarde. Then Jonathas ꝛ they ꝑ were with him leapte into Jozdane, and swymmed ouer Jozdane vnto hym, and there were slayne of Bachydes side that daye, a thousande men. *1. Para. 5. a 1. Mac. iiii. b.

Therfoze Bachydes wyth his hooste turned agayne to Jerusalem, and buylde vp ꝑ castels and strong holdes that were i Jewrye, Jericho, Emaus, Bethozon, Bethell, Thamnata, Phara and Topo, w hye walles, with portes and with lockes: ꝛ set men to kepe thē, that they myght vse theyr malyce vpō Israel. He walled vp Bethsurath, Gazarah and the castell at Jerusalem also and prouided thē wyth men and vitayles. He toke also the chefest mens sonnes in the countre foz pledges, and put them in the castell at Jerusalem to be kepte.

Afterwarde in the hundred fifty ꝛ thre yeare in ꝑ secōde moneth, Alcimus cōmaunded, that ꝑ walles of the vtmost Sanctuary shuld be destroyed, and the buyldinges of ꝑ prophetes also. And when he beganne to destroye them, ꝑ thynges ꝑ he wēte aboute, were hyndered, foz he was smyttē w a palsey, and his mouth shut, so that he coulde no more speake ner cōmaunde eny of his house concernynge his busynesse. Thus dyed Alcimus in greate mysery at ꝑ same tyme. And whē Bachides sawe that Alcim⁹ was deed, he turned agayne to the kyng, and so ꝑ lāde was in reast two yeares. Then all the vngodly men held a councell, sayeng: Behold, Jonathas and his company are at ease, and dwell without care. Wherfoze let vs brige Bachides hyther, and he shall take them al in one nyght. F

So they wente and gaue Bachides this councell, which arose to come with a greate hooste, and sent lettres priuely to his adherētes, whych were in Jewrye, to take Jonathas ꝛ those ꝑ were w hym: but they myght not foz ꝑ other had gottē knowledge of theyr denyce. And Jonathas toke fyfty mē of ꝑ countre (whych were ꝑ ringleaders of the) and slewe thē. Then Jonathas and Symō wyth theyr cōpany departed vnto the cyte Bethbessen whych lyeth in the wyldernes, ꝛ repayred ꝑ decaye therof, ꝛ made it strōg. When Bachides knewe thys, he gathered all hys hooste, and sent worde to them that were of Jewry. Then came he and layed sege to Bethbessen ꝛ fought agaynst it a lōg G season, ꝛ made instrumētes of warre. Now Jonathas left his brother Symō in ꝑ cytie, and wente forth hym selfe into the cõtre, & came with a certayne nõbre, & slewe Odarres and his brether and the children of Phaseron in their tentes: so that he begame to be stronge, and to increase in power.

As for Symon and hys companye, they wente out of the cytie, and brent vp the instrumẽtes of warre, & fought agaynst Bachydes, and discõfyted hym. And Bachides was sore vexed, because his counceil and trayne was i vayne. Wherfore he was wroth at the wycked men (that gaue hym counceil to come into their lãde) and slewe many of them. Then purposed he with hys company to go awaye into his awne countre: wherof whẽ Jonathas had knowledge, he sent embassitoures vnto hym, for to make peace wt hym, and that he shuld delyuer hym his prysonners agayne. To the whych Bachydes cõsented gladly, and dyd accordynge to hys desyre: yee and made an othe, that he shulde neuer do hym harme al the dayes of his lyf. So he restored vnto hym al the prysonners that he had taken out of the lãde of Juda, & then turned and wente his waye into hys awne lãde, neither proceded he eny further to come vnto the borders of Juda. Thus Israel had no more warre. And Jonathas dwelt at Machemas, and begane there to gouerne the people, and destroyed þ vngodly men out of Israell.

¶ The. x. Chapter.

¶ Demetrius desyreth to haue peace with Jonathas Alexander moueth warre agaynst Demetrius. Demetrius is slayne. The frendshyppe of Ptolomeus & Alexander.

a Ioseph. ca. 8. xii. ma. xiii.

IN the hũdred and thre score yeare came Alexander þ sonne of noble Antiochus and tohe Ptolomays, whose cytesyns receaued him, and there he raygned. When Demetrius herde therof, he gathered an exceading great hoost, and went forth against him to fyght. Wherfore Demetry⁹ sent letters vnto Jonathas with louyng wordes, and prayse him greatly. For he sayde: we will fyrst make peace with him, before he bynde hym selfe wyth Alexãder against vs: els he shall remembre þ euyll that we haue done agaynst hym, his brother & his people. And so he gaue Jonathas leue to gather an hoost, to make weapens, and to be confederat wyth hym, & comm̃aded the pledges that were i the castell, to be deliuered vnto hym.

Then came Jonathas to Jerusalem, and red the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were i the castell. And therfore were they sore afraied, because they herde, that þ kynge had geuen hym leyserne to gather an hoost. Thus were the pledges delyuered vnto Jonathas, whych restored thẽ to their elders. Jonathas also dwelt at Jerusalem, and begaune to buylde vp & to repayre the cytie: commaũdyng the workmen, to wall it, and the mount Sion round aboute with fre stone, to be a stronge holde, and so they dyd. As for þ heathen that were i þ castels wh:ch Bachides had made vp they fled: so that euery man left þ place, and went into his awne countre. Only at Bethsura remayned certayne of þ Jewes, whych had forsaken þ lawe and commaundementes of God, for Bethsura was their refuge.

Now when kyng Alexander herde of the promyses that Demetrius had made vnto Jonathas, and when it was tolde hym of þ battels and noble actes, whych he and hys brethren had done, and of the greate trauayles that they had taũ, he sayde: where shall we fynde soch a man? well, we wyll make him our frende, and be cõfederat wyth hym. Vpõ this he wrote a lettre vnto hym, with these wordes: kynge Alexãder saluteth hys brother Jonathas. We haue herde of the, þ thou art a valeaũt man, and mete to be our frende: wherfore thys daye we ordeyne the to be the hye preste of thy people, and to be called the kynges frẽde. (Upon this, he sent hym a purple clothynge, and a crowne of golde) that thou mayest consydre what is for oure profyt, and kepe frendshyppe towarde vs.

So in the seuenth moneth of the hũdred and thre score yeare vpõ the solempne feast daye of the tabernacles, Jonathas put þ holy rayment vpon him. Then gathered he an hoost, and made many weapes. Which whẽ Demetrius herde, he was maruelous sory, & sayde: Alas, what haue we done, that Alexander hath prouoked vs in gettyng þ frendshyppe of the Jewes, for hys awne defence? Yet will I wryte louyngly vnto them also, yee and promyse them dignites and rewardes, þ they maye be of my syde. Wherupon he wrote vnto thẽ these wordes. Kinge Demetrius sendeth greting vnto þ people of þ Jewes. Where as ye haue kepte your couenaunt towarde vs, & cõtynued in our frendshyp, not enclyning to our enemyes, we were glad, when we herde therof. Wherfore remayne styll, & be faythfull to vs: & we shall well recõpense you for þ thinges, þ ye haue done on oure partye: we shall release you of many charges, & geue you rewardes. And now I dyscharge you & all þ Jewes frõ tributes, I forgeue you þ customes of salt, and release you of þ crowne tares, of the thyrde parte of sede, & half of þ frute of trees, which is myne awne dewtye. These I leaue for you, frõ this daye forth: so þ they shal not be taken of the lande of Juda ner of the thre cyties whych are added ther vnto out of Samaria and Galyle, from thys daye forth for euer-

D for euermore. Jerusalē also with al thinges he longing therto, shal be holy and fre, yee ꝑ tythes and trybutes shall pertayne vnto it. As for the power of ꝑ castell which is at Jerusalē, I remyt & geue it vnto ꝑ hye preste, that he maye set i it soch mē, as he shal chose to kepe it. I frely delyuer al the Jewes that are prisonners thorow out all my realme: so ꝑ euery one of thē shalbe fre from paying any trybute, yee euen of their catell.

All the solempne feastes, Sabbathes, new moones, the dayes appoynted, the thre dayes before & after the feast, shalbe fre for all the Jewes in my realme: so that in them no man shall haue power to do eny thynge, or to moue any bulynesse agaynst any of thē in any maner of cause. There shall thyrty thousande also of the Jewes be wrytten vp in the kynges hoost, and haue their wages payed, as all other men of warre of the kynges shulde haue: and of them shalbe ordeyned certayne, to kepe ꝑ kynges strong holdes: yee and some of thē shalbe set ouer the kynges bulynesse, that they maye faythfully deale wt the same. The Jewes also shall haue princes of their awne, and walcke in their awne lawes, as the kynge hath commaunded in the lande of Juda.

And the thre cyties that are fallen vnto Jewry from ꝑ countre of Samaria & Galylee: shalbe taken as Jewry, and be vnder one: nether be subiecte to any straūge Lord, but to the hye preste. As for Ptolomais and the lande pertaynyng therto, I geue it vnto the Sanctuary at Jerusalem, for the necessary expēces of the holy thynges. Moreouer, I wyll geue euery peare fyftene thousand Sycles of syluer out of ꝑ kynges checker (which pertayneth vnto me) to the worke of the temple: yee and loke what remayneth (which they ꝑ had ouer matters in hād in tymes past, haue not payed) ꝑ same shall they geue vnto them also. And besydes all thys, the fyue thousand Sycles which they toke yearly of the rentes of the Sanctuary, shall belonge vnto the prestes that do seruyce.

Item, whosoeuer they be that fle vnto ꝑ temple at Jerusalem or within the liberties therof, where as they are fallen into ꝑ kynges daunger for eny maner of bulynes, they shall be pardoned and all the goodes that they haue in my realme, shalbe fre. For the buyldyng also and repayring of the worcke of the Sanctuary, expenses shalbe geuen out of the kynges Checker: Yee and for the makynge of the walles roūde aboute Jerusalem, for ꝑ breakyng downe of the olde and for the settynge vp of ꝑ stronge holdes in Jewry, shall the costes and charges be geuen out of the kynges Checker.

1.mac.bii.b * But when Jonathas and the people hearde these wordes, they gaue no credence vnto them, nether receaued them: for they remembred the greate wyckednesse that he had done vnto Israell, and how sore he had vexed them. Wherfore, they agreed vnto Alexander, for he was a prynce that had dealte frendly wyth them, and so they stode by hym all waye. * Then gathered kynge Alexander a greate hoost, and brought hys armye agaynst Demetrius. So the two kynges stroke batayll together, but Demetrius hoost fled, and Alexander folowed after and fell vpon them. A myghtye sore felde was it, contynuynge tyll the Sonne wente downe, and Demetrius was slayne the same daye. * Ioseph.ca. b.lib.xiii.

And Alexander sente ambassitoures vnto Ptolomy the kynge of Egypte with these wordes, sayenge: For so moch as I am come agayne to my realme, and am set in the trone of my progenytoures, and haue gotten the dominyon, ouercomed Demetrius, conquered the lande, and stryke a felde wyth hym, so that we haue discomfyted both hym and hys hoost, and syt in the trone of hys kyngdome. Let vs now make frendshyppe together, geue me thy daughter to wyfe: so shall I be thy sonne in lawe, and both geue the rewardes, and her greate dygnite. Ptolomy the kynge gaue answere, sayenge: happy be the daye wherin thou arte come agayne to the lande of thy progenytoures, and set in the trone of their kyngdome. As now wyll I fulfyll thy wrytynge: but mete me at Ptolomais, that we maye se one another, & that I maye mary my daughter vnto the accordynge to thy desyre. So Ptolomy wente out of Egypte wyth hys daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolomais in the. Clxii. yeare: where kynge Alexander met him, and he gaue Alexander his daughter Cleopatra, & maried thē at Ptolomais with greate worshyppe, lyke as the maner of kynges is to be. Thē wrote kyng Alexander vnto Jonathas, that he shulde come and mete hym. So he wente honorably vnto Ptolomais, and there he mete the two kynges, and gaue them greate presentes of golde and syluer, and founde fauoure i their syght. And there came together agaynst Jonathas certayne wycked men & vngracious personnes of Israel, makyng complaynte of hym, but ꝑ kynge regarded thē not. As for Jonathas, the kynge commaunded to take of his garmentes, and to clothe hym i purple: and so they dyd. Then ꝑ kyng appoynted hym to syt by hym, and sayde vnto his princes: Go with hym into ꝑ myddest of the cytie, and make a proclamacyon, that no man complayne agaynst him of eny matter, and that no man trouble hym for eny maner of cause.

So it happened, that when hys accusers sawe the worshyppe which was proclamed of hym, and that he was clothed in purple: they fled euerychone. And the kynge made moch of hym, wrote hym amonge hys chefe frendes, made hym a duke, and partaker of hys dompnion. * Thus Jonathas went agayne to Jerusalem with peace & gladnes.

* Iosephus. ca. vi. lib. xiii antiq.

In the. CLxv. yeare came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius frō Creta ito hys fathers lande: wherof whē Alexander herde tell, he was ryght sory, and returned vnto Antioche. And Demetrius chose * Appollonyus, (whych had the gouernaunce of Celosyrya) to be hys captayne.

*1. mac. xii. a

So he gathered a greate hoost and came vnto Jamnia, and sente word vnto Jonathas the hye preste, sayeng: Darrest þ withstād vs thy self alone? As for me, I am but laughed to scorne and shamed, because thou prouedst thy strength agaynst vs in þ mōtaynes. Now therfore, yf thou trustest in thyne awne strength, come downe to vs into the playne felde, and there let vs proue our stregth together: thou shalt fynde, that I haue valeaunt mē of warre wyth me and shalt knowe whō I am, and the other that stande by me.

Which saye, that your fote is not able to stāde before oure face, for thy fathers haue bene twise chaced ito theyr awne lāde. And now, how wylt þ be able to abyde so greate an hoost of horsmen and fotemen in the felde, where as is nether rocke, stone ner place to fle vnto?

When Jonathas herd the wordes of Appollonyꝰ, he was moued [hys mynde: wherfore he chose tente thousand men, and wente out of Jerusalem, and Symon hys brother met hym for to help hym: And they pitched theyr tētes at Joppa, but þ cytie kepte hym forth, for Joppa was an holde of Appollonius. Then Jonathas layed sege to it, and they that were in the cytie, for very fear let hym in: and so Jonathas wanne Joppa. Appollonius hearinge of thys toke thre thousande horsmen, with a greate hoost of fote, and wente as though he wold go to Azotus, and came immediatly ito the playne felde: because he had so many horsmen, and put hys trust in thē. So Jonathas folowed vpon hym to Azotus, and there they stroke the battayll. Now had Appolonius lefte a thousand horsmē behynde them prively in the tētes. And when Jonathas knewe that soch wayte was layed behynde them, they went rounde aboute the enemyes hoost and shot dartes at the people frō the moznynge to the euenynge. As for Jonathas people, they kepte theyr order as he had commaunded them, and the enemies horses were euer labouringe.

Then brought Tymon forth hys hoost, & I set them agaynst the fote men. For the horsmen were wery all ready. So he discōfyted them, and they fled. And they that were scatred in the feld, gat thē to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon theyr Idoll, þ they myght there saue theyr lyues. But Jonathas set fyre vpon Azotus and all the cyties rounde aboute it, and toke theyr goodes and * brent vp the temple of Dagon, wyth all them that were fled into it. *1 mac. xi. a.

Thus were slayne and brent well nye. viii M. men. So Jonathas remoued the hoost from thence, and brought them to Ascalon: where the men of the cytie came forth, & met hym with greate worshyp. After this wēte Jonathas and hys hoost agayne to Jerusalem, with greate substaunce of good. And when kyng Alexander herde these thynges he thought to do Jonathas more worshyppe and sent hym a colar of golde, as the vse is to be geuen vnto soch as are of the kynges nerr blonde. He gaue hym also the cytie of Accaron (with the landes belongynge therto) in possession.

¶ The. xi. Chapter.

¶ The dissencyon betwixt Ptolomey and Alexāder hys sonne in lawe. The death of Alexander. Demetrius raygneth after the death of Ptolomeus. Gyon is besieged of Jonathas. Demetrius seynge that no man resisted hym, sendeth his armye agayne. Triphon moueth Antiochus agaynst Demetrius. Demetrius is discomfited by the succour of Jonathas. After hys discomfiture he breaketh hys couenaunt that he had made.

AND the kynge of Egypte gathered an hoost (lyke the lande that seeth vpō þ see shore) and many shipes: * & wente about thorow di secate to optayne þ kingdome of Alexāder, & to ioyne it vnto hys awne realme. Upō thys he toke hys iourney into Siria, & was lefte into the cyties, and mē came forth to mete hym: for kyng Alexander had commaunded them so to do, because he was hys father in lawe. Now whē Ptolomy entred into eny cytie, he lefte men of warre to kepe it, and this he dyd thorow out all the cities. And when he came to Azotus, * they shewed hym the temple of Dagō and Azotus that was brent vp, with the other thynges whych were destroyed, the deed bodyes cast abrode, & þ graues that they had made by þ waye syde, for soch as were slayne in þ felde. And tolde þ kyng that Jonathas had done all these thynges, to þ intēt they might get hys euell will. But the kynge sayde not a worde therto. And Jonathas met the kynge wyth greate honour at Joppa, where they saluted one another, and toke theyr rest. So whē Jonathas had gone wt þ kyng vnto the water that was called Eleutherus, he turned agayne to Jerusalem. * Iosep. antiq. lib. xiii. *1. mac. xi.

Now

Nowe Ptolompe had gotten the dompnion of the cyties vnto Seleucia vpon ꝑ see coast, ymaginynge wycked councels agaynst Alexãder, and sent ambassitours vnto Demetrius, saying. Come, let vs make a bond betwyxte vs, so shall I geue the my daughter that Alexander hath, and thou shalt raygne in thy fathers kyngdome. I repente that I gaue Alexander my daughter, for the goeth aboute to slee me. And thus he slaundred Alexander, because he wolde haue had hys realme.

Thus he toke hys daughter from hym, gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forsoke Alexander, so that his malyce was openly knowne. And Ptolomy cam to Antioche, where he set two crownes vpõ hys awne head: the crowne of Egypt and of Asia. In the meane season was kynge Alexander in Cilicia, for they that dweit in those places, had rebelled agaynst him. But when Alexãder herde of thys, he came to warre agaynst hym. So kynge Ptolomy brought forth hys hoost & met hym with a myghty power, and chased him awaye. Then fled Alexander into Araby, there to be defended, and kynge Ptolompes honoure increased. And zabdiel ꝑ Arabian smote of Alexanders head, and sent it vnto Ptolomy. But the thyrde daye after, dyed kynge Ptolomy hym selfe: and whom he had sett in the stroge holdes, were slayne of thoste that were wythin the cyties. And Demetrius raygned in the hundred and seuen and syxtie yeare.

C

In the same tyme gathered Jonathas the that were in Jewry, to laye sege vnto the castell whych was at Jerusalem, and so they made many instrumentes of warre agaynst it. Then wente there certayne vngodly personnes (whych hated their awne people) vnto kynge Demetrius, and tolde hym that Jonathas besieged the castell. So whẽ he heard it, he was angrie, and immediatly came vnto Ptolomais, and wrote vnto Jonathas, that he shulde not laye sege to the castell, but come and speake wyth him in all the haste. Neuertheles, when Jonathas herde this, he commaunded to besege it. He chose also certayne of the elders and preestes of Israel, and put him selfe in the parell, and toke with him golde, syluer, clothynge, and diuerse presentes: & wente to Ptolomais vnto the kynge, and founde hym gracyous.

And though certayne vngodly men of hys awne people made complaintes vpon him, yet ꝑ kynge intreated hym, *lyke as hys predecessours had done before: and promoted hym in the syght of all his frendes, cõfyrmed hym in the hye preesthode with all ꝑ worshyp ꝑ he had afore, and made him hys chefe frẽde. Jonathas also desyred the kyng, that he wolde make Jewry free, *& the thre head cyties of Samaria and the landes pertaynynge therto: vpon thys dyd Jonathas promyse hym thre. C talentes. Where vnto ꝑ kynge cõsented, & gaue Jonathas wrytinge of the same, conteynyng these wordes: Kinge Demetrius sendeth gretyng vnto his brother Jonathas & to the people of the Jewes. We sende you here a copy of the letter which we dyd wryte vnto oure elder Lasthenus, concernynge you that ye shulde knowe it.

1.Mac.x.a.

1.Mac.x.b.

Kynge Demetrius sendeth gretynge vnto Lasthenus hys elder. For the kynthulnesse ꝑ oure frendes the people of the Jewes kepe vnto vs, and for the louyng kyndnes which they beare towarde vs: we are determyned to do thẽ good. Wherfore we ordeyne all the coastes of Jewry with thre cyties, Lydda & Ramatha (whych are added vnto Jewrye from Samaria) and all the landes pertaynynge there vnto, to be frely separated for soche as do sacrifyce in Jerusalẽ: both concernynge the paymentes which the kynge toke yearly afore tyme, and the frutes also of the earth and trees. As for other tythes and tributes that belonged vnto vs, we discharge them therof from thys tyme forth. In lyke maner we graunte vnto them all the customes of salt and crowne taxes, whych were brought vnto vs. And this fredome shall they haue fyrme and stedfast, from thys tyme forth for euermore. Therfore se that ye make a copy of these our lettres, and delyuer it vnto Jonathas: that it maye be kepte vpõ the holy mount in a conuenient place.

D

After thys, when Demetrius the kynge sawe that his lande was in rest, and that no resystaũce was made him: he sent awaye all his hoost, euery man to hys awne place, excepte an army of straũgers, whõ he brought from the Iles of the Heathen, wherfore all hys fathers hoost had euell will at hym. *

E

*1.Mac.x.b.

Nowe was there one Tryphon (that had bene of Alexanders parte afore) whych when he sawe that all ꝑ hoost murmured agaynst Demetrius: he wente to Emalcuel the Arabian (that brought vp Antiochus the sonne of Alexãder) and laye sore vpon hym, to delyuer hym this yõge Antiochus: ꝑ he myghe raygne in hys fathers steade. He tolde hym also, what great euell Demetrius had done, and howe his men of warre loued him not: & so remayned there a longe season.

And Jonathas sent vnto kynge Demetrius, to dryue them out whych were in the castell at Jerusalem, and in the other refuges, for they dyd Israel greate harme. So Demetrius sent worde vnto Jonathas, sayeng: I will not only do these thynges for ꝑ and thy people, but at tyme conuenient I wil do both the and thy people great worshippe. But nowe thou shalt do me a pleasure, yf ꝑ wylt sende me men to helpe me: for all myne

F

armye is gone fro me. So Jonathas set him thre thousand stronge men vnto Antioche, &
they came vnto ꝑ kynge, wherfore the kyng was very glad at their comming. But they that were of the cytie (euen an hundred and twenty thousande men) gathered the together, and wold haue slayne the kynge, which fled into his court, and the cytezins kepte the stretes of the cytie, and beganne to fyght.

Then the kynge called for the Jewes helpe, which came vnto hym all together, and wente abrode thorowe the cytie, and slewe
the same daye an hundred thousande men: set fyre vpō the cytie, gat many spoyles in that daye, and deliuered the kynge. So whē the cytezyns sawe that the Jewes had gotten their wyll of the cytie, & they them selues di-sapoynted of their purpole, they made their supplicacion vnto the kynge, sayeng: Graūt
vs peace, and let the Jewes cease frō troublynge vs and the cytie, and vpon this they cast awaye their weapes. Thus they made peace, and the Jewes gatt great worshyp in the syght of the kinge, and in the syght of all that were in his realme, and were spoken of thorowe out the kyngdome: and so they came agayne to Jerusalē with great goodes.

So the kynge Demetrius sat in the trone
of his kyngdome, and had peace in his lāde:
Neuertheles, he dyssembled in all that euer
he spake, and wyth drewe hym selfe frō Jonathas, nether rewarded hym according the benefites which he had done for him, but troubled hym very sore. After this came Tryphon agayne wyth yonge Antiochus,
which raygned and was crowned kynge.
Then there gathered vnto hym all the men
of warre, whō Demetrius had put awaye:
these fought against Demetrius, which fled and turned his backe. So Tryphon toke the Elephātes, & wāne Antioche. And yōg An-tiochus wrote vnto Jonathas, sayēge: I con
fyrme the in thy priesthode, and make the ruler of iiij. countres, & thou mayest be a frēde
of the kynges.

Upon this he sent hym golden vessels to be serued in, and gaue hym leue to drynke in golde, to be clothed in purple, and to were a tokē of golde. He made his brother Symō also captayne, frō the coastes of Tyrus vnto the borders of Egypt. Then Jonathas to ke his iourney, and wente thorowe the cyties
beyonde the water of Jordane, & all the mē
of warre of Syria gathered them vnto him
for to helpe him. So he came vnto Ascalon, and they of the cytie receaued hym honorably, and from thence went he vnto Gaza,
but they wolde not let hym in: wherfore he layed sege vnto it, burnynge vp and spoy-lynge the places that were about the cytie.

And the cytezyns of Gaza submytted the selues vnto Jonathas, which made peace &
toke, but toke of their lordes to pledge, sent them to Jerusalem, and went thorowe the countre vnto Damascus. Nowe whē Jona-thas herde that Demetrius princes were come into Cades (which is in Galilee) wyth a greate hoost, purposynge to put Demetrius out from medlynge in the realme: he came a-gaynst them, and lefte Symon his brother in the lande: which came to Bethsura, and layed sege to it a longe season, and distomfi-ted the. So they desyred to haue peace with hym, which he graunted them, and afterwarde put them out from thēce, toke the cy-tie, and sett men to kepe it. And Jonathas w his hoost came to the water of Genesar, and by tymes in the morynge gatt them to the playne felde of Asor.

And beholde, the hoostes of the heathen met them in the felde, and layed watch for them in the mountaynes: so that when Jonathas came against them, the other (which were layed to watch) rose out of their places, and fought, and they that were of Jona thas syde, fled euery man: and there was not one of them left, except Mathathias the sonne
of Absalomus, & Judas the sonne of Cal-phi the captayne of the hoost. Then Jona-thas rente his clothes, layed earth vpon his head, made his prayer, and turned agayne
to the in the felde: where they fought together, & he put them to flyght. Nowe whē his awne mē, that were fled, sawe this: they tur ned agayne vnto hym and helped him to fo-lowe vpon all their enemyes vnto their ten-tes at Cades. So there were slayne of the heathen the same daye thre thousande men,
and Jonathas turned agayne to Jerusalem.

¶ The xij. Chapter.

¶ Jonathas seyndeth embassadours to Rome and to the people of Sparta to renue their louemade of brotherhed. Jonathas putteth to flyght the princes of Demetrius. Tryphon taketh Jonathas by treason.

JOnathas seyng that ꝑ tyme was mete for hym, chose certayne men
and sent the vnto Rome for to sta
blisshe & renue the frendshyppe
with the. He sent letters also vnto Sparta, and to other places in lyke ma-
ner. So they wente vnto Rome, and entred into the counsell, & sayde: Jonathas the hye
preste and the people of the Jewes sent vs
vnto you, for to renue the olde frendshyp and bonde of loue: wherfore the Romaynes ga-
ue them fre passportes, that men shulde leue
them home into the lāde of Juda peceably.
And this is the copy of the letters that Jonathas wrote vnto the Spartians.

Jonathas the hye preste, & the elders, prestes, & the other people of the Jewes, sende
gretynge vnto the Spartians their brethre.
There were lettres sente longe a go vnto Onias the hye preste, frō Arius, which then raygned

rapgned amonge you: that ye are oure brethren, as the wrytinge made ther vpon, ſpecifyeth. And Onias entreated the embaſſi-toure that was ſent, honorably, and receā-ued the letters: where in there was mencyon
made of the bonde of loue and frendſhyppe.
B But as for vs, we nede no ſuche wrytinges:
for why, we haue the holy bokes of ſcripture
in oure handes to our comforte. Neuertheles, we had rather ſende vnto you, for the renuynge of the brotherhode and frendſhyppe:
leſt we ſhulde be ſtraunge vnto you: for it is longe, ſens the tyme ye ye ſent vnto
vs. Wherfore in the ſacrifyces that we offre
and other ceremonyes vpō the hye ſolempne
dayes and other, we alwaye remembre you without ceaſſynge (lyke as reaſon is, and as it becommeth vs to thynche vpon our brethren) yee and are ryght glad of youre prosperous honoure.

And thoughe we haue had great troubles
and warres, ſo that the kynges aboute vs
haue foughten againſt vs: yet wolde we not be greuous vnto you, ner to other of our touers and frendes in theſe warres. For we haue had helpe from heauen, ſo that we are delyuered, and oure enemies ſubdued. Wherfore we chose Numenius the ſonne of Anio-chus and Antipater the ſonne of Jaſon, and ſent them vnto the Romaynes, for to renue
the olde bonde of frendſhyppe and loue with them. We cōmaunded them alſo to come vnto you to ſalute you, and to delyuer you oure
letres, concernynge the renouacyon of oure brotherhode. And nowe ye ſhall do ryght well, to geue vs an anſwere ther vnto.

C And thys is the copy of the wrytynge,
which Arius the kynge of Sparta ſent vnto Onias. Arius kynge of the Spartians ſen-deth gretynge vnto Onias the hye preſt. It is founde in wrytynge, that the Spartians and Jewes are brethren, and come out of the generacio of Abrahā. And nowe for ſo moch
as this is come to oure knowledge, ye ſhall
do well, to wryte vnto vs of youre proſpe-rite. As for vs, we haue wryte oure mynde vnto you: Oure catell and goodes are yours, & yours ours. Theſe thynges haue
we commaunded to be ſhewed vnto you.

When Jonathas hearde, that Demetetus princes were come forth to fyght agaynſt him, with a greater hooſt then afore, he went from Jeruſalem, and met them in the lande
of Hemath, for he gaue the not ſpare to come into his awne coūtre. And he ſent ſpyes vn-
to their tētes, which came agayne and tolde
him, that they were appoynted to come vpō him in the nyght ſeaſon. Wherfore when the ſunne was gone downe, Jonathas commanded his men to watche all the nyght, and to be ready wt weapens for to fyght: and ſet D watchmen rounde aboute the hooſt. But when the aduerſaryes herde that Jonathas was ready with his men to ye battayll, they feared, and were afrayed in their hertes, and kyndled fyres in their tentes, wake vp, and gat thē awaye. Neuerthles Jonathas and his cōpany knewe it not tyll the morynge,
for they ſawe the fyres burnynge.

Then Jonathas folowed vpō them, but he myght not ouertake them, for they were gone ouer the water Eleutherus. So Jona-thas departed vnto ye Arabiās (which were called Zabadei) ſlewe the, and toke their goo-
des. He proceded further alſo, and came vnto Damaſcus, and wente thorowe all ye coū-
tre. But Simō his brother toke his iourney
and came to Aſcalon and to the nerre ſtrōge
holdes: departynge vnto Joppa, and wanne
it. For he herde that they wolde ſtāde of Demetrius partye: wherfore he ſet mē of warre
in the cyte, to kepe it. After this came Jona-thas home agayne, and called the elders of ye people together: and deuyſed with them for
to buylde vp the ſtronge holdes in Jewry,
the walles of Jeruſalē, to ſet vp an hye wall
betwixt the caſtell and the cyte, for to ſeparate it from the cyte, that it myght be alone,
and that men ſhulde nether bye nor ſell in it.

Upō this they came together for to buyl-
de vp the cytie, and for ſo moch as the wall
vpon the broke of the weſt ſyde (called Caphetah) was fallen downe, they repayred it.
And Simon ſet vp Jdiadah in Sephelah, &
made it ſtrōge ſettynge portes & lockes vpō
it. Nowe when * Tryphon purpoſed to raygne in Aſya, to be crowned, and to ſlaye the kynge Antiochus: he was afrayed that Jonathas wolde not ſuffre hym, but fyght agaynſt him. Wherfore he wente about to take Jonathas, and to kyll hym.

So he departed, and came vnto Bethſa-
an. Then wente Jonathas forth agaynſt
hym to the battayll with fourtye thouſande
choſen men, and came vnto Bethſan alſo.
But when Tryphon ſawe that Jonathas
came wyth ſo greate an hoſte to deſtroye
him, he was afrayed: and therfore he recea-ued him honorably, commēded him vnto all his frendes, and gaue hym rewardes, and commaunded his men of warre to be as obedient vnto him as to him ſelfe.

And ſayde vnto Jonathas: why haſt thou cauſed this people to take ſuche trauayle, ſe-ynge there is no warre betwyxte vs? Therfore ſende the home agayne, and choſe certayne men to wayte vpon the, and come thou vnto me to Ptolomais: for I wyll geue it ye, with the other ſtronge holdes, men of warre and their officers: As for me, I muſt departe, this F is onely the cauſe of my comynge. Jonathas beleued him, and dyd as he ſayde, puttynge
awaye his hoſt, which wente vnto the lande of Juda. He kepte but .iij. C) by him, wher-

* 1. Mac. xi. d. Joſeph. cap. xvi. lib. xiii.

of he sent. ij. M. into Galile, and one. M. wente with him selfe.

Nowe as soone as Jonathas entred into Ptolamais, the cytesyns sparred the gates of the cytie, and took him, and slewe all them with the swerde, þ came in with him. Then sent Tryphon an host of fote men and horsmen into Galilee and into the greate playne feide, to destroye all Jonathas cõpany. But when they knewe that Jonathas was take, and all they þayne that wayted vpon hym: they take counsell together, and came forth ready to the battayll. So when they whych folowed vpon thẽ, sawe that it was a matter of lyfe, they turned backe agayne. As for the other, they wente into the lande of Juda peceably, & bewayled Jonathas, and them that were with hym nyght sore. And Israel made great lamentacion. Then all the heathen that were rounde about thẽ, sought to destroye them. For they sayde: nowe haue they no captayne, nor eny man to helpe thẽ. Therfore lett vs overcome them, and rote out their name from amonge men.

¶ The xiij. Chapter:

¶ After Jonathas was taken, Symon is chosen captayne, of whom Tryphon taketh hys credit and money for the redemption of Jonathas, but: lieth hym and hys children. The grave of Jonathas. Tryphon slayeth Antiochus, and possessith the realme. Demetrius taketh truce with Simon. Simon subdueth Gaza. He possessith the tower of Syon. He maketh his sonne Jehan Captayne.

NOwe when Symon herde þ Tryphon gathered a great hoste, to come into the lande of Juda, & to destroye it: and sawe that the people was in great fearfulnesse and care: he came vp to Jerusalẽ, and gathered the people together, and gaue them exhortacyõ, sayinge: Ye knowe what greate battayls I and my brethren and my fathers house haue fought for the lawe and the Sanctuary, and what maner of troubles we haue sene: therfore occasyon wherof * all my brethren are slayne for Israels sake, and I am left alone. And nowe lett not me spare myne awne lyfe in eny maner of trouble, for I am no better then my brethren: but will auenge my people and the Sanctuary, oure chyldren and oure wyues: for all the heathen are gathered together, to destroye vs of very malyce.

* 1. Mac. bi. c ii. b. iiii. b.

At these wordes the hertes of the people were kyndled together, so that they cryed w a loude voyce, sayinge. Thou shalt be oure captayne in stede of Judas and Jonathas thy brethren, ordre thou oure battell, & whatsoeuer thou commaundest vs, we shall do it. So he gathered all the men of warre, makynge haste to fynyche all the walles of Jerusalẽ, which he made stronge rounde aboute. Then sent he Jonathas the sonne of Absalomus with a fresh hoste vnto Joppa, which draue them out that were in the castell, and remayned there him selfe. Tryphon also remoued from Ptolomais w a greate armye, to come in to the lande of Juda, and Jonathas w him in warde. And Symon pytched his tentes at Addus before the playne feide.

But when Tryphon knewe that Symon stode vp in stede of hys brother Jonathas, & that he wolde warre agaynst him: he sent messaungers vnto hym, sayinge: Where as we haue kepte Jonathas thy brother, it is for money that he is owynge in the kynges accompte, concernynge the busynesse that he had in hande. Wherfore sende now an. C. talentes of syluer and his two sonnes for suerte, that when he is letten forth he shall not forsake vs: and we shall sende hym agayne. Neuertheles Symon knewe, that he dissembled in his wordes: yet commaunded he the money and chyldren to be delyuered vnto him: lest he shulde be þ greater enemye agaynst the people of Israel: and saye, because he sent him not þ money and therchyldren, therfore is Jonathas dede.

So Symon sent him the chyldren and an C hundreth talentes, but he dissembled, & wolde not let Jonathas go. Afterwarde came Tryphon into the lande, to destroye it, and went rounde about by the waye, that ledeth vnto Ador. But where soeuer they wẽt, thyther wẽt Symon and his hoste also. Nowe they that were in the castell, sent messaugers vnto Tryphon, that he shulde make haste to come by the wyldernesse, and to sende them vytayles. And Tryphon made ready all hys hoste, to come that same nyght. Neuertheles it was a very greate snowe, so that he came not in. Galaaditym. And whẽ he drewe nye Baschama, he slewe Jonathas and his sonnes there, and then turned for to goo home into his awne lande.

Then sent Symon for to fet his brothers dede coarse, and buryed it in Modin hys fathers cytie. So all Israel bewayled hym w greate lamentacyon, and mourned for hym very longe. And Symon made vpon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, a buyldynge hye to lohe vnto, of fre stone behynde and before. & set vp seuẽ pyllers, one agaynst another (for his father, his mother and foure brethren) and set great pyllers rounde aboute, with armes vpon them for a perpetuall memory, and carued shyppes beside the armes: that they myght be sene of men sayinge in the see. This sepulchre which he made at Modin, standeth yet vnto this daye.

D

* Nowe as Tryphon wẽt forth to walke w the ponge kynge Antiochus, he slewe hym traytrously, & raygned in his stede, crowned hym selfe kynge of Asia, and dyd moch euell in the lande. Symon also buylte vp the

* Joseph. de. i. lib. xiii.

castels

castels in Jewry, makynge the strong with hye towres, great walles, portes and lockes and layed vp vitayles in the strong holdes. And Simon chose certaine men, & sent them to kynge Demetrius: to desyre him, that he wolde discharge the lande from all bondage, for Tryphō had spoyled it very sore. Where vpon Demetrius the kynge answered him, and wrote vnto hym after thys maner.

Demetrius the kynge sendeth greetinge vnto Symon the hye preest hys frende, with the elders and people of ꝑ Jewes. The golden crowne and precious stone that ye sent vnto vs, haue wereceaued: and are ready to make a stedfast peace with you, yee and to wryte vnto oure officers, for to release you, concernynge the thynges wherin we made you fre: and the appoyntement that we make with you, shalbe firme and stable. The stronge holdes which ye haue buylded, shall be youre awne. As for eny ouersyght or fawte commytted vnto this daye, we forgeue it, & the crowne taxe that ye ought vs also. And where as was eny other tribute in Jerusalem, it shal now be no tribute: and loke who are mete among you to be in oure courte, let them be wryten vp, that there maye be peace betwyxte vs.

C Thus the yocke of the heathen was taken from Israell, in the hundreth and seuentieth yeare. And the people of the Jewes beganne to wryte in theyr lettres & actes on this maner. * In the fyrst yeare of Symon the hye preest, and prince of the Jewes. *1.Mac.xiij.

In those dayes went Symon vnto Gaza, and besieged it rounde aboute, where he set vp ordynaunce of warre. And wanne a towre, which he toke. So they that gatt in to the towre leapte into ꝑ cytye, whych was in a greate feare: In so moch that the people of the cytye rente their clothes, and clymmed vp vpon the walles with theyr wyues and chyldren beseechyng Symō to be at one with them sayinge.

Orewarde vs not after oure wickednes, but be gracious vnto vs, and we shall do ꝑ scripture. Then Symō for very pytie, wolde fyght nomore agaynst them, but put them out of the cytie, and cauſed the houses (wherin the Images were) to be cliſted, and so entred the cytye wyth Psalmes of prayse, geuyng thankes vnto the Lord. So when he had cast all abhominacyons out of the citie, he set soch men in it as kepte the law of God, and made the cytie stronge, and buylded a dwellynge place for him selfe.

Now when they in the castell at Jerusalem were kepte so straytly, that they could not come forth vnto the countre, and bye nether bye ner sell: they were very hungrye, and many of them stamyshed to death: in so moch that they besought Simō to be at one with them, which he graunted them. So he put them out from thence, and clensed the castell from fylthynesse. And vpon the .xxiij. daye of the seconde moneth in the. C. lxxi. yeare they entred into it wyth thanckesgeuynge and braunches of palme trees, wyth harpes, crowdes, cymbals, and lutes, syngynge psalmes, and songes of prayse vnto God, for that the greate enemy of Israell was ouercome.

And Symon ordeyned, that ꝑ same daye shuld be kepte euery yeare in gladnesse, and made stronge the hyll of ꝑ temple that was beside the castell, where he dwelt hym selfe with his company. Symon also perceauing that Jhon his sonne was a myghtie man of armes, made him captayne of all the hoste and cauſed him to dwell at Gaza.

C The .xiiij. Chapter.

C Demetrius is ouercome of Arsaces. Symō beyng captayne there is greate quietnes in Israell. For couenaunt of frendshyp with the Romaynes and with the people of Sparta is renued.

In the .C. lxxij. yeare gathered kynge Demetrius his hoste, and departed vnto Medya, to gett hym helpe for to fyght agaynst Tryphon. Now when Arsaces the kynge of Persia and Medya herde, ꝑ Demetriꝰ was entred wyth in hys borders: he sent one of his princes to take him alyue: and to bryngе hym vnto hym. So he wente and slewe Demetrius hoste, toke hym selfe, brought hym to Arsaces, whych kepte hym in warde. And all the lande of Juda was in rest so longe as Simon lyued, for he sought the wealth of his people, therfore were they glad to haue hym for theyr ruler, and to do hym worshyppe all waye. A

Symon wanne the citie of Joppa also for an hauē towne, and made it an entraunce in to the Iles of ꝑ see. He enlarged the borders of his people, and cōquered them more land: he gathered vp many of theyr people that were prysoners: he had the dommion of Gaza, Bethsura and the castell, whych he clensed from fylthynes, and there was no man that resisted him: So that euery man tylled hys grounde in peace, the lande of Juda and the trees gaue their frute and encrease. The elders sat all in iudgement, and toke theyr deuice for the wealth of the lande: the yonge men put on worshyp and harnesse vpon the. He prouyded vytalles for the cytyes, and made goodly stronge holdes of them: so that the fame of hys worshyp was spoken of vnto ꝑ ende of the worlde. * For he made peace thorow out the land, and Israel was full of myrth and loye. B

*1.Mac.xvi.& iii. Reg iv.4

Euery man sat vnder his vyne and fygg trees, and there was no man to fraye them awaye. There was none in ꝑ lande to fyght agaynst the, for then the kynges were ouercome.

come. He helped those that were in aduersyte among his people, he was diligent to se ꝑ lawe kepte: as for such as were vngodly & wycked, he toke them awaye. He set vp the Sanctuary, and encreased the holy vessels of the temple.

When the Romaynes and Sparcians had gotten worde, that Jonathas was deed they were right sory. But when they hearde that Symō his brother was made hye preest in hys stede, & how he had wonne the lande agayne with the cities in it: they wrote vnto him in tables of brasse, to renue the frēdshyp, and bonde of loue, which they had made afore wyth * Judas and ‡ Jonathas hys brethren. Which writinges were red before the congregacyon at Jerusalem.

* 1.ma. viii. c ‡ and. xii. a

C And this is the copy of the lettres, that the Sparciās sent: The Senatours and citesins of Sparta sende greting vnto Simō the great preste, with the elders, prestes, & the other people of the Jewes their brethrē: When youre ambassytours that were sent vnto ourre people, certyfied vs of youre worshyppe, honoure and prosperous wealth: we were glad of theyr cōming, and haue wrytten the earaūde which they spake before the councell of the people: namely, that Numenius the sonne of Antiochus, And Antipater ꝑ sonne of Jason ꝑ Jewes ambassitours are come vnto vs, for to renue the olde frēdshype with vs. Upon this the people consented, that the men shuld be honorably intreated, and that the copy of theyr earaūde shulde be writtē in the speciall bokes of the people, for a perpetuall memory vnto ꝑ Sparcians: yee and that we shulde sende a copy of the same vnto Symon ꝑ great preste. After this dyd Simō sende Numenius vnto Rome, wᵗ a golden shylde of a thousande poūde weight, to cōfirme the frēdship wᵗ thē: which when ꝑ Romaynes vnderstode, they sayde: what thāckes shall we recōpēce agayne vnto Symō & his childrē? For he hath stablished his brethrē, & ouercome ꝑ enemies of Israel. Wherfore, they graunted him to be fre. And all this wrote ꝑ Jewes in tables of brasse, & nayled it vnto ꝑ pillers vpon ꝑ mounte Syon. The copy of the writinge is this.

D

* August. The .xviii. daye of ꝑ moneth * Elul in the Cliii. yeare in ꝑ third yeare of Simō ꝑ hye preste, in ꝑ great cōgregacion the prestes, rulers of ꝑ people, & elders of ꝑ cōtrey at Asarame, were these wordes openly declared.

E For so moch as there was moch warre in our land, therfore Simon the sonne of Mathias (come of the childrē of Jareb) and his brethren put them selues in parell, and resisted the enemyes of theyr people: ꝑ theyr Sanctuary & lawe myght be mayntayned, and dyd theyr people great worshyp: Jonathas in lyke maner, after that he had gouerned hys people & bene their hye preste: dyed, and lyeth buryed beside hys elders.

After that wold theyr enemyes haue trodden their holy thinges vnder fote, destroyed their lande, and vterly wasted their Sanctuary. Then Symon withstode them, and fought for his people, spēt moch of hys awne money, weapened the valeaunt men of hys people, gaue them wages, made stronge the cyties of Juda, wyth Bethsura that lyeth vpon the borders of Jewry (where the ordinaunce of theyr enemies laye somtyme) and set Jewes there for to kepe it.

He made fast Joppa also, which lyeth vpō the see, & Gaza that bordreth vpon Azotus (where ꝑ enemies dwelt afore) & there he set Jewes to kepe it: and whatsoeuer was mete for the subduyng of the aduersaries, ꝑ layed he therin. Now whē the people sawe the noble actes of Symon, & what worshyppe, he purposed to do for thē, his godly behauoure, & faithfulnesse which he kepte vnto thē, and how he sought by all wayes ꝑ wealth of his people, because he dyd all this, therfore they chose him to be theyr prince & hye preste. And in his tyme they prospered well by him, so ꝑ the Heathen were takē out of theyr lande: & they also which were in ꝑ cytie of Dauid at Jerusalem in the castel (where they wēt out and defyled all thinges that were about the Sanctuary, & dyd greate harme vnto clenlynes) and Symon put men of the Jewes in it, for the defence of the lande and cytie, and set vp the walles of Jerusalem.

F

And kyng Demetrius confirmed hym in his hye preesthode, made him his frēde, & dyd him great worshippe. For he herde that the Romayns called the Jewes theyr frendes, louers & brethrē: how honorably they receaued Symōs ambassitours: how the Jewes & prestes consented that he shulde be theyr prince & hye preest perpetually (tyll God raysed vp the true prophet) & that he shulde be theyr captaine, to care for the Sanctuary, & to set officers vpon the workes therof, ouer ꝑ land, ouer the weapens, ouer the houses of defence, to make prouision for the holy thinges, & to be obeyed of euery mā, & all ꝑ writinges of the land to be made in hys name: ꝑ he shulde be clothed in purple & golde, & that it shulde be laufull for none of the people nor prestes to breake eny of these thynges, to withstande his wordes, nor to call eny congregacion in the land without him: that he shulde be clothed in purple, & weare a colar of gold: And yf ther were eny which disobeied or brake this ordinaunce, ꝑ he shulde be punyshed.

G

So all the people consented to alowe Simon, and to do accordynge to these wordes: Symon also him self toke it vpon him, and was contente to be ꝑ hye preest, the captayne and prince of the Jewes and prestes, and to

gouerne

gouerne them all. And they commaũded to make this wrytinge in tables of brasse, and fasten it vnto the compasse of the Sanctuary in an open place: and to laye vp a copy of the same in the treasury, that Symon & hys posterite myght haue it.

¶ The .xv. Chapter.

¶ Antiochus maketh a couenaũt of frendshyp with Symon, & Typhõ is persequuted. The Romaynes wryte letters vnto kynges and nacyons in the defence of the Jewes. Antiochus refusynge the helpe that Symon sent hym, breaketh hys couenaunt.

A MOrouer, kyng Antiochus ꝑ sonne of Demetrius sent letters frõ ꝑ Iles of the see, vnto Symon ꝑ hye prest and prince of the Jewes, and to all ꝑ people conteyninge these wordes: Antiochus ꝑ kynge sendeth gretynge vnto Symõ the hye prest and to the people of the Jewes. For so moch as certayne wicked mẽ haue gotten ꝑ kyngdome of oure progenitours, I am purposed to chalenge ꝑ realme agayne, and to restore it to the olde estate.

Wherfore I haue gathered a great host, & made shippes of warre: ꝑ I maye goo thorow the countre, & be auenged of thẽ which haue destroyed oure land, and wasted many cyties i my realme. And therfore now I make the fre also frõ all the tributes, wherof al kynges my progenitours haue discharged ꝑ and frõ other customes (wher frõ they haue released ꝑ) whatsoeuer they be: Yee I greue ꝑ leaue to smyte money of thyne awne with thy lande. As for Jerusalem, I wyll that it be holy and fre: & all the weapẽs and houses of defence which thou hast buylded & kepest B in thine hãdes, shall be thyne. Where as eny thing is or shall be owynge vnto the kynge, I forgeue it ꝑ, frõ this tyme forth for euermore. And whẽ we haue optayned our kingdome, we shall do ꝑ, thy people and the temple great worshippe: so ꝑ your honoure shall be knowen thorow out the whole worlde.

In the .CLxxiiij. yeare went Antiochus into his fathers lande, & all the mẽ of warre came together vnto hym, so that fewe were left wt Typhon. So ꝑ kynge Antiochus followed vpõ hi, but he fled vnto Doza, which lieth by the see syde: for he sawe ꝑ there was mischefe comming vnto him, & that his host had forsaken him. Then cam Antiochus vnto Doza with an hundreth and twẽty thousande mẽ of armes vpon fote, & eyght thousande horsmẽ. So he cõpased the citie roũde about, and ꝑ shippes came by the See. Thus they vexed the citie by land & by water, in so moch ꝑ they suffred no mã to go in nor oute.

1. Machab. 15.a

In the meane season came * Numenius (& they that had bene with him) from ꝑ citie of Rome, hauinge lettres wrytten vnto the kynges and prouincies, wherin were cõteyned these wordes: Lucius ꝑ Mayre of Rome sendeth greting vnto Ptolomy ꝑ kyng. The embassitours of the Jewes our frendes beyng sent from Symon the hye prest and from the people of the Jewes, came vnto vs for to renue the olde frendshippe, and bonde of loue, brought a shylde of golde weyeng a thousande pounde, which we were contente to receaue of them. Wherfore we thought it good to wryte vnto the kynges and prouincies, to do them no harme, nor to take parte agaynst them, theyr citeys ner coũtrees, nether to maintene their enemies agaynst thẽ. If there be eny wycked personnes therfore, fled from their countre vnto you, deliuer thẽ vnto Symon the hye prest, that he maye punish them accordyng to theyr awne lawe.

The same wordes wrote the Romaynes also vnto Demetrius ꝑ kynge, to Attalus, Araba, Arsaces & to all regions: as Samsanes, to thẽ of Sparta, Delo, Mido, Sicyõ, Caria, Samos, Pamphilia, Lycia, Alicarnassum, & to the Rhodes, to Gaselis, Coo, Sida, Arado, Gortina, Gnydũ, to Cyprees and to Cyren. And of euery lettre they sent D a copy to Simon ꝑ hye prest and to the people of the Jewes. So Antiochus the kynge brought his host vnto Doza ꝑ seconde tyme to take it: where he made diuerse ordinaunce of warre, & kepte Typhõ in, that he shuld not come forth. Thẽ sent Symon to Antiochus two thousande chosen men to help him with gold, syluer and other plenteous geere: Neuertheles, he wolde not receaue them, but brake all ꝑ couenaunt which he made wt Symõ afore, & withdrewe him self frõ him.

He sent Athenobius also a frende of hys vnto Simõ, for to reason with him, saying: Ye witholde frome Joppa & Gaza (with the castell that is at Jerusalem) which are cyties of my realme, whose borders ye haue destroyed, & done greate euell in the lande, hauyng the dominacyon in many other places of my kyngdome. Wherfore delyuer now ꝑ cyties which ye haue taken, with ꝑ tributes of the places that ye haue rule vpõ without ꝑ borders of Jewry: Or els geue my syne hũdreth talentes of syluer, yee and for ꝑ harme that ye haue done in ꝑ cyties & for the tributes of ꝑ same, other fyue hundreth talentes. If no, we shall come and fyght agaynst you.

So Athenobius the kynges frende came E to Jerusalem, & whẽ he sawe the great worshyp and honoure of Symon in gold, syluer & so great plenty of ornamentes: he marueled, and tolde Symon as ꝑ kyng commaunded hym. Then answered Symon and sayd vnto hym: * As for vs, we haue nether take other mens lãdes, ner witholde thẽ, but onely oure fathers heritage, which oure enemyes had vnryghteously in possession a certayne tyme. This heritage of oure fathers haue we chalenged in processe of tyme. And where where as thou cõplaynest concernyng Joppa and Gaza, they dyd great harme to oure people and ꝓ in oure lande, yet wyll we geue an. C. talentes for them.

* Jud. 11. c. b

Neuertheles Athenobius answered hym not one word, but turned agayne wrothfully vnto the kyng, & tolde him all these wordes, and the great dignite of Symon, with all that he had sene, and the kynge was very angrie. In the meane tyme fled Tryphon by shippe vnto Dorthosaida. Then the kyng made Cendebeus captayne of the see coast, & gaue him an host of fote men and horsmen, commaundynge him to remoue the host towarde Jewry, and to buylde vp the cytie of Cedron, to make vp the portes, and to warre agaynst the people of the Jewes. As for ꝓ kyng hym selfe, he folowed vpon Tryphon. So Cendebeus came vnto Jamnia, and began to vexe the people, to treade downe Jewry, to take ꝓ people prisoners, to slaye them, and * to buylde vp Cedron: where he sett horsmen and other men of warre, that they myght come forth and go thorow the stretes of Jewry, lyke as the kyng had commaunded hym.

¶ The. xvi. Chapter.

¶ Cendebeus the captayne of Antiochus host is put to flight of the sonnes of Symon Ptolomeus ꝓ sonne of Abobus by lety Symon & his. ii. sonnes at a banket, John kylleth them that lye in wayte for hys lyfe.

Then came Jhon vp from * Gaza, and tolde Symon his father, what Cendebeus had done amonge theyr people. Upon thys called Symon two of hys eldest sonnes, Judas and Jhon, and sayd vnto them: I and my brethren and my fathers house, haue euer frõ our youth vp vnto this daye, foughten agaynst the enemyes of Israel, and God gaue vs good fortune to delyuer Israell oft tymes. And now for so moch as I am olde, be ye in stead of me & my brother, to go forth and fyght for oure people, & the helpe of God be with you. So he chose. xx. M. fightyng men of ꝓ countre, with horsmen also, which wente forth agaynst Cendebeus, and rested at Modin.

In the mornyng they arose, and went in to the playne felde: and beholde, a myghtye great host came agaynst them, both of fote men and horsmen. Now was there a water broke betwyxte them, and Jhon remoued ꝓ host towarde them. And when he sawe that the people was afrayed to goo ouer the water broke, he wente ouer fyrst hym selfe: and the men seinge this, folowed hym.

Then Jhon set his horsmen and fote men in order, the one by the other, for theyr enemies horsmen were very many. But when they blewe vp the prestes trompettes, Cendebeus fled w his hoste, wherof many were slayne, and the remnaunt gat them to theyr stronge holde. Judas also Jhons brother was wounded at the same tyme. And Jhon folowed styll vpon the enemyes, tyll he cam to Cedrõ * which he buylded. The enemyes fled also vnto the towres that were in the feldes of Azotus, and those dyd Jhon burne vp. Thus there were slayne. ii. M. men of them, and Jhon turned agayne peaceably into Jewry.

And in the felde of Jericho was Ptolomy the sonne of Abobus made captayne: which because he had aboundaunce of syluer and golde (for he had maried ꝓ daughter of Symon ꝓ hye prest) waxed proude in hys mynde, and thought to conquere the lande, pynageuing falsshed agaynst Symõ and his sonnes, to destroye them. Now as Symon was goyng about thorow the cyties, that were in the countre of Jewry, and caring for thẽ: he came downe to Jericho with Mathatias and Judas his sonnes, in the. CLxxvii. yeare in the. xi. moneth called * Sabat. The Ptolomy the sonne of Abobus receaued thẽ (but with deceate) into a stronge house of hys called Doch, whych he had buylded, where he made them a bancket.

So when Symon and hys sonnes were mery and had dronken well, Ptolomy stode vp with hys men (whom he had hyd there) and toke their weapens, entred into ꝓ banket house, and slewe Symon with his two sonnes, and certaine of his seruaũtes. Soch great vnfaythfulnesse dyd Ptolomy in Israell, and recompensed euell for good. Then wrote this Ptolomy ꝓ same vnto kyng Antiochus, requyringe him, that he shuld sende hym an host to helpe him: and so shuld he delyuer hym the lande, with the cyties and tributes of the same. He sent other men also vnto Gaza, for to take Jhon: and wrote vnto the captaynes to come to him, and he shulde geue them syluer, golde and rewardes. And to Jerusalem he sent other, to take it, & the Sanctuary.

Then ranne there one before, and tolde Jhõ in Gaza, that his father & his brethren were slayne, & how that Ptolomy had sent to slaye hym also. When Jhon herde this, he was sore abashed, and layed handes of them that were come to destroye hym, and slewe them: for he knewe, that they went about to kyll hym.

As for other thynges concernyng Jhon: of hys warres, of hys noble actes (wherin he behaued hym selfe manfully) of the buyldinge of walles which he made, and other of his dedes: They are written in the cronicles of hys prestehode, from the tyme forth that he was made hye prest after hys father.

¶ The ende of the fyrst booke of the Machabees.

The

¶ The second boke of the Machabees.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

¶ An epistle of the Jewes that dwelt at Jerusalem sent vnto them whych dwelt in Egypte, wher in they exhorte them to geue thankes for the deeth of Antiochus. Of the fyre that was hyde in the pyt. The prayer of Nehemias.

THe brethrē of the Jewes which be at Jerusalem, and in the lande of Jewry, wysh vnto those brethren of the Jewes that are throwout Egypte: good fortune, health and peace.

God be gracious vnto you, and thynche vpon his couenaūt that he made with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob his faythfull seruaūtes: *and geue you all soch an herte, that ye maye loue and serue him, yee and perfourme hys wyll with an whole herte and of a wyllynge mynde: he open youre hertes in hys lawe and in hys commaundementes, sende you peace: heare youre prayers, be at one with you, and neuer forsake you in tyme of trouble. This is here our prayer for you.

*Deut.xxx.d

What tyme as Demetrius raigned, in the Clxix. yeare, we Jewes wrote vnto you in the trouble and violēce that came vnto vs. In those yeares, after that Jason departed oute of the holy lande and kyngdome, they brent vp the portes, & shed innocent bloude. Then made we our prayer vnto the Lorde, and were hearde: we offred: and lyghted the candels, setting forth cakes and bred. *And now come ye vnto the feaste of tabernacles in the moneth Casleu.

*Leui.xxiiii

Nouember.

In the. Clxxviii. yeare, the people that was at Jerusalem and in Jewry, the councell and Judas hym selfe, sent thys wholsome salutacion vnto Aristobolus kyng Ptolomys master, which came of the generacio of the anoynted prestes: and to the Jewes that were in Egypte: In so moche as God hath delyuered vs from greate perels, we thancke hym hyghe. In that we resysted so myghtie a kynge. And why? he brought mē out of Persis by heapes, to fyght agaynst vs and the holy citie. For as he was in Persis (namely, the Captayne wyth the greate host) he perysshed in the temple of Naneas, beynge disceaued throwow the deuice of Naneas prestes. For as he was purposed to haue dwelt there, Antiochus and hys frendes came thyther, to receaue moch money for a dowry. So whē Naneas prestes had layed forth the money, he entred with a small cōpany into the compasse of the temple, ād so they shut the temple.

Now whē Antiochus entred by opening the priuy intraunce of the tēple, the prestes stoned the captayne to death, hewed thē in peces that were wyth hym, smote of theyr heades, and threwe them out. In al thinges God be praysed, whyche hath delyuered the wycked into our handes.

Where as we now are purposed to kepe the purificacion of the temple vpō the .xxv. daye of the moneth Casleu, we thought necessary to certifye you therof: that ye also myght *kepe the tabernacles feast daye, ād the daye of the fyre, whyche was geuen vs when Nehemias offred, after that he had set vp the temple and the aulter. For what tyme as oure fathers were led awaye vnto Persis, the prestes (whych then sought the honoure of God) toke the fyre priuely frō the aulter, and hyd it in a valley, where as was a depe drye pyt: and therin they kepte it, so that the place was vnknowen to euery man. Now after many yeares when it pleased God that Nehemias shulde be sent from the kynge of Persia, * he sent the chylderē chyldren of those prestes (which had hyd the fyre) to seche it. And as they tolde vs they founde no fyre, but thicke water. Thē commaunded he them to drawe it vp, & to bring it hym, and the offringes withal. Now whē the sacrifices were layed on and ordred, the prest Nehemias commaunded to sprynckle them and the wod wyth water. When thys was done, ād the tyme come that the Sunne shone, which afore was hyd in the cloude: there was a great fyre kyndled. In so moch that euery man marueled. Now all the prestes prayed, whyle the sacrifyce was a makinge. Jonathas prayed first, and the other gaue answere.

*Leui.vi.d
Num.xxviii.d
*Leui.vi.d
Esd.vi.c

And Nehemias prayer was after thys maner: O Lorde God maker of all thynges thou fearfull and stronge, thou ryghteous and mercyfull, thou that art onely a gracyous kynge, onely lyberall, onely iust, Almyghtye and euerlastynge, thou that delyuerest Israel from al trouble, thou that hast chosen the fathers and halowed them: receaue the offerynge for the whole people of Israel, preserue thyne awne portion, and halowe it, gather those together, that are scatred abrode from vs: delyuer them that are vnder the heathens bondage, loke vpō thē whych are despysed and abhorred, that the heathen maye knowe and se how that thou art our God: Punyshe them that oppresse, and proudly put vs to dishonoure. Set thy people agayne in thy holy place *lyke as Moses hath spoken.

Deut.xxx.d

And the prestes songe Psalmes of thankesgeuinge, so long as the sacrifice endured. Now when the sacrifice was brent, Nehemias commaunded the greate stones to be sprynckled wyth the residue of the water. *Which whē it was done, there was kyndled a

*Judi.vi.d
iii.Re.viii.c
Eccl.xlviii.d

led a flamme of them also: but it was consumed thorowe ꝑ lyght, that shyned from the aulter. So when this matter was knowen, it was tolde ꝑ kynge of Persia, ꝑ in the place where ꝑ prestes, which were led awaye, had hyd fyre, there apeared water in steade of fyre, and that Nehemias ꝑ his company, had purified the sacrifyces withall. Then the kynge consyderynge ꝑ ponderynge the matter diligently, made hym a temple to prove the thynge that was done. And when he founde it so in dede, he gaue the prestes many gyftes ꝑ diuerse rewardes, yee, he toke them with his awne hãd and gaue them. And Nehemias called ꝑ same place Nephthar, which is as moch to saye as a clensynge: but many men call it Nephi.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

¶ How Jeremy hyde the tabernacle, the Arke, and the aulter in the hyll. Of the .v. bokes of Jason contayned in one.

IT is founde also in the wrytynges of Jeremy the prophet, that he cõmaũded them which where caryed awaye, to take fyre, * as it is sayde afore. ꝑ He commaunded them also, that they should not forget the lawe and cõmaundmẽtes of the Lorde, and that they shulde not erre in theyr myndes, when they se ymages of syluer and golde with theyr ornamẽtes. These and soch other thynges cõmaunded he them, and exhorted them, that they shulde not lett the lawe of God go out of theyr hertes.

*ii. Mac.i.c. 2 Jere.xliii.b Baruc.vi.a.

It is wrytten also, how the prophet (at the commaundemẽt of God) charged them to take the tabernacle, ꝑ the arcke wt them: and he wente forth vnto the mountayne, where Moses clymed vp, * ꝑ sawe the herytage of God. And when Jeremy came there he founde an open caue, wherin he layed the tabernacle, the arcke, ꝑ the aulter of incense, and so stopped the hole. There came certayne men together also folowyng hym, to marcke the place, but they coulde not fynde it. Which when Jeremy perceaued, he rebuked them, saying: As for ꝑ place, it shalbe vnknowne, vntyll the tyme ꝑ God gather his people together agayne, ꝑ receaue them vnto mercy. Then shal God shew them these thynges, ꝑ the maiesty of the Lorde shall appeare, * and ꝑ cloude also lyke as it was shewed vnto Moses: and lyke as when Salomon desyred, that the place myght be sanctifyed, and it was shewed hym.

*Deute. xxxiiii.a.

* Exo.xiii.b. *ii.Mac.viii.b

For he beyng a wyse man, handled honorably ꝑ wysely, offeryng vnto God in the halowynge of the tẽple, when it was fynished. * And lyke as wht Moses prayed vnto the Lorde, the fyre came downe from heauen, ꝑ consumed ꝑ burnt offeryng: Euen so prayed Salomon also, * and the fyre came downe from heauen, and cõsumed the burnt offeringe. And Moses sayd: because the sinofferinge was not eaten, therfore it is cõsumed. In lyke maner Salomon kept the dedycacyon (or halowynge) eyght dayes.

*Leui.ix.b. *ii.ga.ix.a

In the Annotacions and wrytynges of * Jeremy, were these thynges put also: and how he made a lybrary, and how he gathered out of all countrees the bokes of the prophetes, of Dauid, the Epistles of the kynges, and of the presentes. Euen so Judas also, loke what he lerned by experience of warre, and soche thynges as hath happened vnto vs, he gathered them all together, and so we haue them by vs. Yf ye now desyre to haue the same, sende some body to fetch them vnto you. Where as we then are about to celebrate the purificacion, we haue wrytten vnto you. Therfore ye shal do wel, yf ye kepe the same dayes. We hope also, that the God (whych delyuered hys people, and gaue them al the herytage, kyngdome, prestlode and Sanctuary * that he promysed them in the lawe) shal shortly haue mercy vpon vs, and gather vs together frõ vnder the heauẽ into his holy place: for he hath saued vs from great perils, and hath clensed the place.

* Gouerne bi tehemie

*Deu.xii.a.

As concernynge Judas Machabeus and hys brethren, the purifycacyon of the great temple, the dedicacion of the aulter, yee, and of the warres that concerne noble Antiochus and * Eupator his sonne, of ꝑ shynynges that came downe from heauẽ vpon those, which manfully defended the Jewes. For though they were but fewe, yet defended they the whole lande, droue awaye the enemyes host, reconered agayne the tẽple, that was spoken of thorowe out all the worlde delyuered the cytye, doynge theyr best, that the lawe of the Lorde which was put downe, myght wyth all tranquilyte be restored agayne vnto the Lorde, that was so mercyfull vnto the. As touchynge Jason also of Cyren, we haue vndertake compendiously to bryng into one boke, the thinges that were comprehẽded of hym in fyue. For we consyderynge the multytude of the bokes, and howe harde it shulde be for them that wolde medle with storyes ꝑ actes (ãd that because of so diuerse matters) haue vndertakẽ so to comprehende the storyes: that soch as are disposed to rede myght haue pleasure ꝑ pastyme therin: and that they whych are dilygent in soche thynges, myght the better fyncke vpon them: yee and that whosoeuer rede them, myght haue profyt therby.

*i.mach.iiii

Neuertheles, we oure selues that haue medled with this matter for the shortening of it haue taken no smal labour, but great diligence, watchynges and trauayle. Lyke as they

as they that make a feaſt, wolde fayne do other men pleaſure: Euē ſo we alſo (for many mens ſakes) are very well cōtēt to take the labour, where as we maye ſhortly comprehende, the thynges that other men haue truly wrytten.

For he ꝑ buyldeth an houſe anewe, muſt prouyde for many thiges, to ꝑ whole buyldynge: but he that paynteth it afterwarde, ſeketh but only what is comly, mete & conueniēt to garnyſh it wythall. Euē ſo do we alſo in lyke maner. And why? He that begineth to wryte a ſtory for ꝑ fyrſt, muſt wyth his vnderſtandynge gather the matter together, ſet hys wordes in order, and diligētly ſeke out of euery parte: But he that afterwarde will ſhorten it, vſeth few wordes, & toucheth not the matter at the largeſt. Let thys be ſufficient for a Prologe, now wyll we begine to ſhewe the matter: for it is but a folyſh thynge to make a longe Prologe, & to be ſhorte in the ſtory it ſelfe.

¶ The.iii. Chapter.

¶ Of the honour done vnto the temple by the kynges of the Gentyles. Symon bewreyeth what treaſure is in the temple. Heliodorus is ſent to take them awaye. He is ſtryken of God, & healed at the prayer of Onias.

AWhat tyme as the holy cyte was inhabited i all peace & wealth, and whē the lawes were yet very well kepte. (For ſo was it ordeyned by Onyas ꝑ hye prieſt & other godly mē ꝑ were enemyes to wyckednecſſe) It came therto, * that euē the kīges & princes thē ſelues oȳd the place great worſhyppe, & garnyſhed the temple with greate gyftes: In ſo moch that Seleucus kynge of Aſia of his awne rentes, bare all the coſtes belongynge to the ſeruice of the offrynges. * 2.mac.iii.a Then * Simon of ꝑ tribe of Ben Jamin, a ruler of ꝑ temple, laboured to worcke ſome myſchefe i ꝑ cite: but ꝑ hie prieaſte reſiſted hi Neuertheleſſe when he myght not ouercome Onias, he gat hym to * Appolonius ꝑ ſōne of Therſa (whych thē was chefe Lord i Celoſyria and Phenices) and tolde hym, ꝑ the treaſury in Jeruſalem was full of innumerable money, & how that the comō goodes (whych belonged not vnto the offerynges) were exceadinge greate alſo: yee & how it were poſſible, that all theſe myght come vnder the kynges power. * 2.mac.iii.b

Now when Appolonius had ſhewed the kynge of the moneye, as it was tolde hym: ꝑ kyng called for Heliodorus his ſtewarde, & ſent hym with a cōmaundement, to bring hym the ſame money. Immediatly Heliodorus toke hys iourney, but vnder a coloure, as though he wolde go thorow Celoſyria and Phenices to viſed ꝑ cyties, but hys purpoſe was to fulfyll the kiges pleaſure. So when he came to Jeruſalem, ād was louyngly receaued of the hye prieſt into the cyte: he tolde what was determyned concernynge the moneye, and ſhewed the cauſe of hys cōming: he aſked alſo, yf it were ſo i dede. Thē the hye prieſt tolde him, that there was ſoch money layed vp for the vpholdinge of wyddowes and fatherleſſe chyldren, & how that a certayne of it belonged vnto Hyrcan' Tobias a noble man: and that of al the monete (Whych ꝑ wycked Simon had bewrayed) there were .iiii. hundreth talētes of ſyluer, & ii. hundreth of golde: yee and that it were vnpoſſible for thoſe mens meanynge to be diſceaued, that had layed vp theyr money in ꝑ place and temple (whych is had in worſhyp thorow the whole worlde) for the maynteanunce and honoure of the ſame. Wher vnto Heliodor' anſwered, that the kynge had commaunded hym in any wyſe, to bringe hym the money.

So at the daye appoynted, Heliodorus ¶ entred into the temple to ordre thys matter But there was no ſmall feare thorow out ꝑ whole cytie. The Prieſtes fell downe before the aulter in theyr veſtimētes, and called vnto heauen vpon hi, * whych had made a lawe concernynge ſtuffe geuen to kepe, that they ſhulde be ſafely preſerued for ſoch as cōmitte thē vnto keppynge. Then who ſo had loked the hye prieſte in the face, it wold haue greued hys herte: For hys contenaunce and the chaungynge of his coloure, declared the inwarde ſorowe of hys mide. The mā was all in heyneſſe, and his body in feare: wherby they that loked vpō hym, myght perceaue ꝑ greke of his herte. The other people alſo came out of theyr houſes by heapes vnto ꝑ comon prayer because ꝑ place was lyke to come into confuſyon. The wemē came together thorow ꝑ ſtretes, with hearrye clothes aboute theyr breſtes. * Exo.xxii.b

The virgyns alſo that were kepte i, rāne to Onias, ſome in the walles, other ſome loked out of the wyndowes: yee they all helde vp theyr handes towarde heauen, & prayed. A miſerable thynge was it, to loke vpō the comen people, & the hye prieſt beynge in ſoch trouble. But they beſought almighty God that the goodes whych were cōmytted vnto them, myght be kepte whole, for thoſe ꝑ had delyuered thē vnto theyr keppynge. Neuertheles the thynge that Heliodorus was determyned to do, that perfourmed he i the ſame place, he hym ſelfe perſonally beynge about the treaſury with hys men of warre. But ꝑ ſpyrete of almyghty God ſhewed him ſelfe openly, ſo that all they which preſumed to obeye Heliodorus, fell thorow the power of God into a greate fearfulneſſe and drede. For there appeared vnto them an horſe, wd a terrible man ſytting vpon hym, decked in goodly arraye, and the horſe ſmote at Heliodorus wyth hys forefete. Now he that ſat * ii.mac.v.a and.v.b.

vpon ꝑ horse, had harnesse of golde vpon hi.
Wherouer, there apeared .ii. fayre & beutyfull yōge mē in goodly aray, which stode by him, scourged hym of both the sydes, and gaue hym many strypes without ceassinge.
ii.mac.iii.c * With that fell Heliodorus sodenly vnto ꝑ grounde. So they toke hym vp (beige compased aboute with greate darcknesse) & bare hym out vpon a bere. Thus he that came with so many runners and men of warre in to the sayde treasury, was borne out, where as no man myght helpe hym: & so the power of God was manyfest and knowne. He laye styll domme also by the power of God destitute of all hope & lyfe, And they prayed the Lord, that he had shewed his power vpō his place ād tēple, which a lytle afore was full of feare & trouble: and that thorow the reuelacyon of the almyghtie Lord, it was fylled with ioye and gladnesse.
Thē certayne of Heliodorus frēdes prayed Onias, that in all haste he wolde call vpon God, to graunte hi hys lyfe, which was genynge vp the goost. So the hye prest considered the matter, ād lest the kyng should suspecte that the Jewes had done Heliodorus some euell: he offred an healthofferynge for him. Now whē the hye prest had opteyned hys petycion, the same yonge men in ꝑ same clothynge appeared, & stode beside Heliodorus, sayēge: Thancke Onias the hye prest,
* Iac.xxbii.c for* for his sake hath ꝑ Lord graūted ꝑ thy lyfe: therfore seing ꝑ God hath scourged the
A gene hym prayse & thākes, and shewe euery man hys myght & power. And whē they had spokē these wordes, they appeared nomore.
So Heliodorus offred vnto God, made great vowes vnto him, which had graūted him his lyfe, thācked Onias, toke his goost & wēte agayne to the kynge. Then testified he vnto euery man of the greate worckes of God, that he had sene w̄ his eyes. And whē the kynge asked Heliodorus who were mete to be sent yet once agayne to Jerusalē, he sayde: yf thou hast any enemy or aduersary vnto thy realme, sende him thyther, & thou shalt haue hym punyshed, yf he escape wyth his lyfe: for in that place (no doute) there is a speciall power & worckig of God. For he ꝑ dwelleth in heauen, visiteth & defendeth ꝑ place: ād all that come to do it harme, he punyssheth ād plageth them. Thys is now the matter concernynge Heliodorus, & the kepyng of the treasury at Jerusalem,

¶ The.iiii. Chapter.

¶ Simon reporteth euell of Onias. Jason desyrynge the office of the hye prest corrupteth the kynge: with rewardes. The wycked intent of Jason.

ii.mac.iii.a A This Symon now* (of whō we spake afore) beinge a bewrayer of the money & of hys awne naturall contre, reported ꝑ worst of Onias: as though he had moued Heliodorus vnto thys, & as though he had bene a bringer vp of euel. Thus was he not ashamed to call hym an enemye of ꝑ realme, that was so faythfull an ouerseer & defender of the cite & of his people: yee ād so feruent in the lawe of God. But whē ꝑ malice of Simō increased so farre, that thorow hys frendes there were certayne mās laughters cōmytted: Onias considered the parell that myght come thorow this stryfe, & how that Appoloni⁹ (namely the chefe Lorde in Celosyria & Phenices) was all set vpon tyranny, and Symons malice increased the same: he gat him to the kynge, not as an accuser of the cytesins, but as one that by hi selfe intended ꝑ comon wealth of the whole multitude. For he sawe it was not possible to lyue in peace, nether Simon to leaue of from his folyshnesse, except ꝑ kynge dyd loke ther to. But after the deeth of Seleucus, when
B Antioch⁹ (which is called the noble) toke ꝑ kyngdome: Jason the brother of Onias laboured to be hye prest: For he came vnto the kynge, and promised him thre hūdreth & .lx. talentes of syluer, & of ꝑ other rentes. lxxx. talentes. Besides this he promised him yet an. C. & L. yf he myght haue the scole of the chyldren, & that he myght call them of Jerusalem Antiochians. Which when the kinge had graunted, & he had gottē ꝑ superiorite, he begāne immediatly to draw his kynsmē to the custome of the heathen, put downe ꝑ thynges that the Jewes had set vp of loue, by John ꝑ father of Eupolemi⁹ which was sent ambassitoure vnto Rome, for to make ꝑ bonde of frendshyppe & loue. He put downe all the Jewes & Lyberties of the Jewes, & set vp the wicked statutes. He durst make a fyghtynge scole vnder the castell, and set fayre yōge men to lerne the maners of whores and brothels.
C

This was now ꝑ begynnyng of the heathenysh & straunge conuersacyō, brought in thorow the vngracious & vnheard wicked nesse of Jason, which shulde not be called a Priest, but an vngodly personne. In so moch that the prestes were now nomore occupied about the seruyce of the aulter, but despysed the temple, regarded not the offrynges: yee gaue their diligence to lerne to fyght, to wrastle, to leape, to daunce, & to put at ꝑ stone not settyng by ꝑ honour of ꝑ fathers, but lyked the glory of the Grekes best of all: for the which they stroue perlously, & were gredy to folowe theyr statutes, yee, theyr lust was in all thinges to be lyke thē, which afore were theyr enemyes & destroyers. Howbeit to do wyckedly agaynst ꝑ lawe of God shall not escape vnpunyshed: but of this we shall speake here after.
D

What tyme as the* Olympiades sporte were played at Tyrus (ꝑ kynge hym selfe beynge

* Whyle the re kepte ma tyrye pas

beinge preſente) this vngracyo⁹ Jaſon ſent wycked men, bearyng from them of Jeruſalem (whych now were called Antiochians) iii. C. dzachmars of ſyluer foz an offerynge to Hercules. Theſe had they ꝓ carped them beſyzed vnder ſocha faſhiõ, as though they ſhulde not haue bene offred but beſtowed to other vſes. Neuertheles, he that ſent them, ſent them to the intẽt that they ſhulde be offred vnto Hercules. But becauſe of thoſe ꝓ were preſent, they were geuen as to the makynge of ſhyppes. And Appolonius the ſonne of Neſteus was ſent into Egypte, becauſe of the noble men of kynge Ptolomy Philometoz. Now when Antiochus perceaued, that he was put out from medlynge in ꝓ realme, he ſought his awne profyte, departed from thence, came to Joppa, & then to Jeruſalem: where he was honozably receaued of Jaſon, & of ꝓ cytie, & was bzought in wyth tozche lyght and with greate prayſe: and ſo he turned his hooſt vnto Phenices.

E After. iii. peare Jaſon ſent Menela⁹, the fozeſayde Simõs bzother, * to beare ꝓ money vnto ꝓ kyng, & to bzinge hym anſwere of other neceſſary matters. But he (whẽ he was prayſed of the kyng foz magnifying of his power) turned ꝓ preſthod vnto him ſelf, layinge vp. iii. C. talentes of ſyluer foz Jaſon. Mo whẽ he had gotten cõmaundemẽtes from the kyng (he came haurynge nothinge ꝓ becõmeth a preſte) but bearinge ꝓ ſtomack of a cruel tyzãt, & ꝓ wzath of a wilde bzute beeſt. * Thẽ Jaſon (which had diſceaued his awne bzother) ſeinge that he him ſelfe was begyled alſo, was fayne tokle into the lande of the Ammonites, & Menelaus gat the dominion. But as foz ꝓ money ꝓ he had promyſed vnto ꝓ kyng, he bydd nothinge therin, when Soſtratus the ruler of the caſtell requyzed it of him. Foz Soſtratus was ꝓ mã that gathered the cuſtomes: wherfoze they were both called befoze ꝓ kyng. Thus was Menelaus put out of the preſthode, & Lyſimachus his bzother came in his ſteade. Soſtratus alſo was made Lozd of ꝓ Cyprias.

F It happened in the meane ſeaſon, that ꝓ Tharſias & Mallacias made inſurrection, becauſe they were geuen foz a preſent vnto kynge Antiochus cõcubyne. Then came the kynge in all the haſte, to ſtyll them agayne, & to pacyfie ꝓ matter, leauyng Andzonicus there to be his debyte as one mete therfoze. Now Menelaus ſuppoſing that he had gotten a ryght conuenient tyme, ſtole certayne veſſels of golde out of the temple, and gaue them to Andzonic⁹ foz a preſent: & ſome he ſolde at Tyzus and in the cyties therby.

Which when Onias knewe of a ſuertye, he reprzoued him: but he kepte him in a Sanctuary beſide Daphnis, that lieth by Antioche. Wherfoze Menelaus gat hi to Andzonicus, & prayed hi ꝓ he wold ſlaye Onias. Mo whẽ he came to Onias, he coũceled him craftely to come out of the Sanctuary geuynge hym his hande with an othe (how be it he ſuſpecte hym) & then he ſlew Onyas, wythout any regarde of ryghtuouſneſſe.

Foz the whych cauſe not only the Jewes, but other nacyons alſo toke indignacyon, & were diſpleaſed foz the vnryghtuous death of ſo godly a man.

And when the kynge was come agayne G from Cilicia, the Jewes and certayne of ꝓ Gzekes wente vnto hym, cõplayninge foz the vnryghtuous death of Onias. Yee Antiochus him ſelfe was ſozy in hys mynde foz Onias, ſo that it pityed him, & he wepte, remembzynge his ſobernelle & manerly behauour. Wherfoze he was ſo kyndled in hys mynde, that he cõmaũded Andzonicus to be ſtrypped out of his purple clothinge, & ſo to be led thozow out the cite: yee, & the vngracio⁹ man to be ſlayne in the ſame place where he cõmitted his wickednes vpõ Onias. Thus the Lozde rewarded him his punyſhmẽt, as he had deſerued. Now when Lyſymachus had done many wycked dedes in the temple thozow the councell of Menelaus, and the voyce came abzode: the multitude gathered them together agaynſt Lyſymachus: foz he had caryed out now moch golde.

Mo when the people aroſe, and were full of dyſpleaſure, Lyſymachus armed. iii. H vnthzyftes to defende hym: a certayne tyzaunte beyng theyr captayne, which was grow̃en both in age and woodneſſe. But when the people vnderſtode the purpoſe of Lyſymachus, ſome gat ſtones, ſome good ſtõge clubbes, & ſome caſt aſhes vpõ Lyſimachus Thus there were many of thẽ wounded, ſome beyng ſlayne, & al ꝓ other chaced awaye, But as foz the wycked churchzobber hym ſelfe, they kylled hi beſyde the treaſury. Of I theſe matters therfoze there was kepte a courte agaynſt Menelaus. Now when the kynge came to Tyzus, they made a complaynte vnto him of Menelaus, cõcerning this buſyneſſe, and the ambaſſytours were thze. But Menelaus wẽt & promiſed Ptolomy, to geue hym moch money, yf he wolde perſuade ꝓ kyng. Mo Ptolomy wẽt to the kig into a courte (where as he was ſett to coole hym) & bzought hym out of ꝓ mynde. In ſo moch that he diſcharged Menelaus frõ the accuſacyons, that not wythſtandynge was cauſe of all myſchefe: and thoſe pooze men, wbych yf they had tolde their cauſe, yee, befoze the Scitias, they ſhulde haue bene iudged innocent, them he condemned to death.

Thus were they ſoone punyſhed, wbych folowed vpon the matter foz ꝓ cytie, foz the people, & foz the holy veſſel. Wherfoze they of Tyzus toke indignacyõ, and buryed thẽ honorably. And so thorow ꝓ couetousnesse of them that were in power. Menelaus remayned styll in auctoryte, increasyng i malyce, to the hurte of the citesyns.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

¶ Of the signes and tokens sene in Jerusalem. Of the ende and offence of Jason. The furiate of Antiochus against the Jewes. The spoylynge of the temple.

¶ At the same tyme Antioch' made hym ready to go agayne into Egypte. Thē were there sene at Jerusalē. xl. dayes longe, horsmē, runnynge to and fro in the ayre, wherch had raymēt of golde, & spears. There were sene also whole hoostes of men weapened, and horses runnynge in an ordre, how they came together, how they helde forth theyr shyldes, how the harnessed men drew out theyr swerdes, and shott their dartes.

The shyne of the golden weapens was sene, and of all maner of armure. Wherfore euery man prayed, that those tokēs myght turne to good. Now when there was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus had bene dede: Jason toke a. C. men, and came sodenly vpon the cytie. The citesyns rāne vnto the walles, at the last was the citie taken, & Menelaus fled into the castell.

As for Jason, he spared not his awne citesyns in the slaughter, nether cōsydered he what greate euell it were, to destroye ꝓ prosperite of his awne kynsmē: but dyd as one that had gotten the victory of his enemies, and not of hys frendes. For all this gatt he not the superiorite, but at ꝓ last receaued cō fusyon for hys malyce. * and fled agayne lyke a vagabunde into the lāde of the Ammonytes. * ii. mac. iiii.

Finally, for a rewarde of his wyckednesse he was accused before Aretha the kynge of the Arabiās. In somoch that he was fayne to flee from cytie to cytie, beynge deppysed of euery man as a forsaker of the lawes, & an abhominable personne. And at the last (as an open enemy of hys awne natural countre and of the cytesyns) he was dryuen into Egypte.

Thus he that afore put many out of theyr awne natyue land, perysshed frō home hym selfe. He went to Lacedemō, thynckynge there to haue gotte succoure by reason of kynred. And he that afore had caste many one out vnburyed, was thrown out hym selfe, no man mournynge for hym, ner puttynge him in his graue: so that he nether enioyed ꝓ burial of a straunger, nether was he partaker of hys fathers sepulcre.

¶ Now whē this was done, the kyng suspecte, that the Jewes wolde haue fallen from hym: wherfore he came in a greate displeasure out of Egypte, * & toke ꝓ cytie by violēce. He commaunded hys men of warre also, that they shuld kyll & not spare, but slaye downe soch as withstode them, or clymed vp vpon the houses. * i. mac. i.

Thus was there a greate slaughter of yonge men, olde men, wemen, childre and virgines. In. iii. dayes were there slayne. lxxx. M. fourty thousande put in preson, and no lesse solde. Yet was he not contēt wt thys but durst go into the mooste holy tēple (M)enelaus that traytoure to the lawes & to his awne naturall countre, beyng his gyde) and with his wicked hādes toke the holy vessel, which other kynges & cyties had geue thyther for the garnysshinge & honour of ꝓ place: them toke he in his hādes vnworthely, & defyled them.

So madd was Antiochus, that he consydered not, how that God was a lytle wroth for the synnes of them that dwelt in ꝓ cytie, for the whych soch confusiō came vpō that place. * And why? yf it had not happened thē to haue bene lapped i many synnes, this Antiochus (as soone as he had come) had sodenly bene punysshed, and shutt out for hys presūption, * lyke as Heliodorus was, whō Seleucus the kynge sente to robbe the treasury. Neuertheles, God hath not chosen the people for the places sake, but the place for the peoples sake: and therfore is the place become partaker of ꝓ peoples trouble, but afterwarde shall it enioye the wealth of thē. And lyke as it is now forsakē in the wrath of almyghty God, so when the greate God is reconcyled, it shall be sett vp in hye worshyp agayne. * ii. mac. iii.

So when Antiochus had taken a. M. and viii. C. talentes out of the temple, he gat hi to Antioche in all the haste, thynckyng (his pryde) that he myght make mē sayle vpon ꝓ drye land, and togo vpon ꝓ see, soch an hye mynde had he. He lefte debytes there, to vexe the people: At Jerusalem left he Philippe a Phrygiā, in maners more cruell thē hymselfe ꝓ set him there: At Garysim he left Andronic' & Menelaus, which were more greuous to the cytesins thē other. * Now as he was thus set in malyce against the Jewes, he sent Appolonius an hated prynce, with xxii. M. commaunding him to slaye those ꝓ were of perfect age, and to sell the wemen, maydens & childre. Whē he cam now to Jerusalem, he fayned peace, & kepte hym styll vntyl the Sabboth daye. And then he commaunded his mē to take them to their weapens (for the Jewes kepte holy daye) & so he slew all them that were gone forth to ꝓ open playe, rūnyng here & there thorow the cytie with hys men weapened, and murthured a great nōbre. * But Iudas Machabe' which was the tenth, fled into the wylderneße, led hys lyfe there with hys company amonge wylde beastes and vpon the mountaynes, dwellynge * i. mac. i. * ii. mac. v.

dwellynge there and eatinge grasse, lest they shuld be partakers of the fylthynesse.

¶ The. vi. Chapter.

¶ The Jewes are compelled to leave the lawe of God. The temple is defyled. The readers are monyshed that they shall not adhere the abhominacyon wher with ꝓ Lord afflicteth them. The greuous payne of Eleazarus.

2 NOt longe after thys, sent the kyng a messanger of Antioche, for to cõpel the Jewes, to altre the ordinances of the fathers and ꝓ lawe of God, to defyle the temple that was at Jerusalē, & to call it ꝓ temple of Jupiter Olympius: & that they shulde be in Gazarim, as those whych dwell at the place of Jupiter ꝓ herberous. Thys wycked sedycion of ꝓ vngodly was heuy vpon all the people: for the temple was ful of voluptuousnes, bybbynge & bollyng of the heathen, of rybaudes & harlottes together. The wemen went into the holy place, and bare in that was not lawfull. The aulter also was full of vnlaufull thynges, whych ꝓ lawe forbyddeth to laye vpon it. The Sabbothes were not kepte, ꝓ other solempne feastes of the lāde were not regarded. To be playne, there durst no man be a knowne that he was a Jewe. In ꝓ day of the kynges byrth they were cõpelled parforce to offre: and when the feast of Bachus was kepte, they were constrayned to weere garlandes of yuye, and so to go aboute the honoure of Bachus.

3 Moreouer thorow ꝓ councell of Ptolomi, there went out a commaundement i the nexte cyties of the heathen, that they shulde intreate ꝓ Jewes in lyke maner: namely, to compell them for to do sacrifyce after ꝓ lawes of the Gentiles: & who so wolde not, to put thē to death. A pyteous thynge was it to se. There were .iii. wemen accused to haue circumcised theyr sonnes, whom when they had led rounde aboute ꝓ citie (the babes hāgyng at their brestes) they caste thē downe headlinges ouer the walles. Some that were crepte in dēnes & had kepte the Sabboth were accused vnto Phylyppe, & brent in the fyre: because that for the feare of God they kepte the commaundemēt so strytly, & wold not defende them selues. Now I beseche all those whych reade thys boke, that they refuse it not for these falles of aduersite: & iudge ꝓ thinges (that are happened) for no destruccyō, but for a chastening of oure people. And why? Whē God suffreth not synners longe to folow theyr awne mynde, but shortly punysheth thē, * it is a token of hys greate louyng kyndnes. For this grace haue we of God more then other people, ꝓ he suffreth not vs long to synne vnpunished like as other nacyōs, ꝓ when ꝓ daye of iudgemēt cōmeth, he maye punysh them in the fulnes of theyr synnes. If we synne, he correcteth vs, but he neuer withdrawe th hys mercyes frō vs: & though he punysh wyth aduersyte, yet doth he neuer forsake hys people. But lett thys that we haue spoken now wyth few wordes, be for a warnyng and exhortacyon of the heathen.

*Deu.viii.b.

¶

Now wyll we come to the declarynge of ꝓ matter. Eleazar one of ꝓ principall Scribes, an aged man & of a well fauored coūtenaunce, was constrayned to gape wyth open mouth, * & to eate swynes flesh. But he desyrig rather to dye gloryously then to lyue wyth shame, offred hym selfe wylligly to ꝓ martyrdome. Now when he sawe ꝓ he must nedes go to it, he toke it paciētly: for he was at a poynte wyth hym selfe, ꝓ he wolde consente to no vnlaufull thyng for eny pleasure of lyfe. They ꝓ stode by beyng moued vñ pyte (but not aryght) for the olde frēdshyp of ꝓ man, toke hym aside priuely, & prayed hym, that he wold let soch flesh be brought hym as were laufull to eate, & then to make a countenaunce, as though he had eaten of the flesh of the sacrifyce lyke as the kyng cō maunded, for so he myght be delyuered frō death & so for the olde frendshype of the mā, they shewed hym thys kyndnes. *Leui.xi.a.

D

But he beganne to consyder hys discrete & honorable age, his noble and worshypfull stock, & who ꝓ frō hys youth vp he had bene of an honest & good cōuersacyon: yee & how constantly he had kepte the ordinaūces and lawes cōmaūded by God, wherfore he gaue them this answere, & sayd: Yet had I rather syrst be layed i my graue. * For it becōmeth not myne age (sayde he) in eny wyse to dissemble, wherby many yōg personnes myghe thynche, that Eleazar being .lxxx. yere olde & .x. were now gone to a straunge lyfe: & so thorow myne ypocrisy (for a lytle tyme of a trāsytory lyfe) they myght be disceaued: by thys meanes also shuld I defyle myne age, & make it abhominable. For though I were now delyuered frō the tormentes of men, yet shuld I not escape the hād of almyghty God, nether alyue ner deed. wherfore, I will dye manfully & do as it becōmeth myne age. Wherby I maye paraduēture leaue an exāple of stedfastnes for soch as be ponge, yf I wyth a ready mynde & manfully dye an honest death, for ꝓ most worthy & holy lawes. *4.Mach.v.c.

E

*Iames.i.a

When he had sayde these wordes, immediatly he was drawen to ꝓ tormente. Now they that led hym & were mylde a lytle afore, begāne to take dyspleasure because of ꝓ wordes ꝓ he sayd: for they thought he had spoke them of an hye mynde. But when he was i hys martyrdome, he mourned & sayd Thou (O Lord) which hast ꝓ holy knowlege, knowest optly: that where as I myght be delyuered from death, I suffre these sore paynes of my body: but in my mynde I am wel content to suffre thē because I feare the

Thus this man dyed, leanynge the memorial of hys death for an example, not only vnto yonge men, but vnto all the people, to be stedfast and manly.

¶ The. vii. Chapter.

¶ The punyshment of the. vii. brethren and of theyr mother.

IT happened also ꝑ there were .vii. brethre (wyth theyr mother) taken, & compelled by the kynge * agaīst ꝑ lawe, to eate swynes flesh: namely wt scourges and lethren whyppes. And one of them whych was ꝑ chefe, sayd: what seketh thou, and what requyrest thou of vs? As for vs, we are ready rather to suffre death, then to offende the lawes of God and the fathers. Then was the kinge angrye, and bad heate cauldrons and brasen pottes. Whych when they were made hote, imediatly he cōmaūded the tonge of hym that spake fyrst, to be cut out, to pul the skinne ouer hys heade, to pare of the edges of hys handes and fete: yee and that in the syght of his mother & the other of hys brethren. Now when he was cleane marred, he commaunded a fyre to be made, & so (whyle there was eny breath in hym) to be fryed in the caudrō: In the which whē he had bene longe payned the other brethrē with theyr mother exhorted him to dye manfully, sayenge: The Lord God shall regarde the treuth, and comforte vs, lyke as Moses testifieth * & declareth in hys songe, sayenge: and he wyll haue compassyon on hys seruauntes.

* Deu. xxxii.

No when the fyrst was deed after thys maner, they brought the seconde to haue hī in derysyō, pulled the skynne wyth the heare ouer hys heade, & asked hym, yf he wolde eate swynes flesh, or he were payned in the other membres also thorow out hys body. But he answered boldly, and sayde: I wyll not do it. And so was he tormēted lyke as ꝑ fyrst, and when he was euen at the geuynge vp the goost he sayde: Thou most vngracyous persone puttest vs now to death, but ꝑ kyng of the worlde shal rayse vs vp (which dye for his lawes) in the resurrectiō of euerlastynge lyfe.

B

After hym, was ꝑ thyrde had in derysyon and when he was requyred, he put out hys tonge, and that ryght soone, holdynge forth hys hādes manfully, and spake wyth a stedfast fayth: These haue I of heauē, but now for the lawe of God I despyse them: for my trust is, that I shall receaue them of hym agayne. In so moch that the kynge and they whych were wyth hym, marueled at ꝑ yonge mans boldnesse, that he nothynge regarded the payne.

Now when he was dead also, they vexed

C

the fourth wyth tormentes in lyke maner. No whē he was now at hys death, he sayed It is better that we beynge put to death of men, haue oure hope and trust i God for he shall rayse vs vp agayne. * As for the, thou shalt haue no resurrecyon to lyfe.

* 3 Mac. v.

And when they had spoken to the fyfth, they tormented hym. Thē loked he vnto ꝑ kyng, & sayd: thou hast power amonge men for thou art a mortall mā also thy selfe, to do what ꝑ wylt, but thynke not, that God hath forsaken oure generacyon. Abyde the, tary styll a whyle, and thou shalt se ꝑ great power of God, how he wyll punyth the and thy sede. After hym they brought the syxte, whych beynge at the poynte of death, sayd, Be not disceaued (O kyng) for this we suffre for our awne sakes, because we haue offended our God, & therfore marueylous thynges are shewed vpon vs. But thynke not thou, whych takest in hande to stryue agaynst God, that thou shalt escape vnpunyshed.

D

This excellent mother (worthy to be well reported of, and had in remembraūce) sawe her seuen sonnes dye in one daye, and suffred it paciētly, because of the hope that she had in God: yee, she exhorted euery one of the in especyall, and that boldly & stedfastly with parfyte wysdome, wakynge vp her wyuyth thought with a manly stomache, and sayde vnto them: I can not tell how ye came i my wōbe, for I nether gaue you breth ner soule, nor lyfe. It is not I ꝑ ioyned the membrys of youre bodyes together, but the maker of the worlde, which fashyoned ꝑ byrth of man, and begaūne all thynges. Euen he also of hys awne mercy shall geue you breath and lyfe agayne, lyke as ye now regarde not your awne selues for his lawes sake.

Now thought Antyochus that she had despysed hym, therfore he let her go wyth her reproues, & begaūne to exhorte the yongest sonne (which yet was left) not only wt wordes but swore vnto hym wyth an oath. that he shuld make hym a rych and welthy man (yf he wolde forsake the lawes of hys fathers) yee, and that he shulde geue hym, whatsoeuer were necessary for hym. But when the yonge man wolde not be moued, for all these thynges, he called hys mother, & counceled her to saue her sonnes lyfe. And when he had exhorted her wyth many wordes, she promysed hym ꝑ she shulde speake vnto her sōne. So she turned her vnto hym (langhynge the cruell tyraunte to scorne) & spake wyth a bolde voyce: O my sonne, haue pytie vpon me, that bare the .ix. monethes in my wombe, that gaue the suche, norished the & brought the vp vnto thys age.

E

I beseche ꝑ (my sonne) loke vpon heauen & earth and all that is therin, and cōsydre, that God made them and mans generacyon of naught: so shalt thou not feare thys hangman, but suffre death stedfastly, lyke

as

as thy brethren haue done: that I maye recaue the agayne I the same mercy with thy brethren.

Whyle she was yet speakynge these wor-
des, the yonge man sayd: whom loke ye for?
Wherfore do ye tary? I wyll not obeye the kynges cõmaundement, * but the law that God gaue vs by Moses. As for thou that ymagynest all mysches ageynst the Jew-es, thou shalt not escape the hande of God,
for we suffre these thynges, because of oure
synnes.

And though God be angrye wyth vs a lytle whyle (for oure chastenynge and refor-macyon) yet shal he be at one agayne wyth his seruauntes. But thou. (O shamefull & most abhominable personne.) Pryde not thy selfe thorow vayne hope, in beynge so malycyous vpõ the seruauntes of God: for thou hast not yet escaped the iudgement of the God whych is almyghtye, and seyth all thynges. Thy brethren that haue suffred a lytle payne, are now vnder the couenaũt of euerlastynge lyfe: but thorow the iudgemẽt
of God, thou shalt be punished ryghteously
for thy pryde.

As for me (lyke as my brethren haue done) I offre my soule & my body for the lawes of our fathers, callynge vpon God, that he wyll soone be mercyfull vnto our people:
yee and wyth payne and punyshement * to make the graunte, that he only is God. In me now & in my brethren ỹ wrath of almy-
ghty God is at an ende, whych ryghteously
is fallen vpon all oure people.

Then the kynge beynge kyndled in anger,
was more cruell vpon him then vpon all ỹ
other, and toke indygnacyõ, that he was so lyghtly regarded. So thys yonge man dyed vndefyled, & put hys trust stylle in the Lord
Last of all after the sõnes, was the mother put to death also. Let this now be ynough spoken, concernynge the offerynges, and extreme cruelnesse.

¶ The. viii. Chapter.

¶ Judas gathereth together hys hoost. Nicanor to fyght ageynst Judas. Judas exhorteth hys souldyars to constantnes. Nicanor is ouercome. The Jewes geue thankes after they haue put theyr enemyes to flyght, dyuydyng the spoyles vnto the fatherles and vnto the wydowes. Nicanor flyeth vnto Antiochus.

When Judas Machabe', and they
that were wyth him, wente pry-uely ito the townes, called theyr
kynsfolkes & frendes together, toke vnto them all soch as cõtynued yet i the fayth and lawe of the Jewes
and brought forth. vi. M. men.

So they called vpon the Lorde, that he wolde haue an eye vnto hys people, whych
was trodden downe of euery man: to be gra cyous vnto the temple that was defyled of the vngodly: to haue cõpassyon vpon the de structyon of the cytie, whych was shortly ly
ke to be layed waste, to heare the voyce of ỹ blonde that cryed vnto him: to remẽbre the most vnryghtcous deathes of yonge innocent chyldre, the blasphemyes also done vn-
to hys name, and to punysh them.

* Now when Machabeus had gathered *1. Mac. ii. a.
thys multytude together, he was to myghtye for the heathen (for the wrath of ỹ Lorde was turned into mercy) he fell vpon
the townes and cytyes vnwares, brent them, toke the most commodyous places,
and slewe many of the enemyes. But specially he made soch chases by nyght, in so moch that hys manlynesse was spoken of euery where.

So when Philippe sawe that the man increased by lytle and lytle, & that the mat- B
ter prospered wyth hym for the most parte:
he wrote vnto Ptolomy (which was a captayne in Celosiria & Phenices) to helpe him in the kynges busynes. Then sent he Nica- *1. Mac. iii. c nor Patrocly (a speciall frende of hys) in all the haste, and gaue him of the comen sorte of the heathen no lesse then. xx. M. harnessed men, to rote out the whole generacyon of ỹ Jewes, haupnge to helpe hym one Gorgias
a man of warre, whych in matters concernynge battayls, had great experiẽce. Nycanor ordened also the trybute (which the Ro maynes shulde haue had) to be geuen vnto
the kynge out of the captyuyte of the Jew-es, namely. ii. M talentes. And immediatly
he sent to the cities of the see coast, requyr-
ing them for to bye Jewes to be theyr seruauntes and bonde men, promysynge to sell them
lxxx. and ten for one talente: but he consydered not the wrath of almyghty God, that was to come vpon hym.

When Judas knewe of thys, he tolde the C
Jewes that were wyth hym of Nicanors cõ mynge. Now were there some of them fear-full, not trustynge vnto the ryghteousnes
of God, and fled theyr waye.

But the other that remayned, came toge ther, and besought the Lorde, to delyuer thẽ
frõ that wycked Nicanor, which had solde
them or euer he came nye them: and though he wolde not do it for theyr sakes, yet for ỹ
couenaunt ỹ he made wyth theyr fathers,
and because they called vpõ hys holy & glo-ryous name. * And so Machabe' called hys *1. Mac. v. b.
men together, namely aboute. vi. M. exhortyng thẽ not to agree vnto their enemies, * *Deu. xx. a nether to be afraied for ỹ multitude of their ii. Para. xx. c aduersaries commynge agaynst them vn-ryghteously: but to fyght manly, consyde-rynge the reproffe that they had done to the holy place whthout cause, how they had defyled and oppressed the cytye, yee, and destroyed the lawes of the fathers. * For they *Jere. xxii. b Psal. xix. b.

(sayd he) trust in theyr weapens and boldnesse, but oure confidence is in the almyghty Lorde, which in the twynclynge of an eye maye both destroy them that come agaynst vs, and all the worlde.

D

xiii.xv.xvi.
C.xxvi.
i.Mac.iii.

He exhorted them also to cal to remembraunce ꝑ helpe that God shewed vnto their fathers: * as whē there perysshed an. C. & lxxv. M. of Sennacheribs people: And of the batayl that they had in Babylon agaynst the Gallacyans: how all the Macedonyans that came to helpe them, stode in feare: and how they beig but only vi. M. slewe an. C. & xx. M. thorow ꝑ helpe that was geuen them from heauē, wherby they also had receaued many benefytes.

Thorow these wordes the mē toke good hertes vnto them, ready to dye for the lawe and the countre. So he set vpon euery company a captayne, one of hys awne brethren: Simon, Joseph & Jonathas: geuynge eche one. xv. C. men. He caused Esdras also to rede the holy boke vnto them, & to geue them a token of the helpe of God.

i.mac.iiii.b

* Then he hym selfe beynge captayne in the fore front of the battayll, buckled wyth Nicanor. And God was theyr helpe, in so moch that they slewe above ix. M. men & compelled the more parte of Nicanors hoost to flie, they were so wouded and feable. Thus they toke the money frō those that came to bye them, and folowed vpon thē on euery syde. But when the tyme came vpon them, they returned, for it was the Sabboth, and therfore they folowed no more vpon them. So they toke theyr weapens & spoyles and kepte the Sabbath, geuynge thankes vnto ꝑ Lord, which had delyuered them that daye, and shewed thē hys mercy. After the Sabxiii.xvi.b.

E

i.Mac.xvi.
Deu.xx.b.

both * they distributed the spoyles to the syche, to ꝑ fatherlesse and to wyddowes, and the residue had they them selues wyth theyrs. When thys was done, and they all had made a generall prayer: they besought the mercyfull Lorde to be at one wyth hys seruauntes.

Of those also that were wyth Timothe? and Bachides, which fought agaynst them they slewe. xx. M. wanne bye and stroge holdes, and deuyded moo spoyles: euer geuynge an equal portyon vnto ꝑ syche, to ꝑ fatherles, to wyddowes and to aged persons. And when they had dylygently gathered theyr weapens together, they layed thē all in conueniente places, & the remnaunt of the spoyles brought they to Jerusalem. They slewe also Phylarches ꝑ wycked persoune, which was wyth Tymotheus, and had vexed many Jewes. And when they helde the thankesgeuynge at Jerusalem for the victory, they brēt those that had set fyre on ꝑ portes of ꝑ temple: namely Calysthenes, whych was fled into an house: & so they gat a worthy rewarde for theyr wyckednesse. As for that most vngracyous Nicanor, whych had brought a thousande marchauntes, to bye the Jewes, he was thorow the helpe of the Lorde brought downe euen of them whom he regarded not: in so moch that he put of hys gloryous rayment, fled by see, and came alone to Antyoche, wyth greate shame and dyshonour, whych he gat thorow the destruccyon of hys hoost. Thus he that promysed the Romayns to paye thē theyr tribute, when he toke Jerusalem: beganne now to saye playnely, that God was the defender of the Jewes, & therfore not possible to wounde them, because they folowed the lawes whych God had made.

F

¶ The. ix. Chapter.

¶ Antiochus writyng to Thopis Persipolis to dyspose to fyght. As he persecuted the Jewes, he is stricken of the Lord. The signed repentaunce of Antiochus. He dyeth.

i.Mac.vi.

AT ꝑ same tyme came * Antyochus agayne wyth dyshonoure out of Persys. For when he came to Persepolys, & vnderstode to robbe the temple and to subdue the cytie, the people ranne together and defended them selues, in so moch that he and hys were fayne to fle wyth shame.

And so after that flyght, it happened that Antyochus came agayne wyth dyshonoure. But when he came to Ecbatana, he gat knowlege what was happened vnto Nycanor and Tymotheus. Now as he was anauncinge him selfe in his wrath, he thought he was able to auenge the iniury that was done to them, vpon the Jewes: and therfore commaunded to make ready hys charet, hastynge on hys iourney wythout ceasynge, the iudgement of God pronoūcynge hym because he had spoken so proudly, ꝑ he wolde come to Jerusalem, and make it a graue of the Jewes. But the Lorde God of Israell, that seyth all thynges, smote hym wyth an vnspyble plage, whych no man coulde heale.

For as soone as he had spoken these wordes, there came vpō hym an horrible payne of hys bowels, and a sore grefe of ꝑ armes.

And that was but ryght: for he had martyred other mens bowels with dyuerse and strange tormentes, howbeit he wolde in no wyse ceasse from his malice. Yee, he was yet the prouder & more malycious agaynst the Jewes: But whyle he was commaundynge to make haste in the matter, it happened that he fel downe violently from the charet so that it broke hys body, and dyd hī greate payne.

And

And so he that thought he myght commaũde the floudes of the see (so proude was he beyonde the condicyon of man) & to weye the hye mountaynes in a payze of balaunce, was now brought downe to the grounde, & caried vpon an horslytter, knowlegyng the manyfeste power of God vpon hym: so that
2.Mac.ix.b * wicked body of hys * was full of wormes, wh̄ych in hys payne fell quycke out of hys flesh: In so moch that hys hoost was greued with the smell and stynck of hym. Thus he that a lytle afore thought he myght reache to the starre of heauen, hym myght no man now abyde ner beare, for the vehemence of stynche.

C Therfore, he beynge brought from hys great pryde, began̄e for to come to ꝑ knowledge of hym self: for the punishemẽt of God warned hym, and his payne increased euermore and more. And whe he hym self might not abyde hys awne stynche, he sayde these wordes: It is reasõ to be obedient vnto God, and that a man besyze not to be lyke vnto hym. Thys wycked personne prayed also vnto the Lorde, of whom he shulde haue optayned no mercy. And as for ꝑ cytye that he came vnto so hastely, to brynge it downe to the grounde, and to make it a graue for deed men: now he declareth to deliuer it fre.

And as touchyng ꝑ Jewes, whom he had iudged not worthy to be buryed, but wolde haue cast them out for to be deuoured of the foules & wylde beastes, sayeng, that he wolde haue destroyed both olde & ponge: Now he promysed, to make thẽ lyke the cytesins of Athens. And where as he had spoyled the holy temple afore, now he maketh promyse to garnyth it with greate giftes, to increase the holy ornamentes, and of his awne rẽtes to beare the costes, and charges belonginge to the offeringes: yee, and that he wolde also become a Jewe him self, to go thorow euery place of the worlde, and to preach the power of God.

But when his paynes wolde not ceasse, D (for ꝑ ryghteous iudgemẽt of God was come vpõ him) out of a very despayze he wrote vnto the Jewes a lettre of intercession, conteyninge these wordes: The kynge and prince Antiochus wisheth vnto ꝑ vertuous cytesins of the Jewes, moch health ād good prosperite.

If ye and youre chyldren fare well, and yf all thinges go after youre mynde: we gene greate thankes. In my sycknesse also do I remembre you louyngly: for as I came out of Perssia, and was taken with sore dysseasse: I thought it necessary to care for the comẽ wealth. Nether despayze I in my self, but haue a good hope to escape this sickenes.

But consyderinge that my father led an hoost sometyme in the hyer places, and shewed who shulde raygne after hym, that (yf there happened any cõtrouersy, or eny harde thyng were declared) they in ꝑ lande myght knowe theyr chefe Lorde, that there shuld be no insurrection: Agayne: when I pondze by my self, how that all the myghtie men and neyghbours roude about, are layẽg wayte, and loke but for opportunyte to do harme: I haue ordened that my sonne Antiochus shal raygne after me, whom I oft commended to many of you, when I was in the hyer kyngdomes, and haue wrytten vnto him as it followeth hereafter. Therfore I praye you & require you, to remembre the benefytes that I haue done vnto you generally, and in especiall (and that euery mã wylbe faythfull to me & my sõne) For I hope that he shal be of sober and louinge behauoure, & yf he folowe my deuyce, he shall be indifferent vnto you.

* Thus, that murthurer & blasphemer of God was sore smytten: & lyke as he had intreated other men, so he dyed a myserable death in a straunge countre vpon a mountayne. And hys body dyd Philippe (ꝑ went with hym) carry awaye: wh̄ych fearynge the sonne of Antiochus, wente into Egypte to Ptolomy Philometor. *Dan.viii.f

C The.x. Chapter.

C Judas Machabeus taketh the cytye & the temple. He beginneth to fyght ꝑ actes of Lupator. The Jewes fyght agaynst the Idumeans: Timotheus inuadeth Jewry, wyth whom Judas Joyneth battell. Ij. men apeare in the ayre to the helpe of the Jewes. Timothy is slayne.

MAchabeus now and his company (thorow the helpe of the Lorde) wanne the temple and the cytye agayne, destroied the aulters and chapels that ꝑ heathen had buylded thorow the stretes: clensed ꝑ temple, * made another aulter of bryche stone, and after two yeares they offered sacrifices, set forth the incense, the lyghtes and shewe bred. When that was done, they fell downe flat vpon the grounde, and besought the Lorde, that they myght come no more into soch trouble: but yf they synned eny more agaynst hym, he hym self to chasten them wyth mercy, and not to come in the handes of those aleaũtes and blasphemous men. A 1.mac.iiii.g * Exod.xx.b

Now vpon the same daye that ꝑ straungers poluted ꝑ temple, it happened that on the very same daye it was clensed agayne: namely, * the .xxv. daye of the moneth called Casleu. They kepte .viii. dayes in gladnesse lyke as in the feast of the tabernacles: remẽbrynge that not longe afore, they helde the feast of the tabernacles vpon the mountaynes and in dennes lyke beastes. And to the same token they bare grene bowes, braunches and palmes, before him that had geuen them good fortune to clense his place. They B * 1.mac.iiii.f agreed

agreed also together, and made a statute, ꝓ euery yeare those dayes shulde be solemply kepte of all the people of the Jewes.

How Antiochus then (that was called the noble) dyed, it is sufficiently tolde. Now will we speake of Eupator the sonne of that wycked Antiochus, how it happened wyth him: & so with few wordes to comprehende the aduersyte that chaunsed in the warres. When he had taken in ꝓ kingdome, he made one Lysias (which had bene captayne of the host in Phenices and Syria) ruler ouer the matters of the realme. For Ptolomy that was called Macron, beynge a ruler for the Jewes (and specially, to syt in iudgement for such wronge as was done vnto them) vndertoke to deale peaceably wyth them. For the wheych cause he was accused of the frendes before Eupator: and when he was suspecte to be a traytour (because he had left Cypres that Philometor had cõmytted vnto him: C and because he departed from noble Antiochus, that he was come vnto) he poysoned hym selfe, and dyed.

Now when Gorgias was gouernoure of the same places, he toke straungers and vndertoke oftymes to warre with the Jewes. Moreouer, the Idumeans ꝓ helde the stronge holdes, receaued those that were dryuen frõ Jerusalem, and toke in hande to warre also. f.mach.b.a *But they that were wyth Machabeus besought and prayed vnto the Lorde, that he wolde be their helper: and so they fell into ꝓ stronge holdes of the Idumeans, and wanne many places by strength: & chas came agaynst them they slewe, and kylled noresse of all together (then twentye thousande. Neuertheselle some, no lesse then nyne thousande, were fled into twoo stronge towres, hauynge all maner of ordinaunce to withstande them.

D Then Machabeus leauing Symon, Josephus, Zacheus, and those that were wyth them (which were very many) wente to besege them, & to fyght where most nede was. Now they that were wyth Symon, beynge led wyth couetousnesse, were intreated for money, thorow certaine of those that laye in the towres: toke lxx. Dyachmas: & let some of them escape. But when it was tolde Machabeus what had happened, he called ꝓ captaynes of the people together, accusinge those persones, ꝓ they had solde the brethrẽ for money, and let their enemyes go. And he slewe those traytours, and immediatly wente in hande wyth the .ii. towers. And wyth they had ordred the selues manly with their weapens and handes, they slewe in the two castels moo then twentye thousande.

*f.mach.b.b. 2.M. Macha. xiii.c *Now Timotheus whom ꝓ Jewes had ouercome afore, gathered a multytude of straunge people, brought an host also of horsmen of the Asians, to wynne Jewry by E strength. But when he drewe nye, Machabeus & they ꝓ were wyth hym * fell to their prayer, syzpnckled asshes vpõ their heades, being gyrded with hearrie cloth about their loynes, fell downe before the aulter, and besought the Lord that he wolde be mercyfull to them, but an enemye vnto their enemyes, & to take parte agaynst their aduersaryes, * xii.mac.xi.b * accordynge as it is prouyded in the lawe. *de.xx.viii.a Also after ꝓ prayer, they wente on further frõ the cyte: and whẽ they came nye ꝓ enemyes, they prepared them selues agaynst them.

And by tymes in ꝓ mornyng at the breake of the daye, both the hostes buckled together. * The one parte had the Lord for their refuge, which is ꝓ geuer of prosperite strength and victory. The other had a mãly stomack which is a captayne of warre. * Jer.xlvi.b xl.ꝓ.xlii.b

The battayll now beyng greate, * there appeared vnto the enemyes from heauen. v. men vpõ horsbacks wyth bridels of golde, ledynge the Jewes, & two of them hauyng Machabeus betwixte them, that kepte him safe on euery syde wyth their weapens, but shot dartes and lightenynges vpon the enemyes: where thorow they were confounded wyth blyndnesse & so sore afrayed, that they fell downe. There were slayne of fote men twentye thousande and fyue hundreth, and syxe hundreth horsmen. As for Timotheus him selfe, he fled vnto Gazar a very stronge holde, wherin Chereas was captayne. But Machabeus and his company layed sege to it chearfully .iiii. dayes. * iiii.ii.M.d i.M.mach.xii.b and.xi.b F

Now they that were wythin trustynge to the strength of the place, cursed and banned exceadyngly, and made great crakynge wyth wycked wordes. Neuertheselle, vpon the fyft daye in the mornyng, xx. yong men of Machabeus company, beyng set on fyre in their myndes (because of the blasphemy) came mãfully vnto the wall, and wyth bolde stomackes they and they other companyons clymmed vp vpon the towres, vndertakyng to set fyre vpon the portes, & to burne those blasphemous persones quicke. Two dayes were they destroying ꝓ castell, wheych when they founde Timotheus (that was crept into a corner) they kylled hym, & slew Chereas his brother in lyke maner with Appollophanes. When this was done, they songe Psalmes, wyth prayses and thanketgeuynge vnto the Lorde, wheych had done so great thynges for Israel, and gyuẽ them the victory.

¶ The .xi. Chapter.

¶ Lysias goeth about to ouercome ꝓ Jewes. Machabeus sent from Lysias vnto the Jewes. The letter of Lysias to the Jewes. The letter of kynge Antiochus vnto Lysias. A letter of the same vnto the Jewes. A letter of the Romayns to the Jewes.

Not

A NOt longe after this, Lysias ꝑ kynges stewarde & a kynsman of hys (whych had the gouernaūce of hys matters) toke sore displeasure for ꝑ thynges that had happened: ād whē he had gathered. lxxx. M. men of fote wyth all the hoste of ꝑ horsmen, he came agaynst the Jewes, thynchynge to wynne ꝑ cyte, to make it an habitacyon for the heathen, * and ꝑ tēple wolde he haue to be an house of lucre, lyke as the other goddes houses of the heathē are, & to sell the prestes office euery yeare: Not cōsydering the power of God, but was wylde in his mynde, * trustynge in ꝑ multitude of fote men, in thousandes of horsmen, and in his. lxxx. Elephantes.

*1.Mach.ii.b

*ecclꝰ.xxxvi.b

B So he came into Jewry & then to Bethsura (a castell of defence) lyinge in a narow place. v. furlonges from Jerusalem, & wāne it. Now when Machabeus and hys cōpany knewe that the stronge holdes were taken, * they fell to their prayers with weppynge & teares before the Lorde. And all ꝑ people in lyke maner besought him, ꝑ he wolde send a good angell to delyuer Israel. Machabeus hym self was the fyrst that made him ready to the battayll, exhortynge ꝑ other that were wyth hym, to ieoperde the selues, & to helpe their brethren. And when they were goynge forth of Jerusalem together wyth a redy & wyllynge mynde, * there appeared before thē vpon horsback a man in whyte clothynge wyth harnesse of golde, shakynge his speare. Then they prayed the Lorde all together, which had shewed them mercy, & were comforted in their myndes: in somoch that they were ready, not only to fyght with men, but wyth the most cruell beastes, yee & to retourne thorow walles of yron.

*2.mac.xi.b

*2.mac.iii.b

Thus they wente on willyngly haupnge an helper frō heauen, and ꝑ Lorde mercyfull vnto thē. They fell myghtely vpō their enemyes lyke lyōs, brought downe. xi. M. fote men. xvi. C. horsmē, put all ꝑ other to flight many of thē beyng wounded, and some gat away naked. Yee Lysias hi self was fayne to flie shamefully, and so to escape. Neuerthelesse, ꝑ mā was not without vnderstanding, but cōsydered by hym self ꝑ hys power was mynished, and pōdred how the Jewes being defended by ꝑ helpe of Almighty God, were not able to be ouercome: wherfore he sent thē worde, & promysed, ꝑ he wolde cōsente to all thynges which were reasonable, and to make ꝑ kyng their frēde. To ꝑ which prayer of Lysias Machabeus agreed, seinge in all thynges ꝑ comen wealth & whatsoeuer Machabeus wrote vnto Lysias concernyng the Jewes, the kyng graunted it. For there were letters wrytte vnto the Jewes from Lysias, conteynynge these wordes.

Lysias sendeth gretynge to the people of the Jewes. Jhon and Absalon whych were sent from you, delyuered me wrytynges, & requyred me to fulfyll the thynges concernynge they re erande. Therfore loke what might be graūted, I certified ꝑ kyng therof: & whatsoeuer was cōuenient. I agreed therto. If ye now will be faythfull in ꝑ matters I shall endeuer my selfe hereafter also to do you good. As concernynge other thinges by euery article therof: I haue cōmytted thē to youre messaungers, & to those whom I sent vnto you, to comē wt you of ꝑ same, fare ye well. In the. C. and. xlviii. yeare, the. xxiiii. daye of the moneth Dioscorinthius.

D Now ꝑ kynges lettre cōteyned these wordes. Kyng Antiochus sendeth gretige vnto his brother Lysias. For so moch as oure father, * is now deed, oure wyll is, that they which are in oure realme, lyue wythout eny insurrecciō, & euery mā to be diligēt in hys awne matters. We vnderstāde also, ꝑ ꝑ Jewes wolde not consent to oure father, for to be brought vnto ꝑ custome of the Gētyles, but stedy to kepe their awne statutes: for ꝑ whych cause they requyre of vs also, to lett them remayne styll by their awne lawes.

*11.mac.ix.b

E Wherfore, oure mynde is, ꝑ this people shalbe in rest: we haue concluded & determyned also, to restore them their tēple agayne: that they maye lyue accordyng to the vse & custome of their forefathers. Thou shalt do vs a pleasure therfore, yf ꝑ sende vnto them and agree with thē: that when they are certifyed of oure mynde, they maye be of good chere, and loke to their awne wealth.

And this was the lettre, that the kynge wrote vnto ꝑ Jewes: kyng Antiochus sendeth gretyng vnto the councell and ꝑ other people of ꝑ Jewes: If ye fare well, we haue our desyre: as for vs, we are in good health. Menelaus came and tolde vs, how & youre desyre was to come downe to youre people, whych are wyth vs.

F Wherfore those that wyll come, we geue thē fre lyberte, vnto the. xxx. daye of the moneth of Aprill, ꝑ they may vse ꝑ meates of ꝑ Jewes and their awne lawes, like as afore: & none of thē by eny maner of wayes to haue harme, for thynges done ignorauce. Menelaus whō we haue sēt vnto you, shal comē wt you at large, fare ye wel. In the. C. lxi. yeare, the. xv. daye of the moneth of Aprill.

G The Romaynes also sent a lettre, cōteynynge these wordes: Quintus Mennius & Titus Manilius embassitours of the Romaynes, sende gretinge vnto the people of the Jewes. Loke what Lysias the kynges kynsman hath graunted you, we graunte you the same also. But as concernynge the thynges whych he referred vnto the kynge, sende hyther some with spede, and pōdre the matter diligently amonge your selues, that we

we maye cast ꝑ best for youre profyte, for we must departe now vnto Antioche. And therfore write shortly agayne, ꝑ we maye know your minde: Fare well. In ꝑ hundreth. xl viii yeare, the. xv. daye of the moneth of Apzill.

¶ The. xii. Chapter.

¶ Timotheus troubleth the Jewes. The wycked dede of the Jeppies agaynst the Jewes. Judas is auenged of them. He setteth fyre on ꝑ gate of Jamnia. The pursute of the Jewes agaynst Timothee. Timothee is taken and let go vnhurt. Judas pursueth Gozgias. Judas offeryng sacrifice for the dead, shewth the hope of the resurrection.

A WHen these couenaũtes were made Lysias went vnto the kyng, & the Jewes tylled their grounde. But Timotheus, Apollonius ꝑ sonne of Genei, Jerome & Demophon ꝑ proude, Nicanor ꝑ captayne of Cypers, & they that laye in those places: wolde not lett thẽ lyue in rest & peace. They of Joppa also dyd euen soch a shamefull dede. They prayed the Jewes ꝑ dwelt amonge them, to go with their wyues & childrẽ into ꝑ shyppes whych they had prepared, and dyd wyth thẽ, as though they had ought them no cruell wyll. For to moch thẽ as there was gone forth a generall proclamacyon thorow the cytye because of peace, they cõsẽted therto, & suspecte nothig: but when they were gone forth into ꝑ depe, they drowned no lesse then. ii. C. of them.

B Whẽ Judas knew of this cruelte shewed vnto his people, he commaunded those that were with hi to make thẽ ready, exhortyng them to call vpõ God the ryghteous iudge: went forth agaynst those murthurers of his brethren, set fyre in the hauẽ by nyght, brent vp the shyppes, and those that escaped from the fyre, he slewe with ꝑ swearde. And when he had done thys, he departed as though he wolde come agayne, and rote out all thẽ of Joppa. But when he had gottẽ worde, that ꝑ Jamnites were mynded to do in lyke maner vnto ꝑ Jewes whych dwelt amõge thẽ, he came vpon the Jamnites by nyght, & sett fyre on the hauen wyth the shyppes: so that the lyght of the fyre was sene at Jerusalem vpon a. ii. C. and. xl. furlonges.

Now when they were gone from thence xl. furlonges, in their iourney towarde Timotheus. v. thousande men of fote and. v. hundreth horsmen of the Arabians, fought with him. So when ꝑ battell was earnest, & prospered wyth Judas thorow the helpe of God: the residue of the Arabiãs beynge ouercome, besought Judas to be at one with them, & promysed to geue hym certayne pastures, and to do him good in other thinges. Judas thinckynge that they shulde in dede be profytable concernynge many thynges, promised them peace: wherupon they shoke handes, and so they departed to their tentes Judas wente also vnto a cytie, whych was very faste kepte with bzydges, fenced round aboute with walles, and dyuerse kyndes of people dwellinge therin, called Calpin.

C They that were within it, put soch trust in the strẽgth of the walles, & in their stoare of vitailes: that they were ꝑ slacker in their doynges, cursynge and reuylinge Judas wt blasphemyes, and speakynge soch wordes as it becommeth not. But Machabeus callynge vpon the great Prynce of the worlde (which without any battayll rãmes, or ordynaunce of warre, dyd* cast downe ꝑ walles of Jericho, in ꝑ tyme of Josue) fell manfully vpõ ꝑ walles, toke the cyte, (& thorow the helpe of the Lord) made an exceadynge greate slaughter: In so moch ꝑ a lake of two fourlonges brode whych laye therby, semed to flowe wyth the bloude of the slayne. * Josue. vi.

D Then departed they from thence. vii. C. & L. furlonges, and came to Taraca vnto the Jewes that are called Tubianei. But as for Timotheus, they coulde not get him there: for (not one matter dyspatched) he was departed from thence, and had lefte certayne men in a very strong holde. But Dositheus & Sosipater, whych were Captaynes with Machabeus, slewe those ꝑ Timotheus had lefte in the house of defence, euen. x. M. men. And Machabeus prepared him with the. vi M. men ꝑ were aboute hym, set thẽ in ordre by companyes, and wẽte forth agaynst Timotheus, whych had wyth hym an. C. & xx. M. men of fote. ii. M. and. v. C. horsmen.

E When Timotheus had knowledge of Judas cõmynge, he sent ꝑ women, chyldrẽ and the other baggage vnto a castell called Carnion. (For it coulde not be wõne, & was hard to come vnto, the wayes of ꝑ same places were so narow) & whẽ Judas cõpany came first in syght, ꝑ enemyes were smytten with feare, thorow the presence of God, whych seyth all thynges: In so moch ꝑ they fleynge one here, another there, were rather discõfyted of their awne people, * and wounded wt ꝑ strokes of their awne swardes. Judas also was very earnest in folowynge vpõ them, punishinge those vngodly, & slewe. xxx. M. mẽ of thẽ. Timotheus also him self fell into ꝑ handes of Dositheus and Sosipater, whõ he besought with many prayers, to let hym go with his lyfe: because he had many of the Jewes fathers & brethrẽ i prison, whych (yf they put hi to death) myght be disapointed. So whẽ he had promysed faythfully to deliuer thẽ agayne accordyng to ꝑ cõdicion made, they let hym go wythout harme, for the health of the brethrẽ. And when Judas had slayne. xxv. M. he wente from Carnion. * Judi. vii. i. Reg. xiiii. ii. Para. xx.

F Now after ꝑ he had chased awaye & slayne his enemyes, he remoued ꝑ hoste towarde * Ephrõ a strõge cytie, wherin dwelt many diuerse people of the heathen, & the stronge yonge men kepte the walles, defendyng thẽ myghtely. * i. mach. v.

mightely. In this cytie was moch ordinaūce and prouision of dartes. But whē Judas and his cōpany had called vpon Almyghty God (whych wyth hys power breaketh the strength of the enemyes) they wāne the cytie, and slewe. xxv. M. of thē, ꝑ were within From thence wente they to the cytye of the Scythiās, whych lyeth. vi. C. furlonges frō Jerusalem. But when ꝑ Jewes whych were in the cytye testifyed, that the cytesyns dealte louyngly with them, yee, and intreated them kyndly in the tyme of their aduersyte, Judas and hys cōpany gaue them thāckes, desyringe them to be frēdly still vnto them: and so they came to Jerusalem the hye feast of the wekes beynge at hande. And after the feast of pentecost they went forth agaynst Gorgias the gouernoure of Idumea, wyth iii. M. men of fote ⁊ iiii. C. horsmen. Which when they met together, it chaunsed a fewe of ꝑ Jewes to be slayne. And Dositheus one K of ꝑ Bachenors a mighty horsmā toke hold of Gorgias, ⁊ wolde haue taken him quycke. But an horsman of Thracia fell vpon him, and smote of his arme, so ꝑ Gorgias escaped ⁊ fled into Horesa. When they now ꝑ were of Gorgias side, had foughten longe ⁊ were weary: Judas called vpō the Lorde, that he wolde be their helper, ⁊ captayne of the felde: and with that, he beganne with a manly voyce to take vp a songe of prayse. ⁊ a crye: In so moch ꝑ he made the enemyes afrayed, and Gorgias mē of warre toke their flight. Do Judas gathered his hoste, ⁊ came into ꝑ cytie of Odolla. And when the seuēth daye came vpon thē, they clensed them selues (as the custome was) ⁊ kepte the Sabboth in ꝑ same place. And vpon the daye folowynge, Judas ⁊ his cōpany cam to take vp the bodies of thē that were slayne, and to bury thē in the fathers graues. Now vnder the cotes of certaine Jewes whych were slayne, they founde Jewels that they had taken out of ꝑ Deut. vii. c tēple ⁊ from the Idols of the * Jamniters: xxiiii. c whych thynge is forbydden the Jewes by ꝑ lawe. Then euery man sawe, ꝑ this was the cause, wherfore they were slayne.

G And so euery man gaue thanckes vnto ꝑ Lorde for hys ryghtuous iudgement, which had opened the thynge that was hyd. They fell downe also vnto theyr prayers, and besought God, ꝑ the fawte whych was made, myght be put out of remēbraunce. Besydes that, Judas exhorted ꝑ people carnestly, to kepe thē selues from soch synne: for so moch as they sawe before their eyes: ꝑ these men were slayne for the same offence. Do he gathered of euery one a certayne, in so moch ꝑ he brought together two thousande drachmas of syluer, which he sent vnto Jerusalē, that there myght a sacrifice be offred for the mistede. In the which place he dyd well and ryght: for he had some consideracyon ⁊ pondryng of the lyfe that is after this time. For yf he had not thought that they, which were slayne, dyd yet lyue, it had bene superfluous and vayne, to make eny mowe or sacrifyce, for thē, that were deed. But for so moch as he sawe, that they whych dye in the fauoure ⁊ beleue of God, are in good rest and hope, he thought it to be good ⁊ honorable for a recōcilynge, to do the same for those which were slayne, that the offence myght be forgeuen.

¶ The. xiii. Chapter.

¶ The comynge of Eupator into Jewry. The death of Menelaus: Machabeus going to fyght against Eupator, moueth his soudyars vnto prayer. He slieth. xiiii. thousande men in the tentes of Antiochus. Whoroscus the betrayer of the Jewes is taken. Antiochus retayneth frendship with the Jewes.

IN ꝑ. C. lxix. yeare gatt * Judas knowledge, ꝑ Antiochus Eupator was commyng with a greate power into Jewry, ⁊ Lysias the stewarde and ruler of his matters with him hauinge an. C. and. x. M. men of fote. v. M. horsmen. xxii. Elephāts, and. iii. C. charettes. Menelaus also toyned him self with them (but with greate dyscreate) and spake fayre to the kynge, not for eny good of ꝑ coūtre, but because he thought to haue bene made some greate man of auctorite. But ꝑ kynge of kynges moued Antiochus mynde agaynst thys vngodly personne, ⁊ Lysias inkourmyd the kyng, * that this Menelaus was ꝑ cause of all myschefe: so that the kyng commaunded to take him, and (as the maner of thē is) to put hym vnto death in the same daye. * ii. Machā. iiii. d A * i. mac. vi. d

There was also in the same place a tower of. L. cubytes hye, heapped with asshes: but aboue it was so made, that mē myght loke downe on euery syde. Where into the kyng cōmaunded that shamefull person to be cast amonge the asshes, as one that was cause of all vngraciousnesse. And reasō it was that the vnthryft shulde dye soch a death, and not to be buryed: for he had done moch myschefe vnto the aulter of God (whose fyre ⁊ asshes were holy) therfore was it right, ꝑ he hym selfe also shulde be destroyed wyth asshes.

But the kynge was wood in hys mynde, and came to the we him selfe moze cruell vnto the Jewes, then hys father was. Whych when Judas perceaued, * he cōmaunded the people to call vpon ꝑ Lord myght and daye: that he wolde now helpe thē also, lyke as he had done alwaye: For they were afrayed to be put from their lawe, from their naturall countre and from the holy temple: and not to suffre the people (which a lytle whyle afore began to recouer) to be subdued agayne of the blasphemous nacyons. B * ii. Machā. xiv. c.

Do when they had done thys together, C and besought the Lord for mercy, wyth weppynge and fastynge thre dayes longe, flatt vpon the grounde: Judas exhorted them, to make

make them selues ready. But he and the elders together deuised, to go forth fyrst with their people, afore the kynge brought hys hoost into Jewry, and afore he beseged ꝑ cytie, & to commytte the matter vnto God.

Wherfore he alleyged the power of all thynges vnto God the maker of the worlde exhortinge his people to fight manfully (yee, euen vnto death) for the lawes, the temple, the cytye, their awne natyue countre, and to defende the citezyns: and set his hoost before Modyn. He gaue them also that were wyth him, a token of the victory of God, chosinge out the manlyest yonge men, wente by nyght into the kynges pauylyó, slewe of the hoost xiiii. (M) men, * & the greatest Elephantes, wyth those that satt vpon them.

*1.mac.vi.f.

D Thus when they had brought a greate feare and rumour amonge ꝑ tentes of theyr enemyes, & all thynges went prosperously wyth thẽ, they departed in the breake of the daye, God beinge their helper and defender. Now whẽ the kynge perceaued the manlynesse of the Jewes, he wente about to take the stronge places by craft, and remoued his hoost * vnto bethsura, which was a well kepte house of defence of the Jewes: but they were chaced away, hurte, and discomfited.

*1.mac.vi.a

And Judas sent vnto thẽ that were in it soch thinges as were necessary. In ꝑ Jewes hoost also there was one Rhodocus, whych tolde the enemyes theyr secretes: but they sought hym out, & whẽ they had gotte hym, they put hi in prison. After this dyd ꝑ kyng comẽ with thẽ that were in Bethsura, toke truce with them, departed, and stroke a battayll wyth Judas, whych ouer came hym.

E But when he vnderstode, that Philippe (whom he had left to be ouerseer of his busynesses at Antioche) begãne to rebel agaynst him, he was astonnyed in his mynde: so ꝑ he yelded hym self to the Jewes, & made thẽ an othe, to do whatsoeuer they thought ryght.

Now when he was reconcyled wyth thẽ, he offred, made moch of the temple, gaue greate gyftes vnto it, embraced Machabe', & made hym captayne and gouernour from Ptolomays vnto the Gerrenes.

Neuertheles when he came to Ptolomays, ꝑ people of the cytie were not content with the bonde of frendshyppe for they were afrayed, that he wolde breake ꝑ couenaunt. Then wente Lysias vp into the state, and enfourmed the people, shewed thẽ the cause why, and pacifyed thẽ. So he came agayne to Antioche. This is now the matter cõcernynge the kynges iourney, and his returne.

¶ The .xiiii. Chapter.

¶ Of the mocyon of the Lorde. Demetrius soudeth Nicanor to hyll the Jewes. Nicanor maketh a compact with the Jewes, whych he yet breaketh. Through the mocyon of the kynge. Nicanor commaundeth Mathias to be taken. The dolours of Mathias.

AFter thre yeares was Judas enfourmed, how that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come vp with a greate power and shyppes, thorow the hauen of Tripolis, to take certayne commodyous places and countrees, agaynst Antiochus & his captayne Lysias. Now Alcimus (which had bene hye preest, & wylfully defyled him self, in the tyme of the myxtynge) seyng, ꝑ by no meanes he coulde be helped, ner haue any more intraũce to the auitare: he came to kynge Demetrius in the hundreth and one & fyfty yeare, presentynge vnto hym a crowne of Golde, a palme & an olyue tree: which (as mẽ thought) belonged to the temple, and ꝑ daye he helde his tonge. But when he had gotten opportunyte for his madnesse, Demetrius called him to counsell, and asked hym, what thynges or councels ꝑ Jewes leaned vnto? He answered: The Jewes that be called Assidei (whose captayne is Judas Machabeus) mayntayne warres, make insurrectyons, and will not let the realme be in peace.

A

For I beynge depryued of my fathers honoure (I meane the hye preesthode) am come hyther: partly because I was faithfull vnto the kyng, and partly because I sought ꝑ profyt of the cytezyns. And why? all oure people, thorow the wickednesse of them, are not a litle troubled. Wherfore I beseche the (O kynge) consydre all these thynges dylygently, and then make some prouision for ꝑ lande & the people, accordynge to the kyndnesse that thou hast offred vnto thẽ. For as longe as Judas hath the vpperhãde, it is not possible that men can lyue in peace.

B

When he had spoken these wordes, other frendes also hauynge euell wyll at Judas, sett the kynge Demetrius on fyre agaynst hi. * Which) immediatly sent Nicanor (ruler of the Elephantes) a captayne, into Jewry, commaundynge him, to take Judas him selfe alyue, but to slaye thẽ ꝑ were with hym, and to make Alcimus hye preest of ꝑ great temple.

*1.mac.vii.

Then the heathen which fled oute of Jewry from Judas, came to Nicanor by flockes, thynckinge the harme and decaye of the Jewes to be their welfare. Now when the Jewes herde of Nicanors commynge, and the gathering together of the heathen: they sprenckled the selues with earth, * & besought hym, which made them hys people, and euer defended his awne porcion with euydent tokens, that he wolde preserue them styll. So at the commaundemẽt of the captayne, they remoued frõ thẽce, & came to a towne called Dessasan. And Symõ Judas brother fell in hãde wt Nicanor, but thorow ꝑ sodayne commyng of the enemyes, he was afrayed.

C

*ii.mac.

Neuertheles, Nicanor hearinge the manlynes of them that were wyth Judas, & the bolde

holde stomaches that they had to fyght for their naturall countre, durst not proue the matter with bloudsheddynge. Wherfore he sent Possidonius, Theodocius & Mathias before, to gene and to take peace. So when they had taken longe aduisement there vpō
and the captayne shewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one minde: to haue
peace. And they apoynted a daye to syt vpō
these matters quyetly among them selues,
the stoles also were brought and set forth.
Neuertheless, Judas commaūded certaine
men of armes to wayte in cōuenient places,
lest there shulde sodenly aryse any cuell thō
row the enemyes. And so they cōmoned reasonably together.

D Nicanor, whyle he abode at Jerusalem, ordred him selfe not vnreasonably, but sent awaye the people that were gathered together. He loued Judas euer wyth hys herte, & fauoured him. He prayed hym also to take a wyfe, and to brynge forth chyldren. So he maryed, lyued in rest, and they led a comen lyfe. But Alcimus perceauige the loue that was betwyxte them, and how they were agreed together, came to Demetrius, & tolde
him that Nicanor had taken straunge matters in hande, and ordened Judas (an enemy of the realme) to be the kynges succeſſoure.
Then the kynge was sore displeased, & thō
row ꝓ wycked accusacyons, which Alcimus made of Nicanor, he was so prouoked, that he wrote vnto Nicanor, saying: that he was very angrye for the frendshyppe and agre-ment, whych he had made wᵗ Machabeus.
Neuertheles he commaunded him in all the haste, that he shulde take Machabeus preso
ner, and sende hym to Antioche.

E Whych letters whē Nicanor had sene, he was at hys wyttes ende, & sore greued, ꝓ he shulde breake the thynges wherin they had agreed: specially, seynge Machabeus was ꝓ mā, ꝓ neuer dyd him harme. But because he myght not wythstande the kyng, he sought opportunite to fulfil his cōmaundemēt. Notwithstanding when Machabeus sawe that Nicanor beganne to be churlysh vnto him, &
ꝓ he intreated him more rughly then he was wonte, he perceaued ꝓ soch vnkyndnes came not of good, and therfore he gathered a few of hys men, & withdrewe him selfe frō Nica-
nor. Which whē he knewe that Machabeus had manfully preuented him, he came into ꝓ great and most holy tēple: and cōmaunded ꝓ prestes (which were doynge their vsuall of-frynges) to deliuer him ꝓ mā. And whē they swore ꝓ they coulde not tel where ꝓ mā was 1.mac.vii.e whō he sought, he stretched out his hāde, * & made an othe, sayinge: If ye wyll not dely-uer me Judas captyue, I shall remoue thys tēple of God: to ꝓ playne felde, I shall breake downe ꝓ aulter, & cōsecrate this tēple vn-
to Bachus. After these wordes he departed.

Then the prestes lyft vp their handes to- M
warde heauen, & besought hym ꝓ was euer
ꝓ defender of their people, saying: Thou O Lorde of all, whych hast nede of nothynge,
woldest ꝓ the tēple of thy habitacyon shulde be amonge vs. Therfore now O moost holy Lorde, kepe thys house euer vndefyled,
*whych lately was clēsed. Now was there *1.mac.iii.d
accused vnto Nicanor, one Razis an Alder- iii.mach.v.d
man of Jerusalē, a louer of the whole cyte, & a man of good reporte: whych for ꝓ kynde herte ꝓ he bare vnto ꝓ people, was called a father of ꝓ Jewes. This mā oft tymes, whē
the Jewes were mynded to kepe thē selues
vndefyled, defended & delyuered thē, beynge content stedfastly to spēde his body and his lyfe for hys people.

So Nicanor wyllynge to declare ꝓ hate G
that he bare to the Jewes, sent fyue hūdreth
men of warre to take him: for he thought, ꝓ
he gat him, he shulde brige ꝓ Jewes in great decaye. Now when ꝓ people begāne to rushe ī at his house, to breake ꝓ doores, & to set fyre
on it: he beinge now taken, wolde haue defended him self with hys sweard: chosynge rather to dye manfully, then to yelde hym self
to those wicked doers: & because of his noble
stocke, he had rather haue bene put to extreme cruelte. Notwythstāding what time as he missed of his stroke for haste, & ꝓ multitude fell in violētly betwixte ꝓ doores: he ranne boldly to the wal, & cast him self downe mā-
fully amonge the heape of them, which gaue soone place to his fall, so ꝓ he fel vpō hys be-
ly. Neuertheles, while there was yet breath within hym, he was kyndled in hys mynde, & whyle his bloude gushed out exceadingly
(for he was very sore wounded) he rāne thō
row the myddest of the people, and gat hym
to the toppe of a rocke. So when his bloude was now gone, he toke out his awn bowels
wᵗ both his hāde, & threw thē vpon ꝓ people
callynge vpon ꝓ Lord of lyfe & spirite to re-warde him this agayne, and so he dyed.

¶ The. xv. Chapter.

¶ Nicanor goeth about to come vpō Judas on ꝓ Sab-both daye. The blasphemye of Nicanor. Machabeus exhorteth his vnto ꝓ Jewes ꝓ fyght, boldeneth their hertes. The prayer of Machabeus. After the death of Nicanor is vnto ꝓ cyte yeldeth. Machabeus commaundeth his hed and hys handes to be cut of and hys tōn-gue to be geuen vnto fowles.

NOw when * Nicanor knewe ꝓ Ju- A das was in the countre of Sama- *1.mac.iii.d
ria, he thought wyth all his power to stryke a felde wyth him vpon a Sabboth daye. Neuertheless the Jewes ꝓ were compelled to go wyth hym, sayde: O
do not so cruelly and vnkyndly, but halowe
the Sabboth daye, and worshippe him that seyth all thinges. For all thys, yet sayd the vngracyous personne: * Is there a myghtie *iii.Re.xv.d one in heauē, that cōmaunded the Sabboth daye

daye to be hepte: And when they sayde: yet the yonge God, the myghtie Lord in heauen * commaunded the seuenth daye to be hepte, he sayde: And I am myghty vpon earth, to commaunde them for to arme themselues, and to performe the lynges busynesse. Notwithstandinge he myght not haue hys purpose.

B Nicanor had deuysed wyth great pryde to ouercome Judas, & to bringe awaye the victory. But Machabeus had euer a fast confidence and a parfecte hope in God, that he wolde helpe hym, & erhorted hys people, not to be afrayed at the comminge of the heathen: but alwaye to remembre the help that had bene shewed vnto them from heauē, yee & to be sure now also, that almyghtye God wolde geue them the victory. He spake vnto them out of the lawe and prophetes, putting them in remembraunce of the battayles that they had stricken afore, and made them to be of a good corage.

So when their hartes were pluckt vp, he shewed them also the disceatfulnesse of the heathen, and how they wolde kepe no couenaūt nor othe. Thus he weapened them not wyth the armoure of shylde and speare, but wyth wholsome wordes and erhortacyons. He shewed the a dreame also, wherthorowe he made them all glad, whych was thys: he thought that he sawe Onias (which had bene hye prest, a vertuous and louynge man, sad and of honest conuersacyon, well spoken, & one that had bene exercysed in Godlynes from a chylde) holdyng vp hys handes towarde heauen, and prayenge for his people. After this there apeared vnto him another man, whych was aged, honorable and glorious. And Onias sayde: This is a louer of the brethren, and of the people of Israell. This is he that prayeth moche for the people and for all ỹ holy cirye: Jeremy ỹ prophete of God. he thought also that Jeremy reiche out hys ryght hande, and gaue vnto Judas a swearde of golde, sayinge: Take this holy swearde, a gyfte from God, wherwith thou shalt smyte downe the enemyes of the people of Israell.

And so they were well comforted thorow the wordes of Judas, and toke corage vnto them, so that the yonge men were determyned in their myndes to fyghte, & to byde stifly at it: In so moch ỹ in the thynges whych they toke in hande, their boldnesse shewed ỹ same, because the holy cirye and the temple were in parell: for the which they toke more care, then for their wyues, chyldren, brethrē and kynsfolckes. Agayne, they that were in the cirye, were moste carefull for those which were to fyghte. And when they were all in a hope that the iudgement of the matter was at hāde, and the enemyes hereupe, the hoste beynge set in araye, the Elephātes and horsemen euery one standynge in hys place: Machabeus consydered the comyng of the multitude, the ordynaunce of hyuerse weapens, the cruelnes of the beastes, and helde vp his handes towarde heauen, callyng vpon the Lorde ỹ doth wonders, * whych geueth not the victory after the multitude of weapens and power of the hoste (but to the that please hym) accordynge to hys alone wyll. Therfore in hys prayer he sayd these wordes.

D O Lorde, * thou ỹ diddest sende thyne Angell in the tyme of Ezekyah kyng of Juda, and in the hoste of Sennacherib slewest anhūdreth foure score & fyue thousand: sende now also thy good angell before vs (O Lorde of heauens) in the fearfulnesse and drede of thy myghtie arme, that they which come againste thy holy people to blaspheme them, maye be afrayed. And so he made an ende of his wordes. Thē Nicanor & they that were with hym, drewe nye wyth trompes and songes: but Judas and hys company wyth prayer and callynge vpon God.

With their handes they smote, but wyth theyr hertes they prayed vnto the Lorde, & slewe no lesse then xxxv. M. mē: For thorow ỹ present helpe of God they were gloriously comforted.

Now when they left of, & were turnynge agayne with ioye, they vnderstode that Nicanor hym selfe was slayne wyth the other. Then they gaue a greate shoute and a crye, prayenge the Almighty Lord with a loude voyce. And Judas (whych was euer ready to spende hys body & lyfe for hys cytesyns) cōmaunded to smite of Nicanors head, with hys arme & hande, * to be brought to Jerusalem. When he came t. yre, he called all the people, & the preistes at ỹ aulter wyth those that were in the castell, & shewed thē Nicanors head, and his wycked hande, whych he had presumptuously holden vp against the temple of God. He cauled ỹ tonge also of ỹ vngodly Nicanor to be cut lytle peces, & to be cast to the fowles, & the cruel mans hande to be hanged vp before the temple.

So euery man gaue thankes vnto the Lorde, sayinge: blessed be he, that hath kepte hys place vndefyled.

As for Nicanors head, he hanged it vp vpon the hye castell, for an euident & playne token of ỹ helpe of God. And so they agreed all together, to kepe that daye holy, namely the xiii. daye of the moneth Adar, which in ỹ Syrians language is called the nexte daye before Mardochens daye. Thus was Nicanor slayne, and from that tyme forth the Jewes had the cirye in possessiō. And here will I now make an ende.

¶ The ende of the seconde boke of the Machabees.

The newe Te-stamẽt in englyshe translated
after the Greke cõtayning
these bookes.
The Gospelles.
Mathew Luke
Marke John.
The actes.
The Epistles of S. Paul.
To the Romayns The.i. Thessalonyans
The.i. Corynthyans The.ii. Thessalonyans
The.ii. Corynthyans The.i. Tymothe
To the Galathyans The.ii. Tymothe
To the Ephesians To Titus
To the Philippians To Philemon
To the Colossyans To the Hebrues.
The Epistle of Saynt James
The.i. of S. Peter The.i. of S. John
The.ii. of S. Peter The.ii.
The Epistle of S. Jude The.iii. of S. John.
The Revelacion of S. John.
GOD SAVE THE KYNGE
VIVAT REX
VIVAT REX
VIVAT REX

48.
10. 12.
64.

¶ The Gospell of S. Mathew.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

¶ The genealogye of Chryst, and maryage of hys mother Mary. The angel satysfyeth Josephs mynde.

Hys ys ꝑ booke of the generacyon of Jesus Chryst, ꝓ sonne of Dauid, the sonne of Abrahã. * Abraham begat Isaac. * Isaac begat Jacob. * Jacob begat Judas and hys brethren. * Judas begat Phares and zaram of Thamar. * Phares begat Esrom. * Esrom begat Aram. * Aram begat Aminadab. * Aminadab begat Naasson. * Naasson begat Salmon. * Salmon begat Boos of Rahab. * Boos begat Obed of Ruth. * Obed begat Jesse. * Jesse begat Dauid the kynge. * Dauid the kynge begat Salomon, of her that was the wyfe of Vrye. * Salomon begat Roboam. * Roboam begat Abia. * Abia begat Asa. * Asa begat Josaphat. * Josaphat begat Joram. * Joram begat Ozias. * Ozias begat Joatham. * Joatham begat Achas. * Achas begat Ezechias. * Ezechias begat Manasses. * Manasses begat Amon. * Amon begat Josias. * Josias begat Jeconias and hys brethren about the tyme they were caryed awaye to Babylon. And after they were brought to Babylon, * Jechonias begat Salathiel. * Salathiel begat zorobabel. * zorobabel begat Abiud. * Abiud begat Eliachim. Eliachim begat Azor. Azor begat Sadoc. Sadoc begat Achin. Achin begat Eliud. Eliud begat Eleasar. Eleasar begat Matthan. Matthan begat Jacob. Jacob begat Joseph the husbande of Mary, of whom was borne Jesus, euen he that is called Chryst. ✠

And so all the generacyons from Abrahã to Dauid, are fourtene generacyõs. And frõ Dauid vnto the captyuyte of Babylon, are fourtene generacyõs. And from the captyuyte of Babylon vnto Chryst, are fourtene generacyons.

¶ The byrth of Jesus Chryst was on this wyse. ✠ When his mother Mary was maryed to Joseph (before they came to dwell to geather) she was founde with chylde by the holy ghoost. Then Joseph her husbande (because he was a ryghteous man, and wolde not put her to shame) he was mynded preuely to departe from her. But whyll he thus thought, beholde, the aungell of the Lorde appeared vnto hym in slepe, saying: Joseph, thou sonne of Dauid: feare not to take vnto the Mary thy wyfe. For that which is conceaued in her, cometh of the holy ghoost. She shall brynge forth a sonne, and thou shalt cal hys name * Jesus. For he shall saue his people from theyr synnes. * Mathew.i.b Jerem.xxxi.b

¶ All this was done, ꝓ it might be fulfilled, which was spoke of the Lord by ꝓ prophet, saying: * Behold, a mayd shalbe wt chylde, & shall bryng forth a sonne, & they shall call his name Emanuel, which yf a man interpret, it is as moch to say as God with vs. ✠ * Esa.vii.c

And Joseph as sone as he awoke out of slepe, dyd as the angel of the Lorde had bydden hym: and he toke hys wyfe vnto hym, & knewe her not, tyll she had brought forth * her fyrst begotten sonne, and called his name Jesus. * Luke.ii.a

¶ The .ij. Chapter.

¶ The tyme and place of Chrystes byrth. The wyse men offer theyr presentes. Chryst flyeth into Egypte, the yonge chyldren are slayne, Chryst turneth into Galile.

When ✠ Jesus was borne at Bethleem a cyte of Jewry, in the tyme of Herode the kynge. Beholde, there came wyse men frõ the east to Jerusalem, sayinge: Where is he that is borne kyng of Jewes? For we haue sene hys * starre in the east, and are come to worshyppe hym. * Mathew.ii.c

When Herode the kyng had hearde these thynges, he was troubled, and all the cyte of Jerusalem with hym. And whan he had gathered all the chefe prestes and scrybes of the people togeather, he demaunded of them, where Chryst shulde be borne. And they sayd vnto hym: At Bethleem in Jewrye. For thus it is wrytte by the prophet: * And ꝓ Bethleem in the lande of Juda, art not the leest among the princes of Juda. For * oute of the shal there come vnto me the captayne, that shall gouerne my people Israel. * Mich.v.a * John.vii.g

Then Herode (whe he had preuely called the wyse men) he enquyred of the diligently what tyme the starre appered, & he bad them go to Bethleem, & sayd: Goo your waye thither, & searche diligētly for ꝑ childe. And whē ye haue foūde him, bryng me word agayne,

that I maye come and worshyp hym also.

✠ Whē they had heard ꝑ kyng, they departed: and lo, the starre which they sawe in the easte, wēt before thē, tyll it came, & stode
ouer the place, wherin the chylde was. Whē
they sawe the starre, they were exceadynge glad: and went into the house, and found the chylde with Mary his mother * & fell downe flatt and worshipped hym, and opened their treasures & offered vnto hym gyftes, golde, franckincense, & myrre. And after they were warned of God in slepe (that they shuld not goagayne to Herode) they returned to their awne countre another waye. ✠

Whē they were departed, behold, the angel of the Lord appered to Joseph in slepe saying, aryse, & take the chyld and his mother, and flye into Egipt: and be thou there tyll I bryng the worde. For it will come to passe that Herode shall seke the chylde, to destroye
hym. So whan he awoke, he toke the childe and hys mother by night, and departed into Egipt, and was there vnto the deeth of he-rode, that it myght be fulfylled, which was spoken of ꝑ Lorde by the prophete, sayenge:
* out of Egypt haue I called my sonne.

Then Herode whā he sawe ꝑ he was mocked of ꝑ wyse mē, he was exceading wroth, & sent forth mē of warre, & slue all ꝑ chyldre
that were in Bethleem, and in all ꝑ coastes, (as many as were two yeere olde or vnder)
accordynge to the tyme, whych he had dily-
gently knowe out of the wyse men.

Then was fulfylled that, which was spoke by the prophet Jeremy: where as he sayd:
in Rama was there a voyce herde * lamen-tacyon, weping, and great mourninge. Rachel weping for her chyldren, & wolde not be cōforted ☞ because they were not. ✠ But when Herode was deed: beholde, ✠ an angell of the Lorde appeared in a slepe to Joseph, in Egypte, sayenge: aryse, and take the chylde of hys mother, and go into the lande
of Israell. * for they are deed which sought the chyldes lyfe. And he arose, and toke the chylde and hys mother, & came into the land of Israell. But when he hearde that Archelaus dyd raygne in Jewry, in the rowme of his father Herode, he was afrayde to go thither. Notwithstandinge, after he was warned of God in a slepe, he turned a syde into ꝑ parties of Galile, and went and dwelt in a cyte which is called Nazareth: that it might be fulfylled which was spoken by the pro-
phetes: he shalbe called a Nazarite. ✠

¶ The.iij. Chapter. ✠

¶ The baptyme, preachynge and myracles of Iohn, and how Christ was baptysed of hym in Iordane.

IN those dayes came John ꝑ * Baptist, preachyng in the wyldernesse
of Jewry, and sayeng: ☞ Repēt
of the life that is past, for the kingdome of heauen is at hand. * For this is he,
of whom the Prophete Esaye spake, which sayeth: The voyce of a cryer in the wyldernes, prepare ye the waye of the Lorde: & make hys pathes streyght. Thys John had hys rayment of camels heer. * And a gyrdell of a skynne about hys loynes. & his meat was locustes and * wylde hony. Then went out to hym Jerusalem and all Jewrye, and all the regyon rounde about Jordan, and were baptysed of hym in Jordan, confessyng their synnes.

✠ But when he sawe many of the Pharises and Sadducys come to hys baptyme, he sayd vnto them: * O generacion of vypers,
who hath taught you to flye from the venge-aunce to come? Bryng forth therfore the fru-tes that belong to repentaunce. And be not of soch mynde that ye wolde saye with your selues: we haue Abraham to oure father.
For I saye vnto you: that God is able to bryng to passe, that of these stones ther shall ryse vp childre vnto Abraham. Euen now is the axe also put vnto the rote of the trees:
so that * euery tree which bryngeth not forth
good frute, is hewen downe, and cast into the fyre.

I baptyse you in water * vnto repētaun-
ce: but he ꝑ shall come after me is myghtyer
then I, whose shoes I am not worthy to be-
arr. He shall baptise you with the holy ghost and with fyre: * whose fan is in hys hand, &
he will purge hys floore, & gather his wheat into the barne, but will burne the chaffe w
vnquencheable fyre. ✠

✠ Then commeth Jesus from Galile to Jordan vnto John * to be baptysed of hym.
But John forbade hym, sayinge: I haue nede to be baptised of the: and commest thou to me? Jesꝰ answered & said vnto him: Let it be so now. For thꝰ it becometh vs to fulfyll all rygtewousnesse. Then he suffred hym. And Jesus when he was baptised, came straight waye out of the water. And lo * heuen was open vnto him: and he sawe ꝑ spyrete of God descendynge lyke a doue, and lyghtyng vpō
hym. And loo, there came a voyce from heauen sayenge. * Thys is my beloued sonne, in whō I am well pleased. ✠

¶ The.iiij. Chapter. ✠

¶ Christ fasteth and is tempted: he calleth Peter, Andrew, James and John: and healeth the sycke.

THen was Jesꝰ led awaye of ꝑ spyrite into wyldernes: to be tempted of the deuell. And when he had fasted four-ty dayes and fourty nyghtes, he was at the last an hūgred. And when the tempter came to hym, he sayde: yf thou be the sonne of God commaunde

cõmaunde, that these stones be made bread: But he answered and sayde: it is wrytten, * man shall not lyue by bread onlye, but by euery worde ỹ proceadeth out of the mouth of God.

Then the deuyll taketh him vp into ỹ holy cytie, & setteth hym on a pynacle of the tẽple, and sayeth vnto him: yf thou be the sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe headlig. For it is witten * he shall geue hys angels charge ouer the, & with their hãdes they shal holde the vp, lest at any tyme thou dash thy fote agaynst a stone. And Jesus sayde to hym: it is wrytten agayne: ✝ Thou shalt not tempte the Lorde thy God.

Agayne, the deuel taketh him vp into an exceading hye mountayne, and sheweth him all the kyngdomes of the worlde, and the glory of the, and sayeth vnto hym: all these will I geue the, yf thou wylt fall downe, & worshippe me. Then sayeth Jesus vnto hym Auoyde Satan. For it is wrytten: * Thou shalt worshyp the Lorde thy God, and hym onely shalt thou serue.

Then the deuyl leaueth him, and behold, * the angels came, & ministred vnto him. ✠

✠ Whẽ Jesus had heard * that John was taken, he departed into Galyle, and left Nazareth, and went and dwelt in Capernaum: whych is a cytie vpon the see coast; in ỹ borders of zabulõ & Neptalim: that it myght be fulfilled which was spoken by Esay the prophet, saying: * The lãde of zabulõ & Neptalim, by the waye of the see beyonde Jordan, Galile of the Gentils: the people which satt in darcknesse and in the shadowe of death, sawe great light: & to thẽ which sat in the regiõ & shadowe of death, is the light sprõg vp.

From that tyme, Jesus begãne to * preache, and to saye: * repent, for the kyngdome of heauen is at hande. ✠

✠ * As Jesus walked by the see of Galile he sawe two brethren: Symon, which was called Peter, & Andrew his brother, castyng a net into the see (for they were fishers) & he sayeth vnto them: folowe me, and I wyll make you * (to become) * fishers of men. And they streyght waye lefte the nettes, and folowed hym.

And whẽ he was gone forth fro thẽce, he sawe other two brethrẽ, James ỹ sonne of zebede, & John his brother, in ỹ shyp wt zebede their father, mending their nettes, & he called them. And they immediatly * lefte the shyp and their father, and folowed hym. ✠

✠ And Jesus went about all Galile, teachynge in their synagoges, & preachynge the gospel of the kingdome, and healing all maner of sycknes, & all maner of disease amõge the people. And hys fame spreed abroade throughout al Siria. And they brought vnto him all sych people ỹ were taken with dyuers diseases and grypynges, and them that were possessed with deuyls: and those which were lunatyke, & those that had the palsye: & he healed thẽ. * And ther folowed hym great multitudes of people, from Galile, ✠ and from the ten cytes, and from Jerusalem, and from Jewry, and from the regions that lye beyonde Jordan.

¶ The. v. Chapter. ✠

¶ In thys chapter and in the two nexte folowynge is conteyned the most excellent and louynge Sermõ of Christ in the mount: whych stemd to the very heye that goeth the vnderstandynge into the lowe. In thys thyrd chapter, he cryeth he preacheth of the. viii. beatytudes or blessinges, of manslaughter, wrath and angered almoustry, of lyeng, of swearyng, of suffering wronge and of loue, euen towarde a mans enemyes.

When he sawe the people, he went vp into a mountayne, and whẽ he was sett, hys disciples came to hi: and after that he had opened hys mouth, he taught thẽ, sayinge: * Blessed are the poore in spyrite, for theyrs is the kyngdome of heauẽ. * Blessed are they that mourne, for they shall receaue comfort. Blessed are ỹ meke: for they shall receaue the enheritaunce of the earth. Blessed are they which * honger and thyrst after ryghteousnes: for they shalbe satisfyed. Blessed are ỹ mercyful: for they shall obteyne mercy. Blessed are the pure in herte: for they shall se God. Blessed are the peace makers: for they shalbe called the children of God. Blessed are they which suffre persecucyon for righteousnes sake: for theirs is the kingdome of heauen. * Blessed are ye, when mẽ reuyle you, and persecute you, and shall falsely say all maner of euyll sayinge agaynst you, for my sake. * Reioyse & be glad for greate is your rewarde in heuen. ✠ For so persecuted they the prophetes, which were before you.

✠ Ye are the salt of the earth: * But yf ỹ salt haue lost the saltnes, what shalbe seasoned therwith? It is thence forth good for nothynge, but to be cast out, and to be troaden downe of men. Ye are the light of the world. A cytie that is set on an hyll cannot be hyd, * nether do men lyght a candell, and put it vnder a bushell, but on a candelstyck, and it geueth light vnto all that are in ỹ house. Let your light so shyne before men. * That they maye se your good workes, & glorify your father, which is in heauen. ✠

✠ Thynke not ỹ I am come to destroye the lawe, or the prophetes: no, I am not come to destroye, but * to fulfyll. For truely I saye vnto you: * tyll heauen and earth passe, one iott or one tytle of the lawe shal not scape, tyll all be fulfylled.

Whosoeuer therfore breaketh * one of these leest commaundementes, and teacheth men so, he shalbe called the leest in the kyngdome of heauen. But whosoeuer doeth and teacheth, the same shalbe called greate in the kyngdome of heauen.

For I saye vnto you: except your ryghteousnesse exceade the ryghteousnesse of the Scribes and Phariseis, ye cannot entre into the kyngdome of heauen.

D Ye haue heard that it was sayd vnto them of ye olde tyme. * Thou shalt no kyll: whosoeuer killeth, shalbe in daunger of iudgemēt. But I saye vnto you: that whosoeuer is angrye with his brother (vnadvysedly) shalbe in daunger of iudgement. And whosoeuer saye vnto his brother ☞ Racha, shalbe in daunger of a councell. But whosoeuer sayeth thou foole, shalbe in daunger of hell fyre.

Therfore, yf thou offrest thy gyfte at the aulter, and there remembrest that thy brother hath ought agaynst the: leaue there thyne offringe before the aulter * & go thy waye fyrst, and be reconcyled to thy brother, and then come, and offre thy gyfte.

* Iob.xlii.b

* Luc.xii.d

* Agree with thyne aduersary quyckly whyles thou art in the waye with him, lest at any tyme the aduersary deliuer the to the iudge, and the iudge delyuer the to ye mynister, and then thou be cast into preson. Verely, I saye vnto the: thou shalt not come out thence, tyll thou haue payed the vtmost farthynge.

E Ye haue herde that it was sayd vnto them of olde tyme. * Thou shall no comitt aduoutrye. But I saye vnto you * that whosoeuer loketh on another mans wyfe to lust after her, hath commytted aduoutrye with her all ready in his hert.

* Exo.xx.d Deu.v.d * Eccle.xlii.d Iob.xxxi.a

* Mat.v.d

* Yf thy ryght eye hynder the, ☞ pluche hym out, and cast hym from the. For better it is vnto the, that one of thy membres perysshe, then ye thy whole body shuld be cast into hell. And yf thy ryght hande hynder the, cutt hym of, and cast hym from the. For better it is vnto the, that one of thy membres perysshe, then that all thy body shulde be cast into hell.

* Deu.xxiiii.d Mat.xix.a & Mar.x.a Mat.v.b

It is sayd, whosoeuer putteth awaye his wyfe, * lett hym geue her a letter of the deuorcement. * But I saye vnto you: that whosoeuer doth put awaye his wyfe (excepte it be for fornycacyō) causeth her to breake matrymony. And whosoeuer maryeth her that is deuorsed committeth aduoutrye.

* Leu.xix.d

Agayne, ye haue herde how it was sayd to them of olde tyme: * thou shalt not forsweare thy selfe, but shalt perfourme vnto ye Lorde those thinges that thou swearest.

* Iam.v.b

* But I saye vnto you: sweare not at all: nether by heauen, * for it is Goddes seate, nor by the earth, for it is his fote stole: nether by Ierusalē, for it is the cytie of the great king: nether shalt thou swear by thy heed, because ye canst not make one heare whyte or blacke. But your communicacyon shalbe, ye, ye, nay, nay: For whatsoeuer is added more then these, it commeth of euyll.

Ye haue herde that it is sayd: † an eye for an eye: and a toth for a toth. But I saye vnto you, ye ☞ resist not euell. But * whosoeuer geue the a blowe on the ryght cheke, turne to hym the other also. And yf eny man wyll sue the at the law, and take awaye thy coate, let him haue thy cloake also. And whosoeuer wyll compell the to go a myle, go with him twayne. Geue to him that axeth the, and fro hym that wolde borowe, turne not thou awaye.

† Exo.xxi.c Deute.xix.a Leuit.xxiiii.a * Luke.vi.d

F

G

Ye haue heard that it is sayde, * thou shalt loue thyne neyghbour, and hate thyne enemy. But I saye vnto you: loue your enemyes. * Blesse them that curse you. * Do good to them that hate you. Praye for them which hurt you and persecute you, that ye maye be the children of your father which is in heauen: for he maketh his sonne to aryse on ye euell, & on ye good, & sendeth rayne on ye iust & on ye vniust. For * yf ye loue them which loue you: what reward haue ye? Do not the publycans also euen the same? And yf ye make moche of your brethren only, what singuler thinge do ye? Do not also the publicans lykewise? * ye shall therfore be perfecte, euen as your father which is in heauen is perfecte.

* Leuit.xix.c * Exo.xxiii.c * Luke.vi.a * Mat.xliii.a

The.vi. Chapter.

Of Almes, prayer and fastynge. He forbyddeth the carefull kepyng of worldly thynges.

Take heade, ye geue not your almose in the sight of men, to the intent that ye wold be sene of them. Or els ye haue no rewarde with youre father which is in heauen. Therfore, whā thou genest thyne almes, let not trōpetes be blowē before the, as ye ypocrites do in the synagoges and in the stretes: for to be prayed of men. Verely, I saye vnto you: they haue their rewarde. But when thou wylt geue almes, let not thy left hande knowe what thy ryght hande doth, that thyne almes maye be in secrete: and thy father whych seeth in secrete, shall rewarde the openly.

A

And when thou prayest * thou shalt not be as the ypocrytes are. For they vse to stād prayeng in the synagoges, and in the corners of the stretes, that they maye be sene of men. Verely, I saye vnto you: they haue their rewarde. But when thou prayest * entre into thy chamber, & when thou hast shut thy doze praye to thy father which is in secrete: & thy father which seeth in secrete, shall rewarde the openly.

* Esa.lvii.a * Mat.xxiii.a

B

But when ye praye * babble not moch, as the heathen do: for they thyncke it will come to passe, that they shalbe herd for their moch babblynges sake. Be not ye therfore lyke vnto them. * For youre father knoweth what

* Eccle.v.a * Mat.vii.a

thynges

thinges ye haue nede of before ye aske of hi:
after thys maner therfore praye ye.

* Oure father which art in heauen, halo-
wed be thy name. Lett thy kyngdome come.
Thy will be fulfylled, as well in earth, as it is in heauen. Geue vs this daye oure dayly bread. And forgeue vs ourꝯ dettes, as we forgeue oure detters. And leade vs not into temptacyon: but delyuer vs from euyll. For thyne is the kyngdome and the power, and the glorye for euer. Amen. Therfore, * yf ye forgeue other mẽ theyr trespalles, your heue-
ly father shall forgeue you. ℟ (youre trespalles.)
But yf ye wyll not forgeue men theyr trespalles, nomore shall your father forgeue you youre trespalles.

✠ Moreouer, * when ye fast, be not sad
as the ypocrites are. For they disfigure their ¶ faces, that it maye appeare vnto men, how that they fast. Verely, I saye vnto you, they haue theyr rewarde. But thou, whē thou fastest, anoynte thyne heed, and wash thy face,
that it appere not vnto men, how that thou fastest: but vnto thy father, which is in secret:
and thy father which seeth in secrete, shal re-
warde the openly.

Laye not vp for your selues treasure vpō
earth, where the rust and mothe doth corru-
pte, and where theues breake through, and steale. * But laye vp for you, treasures in heauen, where neither rust nor mothe doth corrupte, and where theues do not breake tho-row nor steale. For where youre treasure is, there will youre hert be also. ✠

* The light of the body is the eye. Wherfore, yf thyne eye be single, all thy body shall be full of light. But and yf thyne eye be wicked, all thy body shalbe full of darcknesse.
Wherfore, yf the lyght yͭ is in the be darknes, how greate is that darckenes?

✠ * No man can serue two masters. For ether he shal hate the one and loue the other,
or els leane to the one, and despyse the other:
ye cannot serue God and Mammon. Therfore I saye vnto you: * be not carefull for youre lyfe, what ye shall eate or drincke, nor yet for youre body, what rayment ye shall put on. Is not the lyfe more worth then meat:
and the body more of value then rayment?
Behold, the foules of the ayer: for they sowe not, nether do they reape, nor carry into the barnes: and youre heuenly father fedeth them.
Are ye not much better then they?

* Whych of you (by takynge carefull thought) can adde one cubyte vnto hys stature? And why care ye for rayment? Consy-der the lylies of the felde, how they growe.
They laboure not, nether do they spynne.
And yet I saye vnto you, that euen Salomon in all hys royalte was not arayed lyke
one of these. Wherfore, yf God so cloth the grasse of the felde (which though it stande to daye, is to morow cast into yͭ fornalle) shall he not moch more do the same for you, O ye of lytle fayth?

Therfore, take no thought, saying: what shall we eate, or what shall we drincke, or wherwith shall we be clothed? after all these thynges do the gentyls seke. For youre heuenly father knoweth, that ye haue nede of all these thynges. But rather seke ye fyrst yͭ kyngdome of God, and the ryghteousnesse
therof, and al these thinges shalbe ministred
vnto you. ✠

Care not then for the morow, for the mo-
rowe daye shall care for it selfe: sufficient vn-
to the daye, is the trauayle therof.

¶ The. vij Chapter.

¶ The fayth eth foolysh and rashe iudgment, repro-ueth ypocrysye, exhorteth vnto prayer, warneth to be ware of false prophetes and wylleth the hearers of hys worde to be doers of the same.

I * Udge not, that ye be not iudged ℟ (condempne not, and ye shall not be condemned.) * For as ye iudge, so shall ye be iudged. * And with what measure ye meate, with the same shall other men measure to you. * Why seest
thou a mote in thy brothers eye, but consyderest not the beame that is in thyne awne eye?
Or how sayest thou to thy brother? ℟ (Brother)
suffre me, I wyll plucke oute a moate out of thyne eye, and beholde, a beame is in thyne a wne eye. Thou ypocrite, fyrst cast oute the beame out of thyne awne eye, and then shalt thou se clearly to plucke out the mote oute of thy brothers eye.

Geue not ye that whych hys holy vnto
dogges, nether cast ye youre pearles before swyne, lest they treade thē vnder their fete &
the other turne against you, & al torent you.

Aske, and it shalbe geuen you: * Seke, &
ye shall fynde: knocke, and it shalbe opened vnto you. For whosoeuer asketh, receaueth:
and whosoeuer seketh, fyndeth: and to hym
that knocketh, it shalbe opened. Is there eny man amonge you, which (yf hys sonne aske bread) wyll offer him a stone? Or yf he aske fysshe, will he offer him a serpēt? If ye then (whan ye are euell) can geue youre children
good gyftes, how moch more shall your father which is in heauen, geue good thynges,
yf ye aske of hym?

Therfore, * whatsoeuer ye wolde yͭ men
shulde do to you: do ye euen so to them also.
For this is the lawe and the prophetes.

* Enter in at the strayte gate: for wyde
is the gate, and broade is the waye that lea-deth to destruccion: and many there be which go in ther at. For straite is the gate, and na-rowe is the waye, which leadeth vnto lyfe,
and fewe there be that fynde it. ✠ * Beware
of false prophetes, which come to you in the
pes clothynge, but inwardly they are raue-

¶ Aa iiij nyng.

nyng wolues. Ye shall knowe them by theyr frutes.

*Luce.vi.c *Do me gather grapes of thornes/ or figges of thistles? Euē so euery good tree bringeth forth good frutes. But a corrupte tree, bringeth forth euell frutes. *A good tree can *Mat.xii.c not bringe forth bad frute: nether can a bad tree bring forth good frutes. *Euery tree *Mat.iii.b Luce iii.b þ bringeth not forth good frute, is hewen downe, and cast into þ fyre. Wherfore, by their frutes ye shall knowe them.

*Mat.xxv.b Not euery one þ sayth vnto me, *Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kyngdome of heauen: but he that doth the wyll of my father, which is in heauen. (He shall enter into the kyngdome of heauen.) ✠ Many wyll saye to me in þ daye: Lord, Lorde, haue we not prophecyed D *Actes.xix.c thorow thy name? *And thorow thy name haue cast out deuyls? And done many miracles thorow thy name? And then wyll I knowledge vnto them, I neuer knewe you. *Psal.vi.b Luce.xiii.b *Departe fro me, ye that worcke iniquyte.

*Isa.lvi.g Forwhosoeuer heareth of me these wordes, & doth the same, I will lyken hym vnto a wyse man, which *buylt hys house vpon a rock: and a shower of rayne descended, & the floudes came, & the windes blewe, and bet vpon that house, & it fell not, because it was grounded on the rocke. And euery one þ heareth of me these wordes, *& doth them not *Jacob.i.b shalbe lykened vnto a folyth mā, which built his house vpon sande: and a shower *of rayne *Ezec.xiii.b descended, and the floudes came, and the windes blew, and bet vpon that house, and it fell, and greate was the fall of it.

And it came to passe, that whē Jesus had ended these sayinges, the people were astonyed at hys doctryne. * For he taught them *Mar.i.d *Luke.iiii.c as one hauinge power, & not as the scribes. (Of them, and the Phariseis.)

¶ The.viij. Chapter. ✠

¶ Christ cleanseth the leper, healeth the centurions seruaunt, and many other diseases, declareth whether it is best, to forsake the lest and the worlde, and byeth the deuels out of the possessed into the swyne.

A When he was come downe frō the mountayne, moch people folowed hym. And beholde, *there came a *Luce.v.d Mat.ix.b leper, and worshypped him sayēg: Master, yf thou wylt, thou canst make me cleane. And Jesus put forth hys hande, and touched him sayenge: I will, be thou cleane, and immediatly hys leprosye was cleansed. And Jesus sayeth vnto hym: se thou tell no *Leui.xiiii.a man *but go, & shewe thy selfe to the preste: and offre the gyfte (that Moses commaūded to be offred) for a witnes vnto them. ✠

*Luke.vii.a Mat.viii.c ✠ And when Jesus was entred *into Capernaum, ther came vnto him a Centurion, and besought him, sayenge: Master, my seruaunt lyeth at home sycke of the palsye, and is greuously payned. And Jesus sayth whan I come vnto hym, I wyll heale hym. The Centurion answeerd, & sayd: Syr, I am not worthy, that thou shuldest come vnder my rofe: but *speake the word only, and my *Psal.c.b seruaūt shalbe healed. For I also my selfe am a man subiect to the auctorite of another, and haue soudyers vnder me, and I saye to thys man: go, & he goeth: and to another come, and he cometh, & to my seruaunt do this, and he doeth it. When Jesus herd these wordes, he marueled: and sayde to them that folowed him. Verely, I saye vnto you: I haue not founde so greate fayth in Israell. I saye vnto you þ *many shall come from the east, *Luce.xiii.c and west, and shall rest with Abraham and Isaac and Jacob in the kyngdome of heauē: but the children of the kyngdome shalbe cast out into vtter darckenes: there shalbe wepīg and gnasshing of teth. And Jesus sayde vnto the Centurion: go thy waye, and as thou beleuest, so be it vnto the. And hys seruaunt was healed in the selfe same houre: ✠

*Mat.viii.a Luce.iiii.d *And whē Jesus was come into Peters house, he sawe hys wyues mother lyenge in bed, and sycke of a feuer. And he touched her hande, and the feuer left her: and she arose, & mynystred vnto them.

When the euen drue on, they brought vnto him many that were possessed with deuils. And he cast out the spretes with a worde, & healed all that were sycke, that it myght be fulfylled, which was spoken by Esay þ pro- C phete, when he sayth: *he toke on hym oure *Esaie.liii.a infirmytes, and bare oure sycknes.

Whē Jesus sawe moch people about hi, he commaunded that they shulde go vnto the other syde of the water. And a certayne scribe (whan he was come) sayde vnto him: *Master, I wil folowe the whither soeuer *Luce.ix.d thou goest. And Jesus sayeth vnto him: the foxes haue holes, and the byrdes of the ayer haue nestes: but the sonne of man hath not where to reste his head. And another of the nōber of his disciples sayd vnto him: *Ma- *Luce.ix.d ster, suffre me first to go and bury my father. But Jesus sayde vnto hym: folowe me, and let the deed burye theyr deed.

✠ And whan he entred into a shyp, his disciples folowed him. And beholde, *there *Mar.iiii.c Luce.viii.c arose a greate tempeste in the see, in so moche that the shyppe was couered with waues, but he was a slepe. And hys disciples came to hym, and awoke hym, sayenge: Master, saue vs, we perysshe. And he sayth vnto the: why are ye fearful, O ye of lytle faith? Then he arose *and rebuked the windes and the *Jon.i.a Mat.viii.c see, and there folowed a greate calme. But D the men marueyled, sayinge: what maner of man is this, that both windes and see obey hym? ✠

*Mat.ix.a Luce.viii.b *And whē he was come to þ other syde, in to the coūtre of the Gergesites, ther met him two two possessed of deuyles, which came out of the graues, and were out of measure fearce, so that no man might go by that waye. And beholde, they cryed out sayinge: * O Jesu ꝑ sonne of God * what haue we to do with ꝑ? Art thou come hyther to torment vs before the tyme? And ther was a good waye of frō them * a heerd of many swyne, fedynge. So, the deuyls besought him, sayinge, yf thou cast vs out, suffre vs to go ourt waye into the heerd of swyne. And he sayde vnto them: go youre wayes. Then wēt they out, and departed into the heerd of swyne. And beholde, the whole heerd of swyne was caried headlynge into the see, and perissshed in the waters. Then they that kepte thē, fledd, and wēt their wayes into the cytie, and tolde euery thynge, and what had ꝼortuned vnto the possessed of the deuyls. And beholde, the whole cytie came out to mete Jesus: and when they sawe him, * they besought him ꝑ he wolde departe out of their coastes.

The. ix. Chapter.

The healeth the palsye, calleth Mathew from the custome, answereth ꝼor hys disciples, healeth the woman of the bloudy yssue, helpeth Jairus daughter, geueth .ij. blynde men their syght, maketh a dumme man to speake, and dryueth out a deuell.

And entred also into a shyppe, and passed ouer, ād came into his awne cytie, and beholde, * they brought to hym a man sicke of the palsye, lyinge in a bed. And when Jesus sawe the fayth of them, he sayd vnto the sicke of the palsye: sonne, be of good cheare, thy synnes be ꝼorgeuen the. And beholde: certayne of the Scribes sayde within them selues: this man blaspheneth. And when Jesus sawe their thoughtes, he sayde. Wherꝼore thynche ye euyll in youre heartes? Whether is easyer to saye, thy synnes be ꝼorgeuen the, or to saye, aryse and walke? But that ye maye knowe, that the sonne of man hath power to ꝼorgeue synnes in erth. Then sayeth he vnto the sycke of the palsye: * arise, take vp thy bed, ād go vnto thyne house. And he arose, ād departed to his house. But the people that sawe it, marueyled, and gloryfyed God, which had geuen soch power vnto men.

✠ And as Jesus passed ꝼorthꝼrom thence, he sawe a mā (named Mathew) syttynge at the receate of custome, and he sayeth vnto him: folow me. And he arose, ꝑ folowed him. And it came to passe as Jesus sat at meate in hys house: beholde, many Publicans also and synners that came, sat downe with Jesus and his disciples.

And when ꝑ Pharises sawe it, they sayde vnto his disciples: why eateth youre master with publicans and synners? But when Jesus heard that, he sayde vnto them. They that be stronge, nede not the phisycyon, but they that are sicke. Goo ye rather and learne what ꝑ meaneth. * I will haue mercy, and not sacrifice. ꝼor I am not come to call the ryghtewes, but synners to repentaunce. * Oseer. vi.c. mat. xii.d.

✠ Then came the disciples of John vnto him, sayinge: * why do we and the Pharises fast, ꝼor the most parte: but thy disciples fast not? And Jesus sayde vnto thē: can the brydegromes children mourne as longe as the brydegrome is with them? But the dayes wyll come, when the brydegrome shalbe taken ꝼrom them, and then shall they fast. No man putteth a pece of new cloth in an olde garment. ꝼor then taketh he awaye the pece ꝼrom the garmēt, and the rent is made worse. Nether do men put new wyne into olde: bottels: els the bottels breake, and the wyne runneth out, and the bottels perysshe. But they putt new wyne into new bottels, and both are saued together. * mat. ix.b. Luke. v.f.

✠ Whyle he thus spake vnto thē, * beholde, ther came a certayne ruler, ꝑ worshipped him, sayinge: my daughter is euē now diseased, but come and laye thy hand vpon her, ꝑ she shall lyue. And Jesus arose, ād folowed him, and (so dyd) his disciples. * and beholde, a woman which was diseased with an yssue of bloude twelue yeres, came behynde him, ād touched the hēme of his vesture. ꝼor she sayde within her selfe: yf I may touche but euen hys vesture onely, I shalbe safe. But Jesus tourned him aboute, and whan he sawe her, he sayde. Daughter, be of good comꝼorte, thy faith hath made the safe. And the woman was made whole, euen that same tyme. * mar. v.c. Luke. viii.f. Leuit. xv.c.

✠ * And when Jesus came into the rulers house, and sawe the minstrels, ād the people makyng a noyse, he sayde vnto thē: get you hence, ꝼor ꝑ mayde is not deed * but sleepeth. And they laughed him to scorne. But whan the people were put ꝼorth, he wēt in, and tooke her by ꝑ hande, and (sayde: damsell, aryse.) and ꝑ damsell arose. And this noyse went abroade into all that lande. * mar. v.a. Luke. viii.g. * John. xi.b.

And whan Jesus departed thence, two blynde men folowed him, cryinge ꝑ sayinge: O thou sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs: And when he was come into the house, the blynde came to him. And Jesus sayeth vnto them: Beleue ye, that I am able to do this? They saye vnto him: Lord, we beleue. Then touched he their eyes, sayinge: * accordynge to youre fayth be it vnto you. And their eyes were opened. And Jesus charged them sayinge. See that no mā knowe of it. But they, whan they were departed, spred abroade his name in all that lande. * mat. viii.b.

As they wēt out, beholde * they brought to him a dōme mā possessed of a deuyll. And whan ꝑ deuyll was cast out, ꝑ dōme spake. * mar. viii.b. Luke. xi.b.

And the people meruepled, sayinge: it was neuer so sene in Israell. But ỹ pharises sayde. * he casteth out deuyls, thorow the ꝓynce of deuels.

* Mat. vii. b. mar. iii. b. Luke. xi. b.

* Mat. vi. b. * And Jesus wẽt about all cyties & townes, teachinge in their synagoges, and preachinge the glad tydinges of the kyngdome, and healinge euery sickenes and euery disease amonge the people. But when he sawe the people: * he was moued with cõpassion on them, because they were destitute, and scattered abroade, euen as shepe hauynge no shepherde. Then saieth he vnto his disciples, ỹ * haruest truly is plenteous, but ỹ labourers are fewe. Praye ye therfore the Lord of the haruest, that he will sende labourers into his haruest.

* Mat. ix. d.

* Luke. x. a.

¶ The. x. Chapter.

¶ Christ sendeth out hys. xii. Apostles to preach in Jewry, geueth them charge, teacheth them, and comforteth them agaynst persecucyon and trouble.

AND whã his * xij disciples were called vnto him, he gaue thẽ power agaynst vncleane spretes, to cast them out, and to heale all maner of syckenesse, and all maner of dysease.

* Mat. iv. b. Luke. vi. b.

The names of the. xij. Apostles are these The fyrst, Symon which is called Peter: ād Andrew his brother: James the sonne of zebedee, ād John his brother: Philip & Bartholomew: Thomas and Mathew, which had bene a ☞ Publican. James ỹ sonne of Alphe, and Lebbeus (whose syrname was Tabbeus) Simon of Canaan, and Judas Iscarioth, which also betraied hym.

* Jesus sent forth these twelue in nõbre, whom he commaunded, saying. Go not into the waye of the gentyls, and into the cytie of the Samaritans enter ye not. But goo rather to the lost shepe of the house of Israell. Go and preache, saying: The kyngdome of heauen is at hand. Heale the sycke, clense the lepers, rayse ỹ deed, cast out deuyls. * Freely ye haue receaued: geue freely. * Possesse not golde nor syluer, nor ☞ brasse in youre purses, nor yet scrip towardes your iorney: neither two cotes, neither shoes, nor yet a rodde. * For the workeman is worthy of his meate. But to whatsoeuer cytie or towne ye shall come, enquyre who is worthy in it, and there abyde tyll ye go thence. * And when ye come into an house, salute the same. And yf the house be worthy, let youre peace come vpon it. But yf it be not worthy, let youre peace returne to you agayne.

* Mat. vi. b. Mar. vi. b. Luke. ix. a. * 1. Tim. v. c. * Luke. ix. a. and. x. a.

And whosoeuer shall not receaue you, nor wyll heare youre preachynge: when ye departe oute of that house or that cytie * shake of ỹ duste of youre fete. Verely I saye vnto you: it shalbe easier for the land of Sodoma and Gomorra in the daye of iudgemẽt, then for that cytie.

* Mat. xiii. b. Acte. xiii. b.

* Beholde, I sende you forth, as shepe among wolues. Be ye therfore wyse as serpẽtes and innocẽt as doues. * But beware of men, for they shall delyuer you vp to the councels, and shall scourge you in their synagoges. And ye shall be brought to ỹ heed rulers, and kynges, for my sake, in wytnes to them and to the gentyls.

* Mar. xiii. b. Luke. xxi. b. John. xvi. b.

But * whẽ they delyuer you vp, take ye no thought, how or what ye shall speake: * for it shalbe geuen you, euẽ in ỹ same houre what ye shall speake. For it is not ye ỹ speke, but ỹ spryte of youre father which speaketh in you. * The brother shall delyuer vp ỹ brother to deeth, & ỹ father ỹ sonne. And the children shal aryse agaynst their fathers and mothers, and shall put thẽ to deeth: & ye shal be hated of all mẽ for my name sake. * But he that endureth to the ende, shalbe saued.

C * Mat. x. Luke. xii. * Luke. xii. * Mat. xxiv. a.

But * whẽ they persecute you in this cytie, flye ye into another. For verely I saye vnto you: ye shall not gothorowe all the cyties of Israell tyll the sonne of mã be come.

* Mat. x. Acte. iv. and xi. a.

* The disciple is not aboue the master: nor ỹ seruaunt aboue his Lord. It is ynough for ỹ disciple, ỹ he be as his master is, ād ỹ the seruaunt be as his Lorde is. If they haue called the Lord of ỹ house, Beelzebub: how moche more shal they call them of his houshold so? Feare them not therfore. * For there is nothing cloose, that shall not be opened: and nothynge hyd, that shall not be knowen.

* Luke. xii. b.

What I tel you in darknes, that speake ye in lyght. And what ye heare in the eare, that preache ye on the house toppes.

* And feare ye not thẽ which kyll the body but are not able to kyll the soule. But rather feare hi, which is able to destroye both soule and body into hell. Are not two lytle sparowes sold for a farthyng? And one of thẽ shall not lyght on the grounde with out youre father. Yee, euen al the heares of your head are nõbred. Feare ye not therfore: ye are of more value then many sparowes.

* Luke. xii. b.

* Euery one therfore ỹ shall knowledge me before men, hi will I knowledge also before my father which is in heauẽ. But whosoeuer shall denye me before mẽ, hi will I also denye before my father, which is in heauẽ.

D

Thinke not * ỹ I am come to sende peace into the erth. I came not to send peace, but a sweard. For I am come to set a man at variaunce * agaynst his father, & the daughter agaynst her mother, & the daughter in lawe agaynst her mother in lawe. And a mannes foes shalbe they ỹ are of his awne houshold.

* Luke. xii. b. * Mich. vii. c.

* He ỹ loueth father, or mother more then me, is not worthy of me. And he that loueth sõne or daughter more then me, is not worthy of me. And he that taketh not hys crosse and

* Luke. xiv. b.

* Mat.xvi.d. Mar.viii.d. Luce.ix.d. and foloweth me, is not worthy of my * he that fyndeth his lyfe, shall lose it: ād he that losyth his lyfe for my sake, shall fynde it.

* Luke.x.c. Iohn.xiii.c. * He that receaueth you, receaueth me: & he that receaueth me, receaueth hem that sent me. He that * receaueth a prophet in the name of a prophet, shal receaue a prophetes rewarde. And he that receaueth a ryghteous man, in the name of a ryghteous man, shall receaue a righteous mans rewarde: * And whosoeuer shall geue vnto one of these lytle ones to drynke, a cuppe of colde water onely (in the name of a disciple) verely I saye vnto you, he shall not lose his rewarde.

* iii. Regum. xviii.b.c.

* Mat.x.f.

¶ The. xi. Chapter.

¶ Joh Baptist sendeth hys disciples vnto Christ.

AND it came to passe, that when Jesus had made ende of commaunding his twelue disciples he departed thence, to teache and to preache in theyr cyties,

✠ When John beynge in prison hearde the workes of Christ, he sent two of hys disciples, & sayde vnto hym: Art thou he that shall come: or do we loke for another. Jesus answered and sayd vnto them: Go, and shewe John agayne, what ye haue heard ād sene. * The blynd receaue their sight: the lame walke, the lepers are clensed: and the deef heare, the deed are raysed vp, & the poore * receaue the glad tidinges of the gospell. And happy is he, that is not offended by me.

* Esa.xxxv.d. * Esa.lxi.a. * Luke.vii.d. * And as they departed, Jesus begāne to saye vnto the people cōcerning John. What went ye out into the wylderness to se? A rede that is shaken with the wynde? Or what went ye out for to se? A man clothed in softe raymēt? Beholde: they that weare softe clothing: are in kinges houses. But what went ye out for to se? A prophete: Verely I saye vnto you: and more then a Prophete. For this is he, of whō it is wrytten. * Beholde, I sende my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy waye before the. ✠

* Exodo. iii.a Mar.i.a.

✠ Verely I saye vnto you: amonge the that are borne of wemen, arose not a greater then John the Baptist. Not withstandinge ☞ he that is lesse in the kyngdome of heauē is greter then he. From the dayes of John Baptist vntill this daye, the kyngedō of heuē suffreth violence, and the violent plucke it vnto them. * For all the prophetes, and the lawe it selfe prophesied ☞ vnto John. And yf ye will receaue it * this is Helias, which was for to come. He that hath eares to heare: let hym heare. ✠

* Luke.xvi.d ☞ * Luke.i.d. Mat.xvii.b. Joh.i.c.

* Luke.vii.e * But wher vnto shall I lykē thys generacion? It is like vnto chyldren, which syt in the market places, and call vnto their felowes, and saye: we haue pyped vnto you, ¶ and ye haue not daunsed: We haue mourned vnto you, & ye haue not sorowed. For John came neither eatynge nor drynkynge, & they saye, he hath the deuyll. The sonne of man came eatyng and drynckyng, and they saye, beholde a glutton, & an vnmeasurable dryncker of wyne: and a frende vnto publicans ād synners. And wisdome is iustifyed of her chyldren.

✠ * Then begā he to vpbrayd the cyties which most of hys miracles were done in, because they repēted not of their synnes. Wo vnto the Chorazin: Wo vnto the Bethsaida: for yf ȳ miracles which were shewed in you, had bene done in the cytie of Tyre or Sidon, they had repented of their synnes longe agō in sack cloth and asches. Neuertheless I saye vnto you: it shall be easier for Tyre & Sidō at the daye of iudgement, then for you. And thou Capernaū, which art lyft vp vnto heuen, shalt be brought downe to hell. For yf the miracles which haue bene done in ȳ, had bene shewed in Sodom: they had remayned vntill this daye. Neuertheless, I saye vnto you: that it shalbe easier for the land of Sodō in the daye of iudgement, then for the. ✠

* Luke.x.f. D

✠ At that tyme Jesus answered and sayde: I thanke the O father, Lord of heauen & erth, because thou hast hid these thinges from the wyse and prudēt, and hast shewed them vnto babes, verely father, euē so was it thy good pleasure. * All thinges are geuen ouer vnto me of my father. & And noman knoweth the sonne but the father: nether knoweth eny man the father, saue the sonne, and he to whom soeuer the sonne will open hym.

* Mat.xi.viii.d Luke.x.b. Joh.iii.d. & John. viii.d. and viii.c.

Come vnto me all ye that labour: and are laden, and I will ease you. * Take my yocke vpon you, and lerne of me, for I am meke & lowly in herte: and ye shall fynde rest vnto youre soules. For my yocke is easy, * and my burden is light. ✠

* Eccle.vi.b. * 1. John.v.a

¶ The. xij. Chapter.

¶ The disciples plucke the eares of corne, he healeth the dryed hande, helpeth the possessed that was blynde and dombe, and sheweth who is hys brother, sister and mother.

AT that tyme Jesus wēt on the Sabboth dayes * thorowe the corne, and hys disciples were an hongred, and beganne to * plucke the eares of corne, and to eate. But when the Pharises sawe it, they sayde vnto hym: Beholde, thy disciples do that which is not lawfull (for them.) to do vpon the Sabboth daye. But he sayde vnto them. Haue ye not read what Dauid dyd, whē he was an hongred, & they that were with him? * How he entred into the house of God, and did eate the shewe bredes which were not lawfull for hym to eate, nether for them which were with hym, but

* Mat.ii.d. * Deute. xxiii.d. * 1. Re.xxi.a.

but onely for the prestes? Or haue ye not read in the lawe, how that (on the Sabath dayes) the preastes in the temple breake the Sabboth, and are blamelesse? But I saye vnto you: that in this place is one greater then the temple. Wherfore, yf ye wyst what this
* Mar. ix. b. Olet. vi. b. meaneth * I require mercy, & not sacrifice:
ye wolde not haue condemned innocentes.
For the sonne of man also, is Lord euen
of the Sabath daye.

* Mar. iii. a. Luke. vi. b. And he departed thence * and went into their synagoge: and beholde, ther was a man which had his hande dried vp. And they as-
* Luk. xiii. a ked hym, sayinge * is it lawfull to heale vpō
the Sabboth dayes? that they myght accuse
* Deu. xxii. a him. And he sayde vnto them: which of you will it be, that shall haue. * a shepe, and yf it fall into a pytte on the Sabboth daye, wyl he not take it and lyft it out? Howe moch more then is a man better then a shepe? Wherfore, it is lefull to do a good dede on the Sabboth
dayes. Then sayeth he to ỹ mā: stretch forth thy hande. And he stretched it forth: And it was restored vnto health, lyke as the other.

* Mar. iii. a. John v. g. and. vii. f. ✠ * Then the Pharises wēt out, and held a counsell agaynst him, how they myght destroye him. But when Jesus knewe it, he departed thence, and moche people followed him, and he healed thē all, and charged them,
that they shuld not make him knowen: that
* Esa. xlii. a it myght be fulfilled which was spoken by Esay the Prophet, which sayeth: * Behol-
de, my childe, whom I haue chosen, my beloued, in whom my soule deliteth. I wyll put my spryte vpon him, and he shall shewe iud-gement to the gentyls. He shal not stryue ner crye, nether shall eny man heare hys voyce
in the stretes. a broised rede shall he not breake, and smokyng flax shall he not quēche, till he sende forth iudgement vnto victory, & in his name shall the gentyls trust. ✠

* Luke. xi. b. * Then was brought to him a blynd & dō-
me mā, ỹ was vexed with a deuyll, & he hea-
led him, in somoch, that the blynd and dōme, both spake and sawe. And all the people were amased, and sayde: Is not this that sonne
* Mat. xii. d. & xxi. iii. d. Luke. xi. f. of Dauid? * But when the Pharises hearde it, they sayd. This felow dryueth the deuyls
no nother wyse out, but by the helpe of Bel-
zebub the chefe of the deuyls.

But whan Jesus knewe their thoughtes
he sayde vntothem: Euery kingdome deuided
agaynst it selfe, shalbe brought to naught.
And euery citie or house deuyded agaynst it
C selfe shall not stande. And yf Satan cast out Satan, then is he deuided agaynst him selfe
how shall then his kingdome endure? Also,
yf I by ỹ helpe of Belzebub cast out deuyls,
by whose helpe do youre chyldren cast them out? Therfore, they shalbe your iudges. But yf I cast out ỹ deuyls by the spryte of God:
then is ỹ kingdome of God come vnto you:

Or els * how cā one enter into a strōg mā- * Luke. xi. c.
nes house, and spoyle his Jewels, excepte he fyrst bynde the stronge man, and then spoyle his house? ✠ He that is not with me, is a-gaynst me. And he ỹ gathereth not with me, scattereth abrode. Wherfore, I saye vnto
you, all maner of synne and blasphemy shal-be forgeuen vnto men * but the blasphemy * Mar. iii. b. Luke. xii. b.
agaynst the spryte, shall not be forgeuen vn-
to men. * And whosoeuer speaketh a worde * i. Reg. iii.
agaynst the sonne of man, it shalbe forgeuen
hym. But whosoeuer speaketh agaynst the holy gost, it shall not be forgeuen him, nether in this worlde, nether in the worlde to come: * Ether make the tree good, and his * Mat. vii. c.
frute good, or els make the tree euyll, and hys frute euyll. * For the tree is knowen * Luke. vi. f.
by his frute. O generacion of vypers, how can ye speake good thinges, when ye youre selues are euyll? * For out of the aboun- * Prou. xii. b. Luke. vi. g.
dance of the hert, the mouth speaketh. A good man out of ỹ good treasure of the hert, bryngeth forth good thynges. And an euyll man, out of euyll treasure, bringeth forth euyll thynges. But I say vnto you, of euery ydell worde that men shall haue spoken,
they shall geue acountes in the daye of iud- D
gement. * For out of thy wordes thou shalt * ii. Reg. i. c. Luke. vi. d. Mat. vii. b.
be iustifyed: and out of thy wordes thou shalt
be condemned. ✠

✠ Then certayne of the Scribes and of the Pharises asked him saying. * Master, * Luke. xi. b.
we wyll se a sygne of the. But he answered and sayde to them. * The euyll and ad- * Mat. xvi. c. & Mar. viii. b. Luke. xi. b. John. vi. b.
ulouterous generacion * seketh a signe and ther shall no sygne be geuen to them, but the sigue of the Prophet Jonas. * For as Jo- * Jonas ii. a.
nas was thre dayes and thre nightes in the whales belly, so shall the sonne of mā be thre
dayes and thre nightes in the herte of ỹ erth.
The men of ninive shall ryse in the iudge-ment with this nacion, & condēne it, because
* they amended at the preachyng of Jonas. * Jonas iii. c.
Beholde, here is one greater then Jonas.
* The quene of the south shall rise in the iud- * Luke. xi. b. iii. Reg. x. c. ii. Par. ix. d.
gement with this generacion, and shall con-
demne it: for she came from the vtmost par-tes of the worlde to heare ỹ wysdome of Salomon. And behold, in this place is one greater then Salomon.

* When the vnclene spryte is gone out * Luke. xi. b.
of a man, he walketh throughout drye places, seking rest, and findeth none. Then he saieth: I will retourne into my house, from whence I came out. And when he is come,
he fyndeth it empty, and swepte, and garnished. Then goeth he, and taketh vnto him seuen other spretes worse then him selfe, and so entreth he in, and dwelleth there. And
* the ende of that man is worse then the be- * ii. Pet. ii. b. Heb. vi. a. gynning. Euen so shall it be also, vnto this froward generacion.

Whyle

Whyle he yet talked to the people: * beholde his mother and his brethren stode without, desyringe to speake with him. Then one sayde vnto him beholde, * thy mother and thy brethren stande without, desyringe to speake with the:

But he answered, & sayde vnto him that had tolde him. Who is my mother? or who are my brethren? And he stretched forth his hād towarde his disciples, & sayd. * beholde my mother and my brethrē. For whosoeuer doth ỹ will of my father which is in heauen, ỹ same is my brother, syster, and mother. ✠

¶ The. xiij. Chapter.

¶ The parable of the sede, of the tares, of the mustardesede, of the leuen, of the treasure hyd in the felde, of the perles, and of the nett.

THe same daye wēt Jesus out of the house, * and sat by the see syde, and moche people were gathered together vnto him, so gretly ỹ he went, and sat in a shippe, and all the people stode on the shore. And he spake many thynges to thē by similitudes, sayinge: Beholde, the sower went forth to sowe. And whan he sowed, some sedes fell by the wayes syde, and the fowles came, and deuoured them vp. Some fell vpon stony places, where they had not moche erth, and anone they spronge vp, because they had no depnesse of erth: and when the sonne was vp, they caught heat, & because they had no rote, they wyddred awaye. Agayne, some fell amonge thornes, and the thornes spronge vp ād choaked them. But some fell into good ground, & brought forth frute: some an hūdred folde, some syxtie folde, some thyrtie folde. Whosoeuer hath eares to heare, let him heare.

And the disciples came, & sayde vnto him: Why speakest thou to thē by parables? he answered and sayde vnto them: * it is geuē vnto you to knowe the secretes of the kyngdome of heauē, but to them it is not geuen. * For whosoeuer hath, to him shall be geuē: and he shall haue aboundaunce. But whosoeuer hath not: from him shalbe taken awaye euē that also which he hath. Therfore speake I to them by similitude: for they seinge, se not: and hearinge, they heare not: nother do they vnderstand. And in thē is fulfylled the prophecie of Esaias, which sayth: * with the eares ye shall heare, and shall not vnderstād and seinge ye shall se, and shall not perceaue. For the hert of this people is waxed grosse, ād their eares are dull of hearynge, and their eyes haue they closed, lest at any tyme they should se with their eyes, ād heare with their eares, & should vnderstand with their herte, & be conuerted, that I also myght heale them.

* But blessed are youre eyes, for they se: & youre eares, for they heare. Verely I saye vnto you, * that many prophetes & righteous men haue desyred to se those thinges which ye se, & haue not sene them: & to heare those thinges which ye heare, and haue not herde them. * Heare ye therfore ỹ similitude of the sower. Whā one heareth ỹ word of the kingdome, & vnderstandeth it not, then cōmeth ỹ euyll man, & taketh awaye that which was sowen in his hert: this is he, which was sowne by the waye syde. But he that receaued the sede which was cast into stony places, ỹ same is he that heareth the worde, and anone with ioye receaueth it, yet hath he no rote in hym selfe, but dureth for a season: for whā tribulacyon or persecucyon happeneth because of the worde, by and by he falleth. He also that receaued sede into ỹ thornes, is he ỹ heareth the worde: and the care of this worlde, and the disceytfulnes of ryches, choke vp the worde, and so is he made vnfrutefull. But he that receaued sede into ỹ good ground is he that heareth the worde, and vnderstandeth it: which also beareth frute, & bringeth forth, some an hundred folde, some lyxtie folde, some thyrtye folde.

Another similitude put he forth vnto thē, sayinge: ✠ * The kyngdome of heauen is lykened vnto a man, which sowed good seed in his felde. But whyll men slept, his enemie came, & sowed tares among the wheate, & went his waye. But when the blade was sprōg vp, and had brought forth frute, there appeared the tares also. So the seruauntes of the housholder came, and sayde vnto him. Syr, dyddest not thou sowe good seed i thy felde? frō whēce then hath it tares? He sayde vnto them, the enuious man hath done this. The seruauntes sayde vnto him: wylt thou then that we go, and wede them vp? But he sayde, nay, lest while ye gather vp the tares ye plucke vp also the wheate with them, let both growe together vntill the harueste, and in tyme of harueste, I wyll saye to the reapers gather ye fyrst the tares, and bynde them together in sheues to be brent: but gather the wheate into my barne. ✠

✠ Another parable put he forth vnto thē, sayinge. * The kyngdome of heauē is lyke to a grayne of mustard seed, which a man toke & sowed in his felde, which is the leest of all seedes. But when it is growne, it is the greatest among herbes, and is a tree: so that the byrdes of the ayer come, and make theyr nestes in the braunches therof.

Another similitude spake he vnto them: * The kyngdom of heauē is lyke vnto leuē, which a woman taketh and hydeth in thre peckes of meale, tyll all be leuened.

* All these thiges spake Jesus vnto ỹ people by similitudes, & with out a parable spake he nothynge vnto thē. that it myght be fulfylled, which was spokē by ỹ prophet, that sayth * I will opē my mouth in parables: I wyll

wyll speake forth thynges which haue bene
hepte secrete frō ꝑ begynning of ꝑ worlde. ✠
When the people were sent awaye, then ca-
* Mat.xiii.c. me Jesus into ꝑ house. * ✠ And his disciples came vnto him, saying: declare vnto vs
the parable of the tares of the felde. He answered and sayd vnto them. he ꝑ soweth the good seed, is ꝑ sonne of man. The feld is the worlde. And the chyldren of the kyngdome, they are the good seed: the tares are the chyl-
dren of the wycked: the enemie that soweth them, is the deuyll. The harueste is the ende of the worlde: the reapers be ꝑ Angels. Euē as the tares therfore are gathered & brent in the fyre: so shall it be in ꝑ ende of this worl-
* Apo. xiiii.d. de. * The sonne of man shall sende forth his M Angels, & they shall gather out of his kyngdome all thinges that offende, and thē which do iniquite: and shall cast them into a furnes
of fyre. There shalbe waylinge & gnasshyng
* Dan. vii.a. Sapien.iii.b. i. Corin.xv.f. of teth. * Then shall the righteous shine as the sōne in the kyngdō of their father. Who soeuer hath eares to heare, let him heare. ✠ ✠ Agayne, the kyngdom of heauē is lyke
vnto treasure hid in the felde, the which a man hath found and hydd: ād for ioye therof
goeth & selleth all ꝑ he hath, & byeth ꝑ felde.
Agayne, the kyngdome of heauen is lyke
vnto a marchaūt man, seking good ly pear-les, which (whē he found one precious pear-
le) went & solde all that he had, & bought it.
Agayne, the kyngdom of heauē is lyke vn
to a nett, ꝑ was cast into ꝑ see & geathered of all kynde (of fyshes) which whē it was full mē drewe to lād, & sat downe & geathered ꝑ good into vessels, but cast ꝑ bad awaye. So G shall it be at the ende of ꝑ worlde. The angeles shall come & seuer ꝑ bad frō amōge the
* Mat.xxiij.b and.xxv.f. good, & shall cast thē into a furnace of fyre:
* there shalbe wayling & gnasshing of teth.
Jesus (saieth) vnto thē: haue ye vnderstande all these thinges? They saye vnto him: ye Lorde. Then sayde he vnto them. Therfore euery Scribe which is taught vnto the kyngdome of heauen, is lyke vnto a mā that is an housholder, which bryngeth forth out of his treasure, thinges newe and olde. ✠
And it came to passe that whē Jesus had
* Mat.vi.a. finished these similitudes, * he departed thē
ce: And whan he came into his awne countre, he taught them in their synagoges, in so † Luke.iiii.c. moch, ꝑ * they were astōned and sayde: whē
* Mat iiii.a. John. vi.f. ce commeth this wysdome and powers vnto to him? * is not this the carpenters sonne?
Is not hys mother called Mary? and hys brethren, James and Joses and Simon and Judas? And are not all his systers with vs?
Whence hath he then all these thynges? And they were offended at hym. Jesus sayde vn-
* Mat.vi.a. Luke.iiii.b. John.vi. to them: * A prophete is not without honour, saue in his awne countre, and in hys awne house. And he did not not many miracles there, because of theyr vnbeleke.

¶ The.xiiij. Chapter.

¶ John set (ken and beaded. Chastiseth kyng thousande men with v. loues and two fyshes, and appereth by nyght vnto hys disciples vpon the see.

AT that tyme * Herode the Te- A trarcha heard of ꝑ fame of Jesu, * Mat.xi & sayde vnto his seruātes: this Luke.ix.a is John ꝑ Baptist. He is ryssen frō the deed, & therfore are mira cles wrought by hi. ¶ For Herode * had take * Mat.xi
John, & bound hi, & put him in prison because Luke.iii.b
of Herodias, his brother Philips wyfe. ¶ For John sayd vnto him: * it is not lawfull for * Leui.xx
ꝑ to haue her. And when he wolde haue put hym to deeth, he feared ꝑ people, * because * Mat.xx
they counted him as a prophet.
But whē Herodes * byrth daye was ke- * Gene.x
pte, the daughter of Herodias daunsed before thē, & pleased Herode. * Wherfore he pro * Mat.x
mysed with an othe, that he wolde geue her whatsoeuer she wolde aske. And she beynge instructe of her mother before, sayde: geue
me here John Baptistes heed in a platter.
And the kynge was sory. Neuertheles, for the othes sake, & them which sate also at the table, he commaūded it to be geuē her: & sent tourmētours, & behedded John in the prison
and his heed was brought in a platter & geuē to ꝑ damsell, and she brought it to her mother. And his disciples came & toke vp hys body, and buried it: went, and tolde Jesus. B Whē Jesus hearde of it, he * departed thē- * Mat.x
ce in a shyppe vnto a desert place, out of the Luke.ix.b
waye. And when ꝑ people had harde therof, John. vi.a
they folowed him on fote and left the cyties.
And Jesus went forth, & sawe moch people,
and was moued with mercy toward them,
and he healed of them those that were sycke.
And when ꝑ euen drewe on, his disciples came to him, saying: this is a deserte place, & ꝑ houre is now past, let ꝑ people departe, that they maye go into the townes, and bye thē vytaylles. But Jesus sayde vnto thē. They C haue no nede to go awaye. Geue ye them to eate. They saye vnto him: we haue here but
v. loues and two fyshes. He sayde: bryng thē hyther to me. And he cōmaunded the peo ple to syt downe on the grasse, & he toke the
v. loues & the.ij. fyshes, and lyft vp hys eyes toward heauen & ✠ blessed. And whan he D had broke thē, he gaue the loaues to hys disciples, & his disciples gaue thē to the people.
And they dyd all eate, ād were suffysed. And they gathered vp (of the fragmentes that remayned.) xij. basketes full. And they that dyd eate, were aboute. v. M. mē, besyde we-men and chyldren.
* And streyght waye Jesus made his di- * Mat.xi
sciples to get vp into a shyppe, and to goo be- John.vi.b
fore him vnto ꝑ other syde whill he sent the people awaye. And when the people were sent awaye, he * wēt vp into a mountayne * Luke.vi
to praye

to prayе alone. And whē nyght was come, he was there him selfe alone. But ꝑ shippe was now in ꝑ myddes of ꝑ see, & was tooſt wyth waues, for it was a contrary wynde. And in the fourth watche of ꝑ nyght, Jeſus wēt vnto thē walkynge on ꝑ see. And whē ꝑ diſciples ſawe hym walkynge on the ſee, they were troubled, ſayinge: it is come ſpyrite, & they cryed out for feare. But ſtreyght waye, Jeſus ſpake vnto them, ſayinge: be of good cheare, it is I, be not afrayed.

Peter anſwered hym, and ſayde: Lorde, yf it be thou, byd me come vnto ꝑ on ꝑ water. And he ſayde, come. And when Peter was come doune out of the shippe, he walked on the water, to go to Jeſus. But whē he ſawe a myghty wynde, he was afrayed. And when he beganne to ſynche, he cryed ſayinge: lorde ſaue me. And immediatly Jeſus ſtretched forth his hād, & caught him, & ſayd vnto hi: O thou of lytell fayth, wherfore dyddeſt thou dout? * And whan they were come into ꝑ shyppe, the wynde ceaſed. Mar.vi.g

D Then they that were in ꝑ shyppe, came and worſhypped hym, ſayinge: of a truthe thou art the ſonne of God. And when they were gone ouer they came into the lande of Geneſareth. And when the men of the place had knowledge of him, they ſēt out meſſaungers into all that countre rounde about the coaſt & brought vnto him all that were ſycke, & beſought hym, ꝑ they myght touche the hemme of his veſture only. And as many as touched it were made ſafe.

¶ The .xv. Chapter.

¶ Chriſte reculeth his diſciples, & rebuketh the ſcrybes & Phariſes for trāſgreſſyng goddes commaundement thorow their awne tradicions. The thynge that goeth into the mouth defyleth not the man. He deſtroyeth the womā of canaanes daughter, healeth the multitude, & with .vii. loaues & a few lytle fyſshes feedeth .iiii. M. men, beſyde wemen & chyldren.

A Mar.vii.a

When * came to Jeſus Scribes and Phariſes (whyche were come from Jeruſalem) ſaying: why do thy diſciples tranſgreſſe the tradicion of the elders? for they waſhe not theyr handes whē they eate bread. But he anſwered & ſayde vnto them: why do ye alſo tranſgreſſe the commaundement of God, becauſe of youre awne tradicion: For God commaundeth ſayinge: * honoure father and mother, and he that curſſeth father or mother: let hym dye the deeth. But ye ſaye: euery one ſhall ſaye to his father and mother: &c. * what gift ſo euer thulde haue come of me, the ſame is turned vnto thy profyt: & ſo ſhall he not honoure his father or his mother. And thus haue ye made the commaundement of God of none effecte, becauſe of youre awne tradicyon. Ypocrites, full well dyd Eſaye prophecie of you, ſayig: * This people draweth nye vnto me with theyr mouth, and honoureth me with lyppes, howbeit, their hertes are farre from me: but in vayne do they ſerue me, teachynge the doctrines and precepte of men.

Exod.xx.b Mar.vii.b Exod.xxi.b Deut.v.b Exo.xxiii.g Deut.xxiii.g Mar.vii.b Eſa.xxix.b

And he called the people to him, and ſayd vnto them: heare and vnderſtande. That whych goeth into the mouth, defyleth not the man: but that which cōmeth out of the mouth, defyleth the man.

Then came his diſciples, and ſayde vnto him: knoweſt ꝑ not, that ꝑ Phariſes were offended at this ſaying? But he anſwered and ſayd. Euery plāte which my heauenly father hath not planted, ſhalbe plucked vp by the rotes. Let thē alone, they be ꝑ blynde leaders of ꝑ blynde. If the blynde leade the blynde, both ſhall fall into the dyche.

Then anſwered Peter & ſayd vnto him: declare vnto vs this parable. Jeſus ſayde: are ye alſo yet without vnderſtādinge? do not ye yet vnderſtāde, ꝑ whatſoeuer entreth in at the mouth, goeth into ꝑ bely, & is caſt out into the draught? But thoſe thynges whych proceede out of ꝑ mouth, come forth frō ꝑ hert, & they defyle ꝑ man. For out of ꝑ herte proceade euill thoughtes, murders, breakynge of wedlocke, whordōs, thektes, falſewitneſſe, blaſphemies. Theſe are ꝑ thīges, which defyle a mā. But to take meate wt vnwaſshen hādes, defileth not a mā. ✠ C

✠ And Jeſus went thēce, & departed into the coaſtes of Tyre and Sydon. & beholde, a woman of Canaan (which cam out of the ſame coaſtes) cryed vnto him, ſayinge: haue mercy on me o Lorde, ꝑ ſonne of Dauid: My daughter is pyteouſly vexed wyth a deuyll. But he anſwered her nothing at all, & his diſciples came, and beſought him, ſayinge: ſēde her awaye, for ſhe crieth after vs: But he anſwered, & ſayde: I am not ſēt * but vnto ꝑ loſt ſheepe of ꝑ houſſe of Iſrael Then cam ſhe, & worſhipped him, ſayinge: lorde, helpe me. He anſwered and ſaid: it is not mete, to take ꝑ chyldrens bread, and to caſt it to dogges. She anſwered & ſayde: truthe Lorde, for the dogges eate of ꝑ crōmes, which fall from their maſters table. Then Jeſus anſwered and ſayde vnto her. O woman, greate is thy faith, be it vnto the, euen as ꝑ wilt. And her daughter was made whole euen at that ſame tyme. ✠ * Luke.xix.b And Jeſus went awaye from thence, and cam nye vnto the ſee of Galile, & went vp D into a mountayne, & ſat doune there. And moche people came vnto him, bringing wt them thoſe ꝑ were lame, blind, deafe, maymed, and other many: & caſt them downe at Jeſus fete * And he healed thē: in ſo moch, * Eſa.xxxv.b ꝑ the people wondered, whan they ſawe ꝑ domme ſpeake, ꝑ maymed to be whole, the lame to walke, and the blynde to ſe. And they glorified the God of Iſrael.

* Then

*Mar.viii.a * Then Jesus called his disciples vnto him, & sayde: I haue compassyō on the people, because they cōtinue with me nowe .iii. dayes, & haue nothing to eate: & I will not let thē departe fastynge, lest they myscary by ꝑ waye. And his disciples saye vnto him whence shulde we get so moche breed in the wyldernes, as to suffyse so greate a multi-
*Mat.xvi.b tude? And Jesus sayeth vnto thē: howe many loaues haue ye? And they saye * seuē, & a fewe lytle fyshes. And he cōmaunded the people to syt doune on the grounde: and to-ke ꝑ seuen loaues, & the fyshes: & after ꝑ he had geuē thākes, he brake them, and gaue to his disciples, & the disciples gaue thē to the people. And they dyd all eate, and were suffysed. And they toke vp (of the broken meate that was lefte) seuē baskettes full. And yet they ꝑ dyd eate were .iiii. M). men. besyde wemē & chyldrē. And he sent awaye the people, and toke shyppe, & came ito the parties of Magdala.

The.xvi.Chapter.

The Pharises requyre a token. Jesus warneth hys disciples of the Pharises doctrine. The confessyon of Peter. The keyes of heauen. The faythfull must beare the crosse after Christ.

*Mar.viii.b Mat.xii.b Luk.xi.b. THe *Pharises also wt the Saduces, came and tēpted him & desyred him ꝑ he wolde shewe them a sygne from heuen. He answered and sayde vnto them:
*Luke.xii.g whan it begynneth to drawe toward *euē, ye saye, it wylbe fayre wether, for the skye is reed. And in ꝑ morynge: It wylbe foule wether to daye, for ꝑ skye is glowmyng reed. O ye ypocrites, ye can discerne ꝑ out
*Mar.viii.c ward appearaunce of the skye: but can ye not discerne the sygnes of ꝑ tymes? * The ‡ mar.viii.b Luk.xi.b Joh.vi.b frowarde & aduoutrous nacyon requyreth ‡ a sygne, and there shall no sygne be geuen
*Jonas.ii.a vnto it, but the sygne of the *Prophet Jonas. And he lefte them, and departed.

23 And when his disciples were come to the other syde of the water, they had forgotte to take breed with thē. Then Jesus sayde
*Luke.xii.a vnto them. * Take hede and beware of the leuen of the Pharises & of the Saduces. And they thought in thē selues sayīg: we haue taken no breed wt vs. Which whā Jesus vnderstode, he sayd vnto them: O ye of *Mat.xvi.c lytell faith, why take ye thought within ‡ Mar.viii.b. your selues, because ye haue brought no breed? Do ye not yet perceaue, nether remember thole .v. loaues, whē there were, * v. M) mē, & how many baskettes toke ye vp? ‡ Ne ther the .vii. loues whē there were .iiii. M). mē: & how many baskettes toke ye vp: how happeneth it ꝑ ye do not vnderstande, that I spake it not vnto you cōcernyng breed, ꝑ ye shulde beware of the leuē of ꝑ Pharises, & of the Saduces? Then vnderstode they, how that he bad not thē beware of ꝑ leuē of breed: but of the doctrine of the Pharises, and of the Saduces.

C When Jesus cam into the coastes of the cite which is called Cesarea Philippi, he C asked his disciples sayinge * whom do men saye ꝑ I the sonne of mā am? They sayde: *Mat.xvi.c Luke.ix.c some saye ꝑ thou art John Baptist, some Helyas, some Jeremias, or one of ꝑ nōbre of the prophetes. He sayeth vnto them: but whom saye ye ꝑ I am? Simon Peter answered & sayde: * Thou art Christ the sone * Luke.ix.c John.vi.g
of the lyuynge God. And Jesus answered, & sayde vnto hym: happy art ꝑ Simō the sonne of Jonas, for flesshe & bloud hath not opened that vnto ꝑ * but my father which *John.xvi is in heuē. And I saye also vnto the ꝑ thou art Peter: & vpon this * rocke I wil bylde my cōgregacion. And ꝑ gates ‡ of hell shal *1.Cor.x.
not preuayle agaynst it. And I wil geue ‡ Or, rule vnto ꝑ, the keyes of ꝑ kyngdō of heuē: And * whatsoeuer thou byndest in erth, shall be *Mat.xvi.c.
bounde in heuē: & whatsoeuer thou lowsest in erth, shalbe lowsed in heuen. H

Then charged he hys disciples, that they shulde tell no man, ꝑ he was Jesus Christ * From ꝑ tyme forth begāne Jesus to she- * Mat.xvi.d. Luke.ix.c.
we vnto his disciples, how that he must go vnto Jerusalem, & suffer many thinges of ꝑ elders, & hye Prestes, & Scribes, & must be kylled, and be raysed agayne ꝑ thyrde daye. And when Peter had take him aside, he begā to rebuke him, sayīg: master, fauer thy selfe, this shal not happē vnto the: but he turned him aboute, and sayde vnto Peter: go after me Satan, thou hyndrest me: for thou sauourest not the thīges that be of God, but those that be of men.

Then sayde Jesus vnto his disciples: If W eny man wil folowe me, let hi forsake him selfe & take vp his crosse, & folowe me * For *Mat.x.d. Luke.ix.c. Mar.viii.b John.xii.b
whoso wil saue his lyfe, shall loose it. Agayne, whoso doth lose his life for my sake, shall fynde it. For what doth it profet a mā, ꝑ he wynne all ꝑ whole worlde: & lose hys awne soule? Or what shal a man geue to redeme his soule agayne with all? For ꝑ sone of man shall come in ꝑ glory of his father, wt his āgels: & * then shall he re- *Mat.xvi.d 2 Mar.viii. Luke.ix.c.
warde euery man accordinge to his dedes. Verely I saye vnto you, ‡ ther be stōdinge here, which shall not taste of deeth, tyll they se the sonne of mā come in hys kyngdome.

The.xvii.Chapter. H

The transfiguration of Christ. He healeth the lunatike. & payeth tribute.

AND * after .vi. dayes, Jesus ta- * Mar.ix.b Luke.ix.c
keth Peter, James and John hys brother, and bringeth them A vp into an hye mountaine out of the waye, and was transfygured before them * and hys face dyd shyne as the sonne, and hys clothes were as whyte as the * Apo.i.b
lyght

And beholde, there apered vnto the Moses & Elias talkyng wyth hym. The answered Peter, and sayde vnto Jesus, Lorde, here is good beinge for vs. If thou wylt, let vs make here. iij. tabernacles: one for the, and one for Moses, and one for Helias. Whyle he yet spake, behold, a bryghe cloude shadowed the. And beholde, there came a voyce out of the cloude whych sayd * this is my beloued sonne * in who I delyte * heare hym. And when the disciples hearde these thynges, they fell on their faces & were sore afrayed. And Jesus came & touched them, & sayd: aryse, & be not afrayd. And when they had lyft vp their eyes they sawe no man saue Jesus onely.

* And whan they came downe from the mountayne, Jesus charged them saying: shewe the vysion to no man, vntyll the sonne of man be ryssen agayne from the deed. ✠ And his disciples asked him, sayig. Why then saye the Scribes, that Helias muste fyrst come? Jesus answerd, and sayde vnto them * Helias truly shall fyrst come, and restore all thynges. But I saye vnto you, that * Helias is come already, & they knewe hi not: but haue done vnto hym whatsoeuer they lusted. In lykewyse shal also the sonne of man suffre of them. Then the disciples vnderstode, that he spake vnto them of John Baptist. And whē they were come to the people, there came to him a certayne man kneelyng downe to him, & sayeng: Master, haue mercy on my sonne, for he is lunatike & sore vexed, for oft tymes he falleth into the fyre, & oft into the water, * And I brought him to thy disciples, & they coulde not heale hi. Jesus answered & sayd: O faythles & croked nacion: how longe shall I be with you? how lōge shall I suffre you? bring hym hyther. And Jesus rebuked the deuyll, & he departed out of hi. And the childe was healed euen the same tyme. ✠

* Then came the disciples to Jesus secretly & sayde: Why could not we cast hym out? Jesus sayd vnto them: Because of youre vnbelefe. For verely I saye vnto you: * yf ye haue fayth as a grayne of mustard seed, ye shall saye vnto this mountayne: remoue hence to yonder place, and it shall remoue: nether shal eny thinge be vnpossible vnto you. Howbeit this kynde goeth not out, but by prayer and fastinge. While they were occupyed in Galile Jesus sayde vnto them: * it wyll come to passe that the sonne of man shalbe betrayed into the handes of men, and they shall kyll him and the thyrd daye shall he ryse agayne. And they were exceadyng sorye.

✠ And when they were come to the cytie of Capernaū, they that vse to receaue tribute money, cam to Peter, & sayd: Doth your master paye trybute? he sayeth: yee. And when he was come into the house, Jesus preuented hym saying. What thinkest the Simon? of who do the kynges of the erth take trybute or toll, of their children, or of straūgers? Peter sayeth vnto hym: of straungers. Jesus sayeth vnto him: Then are the children free: Notwithstōding, lest we shuld offende the, go thou to the see, & cast an angle, & take the fyrst fysh that fyrst cōmeth vp: & whē thou hast opened his mouth, thou shalt fynde a pece of twentie pence: that take, & geue it vnto them for me & the. ✠

¶ The. xviij. Chapter.

The teacheth hys disciples to be hūble & harmeles to auoyde occasyons of euell & one to forgyue anothers offence.

AT the same tyme came the disciples vnto Jesus, sayinge: * who is the greatest in the kyngdō of heauen? Jesus called a childe vnto hym, & set him in the myddes of them. & sayd: Verely I saye vnto you: except ye turne, & become * as children, ye shall not enter into the kyngdom of heauen. Whosoeuer therfore hūbleth him selfe, as this childe, the same is the greatest in the kyngdō of heauen. And whoso receaueth such a childe in my name, receaueth me. * But whoso doth offende one of these lytleons whych beleue in me: it were better for hym, that a mylstone were hāged about hys necke, & that he were drowned in the depth of the see. Wo vnto the worlde because of offences. * Necessary it is that offences come: But wo vnto the mā, by whom the offence commeth.

Wherfore * yf thy hande or thy foote hinder the, cut him of & cast it from the. It is better for the to enter into lyfe halt or maymed, rather then thou shuldest (hauinge two hādes or two fete) be cast into euerlastyng fyre. And yf thyne eye offende the, plucke it oute, and caste it from the. It is better for the to enter into lyfe wt one eye, rather then (hauyng two eyes) to be cast into hell fyre. Take hede: that ye despyse not one of these lytelones. For I saye vnto you, that in heauē their angels do alwayes beholde the face of my father, whych is in heauē. ✠ For the sonne of mā is come to saue that whych was lost. How thynke ye * If a man haue an hūdred shepe, & one of the be gone astray, doth he not leaue nynty & nyne in the moūtais, & goeth & seketh that was gone astraye? And if it happē that he fynd it, verely I saye vnto you: he reioyseth more of that shepe then of the nynti & nyne which wēt not astray. Euē so it is not the wyll of youre father in heauen, that one of these lytelons shulde perysshe.

✠ Moreouer * yf thy brother treaspace agaynst the, go & tell hym hys faute betwene him & the alone. If he heare the, that hast wōne thy brother: But yf he heare not, then take yet with the one or two, that * in the mouth of two or iij. witnesses, euery matter may be stablysshed. If he heare not the, tell it vnto the congregacyon. If he heare not the congregacion let him be vnto the as an hethen mā & as a publica. Verely I saye vnto you: * whatsoeuer ye bynde on erth, shalbe bounde in heauen. And whatsoeuer ye lose on erth, shalbe

lowsed in heauē. Agayne I saye vnto you ꝑ yf two of you agree in erthe vpon eny maner a thynge, whatsoeuer they desyre: they shall haue it of my father which is in heauē. For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in ꝑ myddes of thē

Then came Peter to hym, & sayde: Lorde howe oft shall I forgeue my brother, yf he synne agaynst me: Tyll seuen tymes? Jesus sayeth vnto hym: I saye not vnto the vntill seuē tymes: but seuēty tymes seuē tymes. ¶

D ✠ Therfore is the kyngdō of heauen lyke ned vnto a certaine mā ꝑ was a king, which wolde take acountes of hys seruaūtes. And whē he had begōne to recke, one was brought vnto him, which ought him ten thousand talentes, but forasmoch as he was not able to paye, his Lord cōmaunded him to be solde, & hys wyfe & chyldren, & all ꝑ he had, and payment to be made. The seruaunt fell doune, & & besought him, saying: Syr, haue pacience w̄ me, and I wyll paye the all. Then had the Lorde pytie on that seruaunt, & lowsed hym and forgaue hym the det.

So the same seruaunt, went out, & foūde out of hys felowes which ought him an hūdred pence: & he layed handes on hym, & toke hi by the throte, saying: paye ꝑ thou owest. And his felowe fell downe, & besought hym saying: haue pacyence w̄ me, & I wyll paye ꝑ all. And he wolde not, but went, & cast hym into prison, tyll he shulde paye the det. So, whē his felowes sawe what was done, they were very sory, and came, & tolde vnto their Lord all that had happened. Then his Lord called hym & sayd vnto hym: O thou vngracyous seruaunt, I forgaue the all that det, whan thou desyredst me: shuldest not thou also haue had compassion on thy felow, euen as I had pytie on the? And hys Lorde was wroth, & delyuered him to the iaylers, tyll he shuld paye all ꝑ was due vnto hym. So *lyke wyse shall my heauēly father do also vnto you yf ye frō youre hertes, forgeue not euery one his brother) theyr trespaces. ¶

*Iacob. fi.c m.ri.vi.b. mar.xi.d.

¶ The.xix. Chapter.

¶ Christ geueth answere concernynge mariage, and teacheth not to be carefull, nor to loue worldly riches.

*mar.x.a.

AND it came to passe *that when Jesus had fynished these sayinges, he gat hym from Galile, & came into the coastes of Jewry beyonde Jordā, & moche people folowed hym, & he healed them there.

The Pharises also came vnto him tēptinge him, & saying vnto him: Is it lawfull for a man to make a deuorcemēt w̄ his wyfe for any maner of cause? He answered & sayd vnto thē: Haue ye not red, how ꝑ he which made mā at ꝑ begynnynge *made thē mā & woman: & sayd, for thys cause shall a man leaue father & mother, & shall cleue vnto hys wyfe, & they twayne shalbe one flesshe. Wherfore now, they are not twayne, but one flesshe. Let not man therfore put a sunder, ꝑ whych God hath coupled together. They saye vnto hym: why dyd Moses then cōmaunde to geue a testimoniall of dyuorsemēt, & to put her awaye? He sayde vnto thē: Moses (because of the hardnes of youre hertes *suffered you to put awaye youre wyfes: But frō ꝑ begynnynge it was not so. *I saye vnto you: whosoeuer putteth awaye his wyfe (except it be for fornication) & marieth another, breaketh wedlocke. And whoso marieth her whych is deuorsed, doeth commyt aduoutry.

†Deu.xxiiii. Jere.iii.a m.i.a.iii. *mat.v.d. mar.x.b. Luk.xvi.b.

Hys disciples saye vnto him: yf ꝑ mater be so bet wene man & wyfe, then is it not good to mary. He sayd vnto them: all men cannot cōprehend this saying *saue they to whom it is geuē: for ☞ ther are some chaste whych are so borne out of their mothers wōbe. And ther are some chaste, which be made chaste of mē. And ther be chaste, which haue made thē selues chaste for ꝑ kyngdome of heuēs sake. He that can cōprehēde it, let him cōprehēd it.

25

*Dan.ii.

D

*Then were there brought vnto hym yonge chyldrē, that he shuld put hys hādes on thē, & praye. And ꝑ disciples rebuked them. But Jesus sayde vnto them: suffre the chyldren & forbid them not to come vnto me: for of soch is the kyngdō of heauē. And whē he had put hys handes on them, he departed thence.

*mar.x.b. Luk.xviii.

And beholde, one came, & sayd vnto him: *good maister, what good thynge shall I do that I maye haue eternall lyfe? He sayd vnto hi: ☞ why callest thou me good? (*there is none good but one, & ꝑ is God. But yf ꝑ wilt entre into lyfe, kepe the cōmaūdemētes. He sayeth vnto hym. Whych? Jesus sayde *Thou shalt not cōmit manslaughter. Thou shalt not cōmyt aduoutrye: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witnes: honoure father and mother: * and ꝑ shalt loue thyne neybour as thy selfe. The yonge man sayeth vnto hi: All these thīges haue I kepte frō my youth vp: what lacke I yet? Jesus sayd vnto hym, yf thou wilt be perfecte *go & sell (all) that ꝑ hast, & geue to ꝑ poore, & † shall haue treasure in heauē, & come & folowe me. But when the younge mā herde ꝑ saying, he wēt awaye sorye. For he had great possessyons.

D

*Mat.xxii. Gala.v.

*mar.x.c. Luk.xviii.b. †mat.vi.i.

Then Jesus sayd vnto his disciples: Verely I say vnto you: *it shalbe harde for the ryche to enter into the kingdō of heauē. And agayne I saye vnto you: it is easyer for a camell to go through the eye of a nedle, thē for the ryche to enter into the kyngdom of God. Whē the disciples hearde this, they were exceedingly amased, saying: who than cā be saued? But Jesus behelde them, and sayd vnto them: with men this is vnpossyble * but w̄ God all thynges are possyble.

*iacha.xiii.

✠ Then answered Peter, & sayd vnto him:

Beholde

Beholde * we haue forsake all, and followed the, what shall we haue therfore? Jesus sayd vnto the: verely I saye vnto you: that when the sonne of man shall syt in the seate of hys maiestye, ye which haue followed me i the regeneracyon * shall syt also vpō .xij. seates, & iudge the .xij. trybes of Israel. And euery one that forsaketh house, or brethren, or systers, or father, or mother, or wyfe, or chyldren, or landes, for my names sake, * shall receaue an hundred folde, & shall inherete euerlastynge lyfe. ✠ * But many that are fyrst, shalbe last and the last shalbe fyrst.

* Mat. iiij. b. Mar. x. b. Luk. xviij. c.
* Luk. xxij. c.
* Dan. xxvij. b.
* Iob. xlij. c.
* Mat. xx. b. Luk. xiij. f.

¶ The .xx. Chapter.

¶ Christ teacheth by a symilytude that God is debter vnto no man. He reasoneth hys discyples vnto beleuyng, & geueth two blynde men their syght.

LIke vnto the kyngdom of heauen is lyke vnto a man, which is an housholder, which went out early in the mornyng to hyre labourers into hys vineyard. And whan the agrement was made with the labourers for a peny a daye, he sent them into hys vineyarde. And he went out about the thirde houre, & sawe other stādyng ydell in the market place, & sayde vnto thē: go ye also into the vineyarde: & whatsoeuer is ryght, I will geue you. And they went their waye. Agayne, he went out about the syxte & nynthe houre, & dyd lyke wyse. And aboute the eleueth houre he wēt out, & founde other standynge ydell, & sayd vnto thē: Why stande ye here all the daye ydell? They saye vnto hym because no man hath hyred vs. He sayeth vnto thē: go ye also into the vineyarde: & whatsoeuer is ryght, that shall ye receaue.

So, when euen was come, the Lord of the vineyarde sayeth vnto his steward: call the labourers, & geue them their hyer, begynnyng at the laste vntill the fyrst. And whā they dyd come, which cam about the eleueth houre, they receaued euery mā a peny. But whan the fyrst came also, they supposed that they shuld haue receaued more, & they lyke wyse receaued euery mā a peny. And when they had receaued it, they murmured agaynst the good mā of the house, sayinge: These last haue wrought but one houre, & thou hast made them equall vnto vs, which haue borne the burthen & heat of the day.

But he answered vnto one of them & sayde: frende, I do the no wronge: dydest thou not agree with me for a penny? Take that thine is & go thy waye: I will geue vnto thys last, euen as vnto the. Is it not lawfull for me to do as me lysteth with myne awne goodes? Is thyne eye euyll, because I am good? * So the last shalbe fyrst, & the fyrste shalbe last. For many be called, but fewe be chosen. ✠

* Mat. xix. b. Mat. x. c. Luk. xiij. f.

¶ ✠ And Jesus going vp to Jerusalem, toke the .xij. disciples aside in the waye, & sayd vnto them: * Beholde, we go vp to Jerusalem, & the sonne of mā shalbe betrayed vnto the chefe Prestes, & vnto the Scribes, & they shall condemne hym to deeth, & shall delyuer hym to the gentyls, to be mocked and to be scourged, and to be crucifyed: and the thyrde daye he shall ryse agayne.

* Mat. xvij. b. Mar. x. b. Luk. xviij. b.

✠ * Thē came to him the mother of zebedes chyldren, with her sonnes, worshyppyng him & desyryng a certaine thynge of hi. And he sayeth vnto her, what wilt thou? She sayde vnto him: Graunte, that these my two sonnes may syt, the one on thy ryght hāde, and the other on the lefte, in thy kyngdome.

But Jesus answered & sayde: Ye wot not what ye aske. Are ye able to drynke of the cuppe that I shall drynke of: & to be baptised with the baptyme, that I am baptised with? They saye vnto him: we are. He sayde vnto them: ye shall drynke in dede of my cup: & be baptised with the baptyme that I am baptised with. But to syt on my ryght hande & on my left, is not myne to geue: but it shall chaunce vnto thē, for it is * prepared for of my father. ✠

* Mat. xxvj. d. * Mar. x. f.

* And when the ten heard this, they disdayned at the two brethrē: But Jesus called thē vnto him, & sayde: * ye knowe that the princes of the nacions haue dominiō ouer them. And they that are great men, exercyse auctorite vpō them. It shall not be so amōge you. But whosoeuer will be great amōge you, let him be youre minister: and whoso will be chefe amōge you, let him be youre seruaunt: euen as * the sonne of mā cam, not to be ministred vnto, but to minister, & to geue his life a redempcion for many. ✠

* Luk. xxij. c.

* Mat. x. g.

* And as they departed frō Hiericho, much people followed hi. And beholde, two blynd men sittinge by the way syde, when they herde that Jesus passed by, they cried sayinge: O lord thou sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs. And the people rebuked them, because they shulde holde their peace: But they cried the more sayinge: haue mercy on vs. O Lord thou sonne of Dauid. And Jesus stode still, and called them, & sayde: what will ye that I shall do vnto you: They saye vnto him: Lorde, that oure eyes maye be opened: So Jesus had compassiō on them, and touched their eyes, & immediatly their eyes receaued syght. And they followed him.

* Mar. x. g. Luk. xviij. c.

¶ The .xxj. Chapter.

¶ He rydeth into Jerusalem, hyreth for marchauntes out of the tēple, curseth the fygge tre, & rebuketh the Iewes wyth the humylytude of the two sonnes and of the husbandmen, that slewe soch as were sent vnto them.

AND whan they * drewe nye vnto Jerusalem, and were come to Bethphage, vnto mounte Oliuete: then sent Jesus two disciples, saying vnto thē: Go into the towne that lyeth ouer agaynst you, and anone ye shall fynde an asse bound, and a colte with her: loose them, & bringe them vnto

* Mar. xi. d. Lu. xix. e.

me. And yf eny̆ mā saye ought vnto you, saye: the Lorde hath neade of them: & streyght waye he will let thē go. All this was done, yt it might be fulfylled which was spokē by the prophete, saying. * Tell ye the daughter of Sion: behold, thy kynge cōmeth vnto ỹ, meke, syttinge vpō an asse & a colte, the fole of the asse vsed to the yoke. The disciples wēt & dyd as Jesꝰ cōmaūded thē, & brought the asse, & the colte, & put on thē their clothes, & sett hi therō. And many of the people spred their garmentes in ỹ waye. Other cut doune braūches frō ỹ trees, & strawed thē i ỹ waye.

23 ¶ Moreouer, the people ỹ wēt before, & they ỹ came after, cried saying: hosanna to the sonne of Dauid * Blessed is he ỹ commeth i the name of ỹ Lorde ☞ hosanna in ỹ hyest. ✠

✠ And whē he was come to Jerusalē, all ỹ citie was moued, saying: who is this? And the people sayd: this is Jesus * the Prophet of Nazareth (a cyte) of Galile * And Jesus went into the tēple of God, & cast out all thē ỹ solde & bought in the temple, & ouerthrew the tables of ỹ mony chaungers, & the seates of them that solde doues, & sayd vnto them: It is wrytte * my house shalbe called ỹ house of prayer. But ye haue made it * a denne of theues. And the blynde & the halt came to him in the temple, & he healed them.

When the chefe Prestes & Scribes sawe ỹ wonders that he dyd, & the chyldre cryinge in the temple (& sayinge: hosanna to the sonne of Dauid) they disdayned, and sayd vnto him: heareste thou what these saye? But Jesus saieth vnto them why not? haue ye neuer redde *. Out of the mouth of babes & sucheliynges thou haste ordeyned prayse? And he lefte them, and went out of the cytie * vnto Bethanie, & had his abydinge there. ✠

* In the morynge as he returned into ỹ cytie agayne he hūgred: & whē he had spyed a * tygge tree i the waye, he came to it, & foūde nothynge therō, but leaues onely, & sayde vnto it: Neuer frute growe on the bēe forwardes. And anone ỹ tygge tree widdered awaye. And when hys disciples sawe it, they marueled, saying. how soone is ỹ tygge tree wydderd awaye? Jesus answered, and sayd vnto thē: Verely I saye vnto you * yf ye haue fayth & dout not, ye shal not onely do this that is happened vnto ỹ tygge tree: but also yf ye shall saye vnto this mountayne, remoue, & cast thy selfe into the see, it shalbe done. * And all thinges whatsoeuer ye aske i prayer (yf ye beleue) ye shall receaue them.

✠ * And when he was come into ỹ tēple, the chefe Prestes & the elders of the people came vnto him (as he was teachinge) & sayde * By what auctorite doest thou these thinges? & who gaue the thys power? Jesus answered & sayde vnto thē: I also will aske of you a certayne thing, which yf ye tell me, I in lyke wyse will tell you by what auctorite I do these thinges. The baptime of John: whence was it? frō heauen or of mē? And they thought amonge them selues, saying: yf we saye frō heauē, he will saye vnto vs: why dyd ye not then beleue him? But yf we shall saye of men, then feare we the people. * For all men holde John as a prophet. And they answered vnto Jesus & sayde: we cannot tell. And he sayd vnto thē: nether tell I you, by what auctorite I do these thynges. ✠ What saye ye to this? ✠ A man had two sonnes, & cam to the fyrst, & sayde: sonne, go & worke to daye i my vineyarde. He answered & sayde, I will not, but afterward, he repented, & went. Thē cam he to the secōde, & sayd lykewise. And he answered, & sayd: I will fyr, & wēt not. Whether of thē twayne dyd ỹ will of the father? And they saye vnto him: the fyrst. Jesus sayeth vnto thē: verely I saye vnto you, the publicās & harlotes go into the kyngdō of God before you. For * John cam vnto you by the waye of ryghtewesnes, and ye beleued hym not: but publicans & harlottes beleued hym. And ye (whan ye had sene it) were not moued afterwarde wyth repentaunce, that ye myght haue beleued hym. ✠

D ✠ Yet hē another symilitude * There was a certaine man an housholder, whych plāted a vineyarde, & hedged it rounde about, & made a wynepresse in it, & bilt a tower, ād let it out to husbandmen, & wēt into a straung coūtre. And when ỹ tyme of ỹ frute drewe neare, he sent his seruauntes to the husbandmen ỹ they myght receaue the frutes of it. And ỹ husbādmen caught his seruaūtes, & bet one, killed another, & stoned another. Againe, he sent other seruauntes, moo then the fyrst: ād they dyd vnto thē lykewyse. But last of all, he sent vnto thē his awne sonne, saying: they will stande in awe of my sonne. But whē ỹ husbādmen sawe the sonne, they sayd amōge them selues: * This is the heyre: come, let vs kyll him, & let vs enioye his inheritaunce And they caught hym, & thrust hym out of ỹ vineyarde, & slewe him. When the Lord therfore of the vineyard cōmeth, what will he do vnto those husbādmen? They sayd vnto hi: For a smoch as they be euell, he will euell lye destroye thē, & will let out his vineyard vnto other husbādmē, which shall delyuer hym the frute in due seasons. Jesus sayeth vnto thē: dyd ye neuer reade in ỹ scriptures * The stone whych the bylders refused, the same is become the heade of the corner: thys is ỹ Lordes doinge, & it is merueylous in youre eyes. Therfore saye I vnto you, ỹ kyngdō of God shalbe taken frō you, and geuen to a nacion, whych shall bryngе forth the frutes therof. And * whosoeuer falleth on this stone, shalbe broken in peces: but on * whōsoeuer it falleth it shall all to grynd hym. And when the chefe chefe Prestes and Pharises had heardе hys parables, they perceaued, that he speake of them. ✠ And they went about to laye handes on him * but they feared the people, because they tooke him as a Prophet ✠ And Jesus answered, & spake vnto thē agayne by parables and sayde.

¶ The .xxij. Chapter.

¶ The mariage of the Kynges sonne. Tribute to be geuen to the Emperour. Christ cōfuteth the opinyon of the Saduces concernyng the resurrection, & answereth the Scribe vnto hys question.

THe ✠ kyngdome of heauē is lyke vnto ✠ a man that was a kynge, whych made a mariage for hys sonne & sent forth his seruauntes, to call them that were byd to the weddynge, & they wolde not come. Agayne, he sent forth other seruauntes sayinge: Tell thē whych are byddē: beholde, I haue prepared my dynner: my oxen & my fatlynges are kylled, & all thinges are ready, come vnto ỹ mariage. But they made lyghte of it, & wēt their wayes: one to his ferme place, another to hys marchaundise, & the rēnaunt toke his seruauntes, & intreated thē shamefully & slewe them. But when the kyng heardе therof, he was wroth, & sent forth his men of warre & destroyed those murtherers, and brent vp theyr cytie.

Thē sayd he to his seruauntes: ỹ mariage is dede is prepared. But they whych were bydden, were not worthy. Goo ye therfore out into ỹ hye wayes: & as many as ye fynde byd thē to the mariage. And the seruauntes went out into the hye wayes, & gathered together all, as many as they couide fynde, both good & bad, & the weddynge was furnished with geistes. Then the kyng came in, to se the geistes, & whan he spyed there a mā, whych had not on a * weddynge garment, he sayd vnto hym: frēde, how camest thou in hyther not hauyng a weddynge garment? And he was euē spechlesse. Then sayd ỹ king to the ministers: take & bynde him hand and foote, & cast hym into vtter darckenes * there shall be weppynge & gnashynge of teth. For many be called but fewe are chosen. ✠

✠ * Then went the pharises, & toke counsell how they myghte tāgle hi in his wordes. And they sent out vnto hym theyr disciples wyth Herodes seruauntes, sayinge: * Master, we knowe that ỹ art true, & teachest the waye of God truely, nether carest ỹ for eny man, for thou regardest not the outward apparaūce of mē. Tell vs therfore: how thynkest ỹ? Is it lawfull ỹ trybute be geuē vnto Cesar or not? But Jesus perceauyng theyr wyckednes, sayde: Why tēpte ye me ye ypocrites? Shewe me ỹ tribute mony. And they toke hi a peny. And he sayde vnto thē: whose is this ymage & superscriptiō? They saye vnto him, Cesars. Thē sayd he vnto thē: * Geue therfore vnto Cesar, ỹ thinges whych are Cesars: & vnto God, those thinges ỹ are Gods ✠ When they had heardе these wordes, they marueled, & left hym, & went theyr waye.

* The same daye came to him the Saduces (which saye ỹ there is no resurrectiō) & asked him sayinge: Master, Moses sayde: that * yf a man dye hauynge no chylde, hys brother shulde mary hys wyfe, & reyse vp seed vnto his brother. Ther were with vs seuē brethrē: & the fyrste maried a wyfe, & deceased wout yssue & lefte his wyfe vnto his brother. Lykewyse, the secōde & ỹ thyrd, vnto ỹ seuenth. Laste of all ỹ womā dyed also. Therfore, in ỹ resurrection, whose wyfe shall she be of the seuē? For they all had her. Jesus answered & sayde vnto thē: ye do erre, not knowinge the scriptures, nor the power of God. For in the resurrection, they nether mary, nor are maryed but are as the Angels in heauen.

But as touchyng the resurrection of the deed: haue ye not red that which is spokē vnto you of God, whych sayth: * I am the God of Abraham & the God of Isaac, & the God of Jacob? God is not a God of deed, but of lyuinge. And when ỹ people heard this, they were astonnyed at his doctryne.

✠ But whē the pharises had heard, ỹ he had put the Saduces to sylence, they came together, & one of thē which was (a doctour of lawe) asked him a question, tēptinge him, & sayinge: Master, which is the greate cōmaundemēt in the lawe? Jesus sayd vnto hym: Thou shalt * loue ỹ Lord thy God wyth all thy herte, and wyth all thy soule, & wyth all thy mynde. This is the fyrst & greate cōmaūdemēt. And the seconde is lyke vnto it. * Thou shalt loue thyne neyboure as thy selfe. In these two commaundementes hange all the lawe and the Prophetes.

Whyle the Pharises were gathered together, Jesus asked thē, sayinge: what thynke ye of Christ? Whose sōne is he? They saye vnto him: the sonne of Dauid. He sayde vnto them * how then doeth Dauid in spyrte, call him Lorde sayinge: The Lord sayd vnto my Lorde * syt ỹ on my ryght hande tyll I make thyne enemyes thy foote stoole. If Dauid then, call him Lord, how is he thē his sonne? And no mā was able to answere him anye thing: nether durste eny man (from that daye forth) aske him any moo questions. ✠

¶ The .xxiij. Chapter. ✠

¶ Christ cryeth Woo vnto the pharises, Scribes and ypocrites, & prophecyeth the destruction of Jerusalem.

THen spake Jesus to the people, and to his disciples, sayinge: * The Scribes and the Pharises syt in Moses seate. All therfore whatsoeuer they bydde you obserue, that obserue & do: but do not ye after theyr workes: for they saye, and do not. * Yee, they bynde together heuy burthens & grieuous to be borne, & laye them on mennes shoulders: but they thē selues wyll not heaue at thē with one of their fyngers. All theyr workes do they for the intent, ỹ they maye be sene of mē. They set abroade their ☞ phi lateries, & make large ỹ borders of their garmentes, & loue the vppermoste seates at feastes, & to sytt in the chefe place in counceis, & gretynges in the marhett, and to be called of men, Rabbi.

*Iam.4.a *But be not ye called Rabbi. For one is youre master, euē Chryst, and all ye are brethren. And call no man youre father vpon ỹ erth, for one is your father which is in heauē. Nether be ye called masters, for one is youre master, euen Chryst. He that is greatest amonge you, shalbe youre seruaunt. But * whosoeuer exalteth hī selfe, shalbe brought lowe. And he that humbleth him selfe, shalbe exalted. ✠ Wo vnto you Scribes & Pharises, ye ypocrites, for ye shutt vp the kyngdome of heauen before men * ye nether go in youre selues, nether suffre ye them that come, to enter in.

*Luke.11.c. and.18.b.

*Luk.11.g.

Wo vnto you Scribes, & pharises, ye ypocrites: for ye deuoure wyddowes houses: ād that vnder a pretence of lōge prayer: therfore shall ye be the sorer punyshed.

Wo be vnto you Scribes and Pharises, ye ypocrytes: for ye compasse see and lande, ☞ to make one ☞ proselyte: & when he is become one, ye make hym two folde moare the chylde of hell, then ye youre selues are.

Wo be vnto you ye blynde gydes, for ye saye: whosoeuer doth sweare by the temple: it is nothynge: but whosoeuer sweareth by the golde of the temple, he is gylty. Ye fooles & blinde: For whether is greater: ỹ gold, or the temple that sanctifyeth the gold? And whosoeuer sweareth by the aultre, it is nothinge, but whosoeuer sweareth by the gyft that is vpon it, he is gilty. ye foles & blynd for whether is greater? the gyft: or ỹ altare that sanctifieth ỹ gyft? Whoso therfore sweareth by the aultre, sweareth by it, and by all thinges that are there on. And whoso sweareth by the temple, sweareth by it, & by hym that dwelleth therī. * And he that sweareth by heauē, sweareth by the seate of God, and by hym that sytteth theron.

℃ *Mat.v.d.

Wo vnto you Scribes & Pharises, ye ypocrites: *For ye tythe mynt, and anyse, & comyn, & haue leaft the waygh tier matters of the lawe: iudgement, mercy, & fayth. These ought ye to haue done, & not to leaue ỹ other vndone. ye blynde gydes, which strayne out a gnat, & swalowe a Camell.

*Luke.xi.f

Wo vnto you Scribes and pharises, ye ypocrites: for ye make cleane the vtter syde of the cuppe, & of the platter: but within they are full of bribery and excesse. Thou blynde Pharise, cleuse fyrst that which is wīin the cup & platter, that the outeryde of thē maye be cleane also.

*Wo vnto you Scrybes & pharises, ye ypocrites: for ye are lyke vnto painted sepulcres which in dede appe are beautifull outwarde but are wythin full of dedd mens bones & of all fylthynes. Euē so ye also, outwardlye appere ryghteous vnto men: But wythin, ye are full of haynednesse and iniquyte. *Luke.xi.f

*Wo vnto you Scribes and Pharises, ye ypocrites: ye buylde the tombes of the Prophetes, and garnysshe the sepulchres of the ryghteous, & saye: yf we had bene in ỹ dayes of our fathers, we wolde not haue bene parteners wyth them in the bloude of the prophetes. And so * ye be wytnesses vnto youre selues, ỹ ye are the chyldren of them whych kylled the prophetes. Fulfyll ye lykewyse the measure of your fathers. Ye serpētes, ye generatiō of vypers, how wyll ye scape the damnacyon of hell? *Luke.xi.g

*Mat.xxiii. Luke.xi.g. Iohn.xvi.g Actes.vii.g and.xxii.a.

✠ Wherfore beholde * I sende vnto you Prophetes & wyse men, & scrybes, and some of them ye shall kyll & crucifye: & some of thē shal ye scourge in youre synagoges, & persecute thē from cytie to cytie: ỹ vpon you maye come all ỹ ryghteous bloude whych hath bene shedd vpō the erthe, frō the bloude of ryghteous. * Abel, vnto ỹ bloude of zachary sonne of Barachias, * whom ye slewe betwene the tēple & ỹ altare. Verely I saye vnto you: all these thynges shall come vpon this generatiō. * O Jerusalē, Jerusalē, thou ỹ kyllest the prophetes, & stonest them which are sent vnto the: how often wolde. * I haue gathered thy chyldren together, euen as the henne gathereth her chycken vnder her wynges, & ye wolde not? Behold * youre house is left vnto you desolate. For I saye vnto you: ye shall not se me hence forth, tyll that ye saye * blessed is he, that commeth in the name of the Lorde. ✠ *Gene.iiii *ii.pa.cxviii *Lu.xiii.g *iiii.Esd.i. * Psal.cxvii.g Lu.xix.f.

ℂ The.xxiiij. Chapter.

℃ Chryst sheweth hys dysciples the destruccyon of the temple, the ende of the worlde & the tokens of the latter dayes, and warneth them to wake, for the worlde shall sodenly perysshe.

AND Jesus went out, & departed from the temple: & * hys disciples came to him, for to shewe him the byldynges of the temple. Jesus sayde vnto them: Se ye not all these thinges? Verely I saye vnto you * ther shall not be here lefte one stone vpon another, that shall not be destroyed. A * mar.xiii.i Lu.xxi.a. *Lu.xix.a.

And as he sat vpō mount Oliuete, hys disciples came vnto him secretly, saying: Tell vs: whē shall these thinges be: & what shalbe ỹ tokē of thy cōmyng & of the ende of the worlde? And Jesus answered, and sayd vnto thē: * take hede, ỹ no man deceaue you. For many shall come in my name, sayinge: I am Chryst: & shall deceaue many. ye shall heare of warres, & tidinges of warres: be not troubled. For all (these thynges) must come to passe *Colos.ii.b. Ephe.v.b.

passe, but the ende is not yet. * Nacion shall ryse agaynst nacion, and realme agaynst realme: and ther shalbe pestilence, & hunger, and erthquakes in all places. All these are the begynnynges of sorowes.

* Then shall they put you to trouble, and shall kyll you: & ye shalbe hated of all nacions for my names sake. And then shall many be offended, & shall betraye one another, & shall hate one another. And many false prophetes shall aryse, & shall deceaue many. * And because iniquite shall haue the vpper hand, ỹ loue of many shall abate. * But he that endureth to the ende, the same shalbe safe. * And this Gospell of the kyngdome shalbe preached in all the worlde, for a wytnes vnto all nacyons, and then shall the ende come.

* When ye therfore shall se the abhominacion of desolacio (that was spoke of by * Daniel ỹ prophet) stande in the holy place: whoso readeth it let hi m vnderstande. Then lett them whych be in Jewry, flye into the mountaynes. And let hym whych is on the house toppe, not come downe to fet eny thinge out of hys house. Nether let him whych is in the felde, returne backe to fetche his clothes. Wo shalbe in those dayes to thē ỹ are wt chylde, & to thē ỹ geue sucke. But praye ye that youre flyght be not ☞ in the winter, nether on the Saboth daye. For then shalbe great tribulacions * suche as was not sens ỹ begynning of the worlde to this tyme, nor shalbe. Yee & except those dayes shulde be shortened, there shulde ☞ no flesche be saued: but for the chosens sake, those dayes shalbe shortened.

* Then yf eny man saye vnto you: lo here is Chryst, or there: beleue it not. For there shall aryse false Chrystes, and false prophetes * and shall shew great miracles, & wonders. In so moch (that yf it were possyble) ỹ verie electe shuld be deceaued: behold, I haue tolde you before. Wherfore, yf they saye vnto you: behold, he is in the desert, go not ye forth: behold, he is ỹ secret places, beleue it not. For as the lyghtenynge cōmeth out of the East, & appeareth into the west: so shall the cōmynge of the sonne of man be.

* For where soeuer a deed karkas is, euen thether wyll ỹ Egles also be gathered together. Immediatly * after the tribulacyons of those dayes, shall ỹ sonne be derkened: & ỹ moone shall not geue her lyght, and ỹ starres shall fall from heauē, & the powers of heauen shall be moued. And then shall appeare ỹ token of the sonne of man in heauen. And then shall all ỹ kynredes of the earth mourne, and they shall se * ỹ sonne of mā cōmyng i ỹ clowdes of heauen, wyth power & greate glorie: And he shall sende his Angels wt the greate voyce of a trōpett, & they shall gather to gether his chosen, from the foure wyndes: euen from the hyghest partes of heauen, vntyll the endes ther of.

* Learne a symilitude of the fygge tree: When hys braunches is yet tender, & the leaues sprōg, ye knowe that sommer is nye. So lykewyse ye, when ye se all these thinges, be ye sure that it is neare, euen at the dores. Verily I saye vnto you: this generacio shal not passe, tyll all these thinges be fulfylled: heauē & earth shall passe, * but my wordes shall not passe. But of that daye and houre * knoweth no man, no not the angels of heauen, but my father onely.

* But as ỹ dayes of Noe were, so shall also the cōmynge of the sonne of man be. For as in the dayes (that went before the floud) they dyd eate and drynke, mary, and were maryed, euen vntyll the daye that Noe entred into the shyppe, and knewe not tyll the floud came and toke them all awaye: So shall also the commynge of the sonne of man be. Then shall two be in the felde, the one receaued, & ỹ other refused * two wemen shalbe grynding at the mylle, the one receaued & the other refused. (Two a bed: the one shalbe receaued, & the other refused) * Watch therfore, for ye knowe not what houre youre lord will come. Of this yet be sure, that yf the good mā of ỹ house knew what houre * ỹ thefe wolde come: he wolde surely watche, & not suffre hys house to be broken vp. Therfore, be ye also ready, for in soch an houre as ye thynke not: wyll the sonne of man come. Who is a faythfull & wyse seruaunt, whom his Lorde hath made ruler ouer his housholde, to geue them meate i season. Blessed is that seruaūt whō hys Lord (whē he cometh) shall fynde so doynge: Verely I saye vnto you, that he shall make hym ruler ouer all hys goodes. But & yf that euyll seruaunt saye in hys herte, my Lorde wyll be long a commyng (and so begynne to smyte his felowes, yee, and to eate & drincke wyth the dronken) the same seruauntes Lord shall come in a daye when he loketh not for hym, and in an houre that he is not ware of, & shall hewe him i pees, & geue hym his porcyon wyth ypocrites: there shalbe weppynge and gnasshynge of teth.

¶ The.xxv. Chapter.

¶ The ten vyrgyns. The talents delyuered to the seruauntes, and of the generall iudgement.

THē shall ỹ kyngdō of heauen be like vnto ten virgins, which toke their lāpes, & wēt to mete ỹ bryd grome (& the bryde). But fyue of thē were foolysshe, & fyue were wise. They ỹ were folysshe, toke their lampes, but toke none oyle wt thē. But ỹ wyse toke oyle wt thē i their vessels with ỹ lāpes also. Whyle the bryde grome tarryed, they all slombred & slept. And euē at mydnyght, there was a crye made: behold, the bryd grome cōmeth, go out to mete hym. Thē all those virgins arose, & prepared theyr lāpes. So the folysshe sayde vnto the wyse: geue vs of youre oyle: for oure lampes are gone out. But the wyse answered, sayin 25 ge: not so, lest ther be not ynough for vs and you: but go ye rather to them that sell, & by for your selues. And whyll they wēt to bye, the brydgrome came: & they that were ready wēt in with hym to the mariage, & the gate was shut vp. Afterwarde came also ỹ other

*Mat.vii.c. virgins, saying: * Lorde, Lorde, open to vs.
But he answered & sayd: verely I saye vnto †mat.xxiiii.b. mat.xiii.b. Luk.xii.c. you: I knowe you not. † Watche therfore: for ye knowe nether the daye nor yet the houre wherin the sonne of man shall come. ✠

*mat.xii.b Luke.xii.b. ✠ * Lykewise as a certeine mā ready to take his iorney to a straunge countre, called his seruauntes, & delyuered vnto them hys goodes. And vnto one he gaue. v. talentes, to another. ij. & to another one: to euery man after his habilite, & streight waye departed. Then he ỹ had receaued the fyue talentes, went, & occupied wt the same, & wanne other fyue talentes. Lykewyse also, he ỹ receaued two, gayned other two. But he that receaued that one, went & dygged in the erth, and hid his Lordes money. After a longe season, the Lorde of those seruauntes came, and rekened wyth them. And so he that had receaued fyue talentes came, & brought other fyue talētes, saying: Sir, thou delyueredst vnto me fyue talentes: beholde, I haue gayned with thē fyue talentes moo: his Lord sayde vnto him: well thou good and faythfull seruaunt. Thou hast bene faythfull ouer fewe thinges, I wyll make the ruler ouer many thinges: entre thou in to the ioye of thy Lorde. He also that had receaued two talentes, came and sayde: Sir, thou delyueredst vnto me two talētes: beholde, I haue wone two other talentes with them: his Lord sayd vnto him: well good & faythfull seruaūt. Thou hast bene faythfull ouer fewe thiges. I will make the ruler ouer many thinges: Entre ỹ into the ioye of thy Lorde. ✠

C Then he whych had receaued the one talēt, came, & sayd: Sir I knewe the ỹ thou art an harde man: reaping where thou hast not sowē, & gathering where thou hast not strawed, and therfore was I afrayde, & wēt, and hyd thy talēt in the erth: lo, there thou hast ỹ thine is. His lord answered & sayd vnto him thou euyll & slowthfull seruaunt, thou knewest, ỹ I reape where I sowed not, & gather, where I haue not strawed: ỹ oughtest therfore to haue delyuered my money to the exchaungers, & then at my commynge shulde I haue receaued myne awne with vauntage.
*Mat.xiii.c mar.xiii.c. Take therfore the talēt from hym, & geue it vnto hym which hath ten talentes. * For ☞ vnto euery one that hath shalbe geuen, and he shall haue aboundance: But he that hath not, frō hym shalbe taken awaye, euen that which he hath. And cast the vnprofytable seruaūt into vtter derknes * there shalbe wepinge and gnasshinge of teeth. *Mat.xxv.d aub.xxi.b.

✠ * When the sonne of man cōmeth in his glorye, & all the holy angels wyth him, then shall he syt vpon the seate of hys glorye, and before him shalbe gathered all naciōs. * And he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherde deuydeth the shepe frō the gotes: and he shall set the shepe on hys ryght hande, but the goates on the lyfte. Thē shall the kynge saye to thē ỹ shalbe on hys ryght hande: Come ye blessed of my father, inherit the kyngdome * prepared for you frō the begynninge of the worlde. † For I was an hōgred, & ye gaue me meate. I was thyrstye, & ye gaue me drynke. I was herbourlesse, & ye toke me in: Naked, & ye clothed me: * Sicke & ye visyted me. * I was in prison, and ye came vnto me. Thē shall the righteous answere him saying: Lord, whē sawe we the an hōgred, and fedd the? or thyrstye, & gaue ỹ drynke? whē sawe we ỹ herbourlesse, & tooke ỹ in? or naked, and clothed the? or whē sawe we ỹ sycke, or in prison, and came vnto the? And the kyng shall answere, āD saye vnto them: verely I saye vnto you: in as moch as ye haue done it vnto one of ỹ leest of these my brethren, ye haue done it to me. *Mat.xxv.d † Gen.i.d ✠ * Ecclesi.xxi ‡ii.Timo.i.b D

Then shall he saye also vnto them, that shalbe on the lyfte hand: * departe from me ye cursed * into euerlastynge fyre: whych is prepared for the deuyll āD his angels. For I was an hungred, and ye gaue me no meate. I was thyrstye, and ye gaue me no drynke. I was harbourlesse, and ye toke me not in. I was naked, and ye clothed me not. I was sycke & in prison, and ye visyted me not. *Psal.lxii. Mat.xiii. Luk.xvi. † Esa.xxx. Dane.xii. Apo.xix.b.

Then shall they also answere him saying, lorde, whē sawe we ỹ an hūgred, or a thyrst, or herbourlesse, or naked, or sycke, or in prison, & dyd not minister vnto the? Then shall he answere them sayeng: Verely I saye vnto you, in as moche * as ye dyd it not to one of the leest of these, ye dyd it not to me. And * these shall go into euerlastynge payne: the ryghteous into lyfe eternall. ✠ * Pro.xiii.c D.xviii.b. John.v.c

C The.xxvj. Chapter.

C Mary Magdalene anoynteth Christ. They eat the Easterlambe, Christ playeth in the garden, Judas betrayeth hym, Peter smyteth of Malcus eare, Christ is accused by false wytnesses, Peter denyeth hym.

AND it came to passe, whē Jesus had fynished all these sayinges he sayde vnto his disciples: ✠ * ye knowe ỹ after two dayes shalbe Easter, and the sonne of mā shalbe delyuered ouer, to be crucifyed. † Then assembled together ỹ chefe prestes & the scribes & the elders of the people vnto the palace of the hye preste, (whych * Mat.xxvi. Luke.xxii. † Johan.xii was called Cayphas) and helde a counsell, that they myght take Jesus by sutteltie, and kyll him. But they sayd: not on ꝑ holy daye, lest there be an vproure amonge the people.

When * Jesus was in Bethany, in the house of Simon ꝑ leper, there came vnto him a woman * hauyng an alabaster box of precious oyntment, and powred it on his heed, as he sate at the bourde. But when his disciples sawe it, they had indignacyon, sayinge. Wherto serueth this waste? This oyntment myght haue bene well solde, and geuē to the poore. Whē Jesus vnderstode that, he sayde vnto them: why trouble ye the woomā? For she hath wrought a good worcke vpon me. * For ye haue the poore all wayes, with you: But me shal ye not haue alwayes. And in ꝑ she hath cast this oyntmēt on my bodye, she dyd it to burye me. Verely I saye vnto you: where soeuer thys gospell shalbe preached in all ꝑ world, there shall also this ꝑ she hath done, be tolde for a memoriall of her.

* Thē one of the twelue (which was called Judas Iscarioth) went vnto ꝑ chefe prestes, and sayd vnto them: what will ye geue me, and I wyll delyuer him vnto you? And they apoynted vnto hym thyrty peces of syluer. And frō that tyme forth, he sought opportunite to betraye him.

* The fyrst daye of swete breed, the disciples came to Jesus, sayinge vnto him: where wilt thou that we prepare for the, to eate the passeouer? And he sayd: go into the cytie, to soche a mā, and saye vnto him, the master sayeth: my tyme is at hād, I will kepe myne Easter by the, wyth my disciples. And ꝑ disciples dyd as Jesus had apoynted thē, and they made ready the passeouer.

* When the euē was come, he sate doune wyth the twelue. And as they dyd eate, he sayd: Verely, I saye vnto you, that * one of you shall betraye me. And they were exceadynge sorowfull, and beganne euery one of them to saye vnto him: Lord, is it I? He answered and sayde: he that dyppeth hys hande with me in the dishe, the same shall betraye me. * The sonne of man truly goeth, as it is written of him: but wo vnto that man, by whom the sonne of man is betrayed. It had bene good for ꝑ mā, if he had not bene borne. Then Judas which betrayed hi, answered, and sayd: master, is it I? he sayde vnto him: ꝑ hast sayd. Whan they were eatyng, Jesus toke bread, and whā he had geuē thankes, he brake it, & gaue it to ꝑ disciples, & sayd: * Take, eate, this is my body. And he toke ꝑ cup, & thāked, and gaue it thē, sayinge: drincke ye all of this. For this is my bloud (which is of the new testament) that is shed for many, for ꝑ remissyon of synnes. But I saye vnto you: I will not drynche hence forth of this frute of the vyne tree, vntyll that daye, when I shall drynche it newe with you in my fathers kyngdome.

* And whē they had sayde grace, they wēt out vnto mosit Oliuete. Then sayeth Jesus vnto thē: all ye shalbe offended because of me this nyght. For it is wrytte: * I will smyte the shepeherde, & ꝑ shepe of the flocke shalbe scattered abroade. But after I am rysen agayne, I will go before you into Galile. Peter answered, & sayde vnto him: * though all men be offended because of the, yet will not I be offended. Jesus sayd vnto him: Verely, I saye vnto the, that in this same myght, before the cocke crowe, thou shalt denye me thryse. Peter sayde vnto him. Yee, though I shuld dye with the, yet will I not denye the: Like wyse also sayde all the disciples.

* Then came Jesus wt thē vnto a farme. place (which is called Gethsemane) and sayde vnto the disciples: syt ye here while I go and praye ponder. And he toke with him Peter and the two sonnes of zebede, and began to wexe sorowfull and heuye. Thē sayde Jesus vnto thē: * my soule his heuy, euen vnto the deeth. Tary ye here: and watche wt me. And he wēt a lytell farther, and fell flat on his face, and prayed, sayinge: O my father, yf it be possible, * let this cuppe passe frō me: neuertheles, not as I will, but as ꝑ wilt. And he came vnto ꝑ disciples, & founde them aslepe, and sayeth vnto Peter: what, coulde ye not watch with me one houre: watche, and praye, that ye entre not into tēptacyon. * The spyrite is willinge, but the flesche is weake.

* He went a waye once agayne and prayed, sayige, O my father, yf this cuppe maye not passe away from me, excepte I drincke of it, thy will be fulfylled. And he came, and foūde thē aslepe agayne. For their eyes were heuy. And he lefte thē & went agayne, and prayed ꝑ thyrd tyme, sayinge ꝑ same wordes. Then cōmeth he to his disciples, and sayeth vnto thē: Slepe on now, and take youre rest. Beholde, the houre is at hande, & ꝑ sonne of mā is betrayed into the hādes of synners. Ryse, let vs be goinge: beholde, he is at hande, that doth betraye me. * Whil he yet spake: Jo: Judas one of the nombre of the twelue, came, & with him a greate multitude, wt swearedes and staues, sent from the chefe prestes and elders of the people. But he ꝑ betrayed him gaue thē a token, sayinge: whomsoeuer I kysse, that same is he, hold him fast. And forth with he came to Jesus, and sayde, hayle Master: and kyssed him. And Jesus sayde vnto him: frende, wherfore art thou come? Thē came they, and layed handes on Jesus and toke him.

And beholde, one of them whych were with Jesus, stretched out his hāde, and drue his swearde, and stroke a seruaūt of the hye

hye prestes, and smote of his eare. Thē sayd Jesus vnto him: put vp thy swearde into his sheath.

For * All they that take the swearde, shall perishe with ỹ swearde. Thinkest thou that I cannot now praye to my father, and he shall geue me (euen now) more then twelue For Legions of angels? But how then shall the scriptures be fulfylled? for * this must it be. In that same houre sayde Jesus to the multitude: * ye be come out as it were vnto a thefe, with swerdes and staues, for to take me. I sat daylie with you, teachinge in the temple, and ye toke me not. * But all this is done, that the scriptures of the prophetes myght be fulfilled. * Then all the disciples forsoke hi, and fleed. And they toke Jesus, & led him to Caiphas ỹ hye Priest, where the Scribes and ỹ elders were assembled. But Peter folowed him a farre of, vnto the hye priestes palace: & went in, and sate with the seruauntes, to se the ende.

* The chefe Priestes and the elders, and all the councell, sought false witnes agaynst Jesus (for to put hym to deeth) but founde none: yee, when many false witnesses came, yet founde they none. At the last came two false witnesses, and sayde: This felowe sayde. * I am able to destroye ỹ temple of God, & to buylde it agayne in thre dayes. * And the chefe priest arose, & sayd vnto him: answerest thou nothyng? Why do these beare wytnes against the? But Jesus held hys peace. * And the chefe priest answered and sayde vnto him: I charge the by the lyuinge God, ỹ thou tell vs, whether thou be Christ the sonne of God. Jesus sayeth vnto hym, thou hast sayd. Neuertheiesse I saye vnto you * here after shall ye se the sonne of man syttinge on ỹ right hande of power, and comynge in the cloudes of the skye.

* Thē ỹ hye priest rēt his clothes, sayinge: he hath spoken blasphemye. what nede we of eny moo witnesses? Beholde, now ye haue heard his blasphemy: what thinke ye? They answered, and sayde: he is worthy to dye: * Then dyd they spytt in his face, & buffeted him with fistes. And other smote him on hys face wyth the palme of their handes, sayinge: tell vs thou Christ, who is he that smote the?

Peter sat with oute in the palace. And a damsell came to him, sayinge: Thou also wast with Jesus of Galile: but he denyed before thē all, saying. I woot not what thou sayest. Whē he was gone out into the porche, a nother wenche sawe him, and sayde vnto them that were there: This felowe was also with Jesus of Nazareth. And agayne he denyed with an othe: (sayeng.) I do not knowe the mā. And after a whyle, came vnto him they (ỹ stode by) and sayde vnto Peter. * surely ỹ art euē one of thē, for thy speache bewrayeth the. Then beganne he to curse and to sweare, that he knewe not the mā. And immediatly * the cocke krew. And Peter remembred the worde of Jesu, which sayde vnto him: before the cocke crowe, thou shalt denye me thrise: and he went out, and wepte bytterly.

¶ The xxvij. Chapter.

¶ Christ is delyuered vnto Pylate. Judas hangeth hym selfe. Christ is crucyfyed amonge theues. He dyeth and is buryed, watchmen kepe the graue.

When ỹ morynge was come, all the chefe prestes ād the elders of the people helde a counsayle agaynst Jesus, for to put him to deeth, ād brought him bounde * and delyuered him vnto Poncius Pylate the debite.

Then Judas (which had betrayed him) seyng that he was cōdempned, repented him selfe, and brought agayne the thirtye plates of syluer, to the chefe Prestes ād elders, sayinge: I haue synned, betrayinge the innocent bloud. And they sayd: what is that to vs? Se thou to that. And he cast downe the syluer plates in the temple, and departed * and went and hanged hym selfe.

And the chefe prestes toke the syluer plates and sayd: it is not lawfull for to put them into the treasure, because it is the pryce of bloud. And they toke counsell: and bought wt them a potters felde to bury straungers in. Wherfore ỹ felde is called Haceldema, that is) ỹ feilde of bloud, vntyll this daye. Then was fulfylled, that which was spoken by Jeremy the Prophet, sayinge: * and they toke thirtye syluer plates, the pryse of him ỹ was valued, whō they bought of the chyldren of Israel, and gaue them for the potters felde, as the Lorde apoynted me. * Jesus stode before the debite, and the debite asked him, sayinge: art thou the kyng of the Jewes? Jesus sayeth vnto him: Thou sayest. And when he was accused of the chefe prestes & elders, he answered nothyng. Then sayeth Pilate vnto him: hearest thou not, how many witnesses they laye agaynst the? * and he answered him to neuer a worde: in so moch that the debyte maruey led greatlye.

* At that feast, the debite was wonte to delyuer vnto the people a presoner, whom they wold desier. He had then a notable presoner, called Barrabas. Therfore, when they were gathered together, Pilate sayd: * whether wil ye that I geue loose vnto you? Barrabas, or Jesus, whych is called Christ? For he knewe ỹ for enuie they had delyuered him.

When

When he was set downe to geue iudgement, his wyfe sent vnto him sayinge: haue þ nothinge to do with þ iust mã. For I haue suffered many thinges this daye in my slepe because of him. * But the chefe prestes and the elders persuaded the people, þ they shulde aske Barrabas, ād destroye Jesus. The debite answered, and sayde vnto thē: whether of the twayne, will ye, that I let loosse vnto you? They sayd: * Barrabas. Pilate sayde vnto them: * what shall I do then with Jesus whych is called Christ? They all sayd vnto him: let hi be crucifyed. The debite sayde: what euyll hath he done? But they cryed the more, sayinge: let him be crucifyed. When Pilate sawe þ he coulde prenayle nothinge, but that more busynes was made, he toke water, and washed hys handes before the people, sayinge: I am innocēt of the bloud of this iust person, ye shall se. Then answered all the people, and sayd * his bloud be on vs, and on oure childzen. * Then let he Barrabas loose vnto them, and scourged Jesus, and delyuered him to be crucifyed.

* Then the soudeours of the debite toke Jesus in the comen hall, and gathered vnto him al the company. And they stripped him, and put on him a purpill robe, and platted a croune of thornes and put vpon his heed, ād a rede in his ryght hande: and bowed þ knee before him: & mocked hi, saying: hayle, kyng of the Jewes: and whan they had spytt vpō him, they toke the rede, and smote him on the heed.

And after that they had mocked him, they toke the roabe of him agayne, and put hys awne rayment on him, & led him awaye to crucifye him. And as they came out, * they founde a mā of Tyren (named Simon) him they cōpelled to beare his crosse. * And they came vnto the place which is called Golgotha (þ is to saye, a place of deed mēs sculles) and gaue hym veneger to drincke myngled with gall. And when he had tasted therof, he wolde not drincke.

When they had crucifyed him, they parted his garmentes, & dyd cast lottes: þ it myght be fulfylled which was spoken by the Prophet. * They departed my garmētes amōge them: and vpon my vesture dyd they cast lottes. And they sate and watched him there, and * set vp ouer his heed the cause of hys deeth, wrytten: This is Jesus the kynge of the Jewes. * Then were there two theues crucifyed with him, one on the ryght hande, and another on the lyfte.

* They that passed by, reuyled him, waggynge their heades, and sayinge: thou that destroydest the temple of God and dyddest bylde it in thre dayes, saue thy selfe * If thou be the sonne of God, come downe from the crosse. Like wyse also þ hye prestes, mockig him with þ Scribes and elders sayde: he saued other, him selfe can he not saue. If he be þ kynge of Israel: let him now come doune frō the crosse, & we will beleue him. * He trusted in God, let him delyuer him now, yf he wyll haue him: for he sayde, I am þ sonne of God. The theues also, which were crucifyed with him, cast the same in his tethe.

* Frō þ syxte houre was there dercknes onet all the lande vnto the nynth houre. And about the nynth houre, Jesus cryed, wyth a loude voyce, sayinge: Eli, Eli lama sabaththany. That is to saye: * my God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? Some of them þ stode there, whē they herde þ, sayde: This man calleth for Helias. And streyght waye * one of them ranne, and toke a sponge, and whan he had fylled it full of veneger, he put it on a rede, and gaue him to drincke. Other sayde, let be: let vs se whether Helias will come, & delyuer hi. Jesus, whan he had cried agayne wt a loude voyce, yelded vp þ goost.

And beholde, þ * vayle of the temple dyd rent in to two partes, from the toppe to the bottome, and the earth dyd quake, and the stones rent and graues dyd open: and many bodyes of sainctes which slept, arose, & went out of the graues after his resurrecyon, and came in to the holy cytie, and appeared vnto many. * When the Centurion and they that were with him watchinge Jesus, sawe the erthquake, and those thinges which happened, they feared greatly, sayig: Truly, this was the sonne of God.

* And many wemen were there (beholdinge hym a farre of) whych folowed Jesus frō Galile, mynistringe vnto him. Amonge which was Mary Magdalen, and Mary þ mother of James and Joses, and the mother of zebedes childzen. When þ euen was come * there came a riche man of Aramathia named Joseph, which also was Jesus disciple. He went to Pilate and begged the body of Jesus. Then Pilate commaunded the bodye to be delyuered. And whan Joseph had taken the body, he wrapped it in a cleane lynnen cloth, and layed it in hys newe tombe, whych he had hewen out, euen in the rocke, and rolled a greate stone to the doze of the sepulcre & departed. And there was * Mary Magdalene and the other Mary syttynge ouer agaynste the sepulcre. The nexte daye that folowed the daye of preparinge, the hye prestes and Pharises came together vnto Pilate, sayeng: Syr, we remembre, that this deceauer sayde whyle he was yet alyue. * After thre dayes I wyll aryse agayne. Cō maunde therfore that the sepulcre be made sure vntyll the thyrd daye, lest hys disciples come, & steale him awaye and saye vnto the people: he is ryssen from the deed, & the last errour shalbe worse then the fyrst. Pylate sayde vnto them: Ye haue the watch go your waye, make it as sure as ye can. So they went, and made the sepulcre sure with watchemen, and sealed the stone. ✠

sayde

¶ The.xxviij. Chapter.

¶ The resurrection of Christe. The byepriestes geue the souldiers money to saye that Christ was taken out of his grane. Christ appeareth to his disciples, and sendeth them forth to preach and to baptyse.

A ✠ UPon an ☞ ouerning of the * Sabbothes, whych dawneth the fyrst daye of ꝑ Sabbathes, came Mary Magdalene ⁊ the other Mary, to se the sepulcre.

*Mar.xvi.a Luke.xxiiii.a Joh.xx.a.

And beholde, ther was a greate earthquake. For ꝑ angell of ꝑ Lord descended frō heauen, ⁊ came ⁊ rowled backe the stone frō the doze, and sat vpō it. Hys countenaunce was lyke lyghtnynge, and his rayment whyte as snowe. And for feare of him the kepers were astonnyed and became as deed men.

*Mar.xvi.b. Luk.xxiiii.a

* The angell answered, ⁊ sayd vnto the wemen, feare ye not. For I knowe, ꝑ ye seke Jesus which was crucifyed: he is not here: he is ryssen as he sayde. Come se ꝑ place where ꝑ ꝑ Lord was layed: ⁊ go quickly, ⁊ tell his disciples, ꝑ he is ryssen agayne frō the deed. And behold, he goeth before you into Galile, there ye shall se him. Lo I haue tolde you: ✠

B

*Mar.xvi.b. Luke.xxiiii.b.

✠ * And they departed quickly from the sepulcre, with feare and greate Joye, ⁊ dyd runne, to bryng his disciples worde. And as they wēt to tell his disciples: beholde, Jesus met thē, sayinge: All hayle. And they came, ⁊ held him by the fete, ⁊ worshipped him. Thē sayd Jesus vnto thē: be not afrayde. ☞ Go tell my brethrē, ꝑ they go into Galile ⁊ there shal they se me. Whē they were gone, behold, some of the kepers came into the cytie ⁊ shewed vnto the hye prestes, all ꝑ thinges that had happened. And they gathered thē together with the elders, ⁊ toke counsell, ⁊ gaue large money vnto ꝑ soudiers, saying: Saye ye, ꝑ his disciples came by nyght ⁊ stole hym awaye whyle ye slept. And yf this come to ꝑ rulers eares, we will persuade him, and saue you harmeles. So they toke ꝑ money, ⁊ dyd as they were taught. And this sayinge is noysed amōge ꝑ Jewes vnto this daye. ✠

C

D

✠ Then the.xj. disciples wēt awaye into Galile, to a mountayne where Jesus had appoynted them. And whē they sawe him, they worshipped him. But some douted. And Jesus came, and spake vnto thē, sayinge: * All power is geuen vnto me in heauē, ⁊ in erth.

*Mat.xi.d John.xvii.a

*Mar.vlt.c

* Go ye therfore, ⁊ teach all nacions, baptising them in the name of the father, ⁊ of the sonne, ⁊ of the holy goost: Teachinge thē to obserue all thinges, whatsoeuer I haue commaunded you. And lo * I am wyth you allwaye, euen vntyll ꝑ ende of the worlde. ✠

*John.xiiii.b

Here endeth the Golspell of S. Mathew.

¶ The Golspell of S. Marke.

¶ The fyrst Chapter. ✠

¶ The office of John the baptist. The baptyme of Christ, his fastynge, his preachynge, and the callynge of Peter, Andrew, James & John. Christ healeth the mā with the vncleane spirite, he healeth Peters mother in lawe, and cleanseth the leper.

A THe begynnynge of the Golspell of Jesu Christ the sonne of God, as it is written in the Prophetes, * behold, I sende my messenger before thy face which shall prepare thy waye before the. The voyce of a cryer in the wildernes: * prepare ye the waye of the Lorde, ⁊ make his pathes strayte. * John dyd baptyse in the wyldernes, and preached the baptyme of ⁊ repentaunce, for the remyssyon of synnes. And all the lande of Jewrie and they of Jerusalem, went out vnto hym, and were all baptised of him in the ryuer Jordan, confessynge their synnes.

*Mat.xi.b. Mat.xvii.b. Luke.vii.b

*Isaia.xl.a

*Mat.xi.a Mar.i.a. ⁊ Mat.iii. Luke.iii.c

* John was clothed with camilles heer, and wt a gerdyll of a lether about hys loynes. And he dyd eate locustes and wilde hony, & preached sayinge. * He that is stronger then I, cōmeth after me, whose sho latcher I am not worthy to stoupe downe, and vnlose, I haue baptysed you wyth water: but he shall baptyse you with the holy goost. ✠

B

*Mat.xi.c John.i.b

And it came to passe in those dayes, ꝑ Jesus cam frō Nazareth, of Galile: * and was baptysed of John in Jordan: And assone as he was come vp out of the water: * ☞ he sawe heauē open, & ☞ the spirite descēdynge vpō him lyke a doue: And ther came a voyce from heauen. * Thou art my deare sonne in whom I delyte.

*Mat.iii.d

D

*Mat.iii. xii.b.g. xvii.b

And immediatly * ꝑ spirite dryue him into wildernes: and he was there in ꝑ wylderness. xl. dayes, and was tempted of Satan, & was with wilde beastes. * And the angels mynystred vnto hym. After that John was taken * Jesus came into Galile ⁊ preachinge the Gospell, of ꝑ kyngdō of God, ⁊ sayinge. the tyme is come, ⁊ the kyngdom of God is at hand ⁊ repent, and beleue the Gospell.

*Mat.iv.a Esa.xlii.a Mar.xi.a

*Mat.iii

*Mat.iii

*Mat.iii

ther ze bede in the shyp wyth the hyred seruauntes, and folowed hym.

C * And they came into Capernaum: and streyght waye on the Saboth dayes, he entred into the synagoge, & taught. And they were astonnyed at hys learnynge. * For he taught them as one that had auctorite, & not as the Scribes.

* And there was in their Synagoge a mā vexed with an vnclene spirite, and he cryed sayinge: Alas, what haue we to do with the thou Jesus of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroye vs? I knowe the what thou art euē that holy one of God. And Jesus rebuked hym sayinge: holde thy peace, and come out of the man. And whan the vncleane spirite had toarne him, & cryed with a loude voyce, he came out of him. And they were all amased, in so moch that they demaunded one of another amonge them selues sayinge: what thyng is this? What newe doctrine is thys? For with auctorite cōmaunded he the foule spirites, and they obeyed hym. And immediatly his fame spred abroad throughout all the region borderinge on Galile.

And forth with, whā they were come out of the Synagoge * they entred into ỹ house of Symon and Andrew, wyth James and John. But Simons mother in lawe laye sycke of a feuer. And anone they tell him of her. And he came, & toke her by the hande: & lifte her vp: & ymediatly ỹ feuer forsoke hyr, & she mynistred vnto thē. And at euen when ỹ sonne was downe, they brought vnto him all that were dyseased, and them that were D vexed with deuyls. And all the cytie was gathred to gether at ỹ dore, ād he healed many * that were sycke of dyuers deseases, ād * cast out many deuyls, & suffred not the deuyls to speake, because they knewe him.

And in the morynynge very early, Jesus (whan he was rysen vp) departed, and wēt out into a solitary place, and there prayed. And Symon and they that were with hym, folowed after hym. And when they had founde him, they saye vnto him: all men seke for the. And he sayd vnto them: let vs go into the nexte townes, that I maye preach there also: for therfore am I come. And he preached in their Synagoges, in all Galile, and cast the deuyls out.

* And ther came a leper to him, beseechynge hym, and kneelyng downe, and sayēg vnto him, yf thou wilt, thou canneste make me cleane. And Jesus had compassion on hym, & puth forth his hande, touched hym, & sayeth vnto him: I wyll, be thou cleane. And assone as he had spoken, immediatly the leprosy departed frō him, and he sent him awaye forth with, and sayeth vnto hym. * See thou saye nothynge to any mā: but get the hence, shewe thy selfe to the Prieste, and offer for thy clensinge, those thinges whych Moses commaunded, for a witnesse vnto them. But he (assone as he was departed) begaune to tell many thinges, and to publyshe the sayenge: in so moch that Jesus coulde nomore openly entre into the cytie, but was with out in desert places. And they came to hym from euery quarter.

C The.ij. Chapter.

C The healeth the man of the palsye, calleth Leui the customer, eateth wyth open synners, and excuseth his disciples.

AFter a fewe dayes also, he entred B into Capernaum agayne, and it was noysed ỹ he was in the house. And anone many were gathered together, in so moch that now there was no rome to receaue them, no not so moche as about the dore. And he preached the worde vnto them. * And they came vnto him, bringing one sycke of ỹ palsye whych was borne of fower men. And when they coulde not come nye vnto him for preasse, they vncouered the rofe of the house that he was in. And whē they had broken vp the rofe, they dyd (wyth coardes) let downe the bed wherin the sycke of the palsye laye. When Jesus sawe their fayth, he sayde vnto the sycke of the palsye: * sonne thy synnes be forgeuen the. * Mat.ix.a Luke.v.b * Lu.v.b

But ther were certayne of the Scribes B syttinge there, & thinkig in their hertes: why doth he speake thys blasphemyes? * who cā forgeue synnes, but God onely? And immediatly when Jesus perceaued in hys sprete, that they so thought wyth in them selues, he sayeth vnto them: why thynke ye soch thinges in youre hertes? Whether is it easyer to saye to the sycke of the palsye: thy synnes be forgeuen the: or to saye, aryse, take vp thy bed, and walke? But that ye maye knowe, that the sonne of man hath power in earth to forgeue synnes, he spake vnto the sycke of the palsye: I saye vnto the: * aryse, and take vp thy bed, and get the hense vnto thyne awne house. And immediatly he arose, toke vp the bed, and went forth before them all: in so moch that they were all amased, & glorifyed God, sayinge: we neuer sawe it on this fassyon. * Esa.xlvii.c and.xliii.d * Mat.ix.a Lu.v.c John.v.b.

* And he went agayne vnto the see, & all the people resorted vnto hym, and he taught them. And as Jesus passed by, he sawe Leuy the sonne of Alphe, sytting at the receyte of custome, and sayde vnto hi: folowe me. And he arose, and folowed hym. And it came to passe that whan Jesus sate at meate in hys house, many publicans and synners sate also together at meate wyth Jesus and his disciples. For there were many, ỹ folowed hym. And when the Scrybes and Pharises sawe him eate with publicans and synners, they sayde vnto his disciples: how happeneth it, that he eateth & drynketh wyth publicans and synners, * Mat.ix.a and synners/ When Jesus hearde ꝑ, he sayde vnto them: They that be whole, haue no nede of the Physycion, but they that are syche.

*1. Tim.i.c. * I came not to call the rygbtwyse, but synners to repentaunce.
*Mat.ix.b Luke.v.f. * And the disciples of John and the Phariseis dyd fast: and they come and saye vnto him. Why do the disciples of John and of ꝑ Phariseis fast, but thy disciples fast not/ And Jesus sayde vnto thē: can the childzen of the weddinge fast while the bzydgrome is with them/ As longe as they haue the bzydgrome with them, they cannot fast. But the dayes wyll come, when the bzydgrome shalbe taken awaye from them, and then shall they fast in those dayes.

D No man also soweth a pece of new cloth vnto an olde garment, els taketh he awaye the new pece therof from the olde, & so is the rent wozse. And no man powzeth new wine into olde botels: els ꝑ new wynd doth burst the botels, and the wyne runneth out, and the botels are marred. But new wine must be putt into new botels.

*Mat.xii.a Luke.vi.a. * And it chaunsed (agayne) that he went thozow ꝑ cozne felde on ꝑ Sabboth dayes, and hys disciples, beganne by the waye to pluckе the eares of cozne. And the Phariseis sayde vnto him: beholde, why do they on the Sabboth dayes, that whych is not lawfull/ And he sayde vnto them: haue ye neuer red what Dauid dyd, when he had nede, & was an hongred, both he, & they that were with him/ *1.Re.xxi.b. * how he went into the house of God in the dayes of Abiathar the hye Preast, and dyd eate the shewbread, (whych is not lawfull to eate, but for the Preistes onely) & gaue also to them whych were with hym/ And he sayde vnto them: the Sabboth was made for man, & not man for the Sabboth. Therfore is the sonne of man, Lorde also of the Sabboth.

C. The iij. Chapter.

C The healyng the man with the wyzed hande, that is the Sabboth, & castyng out the vncleane spirit, whych the Scribes accepte vnto the dede. The blasphemy, frute and mother of Envy.

A Nd he entred agayne into the synagoge, and ther was a mā there whych had a * wythzed hande. And they watched hym, whether he wolde heale hym on the Sabboth daye, that they myght accuse hym. And he sayde vnto the man whych had the wythzed hāde: aryse, and stāde in the middes. And he sayeth vnto them, whether is it lawfull to do good on the Sabboth dayes, or to do euyll/ to saue lyfe, or to kyll/ But they helde their peace. And whan he had looked round about on them, wyth anger, mournynge on the blyndnes of their hertes, he sayeth to the mā, * stretch forth thine hande. And he stretched it out. * And hys hāde was restozed, euen as whole as the other.

*Mat.xii. * And the Phariseis departed, & streight waye gathzed a councell (with them that belonged to Herode) agaynst hym, that they myght destroye him. But Jesus auoyded wt his disciples to the see. * And a greate multitude folowed hym from Galile: and from Jurie, and from Jerusalem, and from Idumea, and from beyonde Jozdane, * and they ꝑ dwelled about Tyre and Sidon, a greate multitude of mē: which (whē they had herde what thinges he dyd) came vnto hym.
*Mat.iiii. Luke.vi.
*Mat.iiii. Luke.vi. Mark.iii.

And Jesus cōmaunded his disciples, that a ship shuld wayt on hym, because of ꝑ people, lest they shuld thronge him. For he had healed many, in somoch that they preased vpon him, for to touch him, as many as had plages. And when the vncleane spirites sawe him, they fell downe before him, & cryed, sayinge: thou art the sonne of God. And he straytly charged them, that they shuld not make him knowne.

And he went vp into a mountayne, & called vnto hym whom he wolde, and they came vnto him. * And he ozdeyned the twelue that they shuld be with him, and ꝑ he myght sende thē forth to preach: & that they myght haue power to heale sykenesses, & to cast out deuyls. And he gaue vnto Symon to name, Peter. And he called James the sonne of zebede and John, James brother, and gaue thē to name Boanarges, whych is to saye, the sonnes of thonder. And Andrew, & Philip, and Bartholomew, and Mathew, & Thomas, and James the sonne of Alphe, and Thaddeus, and Symon of Canaan, & Judas Iscariot: whych also betrayed him.
*Mat.x.
C

And they came into the house, and ꝑ people assembled together agayne, so that they had not leysar, so much as to eate breed. And when they that belonged vnto hym, heard of it, they went out to laye handes vpō him. For they sayde: he is madd. And ꝑ Scribes whych came downe from Jerusalem, sayde: he hath Belzebub, and * by the chefe deuyll, * Mat.xii. Mar.iii.b. Lu.xi.b. casteth he out deuyls. And he called thē vnto him, and sayde vnto them in parables.

How can Satan dryue out Satan/ And yf a realme be deuyded agaynste it selfe, that realme cannot endure: And yf a house be deuided againste it selfe, that house cannot cōtynue. And yf Satan make insurrecyon agaynst him selfe, & be deuided, he cannot cōtynue, but hath an ende: No man can entre into a stronge mans house, & take awaye hys goodes, excepte he fyrst bynde ꝑ stroge man, & then spoyle his house. Verely I saye vnto you, all synnes shalbe forgeuen vnto mens childzen: and blasphemyes wherwith soeuer they haue blasphemed. * But he ꝑ speaketh blasphemy agaynst the holy goost, hath neuer forgeuenes, but is in daunger of eternall damnacyon:
D
* Mat.xii. Lu.xii.b.

damnacyon: For they sayde: he hath an vncleane spyrete. * There came also his mother & his brethre, ād stode with out, and sent vnto hi to call him out. And ꝑ people sat aboute him, ād sayde vnto him: beholde, thy mother & thy brethren seke for the with out. And he answered them, sayinge: who is my mother and my brethren? And whan he had loked rounde about on his disciples, which sat in compasse about him, he sayde: behold my mother and my brethren. For whosoeuer doeth the wyll of God, the same is my brother and my sister and mother.

* Mat.xii.b Luke.viii.c

¶ The.iiij.Chapter.

¶ The parable of the sower. Christ stilleth the tempest of the see, which obeyed hym.

AND he began agayne, to teach by ꝑ see syde. And there gathered together vnto him moch people, so greatly that he entred into a ship, * ād sat in the see, and all the people was by the see syde on the shore. And he taught them many thinges by parables, and sayde vnto them in his doctrine / herken to: beholde, * there went out a sower to sowe. And it fortuned as he sowed, that some fell by ꝑ waye syde, and the fowles of the ayre came, and deuoured it vp: Some fell on stony grounde where it had not moch erth: and immediatly sprāge vp, because it had not deepth of erth: but as sone as the sonne was vp, it caught heat: & because it had not rotynge, it wyddred awaye.

* Mat.xiii.a

* Luke.viii.a

And some fell amonge thornes, & ꝑ thornes grew vp, and choked it, and it gaue no feute. And some fel vpon good grounde, and dyd yelde frute that sprong vp, and grewe, and brought forth, some thyrty folde, and some sixtye folde, and some an hundred folde. And he sayde vnto them: he that hath eares to heare let him heare.

And when he was alone, they that were aboute hym wyth the twelue asked hym of the parable. And he sayde vnto them. * To you is it geuen to knowe the mysterye of the kyngdome of God. But vnto them that are with out, all thinges happen by parables: ꝑ when they se, they maye se, and not discerne, ād when they heare, * they maye heare, and not vnderstande: lest at any tyme they shulde turne, and their synnes shuld be forgeuen them. And he sayde vnto them: know ye not this parable / and how then wyll ye knowe all other parables?

* Mat.xiii.b Luke.viii.b

* Esay.vi.d Mat.xiii.b Luke.viii.b Iohn.xii.d Actes.xxviii.d Rom.xi.b

* The sower soweth the worde. And they (wherof some be rehearsed to be by ꝑ waye syde) are those, where the worde is sowen: And whā they heare, Sathā cometh immediatly, and taketh awaye the worde ꝑ was sowen in theyr hertes. And lyke wyse the other that receaue sede in to the stonye grounde, are they: whych when they heare the worde, atonce receaue it wt gladnes, yet haue no rote in thē selues, and so endure but a tyme: ād anone whā trouble & persecucyō aryseth for ꝑ wordes sake, they fall immediatly. There be other also ꝑ receaue sede into thornes and those are soche as heare ꝑ worde, & ꝑ cares of this worlde, and ꝑ disceptfulnes of ryches and ꝑ lustes of other thinges, entre in and choke ꝑ worde, ād it is made vntrutfull: and other ther be, ꝑ haue receaued sede into a good ground: they are soche ꝑ heare ꝑ worde, and receaue it, so that one corne doth bringe forth thyrty, some sixty, some an hundred.

* Mat.xiii.a Luke.viii.a

And he sayde vnto them: * is the candle lyghted, to be put vnder a bushell, or vnder the table / Is it not lyghted to be put on a candelstyk? * For there is nothynge so preuy, ꝑ shall not be opened: nether hath it bene so secret, but ꝑ it shall come abroade. If eny man haue eares to heare, let him heare. And he sayde vnto them: take hede what ye heare: * with what measure ye meete, with the same shall other men measure vnto you agayne. And vnto you that heare, shall more be geuen. For * vnto him that hath, shall it be geuen, ād from him that hath not, shalbe taken awaye, euen that which he hath.

* Mat.v.b Luke.xvi.c and.xi.c.

* Mat.x.c Lu.vi.b. and.xii.a.

* Mat vii.a Lu.vi.f

* Mat xiii.b and.xxv.c Lu.viii.c and.xix.b

And he sayde: so is the kyngdome of God, euē as * yf a man shuld sowe sede in ꝑ grounde and shulde slepe, and ryse vp nyght and daye: and the sede shuld sprynge and growe vp, while he is not aware. For ꝑ earth bringeth forth frute of her selfe: fyrst the blade, then the eare, after that the full corne in the eare. But whan the frute is brought forth, anone he thrusteth in the sykell, because the haruest is come.

* Mat.xiii.b,

And he sayde: where vnto shall we lyken the kyngdome of God / or with what cōparison shall we cōpare it? * It is lyke a grayne of mustarde seed: whych when it is sowen in the earth, is lesse then all seedes that be in the earth: whan it is sowen, it groweth vp, and is greater then all herbes: and beareth greate braunches, so that the fowles of the ayre maye make their nestes vnder the shadow of it.

* Mat.xiii.b Lu.xiii.b

* And with many soche parables spake he the worde vnto them, after as they myght heare it. But wyth out parable spake he no thynge vnto thē. But whē they were alone, * he expounded all thynges to his disciples. And the same daye when euē was come, he sayde vnto them: let vs passe ouer vnto the other syde. And they lefte the people, & tooke him euen as he was in the ship. And ther were also wyth hym other shippes.

* Mat.xi i.a

* Mat.xiii.c.

* And ther arose a great storme of wynde, & ꝑ waues dashed in to ꝑ ship, so that it was now full. And he was in the sterne a slepe on a pelowe. And they awake him, & saye vnto hym: Master, carest ꝑ not, that we perishe?

* Mat.viii.c. Lu.viii.c

And he

And he rose vp, and rebuked the wynde, and sayde vnto the see: peace, be styll. And the wynde ceassed, ād ther folowed a greate calme. And he sayde vnto them: why are ye so fearfull? how happeneth it, that ye haue no fayth? And they feared exceadingly, ād sayde one to another: who is thys? for both wynde and see obeye hym.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

¶ Christ deliuereth the possessed from the vncleane spirite: the woman is frō the bloudye yssue, and rayseth the ruler his daughter.

1 AND they cam * ouer to the other syde of the see into the countre of ỹ Gaderenites. And when he was come out of the shippe, immediatly there met hym out of the graues a man possessed of an vncleane spyrite, whych had hys abydinge amonge the graues. And no man coulde bynde him: no not with cheynes, because that when he was often bounde with fetters and cheynes, he plucked the chaynes a sundre, and brake the fetters in peces, Neither coulde eny man tame hi. And alwayes, nyght and daye he was in the mountaynes and in the graues, cryeng and beatyng hym selfe wyth stones. But when he had espyed Jesus a farre of, he ranne, and worshipped him, and cryed with a loude voyce and sayde * what haue I to do wyth the: Jesus thou sonne of ỹ moost hyest God? I requyre the in the name of God that thou tormēt me not. For he sayd vnto hym: come out of the man thou foule spyrite. And he asked hym: what is thy name? And he answered and sayde vnto hym: my name is Legion, for we are many. And he prayd hym instantly, that he wolde not sende them awaye out of the countre.

13 But ther was there nye vnto the mountayns * a greate heerd of swyne feedynge, & all ỹ deuyls besought him, sayinge: sende vs in to the heerd of swyne, that we maye enter into thē. And anone Jesus gaue them leaue. And the vncleane spyrites went out, and entred in to ỹ swyne. And ỹ heerd was caryed headlyng into the see. They were allmost .ij. C). and were drowned in ỹ see. And ỹ swyne heerdes fled, and tolde it in the cytie, and in the feldes. And they went out for to se, what had happened: & came to Jesus, ād sawe him ỹ was vexed with the fende & had ỹ Legion, syt, both clothed and in his ryght mynde, ād they were afrayed. And they ỹ sawe it tolde them, how it had happened to him that was possessed wyth the deuyll: & also of ỹ swyne.

* And they beganne to praye hym, that he wolde departe out of their coast. ¶ * And when he was come into the shippe, he ỹ had the deuyll, prayed hym, that he myght be wt him, howbeit, Jesus wolde not suffre hym, but sayde vnto him: go to thyne awne house and to thy frendes, and shewe thē how great thynges the Lorde hath done for ỹ, and how he hath had compassyon on the. And he departed, & beganne to publyshe in the tenapytes, how greate thinges Jesus had done for hym, and all men dyd merueyle. C

And when Jesus was come ouer agayne by shyppe vnto the other syde, moch people gathered vnto him, and he was nye vnto the see. * And behalde, ther came one of the rulers of ỹ Synagoge, whose name was Jairus: and when he sawe him, he fel downe at his fete, and besought hym greatly, sayinge: my daughter lyeth at poynt of deeth, I pray the come, and laye thy hande on her, that she maye be safe ād lyue. And he wēt with hym, & moch people folowed him, & thrōged hym.

* And ther was a certen woman, which had bene diseased of an yssue of blonde. xij. peces, ād had suffred many thinges of many physycions, & had spent all ỹ she had, & felte none amendment at all, but rather was worsse, and worsse. Whē she had herde of Jesus, she came in ỹ preasse behinde him, & touched his garment. For she sayde: yf I maye but touch his clothes, I shall be whole. And streyght waye the fountayne of her blonde was dryed vp, & she felt in her body, that she was healed of that plage.

And Jesus immediatly felynge in hi selfe, that vertue proceaded frō him, tourned him aboute in the preasse, ād sayde, who touched my clothes? And hys dysciples sayde vnto him: ỹ seest the people thrust ỹ, and askest, ỹ who dyd touch me? And he loked rōnd about for to se her that had done thys thynge. But the woman fearing and trēbling (knowyng what was done wyth in her) came, and fell downe before him, & tolde him all the truth. And he sayd vnto her: Daughter * thy fayth hath saued the: go in peace, and be whole of thy plage.

* Whyll he yet spake, ther came frō the ruler of the Synagoges house, certayne which sayd: thy daughter is deed: why diseasest ỹ ỹ Master any further? Assone as Jesus hearde the worde that was spoken, he sayde vnto the ruler of ỹ Synagoge: be not afrayed, onely beleue. And he suffred no man to folowe him, saue Peter, and James, ād John the brother of James. * And he came vnto the house of the ruler of the Synagoge, and sawe the wondringe: and them that wepte and wayled greatly, and went in, and sayde vnto thē: why make ye this a doo, ād wepe? The damosell is not deed, but slepeth. And they laught him to scorne. But he put them all out, and taketh the father ād the mother of the damosell, and them that were wyth him, and entreth in where the damosell laye, & taketh the damosell by the hande, & sayeth vnto hyr: Tabita, cumi: whych is (yf one do interprete it) damosell, I saye vnto ỹ: aryse. D

And streyght

And streyght waye the damosell arose, and walked. For she was of the age of twelue yeres. And they were astonyed out of measure. And he charged them straytely, that no man shuld knowe of it, and commaunded, to geue her meate.

¶ The.vj.Chapter.

¶ Christ sendeth hys Apostles to heale them that were diseased. Of Johns Herode. Of the.v.loues and.ij. fyshes. And of the walkynge on the see.

AND he *departed thence, & cam into hys awne countre, and hys dyscypples folowed hym. And when the Sabboth daye was come, he begāne to teache in the synagoge. And many that hearde hym were astonnyed, and sayd: from whence hath he these thynges? And what wysdome is thys that is geuen vnto hym: and suche vertues þ are wrought by hys handes? *Is not thys the carpenter Maryes sonne, the brother of James and Joses and of Juda & Symon? & are not hys systers here wyth vs? And they were offended at hym. Jesus sayd vnto thē: *a Prophet is not despysed, but in hys awne countre, and amonge hys awne kynne, ād in his owne housholde. And he coulde there shewe no myracle, but layde hys handes vpō a fewe sycke folcke, and healed them, and merueyled, because of theyr vnbeleffe.

*And he went aboute by the tounes that laye on euery syde, teaching. *And he called the twelue, and beganne to sende them forth two & two, and gaue thē power agaynst vncleane spretes. And cōmaūded thē, that they shuld take nothing in their iorney (saue a rodde onely: no scrippe, no bread, no money in theyr purse, but shuld be shood wt sandals. And that they shuld not put on two cootes. And he sayde vnto thē: whersoeuer ye entre in to an house, there abide, tyll ye departe thēce. * And whosoeuer shall not receaue you nor heare you, whē ye departe thence, shake of þ dust that is vnder youre fete, for a witnesse vnto them. * I saye verely vnto you: it shalbe easier for Sodom & Gomor in the daye of iudgement, then for that cytie. †And they wēt out & preached, that men shuld repent: & they cast out many deuyls: & annoynted many þ were sycke wyth oyle, and healed them.

*And kynge Herode hearde of hym (for hys name was spred abroade) and he sayde: John Baptyste is rysen agayne frō þ deed, & therfore myracles are wrought by hi. Other sayd it is Helyas: some sayd: it is a prophet, as one of the Prophetes. But when Herode hearde of hym, he sayde: it is John whom I beheaded, he is rysen from deeth agayne. †For Herode hym selfe had sent forth men of warre, and layed handes vpon John, and bounde hym, & cast hym into prison for Herodias sake, hys brother Philippes wyfe (because he had maryed her). For John sayde vnto Herode. *It is not lawfull for þ to haue thy brothers wyfe. Herodias layd wayte for hym, and wolde haue kylled him, but she coulde not. For Herod feared John, knowig that he was a iust mā & an holy: & gaue hym reuerence: and when he hearde hym, he dyd many thynges, and hearde hym gladly.

And when a cōuenyent daye was come, þ Herode on hys * byrth daye, made a supper to þ lordes hye captayns, & chefe estates of Galile: & whā þ daughter of the same Herodias cam in, & daunced, & pleased Herode & thē that sate at bourde also: the kynge sayde vnto þ damosell: aske of me what thou wilt, and I wyll geue it the. *And he sware vnto hyr: whatsoeuer þ shalt aske of me, I wyll geue it þ, euen vnto þ one halfe of my kyngdome. And she went forth, & sayde vnto her mother: what shall I aske? she sayd: John Baptystes head. And she cām in streyght waye wyth haste vnto þ kynge, & asked, sayinge: I wyll, þ thou geue me by and by in a charger, the heed of John Baptyst. And þ kynge was sory: howbeit for hys othes sake, and for theyr sakes whych sate at supper also, he wolde not cast her off. And immediatly the kyng sent the hangman, and commaunded hys head to be brought in. And he went, and beheaded hym in the preson, and brought his head in a charger, and gaue it to the damosell, and the damosell gaue it to her mother. And when hys dyscypples hearde of it, they came, and toke vp hys body, and layed it in a graue.

And the Apostles gathered thē selues together vnto Jesus, ād told hym all thynges both what they had done, ād what they had taught. And he sayd vnto thē *come ye alone out of þ waye into the wyldernes, & rest a whyle. For there were many commers, and goers, and they had no leasure so moch as to eate. †And he went by shyp out of the waye into a deserte place. And the people spyed thē when they departed: & many knewe hym, & rāne a fote thyther out of all cyties, and cam thyther before thē, and came together vnto hym. And Jesus wēt out & sawe moche people, * & had cōpassyon on thē, because † they were lyke shepe, not hauinge a shepherde. And he beganne to teach thē many thynges.

*And when þ daye was now farre spent, hys dyscyples came vnto hym, sayinge: thys is a desert place, and now the tyme is farre passed, let them departe, that they maye go into the countrey round about, and into the tounes, & bye them bread: for they haue nothynge to eate. He answered and sayd vnto them, geue ye them to eate. And they sayde vnto hi: shall we go & bye two hūdred penyworth of bread, & geue thē to eate? he sayde vnto thē: *how many loaues haue ye. Go & loke. And whē they had searched, they sayd:

fyue & two fyshes. And he cõmaũded them, to make them all syt doune by cõpanyes vpõ the grene grasse. And they sate doune here arowe and there arowe, by hundredes ãd by fyttes. And whã he had taken the fyue loaues and the two fyshes, ãd loked vp to heauen, he ☞ blessed and brake the loaues, and gaue them to hys disceppies, to set before thẽ: & the two fyshes deuided he amõg them all. And they all dyd eate, and were satysfyed. And they toke vp twelue basshettes full ther of, ãd of the fyshes. And they that dyd eate, were about fyue thousand men.

F
* mat. xviii. c. * And streyght waye he caused his disciples to go into the shyppe, and to go ouer the see before vnto Bethsayda, whyle se sẽt awaye the people. * And assone as he had sent them awaye, he departed into a moũtayne to pray.
* mat. xviii. c. Johñ. vi. b. ✠ And whẽ euẽ was come, the shyppe was in the myddes of the see, and he alone on the lande, & he sawe them troubled in rowynge, for the wynde was cõtrary vnto them. And aboute the fourth watch of the nyght, he came vnto them, walkynge vpon the see, ãd wolde haue passed by thẽ. But whẽ they sawe hym walkynge vpõ ꝑ see, they supposed it had bene a spyrite, & cryed out: for they all sawe hym, and were afrayed. And anone he G talked wyth them, and sayd vnto them: be of
* mat. xiiii. c. good cheare, it is I, be not afrayed. * And he went vp vnto them into the shyppe, & the wynde ceased, & they were sore amased in thẽ selues beyõde measure, and marueyled. For they remembred not of the loaues, because their herte was blynded.

And whan they were ouer the water, they came into the lande of Genezareth & drue vp into the hauen. And assone as they were come out of ꝑ shyppe, streyght waye they knewe him, and ranne forth through out all the regyon rounde about, & began to cary about in beddes those that were sycke, when they heard that he was there. And whyther soeuer he entred, into tounes, cytyes, or vyllages, they layde the sycke folkes in the streates, & prayed hym that they myght touche, & it were but the hẽme of hys vesture. And as many as touched hym, were safe. ✠

¶ The. vij. Chapter.

¶ The disceples eate with vnwaslhen handes. The commaundement of God is tranigressed by mennes tradycions. Of the woman of Syrophenycia. Of the Sabboth.

A
* Mat. xv. a

ND * the Pharyses came together vnto hym, & dyuers of ꝑ Scrybes whych came frõ Ierusalem. And when they sawe certaine of his disceples eate bread wyth commen (that is to saye, with vnwesshen) handes, they complayned. For the Pharyses and all the Iewes, except they washe their handes ofte, eate not, obseruyng ꝑ tradicyons of the elders. And when they come frõ the market, except they washe, they eate not. And many other thynges there be, which they haue taken vpon thẽ to obserue, as the washynge of cuppes and cruses, and, brasen vessels, and of tables.

Then asked hym the Pharyses & Scribes: B why walke not thy disceples accordyng to the custome, ordeyned by the elders, but eate bread wyth vnwasshen handes? He answered & sayd vnto thẽ: well prophesyed Esayas of you, ypocrytes, as it is wrytten: * Thys people honoreth me wyth theyr lyppes, but theyr herte is farre frõ me: howbeit, in vayne do they serue me, teachyng the doctrines ãd cõmaũdemẽtes of mẽ. For ye laye ꝑ cõmaundement of God aparte, & obserue ꝑ constitucyõs of mẽ, as ꝑ washyge of cruses & of cuppes, ãd many other soch lyke thynges ye do.
* Mark vii. a

And he sayde vnto thẽ: well, ye cast a syde the commaundemẽt of God, to mayntayne youre awne cõstitucyõs. * For Moses sayd: honoure thy father & thy mother: & * whoso curseth father or mother, let him dye ꝑ death. But ye saye: a mã shall saye to father or mother, Corban: whych is: ☞ what gyfte soeuer commeth fro me, shalbe for thy profyt. And so ye suffre him no more to do ought for hys father or his mother, and make ꝑ worde of God of none effecte, through youre awne constitucyon whych ye haue ordeyned. And many soche thynges do ye.
* Exo. xx. Deute. v. & xxvii. Leui. xix. Prouer. i.

And whan he had called all the people vnto hym, he sayde vnto thẽ: herken vnto me, C euery one of you, and vnderstande. * There * Mat. xv. is nothynge wyth out a man that can defyle him, whẽ it entreth into him: but the thynges whych proceade out of a man, those are they that defyle the man. If eny man haue eares to heare, let hym heare. And when he came in to the house awaye from the people, his disceples asked him of ꝑ symilitude. And he sayd vnto thẽ: are ye also so greatly wyth out vnderstãdinge? Do ye not yet perceaue, ꝑ what soeuer thynge from wout, entreth in to a mã, it cãnot defyle hi, because it entreth not into his hert but into ꝑ bely: & goeth out into the draught, purgyng out all meates?
* Mat. xv. b

And he sayde: that whych commeth out of a man defyleth the man. For from wyth in, euen out of the herte of men proceade euyll thoughtes, aduoutry, fornicacyon, murther, theft, couetousnes, fraude, decepte, vnclenes, a wycked eye, blasphemyes, pryde, folysshnes: all these euyll thynges come frõ wyn, and defyle a man. * And from thence he * Mat. xv. rose, & went into ꝑ borders of Tyre & Sidõ: & entred into an house, & wolde ꝑ no mã shuld haue knowẽ. But he coulde not be hyd. For a certayne woman (whose daughter had a foule spyrite) as soone as she heard of hym, came, and fell at hys fete. The woman was a Greke out of ꝑ nacyõ of Syrophenicia, & she besought beſought him, that he wolde caſt out the deuyl from her daughter. But Jeſus ſayd vnto her: let the chyldren fyrſt be fedd. For it is not mete, to take the chyldrens bread, and to caſt it vnto whelpes. She anſwered & ſayde vnto hym: euen ſo lorde, *neuertheleſſe, the whelpes alſo eat vnder the table of the chyldrens cromes. And he ſayde vnto her: for thys ſayinge go thy waye, the deuyl is gone out of thy daughter. And when she was come home to her houſe, she founde that the deuyll was departed, and her daughter lyinge on the bedd.

✠ *And he departed agayne frō the coaſtes of Tyre and Sidon, and came vnto the ſee of Galile thorow the myddes of the coaſtes of the ten cyties. *And they broughte vnto him one that was deaffe ād had an impediment in hys ſpeche, and they prayd hym to put his hande vpō him. And when he had taken hym aſyde from the people, he put hys fyngers into hys eares, and dyd ſpyt, & touched hys tonge, and loked vp to heauen, and ſyghed, and ſayde vnto hym: Ephata, that is to ſaye, be opened. And ſtraycht waye his eares were opened, and the ſtryng of his tounge was lowſed, and he ſpake playne. *And he commaunded thē, that they ſhulde tell no man. But the more he forbad them, ſo moch the more a greate deale they publiſſhed, ſaying: he hath done all thynges well, he hath made both the deaffe to heare, and the dome to ſpeake. ✠

¶ The. viij. Chapter.

¶ The myracle of the fyuen loues. The Phariſes aſke a ſygne. The leuen of the Phariſes. The blynde receaueth hys ſyght.

IN thoſe dayes *whē ther was a very great company, and had nothynge to eate. Jeſus called his diſciples to him, and ſayde vnto them: I haue compaſſion on the people, becauſe they haue nowe bene wt me thre dayes, and haue nothing to eate: and yf I ſende thē awaye faſtyng to theyr awne houſes, they ſhall faynt by the waye. *For diuers of them came from farre. And his diſcypples anſwered hym: where ſhulde a man haue bread here in the wyldernes to ſatyſfye theſe? And he aſked them: how many loues haue ye? They ſayde: ſeuen. And he cōmaunded the people to ſyt downe on the grounde. And he toke the ſeuen loues, and whan he had geuen thanckes, he brake, and gaue to hys diſcypples, to ſet before them. And they did ſet them before the people. And they had a fewe ſmall fyſches. And whan he had bleſſed, he commaunded them alſo to be ſett before them. And they dyd eate, and were ſuffyſed. And they toke vp of the broken meate that was left ſeuen baſcettes full. And they that dyd eate: were about foure thouſande. And he ſent them awaye. ✠

And anone he entred into a ſhyp with his diſciples, and came into the parties of Dalmanutha. *And the Phariſes came forth, and beganne to diſpute with hym, ſekynge of hym a ſygne from heauen, tēptynge hym. And whan he had ſyghthed in hys ſpirite, he ſayeth: why doth thys generacyon ſeke a ſygne? Verely I ſaye vnto you, there ſhall no ſygne be geuen vnto thys generacyon. And he left them, and went into the ſhip agayne, and departed ouer the water.

And they had forgotten to take bread wt them, nether had they in the ſhyp with them more then one loafe. And he charged them, ſaying. ✠ *Take hede, beware of the leuen of the Phariſes, and of the leuen of Herode. And they reaſoned amonge them ſelues ſayenge: We haue no bread. And Jeſus knewe it, and ſaith vnto thē: why take ye thought, becauſe ye haue no breed? perceaue ye not yet nether vnderſtande? haue ye youre hert yet blynded? haue ye eyes, and ſe not? and haue ye eares, and heare not? Do ye not alſo remēbre? *When I brake fyue loaues among fyue thouſande men, how many baſkettes full of broken meat toke ye vp? They ſaye vnto him, twelue. *When I brake ſeuen amonge foure thouſand, how many baſkettes of the leaupynges of the broken meate toke ye vp? They ſayd: ſeuē. And he ſayd vnto thē: how happeneth it that ye do not vnderſtande?

✠ And he came to Bethſayda, and they broughte a blinde man vnto hym, and deſired hym to touche him. And he caught the blynde by the hand, and lead him out of the towne: and wt an he had ſpyt in his eyes, ād put his handes vpō him, he aſked him yf he ſawe ought. And he loked vp, & ſayd: I ſe the men: for I perceaue thē walke, as they were trees. After that, he put hys handes agayne vpon hys eyes, and made hym ſe. And he was reſtored, and ſawe euery man clearly. And he ſent him home to his houſe, ſaieng: nether go into ỳ towne, ner tel it to eny in ỳ towne. ✠

*And Jeſus went out, & hys diſciples into the townes that longe to the cytie called Ceſarea Philippi. And by the waye he aſked his diſciples, ſaying vnto thē: whom do mē ſaye ỳ I am? And they anſwered: ſome ſaye, that thou art John baptiſt, & ſome ſaye, helias. Agayne, ſome ſaye, that that thou arte one of the nōbre of the ꝓphetes. And he ſayde vnto them: but whom ſaye ye ỳ I am? Peter anſwereth & ſayth vnto him: *thou art very Chriſt. And he charged thē, that they ſhulde tell no mā of him. And he begāne to teach thē *how that the ſonne of mā muſt ſuffre many thinges, and be reproued of the elders, and of the hye preſtes, and ſcribes, and be kylled, & after thre dayes aryſe agayne. And he ſpake that ſayinge openly. And Peter toke hym aside, and began to chyde him. But he turned about, and loked on hys disciples, and rebuked Peter, saying: Go after me Satan. For thou sauerest not the thinges that be of God, but the thynges that be of men.

* Mat.xvi.b. and.c.d Luke.ix.c. and.xxii.d

* And when he had called the people vnto hym with hys disciples also, he sayde vnto them. Whosoeuer wyll folowe me, lett hym forsake him self, and take vp hys crosse, and folowe me. For whosoeuer will saue his life, shall lose it. But whosoeuer shall lose his life, for my sake & the gospels, the same shall saue it. For what shall it profet a man, yf he wynne all the world, and lose his awne soule? or what shall a man geue to redeme hys soule with all agayne? * Whosoeuer therfore shalbe ashamed of me and of my wordes, in thys aduoutrous and synfull generacion: of hym also shall the sonne of man be ashamed, when he commeth in the glorye of hys father with the holy angels.

* Mat.x.c Luke.xii.b

¶ The.ix. Chapter.

¶ The transfiguracyon. The lunaryke hys healed. The disputacyon who shulde be the greatest. Offences are forbydden.

A

* Mat.xvi.b Luke.ix.c

AND he sayd vnto them: Verely, I saye vnto you: * Ther be some among thē that stande here, which shall not taste of death, tyll they haue sene the kyngdome of God come with power.

* Mat.xvii.a Luke.ix.c

* And after sixe dayes Jesus taketh Peter and James, and John, and leedeth them vp into an hye mountayne out of the waye alone: and he was transfigured before them. And hys raymēt dyd shyne, and became very whyte, euen as snowe: so whyt as no fuller can make vpon the earth. And ther appeared vnto thē Elias with Moses. And they talked with Jesu. And Peter answered & sayth to Jesu: Master, here is good beynge for vs: let vs make also .iij. tabernacles, one for the, and one for Moses, and one for Helias. For he wyst not what he sayd: for they were afrayed. And there was a cloude that shadowed them. And a voyce came out of ỹ cloude, saying: * Thys is my beloued sonne: heare hym. And sodenly whan they had loked rounde aboute, they sawe no man moze then Jesus onely with them.

* Mat.iii.b and.xvii.b Lu.iii.b.ix.c Mat.i.b Esa.xlii.a

* And as they came downe frō the hyll, he charged them, ỹ they shuld tell no man those thynges that they had sene, tyll the sonne of man were rysen frō death agayne. And they kepte that saieng with them, and demaūded one of another, what the rysyng from death agayne shulde meane? And they asked hym, sayenge: why then saye the scribes, that Helias must first come? he answered and sayd: vnto thē: * Helias verely when he commeth fyrst, restoreth all thynges. And the sonne of mā (as it * is writen of him) shall suffre many thynges, & be sett at naught. But I saye vnto you, that Helias is come, and they haue done vnto hym what soeuer they wolde, as it was wryten of hym.

* Mat.xvii.b Mat.i.b

* Mala.iii.d

* Esa.liii.a

And whā he came to hys disciples, he sawe moch people about them, & the scribes disputing w them. And streight waye all the people (whā they behelde hym) were amased, and ran to hym, & saluted hym. And he asked the scribes: what dispute ye amōg thē? ✠ * And one of the company answered, & sayde: Master, I haue brought vnto ỹ my sōne, whych hath a dome spyrte. And whensoeuer he taketh him, he teareth him, and he foometh, and gnasheth with hys teth, and pineth awaye. And I spake to thy disciples that they shuld caste hym out, and they coulde not.

C

* Mat.ix.a Luke.xi.a

He answereth him, and sayth: O faithles nacion, how lōge shall I be wt you? How lōge shall I suffre you? Bryng hym vnto me. And they brought hi vnto hym. And assone as the spyrte sawe hym, he tare hi. And he fell downe on the ground, walowing & foming. And he asketh his father: how lōge is it ago: sens thys happened hym? And he sayde: of a chylde: & oft tymes it hath cast hym into the fyre, & into the water, to destroye hym. But yf thou canst do eny thing, haue mercy on vs and helpe vs. Jesus sayd vnto hym: yf thou coulddest beleue * all thynges are possyble to hym that beleueth. And streyght waye the father of the chyld cried with teares, saieng, Lord, I beleue, helpe thou myne vnbeleefe.

* mat.xvii.a

D

When Jesus sawe ỹ the people came runnyng together vnto him, he rebuked ỹ foule spyrte, saying vnto hym: Thou dōme & deeff spyrte, I charge the come out of him, and entre nomoze into him. And the spyrte (whā he had cried, & rent hym soze) came out of hym, and he was as one that had bene dead, in so moch that many sayd: he is dede. But Jesus caught hys hand, and lyft him vp: and he rose. And when he was come into the house, * his disciples asked hym secretly: why coulde not we cast hym oute? And he sayde vnto them: this kynde can come forth by nothing: but by prayer and fastynge. ✠

* Mat.xvii.a

And they departed thens, & toke theyr iorney thorow Galile, and he wold not, that eny man shuld knowe it. For he taught hys disciples, and sayd vnto them: * the sonne of man shalbe deliuered into the handes of mē, and they shall kyll hym: and after that he is kylled, he shall aryse agayne the thyrd daye. But they wist not what he sayde, and were afrayed to aske him. And he came to Capernaū. And whē he was come into ỹ house, he asked thē: what was it ỹ ye dispured among your selues by ỹ waye? And they helde their peace: for by the waye they had reasoned among them selues, who shuld be the chefest. And when he was set downe, he called the twelue to hym, and sayd vnto thē: yf eny mā

E

* mat.xvii.c Luke.xi.c

desyre

delyre to be fyrst, the same shalbe last of all, and seruaunt to all. * And he toke a chylde, and set hym in the myddes of thē: & when he had taken hym in hys armes, he sayde vnto them: whosoeuer receaueth eny soche a childe in my name, receaueth me. And whosoeuer receaueth me, receaueth not me, but hym that sent me. ✠

* mat.xviii.a Luc.ix.f.

If John answered hym, sayinge: ✠ Master, we sawe one cast out deuyls in thy name, & he foloweth not vs: ād we forbade hym, because he foloweth vs not. But Jesus sayde: forbyd him not. For * ther is no man whych (yf he do a myracle in my name) can lyghtely speake euill of me. For he yis not agaynst vs, is on oure parte. * Whosoeuer shall in my name geue you a cuppe of water to drincke, because ye belonge to Chryste, verely I saye vnto you: he shall not loose hys reward.

1 Cor.xii.a.

* mat.xviii.a

* And whosoeuer shall offende one of these lytel ōs, that beleue in me, it were better for hym, yf a mylstone were hanged about his necke, and he were cast into the see. * Wherfore yf thy hande hynder the, cut it of. It is beter for the, to entre into lyfe maymed, then (haupnge two handes) to go into hell, into fyre that neuer shalbe quenched, where

* mat.xviii.b

* Mar.ix.g.

* they r worme dyeth not, and the fyre goeth not out. And yf thy fote be a hynderaūce vnto ẏ, cut it of. It is better for ẏ to go halt into lyfe, then (haupnge two fete) to be cast into hell, into fyre that neuer shalbe quenched: where they r worme dyeth not, and the fyre goeth not out. * And yf thyne eye hinder the plucke it out. It is better for the to go into the kyngedome of God wyth one eye, then (haupnge two eyes) to be cast into hell fyre: where they r worme dyeth not, and the fyre goeth not out. ✠

* mat.v.f.

☞ Euery man shalbe salted wyth fyre. * And euery sacrifyce shalbe seasoned with salt. † Salt is good. But yf the salt be vnsauery, what shall ye season ther wyth? haue salt in youre selues: and haue peace amonge youre selues, one wyth another.

* Mat.v.d. & Mat.v.b. Luc.xiii.g.

† Mar.ix.b.

¶ The.x. Chapter. ✠

¶ Of diuorcement. Therych man quicklygneth with Christ. Of the louers of ychedee. Barthymeus the blynde man.

AND whan he rose from thence, he * went into the coastes of Jurye thrōugh the regyon that is beyonde Jordan: And the people resorted vnto hym a fresshe. and as he was wont, he taught them agayne. And the Pharyses came, and asked hym. Is it lawfull for a man to put awaye hys wyfe: to proue hym. And he answered, and sayd vnto thē: * what dyd Moses byd you do: and they sayde, Moses suffred to wrytte a testimonall of deuorsemēt, and to put her awaye. And Jesus answered and sayde vnto them: For the hardnes of youre herte he wrote thys precept vnto you. But at the fyrst creacyon. † God made them man and woman. Therfore shall a mā leaue hys father & mother, & byde by hys wyfe, * & they twayne shalbe one flesshe. So then are they now not twayne, but one flesshe. Therfore, what God hath coupled together let not man separate.

* Mat.xix.a

* Deu.xxiiii.a Mat.xix.a.

† Gene.i.d

† 1. Cor.vi.b. Mat.xix.a. * Ephe.v.a Gene.ii.b.

B And in the house hys disciples asked him againe of the same matter. And he sayeth vnto them. * Whosoeuer putteth awaye hys wyfe, & marryeth another, breaketh wedlocke to her warde. And yf a womā forsake her husband, and be maryed to another, she committeth aduoutrye. ✠ * And they brought chyldren to hym, that he shulde touch them. And hys disciples rebuked those that broughte them. But when Jesus sawe it, he was displeased & sayd vnto them: Suffre the chyldren to come vnto me, forbyd them not. For of soch is the kyngdome of God. Verely I saye vnto you, whosoeuer doth not receaue ẏ kyngdome of God * as a childe, he shal not entre therin. And whā he had taken thē vp in hys armes, he put his handes vpon them, and blessed them. ✠

* Mat.x.d. and.xix.a. Luk.xvii.b.

* mat.xviii.a Luk.xviii.a.

✠ And when he was gone forth into the waye, ther came one rūnynge and kneled to hym, & asked hym: * good master, what shal I do, that I maye enheret eternall lyfe? Jesus sayde vnto hym: why callest ẏ me good? There is nomā good, but one, which is God. Thou knowest the cōmaundementes: breake not matrimony: kyll not: steale not, beare no false wytnes: defraude no man: honoure thy father and mother. He answered ād sayd vnto hym: Master, all these I haue obserued from my youth. Jesus beheld hym, and fauoured hym, and sayd vnto hym: one thynge thou lackest. * Go thy waye (☞ sell that thou hast, and geue to the poore, and ẏ shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, folowe me ✠ and take vp my crosse vpon thy shulders. But he was discōforted because of that sayinge, and went awaye mournyng for he had great possessyons.

C

* Mat.xix.b. Luk.xviii.d

* mat.xix.f Luk.xviii.e

And whā Jesus had looked roūde aboute, he sayde vnto his disciples. * How vneasye shall they ẏ haue money: entre into the kyngdome of God. And the disciples were astonnyed at hys wordes. But Jesus answereth againe, & sayeth vnto thē: childrē, how harde is it for thē, that trust in money, to entre into ẏ kyngdome of God? It is easyer for a camell to go thorow ẏ eye of an nedle, then for the ryche to entre into ẏ kyngdome of God. And they were astonnyed out of measure, sayinge bet wene them selues: who then can be saued? Jesus loked vpon them, and sayd. with mē it is vnpossible, but not with God: for * with God all thynges are possyble.

D

* Iecha.xiii.b

And Peter begāne to saye vnto hym: Lo:

*Mat.xix.c Luk.xviii.c *we have forsaken all, & have folowed the. Jesus answerd, & sayde: Verely I saye vnto you, ther is no mã that hath forsake house, or brethre, or systers, or father, or mother, or wyfe, or chyldren, or landes for my sake & the Gospelles, but he shall receaue an hũdred foold nowe in this lyfe, houses and brethren, and systers, and mothers, and chyldren, and landes wyth persecucyons: & in ỹ worlde to come, eternall lyfe. *But many ỹ are fyrst, shalbe last: & ỹ last, fyrst. And they were in ỹ waye goynge vp to Jerusalem. And Jesus went before them, and they were amased, & folowed, and were afrayde.

*Mat.xx.b Luk.xviii.c

And Jesus toke the twelue agayne, and beganne to tell thẽ what thynges shulde happẽ vnto hym. *Beholde, we go vp to Jerusalem, & the sonne of mã shalbe delyuered vnto the hye Prestes and vnto the Scribes: ãd they shall condemne hym to deeth, and shall delyuer hym to the gentyls, and they shall mocke hym, and scourge hym, spyt vpõ him, and kyll hym. And thyrde daye he shall ryse agayne.

*Mat ỹvi.c. ỹvii.c.d.xx.c. Luke xviii. and xviii.c.

*And James and John the sonnes of zebedee came vnto him, sayinge: Master: we wolde, that thou shuldest do for vs whatsoeuer we desyre. he sayde vnto them: what wolde ye that I shuld do for you? They sayde vnto hym: graunt vnto vs, that we maye sytte, one on thy ryght hande, and the other on thy lyfte hande, in thy glory. But Jesus sayd vnto them: Ye wote not what ye aske: Can ye dryncke of the cup, that I dryncke of? and be baptysed wyth the baptyme, that I am baptysed with? And they sayde vnto hym: that we can. Jesus sayde vnto them: ye shall in dede dryncke of the cup that I dryncke of: ãd wyth ỹ baptyme that I am baptysed wyth all, shall ye be baptysed in: but to syt on my ryght hande & on my lyfte hande, is not myne to geue, but it shall happẽ vnto them, for whom it is prepared.

*Mat.xx.c

*Mat.xx.d

*And when ỹ ten hearde it, they began to dysdayne at James and John. But Jesus whan he had called them to hym, sayd vnto them: ye knowe, that *they whych are sene to beare rule amonge the people, raygne as Lordes ouer them. And they that be greate amõge them, exercyse auctorite vpon them. Neuertheles, so shall it not be amonge you: but whosoeuer of you wylbe greate amonge you, shalbe youre mynister. And whosoeuer wylbe chefe, shalbe seruaunt of all. For *the sonne of man also came not to be mynystred vnto: but to mynister, ãd to geue hys lyfe for the redempcyon of many.

*Mat.xx.d Luk.xviii.c

*Mat.xx.d Luk.xviii.c.

And they came to Hierico: *And as he wẽt out of ỹ cytie of Hierico wyth his disciples, and a greate nombre of people: blynde Bartymeus the sonne of Tymeus, sate by ỹ hye wayes syde beggyng. And when he hearde that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to crye, ãd to saye: Jesus, thou sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on me. And many rebuked hym, that he shuld holde hys peace. But he cryed the more a greate deale: thou sonne of Dauid haue mercy on me. And Jesus stode styll, ãd commaunded hym to be called. And they called ỹ blynde, sayinge vnto hym: Be of good comforte: ryse he calleth the. And he threwe awaye hys cloke, and rose, and came to Jesus. And Jesus answered, and sayde vnto hym: what wylt thou that I do vnto the? The blynde sayde vnto hym: Master, that I myght se. Jesus sayde vnto hym: go thy waye, thy fayth hath saued the. And immediatly he receaued hys syght, & folowed Jesus in the waye.

¶ The.xj. Chapter.

¶ Christ rydeth to Jerusalem. The fygge tre wyeth vp. The byers and sellers are cast out of the temple. The Phарysies quarrell with Christ.

AND when they came nye to Jerusalem vnto Betphage & Bethanie, besydes mount Oliuete, he sendeth forth two of hys disciples, and sayeth vnto thẽ: Go youre waye into the toune, that is ouer agaynst you. And as sone as ye be entred into it: ye shall fynde a colte bounde, wheron neuer mã sate: lose hym, and brynge hym hither. And yf eny man saye vnto you: why do ye so? Saye ye, that the Lorde hath neade of hym: and streyght waye he wyll sende hym hyther. And they went theyr waye, and found the colte tyed by the dore without in a place wher two wayes met, & they losed hym. And dyuers of them that stode there, sayde vnto them: *what do ye, losynge the colte? And they sayde vnto them, euen as Jesus had commaunded. And they let them go. And they brought the colte to Jesus and cast theyr garmentes on hym: and he sate vpon hym. And many spredde theyr garmentes in the waye. Other cut downe braunches of the trees, and strawed them in the waye. And they that went before and they that folowed: cryed, saying. Hosanna: * blessed is he that commeth in the name of the Lorde. Blessed be the kyngdome, that cõmeth in the name of hym that is Lorde of oure father Dauid: Hosanna in the hyest.

A *Mat.xxi.a Luk.xix.a

*John.xii.b

25

*Psal.cxviii. Mat.xxi.b. Luk.xix.c. John.v.b.

And the Lorde entred into Jerusalem and into the temple. And whẽ he had loked rouñd about vpon all thynges, and now the euentyde was come, he went out vnto Bethany wyth the twelue. * And on the morow when they were come out from Bethany, he hungred. And whan he had spyed a fygge tree a farre of, hauynge leaues, he came to se, yf he myght fynde eny thynge theron. And when he came to it, he founde nothynge but leaues:

*Mat.xxi.b

but leaues: for the tyme of hyggest was not
yet. And Jesus answered, and sayde vnto
the fygg tre: neuer man eate frute of the here after: wherof the wordes stãdeth. And hys disciples herde it.

C And they came to Jerusalem. And Jesus
* Mat.xxi.b. Luk.xix.b. Joan.ii.c. went into the temple, & began to * cast out
them that solde and bought in the temple, ād
ouerthrewe the tables of the money chaun-
gers, & the stoles of them that solde doues:
and wolde not suffer, that eny man shuld ca-
rye a vessell thorow ỹ temple. And he taught,
* Esa.lvi.c. xi.Reg.b viii.c Jer.vii.c. sayinge vnto them: * is it not wrytten: my house shalbe called the house of prayer vnto all nacyons? But ye haue made it a denne of theues.

And the Scribes and hye prestes herde
* Mat xxi.b. it, and sought howe to destroye hym. * For they feared hym, because all the people mar-ueled at hys doctryne. And when euen was
* mat.xx.b Luk.xi.g. xxi.c come, Jesus went out of the cytie. * And in the morninge as they passed by, they sawe ỹ fygge tree dryed vp by the rotes. And Peter remembred, and sayde vnto him: master, be-holde, the fygg tree whych thou cursedst, is wydered awaye. And Jesus answered and sayde vnto them: haue confydens in God.

✠ Verely I saye vnto you, that whosoeuer
D shall saye vnto thys mountayne: remoue, ād
* Mat.xxi.c Joan.xiiii.c cast thy selfe into the see, and shall not doute in hys herte, but shall beleue that those thin-ges which he sayeth shal come to passe, what soeuer he sayeth he shall haue. Therfore I saye vnto you, * what thinges soeuer ye de-
* Mat.vi.b and.xviij.b syre whē ye praye, beleue ỹ ye receaue them, and ye shall haue them. And when ye stand & praye, * forgeue, yf ye haue ought agaynst eny man, that youre father also whych is in heauen, maye forgeue you youre trespasses.

* Luk.xx.a. Mat.xxi.c. And they came agayne to Jerusalē. * And as he walked in the temple, ther came to him
the hye prestes, & the Scribes, & the elders,
and saye vnto hym: by what auctorite doest
thou these thynges? and who gaue the thys auctorite, to do these thynges? Jesus answered, and sayd vnto them: I will also aske
of you a certayne thynge & answere ye me, &
I will tell you by what auctorite I do these thiges. The baptime of John, whether was it frō heauen or of mē? Answer me. And they thought in thē selues, sayinge: yf we saye, frō heauē: he will saye why then did ye not beleue hym? but yf they had sayd, of mē, they feared the people. For all mē coūted John, ỹ he was a verye Prophete. And they answered & sayd vnto Jesu: we cānot tell. And Jesꝰ answered, and sayd vnto thē: nether will I tell you by what auctorite I do these thiges. ✠

C The.xij.Chapter.

C The vyneyarde is let oute. Geue to Cesar that belon geth to Cesar. Of the Saduces, of the doctors of lawe: hypo crytes must be shewed: the offrynge of the poore wydowe.

And he beganne to speake vnto A
them by parables. A certayne * Mat.xxi.b. Luk.xx.b. Esa.v.a. Joan.xv.c. Jere.xii.c. mā planted * a vyneyarde, and cōpassed it aboute w an hedge,
and ordeined a wyne presse, and bylt a toure, and let it out to hyre vnto hus-
bandmen, and went into a straūge countre.
And whē the tyme was come, he sent to the husbandmen a seruaunt, that he myght receaue of the husbandmen of the frute of the vyneyarde. And they caught hym, and bet hym, and sent hym awaye agayne emptye.
And moreouer, he sent vnto thē another ser-
uaūt, and at hym they cast stones and brake
hys heed, & sent him awaye agayne all to reuyled. And agayne, he sent another, and him they kylled: ād many other, beatynge some,
and kyllinge some.

And so whan he had yet but one beloued
sonne, he sent him also at the last vnto them,
sayinge: they will feare my sonne. * But the
* Mat.xxi.b. husbādmē sayd amōgest thē selues: this is ỹ
heyre: come * let vs kyl him, & the heritaūce
* ge.xxvij.b Luk.xx.c. shalbe oures. And they toke him & kylled hi, & cast hym out of the vyneyard. What shall therfore the Lorde of the vyneyarde do? he shall come, ād destroye the husbandmē, & let out the vyneyarde vnto other. Haue ye not
* psal.cxviii.c Mat.xxi.d. Actes.iiij.b red this scrypture? * The stone whych ỹ bu-ylders dyd refuse, is become ỹ chefe stoone of the corner? this is the Lordes doynge, & it is meruelous in oure eyes. They wēt about also to take him, & feared the people. For they knewe, ỹ he had spoken the parable agaynst
thē. And they left hym and wēt theyr waye:

* mat.xxii.b. Luk.xx.b. * And they sent vnto hym certayne of the Pharises & Herodes seruauntes, to take him in his wordes. And assone as they were come, they sayd vnto him: Master, we know we that thou arte true, & carest for no mā: for thou cō
syderest not ỹ outward appearaūce of men,
but teachest ỹ waye of God truly: Is it lau-full to paye tribute to Cesar, or not? Ought we to geue, or ought we not to geue? But he vnderstode theyr symulacyō, and sayd vnto thē: Why tempte ye me? Bringe me a peny, ỹ I maye se it. And they brought it. And he sayeth vnto thē: Whose is thys ymage & superscripcyō? And they sayde vnto hym: Cesars.
And Jesus answered, and sayde vnto them:
* Rom.xiii.b Mat.xvii.c and.xx.c. * Geue to Cesar the thinges that belonge to Cesar: and to God, the thynges whych perteyne to God. And they meruelled at hym.

There came also vnto hym the Saduces,
* Mat.xxii.a Actes.xxiii.b. Luk.xx.c. * Deu.xxv.b. * whych saye ỹ ther is no resurrecyon. And they asked hym sayinge: Master * Moses wrote vnto vs, yf eny mans brother dye, ād
leaue hys wyfe behynde hym, and leaue no
chyldren: that hys brother shuld take hys
wyfe, and reyse vp seed vnto hys brother.
There were seuen brethren, and the fyrst to-
ke a wyfe: and when he dyed, left no seed

behynde hym. And the seconde toke hyr, and dyed: nether left he any seed. And the thyrde lyke wyse. And seuen had her, ād left no seed behynde thē. Last of all the wyfe dyed also. In the resurrecyon therfore when they shall ryse agayne: whose wyfe shall she be of thē? For seuē had her to wyfe. And Jesus answered, and sayd vnto them: Do ye not therfore erre, because ye vnderstande not the scriptures, nether the power of God? For whē they shall ryse agayne frō deeth, they nether mary, nor are maryed: but are as the angels, whych are in heauē. As touching the deed, þ they ryse agayne: haue ye not redde i the boke of Moses, how in þ bushe, God spake vnto hym, sayinge: ✱ I am the God of Abrahā and the God of Isaac, ād the God of Jacob? He is no God of deed, but þ God of lyuynge. Ye are therfore greatly deceaued.

✱ Exod.iii.b. Mat.xxii.c Luke.xx

✱ Mat.xxii.d

✱ And whā ther came one of the Scrybes, and had hearde them disputynge to gether (and perceaued that he had answered them well) he asked hym: whych is the fyrst of all the cōmaundementes? Jesus answered him, the fyrste of all the commaundementes is: Heare O Israell: ✱ The Lorde oure God, is Lord onely: And thou shalt loue the Lorde thy God with all thy hert, ✱ wyth all thy soule, and wyth all thy mynde, and with all thy strength. This is the fyrste commaundment. And the seconde is lyke vnto thys: ✱ Thou shalt loue thy neyghbour as thy selfe. Ther is none other commaundment greater then these.

✱ Deu.vi.a. mat.xxii.b

✱ Leuit.xix.b. mat.xxii.b. Roma.xiii.c Gala.v.d. Jacob.ii.b. mat.b.g.

And the Scrybe sayde vnto him: well master, thou hast sayd the truthe, for ther is one God, ✱ ther is none but he. And to loue hym wyth all the herte, and wyth all the mynde, ✱ wyth all the soule, ✱ wyth all the strength: and to loue a mans neyghbour as hym selfe, is a greater thynge, then all burt offerynges and sacrifyces. And when Jesus sawe þ he answered discretly, he sayde vnto hym: Thou art not farre from the kyngdome of God. And no man after that, durst aske hym any questyon.

Jesus answered ✱ sayde, teachinge in the temple: how saye the Scrybes þ Christ is the sonne of Dauid? For Dauid him selfe inspired wt þ holy goost, sayd: ✱ The Lorde sayde to my Lorde, syt on my ryght hande tyll I make thyne enemyes thy fote stole. Dauid hi selfe calleth hi Lord: ✱ how is he then hys sonne? And moche people hearde him gladly:

D

✱ Psal.cx.a. Mat.xxii.d. Mar.xii.d. Luke.xx.b.

And he sayde vnto them in his doctrine: beware of the Scribes, which ✱ loue to go in lōge clothynge, ✱ loue salutaciōs in the market places, and the chefe seates in the congregacyons, ād the vppermost roumes at feastes: whych deuoure wydowes houses, ād vnder a pretence, make longe prayers. These shall receaue greater dampnacyon.

✠ And whan Jesus sat ouer agaynst the treasury, he beheld, ✱ how the people put money (to the treasury. And many that were ryche, cast in moch. And ther cam a certayne poore wydowe, and she threwe in two mytes, whych make a farthynge. And he called vnto hym hys disciples ✱ sayeth vnto thē. Verely I saye vnto you, that thys poore wydowe hath cast more in, then all they which haue cast into the treasury. For they all dyd cast in of their superfluyte: but she of her pouerte, dyd cast in all that she had, euen all her lyuynge. ✠

✱ Luke.xxi.a

¶ The.xiij. Chapter. ✠

¶ The ende of the worlde. The daye and the houre is vnknowen.

AND as he went out of the temple, ✱ one of his disciples sayde vnto hym: Master, se what stones, and what byldynges are here. And Jesus answered and sayde vnto hym: Seest þ these greate buyldynges? There shall not be lefte one stone vpon another, that shall not be throwen downe. And as he sate on mounte Olyuete, ouer agaynst the temple, Peter, and James, and John, and Andrew, asked hym secretly: tell vs, when shal these thynges be? And what is the sygne when all these thynges shalbe fulfylled? And Jesus answered them, and began to saye: ✱ take hede, lest any mā deceaue you. For many shall come in my name sayinge: I am Christ, and shall deceaue many.

A

✱ mat.xxiv. Luke.xxi.a

✱ mat.xxiv. Luke.xxi.a

When ye shall heare of warres, and tydinges of warres, be ye not troubled. For soch thynges must nedes be? But the ende is not yet. For ther shall nacyō aryse agaynste nacyon, and kyngdome agaynste kyngdome. And ther shalbe erth quakes in all quarters, and famyshment shall ther be, and troubles. These are þ begynnynge of sorowes. ✱ But take ye hede to youre selues. ✱ For they shall bringe you vp to the counsels, and into the synagoges, and ye shalbe beaten: yee, and shalbe brought before rulers and kinges for my sake, for a testimoniall vnto thē. ✱ And the Golspell must fyrste be publyshed amonge all nacyons.

25

✱ John.xvi. ✱ mat.x. Luke.xxi. John.xvi.

✱ mat.xxiv.

✱ But whē they leade you and present you, take ye no thought, nether ymagin afore hāde what ye shall saye: but what soeuer is geuen you in the same houre, that speake. For it is not ye þ speake, but the holy ghost. The brother shall delyuer vp the brother to deeth, and the father the sonne: and the chyldren shall ryse agaynste theyr fathers ✱ mothers, and shall put them to deeth. And ye shall be hated of all men for my names sake. But whoso endureth vnto the ende, the same shalbe safe.

✱ mat.x

✱ Wherefore

*mat.xxiiij.b Luke.xxi.b. Dani.xi.g.

*Moreouer, when ye se ꝑ abhominacion of desolacion (wherof is spoken by Daniel ꝑ prophet) stand where it ought not: let hym ꝑ readeth vnderstand. Then lett thē that be in Jury, flye to the mountaynes. And let hym that is on the house toppe, not go downe into the house, nether entre therin, to fetch eny thing out of his house. And let him that is in the felde, not tourne backe agayne vnto the thinges which he left behynde him, for to take his clothes with him. Wo shall be then to them that are with childe, and to them that geue suche in those dayes. But praye ye that youre flyght be not in the winter. For ther shalbe in those dayes suche tribulacion, as was not from the begynnyng of creatures (which God created) vnto this tyme, nether shalbe. And excepte that ꝑ Lord shuld shorte those dayes no fleshe shulde be saued. But for the electes sake, whom he hath chosen, he hath shortened those dayes.

C *mat.xxiiij.b Luke.xvij.c. *And then, yf eny man saye to you, lo here is Christ: lo, he is there, beleue not. For false Christes & false prophetes shall ryse, & shall shewe myracles & wondres, to deceaue yf it were possible, euen the electe. But take ye hede: behold, I haue shewed you all thinges before.

*mat.xxiiij.c Luke.xxi.c. *Moreouer, in those dayes, after that tribulacio, the sonne shall wexe darke, and the mone shal not geue her light, & the starres of heauen shall fall: & the powers whych are in heauen, shall moue: *And then shall they se the sonne of man commynge in the cloudes, wt greate power & glory. And then shall he sende hys angels, & shall gather together his electe frō the fowre wyndes, from the ende of the erthe, to the vttemost parte of heauen.

*Dani.vij.c

*mat.xxiiij.d Luke.xxi.f. *Learne a symilitude of the tygge tree. When his braunche is yet tender, and hath brought forth leaues, ye knowe, ꝑ sommer is neare. So ye in lyke maner: when ye se these thynges come to passe: vnderstand, that he is nye euen at ꝑ dores. Verely I saye vnto you, that thys generacio shall not passe, tyll these thinges be done. Heauen and erth shall passe, but my wordes shall not passe, But of that daye & tyme knoweth no man: no not ꝑ Angels which are in heauen: ☞ nether the sonne him selfe: saue the father only.

D

☞

*mat xxiiij.d Luke.xii.e. xxi.d. Marc.xiij.d. Luke.xix.b. *Take hede, watche & praye, for ye knowe not when the tyme is. *As a man which is gone into a straunge contrey, and hath lefte his house, and geuen his substaūce to his seruauntes, and to euery man his worke, and commaunded the porter to watche. Watche ye therfore, for ye knowe not whē the master of the house will come, at euen, or at mydnyght, whether at the cocke crowyng, or in ꝑ dawnynge: lest yf he come sodenly, he finde you sleppynge. And that I saye vnto you, I saye vnto all. watche.

C The.xiiij. Chapter.

C Mary Magdalen anoynteth Christ. The rulers take counsell to take Christ. Judas betrayeth him. Christ eateth the Passeouer with his disciples. He telleth that one of them betrayeth him. He instituteth the Supper. He telleth that all they shall forsake him. Peter denyeth him. He prayeth. Judas betrayeth him with a kysse. He is taken. Peter draweth his sworde. He is led to Caiphas. Peter denyeth him. He confesseth that he is Christ. He is condemned. He is buffeted. Peter denyeth him. The cocke crowyng. Peter remembreth Christ.

After two dayes was Easter, and the dayes of swete breed * And ꝑ hye Priestes ād ꝑ Scribes sought, how they myght take hym by crafte, & put him to deeth. But they sayde: not in the feast daye, leest any busynes aryse amonge the people. * And whan he was at Bethania, in the house of Simon the leper, euen as he sate at meate, ther cam a woman hauyng an alabaster bore of oyntment, called Narde, that was pure and costly: & she brake the bore, & powred it on his heed. And ther were some, that were not content wyth in thē selues, & sayde: what neded this waste of oyntment? For it myght haue bene solde for more then thre hundred pens, & haue bene geuen vnto the poore. And they grudged agaynst her.

I *mat.xxvj.a. Luke.xxii.a.

*mat.xxvi.a. Johñ.xij.f.

And Jesus sayde: lett her alone, why trouble ye her? She hath done a good worke on me. * For ye haue poore wt you all wayes: & when soeuer ye wyll, ye maye do them good: but me haue ye not alwayes. She hath done ꝑ she coulde: she came afore hande, to anoynt my body to ꝑ burynge. Verely I saye vnto you: where soeuer this Gospell shalbe preached thorow out the whole worlde: this also that she hath done, shalbe rehearsed in remēbraunce of her.

*deut.xv.c.

25

*And Judas Iscarioth, one of ꝑ twelue went a waye vnto ꝑ hye Priestes, to betraye him vnto them. When they herde that, they were glad, and promysed that they wolde geue hym money. And he sought, how he myght conueniently betraye him.

*mat xxvi.b. Luke.xxii.a. Johñ.xiij.a.

*And the fyrste daye of swete breed (whē they offred ☞ Passeouer) his disciples sayd vnto hi: where wylt ꝑ that we go & prepare, that thou mayest eate the Passeouer? And he sendeth forth two of his disciples, & sayeth vnto thē: Go ye into ꝑ cytie, & ther shall mete you a man bearing a pitcher of water, folowe hi. And whither soeuer he goeth in, saye ye to ꝑ good mā of ꝑ house, ꝑ master sayeth: where is the geest chābre, where I shall eate passeouer wyth my disciples? And he wyll shewe you a greate parlour, paued and prepared: there make ready for vs. And hys disciples went forth, and came into the cytie, and founde as he had sayde vnto them: and they made ready the Passeouer.

*mat xxvi.b. Luke xxii.a.

☞

C *And whan it was now euē tyde he came with the .xij. And as they sate at borde & dyd eate Jesus sayde: Verely I saye vnto you: *one of you (ꝑ eateth with me) shall betraye me. And they beganne to be sorie, & to saye to him one by one: is it I? And another sayde:

C *mat.xxvi.b. Luke.xxii.b.

*Johñ.xiij.c

is it? Iesus answered & sayd vnto them: It is one of the .xij. euen he that dyppeth wyth me in the platter. The sonne of mā truelye goeth as it is wrytten of him: but wo to that man by whom the sonne of mā is betrayed. Good were it for that man, yf he had neuer bene borne.

* mat.xxvi.c Luc.xxii.b 1.Cor.xi.c. * And as they dyd eate, Iesus toke breed: and whan he had geuen thankes he brake it, and gaue to thē, and sayde: Take, eate, this is my body. And he toke the cup, & when he had geuen thankes he toke it to them, & they all dranke of it. and he sayde vnto thē: This is my bloude of the newe Testamēt, wyche is shedd for many. Uerely I saye vnto you: I wyll drynche nomore of the frute of the vyne: vntyll that daye, that I dricke it newe * mat.xxvi.c in the kyngdome of God. * And when they had sayde grace: they went out to mount Oliuete.

And Iesus sayeth vnto thē: All ye shalbe offended because of me this nyght. For it is *zacha.xiiii. mat.xxvi.c. Luke.xxii.c. Iohn.xvi.b. wrytten: * I wyll smyte the shepherd, & the shepe shalbe scattered: But after that I am ryssen agayne, I wyll go into Galile before you. Peter sayde vnto him: And though all men be offended, yet wyll not I. And Iesus sayeth vnto him: Uerely I saye vnto ỹ, that this daye, euē, in this nyght before the cocke crowe twyse, thou shalt denye me thre tymes. But he spake more vehemently: no, yf I shulde dye with the, I wyll not denye the. Lyke wyse also sayde they all.

D * mat.xxvi.b * And they came into a place which was named Gethsemani. And he sayeth to his disciples: Syt ye here, whyle I go aside, and praye. And he taketh wyth him Peter & Iames & John, & began to waxe abasshed, & to * mat.xxvi.b Iohn.xii.b. he in an agonye, & sayeth vnto them: * My soule is heuy, euē vnto the deeth, tary ye here and watche. And he went forth a lytle & fell downe flatt on the grounde, & prayed: that yf it were possible, the houre myght passe frō * mat.xxvi.b Luke.xxii.b him. And he sayde: * Abba father, all thinges are possible vnto the, take awaye this cup from me. Neuertheles, not that I will: but that thou wilt, be done.

And he cam & founde thē slepyng, & sayeth to Peter: Simon, slepest thou? Couldest not E thou watche one houre? watche ye, & praye, leest ye entre into temptacion, the sprete truly is ready, but the flesh is weake. * And * mat.xxvi.b. agayne he went aside, & prayde, and spake ỹ same wordes. And he returned, & founde thē a slepe agayne. For their eyes were heuy: neither wist they, what to answere him. And he came the thirde tyme & sayde vnto thē: slepe hens forth, and take youre ease, it is ynough. The houre is come, beholde, the sonne of mā is betrayed into the handes of synners. Ryse vp, let vs go. Lo, he that betrayeth me, is at * mat.xxvi.c. Luke.xxii.c. hāde. * And immediatly whill he yet spake, cōmeth Judas (which was one of ỹ twelue) & with him a greate nomber of people wyth swerdes and staues from the hye Prestes and Scrybes & elders. And he that betrayed him, had geuen thē a generall token, saying: whosoeuer I do kysse, that same is he: take him & leade him awaye warely. And as sone as he was come, he goeth streight waye to him, & sayeth vnto him: Master, Master, & kyssed him: And they layde their handes on him, and toke him. And one of thē that stode F by, drue out a swearde, and smote a seruaunt of the hye Preste, & cut of his eare.

And Iesus answered & sayd vnto them: * ye be come out as vnto a theefe wt swerdes * mat.xxvi. Luke.xxii. & wt staues, for to take me. I was dayly wt you in the tēple, teachinge, & ye toke me not: but these thinges come to passe, that ỹ scriptures shuld be fulfylled. * And they all for- * mat.xxvi. Luke.xxii. John.xviii. soke him, & ranne awaye. And there folowed him a certayne younge man, clothed in lynnen vpon ỹ bare, & the yongmen caught him, & he lefte his lynnen garmēt, & fled from thē naked. * And they ledd Iesus awaye to the * mat.xxvi Luke.xxii. John.xviii. hyest Preste of all & with him come all ỹ hye Prestes, & the elders, & the Scribes. And Peter folowed him a greate waye of (euen tyll he was come into the palace of the hye preste) and he sat with the seruaūtes, and warmed him selfe at the fyre.

* And the hye Prestes & all the counsell * mat.xxvi xxvii.b. sought for witnes agaynst Jesu, to put hym to death, & founde none: for many bare false witnes agaynste hym, but their wytnesses agreed not together. And ther arose certayne, and brought false witnes agaynst hym, sayinge. We herde him saye: * I will destroye * mat.xxvi. John.ii.b. this temple that is made wyth handes, and wythin thre dayes I wyll buylde another, made without handes. But yet their wytnesses agreed not together.

* And the hye Preste stode vp amongest * mat.xxvi them, and asked Jesus, sayinge: answerest ỹ nothinge? How is it that these beare witnes agaynst the? But he helde his peace, & answered nothing. Agayne * ỹ hyeste Preste asked * mat.xxvi. him, & sayde vnto him. Art thou Christ the sonne of the blessed? And Jesus sayd: I am. G

* And ye shall se the sonne of man sytting * mat.xxvi. Luke.xxii. John.xii. on the ryght hād of power, & commyng in ỹ cloudes of heauen. Then ỹ hye preste rent his clothes, & sayd: what nede we eny further of wytnesses? Ye haue heard blasphemy, what thincke ye? and they all condemned hym to be worthy of deeth. And some begāne to spit at him, & to couer his face, & to beate hi with fistes, ād to saye vnto him, Ireade: And the seruauntes bofeted him on the face.

And as Peter was beneth in the palace ther cam one of the wēches of the hyest preste: & * when she sawe Peter warminge hym * mat xxvi Luke.xxii. John.xviii. selfe, she loketh on hym, & sayeth: wast not ỹ also, also ỽ Jesus of Nazareth / And he denyed, saying: I knowe hym not, nether wote I what thou sayest. And he went out into the porche, and the cocke crewe. And a damsell (whan she sawe him) begāne agayne to saye to them that stode by, this is one of thē. And he denyed it agayne. And anone after, they that stode by, sayde agayne to Peter: surely thou art one of them, for thou art of Galyle, & thy speache agreth therto. But he beganne to curse, & to sweare, sayinge: I knowe not thys man of whom ye speake. And agayne * the cocke krewe, & Peter remembred the worde that Jesus sayde vnto him: before the cocke crowe twyse, thou shalt denye me thre tymes. And he beganne to wepe.

¶ The.xv. Chapter.

¶ Of the passion, death, and buryall of Christe.

AND anone in the dawninge * the hye Prestes helde a counsell ỽ the elders & the Scrybes, & the whole congregacion, & bounde Jesus, & ledde him awaye, & deliuered him to Pilate. And Pilate asked him: art thou þ kynge of þ Jewes / And he answered, & sayd vnto hym: thou sayest it. And þ hye prestes accused him of many thinges. So Pilate asked hi agayne, sayinge: * Answerest thou nothing / Beholde, how many thinges they lay vnto thy charge. Jesus yet answered nothing, so that Pilate merueyled.

At that feast Pilate dyd deliuer vnto thē a preſoner: whomsoeuer they wolde desyre. And ther was one that was named Barrabas, whych laye bounde with them that made insurrecyon: he had commytted murther. And the people called vnto him, and began to desyre him, that he wolde do, accordynge as he had euer done vnto them. Pylate answered them sayēge: Will ye that I let lowse vnto you the kyng of the Jewes / For he knewe, that the hye Prestes had delyuered him of enuy. But the hye prestes moued the people, that he shulde rather deliuer Barrabas vnto them.

Pylate answered agayne, and sayde vnto them: * What will ye then that I do vnto him, whō ye call the kyng of þ Jewes / And they cryed agayne: crucifye him: Pylate sayd vnto thē, What cuyll hath he done: And they cryed the moare feruentlye: Crucifye hym: And so Pylate willinge to content the people, * let lose Barrabas vnto them & deliuered vp Jesus (when he had scourged hym) for to be crucifyed.

And the soudyers leed him awaye into þ commen hall, and called together the whole multitude, & they clothed him with purple, & they platted a croune of thornes, & crouned him withall, & beganne to salute him: Hayle kynge of the Jewes. And they smote hym, on the heed ỽ a rede and dyd spitt vpon hym & bowed their knees, & worshyped him.

And whē they had mocked him, they toke the purple of hym, & put his awne clothes on him, & ledde hym out, to crucifye him. * And they cōpelled one that passed by, called Simon of Cyrene (the father of Alexander and Rufus) which came out of the felde, to beare his crosse. * And they brought him to a place named Golgotha (whych is yt a man interpreteit: the place of deed mens scules) and they gaue him to drinke, wyne migled wyth myrre, but he receaued it not.

And when they had crucifyed him * they parted hys garmentes, castinge lotes vpon them, what euery man shulde take. And it was aboute þ third houre, & they crucifyed him. And the tytle of his cause was wrytte: The kynge of the Jewes. * And they crucified with him two theues. þ one on the right hande, & the other on his lyfte. And the scripture was fulfylled which sayeth: * he was counted amonge the wycked.

* And they that went by, rayled on hym: wagging their heedes, ād saying: A wretche thou that destroyest the temple, and bildest it in thre dayes: saue thy selfe, & come doune from the crosse. Lykewyse also mocked hym the hye Prestes amonge them selues with þ Scrybes & sayde, he saued other men, hym selfe he cannot saue. Let Christ the kynge of Israell descende now fro the crosse, that we maye se, & beleue. And they that were crucifyed with him checked him also.

* And whē þ syxte houre was come, darknes arose ouer all the erth, vntyll the nynth houre. And at the nynth houre Jesus cryed with a loude voyce, saying: Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani / whych is (yt one interpret it) * my God, my God why hast thou forsaken me / And some of them that stode by, when they hearde that, sayd: beholde, he calleth for Helias. * And one ran, and fylled a sponge full of veneger, and put it on a rede, & gaue him to drincke, sayinge: let him alone, let vs se, whether Helias will come and take hym downe.

But Jesus cryed with a loude voyce, ād gaue vp the goost. * And the vayle of þ temple dyd rent in two peces, from the toppe to þ bottome. * And when þ Centurion (which stode before him) sawe, that he so cryed, and gaue vp the goost, he sayde: truly this man, was þ sonne of God. * Ther were also wemen a good waye of, beholdinge him: amōge whom was * Mary Magdalen, and Mary the mother of James the lytle: & of Joses, & Mary Salome * (which also when he was in Galile had folowed him & ministred vnto him) and many other wemen, whych came vp with him vnto Jerusalem.

And now when þ euen was come (because it was

it was the daye of preparing that goeth be-*Mat.xxvii. fore the Sabboth) * Joseph of ꝑ cite of Ra-Luke.xxiii.g. mathia, a noble Counsellour which also loked
John.xix.g. for ꝑ kyngdome of God, came, & went in boldly vnto Pilate, & begged of hym the body of Jesu. And Pilate merueled, that he was alredy dead, and called vnto him the Centurion, and asked of him, whether he had bene eny whyle dead. And whē he knewe the tru-eth of the Centurion, he gaue the body to Joseph. And he bought a lynnen clothe, & toke him downe, and wrapped him in the lynnen clothe, and layde him in a sepulcre, that was hewen out of the rocke. And Mary Magdalen and Mary Joses beheld where he was layde.

¶ The.xvj. Chapter.

¶ Christ is rysen again, and apereth to the Apostles: to whom he committeth the preachyng of the Gospell.

AND when ꝑ Saboth was past,
Mary Magdalen, & Mary Jacob, & Salome, bought swete odoures, ꝑ they myght come, & *Mat.xxviii. anoynt him. * And early in the
a. Luke. xxiii. a John.xx.a. mornyng ☞ the fyrst daye of the Sabboth
they came vnto the sepulcre, when the Sōne ☞ was ryssen. And they sayd among them sel-ues: who shall rolle vs awaye the stone frō
the doore of the sepulchre? And when they loked, they sawe how that the stone was rolled awaye, for it was a very greate one. And they wēt into ꝑ sepulcre, and sawe a younge man syttyng on the ryght syde, clothed in a longe white garment, & they were afrayed.
*Mat.xxviii. * And he sayeth vnto them, be not afrayed:
b. Luke. xxiii.e. ye seke Jesus of Nazareth, whych was cru-B cifyed. He is ryssen, he is not here. Beholde the place where they had put hi. But goo youre waye, and tell his disciples, & Peter, that he *Mat.xxviii. goeth before you into Galile: there shall ye se
a. Luke.xxiiii.c. hi, as he sayd vnto you. * And they wēt out quyckly, and fledd from the sepulcre.
For they trembled & were amased. Neither sayde they eny thynge to eny man, for they were afrayed.

When Jesus was ryssen early the fyrst
¶ daye after the Sabboth * he appeared fyrst
*Mar.xvi.d. to Mary Magdalen, out of whō he had cast seuen deuyls. And she went, and tolde them that were with him, as they mourned & wēpte. And they, whan they herde that he was *Luke.xxiiii.b. a lyue, and had appered vnto her, beleued it not. * After that, appeared he vnto two of them in a straunge fygure, as they walked, & went in to the country. And they went & tolde it to the remnaunt. And they beleued not these also.

After warde he appeared vnto the
eleuen as they sate at meate: and cast in their teth their vnbelefe, and hardnes of herte: because they beleued not them whych had sene
that he was ryssen agayne frō the dead. And he sayde vnto thē: * Goo ye into al the worl-
de, and preache the gospell ☞ to all creatures. He that beleueth & is baptised, shalbe sa-
ued. But ☞ he that beleueth not, shalbe dampned.

And these tokens shall folowe them that beleue. * In my name they shall cast out deuyls, they * shall speake with newe tonges,
they shall * dryue awaye serpentes. And yf they drynke any deadly thynge, it shall not hurte them. They shall laye their handes on the sycke, & they shall recouer.

So then, when ꝑ Lorde had spoken vnto them * he was receaued into heauen, and is on the right hand of God. And they went forth, and preached euery where: the Lorde worckyng with them * and confyrmyng the worde with myracles folowing.

¶ The ende of the Gospell of
S. Marcke.

¶ The Gospell of S. Luke.

FOr as moche as many haue taken in hande to set forth the de-claracīō of those thinges, which are most surely to be beleued a monge vs, euen as they delyue-
red them vnto vs, whych from the begyn-
dyng sawe them thē selues with their eyes,
and were ministers of the thinges that they declared: (I determyned also (as sone as I had searched out dyligently all thinges from the begynnyng) that then I wolde wryte
vnto ꝑ good Theophilus: that thou myght-est knowe the certēte of those thinges whe-
rof thou hast bene informed.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

¶ The conception and birth of John the Baptist. The conception of Christ. The thankfull songes of Mary and Zachary.

THere was in ꝑ dayes of He-rode the kynge of Jurie, a certayne Preste named Za-
*Mat.i.a. chacias * of the course of Abia. And his wyfe was of the doughters of Aaron: and her name was Elizabeth:
they were, both ryghteous before God, and walked in all the lawes and ordynaunces
of the Lorde, that no mā coulde fynde fawte with them. And they had no chylde, because that Elizabeth was barren, and they booth
were now well stricken in age.

And it came to passe, ꝑ whā Zachary exercysed the Preastes office before God, as his course came (accordyng to the custome of the preistes

prestes office) hys lot fell to burne incence.
Exod.xxx.d. Leuit.xvi.b. And he * went into the tẽple of the Lorde, & the whoale multitude of ỹ people were with out in prayer, whill the incẽse was a burninge. And ther appeared vnto him an Angell of the Lorde, standynge on the ryg ht syde of the aultare of incense. And when zacharias sawe him, he was abashed, & feare cã on him.

B But the Angell sayde vnto him: feare not zachary, for thy prayer is hearde. And thy wyfe Elizabeth shall beare the a sonne, and thou shalt call his name John, ād thou shalt haue ioye and gladnes, and many shall reioyce at his byrth. For he shalbe greate in the syght of the Lorde, and shall nether drincke wyne ner stronge drincke. And he shalbe fylled with the holy goost, euen frō his mothers wombe: and many of the chyldren of Israel shall tourne to their Lord God. And he shall
* Mat.xi.b. go before him in the sprite & power of * helias ☞ to tourne the hertes of the fathers to the childrē, and the vnbeleuers to the wysdome of the iuste men, to make redye a perfecte people for the Lorde.

And zacharias sayde vnto the angell: by
* Gen.xviii.c. xxi.d. what token shall I knowe this? For * I am olde, and my wyfe well stricken in yeres. And ỹ angell answered, and sayd vnto him. I am Gabriel, that stande in the presens of God, and am sent to speake vnto the: and to shewe the these glad tydinges. And beholde it shall come to passe, that thou shalt be domme, ād not be hable to speake, vntill the daye that these thiges be performed, because thou beleuedst not my wordes, which shalbe fulfylled in their season.

And the people wayted for zacharias, ād merueyled that he taryed in the temple. And when he came out, he coulde not speke vnto them. And they perceaued, that he had sene a visyon in the temple. And he beckened vnto them, and remayned speachlesse.

C ✠ And it fortuned, that as sone as the dayes of his office were out, he departed into his awne house. And after those dayes, his wyfe Elizabeth conceaued, & hid her selfe fyue monethes, sayinge: Thys wyse hath God dealte with me, in the dayes wherin he hath loked on me, to take from me my rebuke amonge men. And in the fyrst moneth the angell Gabriel was sent from God vnto a cytie of Galile, named Nazareth, to a virgin spoused to a man, whose name was Joseph, of the house of Dauid, ād the virgins name was Mary. And the angell went in vnto her, and sayde. Hayle full of grace, the Lorde is with the: blessed art thou amonge wemen.

When she sawe him, she was abashed at his sayinge: and cast in her mynde, what maner of salutacion that shulde be. And the angell sayde vnto her: feare not Mary: for thou
* Luc.vii.c. hast foūde grace with God. Behold, * thou shalt conceaue in thy wombe, & beare a sonne, & * shalt call his name Jesus. He shalbe greate, & shalbe called the sonne of the hyest. And the Lorde God shall geue vnto him the seate of his father Dauid ād * he shall rayne ouer the house of Jacob for euer, and & of his kyngdome there shalbe none ende.
& Matth.i.c. Luce.i.c. * Esa.ix.b. ‡ Dan.vii.b. Mich.iiij.b.

Then sayde Mary vnto the angell: how D shall this be, seynge I knowe not a mā? And the angell answered, & sayde vnto her. The holy goost shall come vpon ỹ, and the power of the hyest shall ouer shaddowe the. Therfore also that holy thynge which shalbe borne, shalbe called the sonne of God. And beholde, thy cosyn Elizabeth, she hath also cōceaued a sōne in her age. And this is her fyrst moneth, which was called barrē: for * with
* Gen.xviii.b. Math.xix.c. Mar.x.b. Luce.xviii.c. God shall nothinge be vnpossible. And Mary sayde: beholde the hande mayden of ỹ Lorde, be it vnto me accordinge to thy worde, ✠ And the angell departed from her.

✠ And Mary arose in those dayes, & wēt into the mountayns with haste ☞ into the cytie of Jewrie, and entred into the house of zachary, and saluted Elizabeth. And it fortuned, that whan Elizabeth heard the salutacyon of Mary, the babe sprāge in her wombe. And Elizabeth was fylled with the holy E ghost, & cried with a loude voyce, and sayde: Blessed art thou among wemen, and blessed is the frute of thy wombe. And whence happeneth this to me, that ỹ mother of my Lorde shulde come to me? For lo, as sone as the voyce of thy salutacīō sownded in myne eares, the babe sprange in my wombe for ioye. And blessed art thou that hast beleued: for those thinges shalbe performed, which were tolde the from the Lorde. And Mary sayde.

* My soule magnifieth the Lord. And my * Esa.lxi.b. sprete hath reioyced in God my sauyour ✠ For he hath loked on the lowe degre of hys hande mayden: for lo: now from hence forth shall all generacions call me blessed. Because he that is myghty, hath done to me greate thinges, & holye is his name. And his mercy is on thē that feare him, from generacion to generacion. He hath shewed strength with his arme, he hath scattered thē that are proude in the ymaginacyon of their herte. * He
* 1.Reg.ii.b. Eccle.x.c. hath putte downe the myghty from their seates, and exalted them of lowe degre. He hath fylled the hongrye with good thynges: and sent awaye the ryche emptye. He hath holpen hys seruaunt Israel, in remembraunce of hys mercye.

* Euen as he promysed to oure fathers, * Gene.xvii.c. Abraham, and to his seede for euer. And Mary abode with her aboute .iij. monethes, ād returned agayne to her awne house.

✠ Elizabeths tyme came that she shulde F be delyuered, and she brought forth a sonne. And her neyghboures and her cosyns hearde howe

howe the Lorde had shewed greate mercy vpon her, and they reioysed with her.

And it fortuned that in ỹ eyght daye, they came * to circũcyse the chylde: and called his name zacharias, after ỹ name of hys father. And his mother answered and sayde: not so but he shalbe called John. And they sayd vnto her: Ther is none in thy kynred, that is named with this name: And they made sygnes to his father, howe he wolde haue hi called. And he asked for wrytinge tables, and wrote, saying: his name is John. And they marueiled all. And hys mouth was opened immediatly, & his tonge also, & he spake, and praysed God. And feare came on all thẽ that dwelt nye vnto them. And all these sayinges were noysed abroade throughout all ỹ hyll countre of Jurie: and all they that herde thẽ layde them vp in their hertes, saying: What maner of chylde shall this be? And the hande of the Lorde was with him.

*Gene.xvii.d and.xxi.a. Leui.xii.a.

And his father zacharias was filled with the holy goost, and prophesyed sayinge:

Praysed be the Lord God of Israel, for he hath ☞ visited and redemed his people: ✠ And hath raysed vp * an horne of saluacion vnto vs, in the house of his seruaũt Dauid.

☞ * Psal.cxxxi.

Euen as he promysed by the mouth of his holy prophetes, which were sens the worlde began. That we shulde be saued frõ oure enemies, and from the hande of all that hate vs.

That he wolde deale mercifully with oure fathers, and remember his holy couenaunt.

* Ge.xxiii.c.

* And that he wolde performe the oothe, which he sware to oure father Abraham, for to geue vs.

* That we deliuered oute of the handes of oure enemies, might serue him with out feare, all the dayes of oure lyfe, in such holynes and rightewesnes as are accepte before hi

* Esay.xxxviii.c.

And thou chylde shalt be called the Prophet of the hiest: for thou shalt go ☞ before the face of the Lorde, to prepare his wayes: to geue knowlege of saluacyon vnto his people for the remission of synnes. Through the tender mercy of oure God, wherby ☞ the daye sprynge from an hye hath visited vs.

☞ ☞ ☞ * Esay.xl.c. Mat.iii.c.

* To geue light to thẽ ỹ sate in darcknes & in the shadowe of deathe, to gyde oure fete into the waye of peace. And the child grewe and wered strong in sprete, and was in wildernes, tyll the daye came, when he shulde shewe him selfe vnto the Israelites.

The seconde Chapter.

¶ The byrth and circumcision of Christ. How he was presented into the temple. how Symeon & Anna prophecye of hym, and how he was founde in the temple amonge the doctours.

AND it chaunced in those dayes: that ther went oute a commaundemẽt from Augustus the Emperour, ỹ all the worlde shulde be taxed. And thys taxinge was the fyrst, & executed when Syrenius was leftenaunt in Syria. And euery man went vnto his awne cytie to be taxed. And Joseph also ascended frõ Galile, out of a cytie called Nazareth, into Jewry: vnto * the cytie of Dauid, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and lynage of Dauid, to be taxed with Mary his spoused wyfe, which was with childe.

*1.Reg.ii.

And it fortuned that while they were there, her tyme was come that she shulde be deliuered. And she broughte forth her ☞ fyrst begotten sonne, & wrapped him in swadlinge clothes, and layde him in a maunger, because ther was no rowme for thẽ in the ynne.

And ther were in the same region shepherdes, watchynge and kepinge their flocke by night. And lo, the angell of the Lorde stode harde by them, and the brightnes of the Lorde shone rounde aboute the, & they were sore afrayed. And the angell sayde vnto thẽ: Be not afrayed. For beholde, I bringe you tydinges of greate ioye, that shall come to all people: for vnto you is borne this daye in the cytie of Dauid, a saueoure which is Christ ỹ Lord. And take this for a sygne: ye shall fynde the childe wrapped in swadlinge clothes, & layed in a mãger. And streyght waye ther was with the angel a multitude of heauenly sowdyers, prayesing God: & sayinge: Glory to God on hye, and peace on the erth, & vnto men ☞ a good wyll. ✠

And it fortuned, as sone as ỹ angels were gone awaye from them into heaue, ✠ The shepherdes sayde one to another: let vs go now euẽ vnto Bethlehem, and se this thing that we heare saye is happened, which the Lorde hath shewed vnto vs. And they came wt haste, & founde Mary ād Joseph & the babe layde in a manger. And when they had sene it, they publisshed abrode the sayinge, which was tolde them of that chylde. And all they that hearde it, wondred at those thynges which were tolde thẽ of the shepherdes. But Mary kepte all those saienges, and pondered them in her hert. And the shepherdes returned, prayesynge and laudinge God for all the thinges that they had herde and sene, euẽ as it was tolde vnto them. ✠

✠ And whẽ the eyght daye was come ỹ the childe shulde be * circumcised + his name was called Jesus * which was named of ỹ Angell, before he was cõceaued i ỹ wõbe. ✠

*Gen.xvii.d + Math.i.c * Luke.i.c

✠ And when the tyme of their purificaciõ * (after the lawe of Moses) was come, they + brought him to Hierusalem, to present him to the Lorde (as it is wrytten in the lawe of the Lorde * euery man chylde that fyrst openeth ỹ matrix, shalbe called holy to ỹ Lord) and to offer (as it is sayde in the lawe of the Lorde) a payre of turtle doues, or two yonge pigions. And beholde, ther was a man in

*Leui.xii.d + i.Reg.i.

*Exod.xiii.a and.xxii.b. Numer.viii.c

Hierusalem

Hierusalem whose name was Simeō. And the same man was iuste & godly, & loked for the consolacion of Israel, and the holy goost was in him. And an answer had he receaued of the holy goost þ he shulde not se deeth, excepte he fyrst sawe the Lordes Christ. And he came by inspiracion into the temple.

And when the father & mother brought in the chylde Jesus: to do for him after þ custome of the * lawe, then toke he him vpin his armes, & sayd: Lorde, ☞ now lettest þ thy seruaunt departe in peace, accordynge to thy promes. For myne eyes haue sene ☞ þ saluacion: which thou hast prepared before the face of all people * A lyght to lighten þ gentyls, & the glory of thy people Israel. ✠

✠ And his father & mother: meruylled at those thinges, whych were spoken of hym. And Simeon blessed them, and sayde vnto Mary his mother: beholde, this chyld is sett to be þ fall and vprising agayne of many in Israel, & for a sygne which is spokē agaynst. ☞ And moreouer, ☞ the swearde shall pearce ☞ thy soule ☞ that the thoughtes of many hertes maye be opened.

And ther was a Prophetisse, one Anna, þ daughter of Phanuel of the trybe of Aser: which was of a greate age, & had lyued with an husbande. vij. yeres from her virginite. And she had bene a wedowe aboute. iiij. score & iiij. yere, which departed not from the temple, but serued God with fastinges and prayers nyght & daye. And she came forth þ same houre, and praysed the Lorde, & spake of him, to all thē that loked for redempcyon in Hierusalem.

And whan they had performed all thinges accordyng to the lawe of the Lorde, they returned into Galile, to their awne citie Nazareth. And * the chylde grewe, and wered stronge in spyrete, & was fylled with wysdome, & the grace of God was vpon him. ✠

And his father & mother went to Hierusalem euery yere * at the feaste of easter. ✠ And when he was. xij. yere olde, they went vp to Hierusalem after the custome of the feast daye. And when they had fulfylled the dayes: as they returned home, the chylde Jesus a bode styll in Jerusalem, & hys father & mother knewe not of it: but they supposyng him to haue bene in the cōpany, came a dayes iorney & sought him amonge their kynsfolke & acquayntaunce. And when they founde him not, they went backe agayne to Hierusalem, and sought him. And it fortuned that after. iij. dayes, they founde him in the tēple, syttynge in the middes of the doctours, heareyng them, & posynge them * And all that hearde him, were astonyed at his vnderstōding & answers.

And when they sawe him, they maruelled. And his mother sayde vnto him: sonne, why hast thou thus dealt with vs? Beholde, thy father & I haue sought the, sorowēge. And he sayde vnto thē: how is it þ ye sought me? Wist ye not, that I must goo aboute my fathers busynes? And * they vnderstode not that sayinge which he spake vnto them. And he wēt downe wt them, & came to Nazareth, & was obedient vnto them. But his mother kept all these sayenges together in her hert. And Jesus prospered in wysdome & age, and in fauoure, with God & men. ✠

¶ The. iij. Chapter. ✠

¶ The preachinge, baptyme, and presentment of Joha. The baptyme of Christ, and arthearfall of the generacion of the fathers.

IN the fyfteneth yere of the raygne of Tyberius the Emperoure, Pontius Pylate beynge lefetenaunt of Jewrie, and * herode beinge ☞ Tetrach of Galile, and his brother Philip Tetrach of Iturea & of the region of the Traconites, & Lysaniath the Tetrach of Abyline (whē Anna and Cayphas were the hye prestes) þ worde of the Lorde came vnto John the sonne of zacharias in the wylderues. And he came in to all the coastes aboute Jordan, preaching * þ baptyme of repentaunce for the remission of synnes, as it is wrytte in the boke of þ wordes of Esayas the prophet, sayenge: * The voyce of a cryar in wylderues: prepare ye þ waye of the Lord, make his pathes straygbt. Euery valley shalbe fylled, & euery mountayne & hyll shalbe brought lowe. And thinges that be croked, shalbe made strayght: & þ rough wayes shalbe made playne: & all flesshe shall se ☞ the Saluacion of God. ✠

Thē sayde he to the people, that were come forth to be baptysed of him. * O ye generacion of vypers, who hath taught you to flye from the wrath to come? Bryngе forth therfore due frutes of repentaunce, & begyn not to saye wyth in youre selues: we haue Abraham to oure father. For I saye vnto you, God is able of these stones to reyse vp chyldren vnto Abrahā. Now also is the axe leyde vnto the rote of the trees: * euery tree therfore which bryngeth not forth good feute, is hewen doune, & cast into the fyre.

And þ people asked him, sayinge: * what shall we do then? He answereth and sayeth, vnto thē: he that hath two coates, let him parte wyth hym that hath none, & he þ hath meate, let him do lyke wyse.

Then cam þ publicans also to be baptised, & sayde vnto him: Master, what shal we do? And he sayde vnto them: requyre no more, then that which is appoynted vnto you.

The soudyoures lyke wyse demaunded of him, sayinge: and what shall we do? And he sayde vnto them: hurt no man: nether trouble eny man wrongfully: and be cōtent with youre wages.

As the

As the people were in a doute, & all men mused in their hertes of John, whether he were very Christ, John answered & sayde vn
* Mat.iij.b Mar.i.a Joan.i.b them all: * I baptise you with water, but one stroger the I shall come after me, whose shoo latchet I am not worthy to vnlowse: he shall baptyse you with the holy goost, & with fyre: * which hath hys fanne in hys hande, &
* Mat.iij.c wyll pourge his flooze, and gather the cozne into his barne: but the chaffe wyll he burne with fyre that neuer shalbe quenched. And
D many other thinges in his exhoztacion preached he vnto the people.

* Mat.xiiij.a Mar.vj.c * Then Herode the Tetrach (when he was rebuked of hym foz Herodias his brother Philippes wyfe, & foz all ý euyls which Herode dyd: added this aboue all, and layed John in preson.

And it foztuned that whan all the people
* Mat.iij.b Mar.i.b Joan.i.c receaued baptime (& * whē Jesus was baptised and dyd praye) the heauen was opened, and the holy goost cam downe in a bodely shape lyke a doue vpō him, and a voyce came
* Esa.xlij.a from heauen, which sayde: * Thou arte my E beloued sonne, in the do I delyte.

And Jesus him selfe begāne to be about thirty yere of age, so that he was * supposed
* Mat.xiij.g Mar.vi.a. Luke.iij.c. Joan.vi.c. to be the sonne of Joseph: whych was ý sonne of Hely: whych was the sonne of Mathat whych was the sonne of Leui: whych was ý sonne of Melchi: whych was the sonne of Janna: whych was the sonne of Joseph: whych was the sonne of Mataththias: which was the sonne of Amos: which was ý sonne of Naum: whych was the sonne of Helly: which was the sonne of Nagge. which was the sonne of Maath: which was the sonne of Mataththias: which was ý sonne of Semei: which was the sonne of Joseph: which was the sonne of Juda: which was the sonne of Joanna: whych was the sonne of Rhesa: whych was the sonne of zozobabel: whych was the sonne of Salathiel: which was the F sonne of Neri. which was the sonne of Melchi: whych was the sonne of Addi: whych was the sonne of Coosam: which was ý sonne of Helmadan: whych was the sonne of Her: which was ý sonne of Jesu: which was the sonne of Heliezer: which was th sonne of Jozam: which was the sonne of Mattha: which was the sonne of Leui: which was the sonne of Simeon: which was the sonne of Juda: which was the sonne of Joseph: which was the sonne of Jonam: which was the sonne of Heliachim: which was the sonne of Melcha: which was ý sonne of Menā:
G which was the sonne of Mathatha: which was the sonne of Nathan: which was the sonne of Dauid: which was the sonne of Jesse: which was the sonne of Obed: which was the sonne of Boos: which was ý sonne of Salmon: which was ý sonne of Naasson: which was the sonne of Aminadab: which was ý sonne of Aram: which was ý sonne of Esron: which was ý sonne of Phares: which was the sonne of Juda: which was ý sonne of Jacob: which was ý sone of Isaac: which was the sonne of Abraham: which was the sonne of Tharra: which was ý sonne of Nachor: which was the sonne of Saruch: which was the sonne of Ragau: which was ý sone of Phalec: which was the sonne of Heber: which was the sonne of Sala: which was ý sonne of Cainā: which was the sonne of Arphaxat: which was the sonne of Sem: which was the sonne of Noe: which was the sonne of Lameth: which was the sonne of Mathusala: which was the sonne of Enoch: which was the sonne of Jareth: which was ý sonne of Malaleel: which was the sonne of Cainā: which was the sonne of Enos. which was ý sonne of Seth: which was the sonne of Adā: which was the sonne of God.

¶ The.iiij. Chapter.

¶ Jesus is led into the wyldernesse, and fasteth all the tyme of his temptacyon, ouercōmeth the deuell. goeth, into Galile, preacheth at Nazareth & Capernaum: the Jewes dehyle hym, the deuels knowlege hym. he cometh to Peters house, healeth his motherinlawe, & doth greate myracles.

JEsus beynge full of the holy goost, returned from Jozdā and * was led
A * Mat.iij.b Mar.i.b by the spzete into wildernes, and was. xl. dayes tempted of the deuyll. And in those dayes dyd he eate nothynge. And when they were ended, he afterwarde hongred. And the deuyll sayde vnto him: yf thou be the sonne of God commaunde this stone that it be breed. And Jesus answered hym, saying: It is written * man shall not lyue by
* Deu.viij.b Mat.iiij.b breed only, but by euery wozde of God.

And the deuyll toke him into an hye mountayne, and shewed him all the kyngdoms of the wozlde, euen in the twinckelyng of an eye. And the deuyll sayde vnto him: all this power will I gene the euery whit, & ý glozy
B of them: foz they are delyuered vnto me, and to whomsoeuer I wyll, I gene it. If ý therfoze wyll falle downe before me & wozshyp me, they shalbe all thyne. Jesus answered and sayde vnto him: hence from me Satan, foz it is wzytten * Thou shalt wozshyp ý
* Deut.vi. And x.b. Mat.iiij.b Lozde thy God, and him onely shalt ý serue.

And he caryed him to Jerusalem, and set him on a pynacle of the temple, and sayd vnto him: yf thou be the sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe from hens. Foz it is wzytten:
* Psal.xci Mat.iiij.a * he shall gene his Angels charge ouer the, to kepe the, and in their handes they shall beare the vp, that thou dalshe not thy fote agaynst a stone. And Jesus answered, and sayde vnto hym, it is sayd: * thou shalt not
* Deut.vi Mat.iiij.a tempte the Lozde thy God. And as sone as all the tentacion was ended, the deuell departed from him foz a season.

✠ And Jesus returned by the power of the spyrite, into Galile, and there went a fame of him thorow out all the region. And he taught in theyr synagoges and was cõmended of all men.

* Mat. viii. g xiii. M. a

* And he came to Nazareth where he was noursed and (as hys custome was) he went into the synagoge on the Saboth daye, and stode vp for to reade. And there was delyuered vnto hym the boke of the prophete Esayas. * And when he had opened the boke, he foũde the place, where it was wrytten. ✠ The spyrite of the Lord vpon me, because he hath annoynted me: to preache the Gospell to the poore he hath sent me: to heale the broken harted, to preach delyueraunce to the captyue, & syght to the blynde: frely to set at liberte thẽ that are broised, and to preach the acceptable yeare of the Lorde.

* Esa. lxi. b & lxi. a

And he closed the boke, and gaue it agayne to the mynyster, and sate downe. And the eyes of all them that were in the synagoge, were fastened on him. And he began to saye vnto them: Thys daye is thys scripture fulfylled in your eares. And all bare hym wytnes * and wondred at the gracious wordes, which proceaded out of of hys mouth, ✠ and they sayde: Is not thys Josephs sonne?

D

* Mat. vii. g Mar. i. c Luc. iv. c

And he sayd vnto them: Ye wyll vtterly saye vnto me this prouerbe: Phisicion, heale thy selfe. ✠ What soeuer we haue heard done in Capernaum, do the same here lykewise in thyne awne countre. And he sayde: Verely I saye vnto you: * No prophete is accepted in hys awne countre.

* Mat. xiii. g Mar. vi. a

E

But I tell you of a treuth: * many weddowes were in Israel in the dates of helias when heauen was shut thre yeares and syx monethes, when greate kamphment was throughout all the lande, and vnto noone of thẽ was Helias sent, saue into Sarepta beside Sidon, vnto a womã that was a weddowe. * And many lepers were in Israell in the tyme of Helyseus the prophete: & none of thẽ was clensed, sauyng Naaman the Syriã.

* Luc. iv. b * iiii. reg. v. d

And all they in the synagoge (when they herde these thinges, were filled with wrath: and rose vp, and thrust him out of the cyte, & ledd him euẽ vnto the edge of the hyll (where on theyr cytie was bylte) þ they myght cast him downe headlyng. But he departed, and went hys waye euen thorow the myddes of thẽ. ✠ ✠ And came downe to Capernaũ, (a cytie of Galile) and there taught them on the saboth dayes. * And they were astonyed at his doctryne: for his preaching was with power. * And in the synagoge there was a man which had an vncleane spyrite of a deuyll, and cryed with a loude voyce, sayenge: let me alone, what hast thou to do with vs, thou Jesus of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroye vs? I knowe the what thou art, euẽ the holy of God. And Jesus rebuked him, sayinge: holde thy peace, and come out of hym. And whan the deuyll had throwen hym in the myddes, he came out of him, and hurt hi not. And feare cam on thẽ all, and they spake among them selues, sayinge: what maner a thing is thys? for with auctorite & power he commaũdeth the foules spyrets, and they come oute? And the fame of hym was spred abrode thorowe out euery place of the countre rounde about. ✠

* Matth. viii. b & xiii. a Mar. i. c * Mat. viii. b Mar. i. c

✠ * And whan he was rysen vp & come out of the synagoge, he entred into Simons house. And Simõs mother in lawe was taken with a great feuer, and they made intercession to hym for her. And he stode ouer her, and rebuked the feuer, and the feuer left her. And immedyatly she arose, and mynistred vnto them.

G

When the sonne was downe, all they that had syck, take with diuers diseases, brought them vnto hym: and he layde hys handes on euery one of thẽ, and healed them. * And the uyls also came out of many, crying & saieng: thou art Christ the sonne of God. And he rebuked thẽ, and suffered them not to speake: for they knewe that he was Christ.

* Mat. i. a and xiii. b

As sone as it was daye, he departed, and went into a desert place, & the people sought him, and came to hym, and kept hym that he shulde not departe from them. And he sayde vnto them: I must preach the kyngdome of God to other cyties also: ✠ for therfore am I sent. And he preached in the synagoges of Galile.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

¶ Christ preacheth in the shyp. The disciples forsake all, and folowe hym. He cleanseth the leper: healeth the man of the palsye, calleth Mathew the custumer, and eateth with open synners.

IT came to passe that (whã þ people preassed vpon him, to heare the A word of God) he stode by the lake of Genezareth: * and sawe two shyppes stande by the lake syde, Mar. iiii. a but the fisshermen were gone oute of them, and were washyng their nettes And he entred into one of the shyppes, (which perteyned to Simõ) and prayed him that he wold thrust oute a lytell from the lande. And he sate downe, and taught the people out of the shyp. When he had lefte speakynge, he sayde vnto Simon: Launche out into the depe, ād let slyppe youre nettes to make a draught.
And Simon answered, and sayd vnto hym: B Master, we haue laboured all night, and haue taken nothynge. Neuertheles, at thy commaundement I wyll lose forth the net. And whẽ they had this done, they inclosed a greate multitude of fyshes. But theyr net brake, & they beckened to theyr felowes (which were in the other shyp) that they shulde come, and helpe them. And they came: and fylled both the shyppes, that they soncke agayne.

When Simon Peter sawe thys, he fell downe at Jesus knees, saying: Lord, go frō me, for I am a sinful man. For he was astōned & all ỹ were with hym, at the draught of fyshes which they had taken: and so was also James and John the sonnes of zebede, which were parteners with Symon. And Jesus sayde vnto Symon: feare not, from hence forth thou shalt catche men. And they brought the shyppes to lande, *and forsoke all, and folowed hym. ✠

* Mat.xiii.d.

C

* Mat.viii.a mar.i.b

*And it fortuned that whan he was in a certen cytie: behold, ther was a man ful of leprosy, & when he had spyed Jesus, he fell flat on hys face, and besought him, saieng: Lord, yf thou wylt, thou canst make me clene. And he stretched forth his hand, and touched him saying: I will, be thou clene. And immediatly the leprosy departed frō hym. And he charged him, ỹ he shuld tell no man: but go (saith he) *and shewe thy selfe to the preste, & offer for thy clensyng accordyng, as Moses commaunded, for a wytnes vnto them.

* Leui.xiiii.a

But so moch the more went there a fame abrode of hym, and moch people came together to heare, & to be healed of hym frō theyr infirmityes. And he kepte hym oute of the waye in the wildernesses, and gaue him selfe to prayer.

D

✠And it happened on a certen daye: that he taught: and ther sate the Pharises and doctours of lawe, which were come out of all the townes of Galile and Jewrye, and Jerusalē. And the power of the Lord was present, to heale the. *And behold, men brought in a bed, a man which was takē with a palsie: and they sought meanes to bring him in, and to laye him before hym. And when they coulde not fynde on what syde they myghte bring hym in (because of the preasse) they wēt vp on the toppe of the house & let him downe thorowe the tyling, bed and all, euen in the myddes before Jesus. When he sawe theyr fayth he sayd vnto him: man, thy synnes be forgeuen the. And the scribes and the pharises began to thincke, saying: What felowe is this, which speaketh blasphemye? *who can forgeue synnes but God only?

† Mat.ix.a mar.ii.a

e

* Mat.ix.d Luc.v.d And.viii.b

But whē Jesus perceaued their thoughtes, he answered, and said vnto them: What thyncke ye in your hertes? Whether is easier to saye thy synnes be forgeuē the, or to saye: ryse vp, and walke. *But ỹ ye maye knowe that the sonne of mā hath power to forgeue synne on earth, he sayd vnto the sycke of the palsye: I saye vnto ỹ: aryse, take vp thy bed, and go vnto thy house. And immediatly he rose vp before them, and toke vp hys bedd, (wher on he laye) and departed to hys awne house, prayeng God. And they were all amased, and they gaue the glory vnto God. And were fylled with feare, saying: We haue sene straunge thynges to daye. ✠

* Mat.ix.a Luc.v.a And.xvii.f

*And after this, he went forth, and sawe a publican named Leuy, syttynge at the receypte of custome, & he sayd vnto him: folowe me. And he left all, and rose vp, and folowed him: And Leuy made hym a greate feaste in his awne house. And ther was a great companye of publicans and of other that sate at meate with them. *And the scribes and pharises murmured against his disciples, saying: Why do ye eate and drincke with publicans and sinners? And Jesus answered, and sayd vnto them: They that are whole, nede not the phisicion: but they that are sycke. I came not to call the ryghtewes, but synners to repentaunce.

* Mat.ix.a mar.ii.b Luke.v.b and.vi.a

And they sayde vnto hym: *Why do the disciples of John fast often, and praye, & the disciples of the pharises also: but thyne eate and drincke? He sayde vnto them: *Can ye make the chyldrē of the wedding fast, whyle the brydgrome is with thē? The dayes wyll come, when the brydgrome also shalbe takē awaye from thē: then shall they fast in those dayes.

* Mat.xi mar.ii.c

G

* Mat.ix mar.ii.c

He spake also vnto them a similitude. No man putteth a pece of a newe garment, into an old vesture, for yf he do, then breaketh he the newe, and the pece that was takē out of the newe, agreeth not with the olde. And no man powreth newe wyne into olde bottels. For yf he do, the newe wyne wyll burst the bottels, and runne out it selfe, and the bottels shall perysh. But newe wyne must be put in to newe bottels, and both are preserued. No man also that drynketh old wyne, straight waye can awaye with newe: for he sayeth the olde is better.

¶ The. vi. Chapter.

¶ He excuseth the disciples, that pluche the eares of corne, he healeth the man with the withred hand, chuseth hys twelue apostles, maketh a shorte sermon and teacheth to do good for euell.

IT happened on ỹ an after prycipall Saboth, that he went *thorow the corne felde, and hys disciples plucked the eares of corne, and dyd eate, and rubbed them in theyr handes. And certayn of the pharises said vnto them: Why do ye that, which is not lawfull to do on the Saboth dayes? And Jesus answered thē, and sayde: *haue ye not redde what Dauid dyd, when he him selfe was an hungred, and they which were with hym: howe he went into the house of God, and dyd take and eate the shew *bread, and gaue also to them that were with hym: which are not lawfull to eate, but for the *prestes only? And he sayde vnto them: The sonne of man is Lorde also of the Saboth daye.

A

* Mat.xii mar.ii.d

* i.reg.xxi

* Leuyti

* Exodus

✠And

✠ And it fortuned in another Sabboth also, that he entred into the synagoge, & taught. And ther was a man, whose right hande was dryed vp. And the scribes & pharises watched hym whether he wolde heale on the sabboth daye, that they myght fynde how to accuse hi. But he knewe their thoughtes, and sayd to the man which had ỹ wythred hand: Ryse vp, and stande forth in the myddes. And he arose & stode forth. Then sayd Jesus vnto thē: I wyll aske you a question: Whether is it lawfull on the sabboth dayes to do good, or to do euil? to saue ones life, or to destroye it? And he behelde them al in compasse, and sayd vnto the mā: Stretch forth thy hand. And he dyd so: & hys hande was restored agayne as whole as the other. And they were fylled with madnes, and cōmuned together amonge them selues, what they myght do to Jesu. ✠

And it fortuned in those dayes ỹ he wēt out into a mountayne for to praye, & contynued all nyght in prayer to God. And as sone at it was daye, he called hys disciples, & of them he chose .xij. whō also he called apostles. Symon whom he also named Peter, & Andrew hys brother. James ād John, Philip & Bartholomew, Mathew & Thomas, James the sonne of Alpheus, and Symon which is called zelotes, and Judas James sonne, and Judas Iscarioth, the same that was the traytour.

✠ And he came downe with thē, & stode in the playne felde, and the company of hys disciples * and a greate multitude of people (out of all Jewrye and Jerusalē, & from the see coast * of Tyre and Sidon) which came to heare him, and to be healed of their dyseases and they ỹ were vexed with foule spretes and they were healed. And al ỹ people prased to touche him, for ther went vertue oute of hym, and healed them all.

And he lyft vp his eyes vpō the disciples and sayd: * Blessed be ye poore, for yours is the kingdome of God. Blessed are ye that honger now, for ye shalbe satisfyed. Blessed are ye ỹ wepe now, for ye shall laugh. Blessed shall ye be, when men hate you, & thrust you out of their company, and rayle on you, and abhorre your names as an euyll thing, for the sonne of mannes sake. Reioyse ye in ỹ daye, and be glad: for beholde, your rewarde is greate in heauen. ✠ For thus dyd theyr fathers vnto the prophetes.

* But wo vnto you that are ryche: for ye haue your consolacīō. Wo vnto you that are full: for ye shall honger. Wo vnto you ỹ now laugh: for ye shall wayle & wepe. Wo vnto you whē all men prayse you: for so dyd theyr fathers to the false prophetes.

But I saye vnto you which heare. Loue youre enemyes. Do good to them which hate you. Besse thē that curse you. And praye for them which wrongfullye trouble you. And vnto hym that smyteth the on the one cheke, offer also the other. * And him that taketh awaye thy gowne, forbyd not to take thy cote also. Geue to euery man that asketh of the. And of him ỹ taketh awaye thy goodes, aske thē not agayne. * And as ye wolde that men shuld do to you, do ye also to them lykewyse.

* And yf ye loue thē which loue you, what thanke haue ye? For synners also loue theyr louers. And yf ye do good for them which do good for you, what thāke haue ye? For synners also do euen the same. And yf ye lēde to them of whō ye hope to receaue: what thāke haue ye? for synners also lende to synners, to receaue soch lyke agayne. But loue ye youre enemyes, and do good, and lende, lokynge for nothynge agayne: and your reward shal be greate, and ye shalbe the chyldren of the hyest: for he is kynde vnto the vnkynde and to the euyll. ✠

✠ Be ye therfore mercyfull, as your father also is mercyfull. * Judge not, and ye shall not be iudged: Condempne not, and ye shall not be condēpned. Forgeue, and ye shal be forgeuen. * Geue, and it shalbe geuē vnto you: good measure and prested downe, ād shaken together and runnyng ouer, shall mē geue into youre bosomes. * For with the same measure that ye mete withall, shall other men mete to you agayne.

And he put forth a similitude vnto them * Can the blynde leade the blynde? Do they not both fall into the dyche? * The disciple is not aboue his master. Euery man shalbe perfecte, euen as hys master is. * Why seest thou a moate in thy brothers eye, but consyderest not the beame that is in thyne awne eye? Ether howe cānest thou saye to thy brother, Brother, let me pull out the moate that is in thyne eye, whē thou seest not the beame that is in thyne awne eye. Thou ypocrite cast out the beame out of thyne awne eye fyrst, & then shalt thou se perfectly, to pull oute the moate that is in thy brothers eye. ✠

* For it is not a good tree, that bringeth forth euyll frute: nether is that an euyll tree, that bryngeth forth good frute. For euery tre is knowen by hys frute. For of thornes do not men gather frygges, nor of bushes gather they grapes. A good mā out of ỹ good treasure of hys herte, bryngeth forth that which is good. And an euyll man, out of the euyll treasure of his hert, bryngeth forth that which is euyll. * For of the aboundāce of the hert, hys mouth speaketh.

Why call ye me * Lord Lord, and do not as I byd you: whosouer cōmeth to me & heareth my sayinges, and doth the same, I wyl shewe you to whom he is like. * He is lyke a man which bylt an houſe, and dygged depe, and layde the foũdacion on a rock. When the waters arose, the flud bet vpon that houſe, & coulde not moue it. For it was grouñded vpõ a rocke. But he that heareth and doeth not, is lyke a man that without foundacyõ bylt an houſe vpon the earth, against which ỹ flou dyd beat: and it fell immediatly. And the fal of that houſe was greate.

¶ The. vii. Chapter.

The healeth the captaynes ſeruaunt, rayſeth the Widowes ſonne, entourmeth the diſciples whom John baptyſt ſent vnto hym, commendeth John: reproueth the Jewes and caſteth wyth the Wharyſe. The woman waſheth hys fete wyth her teares, and he forgeueth her her ſynnes.

A * Mat.viii.a John.iiii.d

When he had ended all hys ſaiengers in the audiẽce of ỹ people, * he entred into Capernaum. And a certẽ Centurions ſeruaunt which was deare vnto hym laye ſyck, and was in parell of death. And whan he heard of Jeſu, he ſent vnto him the elders of the Jewes, beſechige him that he wold come, & heale his ſeruaũte. And whã they came to Jeſus, they beſought hi inſtãtly, ſaying: he is worthy that thou ſhuldeſt do this for hym. For he loueth oure nacion, and hath buylt vs a ſynagoge. And Jeſus went with them.

B And whan he was now, not farre frõ the houſe, the Centurion ſent frendes to hym, * Mat.viii.a ſayinge vnto hym: * Lorde, trouble not thy ſelf: for I am not worthy: that thou ſhuldeſt enter vnder my roffe. Wherfore I thought not my ſelf worthy to come vnto ỹ: but ſaye thou the word, & my ſeruaunt ſhalbe whole. For I alſo am a man ſet vnder power, and haue vnder me ſoudiers, ād I ſaye vnto one go, and he goeth, & to another, come, & he cometh: and to my ſeruaunt, do this, & he doth it. When Jeſus heard thys, he meruayled at him, and turned hym about, and ſayde to the people that folowed him: I ſaye vnto you, I haue not founde ſo great faith, no, not in Iſrael. And they that were ſent, turned backe home agayne and founde the ſeruaũt whole that had bene ſyche.

✠ And it fortuned after this, ỹ he went into a cytie which is called Naim, & many of C his diſciples went with him, and moch people. When he came nye to the gate of the cytie: behold, ther was a dede man caryed out, which was the onely ſonne of his mother, & ſhe was a wedowe, & moch people of the cytie was with her. And when the Lord ſawe her, he had compaſſion on her, and ſayde vnto her: wepe not. And he came nye, & touched the coffyn: and they that bare him ſtode ſtyl. And he ſayde: Yonge man, I ſaye vnto the, aryſe. And he that was dede, ſat vp, & began to ſpeake. * And he delyuered him to his mo- * 1.Kin.xvii.d 2.Kin.iiii.f & Act.ix.d.xx.c ther. And ther came a feare on them al. And they gaue the glorỹ vnto God, ſayinge: * A great prophete is ryſen vp amõg vs, & God hath viſited his people. * John.vi. Luke.vii.b ✠ ✠ And thys rumor of him went forth throughout al Jury, and thorow out all the regions which lye rounde about.

And the diſciples of John ſhewed him of all theſe thinges. * And John called vnto hi * Mat.xi.a two of his diſciples, & ſent thẽ to Jeſus, ſaying: Art thou he that ſhuld come: or ſhall we looke for another? When the men were come vnto him, they ſayde: John baptiſte ſent vs vnto the, ſaying: Art thou he ỹ ſhuldẽ come? or ſhall we wayte for another? And in that ſame houre he cured many of their infyrmites and plages, and of euyll ſpyrites, and vnto many ỹ were blynd he gaue ſight. And he anſwered, & ſayd vnto them: Go your waye and bring worde agayne to John, what thiD ges ye haue ſene & heard, how ỹ * the blynde * Eſa.xxxv. and.lxi.a ſe, the halt go, the lepers are clẽſed, the deaff heare, the dead ryſe agayne: to the poore is ỹ glad tydinges preached, ād happy is he that is not offended at me.

* And whẽ the meſſengers of John were * Mat.xi departed, he began to ſpeake vnto ỹ people concerninge John. What went ye out into ỹ wildernes for to ſe? a rede ſhake wt the winde? But what went ye out for to ſe? A man clothed in ſoft raymẽt? Behold, they which are gorgeouſly apparelled, and lyue delicatly, are in kynges courtes. But what went ye forth to ſe? A prophete? Yee, I ſaye to you, & more then a prophet. This is he, of whom it is writen: * Behold, I ſende ☞ myne an- ☜ D * Mat.xi gell before thy face which ſhall prepare thy Mar.i.b waye before ỹ. For I ſaye vnto you, amõge Luke.vii.a wemẽs childre, is ther not a greater prophete then John baptiſte. Neuertheleſſe, he that is leſſe, in ỹ kigdom of God is greater then he. ✠ E

And all the people, and the publicãs that * Mat.v.c heard him, & ☞ iuſtified God, and were bap- ☜ tiſed with the baptyme of John. But the phariſes and lawers deſpiſed the councell of God againſt them ſelues, and were not baptiſed of hym.

And the Lorde ſayd: * Wherunto ſhall I * mat.xi.b lyken the men of this generacion: and what thing are they like? They are like vnto children ſytting in the market place, & cryẽg one to another, and ſaying: We haue ypped vnto you, & ye haue not daũſed: we haue mourned to you, and ye haue not wepte. For John baptiſt came, nether * eatyng bread, ner drin- * mat.xi.a kynge wyne, and ye ſaye: he hath the deuyll. F The ſonne of mã is come, and eateth & drincketh, & ye ſaye: behold a gloutonous man, ād an vnmeaſurable dryncker of wyne, a frend of publicans and ſynners. And ☞ wyſdom ☜ D is iuſtifyed of all her children.

✠ And one of the phariſes deſired hym ỹ he wolde eate with hym. And he went into the

the pharises house, and sat downe to meate.
* Mat.xxvi.a Mar.xiiii.b Joan.xij.a
* And behold a woman in that cytie (which was a synner) as sone as she knewe that Iesus sat at meat in the pharises house, she brought an alablaster boxe of oyntment, & stode at his fete behinde him wepyng, & begane to washe hys fete w̄ teares, and dyd wype the̅ with ꝑ heares of her head, & kyssed his fete, & anoynted them with the oyntment.

When the pharise (which had bidde̅ him) sawe, he spake within hym selfe, sayinge: If thys man were a prophete, he wolde surely knowe who, & what maner of wom̄ thys is that touched hym, for she is a synner. And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto him: Simō, I haue some what to saye vnto the. And he sayd: master, saye on. There was a certayne lender which had two detters, the one ought fyue hūdred pence, and the other fyfty. Whē they had nothynge to paye, he forgaue them both. Tell me therfore, which of them wyll loue hym most? Simon answered and sayd: I suppose that he to whom he forgaue most. And he sayde vnto hym: Thou hast truly iudged.

G And he turned to the woman, & sayd vnto Simon: Seest thou this wom̄. I entred into thy house, thou gauest me no water for my fete: but she hath welshed my fete with teares, and wyped them with the heares of her head. Thou gauest me no kysse: but she, sence the tyme I came in, hath not ceased to kysse my fete. Myne head w̄ oyle thou didest not anoynte: but she hath anoynted my fete with oyntment. Wherfore, I saye vnto the: many synnes are forgeuen her, for she loued moch. To whom lesse is forgeuen, the same doeth lesse loue. And he sayde vnto her: thy synnes are forgeuen the. And they that sate at meat w̄ him, begāne to saye within them selues. Who is this which forgeueth synnes also? And he sayd to the wom̄: * Thy faith hath saued the. Go in peace. ✠
* Mar.v.c

¶ The.viij. Chapter.

¶ Christ with hys apostles goeth fro towne to towne and preacheth, shewyth the parable of the sede, telleth who ys hys mother, & hys brother, stylleth the rayny of the see: deliuereth the possessed, & ꝑmyteth the deuyls into the heerd of swyne: helpeth the sycke woman, and Iayrus daughter.

AND it forthuned afterwarde, that he hym selfe also wente thrōugh oute cyties and townes: preachinge, and shewynge the kyngdome of God,
* Luk.viij.b and the twelue with hym. And also * certayne women, which were healed of euell spyrytes, and infirmytes. Mary which is called Magdalen (oute of whom wente seuen deuyls) and Joanna the wyfe of Chusa. Herodes stewarde, and Susanna, and many other, which mynystred vnto hym of theyr substaunce. ✠ When moch people were gathered together, & were come to him out of all cytes, he spake by a similytude. * The sower wente out to sowe hys seede: and as he sowed, some fell by the waye syde, & it was troden downe, and the foules of the ayre deuoured it vp. And some fell on stone, and as sone as it was sprōge vp, it withred awaye because it lacked moysture. And some fell amonge thornes, and the thornes sprange vp with it, and choked it. And some fel on good grounde, and sprange vp, and bare frute, an hundred folde. And as he sayd these thinges, B he cryed: He that hath eares to heare, let hym heare.
* Mat.xiij.b m.r.j.f.g.d

* And his disciples asked hym sayenge: what maner of similytude is thys? And he sayd: vnto you is it geuē to knowe the secretes of the kingdome of God: but to other by parables, ꝑ whē they se, they shuld not se: * & whē they heare, they shuld not vnderstāde.
* Esa.vi.c Mat.xiij.b Marc.iiij.b John.xij.f Actes.xxviij.f Roma.xi.b & Mat xiij.c Mar.iiij.b

The parable is this. * The seed is ꝑ worde of God. Those that are beside the waye, are they that heare, then cōmeth the deuyll, and taketh awaye the worde out of their hertes, lest they shulde beleue and be saued. They on the stones, are they which when they heare, receaue the word with ioye, and these haue no rotes: which for a whyle beleue, and in tyme of temptacyon go awaye. And that which fell amonge thornes, are they which whan they haue heard, go forth, and are choked with cares and ryches, and voluptcous lyuinge, and bryngе forth no frute. That which fell in the good grounde, are they, which with a pure and good herte heare the worde, and kepe it, and bryngе forth frute thorow pacyence. ✠

C * No man, whan he lyghteth a candell, coureth it with a vessel, or putteth it vnder a table, but setteth it on a candelsticke, that they which enter in, maye se the lighte. * Nothig is in secret, ꝑ shal not come abrode. Nether any thynge hydd, that shall not be knowen, and come to lyghte. Take hede therfore, how ye heare. For whosoeuer hath, to hym shalbe geuen: * And whosoeuer hath not, from him shalbe taken: euen that same which he supposeth that he hath.
* Mat.v.b Mar iiij.b and.x.c
* mat.x.c mar.iiij.c Luke xij.a
* Mat xiiij.b And.xiij.c mat.xiij.c Luke xix.b

* Then came to him his mother & his brethren, and coulde not come at him for preasse And it was tolde hym, and sayde: Thy mother and thy brethren stande without, and wold se the. He answered and said vnto the̅: my mother and my brethren are these, which heare the worde of God, and do it.
† Mat.xij.b mar. iij.b

✠ And it chaunced on a certayne daye, ꝑ he went into a shyp, and his disciples also, & he sayde vnto them: Let vs go ouer vnto the other side of the lake. And they laūched forth But as they sayled, he fell a slepe * and there arose a storme of wynde in the lake, & they were fylled w̄ water, and were in ieopardy.
* Mat.viij.c Mar.iij.b

And they came to hym, and awoke hym saying: Master master, we are loost. Then he arose, and rebuked the wynde and the tempest of water, and they ceased, and it were calme. And he sayde vnto them: where is youre fayth? They feared, and wondred amonge them selues, saying: what (thynke ye) is this? for he commaundeth both the windes & water, and they obey hym? ✠ And they sayled vnto the regiō of the Gederenites, which is ouer agaynst Galile.

* mat.viii.b mar.v.a

And whan he went out to land, ther met him out of the cytie a certayne man, which had a deuyll longe tyme, and ware no clothes, neither abode in eny house: but in graues. When he sawe Jesus & had cryed, he fell downe before him, & with a loude voyce sayde: * What haue I to do with the Jesus, thou sone of the God moost hyest? I beleche the torment me not: for he commaunded the foule spyrite to come oute of the man. For ofte tymes he had caught hym, and he was bounde with chaynes, and kepte with fetters: and he brake the bondes, and was caryed of the fende into wyldernes.

* mat.viii.b mar.v.a

And Jesus asked him saieng: What is thy name? And he sayde: Legion, because many deuyls were entred into hym. And they besought hym that he wolde not commaunde them, to go out into the depe. And there was there, an heard of many swyne, feding on an hyll: and they besought him, that he wold suffre them to enter into them. And he suffred them. Then went the deuels out of the man, & entred into the swyne. And the heard rāne hedlyng with violēce into the lake, and were choked. When the herdmē sawe what had chaunced, they fled, and tolde it in the cytie & in the villages.

And they came out to se what was done: and came to Jesus, & founde the man (out of whom the deuyls were departed) sittyng at the fete of Jesus: clothed, & in his right mynde, and they were afrayed. They also which sawe it, tolde them by what meanes he (that was possessed of the deuyl) was healed. And all the multitude of the Gederenites, besought him, that he wold departe from thē: for they were taken with great feare. * And he gate him vp into the shyp, and returned backe agayne. Then the man (out of whom the deuyls were departed) besought hym that he myght be with hym. But Jesus sent him awaye, sayinge: Go home agayne to thyne awne house, and shewe what thinges soeuer God hath done for the. And he wēt his waye, and preached thorow out all the cytie, what thinges soeuer Jesus had done vnto him.

* Mat.viii.b mar.v.a

And it fortuned that whē Jesus was come agayne, the people receaued hi. For they all wayted for him. * And beholde, there came a man named Jairus (& he was a ruler of the synagoge) & he fell downe at Jesus fete prayng him, that he wold come into his house, for he had but one daughter onely, vpō a.xij. yeare of age, and she laye a dying. But as he went, the people thronged hym.

* mat.ix.a mar.v.a

* And a woman, hauing an issue of bloud xij. yeres (which had spent all her substaunce vpon physicions, nether coulde be holpen of eny) came behynd him, & touched the hem of his rayment: & immediatly her issue of bloud staunched. And Jesus sayd: who is it that touched me? Whē euery mā denyed, Peter (and they that were wt hym) sayd: Master, the people thrust the & vexe the, & sayest thou who touched me? And Jesus sayd: Some body hath touched me: for I perceaue, that vertue is gone out of me. When the woman sawe that she was not hyd, she came trymblig, and fell at hys fete, and tolde hym before all the people, for what cause she had touched him, and how she was healed imediatly. And he sayd vnto her: Daughter, be of good comforte. * Thy fayth hath saued the, go in peace.

* mat.ix.a mar.v.a

Whyle he yet spake, ther came one frō the rulers of the synagoges house, which sayd to hym: thy daughter is dead, desease not the Master. But when Jesus hearde that worde, he answered the father of the damosell. * Feare not, beleue onely, and she shalbe made whole. And when he came to the house, he suffred no man to go in with hym, saue Peter, James, and John, and the father and the mother of the mayde. Euery body weept, and sorowed for her. And he said: Wepe not. The damosel is not dead, * but slepeth: And they laught hym to scorne, knowyng that she was dead. And he thrust them all out, and caught her by the hand, and cryed, sayinge: Mayde, aryse. And her spyrite came agayne, and she rose straight waye. And he commaunded to geue her meat. And the father & the mother of her were astonyed. But he warned them, that they shuld tell no man what was done.

* Mat.ix.a Mar.v.b

* John.xi.b

¶ The.ix. Chapter. ✠

¶ He sendeth out the twelue apostles to preache. He∣rode heareth tell of hym. He feedeth .v.m. men wyth .v. loa∣ues and two fyshes. the disciples confesse hym to be the sonne of God: he trauelly gyueth hym self vpon the moūt, deliuereth the possessed, and teacheth his disciples to be lowly. They deny re vengeaunce, but he reproueth them.

JEsus called the * twelue toge∣ther, and gaue them power, and auctorite ouer all deuyls, and that they might heale diseases. And he sent the to preache the kyngdome of God, * and to heale the sycke. And he sayd vnto the: Take nothing to your iourney: nether staffe, nor scrype, nether bread, * nether money, nether haue two coates. * And what soeuer house ye enter into, there abyde, and thence departe. And whosoeuer will not receaue

* mat.x.f mar.vi.b And.vi.b Luke.ix.c

* Mat.xi.b

* mat.x.a mar.vi.b & mat.x.b

receaue you, when ye go out of the citie, shake of the very dust from youre fete, for a testimonye agaynst them. And they departed and went thorow the tounes, preaching the gospell and healinge euery where. ✠

* And Herode the Tetrarch heard of al þ was done by him, & he douted, because that it was sayde of some, that John was rysen agayne from death: and of some, that Helias had appeared, and of some, that one of the olde prophetes was rysen agayne. And Herode sayde: John haue I beheaded: but who is this of whom I heare such thinges. And he desyred to se him.

And the apostles returned: & tolde him all that they had done. * And he toke the, & went aside into a solitary place nye vnto the cytie that is called Bethsaida. Which whā þ people knewe, they folowed him. And he receaued them, & spake vnto the of the kyngdome of God, & healed them þ had nede to be healed. And when the daye begāne to weare awaye, then came the .xij. and sayd vnto him: send the people awaye, that they maye go into the townes and next villages & lodge, ād get meate, for we are here in a place of wyldernes. But he sayd vnto the: Geue ye the to eate. And they sayd: We haue no mo but .v. loaues and two fysshes, except we shulde go and bye meate for all this people. And they were about a .v. C. men. And he sayd to his disciples: Cause them to sit downe by fyfties in a cōpanye. And they dyd so, and made the al to syt downe. And he toke the fyue loaues and the two fishes, and loked vp to heauen: and blessed them, and brake, and gaue to the disciples, to set before the people. And they all dyd eat, & were satisfyed. And there was taken vp of that remayned to them, twelue basketes full of broken meate.

* And it fortuned as he was alone prayeing: his disciples were with him, and he asked them sayeng: ✠ Who saye the people that I am? They answered, and sayd: John Baptist: Some saye Helias, and some saye that one of the olde pphetes is rysen. He sayd vnto them: But who saye ye that I am? Simō Peter answered, & sayde: * thou art þ Christ of God. And he warned and commaunded them that they shuld tell no man that thing, saying: ✠ the sonne of man must suffre many thinges, ād be reproued of the elders, and of the hye prestes, and scribes, ād be slayne, and ryse agayne the thyrd daye.

And he sayd to them all, yf eny man will come after me, let him denye him self, & take vp his crosse dayly, & folowe me. * ☞ For whosoeuer wyll saue hys lyfe shall lose it. But whosoeuer doth lose his lyfe for my sake, the same shall saue it. For what auaunctageth it a mā, yf he wynne the whole worlde, and lose him selfe, or runne in dammmage of hym selfe? For * whoso is ashamed of me, and of my wordes, of him shall the sonne of man be ashamed, when he commeth in his maiestye, and in the maiestye of his father, and of the holy angels. I tell you of a treuth: * ☞ There be some standinge here, which shall not tast of death, tyll they se the kyngdome of God.

* And it fortuned þ about an. viij. dayes after these saienges, he toke Peter and John and James, & went vp into a mountayne to praye. And as he prayed, the fassyon of hys countenaunce was chaunged, & his garmēt was whyte, & shone. And behold, there talked with him two men which were Moses and Helias, þ appeared in the maiesty, & spake of his departyng, which he shulde ende at Ierusalem. But Peter and they that were with him, were heuy with slepe. And when they awoke, they sawe his maiesty, ād two men standinge with him.

* And it chaunsed as they departed from him, Peter sayde vnto Jesus: Master, it is good beynge here for vs. Let vs make also thre tabernacles, one for the, ād one for Moses, and one for Helias (and wist not what he sayd.) While he thus spake, there came a cloude and ouershadowed the, and they feared when they were come into þ cloude. And there came a voyce out of the cloude saying: * This is my deare sonne, * heare him. And as soone as the voyce was past, Jesus was founde alone. And they kept it close: & tolde no man in those dayes, any of those thinges which they had sene.

* And it chaunsed that on the nexte daye (as they came downe from the hyll) moche people met him. And beholde, a man of the company cried oute, sayenge: Master, I beseche the beholde my sonne, for he is all that I haue: and se, a spyrite taketh him, and sodenly he cryeth, and * (de knocketh) tereth hym, that he fometh agayne, and with moch payne departeth from him, when he hath rent him, ād * I besought thy disciples to cast him out, & they coulde not, Jesus answered and sayde: O faythles, and croked nacion, howe longe shall I be with you? & shal suffre you? Bring thy sonne hither. As he was yet a comming, the fende rent him, and tare him. And Jesus rebuked the vncleane spyrite, and healed the chyld, and deliuered him to his father. * And they were all amased at the myghtye power of God.

But whyle they wondered euery one at all thinges which he dyd, he sayde vnto hys disciples: Lett these sayinges sinke downe in to your eares. For it will come to passe: that * the sonne of man shalbe deliuered into the handes of men. ✠ But they wist not what þ worde meant, and it was hyd from them, þ they vnderstode it not. And they feared to aske him of that sayinge. And there entred a thought among them which of them shulde be the greatest. When Jesus perceaued the thought of their hertes * he toke a chyld, and set him hard by hym, & sayd vnto the: Whosoeuer receaueth this child i my name, receaueth me. * And whosoeuer receaueth me, receaueth him that sent me. For he that is lest among you all, the same shalbe greate.

And John answered, and sayde: Master, we sawe one castinge oute deuyls in thy name, ād we forbade him, because he followeth not with vs. And Jesus sayd vnto him: * forbyd ye him not. For he that is not agaynst vs, is with vs.

And it fortuned when the tyme was come that he shulde be receaued vp, he set hys face to go to Jerusalem, and sent messegers before him. And they went and entred into a cytie of the Samaritans, to make ready for him. And they wold not receaue him, because his face was as though he wold go to Jerusalem. When his disciples, James & John sawe this, they sayde: Lorde, wilt thou that we commaūde fyre to come downe frō heauen and consume them, euē as * Helias dyd? Jesus turned about, and rebuked them, saying: ye wote not what maner spyret ye are of. For the sonne of mā is not come to destroye mēnes lyues, but to saue thē. And they wēt to another towne. ✠ And it chaunsed that as they were walking in the waye, a certayne man sayd vnto him. * I wyll folowe the whithersoeuer thou goo. Jesus sayde vnto him: foxes haue holes, ād byrdes of the ayer haue nestes: but the sonne of man hath not where to laye his head.

And he sayde vnto another: folowe me. And the same sayde: Lorde, suffre me first to go and bury my father. Jesus sayde vnto hi: ☞ * Let the dead bury their dead: but goo ☞, and preach the kyngdome of God. And another sayde: Lorde, * I wyll folowe the: but let me first go byd them fare well, which are at home at my house. Jesus sayde vnto hym: No man that putteth hys handes to the plowe, and loketh backe, is apte to the kyngdome of God. ✠

The.x. Chapter. ✠

Christ sendeth the. lxx. before hym to preache, and geueth them a charge how to behaue them selues, prayseth hys heauenly father, answereth the scribe that tempted hym, and (by the example of the Samaritan) theweth who ys a mans neighbour, Martha receaueth the Lorde into her house. Mary Magdalene ys diligent in hearyng hys worde.

AFter these thynges, the Lorde appoynted other .lxx. (and two) also, and sent them two and two before hym into euery cytie & place, whyther he him selfe wolde come. Therfore sayd he vnto them: * the haruest is great, but the labourers are fewe. Praye ye therfore ✠ lorde of the haruest, to sende forth labourers into his haruest. Go your wayes: * behold, I sende you forth as lābes amōg wolues. Beare no wallet, nether scryp, nor shoes, & ☞ * salute no mā by the waye. * Into whatsoeuer house ye enter, fyrst saye: Peace be to thys house. And yf the sonne of peace be there, your peace shall rest vpon him: yf not, it shall turne to you agayne. And in the same house tary styll, eatyng and drinkyng such as they geue: For the labourer is worthy of hys rewarde. ✠

Go not from house to house, & into what soeuer cytie ye entre, & they receaue you, eate such thynges as are set before you, and heale the sicke that are therin, and saye vnto them: the kyngdome of God is come nye vpon you * But into whatsoeuer citie ye enter, & they receaue you not, go your wayes out into the stretes of the same, & saye: euen the very dust of youre cytie (which cleaueth on vs) do we wype of agaynst you: Notwithstanding, be ye sure of thys, that the kyngdome of God was come nye vpon you. I saye vnto you: ✠ it shalbe easier in that daye for Sodome, then for that cytie.

C

* Wo vnto the Chorazin: wo vnto the Bethsaida. For yf ✠ miracles had bene done in Tyre and Sidon, which haue bene done i you, they had (a greate whyle ago) repented of their synnes, syttyng in heercloth and asshes. Neuertheles, it shalbe easier for Tyre and Sidon, at the iudgement, then for you. And thou Capernaum (which art exalted to heauen) shalt be thrust downe to hell. * He ✠ heareth you, heareth me: and he that despyseth you, despyseth me: and he that despyseth me, despyseth him that sent me.

And the .lxx. turned agayne wt ioye, sayeng: Lorde, euen ✠ very deuels are subdued to vs thorow thy name. And he sayd vnto them: * I sawe Satan (as it had bene lightening) falling downe from heauen. * Behold, I geue vnto you power, to treade on serpentes, and scorpions, and ouer all maner power of the enemy, and nothing shall hurte you. Neuertheles, in this reioyse not, ✠ ✠ spyretes are subdued vnto you: but reioyse, that * youre names are wryten in heauen:

That same houre reioysed Jesus in ✠ (the holy) ghost, and sayd: I thanke the, O father. * Lorde of heauen and earth, that thou hast hyd these thinges from the wyse and prudēt, and hast opened them vnto babes. Euen so father, for so pleased it the. * All thinges are geuen me of my father. * No man knoweth who the sonne is, but the father: ād who the father is, but the sonne, & he to whō ✠ sonne wyll shewe hym.

And he turned to his disciples, and sayde secretly: ✠ * happy are the eyes, which se ✠ thinges that ye se. For I tell you, that many prophetes prophetes and kinges haue desired to se those thinges which ye se, and haue not sene thē: and to heare those thynges which ye heare, and haue not hearde them.

E And behold a certayne lawyer stode vp, & tempted him, saying. * Master, what shall I do, to inherit eternall lyfe? He sayde vnto him: What is wrytten in the lawe? how redest thou? And he answered ād sayde: ✝ loue the Lorde thy God, with all thy hert, & with all thy soule, & with all thy strength, & with all thy mynde: and thy neyghboure as thy selfe. And he sayde vnto him: Thou hast āswered right. This do, and thou shalt lyue. But he wyllinge to iustifie him selfe, sayde vnto Jesus: And who is my neyghbour?

Jesus answered, & sayde, A certayne man descended from Hierusalem to Hierico, & fell amōg theues, which robbed him of his rayment & wounded him, ād departed, leuynge him halfe deed. And it chaūced, that ther came downe a certayne Preste ỳ same waye, & whē he sawe hi, he passed by. And lyke wyse a Leuite, whē he wēt nye to ỳ place, came ād loked on hi, & passed by. But a certayne Samaritane, as he iorneyed, came vnto hym: ād when he sawe him, he had compassion on him & wēt to, and boūde vp his woundes, & poured in oyle & wyne, and set him on his awne beaste, and brought him to a cōmen ynne, ād made prouision for him. And on the morow, whē he departed, he toke out .ij. pēce, & gaue thē to ỳ host, & sayd vnto hi. Take cure of hi & whatsoeuer ỳ spendest moare, whē I come agayne I will recōpence the. Which now of these thre thynkest ỳ, was neyghbour vnto him ỳ fell among the theues? And he sayd: he that shewed mercy on him. Then sayde Jesv vnto him: Go, and do thou lyke wyse. ✝

G ✝ It forttuned that as they went, he entred into a certayne towne. And a certayne womā named Martha receaued him to her house. And this woman had a syster called Mary, which also sate at Jesus fete, & heard his worde. But Martha was cōbred aboute moch seruynge, & stode & sayde: lorde, doest ỳ not care, that my syster hath left me to serue alone? Byd her therfore, ỳ she helpe me. And Jesus answered, & sayde vnto her: Martha, Martha, thou art carefull, & troubled about many thinges: verely one is nedefull. Mary hath chosen the good parte, which shall not be taken awaye from her. ✝

¶ The .xj. Chapter.

¶ He teacheth his disciples to praye, dryueth out a deuyll, & rebuketh the blasphemous Phariseis. They require synges & tokens. He eateth with the Phariseie, & reproueth the ypocrysie of the Phariseis, lerned and ypocrytes.

A Nd it forttuned as he was prayinge in a certayne place: whē he ceased, one of his disciples sayde vnto hym: Lorde, teache vs to praye, as John also taught hys disciples. And he sayde vnto them: when ye praye, saye. * O oure father which art i heauen, halowed be thy name. Thy kyngdome come. Thy will be fulfilled, euen in erth also as it is in heauen. Oure dayly breed geue vs this daye. And forgeue vs our synnes: For euen we forgeue euery man that treapaseth vs. And Leade vs not into temptacion But deliuer vs from euyll. * Mat. vi. b.

And he sayd vnto them: ✝ yf any of you shall haue a frend, & shall go to him at mydnight, and saye vnto him, frende: lende me thre loaues, for a frende of myne is come out of the waye to me, and I haue nothynge to set before him, and he within answere, and saye: trouble me not, the dore is now shut, and my chyldren are with me in the chamber, I cannot ryse and geue the. I saye vnto you, though he wyll not arise and geue him, because he is his frēde: yet because of his importunite he will rise, ād geue him as many as he nedeth. And I saye vnto you: * aske, and it shalbe geuen you. Seke, and ye shall fynde: knocke, ād it shalbe opened vnto you. For euery one ỳ asketh, receaueth: and he that seketh, fyndeth: & to him ỳ knocketh, shall it be opened. yf ỳ sonne shall aske breed of eny of you that is a father, wyll he geue him a stone? Or yf he aske fyshe, wyll he for fyshe geue him a serpent? Or yf he aske an egge, will he offer him a scorpion? yf ye then beyng euyll, can geue good giftes vnto youre children, how moch moare shall your father of heauen geue the holy spirete to them, that desyre it of him? ✝ B * mat. vij. a. John xvi. f. Jacob. i. a.

✝ * And he was castinge out a deuyll, and the same was domme. And whē he had cast out the deuill, the dōme spake, & the people wondred. But some of them sayde: * he casteth out deuyls thorowe Beelzebub the chefe of the deuyls. And other tempted him and requyred of him a signe from heauen. * mat. ix. d. mar. vii. d. * mat. ix. d. mar. iii. c.

But he knowing their thoughtes, sayd vnto them: Euery kyngdome deuided agaynst it selfe, is desolate: and one house doth fall vpon another. yf Satan also, be deuyded agaynst him selfe, how shall his kyngdome endure? Because ye saye, that I cast out deuyls thorow Beelzebub. If I, by the helpe of Beelzebub cast out deuyls, by whose helpe do youre chyldren cast them out. Therfore shall they be your iudges. But yf I, with the synger of God cast out deuyls, no doute the kyngdome of God is come vpon you. C

* When a stronge man armed watcheth his house: the thinges that he possesseth are in peace. But when a stronger then he cōmeth vpon him, and ouercommeth him, he taketh from him all his harnes (wherin he trusted) ād deuideth his goodes. He that is not with me, is against me. And he that gathereth not with me, scatereth abrode. * mat. xii. c. D

*Mar.xiii.d. * When the vncleane spyryte is gone out of a man, he walketh thrugh drie places, seekynge reest. And when he fyndeth none, he sayeth: I will returne agayne vnto my houses, whence I came out. And whē he cōmeth, he fyndeth it swept and garnished. Then goeth he and taketh to him seuen other spyrytes worse then him selfe: and they enter in, & dwell there. And the ende of that mā, is worse then the begynnynge.

And it fortuned that as he spake these thynges, a certayne woman of the company lyfte vp her voyce, and sayd vnto him. Happy is the wombe that bare the, and the pappes which gaue the sucke. But he sayde: Yee, happy are they that heare the worde of God and kepe it. ✠

When the people were gathered thicke together, he begā to saye. This is an euyll nacion. * they seke a sygne, and ther shall no sygne be geuē them, but the sygne of Jonas the prophet. For as † Jonas was a sygne to the Niniuytes, so shall also the sonne of man be to thys nacion. * The quene of the south shall ryse at the iudgement, with the men of this nacion, and condempne them: for she came from the vttemost partes of the erth, to heare the wisdome of Salomon. And beholde a greater then Salomon is here. The mē of Ninine shall ryse at the iudgement with this nacyon: and shall condempne them: for they were brought to repentaūce by the preachynge of Jonas. And beholde, a greater then Jonas is here.

*Mat.xii.c. Mar.viii.b. Joha.vi.b. † Jonas ii.a. *iii.Reg.x.a ii.Para.ix.a. Mat.xii.d.

E ✠ * No man lyghteth a candell, and putteth it in a preuy place, nether vnder a busshell: but on a candelsticke, that they which come in, maye se the light. † The lyght of the body is the eye. Therfore, when thyne eye is syngle, all thy body also shalbe full of lyght. But yf thyne eye be euill, thy body also shalbe full of darknes, Take hede therfore, that the lyght which is in the, be not darcknes. Yf all thy body therfore be cleare, hauynge no parte darcke: thē shal it all be full of light, euen as when a candell doeth lyght the with bryghtnes. ✠

*Mat.v.b. Marc.iv.b. Luke.viii.c. † Mat.vi.c.

And as he spake, a certayne Pharyse besought him, to dyne with him, and Jesus went in, and sate doune to meate. When the Pharyse sawe it, he marueyled, that he had not fyrst washed before dyner. And ꝑ Lorde sayde vnto him: * Now do ye Pharises, make clene the out syde of the cup, and the platter: but youre inwarde parte is full of rauenynge and wyckednes. Ye fooles, dyd not he (that made that which is without) make that which is within also? Neuertheles, * ☞ geue almose of that ye haue, and behold, all thinges are cleane vnto you. * But wo vnto you Pharises, for ye tythe mynt ād rewe, and all manner erbes, and passe ouer iudgement and the loue of God. These ought ye to haue done, and yet not to leaue the other vndone.

M *Mat.xvii.c. * Mat.v.c. * Wo vnto you Pharises: for ye loue the vppermost seates in the synagoges, and gretinges in the market. Wo vnto you scrybes and Pharises, ye ypocrites, for ye are as graues which appeare not, and the mē that walke ouer them, are not ware of them. Then answered one of the lawears, and sayde vnto him: Master, thus sayeng thou puttest vs to rebuke also. And he sayde: * wo vnto you also ye lawers: for ye lade men with burthēs which they be not not able to beare: and ye youre selues touche not the packes with one of youre fyngers. Wo vnto you: * ye buylde the sepulchres of the Prophetes, and youre fathers kylled them, truly ye beare witnes, that ye alowe the dedes of youre fathers: for they kylled them, and ye buylde their sepulchres. Therfore sayde the wisdome of God, * I will send them Prophetes and Apostles and some of them they shall slaye and persecute: that the bloude of all Prophetes (which is shed from the begynninge of the worlde) maye be required of this generacion, from the bloude of * Abell, vnto the bloud of Zachary, which perished betwene the aulter ād the temple. Verely I saye vnto you: it shalbe required of this nacion.

*Mat.xxiii.d. Mar.xii.d. Luke.xi.d. * Gene.iv. ii.Para.xxiiii.

Wo vnto you lawears: for ye haue taken awaye the keye of knowledge, ye entred not in youre selues, ād them that came in, ye forbad. When he thus spake vnto them, the lawears and the Pharises began to wexe busye aboute him, and capciously to aske him many thinges, layinge wayte for him, and seekynge to catche some thinge of his mouth, wherby they might accuse him.

The. xij. Chapter.

¶ The leuen of the Pharyses, Christe counterteth hys disciples against perilous pon, warneth them to beware of couetousnes by the symylitude of a certayne ryche man, he wyll not haue them to hange vpon earthly thynges, but to watch, and to be ready against hys commynge.

A Ther gathered togetheran innumerable multitude of people (in so moche that they trood one another) he began to saye vnto his disciples: fyrst of all * beware of the leuē of the Phariseswhich is ypocrisy. † For ther is nothynge couered, that shall not be vncouered: nether hyd, that shall not be knowen. * For what thinges ye haue spoken in darknes, shalbe heard in the light. And that which ye haue spoken into the eare, euen in secrete places, shalbe preached on the toppe of the houses. * I saye vnto you my frendes: be not afrayde of them that kyll the body, and after that haue no moare, that they can do. But I will shewe you, whom ye shall feare. Feare him, which after which after he hath kylled, hath power to caſt into hell. Yee, I ſaye vnto you: feare him.

*Mat.x.b. mark.viii.b. † Mat.x. mark.iiii.c. Luke.viii.c. * Mat.x.c. Luke.xii.b. * Mat.x.b. mat.xiii.b.

Are not fyue ſparowes bought for two far-thinges? And not one of them is forgoten of God. Alſo, euen ꝑ very heeres of youre heed are all nombred. Feare not therfore: ye are moare of value then many ſparowes.

I ſaye vnto you * euery one: whoſoeuer confeſſeth me before men, him ſhal ꝑ ſonne of man knowledge alſo before ꝑ angels of God.
And he that denyeth me before men, ſhalbe denied before ꝑ angels of God. * And who-ſoeuer ſpeaketh a worde ☞ agaynſt ꝑ ſone
of man, it ſhalbe forgeuen him. * But vn-
to him ꝑ blaſphemeth the holy gooſt, it ſhall
not be forgeuen. When they bringe you vnto the ſinagoges, and vnto the rulers and officers, take ye no thought, how or what thinge ye ſhall anſwer, or what ye ſhall ſpea-ke. For the holy gooſt ſhall teache you in the ſame houre, what ye ought to ſaye.

✠ One of the company ſayde vnto him:
Maſter, ſpeake to my brother, that he deui-
de the enheritaunce with me. And he ſayde vnto him: Man, who made me a iudge or a deuider, ouer you? And he ſayde vnto them:
take hede, and beware of couetouſnes. For no mannes lyfe ſtandeth in the aboundance of the thinges which he poſſeſſeth. And he put forth a ſimplytude vnto them ſayinge:
The grounde of a certaine riche mā brought forth plentifull frutes, and he thought with in him ſelfe ſayinge: what ſhall I do? becau-ſe I haue no roume where to beſtowe my frutes? And he ſayd: This will I do. I will deſtroye my barnes, and bylde greater, and therin will I gather all my goodes that are growen vnto me: and I will ſaye to my ſou
le: Soule * thou haſt moche goodes layd vp
in ſtoore for many yeares, take thyne eaſe:
eate, drincke, be mery. But God ſayd vnto
him. * Thou fole, this nyght will they fet-che awaye thy ſoule agayne from the. * The whoſe ſhall thoſe thynges be, which thou haſt prouided? So is it with him that ga-thereth riches to him ſelfe, and is not riche to warde God.

And he ſpake vnto his diſciples: Therfore I ſaye vnto you. * Take no thought for youre lyfe, what ye ſhall eate: nether for the body, what ye ſhall put on. The life is moare the meate, and the body is moare then ray-ment. Conſider the rauens, for they nether ſo
we nor repe, which nether haue ſtoore houſe ner barne, and God fedeth them. ✠ how moche are ye better then fethered foules?
* Which of you (with his takinge thought)
can adde to his ſtature one cubit? If ye then be not able to do that thinge which is leaſt:
why take ye thought for the remnaunt? Cōſider the lylies how they growe: They laboure not: they ſpyn not: and yet I ſaye vnto
you, that Salomon in all his royalte, was not clothed lyke one of theſe.

If God ſo clothe the graſſe (which is to daye in the felde, and to morow is caſt into the fornace) how moche more wyll he cloth
you, Oye of lytle fayth? And aſke not ye what ye ſhall eate, or what ye ſhall drincke,
nether clime ye vp an hye: for all ſoche thin-
ges do the hethen people of the worlde ſeke
for. Youre father knoweth, that ye haue nea-de of ſoche thinges. Wherfore, * ſeke ye after the kyngdome of God, and all theſe thin-ges ſhalbe miniſtred vnto you. ✠ Feare
not lytell flocke, for it is youre fathers plea-ſure, to geue you the kyngdome. * ☞ Sell that ye haue, and geue almes. And prepare you bagges, which were not olde, euē a trea-ſure that fayleth not in heauen, where no theefe commeth, nether moth corrupteth. For where youre treaſure is, there will youre hert
te be alſo.

* Let youre loynes be gerd about, ꝑ your lightes brenning * (in your handes) and ye youre ſelues lyke vnto men that wayte for their Lorde, when he will returne from the wed-dinge: that whan he commeth and knocketh
they maye opē vnto him immediatly. Happy are thoſe ſeruauntes, whom the Lorde
(when he commeth) ſhall fynde wakynge.
Verely I ſaye vnto you, that he ſhall gyr-
de hym ſelfe and make them to ſyt downe
to meate, and walke by, and miniſter vnto them. And yf he come in the ſeconde watch, yee, yf he come in the thirde watch, and fynde them ſo, happy are thoſe ſeruauntes. This vnderſtond, that yf the good man of the hou-ſe knewe, what houre the theefe wolde come,
he wolde ſurely watch, and not ſuffer hys
houſſe to be broken vp. * Be ye therfore ready alſo: for the ſonne of man will come at an houre when ye thincke not. ✠

Peter ſayde vnto him: * Maſter, telleſt
thou this ſimilitude vnto vs, or to all men?
And the Lorde ſayde: who is a faythfull and wiſe ſtewarde, whom his Lorde ſhall make ruler ouer his houſholde, to geue them their duetie of meat in due ſeaſon: * happy is that ſeruaunt, whom his Lorde when he cōmeth, ſhall fynde ſo doing. Of a trueth I ſaye vnto you, that he will make him ruler ouer all that he hath. But and yf the ſeruaunt ſaye
in his herte. * My Lorde will deferre his cōminge (and ſhall beginne to ſmite ſeruauntes and maydens, and to eate and drincke,
and to be droncken) the lorde of that ſeruaūt will come in a daye when he thinketh not, and at an houre when he is not ware, and will hewe him in peces, and geue him his rewarde
with the vnbeleuers.

* The ſeruaunt that knewe his maſters
will and prepared not him ſelfe, nether dyd accordinge to hys wyll, ſhalbe beaten with many

Mat. x. c.

* Mat. xii. c. Mar. iii. d.

☞ * Mat. xii. c. Luc. xii. d.

* Luc. xvii. b. Pſa. xxxix. b

* Mat. vi. d. Deu. v. d.

Mat. vi. d.

* mat. xv. c. 1 Timo. vi. b. Eccl. xxix. b. Prou. xxiii. a.

* mat. xix. c. mar. x. c. ☞

* Epheſ. vi. c. 1. Pet. i. c. ☞

* mat. xxiiii. d and. xxv. a. mar. xiii. d.

* mat. xxiiii. d mar. xiii. c.

* Act. xx. c

* mat. xxiiii. d

Iacob. iii. d.

many strypes. But he that knewe not, and dyd commytte thynges wozthy of strypes, shalbe beaten with fewe strypes. Foz vnto whomsoeuer moch is geuen, of him shalbe moche requyzed. And to whom men haue cõmitted moch: of him wyll they aske ꝑ moze.

I am come to sende fyer on erth: & what is my desier, but ꝑ it were all readye kindled? * Mat. 3.c. Not withstãdynge I must be * baptysed wt a baptime: and how am I payned, tyll it be ended? * Mat. 5.d. Suppose ye, that I am come to sende peace on erth? I tell you naye, but rather dyuysyon. Foz from hence fozth ther shalbe fyue in one house deuided, thze against two, and two agaynst thze. The father shalbe deuided agaynst the sonne, and the sonne agaynst the father. The mother agaynst the daughter, and the daughter agaynst the mother. The mother in lawe agaynst hyz daughter in lawe, and ꝑ daughter in lawe, agaynst hyz mother in lawe.

* Mat. 16.a. He sayde also to the people: * when ye se a clonde ryse out of the west, strayght waye ye saye: ther commeth a shower, and so it is: And when ye se the south wynde blowe, ye saye: it will be hote, ãd it commeth to passe. Ye ypocrytes, ye can discerne the outwarde appearaunce of the skye and of the erthe: but how happeneth it, that yer ãnot skyll of this tyme? Yee, and why iudge ye not of youre selues what is ryght.

* Mat. 5.d. Luce. 12.d. * Whan thou goest with thyne aduersary to the ruler, as thou arte in the waye, geue diligence that thou mayst be deliuered frõ him, least he bzynge the to the iudge, and the iudge delyuer the to the iaylar, and the iaylar cast the into pzeson. I tell the, thou shalt not departe thẽce, tyll thou haue made good the vtmost myte.

¶ The xiij. Chapter.

¶ Of the Galileans whom Pylate slewe, and of those that dyed in Syloe. The fruytfulnesse of the fygge tre. Christe healeth the sycke woman. The parable of the mustarde sede and leuen. Fewe entre into the kyngdome. Christ reproueth Herode and Jerusalem.

THer were present at the same season, certayne mẽ that shewed him of the Galileans, whose blonde Pylate had myngled with thezr awne sacrifyce. And Jesus answered, and sayde vnto thẽ: Suppose ye that * Ioh. 9.b. these. * Galileãs were greater synners thẽ all the other Galileans, because they suffred suche punyshment? I tell you naye: but except ye repent: ye shall all lyke wyse perysshe. Oz those. xviij. vpon which the toure in Syloe fell, and slewe them, thynke ye, that they were synners aboue all men that dwelt in Jerusalem? I tell you naye: But except ye repent, ye all shall lyke wyse perysshe.

✠ He tolde also this similitude: a certayne man had a * fygge tree planted in his * Mat. 21.b. vineyarde & he came and sought frute therõ, and founde none. Then sayde he to the dzesser of his vineyarde: beholde, this thze yeare haue I come and sought frute in this fygge tree, and fynde none: cut it doune: why combzeth it the ground? and he answered & sayd vnto him: Lozde, let it alone this yeare also, tyll I bygge rounde aboute it, and donge it, to se whether it will beare frute: ãd yf it beare not then, after that shalt ꝑ cut it doune.

And he taught in one of their synagoges on the Saboth dayes. And beholde, ther was a womã, which had a spzete of infirmite. xviij yeares: and was bowed together, and coulde in no wyse lifte vp her heade. Whẽ Jesus sawe her, he called her to him, and sayde vnto her woman, thou art deliuered from thy disease. And he layde his handes on her, and immediatly, she was made strayght, ãd glorified God. And the ruler of the synagoge answered with indignacion (because that Jesus had healed on the Saboth daye) and sayde vnto the people. Ther are syxe dayes in which men ought to wozke, in them come, that ye maye be healed, and not on the Saboth daye. C

But the Lozde answered him and sayde: Thou ypocryte, doth not each one of you on the Saboth daye * lowse his oxe oz his asse from the stall, and leade him to the water? * Mat. xij. Luke. xiiij. And ought not this daughter of Abzaham, whom Satã hath bounde (lo. xviij. yeares) be lowsed from this bonde on the Saboth daye? And when he thus sayde, all hys aduersaries were ashamed, and all the people reioysed on all the excellent dedes, that were done by him. ✠

Then sayde he: what is the kyngdome of God like? oz wherto shall I compare it? * It is like a grayne of mustarde seede, which a man toke, and sowed in his garden: and it grewe and wexed a greate tree, and the fowles of the ayer made nestes in the bzaunches of it. D * Mat. xiij. Mark. iiij.

And agayne he sayde: wher vnto shall I lyken the kyngdome of God? * it is like leuen, which a * woman toke, and hyd in thze peckes of meele, tyll all was leuened. And he went thozow all cities and townes, teachynge, and iozneyinge towardes Jerusalẽ. Then sayde one vnto him: Lozde, are ther fewe that be saued? And he sayde vnto him: * Mat. xiij. * Gen. xviij. E

* Mat. xij. stryue to * enter in at ꝑ strayte gate: foz many (I saye vnto you) will seke to enter in, and shall not be able. When the good man of the houle is rysen vp, and hath shutt to the doze, and ye beginne to stonde without, and to knocke at the doze sayinge: Lozde, Lozd, open vnto vs, and he answer and saye vnto you. (I knowe you not whẽce ye are) Then shall ye begyn to saye: we haue eaten & dzõke in thy presence, & thou hast taught i oure stretes. And he shall saye: I tell you, I knowe you not F

pou not whence ye are: departe from me all ye ꝑ worke iniquite. There shalbe wepinge & gnashinge of teth, when ye shall se Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, and all the Prophetes in ꝑ kyngdome of God, and ye youre selues thrust out. * And they shall come frō the east and from the west, and from ꝑ north and from the south, and shall syt downe in ꝑ kyngdome of God. And beholde, * there are last, which shalbe fyrst. And ther are fyrst, which shalbe last.

G The same daye came there certayne of the Pharises, and sayde vnto him. get the out of the waye, and departe hence: for Herode will kyll the. And he sayde vnto them: Go ye, and tell that fore, beholde, I cast out deuyls and heale the people to daye and to morowe, and the thyrde daye I make an ende. Neuertheles, I must walke to daye and to morow, and the daye folowyng: for it cannot be that a Prophet perisshe eny other where, saue at Jerusalem.

* O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, which killest Prophetes, and stonest thē that are sent vnto the: how ofte wolde I haue gathered thy children together, as a hyrde doth gather her ponge vnder her wynges, and ye wolde not? youre habitacion is left vnto you desolate. I tell you, ye shall not se me, vntyll the tyme come that ye shall saye * blessed is he that cōmeth in the name of the Lorde.

¶ The. xiiij. Chapter. ✠

¶ Jesus eateth with the Pharysee, healeth the dropsy vpon the Sabboth, teacheth to be lowly, telleth of the greate supper, and warneth them that wyll folowe hym, to laye their accomptes before, what it wyll cost them. The salt of the earth.

A AND it chaunced, that he went into the house of one of the chefe Pharyses ☞ to eate breed on a Saboth daye: and they watched hym. And beholde, ther was a certayne man before him which had the dropsye. And Jesus answered and spake vnto the lawers and Pharyses, sayinge: * is it laufull to heale on the Saboth daye? And they helde their peace. And he toke him and healed him, and let him go: and answered them, sayinge, which of you shall haue * an asse or an oxe fallē into a pytt and wyll not strayght waye pull him out on the Saboth daye? And they coulde not answere him agayne to these thinges.

B He put forth also a symilitude to the gestes, when he marked how they preased to ꝑ hyest roumes, and sayde vnto them: When ꝑ art bydden of anye man to a weddynge, syt not downe in the hyest rowme, lest a more honorable man then thou be bydden of him, and he (that bade him and the) come, ād saye to the: geue this man rowme, and thou then beginne w̄ shame to take the lowest rowme. But rather when thou art bydden, go ād syt in the lowest rowme: that whē he that bade the, commeth, he maye saye vnto the: * frēde syt vp hyer. Then shalt ꝑ haue worshipp in the presence of thē that syt at meate with the. * For whosoeuer exalteth him selfe, shalbe brought lowe. And he that humbleth hym selfe, shalbe exalted. ✠ *Pro. xxv. a.

C Then sayde he also to hym, that had desired him to dyner: ✠ When thou makest a diner or a supper, call not thy frendes, nor thy brethrē, nether thy kynsmē ner thy ryche neyghbours: lest they also bydde the agayne, and a recompence be made the. But whē thou makest a feast, call the poore, the feble, the lame, and the blynde, & thou shalt be happy, for they cā not recompence the. But thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrecyon of the iuste men. *Mat. xviii. b. Luke. xviii. c.

When one of them (that sat at meate also) heard these thynges, he sayd vnto him: happy is he that eateth bread in the kyngdome of God. ✠ Then sayde he vnto hi. ✠ * A certayne man ordened a greate supper, and bade many, and sent his seruaunt at supper tyme, to saye to them that were bydden, come: for all thinges are now ready. And they all atōce beganne to make excuse. The fyrst sayde vnto him: I haue bought a farme, and I must nedes go, & se it, I praye the haue me excused. And another sayde: I haue bought fyue pooke of oxen, and I go to proue them, I praye the, haue me excused. And another sayde: I haue maried a wyfe, and therfore I cannot come. And the seruaunt returned and brought his master worde agayne therof. D * Mat. xxii. a Apo. xix. b.

Then was the good man of the house displeased, and sayde to his seruaunt: Goo out quickly into the stretes and quarters of the cytie, and bring in hyther the poore, and the feble, and the halt and the blynde. And the seruaunt sayd: Lorde, it is done as thou hast commaunded, and yet there is rowme. And ꝑ Lorde sayd to the seruaunt: Go out vnto the hye wayes and hedges, and * compell them to come in, that my house maye be fylled. For I saye vnto you, ꝑ none of those men which were bydden, shall tast of my supper. ✠ E * Gene. xix. a

Ther went a greate company with hym, and he turned, and sayd vnto them: ✠ * If a man come to me, ☞ and hate not hys father and mother, and wyfe and chyldren, ād brethren, and systers, yee, and his awne lyfe also, he cannot be my disciple. And whosoener doth not beare his crosse, and come after me, cannot be my disciple. * Mat. x. d. Luke. xiv. c. F

Which of you disposed to buylde a toure, sytteth not downe before, and counteth the cost, whether he haue sufficient to performe it: lest after he hath layde the foundacyon, ād is not able to performe it, all that beholde it, begynne to mocke hym, sayinge: this man beganne to buylde, & was not able to make an ende:

G an ende? Or what kyng goinge to make batayle agaynst another kinge, sytteth not downe fyrst, and casteth in his mynde, whether he be able with ten thousande, to mete him, that commeth agaynst him with. xx. thousande? Or els while the other is yet a greate waye of, he sendeth ambassatoures, and desireth peace. So lykewyse, whosoeuer he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple. ✠

* Mat. v.d. marck ix.g. * Salt is good, but yf salt haue loste the saltnes, what shal be seasoned ther with? It is nether good for the lande, nor yet for the donge hill, but men cast it out at the dores. He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

¶ The.xv. Chapter.

¶ The louynge mercy of God is openly set forth in the parable of the hundreth sheep, and of the penne that was lost.

Then resorted vnto him * all the publicans and synners, for to heare hi. And the Pharises ād Scribes murmured, sayinge. He receaueth synners, ād eateth with them. But he put forth this parable vnto them, saieng. * What mā of you hauynge an hundred shepe (yf he lose one of them) doth not leaue nynty ād nyne in the wildernes, ād go after that which is lost, vntill he fynde it? And when he hath founde it, he layeth it on his shulders with ioye. And assone as he cometh home, he calleth together his louers and neyghbours, saying vnto them: Reioyce with me for I haue founde my shepe, which was loost. I say vnto you, that like wyse ioye shalbe in heauen ouer one synner that repenteth, more then ouer nynty and nyne iuste persons, which nede no repētaunce. Ether what woman (hauynge ten grotes, yf she loose one) doth not light a candell, and swepe the house, and seke diligētly tyll she fynde it? And when she hath founde it, she calleth her louers and her neyghbours together, sayinge: Reioyce with me, for I haue founde the grote which I had lost. Like wyse I saye vnto you, shall ther be ioye in the presence of the angels of God, ouer one synner * that repenteth. ✠

* mat. xi.b mark. ii.b Luke. v.f

* mat. xviii.b

* Luke. v.f

✠ And he sayd: A certayne man had two sonnes, and the yonger of them sayde vnto the father: father, geue me the porcion of the goodes, that to me belongeth. And he deuided vnto thē his substance. And not longe after, whan the yonger sonne had gathered all that he had together, he toke his iorney into a far countrey, and there * he wasted his goodes with ryotous liuing. And when he had spent all, ther arose a greate derth in all that land, and he began to lacke, and went, ād came to a citezyn of the same countre: and he sent him to his farme, to kepe swyne. And he wolde fayne haue fylled his bely with the coddes that the swyne dyd eate: and no mā gaue vnto him.

* Wis. xiij.a

Then he came to him selfe, and sayd: how many hyred seruauntes at my fathers haue breed ynough, and I perishe with honger. I wyll aryse, ād go to my father, and will saye vnto hi: father, I haue synned agaynst heauen, and before the, and am no more worthy to be called thy sōne, make me as one of thy hyred seruaūtes. And he arose, and came to his father. * But whē he was yet a greate waye of, his father sawe him, and had compassion, and ran, and fell on his neck, and kyssed him. And the sonne sayde vnto him: father, I haue synned agaynst heauen, and in thy syght, and am nomore worthy to be called thy sonne. But the father sayd to his seruauntes: bringe forth the best garment, and put it on him, and put a ryng on his hande, and shoes on his fete. And bringe hyther that fatt caulfe, and kyll it, and let vs eate and be mery: for this my sonne was deed, and is alyue agayne, he was loste, and is founde. And they began to be merye. The elder brother was in the felde: and when he came and drewe nye to the house, he herde mynstrelsy and daunsynge, and called one of his seruauntes, and asked, what those thynges meāte. And he sayd vnto him: thy brother is come, and thy father hath kylled the fatt caulfe, because he hath receaued him safe and sounde. And he was angry, and wolde not go in. Then came hys father out, and entreated him. He answered and sayde to his father: Lo, these many yeares haue I done the seruice, nether brake at any tyme thy commaundement, and yet gauest thou me neuer a kid, to make mery with my frēdes: but assone as this thy sonne was come (which hath deuoured thy goodes with harlotes) thou haste for his pleasure killed the fatt caulfe. And he sayde vnto him: Sonne, thou art euer with me, ād all that I haue is thyne: it was mete that we shulde make mery and be glad: for this thy brother was deed, and is alyue agayne: and was loste, and is founde. ✠

* Ioh. xvi.a Dial. iiij.a

¶ The.xvj. Chapter.

¶ The parable of the wretch Mammon. Not one tytle of Gods worde shall perish. Of the ryche man, and of poore Lazarus.

And he sayde also vnto his disciples. ✠ Ther was a certayn ryche man, which had a stewarde, and the same was accused vnto hym, that he had wasted hys goodes. And he called him, and sayde vnto him: how is it, that I heare thys of the? Geue acomptes of thy stewardshype: for thou mayste be no longer steward. The stewarde sayde with in him selfe: what shall I do, for my Master taketh awaye from me the stewardeshypp. I cannot dygge, and to begge I am ashamed. I wote what to do, that when I am put out of the stewardshipp, they maye receaue me into their houses.

So whan

So whā he had called all hys maisters detters togeather, he sayde vnto the fyrst: how moch owest thou vnto my master? And he sayd: an hundred tonnes of ople. And he sayde vnto him: take thy byll, & syt doune quyckly and wryte lyttye. Then sayd he to another: how moch owest thou? And he sayde: an hondred quarters of wheate. He sayde vnto him. Take thy byll, and wryte foure scoore. And the Lorde cōmended the vniust stewarde, because he had done wysly. For the chyldren of this worlde are in theyr nacion, wyser then the chyldren of lyght. And I saye vnto you: make you frendes of the vnrighteous ☞ māmon, that when ye shall haue nede they may receaue you into euerlastyng habitacyons. ✠

✠ He that is faythfull in that which is least, is faythfull also I moch. And he that is vnrighteous in the least: is vnrighteous also in moch. So thē, yf ye haue not ben faythfull in the vnrighteous māmon, who wyll beleue you in that which is true? And yf ye haue not bene faythfull in another mannes busynes, who shal geue you ỳ which is youre awne? * No seruaūt cā serue two maisters: for ether he shall hate the one, and loue the other: or els he shall leane to ỳ one, & despyse the other. Ye cānot serue God & mammon.

All these thynges herde the Pharyses also, which were couetous, and they mocked him. And he sayd vnto thē: Ye are they which iustifye youre selues before men: but God knoweth youre hertes. For that which is highlye estemed amonge men, is abhominable in the syght of God. ✠

* The lawe and the Prophetes raygned ☞ vntyll John: and sence that tyme, the kyngdome of God is preached, and euery man stryueth to go in. * Sayer is it for heauen and erth to perysche, then one tytle of the lawe to fayll. * Whosoeuer forsaketh hys wyfe, and marieth another, committeth aduoutrye. And he which marieth her that is deuorced from her husbande, committeth aduoutry also.

✠ Ther was a certayne ryche mā, which was clothed in purple and fyne whyte, and fared delicyously euery dyae: And there was a certayne begger named Lazarus, which laye at his gate full of sores, desyrynge to be refreshed with the cromes, which fell from the ryche mannes borde (and no man gaue vnto hym.) The dogges came also, and lycked his sores. And it fortuned, that the begger died, and was caryed by the angelles into Abrahams bosome. The ryche man also dyed, and was buryed.

And beynge in hell in tormentes, he lyfte vp hys eyes and sawe Abraham a farre of and Lazarus in hys bosome, and he cryed ād sayde: father Abraham: haue mercy on me, and sende Lazarus, that he maye dyppe the typpe of hys fynger in water, and cole my tonge: for I am tormēted in this flame. But Abraham sayde: Sonne * remember that thou in thy lyfe tyme, receauedst thy pleasure, & cōtrary wyse, Lazarus receaued payne. But now is he comforted, and thou art punished. Beyonde all this, betwene vs and you ther is a greate space set, so ỳ they which wolde go from hence to you, cannot: nether maye come from thence to vs.

Then he sayd: I praye the therfore father, sende him to my fathers house. (For I haue fyue brethren) for to warne them, lest they also come into this place of tormēt. Abraham sayde vnto him: they haue Moses and the Prophetes, let them heare them. And he sayde: naye father Abraham, but yf one come vnto thē from the dede, they wyll repent. He sayde vnto him: If they heare not Moses and the Prophetes, nether wyll they beleue, though one rose from dede agayne. ✠

¶ The. xvij. Chapter.

¶ Christ teacheth hys disciples to auoyde occasyons of euell, one to forgeue another, stedfastly to trust in God and no man to presume in hys awne workes. He healeth ten lepers, speaketh of the latter dayes and of the ende of the worlde.

E sayde vnto the disciples: it cā not be: but offences wyll come. Neuerthelesse * wo vnto hym thorow whō they come. It were better for him that a mylstone were hanged aboute his neck, and he cast into the see, then that he shulde offende one of these lytle ons. Take hede to youre selues. * If thy brother trespas agaynst the, rebuke hym: and yf he repent, forgeue hym. And though he synne agaynst the seuen tymes in a daye, and seuen tymes in a daye tourne agayne to the, sayinge: it repenteth me, thou shalt forgeue hym.

And the Apostles sayde vnto the Lorde: increase oure fayth. And the Lorde sayde: * yf ye had fayth lyke a grayne of mustarde sede, & shuld saye vnto this Sycampyne tree, pluche thy selfe vp by the rootes, and plant thy selfe in the see: it shulde obey you.

Who is it of you, yf he had a seruaunte plowynge or fedynge catell, that wyll saye vnto hym when he commeth from the felde: Go quyckly, and syt downe to meat, & sayth not rather vnto him, dresse, wherw̄ I maye supp, & gyrde vp thy selfe, and serue me, tyll I haue eaten and dronchen: and afterward, eate thou, and drincke thou? Doeth he thanke that seruaunt, because he dyd the thynges that were commaunded vnto him? I trowe not. So lyke wyse ye, when ye haue done all those thynges which are commaunded you, saye: we are vnprofitable seruaūtes. We haue done that, which was oure duety to do.

✠ And it chaūsed as he went to Jerusalē, that he

that he passed thorow Samaria ād Galile,
And as he entred into a certayne towne, ther
met him ten mē that were lepers. Which stode a farre of, and put forth theyr voyces and sayde: Jesu master, haue mercy on vs. When
* Leui.xiiij.d. Mat.viij.d he sawe thē he sayd vnto them: * Go, shewe D youre selues vnto the Prestes. And it came to passe, that as they went, they were clēsed
And one of them, when he sawe that he was clensed, turned backe agayne, & with a loude
voyce prayed God, and fell doune on hys
face at hys fete, and gaue hym thankes.
And the same was a Samaritane. And Jesus answered, & sayde: are ther not ten clen-sed? But where are those nyne? Ther are not founde that returned agayne, to geue God prayse, saue only this straunger. And he sayd vnto him: aryse, go thy waye, thy fayth hath made the whoale. ✠
E ✠ When he was demaunded of the Pharises, when the kyngdome of God shulde come, he answered them and sayd: The kyngdome of God shall not come with wayting for, nether shal they saye. Lo here, Or lo there. For beholde the kyngdome of God is within you.
And he sayde vnto the disciples: ꝑ dayes
wyll come, whē ye shall desyre to se one daye
of the sonne of man, and ye shall not se it.
*mat.xxiiij.d. Mat.xxiiij.c. * And they shall saye to you: Se here, Se there. Go not after them, nor folowe them:
for as the lyghtenynge that apereth out of the one parte that is vnder heauē, & shyneth
vnto the other parte which is vnder heauen,
so shall the sonne of man be in hys dayes.
* Mat.xvij.c. Mar.viij.d. Luke.xvij.d. & mat.xxiiij.d Gene.vij.b. * But fyrst must he suffre many thynges &
F be refused of this nacion.
And as it happened in ꝑ * dayes of Noe:
so shall it be also in the dayes of the sonne of
man. They dyd eate & dryncke, they maryed wyues and were maried, euen vnto that same daye that Noe went into the Arke: and the floude cam, and destroyed them all. Lyke wyse also as it chaunced in the dayes of Lot.
They dyd eate, they dranche. they bought,
they solde, they planted, they buylded: But euen the same daye that Lot went out of *Gene.xix.f. Sodom, it rayned with fyre and brymstone from heauen, * & destroyed them all. Euen thus, shall it be in the daye, when the sonne
of man shall appere.
G * At that daye he that is on ꝑ house topp,
*mat.xxiiij.b and his stuffe in the house: let him not come downe to take it out. And let not him that is
*Gen.xix.f. in the felde, turne backe agayne to ꝑ thinges & mat.xvj.d Joan.xij.d. Luke.xvij.d. that he lefte behinde. * Remember Lottes wyfe. & Whosoeuer wyll go about to saue
his lyfe, shal lose it: and whosoeuer shall lose *mat.xxiiij.b his lyfe, shall saue it. I tell you: in that night & mat.xxiiij.b * ther shalbe two in one bed, the one shalbe receaued, the other shalbe forsaken: & Two shalbe a grynding together: the one shalbe receaued, and the other forsaken. & Two in the fielde, the one shalbe receaued, and the other forsaken. And they answered, and sayd to him, where Lorde. He sayde vnto them: * wheresoeuer the *mat.xxiiij.b Job.xxxix.b body shalbe, thyther wyll also that Egles be gathered together.

¶ The.xviij. Chapter. ✠

¶ He teacheth to be feruent in prayer continually. Of the Phariser & the publycan. The kyngdome of God belongeth vnto children. Christe answereth the ruler and promyseth reward vnto all such as suffre losse for hys sake, and folowe hym. The blynde man is restored to hys sight.

AND he put forth a parable vnto them, signifying that (✠ men
ought * all wayes to praye ād
*1.Thes.v.d not to be wery, sayinge: Ther
was i a certayne cytie a iudge,
which feared not God, nether regarded mā.
And ther was a certayne wedowe in the same cytye, and she came vnto hym, sayinge:
auenge me of myne aduersary. And he wol-de not for a whyle. But after warde he sayd within him selfe: though I feare not God,
nor care for man, yet because thys wedowe
is importune vpon me, I wyll auenge her, lest she come at the last and raple on me. And the Lorde sayde, heare what the vnryghte-wes Judge sayeth. And shal not God auēge his electe, which crye daye and nyght vnto him, yee, though he deferre them? I tell you that he will auenge them, & that quickly. ✠ Neuertheles, whē the sonne of mā cōmeth,
shall he fynde fayth on the erth?
✠ And he tolde this parable, vnto cer-tayne which trusted in them selues that they were perfecte, and despysed other. Two men went vp into the temple to praye: the one a Pharise and the other a publicā. The Pharysie stode and prayed thus with hym selfe:
God, I thancke the, that I am not as other
men are, extorsioners, vniuste, aduoutrers,
or as this publycā. I fast twyse in the weke.
* I geue tythe of all that I possesse. And the
*Deu. xiiij.d publicā stondyng a farre of, wolde not lyfte
vp his eyes to heauen, but smote vpon hys
brest, saying: God be mercyfull to me a synner: I tell you: thys man departed home to hys house iustyfyed, more then the other.
*mat.xxiij.b Luke.xiij.d * For euery one that exalteth him selfe, shal-
be brought lowe: And he that humbleth him
selfe, shalbe exalted. ✠ D * They brought vnto him also yong chil-
*mat.xix.d Mar.x.d dren, that he shulde touche them. When hys disciples sawe it, they rebuked them. But Jesus (whan he had called them vnto hym)
sayde: Suffre children to come vnto me, ād forbyd them not. For of such is the kyngdome of God. Verely I saye vnto you: whosoeuer receaueth not the kyngdome of God
* as a chylde, shall not enter therin. & And a *mat.xix.d Mar.x.d & Luke.xviij.d certayne ruler asked him, sayinge: good master, what ought I to do, to obtaine eternall lyfe? Jesus sayd vnto him: Why callest thou me good?

me good? None is good, saue God onely. Thou knowest the cōmaūdementes: * Thou shalt not commit aduoutry: † shalt not kyll: thou shalt not steale, thou shalt not beare false wytnes: honoure thy father & thy mother. And he sayde: all these haue I kept from my youth vp. Whē Iesus hearde that, he sayd vnto hym: Yet lackest thou one thynge. ☜ * Sell all † thou hast, and distrybute vnto the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauē, and come, folowe me. When he hearde thys, he was sory: for he was very ryche.

When Iesus sawe † he was sory, he sayde * wyth what difficulte shall they that haue mony, enter into the kingdome of God? it is easyer for a camell to go thorow a nedles eye, then for a ryche man to enter into the kyngdome of God. And they that hearde it: sayd. And who cā then be saued? And he sayde: * The thynges which are vnpossyble wmen, are possyble wyth God.

Then Peter sayde. * Lo, we haue forsake all, and folowed the. He sayde vntothem: Verely I saye vnto you: ther is no man that hath forsaken houle, ether father or mother, ether brethren, or wyfe, or chyldren (for the kyngdome of Goddes sake) whych shall not receaue moch more in this worlde, and in the worlde to come, lyfe euerlastynge.

✠ Iesus toke vnto him the twelue, & sayd vnto them: * Beholde, we go vp to Ierusalem, and all shalbe fulfylled, that are wrytten by the Prophetes, of the sonne of man. For he shalbe delyuered vnto the gentyls, & shalbe mocked, and despytfully entreated, & spytted on: & when they haue scourged him, they wyll put hym to deeth, * and the thyrd daye he shall aryse agayne. * And they vnderstode none of these thynges. And this saying was hyd from them, so that they perceaued not the thynges which were spoken.

* And it came to passe, that as he was come nye vnto Hiericō, a certayne blynde man sate by the waye syde, beggynge. And when he hearde the people passe by, he asked what it meant. And they sayde vnto hym, that Iesus of Nazareth passed by. And he cryed, sayinge: Iesu thou sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on me. And they whych went before, rebuked hym, that he shulde holde his peace. But he cryed so moch the more: * thou sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on me. And Iesus stode styll, and commaunded hym to be brought vnto hym. And when he was come neare, he asked hym, sayinge: what wilt thou that I do vnto the? And he sayde: Lorde, that I maye receaue my syght. And Iesus sayd vnto hym: receaue thy syght: thy fayth hath saued the. And immediatly he receaued his syght, and folowed hym, prayssynge God. And all the people, when they sawe it, gaue prayse vnto God. ✠

¶ The.xix.Chapter.

§ Of Iacheus, and the ten seruauntes, to whō the talentes were delyuered. Christ ryeth to Ierusalem, and wepeth ouer it.

AND he entred in, & went thorow Hiericō. And behold, ther was a man named zacheus, whych was a ruler amonge the Publicans, and was ryche also. And he sought meanes to se Iesus, what he shulde be: and coulde not for the preace, because he was lytle of stature. And he ran before, and clymed vp into a wylde fygge tree, to se hī: for he was to come that waye. And when Iesus cam to the place, he looked vp, and sawe hym, and sayd vnto him: zache, come downe atonce, for to daye I must abyde at thy house. And he came downe hastely, and * receaued hym ioyfully. And when they sawe it, they all grudged, sayinge: he is gone in to tary with a man that is a synner.

And zache stode forth, and sayd vnto the Lorde: beholde Lorde, the halfe of my goodes I gene to the poore: and yf I haue done eny man wronge, I restore him foure folde. Iesus sayde vnto him: this daye is health happened vnto thys house, because that he also is become the chylde of Abraham: * For the sonne of man is come to seke, and to saue that whych was loste. ✠

As they hearde these thynges, he added therto a parable, because he was nye to Ierusalem, and because they thought, that the kyngdome of God shulde shortly appeare. He sayde therfore: ✠ * a certayne noble mā went into a farre countre, to receaue hym a kyngdome, and to come agayne. And he called hys ten seruauntes, and delyuered them ten pounde, sayinge vnto thē: Occupye, tyll I come. But hys cytesens hated hym, & sent a message after him, sayinge: we will not haue thys man to raygne ouer vs.

And it came to passe, that when he had receaued his kingdome, he returned, & cōmaūded these seruauntes to be called vnto hym (to whom he had geuen the money) to wete how moch euery man had done. Then came † fyrst, saying: Lorde, thy pounde hath gayned ten pounde. And he sayd vnto hym: * Well thou good seruaunt: because thou hast bene faythfull in a very lytell thynge, haue thou auctoryte ouer ten cyties. And another came, sayinge: Lorde, thy pounde hath made fyue pounde. And to the same he sayde: be thou also ruler ouer fyue cyties.

And another came, saying: Lorde, beholde here is thy pounde, whych I haue kepte in a napkyn: for I feared the, because thou art a straye man: thou takest vp that thou laydest not downe, & reapest that thou dyddest not sowe. He sayeth vnto hym: * Of thyne

awne mouth, wyll I iudge the, thou cruell
seruaunt. Knewest thou that I am a strayte man, takynge vp that I layde not downe, &
reappynge that I dyd not sowe? And wherto
re gauest not thou my money into the bāke,
and at my commynge I myght haue required myne awne wyth vauntage?

And he sayd vnto them that stode by, take from hym that pounde, and geue it hym
that hath ten pounde. And they sayde vnto hym: Lorde, he hath ten pounde. For I saye vnto you, that * vnto euery one which hath, shalbe geuen: and he shall haue aboundaunce: & from him that hath not shalbe taken awaye, euen
that wheych he hath. Moreouer, those myne enemyes, (wheych wolde not þ I should rayg-gne ouer them) bringe hyther, and slee them
before me. * And when he had thus spoken,
he proceaded forth, takynge hys iourney, to go vp to Jerusalem.

* And it fortuned, when he was come nye
to Bethphage & Bethany, besydes þ mount wheych is called Olyuete, he sent two of hys disceples sayinge: go ye into þ towne, which is ouer agaynst you: Into the wheych assone
as ye are come, ye shall fynde an asses colte
tyed, wheron yet neuer man sate. Loose him, and bringe hym hyther. And yf eny mā aske
you, why do ye loose him? thus shall ye saye
vnto hym: the Lorde hath nede therof.

They that were sent, went their waye, & founde, euen as he had sayd vnto them. And as they were a lossynge the colte, the owners
therof sayd vnto them, why loose ye the col-te? And they sayde: for the Lorde hath nede of hym. And they brought him to Jesus, and cast their raymēt on the colte, and sett Jesus theron. And as he went, they spredde their clothes in the waye.

And when he was now come nye to hye goyng downe of the mounte Olyuete, the whole multitude of the disceples began to reioyce, & to prayse God with a loude voyce,
for all the myracles that they had sene, sayinge: * blessed be the kynge that commeth in the name of the Lorde: peace in heauen, and glory in the hyest. And some of þ Pharyses of the company sayd vnto hym: Master, rebuke the disceples. He sayd vnto them: I tell you, yf these holde their peace, * then shall the stones crye.

✠ And when he was come neare, he beheld the cytie, and * wept ouer it, sayinge: If thou haddest knowen those thynges wheych belonge vnto thy peace, euen in thys thy daye, þ woldst take hede. But now are they hydde from thyne eyes. For the dayes shall come vpō the, * that thy enemyes also shall cast a banke aboute the, and compasse þ roude, and kepe the in on euery syde, and make the euen wyth the grounde, and thy chyldren which are in the. And * they shall not leaue in þ one stone vpon another, because thou kno-
west not the tyme of thy visitacyon.

* And he went into the tēple, and beganne
to cast out them that solde therin, and them
that bought, sayinge vnto the: It is writte:
* my house is the house of prayer: but ye haue made it a den of theues: And he taught dayly in the tēple. * But the hye Prestes
& the scrybes and the cheefe of the people wer
aboute to destroye hym: & coulde not fynde
what to do. For all þ people stacke by hym, whan they hearde hym.

¶ The .xx. Chapter. ✠

¶ They aske Christ ouer ye, and he answereth them another. The parable of the vineyarde. Of tribute to be geuen vnto Cesar, & how Christ stoppeth the mou-thes of the Sadutes.

And it fortuned in one of those dayes
(as he taught the people in the tēple and preached the gospell) the hye Prestes and the Scribes came together wyth the elders, & spake vnto him sayinge: * Tell vs:
by what auctorite doest thou these thynges?
Ether who is he, þ gaue the thys auctorite?
Jesus answered & sayd vnto the: I also will aske you one thyng, & answer me. The bap-tyme of John: was it frō heauen or of men?
And they thought wyth in them selues say-
inge: yf we saye frō heauen, he will saye: why then beleued ye hym not? But & yf we saye:
of men, all þ people wyll stone vs. For they be perswaded, that John is a Prophett. And they answered, that they coulde not tell whence it was. And Jesus sayd vnto them:
neither tell I you, by what auctorite I do
these thynges.

Then began he to put forth to the people
thys parable: * A certayne man planted a vyneyarde, and let it forth to husbandmen,
and went hym selfe into a straunge countre for a greate season. And when the tyme was come, he sent a seruaunt to the husbandmen,
that they shulde geue hym of the frute of the vineyarde. And they bet hym, and sent hym awaye emptye. And agayne, he sent yet ano ther seruaunt. And hym they bet, and entreated hym shamefully, and sent hym awaye emptye. Agayne, he sent the thyrde also, and hym they wounded, and cast hym out.
Then sayd the Lord of the vineyarde: what shall I do? * I wyll sende my deare sonne:
peraduēture they will stande in awe of him,
when they se hym.

But when þ husbandmen sawe hym, they thought within them selues, sayinge: this is the heyre, * come, let vs kyll hym, that the enheritaunce maye be ours. And they cast hi out of þ vineyarde, & kylled hi. What shall the Lord of þ vineyarde therfore do vnto the?
he shall come, & destroye these husbandmen, & shall let out hys vineyarde to other. When they hearde thys, they sayde: God forbyd.

And he beheld them, and sayde: what is thys then

thys then that is wrytten: * the stone that the buylders refused, the same is become the heed of the cozner? Whosoeuer doth stomble vpon ꝑ stone, shalbe broken: but on whosoeuer it falleth, it wyll grynde him to powder. And the hye prestes and the Scrybes the same houre wet about to laye handes on hym, *and they feared the people. For they perceaued that he had spoken thys symilitude agaynst them.

D And they watched hym, & sent forth spies, which shuld fayne thē selues ryghteous mē, *to take him in hys wordes, and to delyuer him vnto ꝑ power & auctorite of the debyte. And they asked hym, sayīg: Master, we kno we that thou sayest and teachest ryght, nether consyderest ꝑ the outward appearaunce of eny man, but teachest the waye of God truly. Is it lawfull for vs to geue trybute vnto Cesar, or no? He perceaued they craftines, and sayde vnto them: * why tempt ye me? Shewe me a peny. Whose ymage & superscriptiō hath it? They answered and sayde: Cesars. And he sayde vnto thē: geue then vnto Cesar, the thynges whych belonge vnto Cesar, & to God the thynges that pertayne vnto God. And they coulde not reproue his sayinge before the people: & they maruayled at his answer, and helde their peace.

E Then *came to hym certayne of the Sadduces, * which denye that ther is eny resurrection. And they asked him sayinge: * Master, Moses wrote vnto vs, yf eny mannes brother dye hauīg a wyfe, & he dye without chyldren, that then hys brother shulde take hys wyfe, and rayse vp seede vnto hys brother. Ther were therfore seuen brethren, and the fyrste toke a wyfe, & dyed without chyldren. And the seconde toke her, and he dyed childelesse. And the thyrde toke her: and in lyke wise the residue of the seuen, and left no chyldren behynde them, and dyed. Last of all the womā dyed also. Now in the resurrection, whose wyfe of them shall she be? For seuen had her to wyfe.

F Jesus answered and sayd vnto them. The chyldren of this worlde mary wyues, & are maryed: but they whych shalbe counted worthy of that worlde and the resurrection from the deed, do not mary wyues, nether are maryed, nor yet can dye eny more, For they are equall vnto the angels, and are * the sonnes of God, in as moch as they are chyldren of ꝑ resurrectiō. And that the deed shall ryse agayne: Moses also sheweth besides the bushe, when he calleth: * the Lord, the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. For he is not a God of deed, but of lyuynge. For all lyue vnto him. Then certayne of the Pharises answered, and sayd: Master, thou hast wel sayd. And after that durst

G they not aske him eny question at all.

And he sayde vnto them: * how sayne they that Christ is Dauds sonne? And Dauid hi selfe sayeth in the boke of ꝑ Psalmes: * The Lorde sayde vnto my Lorde: sytt thou on my ryght hande, tyll I make thyne enemyes thy fote stole. Dauid therfore calleth hym Lord: and how is he then hys sonne?

Then in the audyence of all the people, he sayde vnto his disciples: * beware of ꝑ Scribes, whych wyll go in longe clothynge: & loue gretynges in the markets, and the hyest seates in the synagoges, and the chefe rowmes at feastes, whych deuoure wyddowes houses, faynyng lōge prayers: the same shall receaue greater dampnacyon.

¶ The xxj. Chapter.

¶ Christ commendeth the poore wyddow, telleth of the destruccion of Jerusalem, of false teachers, of the tokens & troubles for to come, of the ende of the worlde, and of hys ayde comynge.

A And he behelde, * he sawe the ryche men, whych cast in their offe ringes into the treasury. He sawe also a certyane poore wyddowe, whych cast in thyther two mytes. And he sayde: of a trueth I saye vnto you, * that thys poore wyddow hath put in moare then they all. For they all haue of theyr superfluyte added vnto the offerynges of God: but she, of her penury hath cast in all the substaunce that she had.

And vnto some that spake of the temple, how it was garnysshed with goodly stones and Jewels, he sayde. * The dayes wyll come, in the which (of these thynges which ye se) there shall not be lefte one stone vpō another, ꝑ shall not be throwē doune. And they asked hym sayinge: Master, when shall these thynges be, and what sygne wyll ther be when soch thynges come to passe?

B And he sayde: * take hede, that ye be not deceaued. For * many shall come in my name, and saye that they are Christ: and the tyme draweth neare. Folowe ye not thē therfore. But when ye heare of warres and sedicions, be not afrayed. For these thynges must fyrst come to passe, but the ende foloweth not by and by. Then sayde he vnto them. * Nacion shall ryse agaynst nacion, & kyngdome agaynst kyngdome, and greate erthquakes shalbe in all places, and honger, and pestilence, & fearfull thinges. And greate sygnes shall ther be from heauen.

C But before all these, * they shall laye hādes on you, and persecute you, delyuerynge you vp to the Synagoges & into prysons, & shall bringe you vnto kynges & rulers for my names sake. And thys shall chaūce you for a testimoniall. Be at a sure point therfore in your hertes, not to study before, what ye shal answere: for * I wyll geue you a mouth & wysdome, where agaynste, all your aduersaries

* Actes.vi.c. * xxiiii.bb.

* shall not be able to speake nor resist. Worouer ye shalbe * betrayd of your fathers and D mothers & brethē, & kynsfolke & frēdes, and some of you shall they put to deeth. And hated shall ye be of all mē for my names sake, & ther shall not one heere of youre head perysshe. ☞ Possesse ye youre soule by pacience.

* mat.xxiiii. mar.xiii.b Dan.ix.g. * And whē ye se Jerusalem beseged wyth an hoste, then be sure that the desolacyon of the same is nye. Then let them which are in Jewry, flye to the mōntaynes. And let thē
E which are in the myddes of it, departe out. And let not them that are in other countreyes, entre therin. For these be the dayes of vēgeaunce, that all thynges which are wrytte, maye be fulfylled. But wo vnto them that be with chylde, & to them that geue sucke in
* 1.Thes.v.b. those dayes: for there shalbe greate trouble i the lande, and * wrath ouer all this people. And they shall fall thorow the edge of the swearde, and shalbe ledd a waye captyue into all nacions. And Jerusalem shalbe troden
F downe of the gentyls, vntyll the tyme of the gentyls be fulfylled.

* mat.xxiiii.c mark.xiii.c. Joel.ii.c. Esay.xxxiiii.f ✠ * And ther shalbe sygnes in the Sonne, and in the Moone, and in the starres: and in the erth & the people shalbe at their wyttes ende, thorow dispayre. The see and the water shall roare, and mennes hertes shall fayle them for feare, and for lokynge after G those thynges which shall come on the erth. For the powers of heauen shall moue. And then shall they se the sonne of man come in a cloude with power and greate glory. When H these thynges begynne to come to passe: then ☞ loke vp, and ☜ lyfte vp youre heades, for youre redempcyon draweth nye.

* mat.xxiiii.d mar.xiii.d. * And he shewed them a symilitude: beholde the bygge tree, and all the trees, when they shoot forth their buddes, ye se and knowe of youre awne selues, that sommer is then nye at hand. So lykewyse ye also (when ye se these thynges come to passe) be sure, that the kyngdome of God is nye. Verely I saye vnto you: this generacyō shall not passe, tyll all be fulfylled. Heauen and erth shall passe: but my wordes shall not passe.

* ecclī.xxvii.c and.xxviii.b. Mom.viii.b ✠ * Take hede to your selues, lest at anye tyme youre hertes be ouercome with surfetynge and dronkennes and cares of this lyfe, and so the daye come vpon you vnwares.
I For as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole erth. * Watch ye therfore contynually, and praye, that ye maye escape all these thynges that shall come, and that ye maye stande before the sonne of man. ✠

* mat.xxiiii.d mar.xiii.b. In the daye tyme, he taught in the temple: and at nyght, he went out, and abode in
* John.viii.a the mount that is called Oliuete. * And all the people came in the morynge to hym in the temple, for to heare hym.

✠ The.xxii. Chapter. ✠

¶ Christ is betrayed. They eate the easter lambe. The institucyō of the sacramēt. They stryue who shalbe greatest. He reproueth them. He prayeth that tymes vpon the mount. They take hym & bynde hym to the hye prestes house: Peter denyeth hym thryse, and they bynde hym before the counsell.

THe * feast of swete breed drue nye, which is called Easter, and the hye Prestes, and Scrybes & sought how they myght kyll him, for they feared the people. A * mat.xxvi. mar.xiiii.a. & John.xi.

* Then entred Satan into Judas, whose syr name was Iscarioth (which was of the nombre of the twelue) and he went his waye and cōmuned with the hye prestes and officers, how he myght betraye him to thē. And they were glad & promysed to geue hym money. And he cōsented, and sought oportunyte to betraye hym vnto them, when the people were awaye. * John.xiii.

* Then came the daye of swete breed, whē of necessyte Passeouer must be offered. And he sent Peter & John, sayinge: go & prepare vs the Passeouer, that we maye eate. They sayde vnto him. Where wilt thou, þ we prepare? And he sayd vnto thē: Beholde, when ye entre into the cytie, ther shall a man mete you, bearynge a pytcher of water, hi folowe into the same house that he entreth in, and ye shall saye vnto the good man of the house: The master sayeth vnto the: where is þ gest chamber, where I shall eate Passeouer w my disciples? And he shall shewe you a greate parloure paued. Ther make ready. And they went and founde as he had sayd vnto them, and they made ready the Passeouer. * mat.xxvi. mar.xiiii. 25

* And when the houre was come, he sate downe, & the.xii. Apostles wyth hym. And he sayde vnto them: I haue inwardly desyred to eate thys Passeouer wyth you, before that I suffre. For I saye vnto you: hence forth I wyll not eate of it eny more, vntyll it be fulfilled in the kyngdome of God. And he toke the cup, and gaue thankes, and sayd: Take thys, and deuyde it amonge you. For I saye vnto you: I wyll not drynke of the frute of the vyne, vntyll the kyngdome of God come. * mat.xxvi. mar.xiiii.c.

* And he toke breed, and whan he had geuen thankes, he brake it, and gaue vnto thē, sayinge: Thys is my body, whych is geuen for you. Thys do, in the remembraunce of me. Lykewyse also, when he had supped, he toke the cup, sayinge: Thys cup is the new testament in my blonde, whych is shedd for you. * mat.xxvi. mar.xiiii.d. 1.Cor.xi.c.

Yet beholde, þ hāde of hym that betrayeth me, is wyth me on the table. And truly the sonne of man goeth, as it is apoynted: But wo vnto that mā, by whom he is betrayed. And they began to enquyre amonge themselues,

C ſelues, whych of them it was, ỹ ſhulde do it.
✠ And ther was a ſtryfe amonge them, whych of them ſhuld ſeme to be the greateſt. And he ſayde vnto them: the kynges of nacyons raygne ouer them: and they that haue auctoryte vpon them, are called gracious lordes. But ye ſhall not be ſo. * But he that is greateſt amonge you, ſhalbe as the younger: and he that is chefe, ſhalbe as he that doth mynyſter. For whether is greater, he that ſyttethat meate, or he that ſerueth? Is not he ỹ ſytteth at meate? But I am amõge you, as he ỹ mynyſtreth. Ye are they, whych haue bydden wyth me in my temptacyons. And I apoynt vnto you a kyngdom, as my father hath apoynted to me: that ye maye eate and drynke at my table in my kyngdome, & * ſyt on ſeates, iudgynge the twelue trybes of Iſraell. ✠

*Mat.xix.b.

And the Lord ſayde: Symon, Simon, beholde, Satan hath deſyred to ſyfte you, as it were wheate: but I haue prayed for the, that thy fayth fayle not. And when thou arte conuerted, ſtrength thy brethren. And he

D ſayde vnto hym: * Lorde, I am ready to go wyth the into preſon, and to deeth. And he ſayd: I tell the Peter, the cocke ſhall not crowe thys daye, tyll thou haue thryſe denyed that thou knoweſt me.

*Mat.xxvi.c. Mar.xiiii.c. Iohn.xiii.b.

*Mat.x.c. Mar.vi.b. Luke.ix.a

And he ſayde vnto them: * when I ſent you wythout wallet and ſcrippe and ſhoes lacked ye eny thynge? And they ſayde, no. Then he ſayde vnto them: but now he that hath a wallet, let hym take it vp, and lykewyſe hys ſcrippe. And he ỹ hath no ſwearde, let hym ſell hys coate, and bye one. For I ſaye vnto you, that yet the ſame whych is wrytten, muſt be perfourmed in me: * euen among the wycked was he reputed. For thoſe thynges whych are wrytten of me, haue an ende. And they ſayde: Lorde, beholde, here are two ſweardes. And he ſayde vnto them: it is ynough.

*Eſa.liii.b. Mat.xxvii.b. Mar.xv.c. Iohn.xviii.c

*Mat.xxvi.c Mar.xiiii.c.

*And he came out, and went (as he was wonte) to mounte Olyuete. And the diſcyples folowed hym. And when he came to the place, he ſayd vnto them: * praye, leſt ye fall into temptacyon.

*Mat.vi.d Luke.xi.a.

*Mat.xxvi.d

E *And he gate hym ſelfe from them, about a ſtones caſt, and kneled downe, & prayed, ſaying: Father, yf thou wylt, remoue thys cup from me. Neuertheleſſe, * not my wyll, but thyne be fulfylled. And ther appeared an angell vnto hym from heauen, confortynge hym. And he was in an agoyne, and prayed the longer. And hys ſweate was lyke droppes of blond, trickelynge downe to ỹ grounde. And when he roſe vp from prayer and was come to hys diſcyples, he founde them ſleppynge for heuyneſſe, and ſayde vnto them: why ſlepe ye? Ryſe, and praye, leſt ye fall into temptacyon.

*Whyll he yet ſpake: beholde, ther came a company, and he that was called Judas one of the twelue, went before them, and preaſed nye vnto Jeſus, to kyſſe hym. But Jeſus ſayde vnto hym: Judas, betrayeſt thou the ſonne of man wyth a kyſſe? Whē they which were about hym, ſawe what wolde folow, they ſayde vnto him: Lorde, ſhall we ſmyte with ſwearde. * And one of thē ſmote a ſeruaunt of the hye preſte, & ſtroke of hys ryght eare. Jeſus anſwered & ſayde: ſuffre ye thus farre forth. And whan he touched hys eare he healed hym.

*Mat.xxvi.d Mar.xiiii.d.

F

*Mat.xxvi.d. Mar.xiiii.f. Ioan.xviii.b.

Then Jeſus ſayde vnto the hye prieſtes and rulers of the temple and the elders, whych were come to hym. Ye be come out, as vnto a thefe, wyth ſweardes and ſtaues. When I was dayly wyth you in the temple, ye ſtretched forth no handes agaynſt me. But thys is euen youre very houre, and the power of darcknes. Then toke they hym, and ledde hym, and brought hym to the hye Prieſtes houſe. But Peter folowed afarre of.

And when they had kyndled a fyre in the myddes of the palace, and were ſet downe together. * Peter alſo ſate downe amonge them. But whan one of the wenches behelde hym, as he ſate by the fyer (and loked vpon hym) ſhe ſayde: thys ſame felow was alſo wyth hym. * And he denyed hym, ſaying: woman: I knowe hym not. And after a lytell whyle, another ſawe hym, & ſayd, thou art alſo of them. And Peter ſayd: man I am not. And about the ſpace of an houre after, another affyrmed, ſayinge: verely thys felowe was wyth hym alſo, for he is of Galile. And Peter ſayde: mā I wote not what thou ſayeſt. And immediatly whyll he yet ſpake, ỹ cocke crew. And the Lorde tourned backe, and loked vpon Peter. * And Peter remembred the worde of the Lord, how he had ſayd vnto hym: before the cocke crowe, thou ſhalt deuye me thryſe. And Peter went out, and wepte bytterly.

*Mat.xxvi.d Mar.xiiii.f Iohn.xviii.b.

*Mat.xxvi.d Mar.xiiii.f

G

*Luk.xxii.f Mat.xxvi.c. Mar.xiiii.f

And the mē that toke Jeſus, mocked him, and ſmote him: and whē they had blyndfolded him, they ſtroke hym on the face, & aſked hym, ſaying: arede, who is it that ſmote the? And many other thynges deſpytfully ſayd they agaynſt hym.

And aſſone as it was daye, the elders of the people and the hye Prieſtes and Scrybes, came together, and ledde hym into their counſell, ſayinge: art thou very Chryſt? tell vs. And he ſayde vnto them: yf I tell you, ye wyll not beleue. And yf I aſke you, ye wyll not anſwere me, nor let me go: * Herafter ſhall the ſonne of man ſyt on the ryght hand of the power of God. Then ſayde they all: art thou then the ſonne of God? he ſayd: ye ſaye that I am. And they ſayde: * what nede we eny further wytnes? For we oure selues haue herde of hys awne mouth.

*Mat.xxvi.f Mar.xiiii.g.

*Mat.xxvi.g Mar.xiiii.g.

¶ The .xxiij. Chapter.

¶ Iesus is brought before Pylate and Herode. The women make lamentacyon for hym. He prayeth for hys enemyes, suffreth the theefe vpon hys right hande, and dyeth on the crosse, and is buryed.

1 *And ye whole multitude of the *mat.xxvij.a Mar.xv.a. Joh.xviij.c arose, and led hym vnto Pylate.
2 And they began to accuse him,
sayinge: we founde thys felowe peruertinge the people, and for-bydding to paye tribute to Cesar: sayinge,
that he is Christ a kynge. 3 And Pylate apposed hym, sayinge: art thou the kynge of the Iewes? he answered hym, and sayde: thou sayest it. 4 Then sayde Pylate to the hye Priestes, and to the people: I fynde no faute in this man. 5 And they were the more fearce, sayinge: he moueth the people, teachyng thor-ow out all Iewry, and began at Galile, euen to thys place.

6 When Pylate herde mencyon of Galile,
he asked, whether the man were of Galile.
7 And assone as he knewe that he belonged vn-*Luce iij.a. to *Herodes iurisdiccyon, he sent him to He-rode, whych was also at Ierusalem at that tyme. 8 And whē Herode sawe Jesus, he was exceadyng glad, For he was desyrous to se
hym of a longe season, because he had herde
many thynges of hym, and he trusted to haue sene some myracle done by hym. 9 Then he questyoned with hym many wordes. But he answered hym nothyng. 10 The hye Priestes &
Scribes, stode forth, accused hym straytly.
11 And Herod wyth hys men of warre, despysed hym: and whan he had mocked hym, he
*Act.iiij.a. arayed hym in whyte clothyng, & sent hym
agayne to Pylate. 12 *And the same daye Pylate and Herod were made frendes together.
For before, they were at variaunce.

13 And Pylate called together ye hye Priestes
and the rulers, and the people, 14 and sayde vn-
to them: ye haue brought thys man vnto me, as one that peruerteth the people. And be-holde, I examyn hym before you, and fynde
no faute in thys man, of those thynges where of ye accuse hym: 15 No nor yet Herode. For I sent you to hym: and lo, nothynge worthy of deeth is done to hym. 16 I will therfore chasten hym, and let hym lose. 17 *For of necessy*mat.xxvij.b Mar.xv.a. Joh.xviij.a te, he must haue let one lose vnto them
at the feast.

18 And all the people cryed at ones, sayinge:
away wyth hym, and delyuer to vs Bar-rabas: (whych for a certayne insurrecyon made in ye cyte and for murther, was cast in prison) 19 Pylate spake agayne to them willynge to let Jesus lose, 20 But they cryed, sayinge: Crucifye hym. Crucifye hym. 21 He sayde vnto the ye thyrde tyme: What euyll hath he done? I fynde no cause of deeth in him. I will therfore chastē him, & let him go. 22 *And they
*mat.xxvij.d Mar.xv.b. Joh.xix.a.
cryed wyth loude voyces, requiryng that he myght be crucyfyed. And the voyces: of them and of the hye Priestes preuayled.

23 And Pylate gaue sentence, that it shuld be as they requyred * and he let loose vnto them,
*mat.xxvij.c Mar.xv.c.
hym that (for insurrecyon & murther) was cast into prison, whom they had desyred, and he delyuered vnto them Jesus, to do wyth
*mat.xxvij.c Mar.xv.b.
what they wolde. 24 *And as they ledde hym
awaye, they caught one Symon of Syren,
comynge out of the felde: and on hym layde
they the crosse, that he myght beare it after Jesus.

27 And there folowed hym a greate compay
of people, and of wemen * whych bewayled
*Luce.xxiij.a.
and lamented hym. 28 But Jesus turned backe
vnto them, and sayd: Ye daughters of Jerusalem, wepe not for me: but wepe for youre
selues, and for youre chyldren. 29 For beholde, the dayes will come, in the which they shall
saye: *happy are the baren and the wombes
*Esa.liij.a Baruch.iij.a Galat.iiij.b
that neuer bare, and the pappes which neuer
gaue sucke. 30 Then shall they begynne to saye
to the mountaynes: fall on vs: and to the hylles, couer vs. 31 For yf they do thys in a grene
tree, what shalbe done in the drye?

32 And ther were two euyll doers ledde wt
hym to be slayne. 33 *And after that they we-*mat.xxvij.d Mar.xv.c. Joh.xix.b.
re come to the place (which is called Calua-
ry) ther they crucifyed him, & the euyl doers,
one on the ryght hande, and the other on the lefte. 34 Then sayd Jesus: father forgeue them, for they wote not what they do. 35 *And they
*y mat.xxvij.d Mar.xv.c. Joh.xix.b. parted his raymēt, and cast lottes. And the people stode, and beheld.

And the rulers mocked him wyth them,
saying: he saued other men, let him saue him
selfe, yf he be very Christ, the chosen of God.
36 The soudyers also mocked hym, and came,
and offred hym veneger, and sayd: yf thou be the kynge of ye Iewes, saue thy selfe. 37 *And *mat.xxvij.d Joh.xix.b a superscripcyon was wrytten ouer hym, wt
letters of Greke, & Latin, & Hebrew: This is the kynge of the Iewes.

39 And one of the euyll doers whych were hā
ged, rayled on him, sayinge: If ye be Christ,
saue thy selfe and vs. 40 But the other answered * & rebuked him, sayinge: Feareste thou
*mat.xxvij.d Mar.xv.c.
not God, seynge thou art in the same dam-
nacyon? 41 We are ryghteously punyshed,
for we receaue accordynge to oure dedes:
But thys man hath done nothynge amys-
se. 42 And he sayde vnto Jesus. Lorde, remember me, when thou commest into thy kyngdome. 43 And Jesus sayde vnto hym: Verely
I saye vnto the: to daye shalt thou be wyth
me in Paradyse.

44 *And it was about the syxte houre. And *mat.xxvij.d Mar.xv.d.
ther was darcknes ouer all the earth, vntyll the nynth houre, 45 and the sonne was darckned.

darckned. * And the vayle of the temple dyd rent, euen thorow the myddes. And whan Jesus had cryed with a loude voyce, he sayd: Father, into thy handes I commende my spyrete. And when he thus had sayd, he gaue vp the goost. * When the Centuryon sawe what had happened, he glorifyed God sayinge. Verely, this was a righteous mā. And all the people þ came together to that syght, & sawe the thynges whych had happened, smote theyr brestes. and returned. And all hys acquayntaunce * and the wemen that followed hym from Galile, stode a farre of, beholdynge these thynges.

And beholde * ther was a mā (named Joseph) a councellour, and he was a good man and a iuste: the same had not consented to the counsell & dede of them, whych was of Aramathia, a cytie of the Jewes, whych same also wayted for the kyngdome of God: he went vnto Pylate, and begged the boddy of Jesus, and toke it downe and wrapped it in a lynnen clooth, and layed it in a sepulchre that was hewen in stone, wherin neuer man before was layed. ✠ And that daye was the preparyng of the Sabboth, and the Sabboth drue on. The wemen that folowed after, whych had come wyth hym from Galile, behelde the sepulcre, and how his body was layed. And they returned and prepared swete odoures and oyntmentes: but rested the Sabboth daye, accordynge to the commaundement.

¶ The.xxiiij. Chapter. ✠

¶ The wemen come to the graue, Christ appeareth vnto the two dyscyples that go towarde Emaus, confirmeth in the myddest of all hys dyscyples, openeth theyr vnderstāndynge in the scryptures, cruerth them a charge, & afterwarde vp to heauen.

A

BVt vpon (✠) the fyrst daye of the Sabbothes, very early in the morynge, they came vnto the sepulcre, and brought the swete odoures whych they had prepared, and other wemen wyth them. And they founde the stone rowled away from the sepulcre, and they went in: but coude not the body of the Lorde Jesu. And it happened, as they were amased therat, Beholde, two men stode by them in shynynge garmentes. * And as they were afrayde, and bowed downe theyr faces to the erth, they sayde vnto them: why seke ye the lyuynge amōge the dede? he is not here: but is rysen. Remember, how he spake vnto you, whē he was yet in Galile, sayinge: that the sonne of man must be delyuered into the handes of synfull men, and be crucyfyed, and the thyrde daye ryse agayne.

And they remēbred hys wordes, & returned from the sepulcre, & tolde all these thynges vnto those eleuen, & to all the remnaunt. * It was Mary Magdalen, & Joanna, and Mary Jacobi, and other that were wyth them, whych tolde these thynges vnto the Apostles. And theyr wordes semed vnto the fayned thynges, nether beleued they them. Then arose Peter and ran vnto the sepulchre, and loked in, and sawe the lynnen clothes layde by them selfe, and departed, wondrynge in hym selfe at that whych had happened. ✠

B

✠ * And beholde, two of them went that same daye to a towne (called Emaus) which was from Jerusalem about thre skore forlonges, and they talked together of all these thynges that had happened. And it chaunsed, that whyle they communed together and reasoned, Jesus hym selfe drue neare, * and went wyth them. But theyr eyes were holden, þ they shulde not knowe hym. And he sayde vnto them: What maner of communycatyons are these that ye haue one to another, as ye walke, and are sadd? And the one of them (whose named was Cleophas) answered, and sayde to hym: art thou onely a straūger in Jerusalem, and hast not knowen the thynges whych haue chaunsed there, in these dayes? He sayde vnto them: what thynges?

And they sayd vnto hym: of Jesus of Nazareth, whych was a Prophet, myghtye in dede and worde before God and all the people: and how the hye Prestes, ād oure rulers delyuered hym to be condempned to deeth: & haue crucyfyed hym. But we trusted that it had bene he whych shuld haue redemed Israel. And as touchynge all these thynges, to daye is euē the thyrd daye, that they were done.

* Yee, and certayne wemen also of oure cōpany made vs astonnyed, which came early vnto the sepulchre, and foūde not hys body: and came, sayinge, that they had sene a vysyon of angels, whych sayd that he was alyue. And certayne of thē whych were wyth vs, went to the sepulchre, and founde it euē so as the wemen had sayde: but hym they sawe not.

And he sayde vnto them: O fooles & slowe of herte, to beleue all that the Prophetes haue spokē. * Ought not Christ to haue sulfred these thynges, and to enter into hys glory? And he begā at Moses, and all the Prophetes, & interpreted vnto them in all scriptures whych were wryten of hym. And they drue nye vnto the towne, whych they wēt vnto. And he made, as though he wold haue gone further. And they * constrayned hym sayinge: abyde wyth vs, for it drayeth towardes nyght, and the daye is farre passed. And he went in tary wyth them.

* And it came to passe, as he sate at meate wyth them, he toke bread, and blessed it, and brake, and gaue to them. And their eyes were opened, and they knewe hym: and he vanyshed out of their syght. And they sayd betwene them selues: dyd not oure hertes burne wyth in vs, whyll he talked wyth vs by the waye, and opened to vs the scryptures? And they rose vp the same houre, and returned agayne to Jerusalem, and founde the eleuen gathered together, and them that were wyth them, saying: the Lorde is ryssen in dede, & hath apered to Symon. And they tolde, what thynges were done i the waye, and how they knewe hym, in breakynge of bread. ✠

D
*John xx.c. 2nd
As they thus spake ✠ Jesus hym selfe stode in *the myddes of them, and sayeth vnto the: peace be vnto you. *(Jhu J, sence nat.) But they were abasshed and afrayde, & supposyd that they had sene a spyrite. And he sayd vnto them: why are ye troubled, and why do thoughtes aryse in youre hertes? Beholde my handes and my fete, that it is euen I my selfe. Handle me and se: for a spyrite hath not fleshe and bones, as ye se me haue. And whē he had thus spoken, he shewed them hys handes and hys fete. And whyll they yet beleued not for ioye, and wondred, he sayd vnto thē:
*John.xxi.b. * Haue ye here eny meate? And they offred hym a pece of a broyled fysshe, and of an honycombe. And he toke it and dyd eate before them.

*Mat.xvi.c. And he sayde vnto them. *These are the wordes whych I spake vnto you, whyll I was yet with you: that all must nedes be fulfylled, whych were wrytten of me in the lawe of Moses and in the Prophetes, and in
E
*Actes xvii.a the Psalmes. *Then opened he their wyttes, that they myght vnderstand the scryptures, and sayde vnto them: Thus is it wrytten, and thus it behoued Christ to suffre, and to ryse agayne from deeth the thyrde daye, & that repentaunce and remyssyon of synnes shulde be preached in hys name amonge all nacyons, ✠ and must begynne at Jerusalē. And ye are wytnesses of these thynges. ✠
*Actes.i.b. And beholde, I will sende the promes of my father vpon you. *But tary ye in the cytie of Jerusalem, vntyll ye be endewed wyth power from an hye.

*Actes.i.b. Mat.xxvi.b. And he led them out into Bethany, and lyfte vp hys hādes, and blessed them. * And it cam to passe, as he blessed them, he departed from them, and was caryed vp into heauen. And they worshypped hym, and returned to Jerusalem wyth greate ioye, and were contynually in the temple prayenge & laudynge God, ✠ Amen.

Here endeth the Gospell of Sayncte Luke.

The Gospell of Sayncte John.

The fyrst Chapter. ✠

The euerlastyng lyuyng of Christ, and how he became man. The testymony of John. The callynge of Andrew, Peter &c.

IN the begynnynge was the A worde, and the worde was wyth God: and God was the worde. The same was in ꝑ begynnyng wyth God.
*All thinges were made by *Genes.i. Prouerb.viii.
it, & wythout it, was made nothynge that was made. *In it was lyfe, *John.xiii.
and the lyfe was the lyght of men, and the ‡John.viii. and xii.a.
lyght shyneth in darckenes, and the darckenes comprehended it not.

There was sent from God a man, whose name was John. The same cā as a wytnes to beare wytenes of the lyght, that all men through hym myght beleue. *(☞ He was D not ꝑ lyght: but was sent to beare wytnes *John.i.d.
of the lyght. That lyght was ꝑ true lyght, whych lyghteth euery mā that cometh into the worlde. He was in the worlde, and the worlde was made by hym: and the worlde knewe hym not.

He cam amonge hys awne, and hys awne receaued hum not. But as many as receaued hym * to them gaue he power to be the sonnes of God: euen them that beleued on hys name: whych were borne, not of bloude nor of the wyll of the fleshe, nor yet of the wyll of man: but of God. *Phil.iii.b. Ose.i.b. Rom.i.b. Gala.iiii.a.

*And the same worde became flesshe, and B dwelt amonge vs: *and we sawe the glory ‡Baruh.iii. *mat.xvii. n Pet.i. i.John.i.a.
of it, as the glory of the onely begotten sonne of the father, full of grace and trueth. ✠

✠ * John beareth wytnes of hym, and *Mat.iii.b. Marke.i.a.
cryeth sayinge: Thys was he of whō I spake: which though he came after me, went before me, for he was before me. * And of hys 4 Col.ii.b.
fulnes haue all we receaued, euen (☞ grace C for grace. For the lawe was geuen by Moses, but grace & trueth came by Jesus Christ.
* (☞ No man hath sene God at eny tyme. C
The onely begotten sonne, whych is in the *1.Cor.xiii. i.John.iii.b.
bosome of ꝑ father, he hath declared hym. ✠

✠ *And thys is ꝑ recorde of John: when *John.v.d.
ꝑ Jewes sent Preestes and Leuites frō Jerusalem, to aske hym, what art thou? And he cōfessed & denyed not, & sayde playnly, I am not Christ. And they asked him: what then? *Mat.xvi.b.
*art thou Helyas? And he sayeth: ☞ I am D not. *Arte thou that Prophete? And he answered no. Then sayde they vnto hym: what art thou, that we maye geue an answer to them that them that sent vs. What sayest thou of thy selfe? He sayde * I am the voyce of a criar in the wildernes, make straycht the waye of ꝑ Lorde, * as sayde the Prophete Esaias.

And they whych were sent, were of the Pharyses: And they asked him, & sayde vnto him: why baptisest thou then, yf thou be not Christ, nor Helias, nether that Prophet? John answered the sayinge * I baptise with water: but there stondeth one amonge you, whom ye knowe not, he it is which though he came after me, was before me, whose sho latchet I am not worthy to vnlose. These thynges were done in Bethabara beyonde Jordan * where John dyd baptise. ✠

✠ The nexte daye, John seeth Jesus cõminge vnto hym, and sayeth * beholde the lambe of God, whych taketh awaye ꝑ synne of the worlde. Thys is he of whõ I sayd: After me cometh a man, whych went before me, for he was before me, and I knewe him not: but that he shuld be declared to Israell, therfore am I come baptysinge with water. * And John bare recorde, sayinge: I sawe the spirite descende from heauen, lyke vnto a doue, & abode vpon him, and I knewe hym not. But he that sent me to baptise in water, the same sayde vnto me: vpon whom thou shalt se the spirite descende, and tary styll on hym, the same is he whych baptiseth wyth ꝑ holy goost. And I sawe, and bare recorde, that he is the sonne of God. ✠

The nexte daye after, John stode agayne, & two of his disciples, ād he behelde Jesus as he walked by, & sayeth: beholde ꝑ lãbe of God. And the two disciples hearde hym speake, and they folowed Jesus. And Jesus turned about, and sawe them folowe hym, & sayeth vnto them: what seke ye? They sayd vnto hym: Rabbi (whych is to saye yf one interprete it Master) where dwellest thou? He sayeth vnto them: come & se. They came, & sawe where he dwelt: & abode with hym ꝑ daye. For it was about the tenth houre.

One of ꝑ two which hearde John speake, and folowed him, was Andrew Simon Peters brother. The same founde hys brother Simon fyrst, and sayeth vnto hym: we haue founde Messias (whych is by interpretaciõ, annoynted) and brought him to Jesus. And Jesus behelde hym, ād sayde: thou art * Simon the sonne of Jonas, thou shalt be called Cephas: which is by interpretacion a stone.

The daye folowyng. Jesus wolde go into Galile, and foũde Philip, and sayeth vnto him: folowe me * Philip was of Bethsaida the cytie of Andrew and Peter. Philip foũde Nathanael, and sayeth vnto him: We haue founde hym, of whome * Moses in the law ād the Prophetes dyd wryte, Jesus ꝑ sonne of Joseph of Nazareth. And Nathanael sayd vnto hi * can there eny good thynge come out of Nazareth? Philip sayeth vnto him come and se.

Jesus sawe Nathanael comynge to him, & sayeth of him: Beholde a ryght Israelyte, in whom is no gyle. Nathanael sayeth vnto him: whẽce knowest thou me? Jesus answered, and sayde vnto him. Before that Philip called the, when thou wast vnder the frygge tree, I sawe the. Nathanael answered and sayd vnto him: Rabbi, thou art euẽ the very sonne of God, thou art ꝑ kyng of Israel. Jesus answered, and sayde vnto him: Because I sayde vnto the, I sawe the vnder ꝑ frygge tree, ꝑ beleuest. Thou shalt se greater thynges then these. And he sayeth vnto him: Verely, verely, I saye vnto you: herafter shall ye se heauen open, & ꝑ angels of God ascendynge & descendynge ouer ꝑ sonne of man.

The.ij.Chapter. ✠

¶ Christ turneth the water into wyne, and dryueth the byers & sellers out of the temple.

AND the thyrd daye, was there a mariage in Cana a cytie of Galile, & the mother of Jesus was there. And Jesus was called (& his disciples) vnto the mariage And when the wyne fayled, the mother of Jesus sayeth vnto him: they haue no wyne. Jesus sayeth vnto her: woman * what haue I to do wyth the, myne houre is not yet come. his mother sayeth vnto the ministres: whatsoeuer he sayeth vnto you, do it. And ther were standynge there, syxe waterpottes of stone after the maner of the purifyẽge of the Iewes, contaynynge two or thre fyrkins a pece. * Luke.ii.g.

Jesus sayeth vnto the: fyll the water pottes with water. And they spilled the vp to ꝑ brym. And he sayeth vnto them: drawe out now, & beare vnto the gouerner of the feaste And they bare it. When the ruler of the feast had tasted the water that was turned vnto wyne, and knewe not whence it was (but ꝑ mynistres whych drue the water knewe) he calleth ꝑ brydegome, ād sayeth vnto hym: Euery mã at the begynninge doth sett forth good wyne, and (☞ when men be droncke, then that whych is worse. But thou hast kept the good wyne, vntyll now.

Thys begynninge of myracles dyd Jesus in Cana of Galile, and shewed hys glory, & his disciples beleued on him. ✠ * After this he wẽte downe to Capernaum, he & his mother, and his brethren, and his disciples, and there continued not many dayes. * Mat.iii.b. Mar.i.b. Luc.iii.b.

✠ * And ꝑ Jewes ester was euen at hãde, and Jesus went vp to Jerusalem, & foũde syttynge in the temple, those that solde oxen and shepe and doues, & chaungers of money. And when he had made (as it were) a scourge of smal coardes, he droue them all * Mat.xxi.b. Mar.xi.c. Luke.xix.c.

out of the temple, with the shepe & oxen, and powred out the chaūgers money, and ouerthrue the tables, & sayde vnto thē that solde doues: Haue these thynges hence, & make not my fathers house an house of marchaūdyse. And his disciples remēbred it þ is wrytten: *the zele of thyne house hath euen eaten me. *Psa.lxix.b

Then answered þ Jewes and sayde vnto him: what token shewest thou vnto vs, seinge that thou dost these thynges? Jesus answered & sayde vnto them: *destroye thys temple, and in thre dayes I wyll reare it vp. Then sayde þ Jewes. xlvj. yeres was thys temple a bylduynge: & wylt thou reare it vp in thre dayes? But he spake of the temple of his body. Allone, therfore as he was ryzen from deeth agayne, his disciples remembred that he thus had sayde. And they beleued the scripture, & þ wordes which Jesus had sayde *Mat.xxvi.f. Mar.xiiii.f

When he was in Jerusalem at Sastern þ feast daye, many beleued on his name, whē they sawe his myracles whych he dyd. But Jesus dyd not cōmit him selfe vnto them, because he knewe all men, and neded not, that eny man shuld testifye of him. *For he knewe what was in man. *Jere.xvij.b. Ecclus.xlij.

¶ The.iij. Chapter.

¶ The communycacion of Christ with Nicodemus. The doctrine and baptyme of John, and what difference he maketh of Christ.

There was a mā of the Pharises named Nycodemus, a ruler of þ Jewes. *The same cam to Jesus by nyght, and sayde vnto him: Rabbi, we knowe that thou arte a teacher come from God: for no man coulde do suche myracles as thou dost, except God were wt̄ him. Jesus answered & sayde vnto hi: Verely, verely, I saye vnto the, except a mā be borne from aboue, he cannot se the kyngdom of God. Nicodemus sayeth vnto hym how can a man be borne whē he is olde? can he enter into hys mothers wombe and be borne agayne? Jesus answered *verely, verely, I saye vnto the: except a man be borne of water & of the spyrete, he cannot enter into the kyngdom of God. *That whych is borne of the flesshe, is flesshe, and that which is borne of the spyrete, is spyrete. Marvayle not thou that I sayd to the, ye must be borne from aboue. The wynde bloweth where it lysteth, & thou hearest the sōūde therof *but canst not tell whence it commeth & whether it goeth. So is euery one that is borne of the spyrete. *John.iij. *John.xiij.b. xviij.b. Act.xiij.a. *Rom.viij.a *Eccles.i.

Nicodemus answered ād sayde vnto hym how can these thynges be? Jesus answered & sayde vnto hym: art þ a master in Israel, & knowest not these thynges? Verely, verely I saye vnto the: we speake þ we do knowe, & testify þ we haue seine: ād ye receane not oure wytnes. If I haue tolde you earthly thynges, and ye beleue not: how shall ye beleue, yf I tell you of heauenly thynges.

*And no man ascendeth vp to heauē, but he that came doune frō heauen, euen the sonne of man whych is in heauen: *Deu.xxx.

*And as Moses lyfte vp the serpent in þ wyldernes, euen so must the sonne of man be lyfte vp, that whosoeuer beleueth in him, pe rysshe not, but haue eternall lyfe. *Num.xxi.

*For God so loued þ worlde, that he gaue is only begotte sonne, that whosoeuer beleueth in him, shulde not perisshe, but haue euerlastyng lyfe. *For God sēt not his sonne into the worlde, to cōdempne the worlde but that & the world throughe him myght be saued. He that beleueth on him, is not condemned. But he þ beleueth not, is cōdemned all ready, because he hath not beleued in the name of the onely begotten sonne of God. And thys is the cōdemnacion: *that lyght is come into the world, and mē loued darcknes more thē light, because their dedes were euyll. For *euery one that euyll doeth, hateth the lyght: neither commeth to the lyght, lest his dedes shuld be reproued. But he that doth trueth, commeth to the lyght, that hys dedes maye be knowen, how that they are wrought in God. *Rom.v.d. *John.i.d. and.xii.f. *Ephe.v.b.

After these thinges cam Jesus & his disciples into the land of Jewry & ther he taried with thē & *and baptysed. And John also baptised in Enon besydes Salim, because ther was moch water there, & they came & were baptised. *For John was not yet cast into prison. *John.iij.d. Mat.iiii.a. Mar.i.a. Luk.iii.f. & Mat.xiiii

And ther arose a question betwene Johns disciples and the Jewes, aboute purifyinge. And they came vnto John, & sayde vnto him: Rabbi, he þ was wyth the beyōde Jordan (to whom thou barest wytnes) beholde the same baptiseth *& all men come to hym. John answered, & sayde: a man can receaue nothinge, except it be geuen him from heauen. Ye youre selues are witnesses * how that I sayd: I am not Christ, but am sent before him. He that hath the bryde, is the brydegrome. But the frende of the brydegrome, wych standeth and heareth hym, reioyseth greatly because of the brydegromes voyce. This my ioye therfore is fulfilled. He must increase but I must decreace. *John.iij.a *John.i.b

He that cōmeth from an hye, is aboue all: he that is of þ erth, is earthly, and speaketh of the erth. He that commeth from heauen, is aboue all, & what he hath sene and hearde: þ he testifieth: and no man receaueth hys testimonye. He that hath receaued hys testimonie *& hath set to hys seale, that God is true. For he whō God hath sent, speaketh þ wordes of God: *For & God geueth not the spyrete by measure vnto him. The father loueth the sonne * & hath geuen all thynges into *Rom.iii.a *Esa.lxij.a *Mat.xi.b Luke.x.b.

*1.Ioh.v.f. 1.Ioh.v.b. into hys hande * he ꝑ beleueth on the sonne hath euerlastinge lyfe: he that beleueth not the soune, shall not se lyfe, but the wrath of God abydeth on him. ✠

¶ The.iiij. Chapter. ✠

¶ The louynge communicacyon of Christ wyth the woman of Samaria by the welles syde. How he declareth the rulers sonne.

AS sone as ꝑ Lord knewe, how the Pharises had hearde, ꝑ Jesus made and baptised moo disciples then John (though that Jesus hi selfe baptised not: but his disciples) *he lefte Jewry, and departed agayne into Galile. For it was so that he must nedes goo thorowe Samaria ✠ Thꝰ came he to a cytie of Samaria (which is called Sichar) Welydes the possellyon * that Jacob gaue to his sonne Joseph, And there was Jacobs well. Jesus then beyng werye of hys iorney, sate thus on the well. And it was about the syxte houre: and there came a woman of Samaria to drawe water. Jesus sayeth vnto her: geue me drinke. For his disciples were gone awaye vnto the towne, to bye meate. Then sayeth the woman of Samaria vnto hi: howe is it, that thou beinge a Jewe, askest drincke of me, which am a Samaritane? * For the Jewes medle not with the Samaritans. Jesus answered and sayde vnto hyr: yf thou knewest the gyfte of God, and who it is that sayeth to the geue me drincke, thou woldest haue asked of him, ꝛ he wolde haue geuen * the water of lyfe. The womā sayeth vnto him: Syr, thou hast nothynge to drawe wyth, ꝛ the well is depe: from whence then hast thou that water of lyfe? Art thou greater thē oure father Jacob which gaue vs ꝑ well, ād he him selfe dranke therof, and his children, and his catell?

Jesus answered, ād sayde vnto hyr: whosoeuer drincketh of thys water, shall thyrst agayne. But (☞ whosoeuer drincketh of ꝑ water that I shall geue him, shall neuer be more a thyrst: but the water that I shall geue him, shalbe in him a well of water, sprynginge vp into euerlastinge lyfe. The womā sayeth vnto him: Syr, geue me of that water, that I thyrst not, nether come hyther to drawe. Jesus sayeth vnto her: Go, call thy husbād, and come hyther. The woman answered and sayde vnto him: I haue no husband. Jesus sayde vnto her: Thou hast well sayd, I haue no husband. For thou hast had fyue husbandes, ꝛ he whom thou now hast, is not thy husband. In ꝑ saydest thou truely.

*Luke.vii.b. The woman sayeth vnto hym: * Syr, I perceaue that thou art a prophet. Oure fathers worshypped in thys mountayne * ꝛ ye saye that in Jerusalem is the place, where men ought to worshyppe. Jesus sayeth vnto her: woman beleue me, the houre cōmeth, when ye shall (nether in this mountayne, nor yet at Jerusalem) worshyppe the fathers. Ye worshyp ye wote not what: we knowe what we worshyppe.

*For saluacion commeth of the Jewes. *Gen.xxix. But the houre commeth ꝛ now is, when the true worshyppers shall worshyppe the father * in sprete, ꝛ in the treuth. For such the father also requyreth to worshyppe hym. *Rom.i.a *God is a sprete: and they that worshyppe hym, must worshyppe hym in sprete and in the treuth. *vi.Ley.xiii.c.

The woman sayeth vnto him: I wote, ꝑ Messias shall come, whych is called Chryst. When he is come, he wyll tell vs all thynges. Jesus sayeth vnto hyr. * I that speake vnto the am he. And immediatly came hys disciples, ꝛ marueyled that he talked with ꝑ woman. Yet no man sayd: what meanest thou or why talkest thou with her? The woman then lefte her waterpot, and went her waye into the cytie, ꝛ sayeth to the men: Come, se a man whych tolde me all thynges that euer I dyd. Is not he Christ? Then they went out of the cytie, and came vnto him. D *Mat.xxvi.f Mar.xiii.g Luke.xvii.c. John.ix.b. and.x.c

In the meane whyle his disciples prayed him, sayig: Master, eate. He sayde vnto thē: I haue meate to eate, that ye knowe not of. Therfore sayde the disciples amonge thē selues: hath eny man brought hi ought to eate? Jesus sayeth vnto them: my meate is to do the will of him that sent me, ꝛ to fynisshe his worcke. Saye not ye: there are yet foure monethes, ꝛ then commeth harueste? Beholde I saye vnto you: lyfte vp youre eyes, and loke on the regions: for they are whyte all ready vnto haruest. * And he that reapeth, receaueth rewarde, and gathereth frute vnto lyfe eternall: that both he that soweth, ꝛ he that reapeth, myght reioyse together. And herin is the saying true, that one soweth ꝛ another reapeth. I sent you to reape that wherō ye bestowed no labour. Other men laboured, ꝛ ye are entred into their labours. E *Mat.ix.b. Luk.x.a.

Many of the Samaritans of that cytie beleued on him, for the saying of the womā, which testified that he tolde her all that euer she dyd. So, whē the Samaritans were come vnto him, they besought him, ꝑ he wolde tary with them. And he abode there two dayes. And many moo beleued because of his awne wordes, and sayde vnto the woman. Now we beleue, not because of thy sayinge: for * we haue herde him oure selues, and knowe that thys is euen Christ, the sauioure of the worlde. ✠ *John.xvii.b

After two dayes he departed thēce, and went awaye into Galile. * For Jesus him selfe testified, that a Prophete hath none honoure in his awne cōtre. Then, as sone as he was come into Galile, the Galileans receaued him: whan they had sene all the thynges that *Mat.xiii.g Mat.vi.a. Luke.iiii.a.

ges that he dyd at Jerusalem at ꝑ daye of the F feast. For they went also vnto the feast daye
*Joh.ii.a. Do Jesus cam agayne into Cana of Galile
*wher he turned the water into wyne.

*Mat.viii.a Luce.vii.a. ✠ And ther was a certayne ruler, *whose sonne was sycke at Capernaum. As sone as the same herde that Jesus was come out of Jewry into Galile, he went vnto him, & besought him, that he wolde come downe, and heale his sonne. For he was euen at ꝑ poynt of death. Thē sayde Jesus vnto him: except ye se signes & wondres, ye wyll not beleue.
The ruler sayeth vnto him: Syr, come do-wne, or euer that my sonne dye. Jesus sayeth
vnto hym: Go thy waye, thy sonne lyueth.
The man beleued the worde that Jesus had spoken vnto him. And he wēt his waye. And as he was now going downe, ꝑ seruauntes
mett him, & tolde him, sayinge: thy sonne lyueth. Then enquyred he of them the houre, G when he beganne to amende. And they sayd vnto him: Yester daye at the seuenth houre, ꝑ feuer lefte him. So the father knewe, that it
*Actu.xviii.a was ꝑ same houre, in the which Jesus sayde
vnto him: Thy sonne lyueth. * And he beleued, and all his housholde. ✠ This is agayn
ne the seconde myracle, that Jesus dyd, whā
he was come out of Jewry into Galile.

¶ The.v. Chapter. ✠

¶ He healeth the man that was sycke eyght ꝭ thyr-tie yeare. The Jewes accuse hym, he answereth his hym selfe, and reproueth them.

A Fter thys was there a feast daye
of the Jewes, and Jesus went vp to Jerusalem. And ther is at Jeru salem, by ꝑ slaughterhouse, a pole (which is called in ꝑ Ebrue tōge, ☞ Bethseda) hauing fyue porches, in whych laye a greate multitude of sycke folcke, of blinde,
halt, and wythered, waytinge for the mouinge of the water. For an angell wēt dow-ne at a certayne season into the pole, and ste-red the water. Whosoeuer then fyrst (after the steringe of the water) stepped in, was made whoale of whatsoeuer disease he had.
And a certayne man was there, whych had bene diseased. xxxviii. yeres. When Jesus sawe him lye, and knewe that he now longe
tyme had bene diseased, he sayeth vnto him:
Wylt thou be made whole? The sycke man answered hym: Syr, I haue no man when
the water is troubled, to put me into ꝑ pole.
But in the meane tyme, whyle I am aboute
to come, another steppeth downe before me.

*Mat.v.a Mar.ii.b. Luke.v.g Actes.iii.b. and.ix.f. Jesus sayeth vnto hym * rise, take vp thy bed, & walke. And immediatly the man was made whole, and toke vp hys bed, and walked. And the same daye was the Sa-both. The Jewes therfore sayde vnto hym that was made whole: It is the Saboth daye, it is not lawfull for the to cary thy bed.
He answered them: he that made me whole,
sayde vnto me: take vp thy bed, and walke.
Then asked they hym: what man is that,
whych sayd vnto ꝑ, take vp thy bed & walke?
And he that was healed, wist not who it was. For Jesus had gotte him selfe awaye, because that ther was ꝑeace of people in that place.

25 *Afterwarde, Jesus founde him in the *Joh.viii.a temple, and sayde vnto him: beholde, thou art made whole, synne nomore, lest a worse
thinge happen vnto the. The man departed & tolde the Jewes, that it was Jesus, which had made hym whole. ✠ And therfore the Jewes dyd persecute Jesus, and sought the meanes to slee him, because he had done these thynges on the Sabboth daye. And Jesus answered them.

*Joh.x.a. ✠ * My father worketh hitherto, and I worke. Therfore the Jewes sought the more to kyll him, not onely because he had broken the Sabboth: but sayde also that * God *Mat.xxii. Mar.xii.d Luke.xx.d.
was hys father and made hym selfe equall
with God.

Then answered Jesus, & sayde vnto thē:
verely, verely, I saye vnto you * the sonne *Joh.viii.a
can do nothige of him selfe, but that he seeth
the father do. For whatsoeuer he doeth, that doeth the sonne also. For the father loueth ꝑ sonne, and sheweth hym all thinges that he hym selfe doeth. And he will shewe hi greаter workes thē these, because ye shuld mar-uayle. For lykewyse as the father rayseth vp the deed, and quyckeneth thē, euen so the sonne quyckeneth whom he wyll * Nether *Mat.xii. Luke.x.d.
iudgeth the father eny man: but hath com-mytted all iudgement vnto ꝑ sonne, because that all men shuld honoure the sonne euen as they honoure the father. He that honoureth not the sonne, the same honoureth not the fa ther which hath sent hym. Verely, verely I C
saye vnto you. * he that heareth my worde, *Joh.vi.f.
& beleueth on him that sent me, hath euerlasting lyfe, and shall not * come into damna- *Luke.xviii.f
cyon: but is staped from deeth vnto lyfe.

Verely, verely, I saye vnto you * ꝑ houre *Mat.xii. Joh.v.f.
shall come, & nowe it is, whē ☞ ꝑ deed shall heare ꝑ voyce of the sonne of God. And they that heare, shall lyue. * For as the father *Joh.i.a. and.viii.d.
hath lyfe in hym selfe, so lykewyse hath he geuen to the sonne to haue lyfe in hym selfe:
and hath geuen him power also to iudge, because he is the sonne of man. Marueyle not *Mat.xxvi.
at this: for the * houre shal come, in ꝑ which,
all that are in the graues, shall heare hys
voyce, and shall come forth: they that haue done good, vnto the resurrection of lyfe: and they that haue done euyll, vnto the resurreccion of damnacion. ✠

✠ ☞ I can of myne awne selfe do no- D
thing. As I heare, I iudge, and my iudgmēt is iust, because I seke not myne awne wyll,
but ꝑ wyll of the father which hath sent me
* ☞ If I shulde beare wytnes of my selfe, D
my wytnes *Joh.viii.d

my wytnes were not true. Ther is another ꝑ beareth witnes of me: & I am sure, that the wytnes which he beareth of me, is true.

* Ye sent vnto John, & he bare wytnes vnto ꝑ trueth. But I receaue not the recorde of man. Neuertheles, these thinges I saye that ye myght be sake. He was a burnynge, & a shynynge lyght, & ye wolde for a season haue reioyced in hys lyght * But I haue greater wytnes, then the wytnes of John * For the worckes which the father hath geuē me to fynysshe, ꝑ same worckes that I do, beare wytnes of me, ꝑ the father hath sent me. And ꝑ father him selfe which hath sent me * hath borne witnes of me. Ye haue not hearde hys voyce at eny tyme nor sene hys shape, hys word haue ye not abydinge in you. For whō he hath sent, him ye beleue not.

Searcht the scriptures, for in them ye thinke ye haue eternall lyfe * & they are they which testify of me. And yet wyll ye not come to me, that ye myght haue lyfe. I receaue not prayse of men. But I knowe you, that ye haue not ꝑ loue of God in you. I am come in my fathers name and ye receaue me not. * If another come in hys awne name, hym wyll ye receaue: how cā ye beleue, which receaue honoure one of another, & seke not the honoure that commeth of God only?

Do not thincke that I wyll accuse you to my father. Ther is one ꝑ accuseth you: euen Moses in whō ye trust. For had ye beleued Moses, ye wolde haue beleued me * for he wrote of me. But yf ye beleue not hys wrytinges: how shall ye beleue my wordes? ✠

¶ The. vj. Chapter. ✠

¶ Jesus feedeth fyue thousand men besyde women & chyldren with fyue barly loaues & two fyshes. He departeth alwaye that they shuld not make hym kynge, and reproueth the fleshly hearers of hys worde. The carnall are offended at hym.

AFter these thinges * Jesus went hys waye ouer the see of Galile whych is the see of Tiberias * & a great multitude folowed him, because they sawe his myracles whych he dyd on them that were diseased. And Jesus went vp into a mountayne, & there he sate wyth hys disciples. And easter, a feast of ꝑ Jewes was nye. ✠ ✠ * When Jesus then lyfte vp his eyes, and sawe a great cōpany come vnto him, he sayeth vnto Philip: whence shall we bye breed, that these maye eate? This he sayd to proue hym: for he him selfe knewe, what he wolde do.

Philip answered him * two hūdred penyworthe of breed are not sufficient for them, ꝑ euery man maye take a lytell. One of his disciples (Andrew, Simon Peters brother) sayeth vnto him: There is a lad here, whych hath fyue barly loues and two fyshes: but what are they amonge so many? And Jesus sayde. Make ꝑ people syt downe. Ther was moch grasse in ꝑ place. So the men sate downe in nōbre, about fyue thousand. And Jesus toke the breed: And whan he had geuen thankes, he gaue to the disciples, and ꝑ disciples to thē that were set downe: And lyke wyse of the fyshes as moch as they wolde:

When they had eaten ynough, he sayeth vnto his disciples: gather vp ꝑ broken meate whych remayneth: ꝑ nothynge be lost. And they gathered it together, and fylled twelue basacttes with the broken meate of the fyue barly loaues: whych broken meate remayned vnto them that had eaten. Then thole men (when they had sene the myracle that Jesus dyd) sayd: this is of a trueth * ꝑ same Prophete, ꝑ shulde come into the worlde. ✠ * Luke. vii. c. John. iiij. b

Whē Jesus therfore perceaued, ꝑ they wolde come, & take hym vp to make hym kyng, * he departed agayne into a mountayne him selfe alone. Luke. vi. c.

* And when euen was now come, hys disciples wēt downe vnto the see, & gat vp into a shippe, and came ouer the see vnto Capernaū. And it was now darcke, and Jesus was not come to them. And ꝑ see arose with a greate wynde that blewe. So when they had rowen about a. xxv. or. xxx. furlonges, they sawe Jesus walkyng in the see, & drawing nye vnto the shippe, & they were afrayed. But he sayeth vnto them: It is I, be not afrayde. Then wold they haue receaued him into the shyp, & immediatly the shyp was at the lande whyther they went. * mat. xiiij. c. Mar. vi. c.

The daye folowynge whan the people (whych stode on the other syde of the see) sawe, ꝑ ther was none other shyp there, saue that one wher ito his disciples were entred, & that Jesus went not in wyth his disciples into ꝑ shyp: but that his disciples were gone awaye alone (howbeit, ther cā other shyppes frō Tiberias nye vnto the place, where they dyd eate breed, after that the Lord had geuen thankes) when the people therfore sawe that Jesus was not there, nether hys disciples, they also toke shypping, & came to Capernaum, sekynge for Jesus.

And when they had founde hym on the other syde of the see, they sayde vnto hym: Rabbi, whē camest thou hyther? Jesus answered them, and sayde: verely, verely I saye vnto you: ye seke me, not because ye sawe ꝑ myracles but because ye dyd eate of the loaues, and were fylled.

✠ Laboure not for the meate whych perisheth, but for that whych endureth vnto euerlastinge lyfe, whych meate the sonne of man shall geue vnto you. For him hath God the father sealed.

Then sayde they vnto him: what shal we do, that we myght worcke the worckes of God? Jesus answered & sayde vnto thē: This is the worcke of God, that ye beleue on him, whome whom he hath sent, They sayde therfore vnto him * what sygne shewest thou then, that we maye se, and beleue the? What doest thou worcke? Our fathers dyd eate Manna in the desert as it is wrytte: he gaue them * breed from heauen to eate. Then Jesus sayde vnto them: verely, verely I saye vnto you: Moses gaue you not that breed from heauen: * but my father geueth you the true breed from heauen. For the breed of God is he, whych commeth downe from heauen, and geueth lyfe vnto the worlde.

Then sayd they vnto him: Lord, euermore geue vs this breed. And Jesus sayd vnto them: I am the breed of lyfe. He that cõmeth to me shall not honger: and he that beleueth on me shall neuer thurst. ✠ But I sayde vnto you: that ye also haue sene me, and yet ye beleue not. All that ✠ father geueth me shall come to me: and he that commeth to me, I cast not awaye. For I came downe frõ heauen: * not to do that I will, but that he will, whych hath sent me. And this is the fathers will whych hath sent me, that of all whych he hath geuen me, I shall loose nothinge: but rayse them vp agayne at the last daye. And this is ✠ will of him that sent me: that euery one whych seeth the sonne * and beleueth on him, haue euerlasting lyfe. And I will rayse him vp at the last daye. The Jewes thẽ murmured at him, because he sayd: I am ✠ breed (of lyfe) whych came downe from heauen. And they sayde: * Is not this Jesus the sonne of Joseph, whose father & mother we knowe? How is it thẽ ✠ he sayeth, I came downe frõ heauen? Jesus answered & sayd vnto them. Murmur not amonge youre selues. ✠ * No man can come to me, except the father which hath sent me, draw hym: And I will rayse hym vp at ✠ last daye. It is wrytten in the Prophetes: * and they shalbe all taught of God. Euery man therfore ✠ hath hearde, and hath learned of the father, commeth vnto me. * Not that eny man hath sene the father, saue he which is of God: the same hath sene the father.

Verely, verely, I saye vnto you: he ✠ putteth his truste in me, hath euerlastinge lyfe. I am that breed of lyfe. Youre fathers dyd eate Manna in the wyldernes, & are deed. Thys is that breed, whych commeth downe from heauen, that a man maye eate therof, & not dye. I am that lyuinge bread, whych came downe from heauen. If eny man eate of this bread, he shall liue for euer * And the breed that I will geue, is my flesshe, whych I will geue for the lyfe of the worlde. ✠

The Jewes therfore stroue amõge them selues, sayig: how cã this felowe geue vs ✠ flesh of his, to eate? Then Jesus sayde vnto them: ✠ Verely, verely, I saye vnto you, except ye eate the flesshe of the sonne of man, and drinke his bloude: ye haue no lyfe in you. Whoso eateth my flesshe & drynketh my bloude, hath eternall lyfe, & I will rayse him vp at the last daye. ✠ For my flesshe is meate in dede: and my bloude is drincke in dede. He that eateth my flesshe & drinketh my bloude, dwelleth in me and I in him. As the lyuinge father hath sent me, and I liue for ✠ father: Euen so he that eateth me, shall lyue by the meanes of me. This is ✠ breed, which cam downe frõ heauen: not as youre fathers dyd eate Manna, & are deed: he that eateth of this breed, shall lyue euer. ✠

These thinges sayd he in the synagoge, as he taught in Capernaum. Many therfore of his disciples (whẽ they had herde this) sayde: this is an harde sayinge: who can abyde the hearinge of it? Jesus knewe in him selfe, that his disciples murmured at it, & he sayd vnto them: Doth this offende you? What and ye shall se ✠ sonne of man ascende vp thither where he was before? It is the spyrete that quyckeneth, the flesh profyteth nothinge. The wordes ✠ I speake vnto you, are spyrete and lyfe. But there are some of you that beleue not. For Jesus knewe from the begynninge, which they were, that beleued not, & who shulde betraye him: And he sayd: therfore sayde I vnto you: that * noman can come vnto me, except it were geuen vnto hym of my father.

From ✠ tyme many of his disciples went backe, and forsoke him, and walked nomore with hym. Then sayde Jesus to the twelue: will ye also goo awaye? Then Simon Peter answered him: Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou haste the wordes of eternall lyfe * and we beleue and are sure that thou art Christ the sonne of the lyuinge God. Jesus answereth thẽ: Haue not I chosen you twelue, and ✠ one of you is a deuyll? He spake of Judas Iscarioth the sonne of Simon. For he it was, that shuld betraye hym, beynge one of the twelue.

¶ The. vij. Chapter.

¶ Jesus commeth to Jerusalem at the feast, teacheth the Jewes & reproueth them: There are dyuerse opynions of hym amonge the people. The Pharises rebuke the officers, because they haue not brought hi, & cryed wyth Nycodemus for takynge hys parte.

After these thinges, Jesus wẽt about in Galile: for he wolde not go about in Jewry because that the Jewes sought to kyll hym. The Jewes * feast of tabernacles was at hande. Hys brethren therfore sayde vnto him: get the hence, and go into Jewry, that thy disciples also maye se thy worckes that thou doest. For there is no man that doeth eny thynge in secret, and he hym selfe seketh to be knowne openlye. If thou do soch thinges, shewe thy selfe to ✠ worlde.

For

*Mat.xii.c and xvi.a Mar.viii.b Luke.vi.b.

*Exo.xvi.b.

*mat.xvi.c

*Lu.xvi.e.

*John.vi.c.

*mat.viii.g mar.vi.a.

*John.vi.g.

*Esa.liii.d i.John.ii.b.

*Ier.xxxii.d Deute.xii.b Judg.vi.c and.xii.b John.i.d. i.John.iii.b

*Luke.xvii.c

*John.vi.f

*mat.xvi.c mar.viii.c Luke.ix.c. John.xi.c.

Luke.xvii.c John.xiii.c

*Leui.xxiii. Nume.xii.b iii.Esd.ix. i.Mac.ii.

for his brethren beleued not in him.

Then Jesus sayde vnto them: Myne tyme is not yet come: but youre tyme is all waye ready. The worlde cannot hate you. * But me it hateth: because I testify of it, that the workes therof are euill. Goye vp vnto this feast, I will not go vp yet vnto this feast, for myne tyme is not yet full come. Whā he had sayde these wordes vnto them he abode styll in Galile. But as sone as his brethren were come, then wēt he also vp vnto the feast, not openly: but as it were preuely. Then sought him the Iewes at the feast, & sayde: * where is he? And moch murmuringe was ther of him amonge ỹ people. For some sayde: * He is good, other sayde naye, but he deceaueth the people. How be it * no man spake openly of him, for feare of the Iewes. ✠

✠ Now whan halfe of ỹ feast was done, Jesus went vp into the temple, and taught. And the Iewes marueyled, saying: How knoweth he the scriptures, seynge ỹ he neuer learned? Jesus answered them, & sayde: Myne doctryne hys not myne: but his ỹ sent me. If eny man wyll be obedient vnto his wyll, he shall knowe of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speake of myne selfe. He ỹ speaketh of him selfe, seketh his awne prayse. But he that seketh hys prayse that sent him, the same is true, & no vnrighteousnes is in him.

* Dyd not Moses geue you a lawe, & yet none of you kepeth ỹ lawe? Why go ye about to kyll me? The people answered and sayde: thou hast the deuyll: who goeth about to kyll the? Jesus answered, and sayde vnto them: * I haue done one worcke, and ye all marnayle. Moses therfore gaue vnto you ỹ circumcision: not because it is of Moses, but * of the fathers: And yet ye on the Saboth daye, circumcyse a man. If a man on the Saboth daye receaue circūcysion without breakynge of the lawe of Moses: disdayne ye at me, because I haue made a man euery whit whoale on the Saboth daye? * Judge not after the vtter apearaunce, but iudge with a ryghteuwes iudgement.

Then sayde some of them of Jerusalem: is not this he, whom they go about to kyll? But lo, he speaketh boldly, and they saye nothing to him. Do the rulers knowe in dede, ỹ this is very Christ? Howbeit * we knowe this man whence he is: but when Christ cometh, no man knoweth whence he is.

Then cryed Jesus in ỹ tēple (as he taught) saying: ye both knowe me, and whence I am ye knowe. And I am not come of my selfe: but he that sent me is true, whom ye knowe not. But I knowe him (And yf I sye that I knowe hym not, I shalbe a lyer lyke vnto you, but I knowe hym) for I am of hi, & he hath sent me. * Thē they sought to take him: but no man layde hāds on him, because his houre was not yet come. * Many of the people beleued on hym ✠ & sayde: when Christ cōmeth, will he do moo myracles thē these, that this man hath done?

The Pharises hearde that the people murmured suche thinges cōcernyng him ✠ And the pharises and hye prestes * sent ministres to take him. Thē sayde Jesus vnto thē: Yet am I a lytell whyle with you, and then go I vnto him that sent me. Ye shall seke me, and shall not fynde me: & where I am, thyther can ye not come. Then sayde the Iewes among them selues: whither wyll he go, that we shall not fynde him? Wyll he go amonge the gentyls (whych are scattered abroade) and teach the gētyls: What maner of saying is this that he sayd: ye shall seke me, & shall not finde me: and where I am, thyther can ye not come?

In the last daye, that great daye of ỹ feast Jesus stode, and cryed, sayinge: * If eny mā thyrst, lett him come vnto me, & drincke. He that beleueth on me (as sayeth the scripture) out of his belly shall flowe ryuers of water of lyfe. But this spake he of ỹ spyrete, whych they that beleue on him, shulde receaue. ✠ For ỹ holy goost was not yet there, because Jesus was not yet gloryfyed.

✠ Many of the people therfore (whē they hearde this saying) sayd * of a truth this is a prophet: but other sayde * this is Christ. But some sayde: shal Christ come out of Galile: * Sayeth not ỹ scripture, ỹ Christ shall come of ỹ seed of Dauid: and out of ỹ towne of Bethleem where Dauid was? So was ther dissencion amonge the people because of him. And some of thē wolde haue taken him but no man layed handes of him. Thē came the mynisters to the hye prestes and Pharises. And they sayed vnto them: why haue ye not brought hi? The mynisters answered: neuer man spake as this mā doeth. Thē answered thē ỹ Pharises: are ye also disceaued? Doth eny of the rulers or of the Pharises beleue on him? But this comen people whych knowe not the lawe, are curssed. Nicodemus sayeth vnto them (* he that came to Jesus by nyght, & was one of thē) Doth oure lawe iudge eny mā, before it heare hi, and knowe what he hath done? They ānswered, and sayd vnto hi: art ỹ also of Galile? Search & loke, for out of Galile aryseth no Prophete. And euery man went vnto his awne house. ✠

¶ The. viij. Chapter. ✠

¶ A woman is take in aduoutrye, Christ delyuereth her. The fredom of soch as folowe Christ, whom they accuse to haue the deuell within hym, and go about to stone hym.

JEsus went * vnto mount olyuete, and early in the morynge he came agayne into the temple, and all the people cam vnto hym, & he sate downe, & taught them. And ỹ Scribes & Pharises

* Joh.vii.b.

* Joh.vii.d
* mat.xxvi.b
Joh.viii.c
and.xvi.r.
& Joh.vii.f

* Mat.xxvi.d
Joh.viii.c
and.vi.r.
& Joh.vii.f

* Exo.xx.g
Deute.v.d.

* Joh.v.g

* Gen.xvii.b

* Deute.i.c
Leui.xix.c
Prou.xxiiii.e

* Mat.xvii.g
Mar.vi.a.
Joh.vi.c

* Joh.vii.c
Luke.xxv.g.
xxvi.g.xxvii.a

* Joh.vii.f

* Esa.lv.i.

* Joh.vii.c
and.vi.b
Luke.vii.c
& mat.xxi.b

* mich.v.a mat.ii.a

* Joh.iii.a

* mat.xxi.a marke.xi.a
Luke.xix.c.

sises brought vnto hym a woman taken in aduoutry: & whē they had set her in the mydes, they saye vnto hym: Master, this woman was taken in aduoutry, euen as she *Mayy.b. de was a doing. * Moses in the lawe commaunded vs, that such shulde be stoned. But what sayest thou? This they sayde to tempte him that they mygde accuse him. But Jesus stouped downe, and with his fynger wrote on the grounde. So, when they contynued
B askynge him, he lyfte him selfe vp, and sayde vnto them: let him that is amonge you without synne, cast the fyrst stone at her. And agayne he stowped downe, & wrote on the grounde. And assone as they hearde this, they wēt out one by one, begynning at the eldest.
And Jesus was lefte alone, & the woman standynge in the mydes. When Jesus had lyfte vp him selfe, and sawe no man, but the woman, he sayde vnto her: woman, where are those thyne accusers? hath no man condempned the? She sayde: No man, Lorde. And *John.b.f. Jesus sayde. Neither do I condempne the. Go and * synne nomore.

*John.i.a. & Then spake Jesus agayne vnto them, saying: * I am the lyght of the worlde. he that folloeweth me, doth not walke in darckines but shall haue the light of lyfe. The Pharises therfore sayde vnto him: thou bearest recorde of thy selfe, thy recorde is not true. Jesus answered, & sayde vnto them: though I beare recorde of my selfe, yet my recorde is true: for I knowe whence I cam, and whither I go.
C But ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I go. Ye iudge after the flesshe. I iudge no man. And yf I iudge, my iudgement is true. For I am not alone: but I & the father
*Deu.xvii.b. that sent me. * It is also wrytten in youre lawe, that the testimony of two men is true. Deu.xix.a. and.xix.b. I am one that beareth wytnes of my selfe, & the father that sent me, beareth wytnes of me. Then sayde they vnto him: where is thy father? Jesus answered: ye neither knowe me, nor yet my father: If ye had knowē me, ye shulde haue knowē my father also. These wordes spake Jesus in the tresury as he taught in the temple, and no man layde
*Mat.xxvi.c handes on hym * for his houre was not yet come.

*John.viii.c. and.xiii.b. Then sayde Jesus agayne vnto them: I go my waye, & * ye shall seke me, & shall dye in youre synnes. Whyther I go, thyther can ye not come. Thē sayde the Jewes: will he kyll him selfe, because he sayth: whyther I go, thyther can ye not come? And he sayde vnto them: ye are from beneth, I am from aboue. Ye are of this worlde, I am not of this worlde. I sayd therfore vnto you, that ye shall dye in youre synnes. For * yf ye beleue not
*Exod.xvi.b. John.vi.b. that I am he, ye shall dye in youre synnes.

D Then sayd they vnto him: who arte thou? And Jesus sayeth vnto them: Euē the very same thing that I speake vnto you. I haue many thinges to saye, and to iudge of you: Yee, & he that sent me, is true. * And I speake in the worlde, those thinges, which I haue
*Joh.viii.b. hearde of hym. Howebeit they vnderstode not that he spake of his father. Then sayd Jesus vnto them: when ye haue lyft vp an hye the sonne of man, then shall ye knowe, & I am he, and that I do nothinge of my selfe: but * as my father hath taught me, euen so
*John.viii.a. and.xiii.b. I speake these thinges: and he that sent me, is wt me. The father hath not lefte me alone, for I do all wayes those thinges that please
*John.viii.a. him. As he spake these wordes, * many beleued on him.

Then sayde Jesus to those Jewes, which beleued on him: If ye continue in my worde, then are ye my very disciples, and ye shall knowe the trueth: and the trueth shall make you free. They answered him: We be Abrahams seed, and were neuer bōde to eny man: how sayest thou then: ye shalbe made
*Rom.vi.a. and.viii.a. *free?

E Jesus answered thē: verely, verely I saye vnto you, that * whosoeuer cōmitteth sinne,
*Rom.vi. vi.Pet.ii.b is the seruaunte of sinne. And the seruaunt abydeth not in the house for euer: But the sonne abydeth euer. If the sōne therfore shal make you free, then are ye free in dede. I knowe that ye are Abrahams seed: but ye seke meanes to kill me, because my word hath no place in you. I speake that which I haue sene with my father: and ye do that, which ye haue sene with youre father. They answered and sayde vnto him: Abraham is oure father. Jesus sayeth vnto them: If ye were Abrahams children, ye wolde do the dedes of Abraham. But now ye go aboute to kyll me, a man that hath tolde you the trueth whych I haue heard of God: this dyd not Abraham. Ye do the dedes of youre father. Then sayde they to him: we were not borne of fornicacion. We haue one father, euē God. Jesus sayd vnto thē: yf God were youre father, truly ye wolde loue me. For I proceaded forth, and came frō God. Neither came I of my selfe, but he sent me: Why do ye not knowe my speache? Euen because ye can not abyde the hearing of my worde.

F Ye are of youre father the deuyll, and the lustes of youre father will ye serue. * he was
*Gene.iii.a. & Joh.viii.d. a murtherer from the beginninge and abode not in the trueth, because there is no trueth in him. When he speaketh a lye, he speaketh of his awne. For he is a lyar, and the father of the same thing: And because I tell you the trueth, therfore ye beleue me not.

Which of you tebuketh me of synne? If I saye the trueth, why do not ye beleue me? * he that is of God, heareth Goddes
*John.x.i. wordes. Ye therfore heare them not, because ye are not of God. Then answered the the Jewes, ād sayd vnto him: Saye we not well, that thou art a Samaritan, and * hast the deuyll? Jesꝰ answered: I haue not the deuyll: but I honoure my father, and ye haue dishonozed me. I seke not myne awne prayse: ther is one that seketh, and iudgeth.

Jewes

Verely verely, I saye vnto you: yf a man kepe my sayeng, he shall neuer se deeth. Then sayd the Jewes vnto him: Now knowe we that thou hast the deuyll. Abzaham is deed, and the prophetes, and thou sayest: yf a man kepe my saying, he shal neuer taste of deeth. Art thou greater then our father Abzaham, which is deed? and the prophetes are deed. Whom makest thou thy selfe?

Jesus answered: If I honoure my selfe, myne honour is nothinge. It is my father ꝑ honoureth me, which ye saye, is your God, & yet ye haue not knowen hym: but I knowe him. And yf I saye, I knowe him not, I shal be a lyar lyke vnto you. But I knowe him, and kepe his sayinge.

Your father Abzaham was glad to se my daye: * and he sawe it, & reioyced. Then sayd the Jewes vnto him: thou art not yet .l. yere olde, and hast thou sene Abzahām? Jesus sayd vnto thē: Verely verely, I saye vnto you: yer Abzaham was bozne, * I am. * Then toke they vp stones, to cast at hym: But Jesus hyd him selfe, and * went out of the temple.

¶ The .ix. Chapter.

¶ Christ maketh the man to se that was borne blynde.

AND as Jesus passed by, he sawe a man, which was blynde from hys byrth. And his disciples asked him sayinge: Master, who dyd synne, this man, oz hys father and mother, that he was bozne blynde? Jesus answered: Neither hath this man sinned, noz yet his father and mother: but that the wozckes of God shulde be shewed in hym. I must wozcke the wozckes of hym that sent me, whyle it is daye. The nyght cōmeth, when no man can wozcke. As longe as I am in the wozlde, * I am the lyght of the wozlde.

AS sone as he had thus spoken, he spat on the ground, and made claye of the spetle, and rubbed the claye on the eyes of the blynde, & sayd vnto him: Go, wesshe the in the pole of * Siloe, which (by interpretacīō) is almoche to saye as, sent. He went his waye therfoze, and washed, & came agayne, seinge: So the neyghbours and they ꝑ had sene him befoze (how ꝑ he was a begger) said: is not this he that sat and begged? Some sayd: this is he. Agayne, other sayd: * (Go, but) he is lyke hym.

He hym selfe sayde: I am euen he. Therfoze sayde they vnto hym: howe are thyne eyes opened? he answered and sayde: The man that is called Jesus, made claye, and anoynted myne eyes, and sayd vnto me: Go to the pole Siloe, and washe. And whan I went & washed, I receaued my syght. Then sayd they vnto him: where is he? he sayde: I cannot tell.

They bzought to the pharises, hym that a lytell befoze was blynde: and it was the * Sabboth daye, when Jesus made ꝑ claye, and opened hys eyes. Then agayne the pharises also asked hym, howe he had receaued his syght. He sayd vnto them: he put claye vpon myne eyes, and I washed, and do se. Therfoze sayd some of the pharises: thys mā is not of God, because he kepeth not the Sabboth daye. Other sayde: * howe can a man ꝑ is a synner, do such myracles? And ther was a stryfe amonge them. They spake vnto the blynde mā agayne: What sayst thou of him, because he hath opened thyne eyes? he sayd: * he is a prophete.

But the Jewes dyd not beleue of the mā (how that he had bene blynde, and receaued hys syght) vntyll they called the father and mother of him that had receaued hys syght. And they asked them, saying: Is thys youre sonne, whō ye saye was bozne blynde? how doth he now se then? his father and mother answered them, and sayde: we knowe, that thys is oure sonne, and that he was bozne blynde: but by what meanes he nowe seeth, we cānot tell. Oz who hath opened his eyes, cannot we tell? He is olde ynough, aske him, let hym answere foz hym selfe. Suche wozdes spake hys father ād mother, because they feared the Jewes. Foz the Jewes had conspyred all ready, that yf eny man dyd confesse that he was Christ, * he shulde be excōmunicat out of the synagoge. Therfoze sayd hys father and mother: he is olde ynough, aske him.

Then agayne called they the man ꝑ was blynde, and sayd vnto hym: Geue God the prayse: we knowe that thys man is a synner. He answered therfoze, and sayde: Whyther he be a synner oz no, I cannot tell. One thynge I am sure of: that where as I was blynde, nowe I se. Then sayde they to hym agayne: What dyd he to the? how opened he thyne eyes? He answered them: I tolde you yer whyle, and ye dyd not heare. Wherfoze wold ye heare it agayne? Wyll ye also be his disciples? Then rated they hym, & sayd: Be ꝑ hys disciple. We are Moses disciples. We are sure, ꝑ God spake vnto Moses. As foz this selowe, we knowe not frō whence he is.

The man answered, and sayde vnto thē: this is a maruelous thing, that ye wote not from whence he is, and yet he hath opened myne eyes. Foz we be sure, ꝑ God heareth not synners. But yf eny man be a wozshipper of God, and obedient vnto his wyll, him heareth he. Hence the wozld begā was it not hearde, that eny man opened the eyes of one that was borne blynde: If thys man were not of God, he coulde haue done nothing. They answered, and sayd vnto hym: thou art al together borne in synne, and dost thou teach vs? And they cast him out.

G Jesus heard that they had excõmunicate hym: and when he had founde hym, he sayde vnto hym: dost thou beleue on the sonne of God? He answered and sayd: Who is it Lord that I myght beleue on him? And Jesus said *John.viii.f vnto him: Thou hast sene him, *and he it is that talketh with the. And he sayd: Lord, I beleue, and he worshipped hym. ✠ And Jesus sayd vnto him: ☞ I am come vnto iudgement into this worlde: that they which se not, myght se: and that they which se, might be made blynde. And some of the pharises which were with him, heard these wordes, and sayd vnto him: are we blynde also? Jesus *John.xv.b. sayd vnto them: *☞ If ye were blynde, ye ☞ shulde haue no synne. But now ye saye: we se, therfore your synne remayneth.

¶ The.x. Chapter. ✠

¶ Christ ys the true shepherd, and the dore of the shepe he telleth the treuth, and therfore the Jewes take vp stones to cast at hym and call hys preachyng blasphemy, and go about to take hym.

A VErely verely, I saye vnto you: he þ entreth not in by the dore into the shepefolde, but clymeth vp some other waye, the same is a thefe and a murthurer. But he that entreth in by the dore, is the shepherde of the shepe: to hym the porter openeth, & the shepe heare hys voyce, *Power.x.b and *he calleth his awne shepe by name, and leadeth thẽ out. And when he hath sent forth his awne shepe, he goeth before them, and þ shepe folow him: for they knowe his voyce. A straunger will they not folowe, but wyll flye from him: for they knowe not the voyce of straungers. This prouerbe spake Jesus vnto them. But they vnderstode not what thinges they were, which he spake vnto thẽ. 23 Then sayd Jesus vnto them agayne: Verely verely, I saye vnto you: *I am the dore *Joh.xiiii.a of the shepe. All (euẽ as many as came before me) are theues & murthurers: but þ shepe dyd not heare them. I am the dore: by me yf any mã entre in, he shalbe safe, and shall go in and out, & fynde pasture. A thefe cõmeth not but for to steale, kyll, and to destroye. I am come, that they might haue life, and that they myght haue it more aboundantly. ✠

☞ ✠ I am *þ good shepeherd. ☞ A good *Ezec.xxxiiii.f Mich.v.a shepherde geueth hys lyfe for the shepe. An C hyred seruaũt, and he which is not the shepeherd (nether the shepe are his awne) seeth the wolfe comminge, and leaueth the shepe, and flieth, and the wolfe catcheth, and scattereth the shepe. The hyred seruaunt flyeth, because he is an hired seruaunt, and careth not for þ *xii. Timo.iii.c shepe. I am the good shepheard, * & knowe my shepe, and am knowen of myne. *As my *Mat.xi.b Luke.x.b father knoweth me, euẽ so knowe I also my father. And *I geue my lyfe for the shepe: & *Mat.x.d other shepe I haue, which are not of thys fold. Them also must I bring, and they shall heare my voyce, and ☞ ther shalbe one fold D and one shepheard. ✠ Therfore doth my D father loue me, because I put my lyfe from me, that I myght take it agayne. No mã taketh it frõ me: but I put it awaye of my selfe. I haue power to put it from me, and I haue power to take it agayne. Thys commaundement haue I receaued of my father. There was a dissencyon therfore agayne amonge the Jewes for these sayinges, and many of them sayd: *He hath the deuel, and is madd: *Mat.xii. and.xvii. why heare ye hi? Other sayde: these are not Mar.iii.b Luke.xi.b the wordes of him that hath the deuyll. Can John.viii.f the deuyll open the eyes of the blynde? ‡John.ix.g

✠ And it was at Jerusalem the feaste of E the ☞ dedicacyon, and it was winter: and D Jesus walked in the temple, euen in *Salomons porche. Then cam the Jewes rõde *iii.reg.vi. Actco.iii.b about him, and sayd vnto him: Howe longe and.v.f dost thou make vs doute? If thou be Christ, tell vs playnely. Jesus answered thẽ: I tolde you, and ye beleue not. The workes that I do in my fathers name, they beare witnesse of me. But ye beleue not, because ye are not of my shepe. As I sayd vnto you: * my she- *John.x.c pe heare my voyce: and I knowe thẽ, & they F folowe me, and I geue vnto them eternall lyfe, and they shall neuer perish, nether shall eny man pluche them oute of my hande. My father which gaue them me, is greater then all, and no man is able to take them oute of my fathers hand. ‡ I and my father are one. ‡John.viii.d and.xvii.f

* Then the Jewes agayne toke vp stones, to stone hym with all. Jesus answered them: many good workes haue I shewed you from my father: for which of them do ye stone me? The Jewes answered him, sayeng: For thy good workes sake we stone þ not, *Joh.v.b *but for thy blasphemy, and because that þ beynge a man, makest thy selfe God: Jesus answered them: Is it not wrytten in youre lawe * I sayde, ye are goddes? If he called *Psal.lxxxii. Exo.xxii.b them goddes, vnto whom the word of God G was spoken (and the scripture cannot be broken concernynge hym whom the father hath sanctifyed, and sent into the worlde) do ye saye þ I blaspheme *because I sayde, I am *Mat.xvii. Mar.viii.d the sonne of God? ‡ If I do not the workes Luke.viii.d of my father, beleue me not. But yf I do, & ‡ Joh.x.d and.xv.b yf ye beleue not me, beleue the workes: that ye maye knowe and beleue, that the father is in me, and I in him. ✠

*Agayne they went about to take hym: * Mat.xiii. & he escaped out of their hande, & wẽt awaye John.viii.f agayne beyonde Jordan, into þ place where ‡John.i.d John before had baptysed, and there he abode. And many resorted vnto him, and sayd:

John

*John.iii.d John dyd no myracle, but *all thynges that John spake of this man were true. And many beleued on him there.

¶ The.xj. Chapter.

¶ Christ rayseth Lazarus from death. The hye prestes and pharyses gather a counsell agaynst hym. He getteth hym out of the waye.

A CErten man was sycke, named Lazarus of Bethania the towne of Mary, and her syster Martha. It was that *Luke.vii.f. Mary *which anoynted Jesus with oyntment, and wyped his fete w̄ her heare, whose brother Lazarus was sicke. Therfore, his syster sent vnto him, saying: Lord, beholde, he whom thou louest, is sicke. Whā Jesus herd ꝑ, he sayde: this infirmitie is not vnto death: but for the prayse of God, that the sonne of God * myght be praysed by the reason of it. *John.xj.a Jesus loued Martha and her sister and Lazarus. Whan he had heard therfore, that he was sycke, he abode two dayes styll in the same place where he was.

B Then after that, sayd he to his disciples: let vs go into Jewry agayne. Hys disciples sayde vnto hym: Master, the Jewes lately *sought to stone the, and wylt thou go thyther agayne? Jesus answered: are there not xij. houres of the daye? If a mā walke in the daye, he stombleth not, because he seeth the light of this worlde. But yf a man walke in the nyght, he stombleth, because there is no lyght in him. This sayd he, and after that he sayd vnto them: our frende Lazarus *slepeth: but I go to wake him out of slep. Then sayd his disciples: Lord, yf he slepe, he shal do well ynough. Howbeit, Jesus spake of his death: but they thought, that he had spoken of the naturall slepe. Then sayde Jesus vnto them playnely. Lazarus is deed, ād I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, because ye maye beleue. Neuertheles, let vs go vnto hi. *John.xj.f Then sayd *Thomas (which is called Didimus) vnto the disciples: lett vs also go, ꝑ we maye dye with hym. Then went Jesus, and foūde that he had lyen in his graue foure dayes allready. Bethanie was nye vnto Jerusalem, about fyftene furlonges of, and many of the Jewes came to Martha & Mary to cōforte them ouer their brother. Martha assone as she heard that Jesus was comynge, went and met hym: but Mary sate styll in the house.

✠ Then sayd Martha vnto Jesu: Lord, *yf thou haddest bene here, my brother had not dyed: neuertheles, nowe I knowe that what soeuer thou askest of God, God wyll geue it the. Jesus sayth vnto her: Thy brother shall ryse agayne. Martha sayeth vnto hym: I knowe that he shall ryse agayne in ꝑ resurrectiō at the last daye. Jesus sayth vnto her: I am the resurrection and the *lyfe: & he that beleueth on me, ye though he were deed, yet shall he lyue. And whosoeuer lyueth and beleueth on me, shall neuer dye: Beleuest thou this? She sayd vnto him: yee Lorde, I beleue that thou art Christ ꝑ sonne of God, which shuld come into the worlde. D And assone as he had so sayde, she wente her waye, & called Mary her syster secretly, saying: The master is come, and calleth for the. Assone as she heard that, she arose quyckly, and came vnto him. Jesus was not yet come into the towne: but was in that place where Martha met hym. The Jewes then which were with her in the house and cōforted her, (when they sawe Mary that she rose vp hastely, and wēt out) folowed her, saieng: She goeth vnto the graue, to wepe there.

Then when Mary was come wher Jesus was, and sawe hym, she cometh nye vnto his fete, and sayth vnto him: Lorde, *yf ꝑ *John.xi.c haddest bene here, my brother had not bene deed. When Jesus therfore sawe her wepe (and the Jewes also weping which came w̄ her) he groned in the spyrite, ād was troubled in him selfe, and sayde: Where haue ye layed him? They saye vnto him: Lorde, come, and se. And *Jesus wept. Then sayd the Jewes *Luke.xix.f Behold, howe he loued hym. And som of thē sayde: coulde not he which *opened the eyes *John.ix.b of the blynde, haue made also, that this man E shulde not haue dyed? Jesus therfore agayne groned in him selfe, and came to the graue. It was a caue, and a stone layde on it.

Jesus sayd: take ye awaye ꝑ stone. Martha the syster of him that was deed, sayd vnto hym: Lorde, by this tyme he stynketh. For he hath bene deed foure dayes. Jesus sayeth vnto her: Sayd I not vnto the, that yf thou dydest beleue, thou shuldest se the glorye of God? Then they toke awaye the stone from the place where he that had bene deed, was layde. And Jesus lyft vp his eyes, and sayd: Father, I thanke the, that thou hast hearde me. Howbeit, I knewe, that thou hearest me allwayes: but *because of the people which *John.xi.b stande by, I sayde it, that they maye beleue, that thou hast sent me.

And when he thus had spoken, he cryed F w̄ a loud voyce: Lazarus, come forth. *And *John.b.c he that was deed, came forth, bounde hande & fote w̄ graue clothes, & his face was bouūd with a naplin. Jesus sayd vnto them: loose him, & let him go. Then many of the Jewes which came to Mary (and had sene ꝑ thynges which Jesus dyd) *beleued on hym. ✠ *John.vii.f But some of them went theyr wayes to the pharises, & tolde thē what Jesus had done.

✠ *Then gathered the hye prestes & the *Mat.xxvi.a pharises a cōcel, & sayd: *what do we? for Mar.xiii.a this mā doth many miracles. If we lett hym Luke xxii.a scape thus, al mē will beleue on him, and the Actes.iiii.c Romayns shall come, and take awaye both our rowme and the people. And one of them named Caiphas (being the hye preste ꝑ same yere) sayd vnto them: Ye perceaue nothynge

* Joh.xviii.b at all, nor consyder, that * it is expedient for vs, that one man dye for the people, and not ꝑ all the people perysshe. Thys spake he not of him selfe, but beynge hye preste that same yere, he prophesied that Jesus shulde dye for the people, and not for the people onely, but
* Mat.xxvi.a Mar.xiii.a that he shuld gather together in one, the chil-dre of God, ꝑ were scattered abrode. * Then from that daye forth they toke counsell together, for to put him to death.

Jesus therfore walked nomore openly among the Jewes: but went his waye thence vnto a countre nye to a wildernes, into a cy-tie which is called Ephraim, and there cõty-
* Mat.xxvi.a Mar.xiii.a Luke.xxii.a nued wt his disciples. * And the Jewes Easter was nye at hand, & many went out of ꝑ
countre vp to Jerusalem before the Easter, to purify the selues. The sought they for Je-
* John.vii.b sus, & spake among the selues, as they stode
in the temple: * What thinke ye, seyng he cõ-meth not to the feaste daye? The hye prestes
* Joh.xi.c and pharises * had geuen a cõmaundement,
ꝑ yf eny man knewe wher he were, he shuld
shewe it, that they myght take him. ✠

¶ The.xii. Chapter. ✠

¶ Mary anoynteth Christes fete. Judas murmureth
Christ excuseth her, and ryeth into Jerusalem.

Then Jesus (syre dayes before Easter) came to Bethany, wher Laza-
* Mar.xiv.a Mat.xxvi.a Luke.xxii.a rus had ben deed, whome he rayled from death. Ther they made hym a supper, and Martha serued, but Lazarus was one
* Luke.vii.f of them that sate at the table wt him. * Then toke Mary a pound of oyntmẽt (called Nardus, perfecte and precious) and anoynted Jesus fete, and wyped his fete with her hear, &
the house was fylled with the odoure of the
* Mat.xxvi.a Mar.xiii.a oyntment. * Then sayd one of his disciples: (euen Judas Iscariothe Simõs sonne, which afterward betrayed him) why was not this oyntement solde for thre hundred pence, and geuen to the poore? This he sayd, not that he
* Joh.xiii.d cared for the poore but because he was a theefe,
and * had the bagge, & bare that which was geuẽ. Then sayd Jesus: Let her alone, against the daye of my burynge hath she kept this.
For the poore all wayes shall ye haue with you, but me haue ye not all waye.

Moche people of the Jewes therfore had knowledge that he was ther. And they came not for Jesus sake onely, but ꝑ they myght
* John.xi.b se Lazarus also * whom he rayled frõ death.
But the hye prestes helde a councell, ꝑ they myght put Lazarus to death also, because ꝑ
for his sake many of the Jewes went a waye
and beleued on Jesus. ✠

* Mat.xxi.a Mar.xi.a * On the next daye moch people that we re come to the feaste, when they hearde that Jesus shuld come to Jerusalem, toke braunches of palme trees, and went forth to mete hym, and cryed: Hosanna, * blessed is he that * Psal.cxvii. Luke.xix.f
in the name of the Lorde, commeth kyng of Israell. And Jesus got a ponge asse, and sate theron, as it is wryten: * feare not daughter * Zacha.ix.b Joh.xii.a of Syon, beholde, thy kynge commeth, syt-ting on an asses colte. These thinges vnder-stode not his disciples at the fyrst: but when Jesus was glorifyed, then remembred they that soche thinges were wryten of him, and ꝑ soche thynges they had done vnto hym. The people ꝑ was with hym (when he called Lazarus out of his graue, and rayled hym from death) bare recorde. Therfore mete hym the people also, because they hearde that he had done soche a miracle. The pharises therfore sayd among them selues: perceaue ye, howe
we preuayle nothing? behold, all (the whole)
worlde goeth after him.

* Ther were certen Gretes amonge the,
that came to worshyp at the feaste: the same cam therfore to Philip (which was of Bethsaida a cytie in Galile) and desyred hym, saying: Syr, we wolde fayne se Jesus. Philip came and tolde Andrew: And agayne Andrew and Philip told Jesus. And Jesus answered them, sayinge: * the houre is come, ꝑ * John.xiii.b and.xvii.a the sonne of man must be glorifyed.

✠ Verely verely, I saye vnto you: except
the wheat corne fall into the ground, & dye,
it bydeth alone. If it dye, it bryngeth forth moch frute. * He ꝑ loueth hys lyfe, shall de-stroye it: and he ꝑ hateth hys lyfe in thys worlde, shal kepe it vnto lyfe eternall. If eny man mynister vnto me, let him folowe me:
and * where I am, there shall also my minister be. Yf any man mynister vnto me, hym will my father honoure. ✠

Nowe is my soule troubled, and what shall
I saye? Father, delyuer me from this houre:
but therfore came I vnto thys houre. Father, glorify thy name. Then cãe there a voyce from heaue, saying: I haue both glorifyed
it, & will glorify it agayne. The people therfore that stode by and heard it, sayde, that it thoundred. Other sayde: an angell spake to
hym. Jesus answered and sayde: this voyce came not because of me * but for your sakes. * John.xi.c

✠ Now is the iudgment of this worlde:
* now shall the prince of thys worlde be cast
out. And I (yf I were lyft vp from the erth) will draw all men vnto me. Thys he sayde signifyinge, what death he shulde dye. The people answered hym: We haue heard out of the lawe, * that Christ bydeth euer, and how sayst thou: the sonne of man must be lyft vp?
who is that sonne of man? Then Jesus sayd vnto the: yet a lytell whyle is the lyght with
you. * Walke whyle ye haue lyght, lest the darcknes come on you. He that walketh all in the darck, wote th not whyther he goeth.
Whyle ye haue lyght, beleue on the lyght, ꝑ
ye maye be the children of the lyght. ✠

¶ These

These thynges spake Jesus, and departed, and hid him selfe from them. But though he had done so many miracles before the, yet beleued not they on hym, that the sayinge of Esaias the pphet myght be fulfylled, which he spake: * Lord, who shal beleue our sayig? And to whom is the arme of the Lorde declared? Therfore could they not beleue, because that Esaias saith agayne: ‡ he hath blynded their eyes, and hardened their hert, that they should not se with their eyes, ‡ lest they should vnderstand with their hert, and should be conuerted, and I shulde heale them. Soch thynges sayd Esaias, when he sawe his glorye, ‡ spake of him. Neuertheles, amonge the chefe rulers also, many beleued on hym. But (because of ꝑ pharises) they wold not be a knowen of it, * lest they shulde be excõmunicat. ‡ For they loued ꝑ prayse of men, more then the prayse of God.

Jesus cryed, and sayd: he that beleueth on me, beleueth not on me, but on hym that sent me. And he that seeth me, seeth him that sent me. ✠ I am come * a lyght into the worlde: that whosoeuer beleueth on me, shulde not byde in darckenes. And yf any man heare my wordes, & beleue not, I iudge him not. For ‡ I came not to iudge the worlde: but to saue the worlde. He that refuseth me, & receaueth not my wordes, hath one that iudgeth hym. The worde that I haue spoke, the same shal iudge hym in the last daye. For I haue not spoken of my selfe: but the father which sent me: he gaue me a cõmaũdmẽt, what I should saye, & what I shulde speake. And I knowe that his commaundement is lyfe euerlastinge. What soeuer I speake therfore, euẽ as the father bade me, so I speake. ✠

¶ The. xiij. Chapter. ✠

¶ Christ washeth the disciples fete, telleth them of Judas the traytour, and commaundeth them earnestly to loue one another.

Before the feaste of Easter, whẽ Jesus knewe that hys houre was come, that he should depart out of this worlde vnto ꝑ father. Whẽ he loued his which were in the worlde, vnto the ende he loued them. And whẽ supper was ended, after that the deuyll had * put in the herte of Judas Iscarioth Simons sonne, to betraye hym. Jesus knowynge that ‡ the father had geuen all thinges into hys handes, and that he was come from God, and went to God: he rose from supper, and layde asyde his vpper garmentes: and whan he had taken a towell, he gyrded him selfe. After that, he powred water into a basyn, and begãne to wash the disciples fete, and to wype them with the towell, wherwith he was gyrded.

Then came he to Symõ Peter. And Peter sayde vnto hym: Lord, dost thou washe my fete? Jesus answered, and sayd vnto hi: what I do, ꝑ wotest not nowe, but ꝑ shalt know herafter. Peter sayeth vnto him: thou shalt neuer washe my fete. Jesus answered hym: yf I washe the not, thou hast no parte with me. Symon Peter sayeth vnto hym: Lorde, not my fete onely, but also the hãdes and the head. Jesus sayth to hym: he that is washed, needeth not, saue to washe his fete, but is cleane euery whyt. And ye are cleane, * but not all. For he knewe who it was that shuld betraye hym. Therfore sayd he: ye are not all cleane. So after he had washed their fete, and receaued hys clothes, and was sett downe, he sayde vnto them agayne: wote ye what I haue done to you? Ye call me master and Lorde, and ye saye well, for so am I. If I then youre lorde and master haue washed youre fete, ye also ought to washe one anothers fete. For * I haue geuẽ you an ensãple that ye shulde do, as I haue done to you. ✠ Verely verely, I saye vnto you: ‡ ꝑ seruaũte is not greater then his master, nether ꝑ messenger greater then he that sent hym.

If ye vnderstande these thinges * happy are ye, yf ye do them. I speake not of you all, I knowe whõ I haue chosen. But that the scripture maye be fulfylled: * he that eateth breade with me, hath lyfte vp hys hele agaĩst me. Now * tell I you before it come, ꝑ whẽ it is come to passe, ye might beleue that I am he. Verely verely, I saye vnto you: * he ꝑ receaueth whomsoeuer I sende, receaueth me. And he that receaueth me, receaueth him that sent me.

Whẽ Jesus had thus sayd, he was troubled in the spyrte, and testifyed and sayd. Verely verely, I saye vnto you: that * one of you shall betraye me. Then the disciples loked one on another, doubtynge of whom he spake. There was one of Jesus disciples, (which leaned on hym) * euen he whom Jesus loued. To hym beckened Symon Peter therfore, that he shulde aske, who it was of whom he spake. He then when he leaned on Jesus brest, sayd vnto him: Lord, who is it? Jesus answered: he it is to whom I geue a soppe. And he wet the brede & gaue it to Judas Iscarioth Simons sonne. And after the soppe, Satã entred into hym. Then sayd Jesus vnto him: that thou dost, do quyckly. That wist no man at the table, for what intent he spake vnto him. Som of thẽ thought because. * Judas had the bagge, ꝑ Jesus had sayd vnto him: bye those thiges that we haue nede of agaynst the feaste: or ꝑ he should geue some thyng to the poore. As sone thẽ as he had receaued the soppe, he went immediatly out and it was night. Therfore when he was gone oute. Jesus sayd: * Now is the sonne of man glorifyed, And God is glorifyed by him. If God be glorifyed by hi, God shall also glorify hym by hym selfe: and shall straight waye glorify hym.

✠ Lytle chyldren, yet a lytel whyle am I
* Iohn.vii.c with you. * Ye shall seke me, & as I sayd vn-
to the Iewes, whyther I goo, thyther ca ye
* Iohn.viii.a not come. Also to you saye I now. * A newe commaundement geue I vnto you, that ye
*i. Iohn.ii.a loue together, as I haue loued you, that ye so ye loue one another. * By this shall all me
knowe that ye are my disciples, yf ye haue loue one to another. Symon Peter sayd vnto hym: Lorde, whyther goest thou? Iesus
* Iohn xi.f answerd him: whyther I go, thou canst not Actes.xii.a folowe me now, but * thou shalt folowe me
afterwardes. ✠ Peter sayd vnto hi: Lorde, & Mat.xxvi.c why cannot I folowe the now: & I wyl ieo-
Mat.xvii.c parde my lyfe for thy sake? Iesus answered
Luke.xxii.b hym: wylt thou ieoparde thy lyfe for my sa-
* Iob.xviii.c ke? Verely verely, I saye vnto the: * the cocke shall not crowe, tyll thou haue denyed me thryse.

¶ The.xiiij.Chapter. ✠

¶ She comforteth hys disciples with consolacyon against trouble, and promyseth them the holy ghost.

AND he sayde vnto his disciples: Let not your herte be troubled. Ye beleue in God, beleue also in me. In my fathers house are many mansions:
If it were not so, I wolde haue tolde you. I & go to prepare a place for you. And yf & I go to prepare a place for you, I will come a-gayne, and receaue you euen vnto my selfe:
* Iohn.xii.d and.xvii.b that * where I am, there maye ye be also. And whyther I go, ye knowe, and the waye ye knowe.

Thomas sayeth vnto hi: Lorde, we knowe
not whyther thou goest. And howe is it possible for vs to knowe the waye? Iesus sayeth
vnto hym: I am the waye and the treuth, ād
* Iohn.i.a and.xii.f the * lyfe. ‡ No man cometh vnto the father, ‡ Mat.xi.b Ioh.vi.c but by me. If ye had knowē me, ye had knowē my father also. And now ye knowe him, and haue seue hym.

Philip sayeth vnto hym: Lorde, shewe vs
the father, & it suffiseth vs. Iesus sayeth vnto hym: haue I bene so longe tyme with you, & yet hast thou not knowē me, Philip, he that hath sene me, hath sene my father. And howe
B sayest thou then: shewe vs the father? Bele-
* Iohn.x.f neest ꝓ not, ꝓ * I am in the father, & the father in me? The wordes ꝓ I speake vnto you, I & speake not of my selfe: but & the father that dwelleth in me is he ꝓ doth the workes. Be-
* Iohn xv.g leue me ꝓ I am in the father, & * the father in me. Or els beleue me for the workes sake.

Verely verely, I saye vnto you: he ꝓ beleu-eth on me, the workes that I do, the same shal he do also, & greater workes then these shall he do, because I go vnto my father.
* Mat.xvii.a and.xxi.f Mar.xi.b Luke.xi.b Ioh.xiv.b and.xvi.f Iacob.i.a i. Ioan.iii.d and.v.f * And whatsoeuer ye aske in my name, that will I do, ꝓ the father maye be glorifyed by the sonne. If ye shall aske any thynge in my name, I will do it. ✠ ✠ If ye loue me, kepe
my cōmaūdemētes, & I will praye ꝓ father,
and he shall geue you another cōforter, that he maye bide wt you for euer: euē the spirete of treuth, whom the worlde cannot receaue, because the worlde seeth hym not, neither knoweth him. But ye knowe him. For he dwelleth wt you, & shalbe in you. * I wyll not lea- * mat.xxv.a
ne you comfortles: but will come to you:

Yet a lytell while and the worlde seeth me nomore: but ye se me. For I lyue, & ye shall lyue. That daye shall ye knowe that I am in my father, and you in me, and I in you.

* He that hath my cōmaundementes, and C kepeth them: the same is he ꝓ loueth me. And * Iohn.xiv.a he that loueth me, shalbe loued of my father: i. Iohn.b.a and I wyll loue hym, and wyll shewe myne ii. Iohn.i.a
awne selfe to him. * Iudas sayth vnto hym: * Actes.vi.b (not Iudas Iscarioth) Lorde, what is done that thou wylt shewe thy selfe vnto vs, and not vnto the worlde? Iesus answered & sayd: vnto thē: yf a man loue me, he will kepe my sayinges, and my father wyll loue hym, and we wyll come vnto hym, and dwell wt hym.
He that loueth me not, kepeth not my sayin-ges. And the worde which ye heare, is not myne, but the fathers which sent me.

These thinges haue I [illegible]ken vnto you, D
being yet present with you. But the cōforter which is the holy ghost * whom my father wil * Ioh.xv.d
sende in my name, he shal teach you all thin- and.xvi.b
ges, & bryng all thinges to your remēbrance Actes.ii.a whatsoeuer I haue sayd vnto you.

Peace I leaue with you, my peace I ge-ue vnto you. Not as the worlde geueth, geue
I vnto you. Let not youre hertes be greued, neither feare. Ye haue harde howe I sayde vnto you: I go, and come agayne vnto you.
If ye loued me, ye wolde verely reioyse, because I sayd: I go vnto the father, for the father is greater then I. * And nowe haue I * Iohn.xiii.c
shewed you before it come, that when it is and.xvi.a come to passe, ye myght beleue. Here after wyll I not talke many wordes vnto you.
For the prince of this worlde commeth, and
* hath naught in me. But ꝓ ye worlde maye * Iohn.xiii.c
knowe that I loue the father. And as the fa- and.xvi.d.
ther gaue me cōmaundmēt, euen so do I. ✠
Ryse, let vs go hence.

The.xv.Chapter. ✠

¶ The true vyne, the husbandman and the braū-ches. A doctryne of loue and a sweete cōfort against persecucyon.

I Am * the true vyne, and my father A is the husbandman. Euery braun- * Ier.xxiiii.c che that beareth not frute in me, he will take away. And euery braun che that beareth frute, will he pourge, that it maye bring forth more frute. * Nowe are ye * Iohn.xiii.b
cleane thorow the wordes wh ich I haue spo Actes.xv.b
ken vnto you. Byde in me, and I in you. As the braūche cannot beare frute of it selfe, excepte it byde in the vyne: no more can ye, excepte ye abyde in me. I am ꝓ vyne, ye are the braunches.

braunches, he that abydeth in me, and I in him, the same bryngeth forth moche frute. For without me can ye do nothing. If a man bide not in me, he is cast forth as a braunche, & is wythered: and men gather them: and cast them into the fyre, and they burne. * If ye bide in me, and my wordes abyde in you: aske what ye wyll, and it shalbe done for you. ✠ Herin is my father glorifyed: that ye beare moche frute, and become my disciples.

As the father hath loued me, euen so haue I also loued you. Continue ye in my loue. If ye kepe my commaundemētes, ye shall byde in my loue, euen as I haue kepte my fathers cōmaundementes, & byde in hys loue. These thynges haue I spoken vnto you, ✠ my ioye myght remayne vnto you, and that youre ioye myght be full.

* Thys is my cōmaundemēt, that ye loue together, as I haue loued you. Greater loue hath no man, then thys: that a man bestowe hys lyfe for his frendes. Ye are my frendes, yf ye do whatsoeuer I commaunde you. Hence forth call I you not seruauntes: for the seruaunt knoweth not what hys lorde doeth. But you haue I called frendes: for all thynges that I haue heard of my father, haue I opened to you.

Ye haue not chosen me, but I haue chosen you, and ordeyned you, to goo, and bryngе forth frute, and ✠ your frute shuld remayne, that whatsoeuer ye aske of the father in my name, he maye geue it you. ✠

✠ This commaunde I you, that ye loue together. If the worlde hate you, ye knowe that it hated me before it hated you. If ye were of the worlde, the worlde wolde loue his awne. Howbeit, because ye are not of ✠ world. But I haue chose you out of ✠ world therfore * the world hateth you. Remember the worde that I sayd vnto you: the seruaūt is not greater then the lorde. * If they haue persecuted me, they wyll also persecute you. If they haue kept my saying, they will kepe youres also.

* But all these thinges wyll they do vnto you for my names sake, because they haue not knowen hym that sent me. If I had not come and spoken vnto them, they shuld haue had no synne: but now haue they nothyng to cloke their synne withall. He that hateth me, hateth my father also: If I had not done amonge them the workes whych none other man dyd, they shuld haue had no synne. But now haue they both sene, & hated: not onely me but also my father. But thys happeneth that the sayinge myght be fulfylled, that is writen in their lawe: * they hated me without a cause. ✠ ✠ But when the cōforter is come, * whom I will sende vnto you from ✠ father (euen the spryte of treuth, which proceadeth of the father) he shall testifye of me.

And ye shall beare witnesse also, because ye haue bene with me from the begynning.

The. xvj. Chapter.

Consolacyon agaynst trouble. Players are hearde thorow Christ.

These thynges haue I sayde vnto you because ye shuld not be offended. * They shall excommunicat you: ye the tyme shall come, that * whosoeuer kylleth you, will thynke that he doth God seruyce. * And such thinges will they do vnto you, because they haue not knowē the father, nether yet me. But these thinges haue I tolde you, that when ✠ tyme is come, ye maye remember then that I tolde you. ✠ These thynges sayde I not vnto you at the begynninge, because I was present with you.

✠ But now I go my waye to hym that sent me, & none of you asketh me whyther I go. But because I haue sayd suche thynges vnto you, your hertes are ful of sorowe. Neuertheles, I tel you the treuth, it is expedient for you, ✠ I goo awaye. For yf I goo not awaye, that comforter wyll not come vnto you. But yf I departe, * I wyll sende hym vnto you. And when he is come, he wyll rebuke the worlde of synne, and of righte wesnes, & of iudgement. Of synne, because they beleue not on me. Of ryghte wesnes, because I go to my father, and ye shal se me nomore: Of iudgement, because * the prynce of thys worlde is iudged all ready.

I haue yet many thiges to saye vnto you but ye cannot beare them awaye now. Howbeit when he is come (which is the spryte of treuth) he will leade you into all treuthe. He shall not speake of hym selfe: but whatsoeuer he shall heare, that shall he speake, and he will shewe you thinges to come. He shal glorify me, for he shall receaue of myne, & shall shewe vnto you. * All thynges that the father hath, are myne. Therfore sayde I vnto you, that he shall take of myne and shewe vnto you. ✠

✠ * After a while ye shall not se me, and agayne after a whyle ye shall se me: for I go to the father. Then sayde some of hys disciples betwene them selues: what is thys that he saith vnto vs, after a while, ye shall not se me, and agayne after a whyle ye shall se me: and that I go to the father? They sayd therfore: what is this that he sayth: after a whyle? we cannot tell what he sayth. Jesus perceaued, that they wolde aske him, and sayde vnto them. Ye enquire of this betwene your selues, because I sayde after a whyle ye shal not se me, & agayne after a whyle ye shall se me. Verely verely, I saye vnto you: ye shall wepe and lamente, but contrary wyse, the world shall reioyse. Ye shall sorowe, but * yo sorowe shalbe turned to ioye.

A woma when she trauayleth, hath sorowe, because her houre is come: but assone as she is deliuered of the childe, she remembreth nomore the anguisshe, for ioye that a man is borne into the worlde. And ye now therfore haue sorowe: but I will se you agayne, and your hertes shall reioyse, and your ioye shal no man take fro you. ✠ And in ỹ daye shall ye aske me no question. ✠ Uerely verely, I saye vnto you: * whatsoeuer ye shall aske ỹ father in my name, he wyll geue it you. Hytherto haue ye asked nothynge in my name. Aske, and ye shall receaue: that youre ioye maye be full.

These thinges haue I spoke vnto you by prouerbes. The tyme will come, whe I shal nomore speake vnto you + by prouerbes: but I shall shewe you playnely from my father. At ỹ daye shall ye aske in my name. And I saye not vnto you that I will speake vnto my father for you. For the father him selfe loueth you, because ye haue loued me, and haue beleued, that I came out frō God. I wēt out frō the father, and came into the worlde. Agayne, I leaue the worlde, and * go to the father.

His disciples sayd vnto him: lo, now talkest thou playnly, and speakest no prouerbe. Nowe are we sure, that * thou knowest all thinges, and nedest not, that eny man shulde aske the any question. Therfore beleue we, ỹ thou camest from God. ✠ Jesus answered them: Now ye do beleue. * Behold, the houre draweth nye, and is all ready come, ỹ ye shalbe scatered euery mā to his awne, & shal leaue me alone. And yet am I not alone. For * the father is with me.

These wordes haue I spoken vnto you, that in me ye myghte haue peace. For in the worlde shall ye haue tribulacyon: but be of good chere, I haue ouercome the worlde.

¶ The.xvij. Chapter. ✠

¶ The moost harty and louyng prayer of Christ vnto hys father, for all soch as receaue the treuth.

THese wordes spake Jesus, and lift vp his eyes to heauen, and sayde: father, * the houre is come: glorify thy sonne that thy sonne also maye glorify the: as thou hast geuen him power ouer all flesh, that he shuld geue eternall lyfe to as many as thou hast geuen him. This is * lyfe eternal, ỹ they might knowe the, the onely true God, & Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent.

I haue glorifyed the on the erth. * I haue fynyshed the worcke, which thou gauest me to do. And now glorifye thou me (O father) with thyne awne self, with the glory, which I had with the, yer the worlde was. I haue declared thy name vnto the mē, which thou gauest me out of the worlde. Thyne they were, and thou gauest them me, and they haue kept thy worde. Now they haue knowen, ỹ all thinges whatsoeuer thou hast geuen me, are of the. For I haue geuen vnto them the wordes which thou gauest me, and they haue receaued them, and haue knowen surely, that I came out from the: and they haue beleued, that thou diddest send me.

I praye for thē, & I praye not for * the worlde: but for them + which ỹ hast geuen me, for they are thyne. And all myne are thyne, & thyne are myne, & I am glorified in thē. And now I am not in the worlde, and they are in the worlde, and I come to the. ✠ Holy father, kepe thorow thine awne name, them which thou hast geuen me, ỹ they also maye be one, as we are. Whyle I was with thē in the worlde, I kepte thē in thy name. * Those that thou gauest me, haue I kepte, and none of them is lost, but that lost childe, + that the scripture might be fulfilled.

Now come I to the, & these wordes speake I in the worlde, that they might haue my ioye ful in them. I haue geuen thē thy worde, and * the worlde hath hated them, because they are not of the worlde, euen as I also am not of the worlde. I desyre not that ỹ shuldest take them out of the worlde: but * that thou kepe them from euyll. They are not of the worlde, as I also am not of the worlde. Sanctify them thorow thy treuth. Thy word is the treuth. As thou dyddest send me into the worlde, euen so haue I also sent them into ỹ worlde, & for their sakes sanctifie I my selfe, that they also myght be sanctifyed thorowe the treuth.

Neuertheles, I praye not for thē alone, but for them also which shall beleue on me thorow their preaching: that they al maye be * one, as thou father art in me, and I in the, and that they also maye be one i vs: that the worlde maye beleue, that thou hast sent me: And the glory which thou gauest me, I haue geuen them, that they maye be one, as we also are one. I in thē, and thou in me, ỹ they maye be made parfecte in one, & ỹ the worlde maye knowe, that thou hast sent me, and hast loued them as thou hast loued me.

Father, I will that they which thou hast geuen me * be with me where I am, ỹ they maye se my glory, which thou hast geue me. For thou louedest me before the makyng of the worlde. * Orighteous father, ỹ worlde also hath not knowē the: but I haue knowē the: and these haue knowen, that thou hast sent me. And I haue declared vnto them thy name, and will declare it, that the loue wher with thou hast loued me, maye be in them, & I in them. ✠

¶ The .xviij. Chapter.

¶ Christ is betrayed. The wordes of hys mouth smyte the officers to the grounde. Peter smyteth of Malchus eare. Jesus is brought before Anna, Cayphas, and Pylate.

When

A
*Mat.xxvi.d
Marke.xiii.d.
Luke.xxii.d.

When Jesus had spoke these wordes, * he wēt forth with hys disciples ouer the broke Cedron, wher was a gardē, into ꝑ which he entred and hys disciples. Judas also which betrayed him, knewe the place: for Jesus ofte tymes resorted thyther wt his disciples. Judas then after he had receaued a bonde of men, (and mynysters of the hye Prestes & Pharyses) came thyther with lanternes, and fyrebrandes, and wepens.

And Jesus knowyng all thynges that shulde come on hym, went forth, and sayde vnto them: whom seke ye? They answered hi: Jesus of Nazareth. Jesus sayeth vnto them: I am he. Judas also which betrayed hym, stode with them. Assone then as he had sayde vnto thē, I am he, they went backewarde and fell to the grounde. Then asked he thē agayne: whom seke ye? They sayde: Jesus of Nazareth. Jesus answered: I haue tolde you, that I am he. If ye seke me therfore, lett these goo their waye. That the saying might
*Joh.xviii.b. be fulfylled which he spake: * of them which thou gauest me, haue I not lost one.

Then Simon Peter hauynge a swearde, drue it, and smote the hye prestes seruaunt, and cut of hys ryght eare. The seruauntes name was Malchus. Therfore sayeth Jesus vnto Peter: * put vp thy swearde into
*Mat.xxvi.c Gen.ix.a. the sheath: shall I not dryncke of the cup, which my father hath geuen me? Then the company and the Captayne, and mynysters of the Jewes toke Jesus, and bounde hym, and led him awaye to Anna fyrst: for he was father in lawe vnto Cayphas, which was the hye Preste that same yere. Cayphas was
*John. xi.f. he, which gaue counsell to the Jewes * that it was expedient, that one man shulde dye for the people.

C * And Symon Peter folowed Jesus, and
*Mat.xxvi.f Marke.xiiii.f. Luke.xxii.f. so dyd another dyscyple: that dyscyple was knowē vnto the hye preste, & went in with Jesus into the palace of the hye Preste. But Peter stode at the dore without. Then went wēt out that other dyscyple (which was knowen vnto the hye preste) and spake to the damsell that kept the dore, and brought in Peter. Then sayde the damsell that kept the dore, vnto Peter. Art not ꝑ also one of this mannes dyscyples? he sayde: I am not. The seruauntes and the mynysters stode there, which had made a fyer of coles: for it was colde, ād they warmed them selues. Peter also stode amonge them, and warmed hym.

Mat.xiii.f Luke.xxiiii. * The hye preste then asked Jesus of hys
D dyscyples and of hys doctryne. Jesus answered hym: I spake openly in the worlde. I euer taught in the Synagoge, and in the tēple, whyther all the Jewes resorte, and in secret haue I sayde nothyng. Why askest thou me? Aske them which hearde me, what I haue sayd vnto them. Beholde, they can tell what I sayde. When he had thus spoken, one of the ministers which stode by, smote Jesus on the face, sayinge: * answerest thou the *Act.xxiii.a.
hye preaste so? Jesus ānswered hym: If I haue euyll spoken, beare witnes of the euyll: But yf I haue well spoken, ☞ why smytest thou me? ☜ And Annas sent hym bounde vnto Cayphas the hye preste.

Symon Peter stode, ād warmed him selfe E
Thē sayde they vnto hym: art not thou also one of hys dyscyples? he denyed it, & sayde: I am not. One of the seruauntes of the hye prestes (hys cosyn whose eare Peter smote of) sayde vnto hym: dyd not I se the in ꝑ gardē with him? * Peter therfore denyed agayne: and immediatly the cocke crewe. & Then led they Jesus from Cayphas ito the hall of iudgement. It was in the morynge, & they them selues went not into ꝑ iudgement hall ☞ lest they shulde be defyled, but that they ☜ myght eate Passeouer. Pylate then wēt out vnto thē and sayde: what accusacyon bryng ye agaynste thys man? They answered and sayde vnto him: If he were not an euyll doar we wolde not haue delyuered him vnto the. Then sayde Pylate vnto thē: take ye hym, & iudge him after youre awne lawe. The Je- F
*John.xviii.d ‡Mat.xxvii.a Marke.xv.a. Luke.xxiii.a.
wes therfore sayd vnto hi: It is not lawfull for vs to put eny mā to deeth. ☞ That the ☜ wordes of Jesus myght be fulfylled * which
*Mark.x.c. he spake, signifyeng, what deeth he shuld dye.

& Then Pylate entred into the iudgemēt
*mat.xxvii.b Marke.xv.a. Luke.xxiii.b. hall agayne, and called Jesus, and sayde vnto hym: art thou the kynge of the Jewes? Jesus answered: sayst ꝑ that of thy selfe, or dyd other tell it the of me? Pylate answered: Am I a Jewe? Thyne awne nacion and hye prestes haue delyuered the vnto me. What hast thou done? Jesus answered: my kyngdome is not of this worlde. Yf my kyngdome were of this worlde, thē wolde my mynysters suerly fyght, that I shulde not be delyuered to the Jewes, but now is * my kyngdome *John.xiii.b. not frō hence. Pylate therfore sayde vnto hi: Art thou a kyng then? Jesus answered: thou G sayst that I am a kyng. For this cause was I borne, & for this cause came I ito the worlde, that I shulde beare witnes vnto ꝑ trueth. And all that are of the trueth, heare my voyce. Pylate sayde vnto him, what thynge is trueth? And when he had sayde this, he went out agayne vnto the Jewes, ād sayeth vnto thē. * I fynde in him no cause at all. Ye haue
*Mat.xxvii.f Marke. xv.a. Luke.xxiii.f. a custome, that I shulde deliuer you one loose at Easter. Wyll ye that I lose vnto you ꝑ kynge of the Jewes? Then cryed they all agayne, sayinge. & Not hym, but Barrabas: & Actes.iii.c. the same Barrabas was a murtherer.

¶ The. xix. Chapter.

¶ Cryst is crucyfyed. He commytteth hys mother vnto Jhon, dyed, and is buryed.

A
*mat.xxvii.c
Mar.xv.b.
Then Pylate toke Jesu therfore, † scourged hym. * And the soudiers wounde a croune of thornes, and put it on hys hed. And they dyd on him a purple garment, (and came vnto hem) and sayde: hayll kynge of the Jewes: and they smote hym on the face. Pylate wet forth agayne, and sayde vnto them: beholde, I bringe hym forth to you, that ye maye know, that I fynde no faute in hym. Then came Jesus forth, wearynge a croune of thorne, and a robe of purple. And he sayeth vnto the: beholde the mā.
*Mat.xxvii.c
Marke.xv.a.
Luke.xxiii.b.
* When the hye Prestes therfore and ministers sawe hym, they cryed sayinge: crucify him, crucify hym. Pylate sayeth vnto them: Take ye him, and crucify him: for I fynde no cause in him. The Jewes answered him: We
*Leu.xviii.c
haue *a lawe, and by oure lawe he ought to †Joha.v.b.
dye: because † he made him selfe the sonne of
B
God. Whē Pylate hearde ꝑ sayinge, he was the moare afrayde, and went agayne into ꝑ iudgemēt hall, and sayeth vnto Jesus: whēce arte thou? But Jesus gaue him none answere. Then sayde Pylate vnto him: Speakest thou not vnto me? knowest ꝑ not, that I haue power to crucify the, and haue power to loose the? Jesus answered: Thou couldest
*Sapi. vi.a.
John xii.b.
Rome.xiii.a.
haue no power at all agaynst me, * except it were geuen the frō aboue. Therfore he that delyuered me vnto the, hath the moze synne.
*Mat.xxvii.d
Marke.xv.c.
Luke.xxiii.c.
† And from thence forth sought Pylate meanes to loose hym: but the Jewes cryed sayinge: yf thou let him go, thou art not Cesars
C
*Actes.xvii.b
frende. For * whosoeuer maketh hym selfe a kynge, is agaynst Cesar.

Whē Pylate hearde ꝑ sayinge, he brought Jesus forth, and sate downe to geue sentēce, in a place ꝑ is called ꝑ pauement: but in ꝑ he bzue tonge, Gabbatha. It was ꝑ preparyng daye of the easter, aboute ꝑ syxte houre. And he sayeth vnto ꝑ Jewes: beholde youre kyng! They cryed, away wᵗ hī, away wᵗ hī, crucifye him. Pylate saieth vnto thē: shall I crucifye youre kyng? The hye prestes ānswered: we
*Mat.xxvii.d
Marke.xv.c.
Luke.xxiii.c.
haue no kyng but Cesar. * Then delyuered he hym vnto them, to be crucified.
D
*Hebr.xiii.c.
And they toke Jesus, and led hym away. And he bare hys crosse, * and went forth into a place, which is called ꝑ [illegible]te of deed mēs sculles. But (Hebrue, Golgotha: where they crucified hym, and two other with hym, on either syde one, and Jesus in the myddes. And
*mat.xxvii.d
Marke.xv.c.
Luke.xxiii.c.
* Pylate wrote a tytle, † put it on the crosse. The wrytynge was, Jesus of Nazareth kynge of the Jewes. This tytle redd many of the Jewes. For ꝑ place where Jesu was crucifyed, was nye to the cytye. And it was wrytten in Hebrue, and Greke and Latyn. Then sayde the hye prestes of the Jewes to Pylate: wryte not kynge of the Jewes, but that he sayde, I am kynge of the Jewes. Pylate answered: what I haue wryten, that haue I wrytten.

Then the soudiers, * when they had crucifyed Jesus, they toke his garmētes † made foure partes, to euery soudier a parte, † also hys coate. The coate was without seme, wrought vpō thorowe out. They sayd therfore amonge them selues: Lett vs not deuyde it, but cast lotes for it, who shall haue it. That the scrypture myght be fulfylled, sayinge: * They parted myne rayment amonge thē, and for my coate dyd they cast lotes. And the soudiers dyd soch thynges in dede.
E
*mat.xxvii.d
Marke.xv.c.
Luke.xxiii.c.
*Psal.xxii.

There stode by the crosse of Jesus hys mother, and his mothers sister, Mary the wyfe of Cleophas, † Mary Magdalene. Whē Jesus therfore sawe his mother, † ꝑ disciple stōdige * whō he loued, he sayeth vnto his mother: womā: beholde thy sone. Then sayde he to ꝑ disciple: beholde thy mother. And from ꝑ houre the disciple toke her for hys awne.
*John.xix.

After these thinges, Jesus knowinge that all thinges were now perfourmed: ꝑ * the scripture myght be fulfylled: he sayeth: I thyrst
F
*Psal.lxix.c
Do ther stode a vessell by, full of veneger. † Therfore they fylled a spōge with veneger and wounde it about with ysope, and put it to his mouth. As sone as Jesus then receaued of the veneger, he sayde. * It is fynished, † bowed his heed, and gaue vp the goost. The Jewes therfore becaus it was the preparig of the Sabboth, that ꝑ bodyes shuld not remayne vpon the crosse on the sabboth daye (for that sabboth daye was an hye daye) besought Pilate, ꝑ their legges might be brokē and that they might be taken downe. Then came the soudiers, and brake the legges of ꝑ fyrst, and of the other which was crucyfied with him. But when they came to Jesus: ād sawe ꝑ he was deed already, they brake not his legges: but one of the soudiers wᵗ a speare, thrust him into the syde, ād forth with came ther out blonde and water.
† Mat.xxvii.d
Marke.xv.c.
Luke.xxiii.c.
*John.xix.

And he ꝑ sawe it, bare recorde, † hys record
G
is true. And he knoweth ꝑ he sayth true, that ye might beleue also. For these thinges were done, ꝑ ꝑ scripture shulde be fulfylled. † Ye shall not breake a bone of him. And agayne another scripture sayeth: * they shal loke on him, whō they pearced. * After this, Joseph of Aramathia (which was a disciple of Jesus: but secretly for feare of the Jewes) besought Pilate, that he might take downe the body of Jesus. And Pilate gaue him licence.
*Exo.xii.g.
Numer.ix.d.
Jacha.xii.c.
*mat.xxvii.d
Marke.xv.b.
Luke.xxiii.b.
(He came therfore, and toke the body of Jesus) And ther
H
ā also Nicodemus (which at ꝑ begynnynge came to Jesus by night) † brought of myrre and aloes mingled together, aboute an hundred pounde wayght. Then toke they ꝑ body of Jesu, † wounde it in lynnen clothes wᵗ the odoures, as the maner of the Jewes is to bury. And in the place where he was crucified, there was a garden, and in ꝑ garden a newe newe sepulchre, wherin was neuer mā layd. There layde they Jesus therfore, because of ꝑ preparinge of the Sabboth of the Jewes for the sepulchre was nye at hande. ✠

¶ The. xx. Chapter. ✠

¶ The resurrection of Christ, which appeareth to Mary Magdalene and to all hys disciples. to their greate comforte.

A The fyrst daye of the Sabbothes cā Mary Magdalene early (whenit was yet darcke) vnto ꝑ sepulchre, ād sawe the stone taken awaye frō the graue. Then she rāne, and came to Symon Peter, and to the other disciple * whō Jesus loued, ād sayeth vnto thē. They haue takē awaye ꝑ Lorde out of the graue, & we cānot tell where they haue layde him. Peter therfore went forth, & that other disciple, ād came vnto ꝑ sepulchre. They rāne both together, & the other disciple dyd out rūne Peter, & came fyrst to the sepulchre. And whā he had stowped downe he sawe the lynnen clothes lyenge, yet wēt he not in. * Then came Symon Peter, folowinge him, & went into ꝑ sepulchre, & sawe ꝑ lynnen clothes lye, & ꝑ napkin that was aboute his heed, not lyinge wᵗ the lynnen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by it selfe. Then went in also ꝑ other disciple, which came fyrst to ꝑ sepulchre, and ☞ he sawe & beleued. For as yet they knewe not ꝑ * scripture, that he shulde ryse agayne frō deeth. ✠ Then the disciples wēt awaye agayne vnto their awne home.

✠ * Mary stode without at ꝑ sepulcre wepinge. So as she wepte, she bowed her selfe into ꝑ sepulchre, & seeth two angels clothed in whyte, sytting, ꝑ one at the heed & ꝑ other at ꝑ fete, where they had layde the body of Jesu. They saye vnto her, womā, why wepest thou? She sayeth vnto thē: for they haue takē awaye my Lord, & I wote not where they haue layde hi. Whē she had thus sayd, she turned her selfe backe, & sawe Jesus stādinge, and knewe not ꝑ it was Jesus: Jesus sayeth vnto her: woman, why wepest thou? Whō seekest thou? She supposing that he had bene a gardener, sayeth vnto him. Syr: ꝑ haue borne hi hence, tell me wher ꝑ hast layde him, ād I wyll fet him. Jesus sayeth vnto her. Mary. She turned her selfe, & sayd vnto hym: Rabboni, which is to saye, master. Jesus sayeth vnto her, ☞ touche me not, for I am not yet ascended to my father. But go to * my brethre, & saye vnto thē: I ascende vnto my father & youre father: & to my God, & youre God. * Mary Magdalene came & tolde ꝑ disciples, ꝑ she had sene the Lorde, ād that he had spokē soch thinges vnto her. ✠

✠ * The same daye at night which was the fyrst daye of ꝑ Sabothes, when ꝑ doores were shut (where ꝑ disciples were assembled together for feare of ꝑ Jewes) came Jesus, and stode in the myddes, & saieth vnto them: peace be vnto you. And whē he had so sayde, he shewed vnto them his handes, & his syde. Then * were ꝑ disciples glad when they sawe ꝑ Lord. Then sayd Jesus to thē agayne: peace be vnto you. As my father * sent me, euē so sende I you also. And whē he had sayd those wordes, he brethed on them and sayeth vnto them: Receaue ye ꝑ holy goost. Whosoeuers synnes ye remitte, they are remitted vnto them. And whosoeuers synnes ye retayne, they are retayned. ✠

✠ But * Thomas one of ꝑ twelue (which is called Didymus) was not wᵗ thē whē Jesus came. The other disciples therfore sayde vnto hi: we haue sene ꝑ Lorde. But he sayde vnto thē: except I se in hys hādes ꝑ prynt of ꝑ nayles, & put my fynger in to ꝑ prynte of ꝑ nayles, & thrust my hāde into his syde, I will not beleue. And after. viij. dayes, agayne his disciples were wᵗin, & Thomas wᵗ thē. Then came Jesus when ꝑ doores were shut, & stode in the myddes, and sayde: peace be vnto you. After ꝑ sayd he to Thomas: brige thy fynger hether, & se my handes, & reach hyther thy hāde, & thrust it into my syde, & be not fayth lesse, but beleuinge. Thomas answered, and sayde vnto him: my Lorde, & my God. Jesus sayeth vnto hi: Thomas, because ꝑ hast sene me, thou hast beleued, blessed are they that haue not sene, and yet haue beleued. ✠

* And many other synges truly dyd Jesu in the presence of his disciples, which are not writtē in this boke. These are writtē, that ye myght beleue, that Jesus is Christ ꝑ sōne of God, and that (in beleuyng) ye myght haue lyfe thorow hys name.

¶ The. xxj. Chapter. ✠

¶ He appeareth to hys disciples agayne by the see of Tyberias, and commaundeth Peter earnestly to fede hys shepe.

After warde dyd Jesus shewe hym selfe agayne, at the see of Tyberias. And on this wyse shewed he him selfe. There were together Symō Peter & Thomas (which is called Didymus) and * Nathanael of Cana in Galile, and the sonnes of zebeddei, and two other of hys disciples. Simon Peter sayeth vnto them: I wyll go a fishinge. They saye vnto him: we also wyll go with the. They wēt their waye & entred into a shyppe imediatly, & that night caught they nothinge. But when ꝑ morninge was now come, Jesus stode on ꝑ shore: neuertheles the disciples knewe not ꝑ it was Jesus. Jesus sayeth vnto thē: Children, haue ye eny meat? they answered him, no. And he saieth vnto thē: * cast out the net on ꝑ ryght syde of the ship, & ye shall fynde. They cast out therfore, ād anone they were not able to drawe it for the multitude of fyshes.

Then sayde ꝑ disciple * whō Jesus loued vnto Peter: It is ꝑ Lord. Whē Symon Peter heard ꝑ it was ꝑ Lord, he gyrde his coate vnto him vnto him (for he was naked) & ſprãge into ꝑ ſee. The other diſciples came by thyp for they were not farre frõ lande, but as yt were two hõdred cubites, & they drewe ꝑ net wt fiſſhes. Aſſone then as they were come to lãde, they ſawe hoote coles, & fiſſhe layd therõ, & breed.

*Luk.xxiiii.f Jeſus ſayeth vnto thẽ. * bryngeof ꝑ fyſſhe

D which ye haue now caught: Symon Peter went vp, & drewe ꝑ net to londe full of great fyſſches, an hõdred & .liij. And for all ther were ſo many, yet was not the net broke. Jeſus ſayeth vnto thẽ: come & dyne. And none of ꝑ diſcypples durſt aſke hi: what art ꝑ? For they knewe ꝑ it was the Lorde. Jeſus then came, and toke breed, & gaue them, and fiſſhe lyke wyſe. This is nowe the thyrde tyme ꝑ Jeſus appeared to hys diſcypples, after that he was ryſed agayne from deeth. ✠

E So when they had dyned, Jeſus ſayeth to Simõ Peter: Symõ Joãna, loueſt thou me more then theſe? He ſayd vnto hi: ye Lorde, ꝑ knoweſt, ꝑ I loue ꝑ. He ſayeth vnto him: fede my lãbes. He ſayeth to him agayne ꝑ ſecõde tyme: Symon Joãna, loueſt thou me? He ſaieth vnto him. Yee Lorde, ꝑ knoweſt that I loue ꝑ. He ſayde vnto him: fede my ſhepe. He ſayde vnto him ꝑ thyrde tyme: Symõ Joãna, loueſt thou me? Peter was ſory, becauſe he ſayde vnto hym the thyrde tyme: loueſt thou me, and he ſayde vnto hym: Lorde, thou

*John.xxi.g * knoweſt all thinges, thou knoweſt that I loue ꝑ, Jeſus ſaieth vnto him: fede my ſhepe.

F Verely, verely, I ſaye vnto the: whẽ thou waſt yong, ꝑ gerde dſt thy ſelfe, ãd walkedſt whither thou woldeſt: but when thou art olde, * thou ſhalt ſtretche forth thy handes, & another ſhall gyrde the, & leade the whyther thou woldeſt not. That ſpake he, ſygnyfyinge, by what death he ſhuld glorifye God.

*John.xxi.d Actes.xiii.a.

And when he had ſpoken thys, he ſayeth vnto hi: ✠ folowe me. Peter turned about,

*Joh xiii.c. and.xxi.e. and.xx.a.d. and ſawe the diſciple * whom Jeſus loued,

G folowynge (which alſo leaned on hys breſt at ſupper, and ſayde: Lorde, which is he that betrayeth the?) When Peter therfore ſawe him, he ſayeth to Jeſus: Lorde, what ſhall he here do? Jeſus ſayeth vnto hym, If I wyll haue him to tary tyll I come, what is that to the? folowe ꝑ me. Then went thys ſayinge abroade among the brethren, that ꝑ diſcypple ſhulde not dye. Yet Jeſus ſayde not to hym, he ſhall not dye: but yf I wyll ꝑ he tary tyll I come, what is that to ꝑ? The ſame diſcypple is he, which teſtifieth of theſe thynges, and wrote theſe thynges. And we knowe, ꝑ

*Joh.xx.g. hys teſtimony is true. ✠ * There are alſo many other thynges which Jeſus dyd, the which yf they ſhulde be wrytten euery one, I ſuppoſe the worlde coulde not cõtayne the bokes that ſhulde be wrytten.

¶ Here endeth the Goſpell of Sayncte John.

¶ The Actes of the Apoſtles.

¶ The fyrſt Chapter. ✠

¶ The aſcenſyon of Chryſt, Mathias is choſen in the ſteade of Judas.

IN ꝑ former treatyſe (Deare Theophyl) we haue ſpoken of all that Jeſus begãne to do and teache, vntyll the daye i which he was takẽ vp, after that he, thorow the holy gooſt, had geuẽ cõmaundemẽtes vnto the Apoſtles, whom he had choſen: to whom alſo he * ſhewed hym ſelfe alyue after hys paſſion (and that by many tokens) appearynge vnto them fourtye dayes, and ſpeakynge of the kyngdome of God, and gathered them together, * and cõmaunded them, that they ſhulde not departe from Jeruſalẽ: but to wayte for the promyſe of the father * wherof (ſayeth he) ye haue hearde of me. For ‡ John truly baptyſed with water, but ye ſhalbe baptyſed with the holy gooſt after theſe fewe dayes.

A

*John.xx. and.xxi.c. *Lu.xxiiii.

*John.iii. rb.d.xvi.b. ‡John.i.a. Actes.i.a. Matth.iii.b. Luke iii.c.

Whẽ they therfore were come together, they aſked of him, ſayinge: Lorde, wilt thou at this tyme, reſtore agayne the kyngdome to Iſrael? And he ſayde vnto them: * It is not for you to knowe the tymes, or the ſeaſons, which the father hath put i his awne power: but ‡ ye ſhal receaue power after that the holy gooſt is come vpon you. And * ye ſhalbe witneſſes vnto me not onely in Jeruſalem, but alſo in all Jewry and in Samary, and euen vnto the worldes ende.

*Mat.xxiiii. ‡Lu.xxiiii.e Actes.ii.a. *Actes.i.a. John xx.i.

B And when he had ſpoken theſe thynges, whyle they beheld, ‡ he was takẽ vp an hye, & a cloude receaued him vp out of their ſight. And while they looked ſtedfaſtly vp toward heauẽ, as he went, beholde, two men ſtode by them in whyte apparell, which alſo ſayd: ye men of Galile, why ſtande ye gaſynge vp into heauen? This ſame Jeſus which is taken vp from you into heauẽ, * ſhall ſo come, euen as ye haue ſene hi go into heauẽ. ✠ Then returned they vnto Jeruſalem from ꝑ mount (that is called Olyuete) which is frõ Jeruſalẽ, a Saboth dayes iorney. And whẽ they were come in, they went vp into a parler, where abode both * Peter and James, and John and Andrew, Philip & Thomas, Barthelemew ãd Mathew, James ꝑ ſonne of Alpheus, and Simõ zelotes, and Judas the brother of James. Theſe all contynued with one accorde in prayer and ſupplicacyon with the wemen & Mary ꝑ mother of Jeſu, and with hys brethren.

*Dan.vii.b Math.xxiiii. and.xxv.c. Marke.xiii. Luke.xxi.f. Apoca.i.b.

*Math.x.a Marke.iii.f. Luke.vi.b.

C ✠ And in thoſe dayes Peter ſtode vp in the myddes of the diſcypples, and ſayde (the nombre nombre of names that were together, were aboute an hundred and twentye.) Ye men & brethren, thys scripture must haue nedes be fulfylled, which the holy goost thorowe the mouth of Dauid spake before of Judas, * which was gyde to them that toke Jesus. * For he was noumbred with vs, and had obtayned felowshyppe in thys mynystracyon. And the same hath now possessed a plat of grounde with the rewarde of iniquite: and when he was * hanged, he burst a sonder in the myddes, and all his bowels gusshed out. And it is knowen vnto all the inhabiters of Jerusalem: in so moch that the same felde is called in their mother tõge, Acheldama, that is to saye, the blonde felde.

For it is wrytten in ỹ boke of Psalmes: * hys habitacyon be voyde, and no man be dwellynge therin: * and his Bysshoprycke let another take. Wherfore of these mẽ which haue companyed with vs (all the tyme that the Lorde Jesus had all hys conuersacyon amonge vs, begynnynge at the baptyme of John, vnto that same daye that he was take vp from vs) must one be ordeyned, to be a witnes with vs of hys resurrecyon.

And they apoynted two, Joseph which is called Barsabas (whose syr name was Justus) and Mathias. And whan they prayed they sayde: thou Lorde, which * knowest the hertes of all mẽ, shewe whether of these two thou hast chosen: that he maye take the roume of thys mynistracyon and Apostleshyppe, from which Judas by transgressyon fell, that he myght go to hys awne place. And they gaue forth their lottes, and the lot fel on Mathias, and he was counted with the eleuen Apostles. ✠

¶ The .ij. Chapter. ✠

¶ The comyng of the holy goost. The sermon of Peter before the congregacyon at Jerusalem, and the increase of the fayth full.

A When * the fyftye dayes were come to an ende, they were all with one accorde together in one place. And sodenly there came a sounde from heauẽ, as it had bene the commynge of a myghty wynde, and it fylled all the house where they sate. And there appered vnto them clouen tonges, lyke as they had bene of fyer, and it sate vpon eache one of them: * and they were all fylled with the holy goost, and beganne to speake with other tonges, euen as the same spirete gaue them vtteraunce.

There were dwellyng at Jerusalẽ, Jewes, deuoute men, out of euery nacyon of thẽ that are vnder heauen. When thys was noysed aboute, the multitude came together, & were astõyned, because that euery man herde thẽ speake with his awne langage. They wondred all, and marueyled, sayinge among thẽ selues: beholde, are not all these which speake, of Galile? And how heare we euery man his awne tong, wherin we were borne? Parthiãs, and Medes and Elampytes, and the inhabiters of Mesopotamia, and of Jury, and of Capadocia, of Ponthus and Asia, Phrygia, and Pamphilia, of Egypte, and of the partyes of Lybia which is besyde Syrten, ãd straungers of Rome, Jewes & * Prosselites. Gretes and Arabians: we haue herd them speake in oure awne tonges the greate workes of God. ✠ They were all amased, and wondred, sayinge one to another: what meaneth this? Other mocked, sayinge: these men are full of new wyne.

✠ But Peter stepped forth with ỹ elene, and lyft vp his voyce, and sayde vnto them: Ye men of Jewry, and all ye that dwell at Jerusalem: be this knowẽ vnto you, & with poure eares heare my wordes. For these are not dronken, as ye suppose, seynge it is but ỹ thyrde houre of the daye. But this it that which was spoken by the Prophete Joel: And it shalbe in the last dayes, sayth God: of my spirete I wyll powre out vpon all flesshe. * And youre sonnes & youre daughters shall prophesy, and youre yonge men shall se vysyons, and youre olde men shall dreame dreames. And on my seruauntes, & on my hande maydens I wyll powre out of my spirete in those dayes, and they shall prophesye. And * I wyll shewe wonders in heauen aboue, and tokens in the erth beneth, bloud and fyre and the vapour of smoke. The sunne shalbe turned into darcknes, & the moone into blonde, before that great and notable daye of the Lorde come. And it shall come to passe, that * whosoeuer shall call on the name of the Lorde, shalbe saued. ✠

✠ Ye men of Israel, heare these wordes: Jesus of Nazareth a man approued of God amonge you with myracles, wondres and sygnes, which God dyd by hym in the myddes of you (as ye youre selues knowe) hym haue ye taken by the hãdes of vnryghtewes persones, after he was delyuered by the determinat counsell & foreknowledge of God, & haue crucifyed and slayne him: whom God hath rayled vp, & loosed ỹ sorowes of deeth, because it was vnpossible, ỹ he shulde be holdẽ of it. For Dauid speaketh of him. * I fore hande I sawe God alwayes before me: for he is on my ryght hande, that I shulde not be moued. Therfore dyd my hert reioyce, & my tonge was glad. Moreouer also my flesshe shall rest in hope, because thou wilt not leaue my soule in hell, nether wilt thou suffre thine holye to se corruption. Thou hast shewed me the wayes of lyfe, thou shalt make me full of ioye with thy countenaunce. ✠

Ye men and brethren, let me frely speake vnto you of the patriarke Dauid: * for he is both

B

C

D

E

* Psal. xvi.b
* Psal. lxix.b
* Psal. cix.a.
* Act. xvij.b
* Act. xvij.c
* Gen. xxij.b
* Act. xvij.c
* Luke. xxij.c
* Act. xvij.b
* Joel. ij.g.
* Act. xvij.c
Luke. xxij.c
* Rom. x.c
* Psal. xvi.c.
* iij. Reg. ij.b

is both dede and buryed, ād hys sepulchre remayneth with vs vnto this daye. Therfore, seinge he was a Prophet, and knewe þ God had swore with an othe to him, that Christ (as concerninge the flesh) shulde come of the frute of his loynes, and on hys seat, he knowyng this before, spake of the resurrecyon of Chryst, that his soule shulde not be lett in hell: nether hys flesshe shulde se corrupcyon.

*Actes.i.b. This Jesus hath God rayse vp, * wherof we all are witnesses.

Hence now that he by the ryght hande of God exalted is, and hath receaued of the father the promyse of the holy Goost, he hath

B shed forth thys (gyne) which ye now sē ād heare. For Dauid is not ascendyd into heuē:

*Psal cx.a. Math.xxii.b. but he sayeth: * The Lord sayde to my Lorde: syt thou on my ryght hand, vntyll I make thy fooes thy fote stole. Therfore, let all the house of Israel knowe for a suerty, þ God hath made that same Jesus (whom ye haue crucified) Lorde and Chryst.

When they hearde this, they were pricked in their hertes, and sayd vnto Peter, & vnto

*Luke.iii.b. the other Apostles: Ye mē & brethrē * what shall we do? Peter sayde vnto them: repent of youre synnes, and be baptysed euery one of you in the name of Jesus Chryst for the remission of synnes, and ye shall receaue the gyfte of þ holy goost. For the promyse was made vnto you ād to youre chyldren, and to all that are a farre of, euen as many as the Lorde oure God shall call. And with many other wordes bare he witnes, and exhorted them, sayinge: Saue youre selues from this vntowarde generacion. Then they þ gladly receaued his preachinge, were baptised: and

C the same daye, ther were added vnto them aboute thre thousande soules.

And they cōtinued in the Apostles doctrine and felowshyp, & in breakynge of bread, ād in prayers. And feare came ouer euery soule. And many wōdres & signes were shewed by

D þ Apostles. (w at Jerusalem. And great feare came vpon all men) And all that beleued, kept them selues together, & had all thynges cōmen, and solde their possessions and goodes, ād parted them to all men, as euery man had nede. And they continued dayly with one accorde in þ tēple, & brake bread fro house to house, & dyd eate their meate together, w gladnes & singlenes of hert, prayse God, ād had fauoure with all the people. And the Lorde added to þ cōgregacion dayly, soch as shulde be saued.

¶ The.iij. Chapter.

¶ The halt is restored to hys fete. Peter preacheth Christ vnto the people.

JPeter and John went vp together into the temple at the nynth houre of prayer. And a certayne man that was halt from hys mothers wōbe, was brought, whom they layde dayly at the gate of the temple (which is called bewtyfull) to aske almes of them that entred into the tēple. When he sawe Peter and John, that they wolde into the tēple, he desyred to receaue an almes. And Peter fastened his eyes on him with John, & sayd: loke on vs. And he gaue hede vnto thē, trustynge, to receaue some thynge of them. Thē sayde Peter: Syluer and golde haue I none B such as I haue, geue I the. In the name of Jesus Chryst of Nazareth, * ryse vp and * Mar.ii. walke. And he toke hym by the ryght hand, and lyfte hym vp. And immediatly hys fete and ancleboones receaued strength. And he sprange, stode, and walked, and entred with them into the temple, walkynge, and leappynge, and prayesynge God.

And all the people sawe hym walke and prayse God. And they knewe hym, þ it was he, which sate and begged at the beutyfull gate of the temple. And they wondred and were sore astonyed at that which had happened vnto hym. And as the halt which was healed, helde Peter and John, all the people ranne amased vnto thē in * the porche that * (ii. Mar. John.x.c. Actes.v.c. is called Salomons. C

When Peter sawe that, he answered vnto the people. ✠ Ye men of Israel, why marnayle ye at this, or why loke ye so on vs, as though by oure awne power or strength we had made thys man go? The God of Abraham, and of Isaac and of Jacob, the God of oure fathers hath glorified hys sonne Jesus, whom ye delyuered, * and denyed in þ pre- * mat.xxvii. Mar.xv.a. sence of Pylate, when he had iudged hym to Luke.xxiii.c. be loosed. But ye denyed the holy and iust, ‡and desyred a murtherar to be geuen you, ‡Mat.xxvii. and kylled * the Lorde of lyfe, whom God * Joh.viii. hath rayse from deeth, of the which we are witnesses. And hys name thorowe the fayth of his name, hath made this mā sound, whō ye se and knowe. And the fayth which is by hym, hath geuen to hym thys healeth in the presence of you all.

And now brethrē, I wote þ thorow ignorannce ye dyd it, as dyd also youre rulers. But God (which before had shewed, by the mouth of all hys Prophetes, howe þ Chryst shuld suffer) hath thus wyse fulfylled. Let it D * repente you therfore, and conuerte, þ youre * Mat.iii. synnes maye be done awaye ✠ when þ tyme of refreshynge commeth, which we shall haue of the presence of the Lorde, and when God shal sende him, which before was preached vnto you, that is to wit, Jesus Christ, which must receaue heauen vntyll the tyme that all thynges, which God hath spoken by the mouth of all hys holy Prophetes sence þ worlde began, be restored agayne.

Moses truly sayde vnto the fathers: * a *Deu.xviii. Actes.iii.c. Prophet shall the Lorde youre God rayse vp vnto you, euē of youre brethrē lyke vnto me: him me: him shall ye heare, in all thynges whatsoeuer he shall saye vnto you. For the tyme wyll come, that euery soule which wyll not heare that same Prophet, shalbe destroyed

from amonge the people. All the Prophetes also from Samuel and thence forth (as many as haue spokē) haue in lyke wyse tolde of these dayes.

Ye are the chyldren of the Prophetes, and of the couenaunt, which God made vnto
oure fathers, sayinge to Abraham: * Euen
in thy seede shal all the kynredes of the earth be blessed. Vnto whan God had rayled vp hys sonne Jesus vnto you, he sent hi to bless you, that euery one of you shulde turne from his wyckednes. ✠

¶ The.iiij. Chapter.

¶ The Apostles are taken and brought before the councell. They are forbydden to preache, but they turne them vnto prayer, and are more obedient vnto
God then vnto men.

AS they spake vnto the people, the prestes and the rulars of the temple, and the Saduces, came vpon thē, takyng it greuously, that they taught the people, and preached in Jesus the resurrecyon from deeth. And they layde hādes on them, and put them in holde vntyll ỹ nexte daye. for it was now euentyde. Howbeit many of them which hearde the wordes beleued, and the nombre of the men was a-boute fyue thousande.

And it chaunced on the morow, that their rulars and elders and Scribes, (and Annas
the chefe Prest, and Cayphas, and John, ād Alexāder, & as many as were of ỹ kynred of ỹ hye Prestes) gathered together at Jerusalem. And whā they had set them before them they asked * by what power, or in what na me haue ye done this? ✠

Then Peter full of ỹ holy goost sayde vn-
to thē: ye rulars of the people, and elders of Israel, yf we this daye be examined of the good dede that we haue done to the sycke mā
by what meanes he is made whoale: be it knowen vnto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the name of * Jesus Chryst of Nazareth, whom ye crucyfyed, whom God rayled agayne from deeth: euen by him
doth this mā stande here presente before you whoale. * This is the stone which was cast aside of you buylders, which is become the chefe of the corner. Neyther is there saluacyon in eny other. * For amonge men vnder heauen there is genen none other name, wherin
we must be saued. ✠

When they sawe the boldnes of Peter ād
John, and vnderstode that they were vnlear-ned and laye men, they marueyled, and they knewe them, that they had bene with Jesu:
and beholdynge also the man (which was healed) standynge with thē, they coulde not saye agaynst it: but commaunded them to go
aside out of ỹ counsell, and counceled amōge them selues, sayinge: * what shall we do to these men? For a manifest sygne is done by them, and is openly knowen to all them that dwell in Jerusalem, and we cannot denye it.
But that it be noysed no farther amonge the people, let vs threaten and charge thē, ỹ they speake hence forth to no man in thys name.

And they called them, * and commaūded them, that in nowyse they shulde speake nor teach in ỹ name of Jesu. But Peter & John answered and sayde vnto them: whether it be ryght in ỹ sight of God, to herke vnto you more then to God, iudge ye. For we cannot but speake, that which we haue seene & heard.
So threatened they them, and let them go,
and founde nothynge howe to punysshe thē,
because of the people. For all men praysed God because of * ỹ which was done: for the man was aboue fourty peare olde, on whom thys myracle of healynge was shewed.

Assone as they were let go, they came to theyr felowes, and shewed all that the hye Prestes ād elders had sayde. And when they hearde ỹ, they lyfte vp their voyces to God
with one accorde, and sayde: Lorde, thou art God, which hast made heauen and erth, the see, & all that in thē is, which * (in the holy goost)
by ỹ mouth of thy seruaūt Dauid * (oure father) hast sayd: * Why dyd the hethē rage, and the people ymagen vayne thynges? The kynges of the erth stode vp, and the rulars came together, agaynst the Lorde and agaynst
hys anoynted.

For of a trueth, agaynst thy holy chylde
Jesus (whom ỹ hast anoynted) both Herode
and also Poncius Pylate, whith the Gētyls
and the people of Israel, gathered them sel-ues together * (in thys cyte) for to do whatsoeuer thy hande and thy counsell determy-ned before to be done. And now Lorde, be-holde their threatenynges, and graunte vn-
to thy seruauntes, that with all confydence
they maye speake thy worde. So that thou stretche forth thyne hande, that healynge ād sygnes and wonders be done by the name of thy holy chylde Jesus. And assone as they had prayed * ỹ place moued where they were assembled together * and they were all fylled with the holy Goost, and they spake
the worde of God boldely.

✠ And the multitude of them that beleued, * were of one hert, & of one soule. Neyther sayde anye of them, that ought of the thynges which he possessed, was hys awne;
but they had all thinges commen. And with greate power gaue the Apostles wytnes of the resurrecyon of the Lord Jesu. And great grace was with them all. Neyther was ther eny amonge them, that lacked. For as many as were possessers of landes or houses, solde
them, and brought ỹ pryce of ỹ thinges that were solde.

* Gen.xii.a. xxii.b.
* Deut.vi.c. Psalm.cxvi.c. Esay.xlix.b.
* Mat.xxi.b. Marke.xii.a. Luke.xx.c

were solde, ād layed it downe at ꝑ Apostles fete: And distribucion was made vnto euery man accordynge as he had nede. ¶

* Actes.4.b. And * Joses, which was also called of ꝑ Apostles, Barnabas (that is to saye, ꝑ sonne of consolacyon) beynge a Leuite, and of the countre of Cypers whan he had lande, solde it, and layde the prycc downe at the Apostles fete.

¶ The.v. Chapter.

¶ The dyssemblynge of Ananias and Saphyra is punysshed. Myracles are done by the Apostles, which are taken, but the angell of God bryngeth them out of preson. They are brought before the counsell. The sentence of Gamaliel. The Apostles are bett, they stryue in trouble.

A Certayne man named Ananias with Saphyra his wyfe solde a possession, ād kepte awaye parte of the pryce (hys wyfe also beynge of counsell) and brought a certayne parte, and layde it downe at the Apostles fete. But Peter sayde: Ananias, howis it, that Sathan hath fylled thyne hert, that thou shuldest lye vnto the holy goost, and kepe awaye parte of the pryce of the lande? Pertayned it not vnto the onelye? after it was solde, was it not in thyne awne power? Why hast thou conceaued this thinge in thyne herte? Thou hast not lyed vnto mē, but vnto God. Whē Ananias herde these wordes, he fell downe, and gaue vp the goost. And great feare came on all them that herde these thinges. And the yonge men rose vp, and put hym a parte, ād B caryed hym out, and buried hym.

And it fortuned, that (as it were aboute the space of thre houres after) his wyfe came in, ignorannt of that which was done. And Peter sayde vnto her: Tell me, Solde ye not ꝑ lāde for so moch? And she sayd: yee, for so moch. Then Peter sayde vnto her: why haue ye agreed together, to tēpt the spryte of ꝑ Lorde? Beholde, the fete of them which haue buried thy husband, are at the doze, and shall cary the out. Then fell she downe strayght waye at his fete, and yelded vp ꝑ goost. And the yonge men came in, and founde her deed, & caryed her out, & buryed her by her husbande. And great feare came on all the congregacyon, and on as many as herde it.

C

* Mar.9.b. By ꝑ handes of the Apostles * were many tygnes and wondres shewed among the people. And they were all together with one accorde in * Salomons porche. And of other durst no mā ioyne him selfe to thē: neuertheles the people magnified them. The nombred of them that beleued in the Lorde both of men and wemen, grewe mozer moare: in so moch ꝑ they brought the sycke into the stretes, and layde them on beddes and couches, that at the least waye the shadowe of Peter when he came by, myght shadowe some of them,

* Mat.11.b. John.5.c Actes.10.b.

(and that they myght all be delyuered his infirmytyes)

There came also a multitude out of the cyties rounde aboute, vnto Jerusalem, bryngynge sycke folkes, and them which were vexed with vncleane spretes. And they were healed euery one. D

* Then the chefe Prieste rose vp, and all they that were with him (which is the secte of the Saduces) ād were full of indignacio, and layde handes on the Apostles, and put them in the comme preson. * But the angell of the Lorde by nyght opened the preson dores and brought them forth, and sayde: go, and stande, and speake in the temple to the people all ꝑ wordes of this lyfe. When they herde that, they entred into the tēple early in the morynge: and taught. But the chefe prieste came and they that were with him, ād called a counsell together, and all the elders of the chyldren of Israel, and sent men to the preson, to fet them. When the mynysters came, and founde them not in the preson, they returned and tolde, sayinge: the preson truly founde we shut with all diligēce, and the kepers standynge without before the dores. But whē we had opened, we founde no mā with in. When the chefe Prest and the ruler E of the tēple, and the hye Prestes herde these thynges, they douted of thē, wher vnto thys wolde growe.

Then came one and shewed them: beholde, the men that ye put in preson, stande in the temple, and teach the people: Then went the ruler of the temple, with ministres, and brought them without violence. For they feared the people, lest they shulde haue bene stoned. And when they had brought them, they set thē before the counsell. And the chefe Preste asked them, sayinge: * dyd not we straytely commaunde you: that ye shuld not teach in this name? And behold, ye haue fylled Jerusalem with youre doctryne, and intende to brynge * this mans bloud vpō vs. * Mat.27.b

Peter and the other Apostles answered, & F sayde: * We ought more to obey God then mē. The God of oure fathers rayled vp Jesus, whom ye slewe, and hanged on tre. Hym hath God lyft vp with his ryght hand, to be a ruler and a sauiour, for to geue repentaūce to Israel, and forgeuenes of synnes. And we are recordes of these thinges which we saye, and so is also ꝑ holy goost, whom God hath geuen to them ꝑ obey him. Whē they herde that, they claue asunder, and sought meanes to slee them. Then stode ther vp one in the counsell, a Pharysey, named * Gamaliel, a doctoure of lawe (had in reputacyon among all the people) and commaunded ꝑ Apostles to go aside a lytell space, and sayd vnto thē: ye men of Israel, take hede to youre selues, what ye entende to do, as touchynge these mē. For before these dayes rose vp one Thudas, boastynge hym selfe, to whō resorted a G nombre nombre of men, about a foure hodred, which was slayn: and they all which beleued hym, were scatred abrode, and brought to nought

* Iust.xiij.a After this mã, was ther one Judas of * Galile in the dayes of the tribute, and drewe awaye moche people after hym. He also perished and all, euen (as many as harkened to him) were scatered abrode.

And now I saye vnto you: refraine youre selues from these men, and lett them alone. For yf this councel or this worke be of men, it wyll come to naught. But and yf it be of God, ye cannot destroye it, lest haply ye be founde to stryue agaynst God. And to hym agreed the other: and whan they had called
* Acts.iiij.d the apostles, they bet them, * and commaũded that they shulde not speake in the name of Jesu, and let them go.
a Mat.b.b And they departed from the coũsell, Ioyslinge, that they were counted worthy, to suffre rebuke for his name. And dayly in the temple and in euery house they ceased not, to teach and preach Jesus Christ.

¶ The. vj. Chapter.

¶ Ministers (or deacons) are ordeyned in the congregacion to do seruyce in necessary thynges of the body, that the apostles maye wayte onely vpõ the worde of God. Steuen is accused.

A IN those dayes (whã the nomber of the disciples grewe) there arose a grudge amonge the Grekes against the Hebrues, because their weddowes were despysed ☞ in the dayly ministracyon. Then the twelue called the multitude of the disciples together and sayde, it is not mete, that we shuld leaue the worde of God: and serue tables. Wherfore brethren, loke ye out amonge you seuen men * of honeste report, and full of the holy ghost and wisdom,
* 1. Tim. iij. c to whom we maye committe this busynes. B But we wyll geue oure selues cõtinually to prayer, and to the ministracyõ of the worde. And the sayinge pleased the whole multitude. And they chose Steuen a mã full of faith and of the holy ghost, and Philip, and Prochorus, and Nichanor, and Timon, and Permenas, and * Nicolas a cõuert of Antioche.
* Apo. ij. b These they set before the apostles: and when they had prayed, they * layde their handes
* Gen. xxvij. d 1. Timo. iiij. d. 2. Timo. j. d on them.

And the word of God encreased, and the nomber of the disciples multiplyed in Jerusalem greatly, and a greate companye of the
C prestes were obedient to the fayth.

✠ And Steuen, full of fayth and power, dyd great wondres and miracles amõge the people. Then ther arose certen of the Synagoges, which is called the Synagoge of the Libertynes and Cirenytes, and of Alexandria, and of Celicia, and of Asia, disputynge with Steuen. * And they coulde not resyste
* Iohn. xvi. c * Mat. x. a the wisdome, & the spyrete, * which spake.

Then sent they in men, which sayde: we
D have hearde hym speake blasphemous wordes against Moses, and agaynst God. And they moued the people ād the elders and the scribes: and came vpõ him and caught hym, and brought him to the coũcell, and brought forth false witnesse, which sayde: Thys man ceaseth not to speake blasphemous wordes against this holy place and the lawe: for we heard him saye: this Jesus of Nazareth shal destroye this place, and shal chaunge the ordinaunces, which Moses gaue vs. And all that sate in the counsell, loked stedfastly on him, and sawe his face as it had bene the face of an aungell.

The. vij. Chapter.

¶ Steuen maketh answere to hys accusacyon, rebuketh the hardnecked Jewes, and is stoned vnto death.

THen sayd the chefe preste: is it euẽ so? A And he sayd: ye men, brethren and fathers, hearken. The God of glory appeared vnto our father Abraham, whan he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran, and sayd vnto hym: * Get the out * Gene. xij. a of thy countre, and from thy kynred, and come into ỹ land, which I shall shewe ỹ. Then came he out of the lãde of Chalde, and dwelt in Charran. And from thence, whan hys father was deed, he brought him into this lãde in which ye now dwel, and he gaue hym none inheritaunce in it, no not the bredeth of a fote: * and promysed that he wold geue it to * Gene xij. b xiij. c. xvij. d and. xxvj. a him to possesse & to his seed after hym, when as yet he had no chylde.

God verely spake on thys wise * that his * Gene. xv. c seade shulde sogeourne in a straunge lande, & that they shulde kepe them in bondage, and * entreate them euell. iiij. C. yeares. And the * Exo. xij. c Jud. v. b nacyon (to whom they shalbe in bondage) Gala. iij. c will I iudge, sayd God. And after that shal B they come forth and serue me in thys place. * And he gaue him the couenaunt of circuncisyon. & And he begat Isaac, and circumcised him the eight daye. ād * Isaac begat Jacob, and & Jacob begat the twelue patriarckes. * And the patriarkes hauing indygnacyon solde Joseph into Egypte. And God was with hym, and delyuered hym out of al his aduersities, and gaue him fauour & wysdome in the syght of Pharao kynge of Egypte. And he * made hym gouernoure ouer * Gene. xl. c Egypte, and ouer all hys housholde.

& But ther came a derth ouer all the land & Gene. xlj. g of Egypt and Canaan, and great affliccion that our fathers coũde no sustenaunce. But when Jacob hearde that there was corne in Egypt he sent our fathers first. * And at the * Gene. xlv. a second tyme, Joseph was knowe of his brethren, & Josephs kynred was made knowne vnto Pharao. Then sent Joseph a message, and caused hys father to be brought, and all his kynne. lxxv. ☞ soules. * And Jacob de- D * Gen. xlvi. a scended into Egypte * and dyed both he and & Gene. xlix. b

oure fathers, and were caryed ouer into Sichem, and layde in the sepulchre, *that Abraham bought for money of ꝑ sones of Emor, ☞ the sonne of Sichem.

E But when the tyme of the promesse drue nye (which God had swore to Abrahā) * ꝑ people grewe & multiplyed in Egipt, tyll another kyng arose which knewe not of Joseph. The same dealt suttelly with oure kynred, and cruell intreated our fathers, and made them cast out their yonge children, that they shulde not remayne alyue. * The same tyme was Moses borne, and was acceptable vnto God, and nourysshed vp in hys fathers house thre monethes. Whē he was cast out, Pharoes daughter toke him vp, & nourysshed hym vp for her awne sonne. And Moses was learned in all manr wysdome of the Egypcians, and was mighty in dedes and in wordes.

And whan he was full fourty yere old, it came into his hert, to vyset hys brethren the children of Israell. And whē he sawe one of them suffre wrong, he defended him, & auenged hys quarell that had the harme done to him, and smote the Egypcian. For he supposed hys brethren wolde haue vnderstande, how that God by hys hande shulde delyuer them. But they vnderstode not.

D And the nexte daye he shewed him selfe vnto them as they stroue, and wolde haue sett them at one agayne, sayinge: Syrs, ye are brethrē, why hurte ye one another? But he ꝑ dyd hys neyghboure wronge, thrust hym awaye, sayinge: * who made the a ruler and a iudge ouer vs? wilt thou kyll me, as thou dydest the Egypcia yesterdaye? + Then fleed Moses at that saying, and was a straunger in the land of Madian, where he begat two sonnes.

* And whan fourty yeares were expired, there appeared to hym in the wildernesse of mount Sina an angell of the Lord in a flame of fyre in a bushe. When Moses sawe it, he wondred at the syght. And as he drue neare to beholde, the voyce of the Lord came vnto hym. * I am the God of thy fathers, ꝑ God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. Moses trembled, and durst not beholde. Thē sayd ꝑ Lorde to him: + Put of thy shoes frō thy fete, for the place where thou standest, is holy grounde. I haue perfectlye sene the affliccyon of my people, which is in Egypte, and I haue heard their gronyng, ād am come downe to delyuer the. And nowe come, and I wyll sende the into Egypte.

E This Moses whō they forsoke (saying: * who made the a ruler and a iudge?) the same dyd God sende to be a ruler and a delyuerer, by the handes of the aungell which appeared to hym in the bushe. And the same brought them out, shewynge wondres and signes in Egypt, and in the red see, and in the wyldernes fourty yeres. Thys is that Moses, which sayde vnto the children of Israel: * A prophete shall the Lord your God rayse vp vnto you of your brethren, like vnto me, him shall ye heare.

This is he + that was in the congregacīō, in the wildernes with the angel (which spake to hym in the mount Sina) and with our fathers. This man receaued the word of life to geue vnto vs, to whom our fathers wold not obey, but cast it from them, and in their hertes turned backe agayne into Egypt, sayinge vnto Aaron: + make vs goddes to go before vs. For as for thys Moses ꝑ brought vs out of the lande of Egypte, we wote not what is become of hym. And they made a calfe in those dayes, and offered sacrifyce vnto the ymage, and reioysed ouer the workes of their awne handes.

F Then God turned hym selfe, and * gaue them vp, that they shulde worshyp the hoost of the skye, as it is writtē in the booke of the prophetes. * O ye of the house of Israel, gaue ye to me sacrifyces and meate offerynges by the space of fourty yeares in the wyldernes? And ye toke vnto you the tabernacle of ☞ Moloch, and the starre of youre God Rempham, fygures which ye made to worshyp them. And I will translate you beyōde Babylon.

Oure fathers had the tabernacle of witnes in the wyldernesse, as he had appoynted them speakyng vnto Moses: + that he shulde make it, accordyng to the fassyon that he had sene. Which tabernacle also oure fathers that cam after, * brought in with Josue into the possession of the Gentyls, whom God draue out before the face of oure fathers, vnto the tyme of Dauid: * which founde fauoure before God, and wold fayne haue founde a tabernacle for the God of Jacob. * But Salomon bylt him an house.

+ Howbeit he that is hyest of al, dwelleth not in tēples made with handes, as sayth the prophete: * heauen is my seate, and earth is my fote stole. What house wyll ye bylde for me, sayth ꝑ Lorde? or which is ꝑ place of my rest: hath not my hād made al these thinges?

Ye stiffenecked and of vncircumcised hertes and eares: ☞ ye haue allwayes resysted the holy ghost: * as youre fathers dyd, so do ye. Which of the prophetes haue not your fathers persecuted? And they haue slaine them which shewed before of the comming of that Just, whom ye haue nowe betrayd, ād murdred. And ye also haue receaued ꝑ lawe * by the mynystracyon of aungels, and + haue not kept it.

✠ When they heard these thinges, their hertes clawe asunder, and they gnasshed on hym

him with theyr teth. But he beyng ful of the holy ghost, loked vp stedfast lye w̄ hys eyes into heauē, and sawe the glorye of God, and Jesus standyng on the ryght hande of God, and sayd: beholde, I se the heauens open, and the sonne of man standyng on the right hand of God. Then they gaue a shout with a loud voyce, and *stopped theyr eares, and ranne vpon him all at once, and cast hym out of the cytie, and *stoned him. And the witnes layd downe theyr clothes at a yong mannes fete, whose name was Saul. And they stoned Stephē callynge on and sayinge: Lorde Jesu, *receaue my spyrete. And he kneled downe & cryed with a loude voyce: Lorde, *lay not thys synne to theyr charge. And whē he had thus spoken, he fell a slepe. ✠

*Phil.bviii.a
Psal.cxxi.b
*Phil.xxvi.a Luke.xxiij.c

¶ The.viij. Chapter.

¶ Saul persecuteth the Christen. The apostles are scatred abrode. Philip commeth into Samaria. Simon Magus is baptysed, he dyssembleth. Philip baptyseth the chamberlayn.

AND Saul * consented vnto hys death. And at ỹ tyme there was a greate persecucyon agaynst the congregacyon which was at Jerusalem, ād they were all * scatered abrode thorowout ỹ regyons of Jewry and Samaria, except the apostles. But deuout men dyd bury Steuen, and made great lamentacyon ouer hym. As for Saul he *made hauocke of the cōgregacyon, and entred into euery house, and drew out both men and women, and thrust them into prison. Therfore, they that were scatered abrode, went euery where preachyng the worde of God.

*Actes.xxvi.b
Mat.x.c.
Actes.xi.a
*Actes.ix.a
viii.c.xxvi.b
1 Cor.xv.b
Gala.i.c
Mat.xvi.b

✠ Then came Philip into a cytie of Samaria, & preached Christ vnto them. And the people gaue hede vnto those thynges which Philip spake w̄ one accord, hearyng & seyng the myracles whych he dyd. For *vncleane spyretes cryinge with loude voyce, came out of many ỹ were possessed of thē. And many taken w̄ palsyes, & many ỹ halted, were healed. And ther was great ioye in that cyte. ✠

But ther was a certen mā called Symō, which before tyme in ỹ same cytye vsed witchecrafte, and bewitched the people of Samary, saying that he was a man that coulde do great thynges. Whom they regarded, frō the lest to ỹ greatest, sayinge: this man is the power of God, which is called greate. And him they sett moche by, because that of longe tyme he had bewitched them with sorceries. But assone as they gaue credence to Philippes preachyng of the kyngdome of God, & of the name of Jesu Christ, they were baptysed both men & wemen. Then Simon hym selfe beleued also. And whan he was baptised, he cōtinued w̄ Philip, and wondred, beholding the miracles & sygnes, which were shewed.

✠ When the apostles which were at Jerusalē herd saye, that Samary had receaued the word of God, they sent vnto thē Peter & John. Which whan they were come downe, prayed for thē, ỹ they might receaue the holy ghost. For as yet he was come on noone of thē: but they were baptysed onely in ỹ name of Christ Jesu. * Then layd they their hādes on them, & they receaued the holy ghost. ✠

*Actes.viii.b xiii.a.xix.a 1.Timo.iii.b and.v.d
Num.xi.b vii.
ii.Timo.i.b.

Whē Simō sawe that thorow laying on of the apostles hādes, the holy ghost was geuen, he offered them money, saying: geue me also this power, that on whom soeuer I put the handes, he maye receaue the holy ghost. But Peter sayd vnto him: thy money perysshe with the, because thou hast thought * ỹ the gift of God maye be obteyned with money. Thou hast nether parte, nor felowshyp in thys busynes. For thy hert is not ryght in the syght of God. Repente therfore of thys thy wyckednes, & praye God, ỹ the thought of thyne herte maye be forgeuen the. For I perceaue that thou art full of bitter gall, and wrapped in iniquite.

*Mat.x.b

Then answered Simon & sayde: *praye ye to the Lorde for me, ỹ none of these thynges which ye haue spoken, fall on me. And they when they had testifyed and preached ỹ worde of God, returned towarde Jerusalē, and preached the gospell in many cyties of the Samaritans.

*Gen.xviii.b
Roma.viii.b
iii.Reg.xvii.b
Luke.xvi.c

✠ The aungell of the Lorde spake vnto Philip, sayng: aryse, & go toward the south vnto the waye that goeth downe from Jerusalem vnto the cyte of Gaza, which is in the desert. And he arose, & went on. And behold, a man of Ethiopia (a chāberlene, & of greate auctorite with Cādace quene of the Ethiopians, & had the rule of al her treasure *came to Jerusalem for to worshyp. And as he returned home agayne sytting in hys charet, he red Esay the prophete.

*iii.reg.viii.c
John.xii.c

Then the spyrete sayd vnto Philip: go neare, and ioyne thy selfe to ponder charet. And Philip ran to hym, and heard him reade the prophete Esay, and sayd: Vnderstādest thou what thou readest? And he said: How can I, except I had a gyde? And he desyred Philip, that he wolde come vp, and sytt with hym. The tenoure of the scripture which he read, was this: * he was led as a sheepe to be slayne: and lyke a lambe domme before his shearer, so opened he not his mouth. Because of hys humblenes, he was not esteemed. But who shal declare hys generacyō? for his lyfe is taken frō the earth. The chamberlayn answered Philip, and sayd: I praye the of whō speaketh the prophete thys? of hym selfe, or of some other man?

*Esa.liii.c

Philip opened hys mouth, and began at the same scripture, and preached vnto hym Jesus. And as they wēt on theyr waye, they cam vnto a certē water, and the chāberlayne sayd:

*Actes.8.g

re sayd: Se, here is water * what doth let me
G to be baptysed? Philip sayde vnto him: If ꝑ beleue with all thyne hert, thou mayest. And he answered, and sayde: I beleue that Jesus Christ is the sonne of God. And he commaunded the charet to stande styll. And they went downe both into the water: both Philip and also the chamberlayn, and he baptysed hym.
And assone as they were come out of ꝑ water, the spyrete of ꝑ Lord caught awaye Philip, and the chamberlayn sawe him nomore.
And he went on hys waye reioysinge: but Philip was founde at Azotus. And he walked thoro yout the coast preachyng in all the cyties, tyll he came to Cesarea. ✠

CThe.ix. Chapter.✠

CPaul is conuerted, and confoundeth the Jewes.
Peter rayseth Tabytha.

A AND Saul yet brethyng out threat-nynges and slaughter agaynst the disciples of the Lorde, wente vnto
the hye preste, and desyred of hym
letters, to cary to Damasco, to the synago-
*Actes.xxii.a xxvi.a xxvi.b 1.Cor.xv.b Gala.i.c ges. * that yf he founde any of thys waye, (whyther they were me or wemē) he myght bringe them bounde vnto Jerusalem. And when he iorneyed, it fortuned that as he was nye to Damasco, sodenly there shyned round about hym a lyght from heauen, and he fell *Actes.xxii.b to the earth and hearde a voyce, sayinge to hi: * Saul Saul, why persecutest thou me?
And he sayde: what art thou Lorde? And the Lorde sayd: I am Jesus, whom thou persecutest. It is hard for the to kycke agaynst the pryckes. And he both trēblynge, & astonyed *Luke.iii.b. Actes.ii.f and xxvi.f sayde: Lorde, * what wylt thou haue me to do? And the Lord sayd vnto hym: aryse, and go into the cytie, and it shalbe told the, what thou must do.

B The men which iorneyed with hym, stode amased, hearynge a voyce, but seynge no man. And Saul arose from the earth, & whē he opened his eyes, he sawe no mā. But they led hym by the hande, and brought hym into Damasco. And he was thre dayes without syght, and nether dyd eate nor drynche. And ther was a certen disciple at Damasco, named Ananias, and to him sayd the Lord in a vysyon: Ananias? And he sayd: behold, I am here Lorde. And the Lorde sayde vnto hym: aryse, and go into the strete (whych is called straycht) and seke in the house of Judas
*Actes.xxi.g and.xxii.a. after one called Saul * of Tharsus. For behold, he prayeth, and hath sene in a vision a man named Ananias comyng into him, and puttyng hys handes on hym, that he myght receaue his syght.

Then Ananias answered: Lorde, I haue
*Actes viii.a xxii.xxvi.b i.Cor.xv.b Gala.i.c heard by many of this mā * how moch euyll he hath done to thy saynctes at Jerusalem: &
here he hath auctorite of the hye prestes, to C bynde all that call on thy name. The Lorde vnto him: go thy waye, for he is a chosen vessel vnto me, to beare my name before ꝑ Gētyls, and kynges, and the chyldren of Israel.
For I wyll shewe hym, how greate thinges
*Actes xxi.
ii.Cor.xi.f
*Actes xxii.
* he must suffre for my names sake.

* And Ananias wēt his waye, and entred
into the house, and put hys handes on hym,
and sayd: brother Saul, the Lord that apperyd vnto the in ꝑ waye as thou camest, hath sent me, ꝑ thou myghtest receaue thy syght,
and be fylled with the holy ghost. And im-mediatly ther fell frō hys eyes as it had bene scales, and he receaued syght: and arose, and was baptised, and receaued meate and was comforted. Then was Saul a certen dayes D with the disciples which were at Damasco.
And straight waye he preached Christ in the Synagoges, howe that he was the sonne of God, but all that heard him, were amased, & sayd: is not this he, that spoyled them which called on this name in Jerusalem, and came hyther for that entent, that he myght bring thē bounde vnto the hye prestes? But Saul encreased the more in strength, & confoūded
the Jewes which dwelt at Damasco, affyr-minge that this was very Christ. ✠

And after a good whyle, the Jewes toke councell together, to kill him. But their lay-inge awayte was knowen of Saul. And they watched the gates daye and nyght to kyll hi. * Then ꝑ disciples toke him by night
*II.Cor.xi.a i.Reg.xix.i and put hym thorowe the wall, and let hym
E downe in a basket.

And when Saul was come to Jerusalē,
he assaide to couple him selfe to the disciples:
but they were all afrayde of hym, & beleued not ꝑ he was a disciple. But Barnabas toke hym, & brought hym to the apostles, & declared to thē, howe he had sene the Lorde in the waye, and that he had spoken to him, & how he had done boldely at Damasco in the name of Jesu. And he had hys conuersacyon with them at Jerusalem, speakynge boldly in the name of the Lorde Jesu. And he spake & disputed agaynst the Gretes: but they wente
about to slee hym. Which when the brethren knewe, * they brought hym to Cesarea, and *Actes xxii
sent him forth to Tharsus. Then had the cōgregacyons rest thoro yout all Jewry, and Galile, and Samary, and were edifyed, and walked in the feare of the Lord, and multy-
plied by the comfort of the holy ghost.

And it chaūced as Peter walked through out all quarters, he cam also to the saynctes, which dwelt at Lydda. And there he founde
a certen man name Eneas, which had kepte his bed eyght yeares, and was sycke of the palsye. And Peter sayde vnto hym: Eneas?
The Lord Jesu Christ make the whole: arys-
e, and make thy bed. * And he arose imme-
*Mat.ix
Mar.ii.b
Luke.v.f
John.v.b
Actes.iii.b diatly. And all that dwelt at Lidda and Al-saron sawe him, and tourned to the Lorde.

There was

There was at Joppa a certen woman, a disciple named Tabitha (which by interpretacyon is called Dozcas) the same was full of good wozkes and almes dedes, which she dyd. And it chaunsed in those dayes that she was sycke, & dyed. Whō when they had welshed, they layd her in a chamber. But foz as moch as Lydda was nye to Joppa, and the disciples had heard þ Peter was there, they sent vnto him, desyzinge him, that he wolde not be greued to come vnto them.

Peter arose, & came with them. And whē he was come, they bzought him into the chāber. And all the widdowes stode roūd about him, weppynge, and shewyng the coates and garmentes, which Dozcas made, whyle she was with thē. And Peter put thē all fozth, and kneled downe, and prayde. and turned him to the body, and sayd: Tabitha, *aryse. And she opened her eyes, and when she sawe Peter, she sat vp. And he gaue her the hand. and lyft her vp. And whan he had called the sayntes and widdowes, he shewed her alyue. And it was knowne thozowout al Joppa, & many beleued on the Lozde. And it fortuned, that he taryed many dayes in Joppa, with one Simon a tanner.

3.Kyng.xvij.d iij.Reg.xxi.f.
Mat.ix.c

The.x.Chapter.

¶ The vysion that Peter sawe. How he was sent to Cornelius. The heathen also receaue the ghoste, and are baptysed.

There was a certen man in Cesarea called Cornelius, a captayn of the soudyers of Italy, a deuote mā, & one that feared God with all hys houshold, which gaue moch almes to the people, and prayde God all waye. The same sawe by a vision euidētly (about the ninth houre of the daye) an angel of God commynge into him, and sayinge vnto him: Cornelius. When he loked on hym, he was afrayde, ād sayd: what is it Lozde? he sayde vnto him: Thy prayers & *thy almes dedes are come vp into remēbraunce before God. And now sende men to Joppa, & call foz one Symon, whose syrname is Peter. He lodgeth wone Simon a tanner, whose house is by the see syde. he shall tell þ, what thou oughtest to do. And when the angell which spake vnto hym, was departed, he called two of hys houshold seruauntes, and a deuoute soudier of them that wayted on him, and tolde them all the matter, and sent them to Joppa.

*Ge.xxxv.a.

On þ morowe as they went on their iozney, and drewe ny vnto the cytie, Peter wēt vp * vpon the toppe of the house to praye, about the syxt houre. And whē he wered an hōgred, he wolde haue eatē. But whyle they made ready, he fell into a traunce, and sawe heauen opened, and a certen vessell come downe vnto hym, as it had bene a great shete, knyt at the foure cozners, and was let downe to the earth, wherin were * all maner of fourfoted beastes of the earth, & vermen and wozmes & foules of the ayer. And ther came a voyce to hi, rise Peter, kyl & eate. But Peter sayd: not so Lozde, foz I haue neuer eaten eny thinge that is cōmen oz vncleane. And þ voyce spake vnto him agayne the second tyme: * what God hath clensed, that call not þ cōmen. This was done thryse, and the vessell was receaued vp agayne into heauen.

*Leui.xi.a Deu.xiiij.a

*Math.xv.b
Roma.xiiij.c

Whyle Peter also mused in him self what thys vysyon (which he had sene) meant: behold, the men which were sent from Cornelius had made inquirance foz Simōs house, and stode before the doze: and called out one, and asked whether Simon which was syrnamed Peter were lodged there. Whyle Peter thought on the vysyon, þ spyrite sayd vnto him: behold, men seke the: aryse therfoze, and get the downe, & go with them, & dowte not foz I haue sent them. Peter went downe to the men which were sent vnto hym frō Cornelius and sayd: Behold, I am he whō ye seke, what is the cause wherfoze ye are come? They sayd: Cornelius þ captayne a iust mā, and one that feareth God, & of good reporte amonge all the people of the Jewes, was warned by an holy angell to sende foz the into his house, & to heare wordes of the. Then called he them in, * and lodged them.

*Gene.xix.a
D

And on the morowe, Peter went awaye with them, and * certayn brethren frō Joppa accompanyed hym. And the thyrde daye entred they into Cesarea. And Cornelius wayted foz them, and had called togeather hys kynsmen, and speciall frendes. And as it chaunsed Peter to come in, Cornelius mete hym, and fell downe at hys fete, & worshypped hym. But Peter toke hym vp, sayinge: stande vp, * I my selfe also am a man. And as he talked with him, he came in, and founde many that were come together. And he sayde vnto them: Ye knowe how that * it is a vnlawful thinge foz a mā that is a Jewe, to company oz come vnto an alient: but God hath shewed me, that I shulde not call any man commen oz vncleane: therfoze came I vnto you without delaye, assone as I was sent foz. I aske therfoze, foz what intent haue ye sent foz me.

*Actes.xi.b

*Actes.x.xiiij.d
Apo.xix.b
and.xxi.d

*Deu.vij.a

And Cornelius sayd: This daye now .iiij. dayes about this houre, I sat fasting, and at the nynthe houre I prayde in my house: and behold, a man stode before me in bryght clothynge, and sayde: Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thyne almes dedes are had in remembraunce in the syght of God. Sēde men therfoze to go to Joppa, and call foz Symō, whose syrname is Peter. He is lodged in the house of one Symon a tāner by the see syde: which assone as he is come, shall speake vnto the. Then sent I foz the immediatly, & thou haſt well downe, that thou art come. Nowe therfore are we all here preſent before God, to heare all thinges that are cõmaunded vnto the of God.

Then Peter opened his mouth, & ſayde: Of a treuth I perceaue that * there is no reſpect of perſones with God, † but in all people, he that feareth hym, and worketh rygh-tewelnes, is accepted with him.

Ye knowe the preachynge that God ſent vnto the chyldren of Iſrael, preachyng peace by Jeſu Chriſt, which is Lord ouer all thynges. ✠ Which preachynge was publiſhed * throwout all Jewry (and * began in Galile, after the baptyme which Johñ preached) how * God anoynted Jeſus of Nazareth wᵗ the holy ghoſt, and with power. Which Jeſ' went about doynge good, and healynge all ꝑ were oppreſſed of the deuyll, for God was with him. And we are witnes of all thinges which he dyd in the lande of the Jewes and at Jeruſalem: whom they ſlewe, and hãged on tre. Him God rayſed vp the thyrd daye, & ſhewed him openly, not to all the people, but vnto vs witneſſes (choſen before of God for the ſame intent) which dyd eate & dryncke wᵗ him, after he aroſe * frõ deeth. ✠ And he cõmaunded vs to preach vnto the people, and to teſtify that it is he, which was ordened of God to be the iudge of quycke and deed. To hym geue * all the prophetes witnes, ꝑ throwe hys name whoſoeuer beleueth in him, ſhall receaue remiſſyon of ſynnes. ✠

Whyle Peter yet ſpake theſe wordes, * ꝑ holy ghoſt fell on all thẽ which heard ꝑ preachyng. And they of the circũciſyon which beleued, were aſtõied, as many as came with Peter, becauſe that on the Gentils alſo was ſhed out the gyft of the holy ghoſt. For they heard them ſpeake with tonges, & magnify God. Then anſwered Peter: * can eny man forbyd water, ꝑ theſe ſhuld not be baptyſed, which haue receaued the holy ghoſt as well as we? And he cõmaunded thẽ to be baptyſed in the name of the Lord. ✠ Then prayd they him, to tary a few dayes.

¶ The .xj. Chapter.

¶ Peter sheweth the cauſe wherfore he went to the heathẽ. Barnabas and Paul preach vnto the heathen. Agabus prophecieth derth for to come.

AND the Apoſtles and brethrẽ that were in Jewry, heard ꝑ the heathẽ had alſo receaued ꝑ word of God. And whẽ Peter was come vp to Jeruſalem, they that were of the circumciſiõ contended againſt hym, ſayng: * Thou wẽteſt into men vncircumciſed, and dydeſt eate with them.

But Peter rehearſed the matter from the begynning, and expounded it by order vnto them, ſayinge: * I was in ꝑ cytie of Joppa, prayeng: and in a traunce, I ſawe a viſyon, a certen veſſel deſcende, as it had bene a great ſhete, let downe frõ heauen by the foure corners, & it came to me. Into the which whẽ I had faſtened myne eyes, I conſidred, & ſawe * fourfoted beaſtes of the earth, and vermẽ and wormes, and foules of the ayer. And I heard a voyce ſaying vnto me: aryſe Peter, ſley, and eate. But I ſayde: not ſo Lorde, for nothynge comen or vncleane hath at eny tyme entred into my mouth. But ꝑ voyce anſwered me agayne from heauen: count not ꝑ thoſe thinges comen, which God hath cleẽſed. And this was done thre tymes. And all were taken vp agayne into heauen.

And beholde, immediatly ther were thre men all ready come vnto the houſe where I was, ſent frõ Ceſarea vnto me. And the ſpyrite ſayd vnto me, that I ſhuld go with thẽ, without doutynge. Moreouer, * theſe syx brethren accõpanyed me, and we entred into the mans houſe. And he ſhewed vs, howe he had ſene an aungel in his houſe, which ſtode and ſayd to him: ſend men to Joppa, and call for Simõ, whoſe ſyrname is Peter: he ſhall tell the wordes, wherby both thou and all thyne houſe ſhalbe ſaued. And as I beganne to preach, ꝑ holy ghoſt fell on them, * as he dyd on vs at the begynninge. Then came it to my remembraunce, howe that the Lorde ſayd: * John baptiſed wᵗ water, but ye ſhalbe baptiſed with the holy ghoſt. For aſmoch then as God gaue thẽ lyke gyftes, as he dyd vnto vs, when we beleued on the Lord Jeſ' Chryſt: what was I, ꝑ I ſhulde haue withſtande God? When they heard this, they helde theyr peace, and glorifyed God, ſayinge: then hath God alſo to the Gentyls graũted repentaunce vnto lyfe.

* They alſo which were ſcattred abrode throwow the affliccyõ that aroſe about Steuen, walked throwout vnto Phenices and Cypers, and Antioche, preachinge the worde to no mã, but vnto the Jewes onely ſome of them were men of Cypers & Syren: which whẽ they were come to Antioche, ſpake vnto the Grekes, and preached the Lorde Jeſ'. And the hande of the Lorde was with them, & a greate nombre beleued and turned vnto the Lorde.

Tydinges of theſe thinges came vnto the eares of the congregacyõ, which was in Jeruſalẽ. And they ſent forth Barnabas, ꝑ he ſhulde go vnto Antioche. Which when he came, & had ſene the grace of God, was glad, & * exhorted them all, ꝑ with purpoſe of hert, they wold cõtynually cleaue vnto the Lord: For he was a good man, and full of the holy ghoſt & of faith: and moch people was added vnto ꝑ Lorde. Then departed Barnabas to Tharſus, for to ſeke Saul. And whẽ he had founde him, he brought him vnto Antioche.

And it

And it chaunsed that a whole yeare they had their conuersacion with the congregaciō there, and taught moch people: in so moch, ꝑ the disciples of Antioche were the fyrst that were called Christen.

* Actes.xi.d * In those dayes came prophetes frō the cytie of Jerusalem vnto Antioche. And there stode vp one of thē named Agabus, and signified by the spyrite, ꝑ there shuld be greate derth thorow out all the worlde, which came to passe in the Emperoure Claudius dayes. Then the disciples euery man accordynge to his abylyte, purposed to sende * socour vnto the brethren which dwelt in Jewry. Which thinge they also dyd, and sent it to the elders by the handes of Barnabas and Saul.

* 1.Cor.xvi.a 2.Cor.viij.a and.ix.a

¶ The.xij.Chapter. ✠

¶ Herode persecuteth the Christen. Killeth James, and putteth Peter in prison, whom the Lorde delyuereth by an aungell. The shamefull death of Herode.

AT the same tyme Herode the kyng stretched forth hys handes to vexe certen of the congregacyon. And he kylled * James ꝑ brother of John with the swerd. And because he sawe that it pleased the Jewes, he proceded farther, and toke Peter also. Then were ꝑ dayes of swet bread. And when he had caught hym, he put hi in prison also, & delyuered him to.iiij. quaternions of soudiers to be kepte, entendynge after Ester to bringe him forth to the people. And Peter was kepte in prison. But prayer was made without ceasynge of the congregacyon, vnto God for hym. And when Herode wolde haue brought him oute vnto the people, the same nyght slepte Peter betwene two soudiers, bounde with two chaynes, ād the kepers before the dore kepte the prison.

* Actes.iiij.c and.xvij.d

* Actes.v.d And behold, * the angel of the Lord was ther present, and a lyght shyned in the habytacyon. And he smote Peter on the syde, and steryd him vp, sayinge: aryse vp quickly. And his cheynes fell of frō his handes. And the angel sayd vnto hym: gyrde thy selfe, ād bynde on thy ☞ sandales. And so he dyd. And he sayth vnto him: cast thy garment about the, & folowe me. And he came out & folowed hi, and wyst not that it was trueth which was done by the angell, but thought he had sene a vysyon. When they were past ꝑ fyrst and the secōde watch, they came vnto the yron gate, that leadeth vnto the cytie, * whych opened to them by the awne accorde. And they wēt oute, and passed thorow one strete, and forth with, the angell departed from him.

* Actes.v.d and.xvj.f

And whan Peter was come to him selfe, he sayd: nowe I knowe of a surety, that the Lorde hath sent his angell, and hath delyuered me out of the hande of Herode, and from all the wayting for, of the people of the Jewes. ✠ And as he cōsydred the thynge, he came to ꝑ house of Mary ꝑ mother of one John, whose syrname was Marke, where many were gathered togeather * in prayer. As Peter knocked at the entry dore, a damsell came forth to herke, named Rhoda. And whē she knew Peters voyce, she opened not the entry for gladnes, but ran in, & told how Peter stode before the entry. And they sayde vnto her: thou art mad: But she affirmed ꝑ it was euen so. Then sayd they: it is hys angel. But Peter cōtynued knockinge: & when they had opened the dore, ād sawe him, they were astonyed. * And whan he had beckned vnto them with the hande, that they myght holde theyr peace, he tolde thē by what meanes the Lorde had brought hi out of the prison. ✠ And he sayde: go shewe these thinges vnto James and to the brethren. And he departed, and went into another place.

* Actes.xij.c

Assone as it was daye, ther was no litel ado among the soudiers, what was become of Peter. When Herode had sought for him, and foūde hym not, he examined the kepers, and commaunded them to be caryed awaye. And he descended from Jewry to Cesarea, & ther aboode. Herode was displeased wt them of Tyre and Sidō. But they came all with one accorde, & made intercession vnto Blastus the kynges chamberlayne, and desyred peace, because their coūtre was norysshed by the kynges prouysyon. And vpō a daye appoynted, Herode arayed him in royall apparell, and sett hym in hys seate, and made an oracion vnto thē. And the people gaue a showte, sayinge: it is the voyce of a God & not of a man. And immediatly the angell of the Lorde smote hym, because he gaue not God the honour, and he was eaten of wormes ād gaue vp the ghost. And the worde of God grewe and multiplyed. And Barnabas and Paul returned to Jerusalem, when they had fulfylled their office, and toke wt thē * John whose syrname was Marke.

* Actes.xiij.a

¶ The.xiij.Chapter.

¶ Paul and Barnabas are called to preach amongst the heathen. Of Sergius Paulus and Elymas the sorcerer. Paul preacheth at Antioche

THere were in the congregacyon that is at Antioche, certayn ☞ prophtes, and teachers: as Barnabas and Simon that was called Niger, and Lucius of Cirene and Manahen, Herode the Tetrarkes norsselow, and Saul. As they ministred to the Lorde and fasted, the holy ghost saide: separate me Barnabas and Saul, for the worcke wherunto I haue called them. And whā they had fasted and prayed, and * layde their handes on them, they let them go. And they after they were sent forth of the holy ghost, departed vnto Seleucia, & frō thence they sayled to Cyprus. And when they were at Salamine, they shewed the word of God i the synagoges of the Jewes. And they had * John to theyr minyster.

* ij.b.xvij.d Actes.vi.d viij.xiij.a i.Timo.j.d and.v.d i.Timo.j.b

* Actes.xij.d.

When they had gone thorow the yle vn-
to Paphos, they founde a certayne sorcerer,
B (a false prophet, a Jewe) whose name was Bariesu, which was with the ruler of the countre one Sergius Paulus a prudēt mā.
The same ruler called vnto hym Barnabas and Saul, and desyred to heare the worde of God. But Elymas * the sorcerar (for so is hys name by interpretacion) with stode thē,
and sought to turne awaye the ruler frō the faith. Thē Saul (which also is called Paul) beynge full of the holy ghost, set hys eyes on him, and sayde. O full of all subtelty and disseytfulnesse, thou chylde of the deuyll, thou enemy of all righteousnes: wilt not cease to peruerte the straygte wayes of the Lorde?
And now beholde, the hande of the Lorde is vpon the, and thou shalt be blynde, and not se the sunne for a season. And immediatly, there fell on hym a myste and a darcknes, ād
he went about, sekynge thē that shuld leade hym by the hande. Then the rular when he saw what had happened * beleued, & won-
C dred at the doctryne of the Lorde.

When Paul departed from Paphos, they that were with him, came to Perga in Pamphilia: and * John departed from them, and returned to Jerusalem. But they wandred thorow the countres, and came from Perga to Antioche in Pisidia, and wente into the synagoge on the saboth daye, and sate dowe
ne. And after the lecture of the lawe and the prophetes, the rulers of the synagoge sente
vnto them, sayinge: Ye men and brethren,
yf ye haue eny sermon to exhorte the people,
saye on.

Then Paul stode vp, and * beckened with the hande for sylence, and sayde: Men of Israell, and ye that feare God, geue audience.
The God of this people chose oure fathers,
and exalted the people, when they dwelt as straungers in the land of Egipt, and * with a hye arme brought he them oute of it, and about the tyme of fourtye yeares, suffred he theyr maners in the wyldernes. And he destroyed seuen nacyons in the lande of Cana-an, * and deuyded theyr land to them by lot.
And afterwarde, * he gaue vnto them iudges about the space of foure hūdred and fyftye yeares, vnto the tyme of Samuell the prophete. And afterwarde, they * desyred a kynge, and God haue vnto them * Saul the D sonne of Cis, a man of the trybe of Beniā-min, by the space of fourty yeares. And whā he was put downe, he sett vp Daud to be theyr kynge, of whom he reported saying:
* I haue founde Dauid the sonne of Jesse, a man after myne awne hert, which shall ful-fyll all my wyll.

* Of this mannes seed hath God (a cco-rdynge as he had promysed) brought forth to Israell, a sauioure, one Jesus, when John had fyrst preached before his cōmynge * the baptyme of repentaunce to Israel. And whē John had fulfilled his course, he sayd: * whō ye thynke yᵗ I am, the same am I not. But behold, ther cometh one after me, whose shoes of his fete I am not worthy to loose.

✠ Ye men and brethren, chyldren of the generacyō of Abrahā, and whosoeuer amōg
you feareth God, * to you is thys worde of saluacyon sent. For the inhabiters of Jerusalem and theyr rulers, because * they knew him not, nor yet the voyces of the prophetes which are redde euery Saboth daye, they haue fulfylled them, in condempnynge him:
* And when they founde no cause of deeth in
hym, yet desyred they Pylate to kyll hym.
And whan they had fulfylled all that were wryten of him, they toke him downe frō the tree, and put hym in a sepulchre. But God rayled him agayne from death, on (the thyrd daye)
and * he was sene many dayes of thē whych came vp with hym from Galile to Jerusalem: Which * are hys wytnesses vnto the people.

And we declare vnto you, how yᵗ the pro-
messe (whych was made vnto the fathers)
God hath fulfilled vnto their chyldren (euen vnto vs) in yᵗ he rayled vp Jesus agayne. ✠
ruē as it is wryten in yᵗ fyrst psalme: * Thou art my sonne, this daye haue I begoten the.
As concernynge that he rayled him vp from death, now nomore to returne to corrupcion
he sayd on thys wyse: * The holy promyses made to Dauid, wyl I geue faythfully to
you. Wherfore, he sayeth also I another place.
* Thou shalt not suffre thyne holy to se cor-rupcyon. For Dauid (after he had in hys tyme fulfylled the wyll of God) * fell on slepe,
and was layde vnto hys fathers, and sawe corrupcyon. But he whō God rayled agayn sawe no corrupcyon.

Be it knowne vnto you therfore (ye men and brethren) that * thorowe thys man is preached vnto you the forgeuenes of sinnes,
and that by hym, all that beleue, are iusty-
fyed from all thynges, from which ye coulde not be iustifyed by the lawe of Moses. Beware therfore, lest that fall on you, which is spoken of in the prophetes: * Behold, ye des-pysers, and wonder, and perysh ye: for I do
a worke in youre dayes, which ye shall not beleue, though a man declare it you.

Whē the Jewes were gone out of yᵗ cōgregacyon, the Gentyls besought yᵗ they wolde
preache the word to them the next Saboth.
When the cōgregacyon was broken vp, many of yᵗ Jewes and verteous proselytes folowed Paul and Barnabas, which spake to thē: ✠ exhorted them to cōtinue in the grace of God. ✠ And yᵗ next Saboth daye cam almost the whole cytie together, to heare the worde of God. But whē the Jewes sawe yᵗ
people

people, they were full of indignacion & spake agaynst thole thynges, which were spoke of Paul, spekynge agaynst it, & raylinge on it:

G Then Paul and Barnabas waxed bolde, & * Mat.x.b. sayde: it was mete * that the worde of God shulde fyrst haue bene preached to you. But seynge ye put it from you, and thynke youre selues vnworthy of euerlastynge lyfe: lo, we turne to the Gentyls: For so hath the Lorde * Esay.xlix.b commaunded vs. * I haue made the a lyght Luce.ii.c. of ꝑ Gentyls, that thou be the saluacyō vnto the ende of the worlde.

Whan the gentyls hearde thys, they were glad and glorifyed the worde of the Lorde, & beleued euē as many as were ordeyned vnto eternal lyfe. And the worde of the Lorde was publisshed thorowe out all the regyon. But the Jewes moued the deuoute and honest wemen, and the chefe men of the cytie, & reysed persecucyon agaynst Paul and Barnabas, and expelled thē out of theyr coastes * Mat.x.b. * But they shouke of the dust of theyr fete Marc.vi.b. Luce.ix.c. agaynst them, ād came vnto Iconium. And Act.xiii.c. the disciples were fylled with ioye and with the holy ghost. ¶

¶The.xiiij Chapter.

¶Paul and Barnabas preach at Iconium, some beleue, some stere vp persecucyon. At Lystra they wolde do sacrifice to Barnabas and Paul, which refuse it and exhorte the people to worshyp the true God. Paul is stoned: after that commeth he to Derba. Lystra, Iconium and to Antioche.

A ND it fortuned in Iconiū, that they went both together into ꝑ synagoge of the Jewes, and so spake, that a greate multytude both of the Jewes and also of ꝑ Gryches beleued. But ꝑ vnbeleuyng Jewes, steryd vp, and vnquieted the myndes of the gentyls agaynste the brethren. Longe tyme abode they there, and quyt thē selues boldly with the helpe of the Lord, which gaue testimony vnto the worde of his grace, & * graūted Mat.xvi.b. tokens and wondres to be done by their handes. But the multitude of the cytie was deuyded: and parte helde with the Jewes, & parte with the Apostles.

When ther was an assaute made both of the Gentyles & also of the Jewes with their rulers, to do them violence, and to stone them Mat.x.c. they were ware of it, ād * fled vnto Lystra and Derba, cyties of Lycaonia, ād vnto the regyon that lyeth rounde aboute, and there preached the Gospell. (and all the multitude was moued at theyr doctryne, but Paul and Barnabas taryed styll at Lystra.) And ther sate a certayne man at Lystra weake in hys fete, beynge * creple from Act.iii.a. his mothers wombe. ād neuer had walked. The same hearde Paul preache. Which beholdynge hym, and perceauynge that he had Gal.vi.b. 1.Cor.xv.b. faith to be whole, sayd with a loude voyce: stāde vpryght on thy fete: And * he stert vp, and walked. And whē the people sawe what Paul had done, they lyfte vp their voyces, sayinge in the speache of Lycaonia: * Gods are come downe to vs in the lykenes of men. And they called Barnabas Jupiter, ād Paul Mercurius, because he was the preacher. Then Jupiters preste, which dwelt before their cytie, brought oxen and garlandes vnto the porche, and wolde haue done sacrifice with the people. * Act.xiv.b.

Which when the Apostles, Barnabas ād Paul herde of, they rent their clothes, and rāne amonge the people, crienge and sayinge: syrs why do ye this? * We are mortall men * Actes.x.b. Apoca.xxi.b. and.xxii.c. like vnto you, and preache vnto you, that ye shulde turne from these vanyties vnto the lyuinge God, * which made heauen and erth * Gene.i.a. Psal.cxlvi.a. and the see and all thynges that are therin: Apoca.xiiii.b. Actes.xvii.f. the which in tymes past suffred all nacyons to walcke in theyr awne wayes. * Neuertheles, he left not hym selfe without wytnes, in that he shewed hys benefytes frō heauen, in geuynge vs rayne and frutefull seasons, fyllyng oure hertes with fode ād gladnes. And with these sayinges, scarse restrayned they the people, that they had not done sacrifyce vnto them. * Roma.i.b.

Thyther came certayne Jewes from Antioche and Iconium: which (whan they had obtayned the peoples consent * and had stoned Paul) drew him out of the cytie, supposynge he had bene dede. Howbeit as ꝑ disciples stode rounde about him, he arose vp, and came into the cytie. And the nexte daye he departed with Barnabas to Derba. And whā they had preached to that cytie, & had taught many, they returned agayne to Lystra, and to Iconium and Antioche, and strengthed ꝑ disciples soules agayne, and * exhorted thē to contynue in the fayth affirmynge that we must * thorowe moche tribulacyon entre into the kyngdome of God. And whā they had ordened them elders by electyon in euery cōgregacyon, and had prayde and fasted, they commended them to the Lorde on whō they beleued. And whan they had gone thorowe out Pisidia, they came to Pamphilia, & whā they had preached the worde in Perga, they dessended into the cyte Attalia, and thence departed by shyppe to Antioche from whence they were committed vnto the grace of God to ꝑ worcke which they fulfylled. When they were come, and had gathered the congregacion together, they rehersed all that God had done by them ād how he had opened the doze of fayth vnto the Gentyls. And there they abode longe tyme with the disciples. * 1.Tim.iij.c.

¶The.xv.Chapter.

¶Mariaunce aboute circumcysyon. The Apostles pacifye the mater at Jerusalem. Paul and Barnabas preache at Antioche.

AND certayne men which came downe taught the brethē * except ye be circumcyſed after the maner of Moſes, ye cannot be ſaued. So when ther was ryſen diſſencīō & diſputyng not a lyttel vnto Paul and Barnabas agaynſt them, they determined that Paule and * Barnabas, and certayne other of them, ſhulde go vp to Ieruſalem vnto the Apoſtles ād elders about thys queſtyon. And after they were brought on their waye by the congregacion, they paſſed ouer Phenices and Samaria, declaryng the conuerſiō of the Gentyls, and they brought greate ioye vnto all the brethren. And when they were come to Ieruſalem, they were receaued of the congregacion & of the Apoſtles and elders. And they declared all thynges þ God had done by thē. Thē roſe vp certayne of the ſecte of the Pharyſes, which byd beleue, ſayeng, that it was nedfull to circumcyſe them, and to commaūde them to kepe the lawe of Moſes. And the Apoſtles & elders came together, to conſeyue of thys matter.

And whē ther was moche diſputyng, Peter roſe vp, & ſayde vnto them: Ye men & brethren, ye knowe how þ a good whyle agoo, God byd chooſe amonge vs, þ the Gentyls by my mouth ſhuld heare the woꝛde of the Goſpell, and beleue. And God which * knoweth the hertes, bare them wytnes, and gaue vnto them the holy gooſt, euen as he byd vnto vs, and put no differēce betwene vs and thē ſeynge þ with fayth he * purified theyr hertes. Now therfoꝛe, why tempte ye God, to put on þ diſciples neckes þ yoke * ☞ which nether our fathers noꝛ we were able to beare, But we beleue, that thoꝛow the grace of the Lord Ieſu Chriſt, we ſhalbe ſaued, as they do. Then all the multitude was peaſed & gaue audiēce to Barnabas & Paul, which tolde what ſygnes & wondꝛes God had ſhewed amonge the Gentyls by them.

And whē they helde their peace, James anſwered, ſayng: Men & brethren, herken vnto me. Symeon tolde, how God at þ beginning byd viſit þ gentyls, to receaue of them a people in his name. And to this agree þ woꝛdes of the prophetes, as it is wꝛitte: * After this I wyll returne, and wyll buylde agayne the tabernacle of Dauid, which is fallen downe and that which is fallen in decaye of it, wyll I buylde agayne, and I wyll ſet it vp, that the reſydue of mē myght ſeke after the Lord & alſo the Gentyls vpon whom my name is named ſayth the Lord, which doth all theſe thynges: knowē vnto God are all hys woꝛkes frō the begynning of þ woꝛld. Wherfoꝛe my ſentēce is, that we trouble not thē: which frō amonge the Gentyls, are turned to God: but that we wꝛyte vnto them, that they abſteyne them ſelues * from fylthynes of ymages, and from fornicacyon, and from ſtraūgled, and * from bloude. For Moſes of olde tyme hath in euery cytie thē þ preache hym, in the ſynagoges, when he is redd euery Sabboth daye.

Then pleaſed it the Apoſtles and elders with the whole cōgregacion, to ſende choſen men of theyr awne company to Antioche w Paul and Barnabas, They ſent * Judas (whoſe ſyrname was Barſabas) and Sylas, which were chefe men amonge the brethren, and gaue them leters in theyr handes after thys maner.

The Apoſtles, and elders and brethren ſend gretynges vnto the brethren which are of the Gentyls in Antioche, Syria and Cylicia. For as moche as we haue hearde, that certayne which departed frō vs, haue troubled you with woꝛdes, and combred youre myndes ſaying: Ye muſt be circumcyſed, and kepe the lawe, to whom we gaue no ſoch cōmaundemēt. It ſemed therfoꝛe to vs a good thynge, when we were come together with one accoꝛde, to ſende choſen men vnto you, with oure beloued Barnabas and Paul, mē that haue ieoparded their lyues foꝛ the name of oure Lord Ieſus Chriſt. We haue ſent therfoꝛe Judas and Sylas, which ſhall alſo tell you the ſame thinges by mouth. For it ſemed good to the holy ghoſt and to vs, to charge you with no moꝛe thē theſe neceſſary thynges: that is to ſaye, that ye abſtayne frō thynges offered to ymages, and from bloud, and from ſtraungled and from fornicacyon. From which yf ye kepe youre ſelues, ye ſhall do well. So fare ye well.

Whē they therfoꝛe were departed, they cā to Antioche and gathered the multytude together, & deliuered þ piſtle. Which whē they had red, they reioyſed of þ conſolacyon. And Judas & Sylas being Pꝛophetes, exhoꝛted the brethren with moch preachynge, & ſtrengthed thē. And after they had taryed there a ſpace, they were let go in peace of the brethrē vnto the Apoſtles. Not withſtādyng it pleaſed Sylas, to abyde there ſtyll ☞ (but Judas departed alone to Ieruſalem) Paul and Barnabas cōtimed in Antioche, teachynge & preachynge the woꝛde of the Lord with other many.

But after a certayne ſpace, Paul ſayd vnto Barnabas: Let vs go agayne, and viſite oure brethren in euery cytie where we haue ſhewed þ woꝛd of þ Lord, & ſe how they do. And Barnabas gaue counſell to take with them John, whoſe ſyrname was Marcke. But Paul wold not take hī vnto their cōpany * which departed from them at Pamphilia, & went not with thē to the woꝛcke. And the contencion was ſo ſharpe betwene thē: that they departed aſunder one frō the other & ſo Barnabas tohe Marcke, ād ſayled vnto Cypers. And Paul chooſe Sylas, & departed, beynge beynge commytted of the brethren vnto the grace of God. And he went thorow Cyria and Cylicia, stablishinge the congregacions:

(commaunding to kepe the precepies of the Apostles and elders)

¶ The.xvj.Chapter.

¶ Timothy is circumcysed. Paul preacheth at Philippos, and ther is he put in prison.

A Then cā he to Derba and to Lystra, And beholde, a certayne disciple was there named Timothe a womans sonne, which was a Jewesse and beleued: but hys father was a Greke. Of whom reported well the brethren that were at Lystra and Iconiū hym wold Paul that he shulde go forth with him, & toke and circūcised hym, because of the Jewes which were in those quarters: for they knewe all, that hys father was a Greke. As they went thorowe the cyties, they deliuered them the decrees for to kepe, that were * ordeyned of the Apostles and elders, which were at Jerusalem. And so were the congregacyōs stablysshed in the fayth, and encreased in nombre dayly.

* Acts.xv.c.

B When they had gone thorow out Phrigia. * Rom.i.c. and the region of Galacia, and * were forbydden of the holy ghost to preach the word in Asia, they came to Mysia, and sought to go into Bethynia. But the spirite suffred thē not But whā they had gone thorow Mysia * Ac.xviii.c. they came downe to * Troada. And a visyō appered to Paul in the nyght. There stode a man of Macedonia and prayed him, saying: come into Macedonia, ād helpe vs. After he had sene the vision, immediatly we prepared C to go into Macedonia, beinge certifyed that the Lorde had called vs, for to preach ỹ gospell vnto thē. Whan we losed forth then frō Troada, we came ū a straight course to Samothracia, and ỹ nexte daye to Neapolin, & from thence to Philippos, which is the chefe cytie in ỹ partes of Macedonia, & a free cytie.

We were in that cytie abydinge certayne dayes. And on ỹ Sabboth dayes we wēt out of the citie beside a ryuer, where men were wont to praye. And we sate downe, & spake vnto the wemē which resorted thyther. And a certayne woman (named Lydia) a seller of purple, of ỹ cytte of Thyatira, which worshypped God, gaue vs audience. Whose hert the Lorde opened, that she attēded vnto the D thynges, which Paul spake. When she was baptised, ād her housholde, she besought vs, sayinge: If ye thynche that I beleue on the Lorde, come into my house, and abyde there. And she * constrayned vs.

* Gene.xix.a Iudi.viii.c. 1.a Regum. xviii.a

And it fortuned as we went to prayer, a certayn damsell possessed with a spirite that prophesyed, met vs, which brought her maisters moche vauntage ū Prophesyinge. The same folowed Paul and vs, and cryed, sayinge: * these men are the seruauntes of the most hye God, which shew vnto vs the waye of saluacyon. And thys dyd she many dayes. But Paul not content, turned aboute, and sayde to the spirite, I commaunde the * in the name of Jesu Christ, that thou come out of her. And he came out the same houre.

* Mark.v.a.

* Mat.xvii.b.

And when her maister and maistres sawe that * ỹ hope of their gaynes was gone, they caught Paul and Sylas, and drue thē into the market place vnto the rulars, & brought thē to the officers, sayinge: These men trouble oure cytie seing they are Jewes, & preach ordinaunces, which are not lawfull for vs to receaue, nether to obserue, seynge we are Romanys. And the people ranne agaynst them, and the officers rent their clothes, & cōmaunded thē to * be beatē with roddes. And whē they had beaten them sore, they cast thē into prison, commaundynge the iayler of the prison to kepe them diligently. Which when he had receaued such cōmaundement, thrust thē into the vnner prison, & made theyr fete fast in the stockes.

* 2.Cor.xi.f

E

It mydnyght Paul & Sylas prayed, and F lauded God. And the prisoners harde them. And sodenly ther was a greate erthquake, so that the foūdacion of the prison was shaken, and * immediatly all the dores opened and euery mannes bandes were loosed. Whē ỹ keper of the prison waked out of his slepe and sawe the prison dores open, he drue out his swearde and wolde haue kylled him selfe supposyng that the prisoners had bene fledd. But Paul cryed with a loude voyce, saying: do thy selfe no harme, for we are all heare. Then he called for a lyght and sprange in ād cā trēmblynge vnto Paul, and fell downe at the fete of Paul & Sylas, and brought them out, & sayde: Syrs * what must I do to be saued? And they sayde: * beleue on the Lorde Jesus, & thou shalt be saued & thy housholde. And they preached vnto him the worde of ỹ G Lord, & to all that were in hys house. And he toke them ỹ same houre of the nyght, & washed their woundes, and was baptised ād all they of hys housholde straight waye. And when he had brought them into hys house, he set meate before them, and * ioyed that he with all his housholde, beleued on God.

* Acts.xvi.b. and.xix.a

* Iohn.vi.b.

* Luke.xix.c.

And when it was daye, the officers sent ỹ masters, saying: let those men go. The keper of the prison tolde this sayinge to Paul: the officers haue sent word to lose you. Now therfore, get you hence and go in peace. Thē sayde Paul vnto them: they haue beaten vs openly vncondēned, for all that we are Romayns, and haue cast vs into prison: & now wolde they sende vs awaye preuely? Naye Verely, but let thē come thē selues, & fet vs out. When the masters tolde these wordes

vnto

vnto the officers, they feared when they he-
* Mat.viii.d arde, that they were Romaynes * they cam and besought them: and brought them out, and desyred them, to departe out of the cytie. And they went out of the prison, and entred into the house of Lidia, and when they had sene the brethren, they confozted them, and departed.

¶ The.xvij.Chapter.

¶ Paul commeth to Thessalonica, where the Jewes set the cytie on a rore. Paul departeth, cometh to Athe where he preacheth the true and vnknowne God.

NOw they made their iourney thorowe Amphipolis: and Appolonia, they cam to Thessalonica, where was a Synagoge of the Jewes. And Paul (as hys maner was) went in vnto them, and thre Sabboth dayes declared out of the scrypture vn-
*Lu.xxiiij.g. to them, openynge & allegyng, that * Christ must nedes haue suffred, and ryse agayne from deeth, and that thys Jesus was Christ,
* Act.xxviii.f whom (sayde he) I preach to you. And * some of them beleued, & cam and companyed with Paul & Sylas, and of the deuote Gzekes a greate multitude, and of the chefe wemen, not a fewe.

But the Jewes which beleued not, had indignacion and toke vnto them euyll men, B which were vagabundes, and gathered a cõpany, and set all the cytie on a roare, & made assaute vnto the house of Jason, & sought to brynge them out to ꝑ people. And when they founde thẽ not, they drue Jason, & certayne brethren vnto the heades of the cytie, cryinge: these that trouble the worlde, are come hyther also, whom Jason hath receaued priuely. * And these all do contrary to the decrees
*John.xix.c of Cesar, affirmynge another kynge, one Jesus. And they troubled the people, & the officers of the cytie, whẽ they hearde these thinges. And when they were sufficiẽtly answered of Jason, & of the other, they let thẽ go.

And the brethren immediatly sent awaye Paul and Sylas by nyghte vnto Berrea. C Which when they were come thyther, they entred into ꝑ Synagoge of the Jewes. These were the noblest of byrth amonge them of Thessalonia, which receaued the word with
*Joh.v.g. all dilygence of mynde, and searched * the scryptures dayly, whether those thynges were euen so. And many of them beleued: also of worshypfull wemẽ which were Gzekes, and of men not a fewe. When the Jewes of Thessalonia had knowledge, that ꝑ word of God was preached of Paul at Berrea: they came, and moued the people there. And then immediatly the brethren sent awaye Paul, to go as it were to the see: but
*Act.xviii.d * Sylas and Timotheus abode there styll D And they that gyded Paul, brought hi vnto Athens, & receaued a cõmaundement vnto Sylas & Timotheus, for to come to hym wt spede, & came their waye. Whil Paul wayted for them at Athens, his spyrete was moued in him, wham he sawe the cytie geuen to worshyppynge of ymages. Then disputed he in the synagoge with the Jewes, and with the deuoute personnes: and in ꝑ market dayly with them that came vnto hym by chaunce. Certayne Philosophers of the Epicures and of the Stopckes, disputed with hym. And some ther were which sayde: what will thys babler saye? Other sayde: he semeth to E be a tydynges brynger of newe deuyls, because he preacheth vnto thẽ Jesus & the resurrecciõ. And they toke him, & brought him into Marce strete, saying: maye we not knowe what thys newe doctryne wherof thou speakest, is? For thou bryngest straunge tydynges to oure eares. We wold knowe therfore, what these thinges meane. For all the Athenians and straungers which were there, gaue them selues to nothing els, but ether to tell, or to heare some newe thynge.

Paul stode in the myddes of Marce strete, & sayde: ye men of Athens, I perceaue that in all thinges ye are to superstycyous. For as I passed by, and beheilde the maner how ye F worshypp youre goddes, I founde an aulter wherin was wrytẽ: vnto the vnknowẽ God. Whom ye then ignorantly worshyppe, hym shew I vnto you. * God that made ꝑ world
* Gene.i.a Actes.xiiij.d Psal.xlvi.a Apoca.xxi.b and all that therin is (seing that he is Lord of heauen and earth) * dwelleth not in tẽples made with handes, nether is worshipped with mennes handes, as though he ne-
* Actes.xvij. Eccl.xlvi.a iij.Regum. viij.c. & Dan.v.d ded of eny thynge, seinge he hym selfe * geueth lyfe and breth to all men euery where, & Gene.i.b. hath made of one bloude all nations of mẽ, for to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath assigned before, how longe tyme, & also the endes of their inhabitacyon, ꝑ they shuld seke God, yf they myght fele and fynde him, though he be not farre from euery one of vs. For in hym we lyue, moue, and haue oure beinge, as certayne of youre awne Poetes sayde: For we are also his generaciõ. For as moch then as ☞ we are the generacyon of God, we ought not to thinke that the Godhead is lyke vnto golde, syluer or stone, grauen by craffte and ymaginacyon of man.

* And the tyme of this ignorauce God re-
* Roma.ii.a garded not. * But now biddeth all men euery where repẽt because he hath appoynted a daye, in the which he will iudge the worlde wt ryghtewelnes, by that man by whõ he hath appoynted, & hath offered fayth to all mẽ, after that he had rayled him from deeth.

When they hearde of the resurrection from deeth, some mocked, and other sayd: we wyll heare the agayne of thys matter. So Paul departed from amonge them. Howbeit certayne men claue vnto hym and beleued: amonge monge the which was Dyonysyus a senatour, and a woman named Damaris, and other with them.

¶ The.xviij.Chapter.

¶ Paul preacheth at Corinthum, conteynuing there .xviij. and a halfe, goeth agayne into Syria, commeth to Ephesus, Cesarea and Antioche. Of Apollos Aquila and Priscilla.

AFter thys, Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corynthū, and founde a certayne Jewe named * Aquila, borne in Pōthus, lately come from Italie with his wyfe Priscilla (because that ỹ Emperour Claudius had commaunded all Jewes to departe from Rome) ād he drew vnto them, because he was of the same crafte, he abode with them, & wrought: their crafte was to make tentes. And he preached in the synagoge euery Sabboth daye, (setting forth in the meane whyle the name of the Lorde Jesus) and exhorted the Jewes and the gentyls.

When * Silas, and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul was cōstrayned by the spyrite, to testifye to the Jewes ỹ Jesus was very Chryst. And when they sayde contrary & blasphemed * he shoke hys rayment and sayde vnto them: youre bloude be vpon youre awne heedes: from hence forth wyll I go blameles vnto the gentyls. And he departed thēce, and entred into a certayne mānes house, named Justus, a worshypper of God, whose house toyned hard to the synagoge. Howbeit, one Crispus the chefe ruler of the synagoge * beleued on the Lorde with all his houshold, and many of the Corinthians whan they gaue audiēce, beleued, and were baptised.

Then spake the Lorde to Paul in ỹ nyght * by a vision: be not afrayde, but speake, ād holde not thy peace: for I am with the, & noman shall invade the that shall hurte the. For I haue moch people in this cytie. And he cōtinued there a yeare and syx monethes, and taught them the worde of God.

When Gallio was ruler of the countre of Acaia, the Jewes made insurrecyon with one accorde agaynst Paul, and brought hym to the iudgement seate, sayinge: this felowe counceleth men to worshipp God contrary to ỹ lawe. And whā Paul nowe was about to opē his mouth, Gallio sayd vnto ỹ Jewes: yf it were a matter of wronge, or an euyll dede (O ye Jewes) reason wolde ỹ I shulde heare you: but yf it be a question of wordes or of names, or of youre lawe, loke ye to it youre selues, For I will be no iudge of soche matters, and he draue them from the seate. Thē all the Gzekes toke Sosthenes the chefe ruler of the Synagoge, and smote hym before the iudges seate, And Gallio cared for none of those thynges.

Paul after thys, taryed there yet a good whyle, and then toke his leaue of the brethrē and sayled thence into Syria, Priscilla and Aquila accompanyinge hym. And for * he shoze his heed in Cēchrea, for he had a vowe: And he cam to Ephesus ād lefte them there: but he hym selfe entred into the Synagoge, and reasoned with the Jewes. Whē they desyred him to tary lōger tyme with them, he consented not, but bad them fare well sayinge. I must nedes (at thys feast that cometh) be in Jerusalem: but I wyll returne agayne vnto you * yf God will. And he departed from Ephesus: and whan he was come vnto Cesarea: and ascended vp and saluted the cōgregacyon, he departed vnto Antioche: and when he had taryed there a whyle, he departed: and went over all the countre of Galacia and Phrygia by order, strengthynge all the disciples.

And a certayne Jew named * Apollos, borne at Alexandria, came to Ephesus, an eloquent man, and myghty in the scryptures The same was informed in the waye of the Lorde, and spake feruently in the spyrite, and taught diligently the thinges of the Lord, & knewe but the baptyme of John onely. And the same began to speake boldely in the Synagoge. Whō when Priscilla & Aquila had hearde they toke him vnto thē, & expounded vnto hym the waye of God more perfectly.

And when he was disposed to go into Acaia, the brethren wrote, exhortyng the disciples to receaue him. Which whan he was come helped them moche which had beleued throw grace. For he ouercame the Jewes myghtely, and that openly, shewynge by the scryptures, that Jesus was Chryst.

¶ The.xix. Chapter. ✠

¶ Of the twelue yt that were baptysed at Ephesus and what myracles were done by Paul. Demetrius moued sedicion in the cytie.

IT fortuned ỹ whyll Apollo was at Corinthum, Paul passed thorowe the vpper coastes, and came to Ephesus, and founde certayne disciples, and sayde vnto them haue ye receaued the holy ghost, sence ye beleued? And they sayde vnto hym: no, we haue not hearde whether ther be eny holy ghost or no. And he sayde vnto them. wherwith were ye then baptysed? And they sayde. with * Johns baptyme. Then sayde Paul: * John verely baptysed with the baptim of repentaunce, sayinge vnto the people that they shulde beleue on hym, which shuld come after hi: that is on Christ Jesus. When they hearde thys, they were baptysed in the name of the Lorde Jesu. And whan Paul * layde hys handes vpon them. * the holy ghost came on thē, ād they * spake with tonges, and prophesyed, and all the men were aboute twelue.

And

And he wēt into the synagoge, and behaued hym selfe boldely for ꝑ space of thre monethes, disputinge and geuinge them exhortacions of the kyngdome of God. ¶ When dyuers were hard herted and beleued not, but spake euyll of the waye (and that before the multitude) he departed from thē, and seperated the disciples. And he disputed dayly in the scole of one called Tyrānus. And this cōtynued by the space of two yeares: so that all they which dwelt in Asia, heard the worde of the Lorde Jesu, both Jewes and Gretes. And God * wrought speciall myracles by the hādes of Paul: so that from his body, were brought vnto the sicke, napkins & partelettes, & the diseases departed from them, and * the euyll spretes went out of them.

* Mat. xvi.d. Actes. v.c.

* Mat. xvi.d.

Then certayne of the vagabunde Jewes exorcistes, toke vpon them to call ouer them (which had euyll spretes) ꝑ name of ꝑ Lorde Jesus, sayinge: We adiure you by * Jesu, whom Paul preacheth. And ther were seuen sonnes of one Sceua a Jew and chefe of the prestes which dyd so. And the euyll spyrite answered and sayd: Jesus I knowe, & Paul I knowe: but who are ye? And the man in whom the euyll spyrite was, ranne on them, and ouercame them, and preuayled agaynst thē so that they fledd out of that house naked and wounded. And this was knowen to all the Jewes and Gretes also, which dwelt at Ephesus, & feare came on thē all, & the name of the Lorde Jesus was magnyfyed.

* Mat. i. a.

And many that beleued, cam, and * confessed and shewed their workes. Many of them which vsed curious craftes, brought their bokes, and burned them before all men, and they counted the price of them, and founde it fyfty thousand syluerlynges. So mightely grewe the word of God, and preuayled. After these thynges were ended, Paul purposed in the spryte (whan he had passed ouer Macedonia ād Achaia) to go to Jerusalem, saying: After I haue bene there, I must also se Rome. So sent he into Macedonia two of them that ministred vnto hym, euen Timotheus & Erastus: but he hym selfe remayned in Asia for a season.

The same tyme ther arose no lytell a do aboute that waye. For a certayne man named Demetrius, a syluersmyth (which made syluer shrynes for Diana) was not a lytell beneficiall vnto ꝑ craftes men. Whom he called together with the workemen of lyke occupacion, and sayd: Syrs, ye knowe that by this crafte * we haue aduauntage. Moreouer, ye se & heare that not alone at Ephesus, but allmost thorowe out all Asia, thys Paul hath persuaded & turned awaye moche people sayinge, that * they be not goddes which are made with handes. So that not only this oure crafte cometh into parell to be set at nought: but also that the temple of the greate Goddesse Diana shulde be despysed, & her magnificence shulde be destroyed, whom all Asia and the worlde worshyppeth.

* Actes xvii.b.

* Esai. xlvi.a

Whē they hearde these sayinges, they were full of wrathe, & cryed out, sayinge. Greate is Diana of the Ephesians. And al the cytie was on a roze, and they russhed into the comen hall with one assent, & caught Gaius and Aristarcus, men of Macedonia, Pauls companyōs. When Paul wolde haue entred in vnto the people, the disciples suffred hym not. But certayne of ꝑ chefe of Asia (which were his frendes) sent vnto him, desyrynge him, that he wolde not preace into the comē hall. Some therfore cryed one thyng and some another, & the congregacion was all out of quiete, & the moare parte knewe not wher fore they were come together.

Some of the company drue forth Alexāder, the Jewes thrustynge hym forwardes. Alexander: * beckened with the hande, and wolde haue geuen ꝑ people an answer. Whē they knewe that he was a Jewe, ther arose a shoute almost for the space of two houres, of all men, cryinge: greate is Diana of the Ephesyans.

When the towne clarcke had ceased ꝑ people, he sayde: ye men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not how that the cytie of the Ephesyans is a worshypper of the great goddesse Diana, & of the ymage which cā from heauen. Seinge then that noman sayth here agaynst, ye ought to be content, and to do nothynge rashly: for ye haue brought hyther these men: which are nether robbers of churches, not yet despisers of youre goddesse Wherfore, yf Demetrius and the craftes mē which are with hym, haue a matter agaynst eny man, the lawe is open, and ther are rulers, let them accuse one another. But yf ye goo aboute eny other thynge, it shall be determined in a lawfull congregacyon. For we are in ieopardy to be accused of thys dayes vproure, for as moche as ther is no cause, wherby we maye geue a rekenynge of thys concourse of people. And when he had thus spoken, he let the congregacion departe.

¶ The .xx. Chapter.

Paul goeth into Macedonya and into Greece. At Troas he rayseth vp a ded body. At Ephesus he calleth the elders of the congregacyon together, commyttyth the keepynge of Gods flocke vnto them, warneth them of false teachers, maketh hys prayer with them, and departeth to shyppe.

After that the rage was ceased, Paul called the disciples vnto hym, and toke hys leaue of thē, and departed for to go into Macedonia. And when he had gone ouer those partyes, and had geuen them alonge exhortacyon, he cam into Grece

Greece & there abode .iij. monethes. And whē
the Jewes layde wayt for hī as he was about to sayle into Syria, he purposed to returne thorow Macedonia. Ther accōpanied hī into Asia, Sopater of Berrea, and of Thessalonia, Aristarcus and Secūdus, and Gayus
B of Derba, & Timotheus, & out of Asia Tychicus and * Trophimus. These goynge before, taryed vs at Troas. And we sayled awaye frō Philippos after the dayes of swete
breade, and cam vnto them to Troas in fyue
dayes, where we abode seuen dayes.

And vpō one of the Sabboth dayes, whā
the disciples came together for to breake breed Paul preached vnto them (ready to departe on the morowe) & cōtinued the preaching vnto mydnyght. And there were many lyghtes in the chamber, where we were gathered together, & ther sate in a wyndowe a certayne yonge man (named Eutichus) beinge fallē in to a depe sleepe. And as Paul was preachin-ge, he was the more ouercome with slepe, ād
fell downe from the thyrde lofte, & was takē C vp deed. But whan Paul went doune, he fell on him * & embraced him and sayde: make not hynge a do, for his lyfe is in hym. So when he was come vp agayne, & had brokē
the bread & eaten, and talcked a longe whyle (euen tyll the morninge) at the last he departed. And they brought the yonge man alyue, &
were not a lytell confortes.

And we went afore to shyppe, & lowsed vn to Asson there to receaue Paul. For so had he appoynted, and wolde hym selfe goo a fote.
When we were come together at Asson, we toke him in, & came to Mytilenes. And we sayled thence, and cam the nexte daye ouer agaynst Chios. And the nexte daye we ari-D ued at Samos, & taried at Trogylon. The nexte daye we came to Mylcton: for Paul had determined to sayle ouer by Ephesus,
because he wolde not spende the tyme in Asia.
For he hasted (yf it were possible for him) to kepe at Jerusalē the daye of Pentecoste. And frō Mylctō he sent messaugers to Ephesus, & called the elders of the cōgregaciō. Which whē
they were come to him, he sayd vnto thē: Ye knowe from the fyrst daye that I cam into Asia, after what maner I haue bene wyth you at all seasons, seruynge the Lorde with all
hūblenes of mynde, and with many teares & temptacions which happened vnto me by the layinges awayte of the Jewes, because I wolde kepe backe nothynge that was profitable vnto you: but to shewe you and teache
you openly, & thorowe out euery house, witnessynge both to the Jewes, & also to the Grekes, the * repentaunce, that is toward God, &
the fayth which is toward oure Lorde Jesus.
And now beholde I go bounde in the spirite E vnto Jerusalem, not knowing the thinges that shal come on me there, but that * the holy goost
witnesseth in euery cytie, sayinge that bādes and trouble abyde me. But none of these thinges moue me * neyther is my lyfe deare
vnto my selfe, that I might fulfyll my course with ioye, ād the ministracyō (of the worde)
which I haue receaued of the Lorde Jesu, to testifye the Gospell of the grace of God.

And now beholde, I am sure, that hencefor-
the ye all (thorow whō I haue gone preachynge
the kyngdō of God) shall se my face no more. Wherfore, I take you to recorde this daye that I am pure from the bloude of all men. F For I haue spared no labour, but haue shewed you all the counsell of God. Take hede therfore vnto youre selues & to all the flocke
amonge whō the holy ghost hath made you ouersears, to rule the congregacyon of God
which he hath purchased with his bloude.
* For I am sure of thys, that after my depar- *1.Tim.iiij.a tynge shall greueous wolues entre in amō- 1.Tim.iij.a. ge you, not sparyng the flocke. Moreouer, of 2.Pet.ij.a.
youre awne selues shall men arise, speaking and.iij.a peruerse thinges to drawe disciples after the. Iude.i.c.
Therfore awake, & remēber, that by the space of .iij. yeres: I ceased not to warne euery
one of you nyght and daye with teares.

And now brethrē, I commēde you to God G
and to the worde of his grace, which is able to build farther, & to geue you an inheritaū-
ce amonge all them which are sanctifyed *
I haue desyred no mans syluer, golde, or ve-sture. Yee, ye your selues knowe that these hādes haue ministred vnto my necessyties, & to them that were with me. I haue shewed you all thinges, how that so labouring ye ought to receaue the weake, & to remēber the wor-des of the Lorde Jesu, how he sayd: it is more blessed to geue then to receaue.

And when he had thus spoken, he kneled downe * and prayed with thē all. And they all wepte sore and fell on Pauls necke, and kyssed hym, sorowynge, most of all for the wordes which he spake, that they shulde se hys face nomore. And they conuayed hym vnto the shyppe.

¶ The .xxj. Chapter.

¶ Pauls Iorney by shyppe. Of Philippe the Euā-gelist, & Agabus the Prophet, which warned Paul not to go to Jerusalem. He remayned stedfast in hys purpose, and is taken in the temple.

AND whan it chaunced that we had A launched forth, and were departed from them, we came with a straight course vnto Choon and the daye folowynge vnto the Rhodes, and from thence vnto Patara. And whan we had gotten a shyppe that wolde sayle vnto Phenices, we went aborde in to it, and set forth. But whan Cipzus began to appea-re vnto vs, we left it on the lefte hande, and sayled vnto Syria, and cā vnto Tyre. For there the shyppe vnladed the burthen. And when

when we had founde brethren, we taryed there. vij. dayes. And they tolde Paul thorowe the spyrite * that he shuld not go vp to Jerusalem. And when the dayes were ended we departed and went oure waye, and they all brought vs on oure waye, with wyues and chyldren, tyll we were come out of the cytie. And we kneled downe in the shore * & prayde. And when we had taken oure leaue one of another, we toke shippe, & they returned home agayne:

*Actes. xx.d.

*Actes. xx.e. B

When we had full ended the course from Tyre, we went downe to Ptolomaida, & saluted the brethre, & abode with the one daye The nexte daye, we that were of Pauls cõpany departed, and came vnto Cesarea. And we entred into the house of * Philip ỹ Euãgelist, which was one of the seuẽ, & abode w̃ hym. The same man had fower daughters virgens, which dyd * prophesy. And as we taryed there a good mayny of dayes, there cã a certaine prophet frõ Jurie, named Agabus. When he was come vnto vs, he toke Pauls gerdell, & bounde his fete & handes, & sayd: Thus sayth the holy ghost * so shal the Jewes at Jerusalẽ bynde ỹ man that oweth this gerdell, and shall delyuer hym into the handes of the Gentyls.

*Actes. xxi.b. C

*Joel. ii.g.

*Actes. ix.f. & Coloss. xi.d.

When we hearde this, both we and other which were of the same place, besought him that he wolde not go vp to Jerusalem. Thẽ Paul answered, & sayde: what do ye wepynge & verynge myne herte? I am ready, not to be bounde onely, but also to dye at Jerusalẽ for the name of the Lorde Jesu. Whẽ we coulde not turne hys mynde, we ceased, sayinge * the wyll of the Lord be fulfylled. After those dayes we toke vp oure burthes, & went vp to Jerusalem. * Ther went with vs also certayne of the disciples of Cesarea, and brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus an olde disciple, with whõ we shulde lodge. And when we were come to Jerusalem, the brethre receaued vs gladly. And on the morow, Paul went in with vs vnto James. And all the elders came together. And whẽ he had saluted thẽ, he tolde by order all thynges, that God had wrought amõge ỹ gẽtyls by his ministracyon. And when they hearde it, they glorifyed the Lorde, and sayde vnto him: Thou seest brother, how many thousãde Jewes ther are which beleue, and they are all ernest folowers ouer the lawe. And they are informed of the, that thou teachest all the Jewes which are amõge the gentyls, to forsake Moses: and sayst, that they ought not to circumcise their chyldren, nether to lyue after the customes. What is it therfore? The multytude must nedes come together: For they shall heare that thou arte come. Do therfore this, that we saye to the.

*Mat. xi.b.

*Actes. xx.e. D

*Nume. vi.a

* We haue. iiij. men, which haue a vowe on them. Them take, & purifie thy selfe with thẽ, and do cost on thẽ, that they maye shaue their heades: and all shall knowe, that those thynges which they haue hearde cõcernyng the, are nothyng: but that thou thy selfe also walkest and kepest the lawe. But as touchynge the gentyls which beleue * we haue writtẽ and concluded, that they obserue no soche thyng: saue onely that they kepe them selues from thynges offred to ydoles, and from bloude, and from strangled, and from fornicacyon. Then the nexte daye Paul toke the mẽ, and * purifyed hym selfe with them and entred into the temple, declarynge that he obserued the dayes of the purificacyon, vntyll that an offeryng shuld be offered for euery one of them.

E

*Actes. xxi.

And whan the seuen dayes were nowe almost ẽded, ỹ Jewes which were of Asia (whẽ they sawe hym in the temple) moued all the people, and layde handes on him, crying: mẽ of Jsraell, helpe. This is the mã, ỹ teacheth all mẽ euery where agaynst the people and ỹ lawe, and thys place. He hath also brought Gretes into ỹ temple, ãd hath polluted thys holy place. For they had sene with hym one in the cytie. * Trophimus an Ephesiã, whõ they supposed that Paul had brought into ỹ temple. And all the cytie was moued, and the people swarmed together. And they toke Paul and drue him out of the temple, and forth with, the dores were shut.

F

*Actes. xx. ii. Timo. iii.

As they went about to kyll him, tidinges came vnto the hye captayne of the soudyers, that all Jerusalem was moued. Which immediatly toke soudiers ãd vndercaptaynes, and ranne downe vnto them. When they sawe ỹ vpper captayne and the soudiers: they lefte smytinge of Paul. Then the captayne cam neare and toke hym, and commaunded hym to be bound with two chaynes, and demaũded what he was, ãd what he had done. And some cryed one thinge, some another amonge the people. And when he coulde not knowe the certaynte for the rage, he cõmaũded him to be caryed into the castle. And whẽ he cã vnto a stayre, it fortuned that he was borne of the soudiers for the violence of the people. For the multitude of the people folowe after, cryinge: away with hym.

G

*Actes. xxi.

And whan Paul beganne to be caryed into the castle, he sayde vnto ỹ hye Captayne: maye I speake vnto the? Which sayde: Cãst thou speake Greke? Art not thou that Egypcyan, which before these dayes madest an vproure, and leddest out into the wildernes: iiij. thousande men that were mothereres? But Paul sayde: I am a mã which am a Jewe of * Tharsus a cytie in Cycill, a Cytezin of no vyle citie, I beseche ỹ suffre me to speake vnto the people. And when he had geuen him lycence, Paul stode on the steppes, * and

*Actes. xxi. and. xxii.

*Actes. xxi.

beckened

beckened with the hande vnto the people: and whan there was made a greate ſylence he ſpake vnto them in the Hebrue tonge, ſayinge.

¶ The.xxij.Chapter.

¶ Paul answereth the Jewes. He is scourged, and layde in prison agayne.

A MEn, brethren, and fathers, heare ye myne answere which I make nowe vnto you. When they hearde, that he ſpake in the Hebrue tonge to them, they kept the more ſylence. And he ſayeth: I am verely a man which am a Jewe borne i * Tarſus a cytie i Cycile: neuertheles, yet brought vp in this cytie, at the fete of ‡ Gamaliell, and inſormed dilygently in the lawe of the fathers, and was feruent mynded to God warde, as ye all are this same daye, and * I perſecuted this waye vnto the death bynbynge and delyuerynge into preſon both men and wemē, as the chefe preſte doth beare me wytneſſe, and all the eſtate of the elders: of whom also I receaued lettres vnto the brethren, and went to Damaſco to bring them, (which were there bounde) vnto Jeruſalem for to be punyſched.

*Actes.ix.b and.xxvi.c

‡Actes.v.f.

*Actes.viij.a and ix.a and xxvi.d 1.Cor.v.b Gala.vi.b

B And it fortuned (that as I made my iorney and was come nye vnto Damaſco a boute none) ſodenly there ſhone from heauen a greate lyght rounde aboute me, and I fell vnto the earthe, and hearde a voyce ſayinge vnto me: Saul, Saul, why perſecuteſt thou me? And I anſwered: what arte thou Lorde? And he ſayde vnto me: I am Jeſus of Nazareth, whom thou perſecuteſt. And they that were wyth me, ſawe verely a lyghte, and were afrayde: but they hearde not the voyce of hym that ſpake with me. And I ſayde: what ſhall I do Lorde? And the Lorde ſayde vnto me: Aryſe, and go into Damaſco, and there it ſhall be tolde the of all thynges, whych are appoynted for the to do. And whan I ſawe nothynge for the bryghtnes of that lyght, I was leade by the hande of them that were wyth me, and came in to Damaſco.

*Actes.ix.a

C * And one Ananias a parfecte man, (and as pertaynynge to the lawe hauynge good reporte of all the Jewes, whych there dwelt) cam vnto me, and ſtode, and ſayde vnto me: Brother Saul, receaue thy lyght. And the ſame houre I receaued my ſyghte, and ſawe hym. And he ſayde: the God of our fathers hath ordeyned the before, that thou ſhuldeſt knowe hys wyll, and ſhuldeſt heare the voyce of hys mouth: for thou ſhalt be hys wytnes vnto all men of thoſe thinges, which thou haſt ſene and heard. And nowe, why taryeſt thou? Aryſe, and be baptyſed, and waſche awaye thy ſynnes * in callyng on the name name of the Lorde: And it fortuned, that whan I was come agayne to Jeruſalem, and prayde in the temple, I was in a trannce, and ſawe hym, ſayinge D vnto me: Make haſte, and get the quyckly oute of Jeruſalem: for they wyll not receaue thy wytneſſe, that thou bearеſt of me.

*Rom.x.c

And I ſayde: Lorde, they knowe that I preſoned, and bett in euery Synagoge them that beleued on the. * And whā the bloude of thy wytnes Steuen was ſhed, I alſo ſtode by, and conſented vnto hys death, and kept the rayment of them that ſlewe hym. And he ſayd vnto me departe, for * I wyll ſende the a farre hence vnto the Gentyls.

*Actes.vij.a

*Actes.xxij.b Gala.i.b

They gaue hym audience vnto thys worde, and then lyft vp theyr voyces and ſayde: awaye with ſoche a felowe from the earth: for it is not reaſon that he ſhuld lyue. And as they cryed, and caſt of their clothes, and threw duſt into the ayer, the captayne commaunded hym to be brought into the caſtle, and bad that he ſhulde be ſcourged, and to be examined, that he might knowe, wherfore they cryed ſo on hym. And whan they bounde hym wyth thonges, Paul ſayde vnto the Centurion, that ſtode by him: Is it lawful for you to ſcourge a man that is a Romayn and vncondempned? When the Centurion hearde that, he went and tolde the vpper captayne, ſaying: What intendeſt thou to do? For thys man is a (a cytezen) of Rome.

a

Then the vpper captayne cam, and ſayd vnto him: tell me, art thou a Romayne? he ſayd: Yee. And the captayne anſwered, with E a great ſome obtayned I thys fredom. And Paul ſayd: I was fre borne. Then ſtraycht waye departed from hym they which ſhulde haue examyned hym. And the hye captayne alſo was afrayde, after he knewe that he was a Romayne, and becauſe he had bounde hym.

On the morowe (becauſe he wolde haue knowen the certentye wherfore he was accuſed of the Jewes) he loſed hym from hys bondes, and commaunded the hye preſtes and all the counſell to come together and * brought Paul forth, & ſet hym before the.

*Act.xxiij.f

¶ The.xxiij.Chapter.

¶ Paul commeth before the councell. He hath ayde of the people, the captayne delyuereth hym, God comforteth hym.

A
* Ac.xxiii.d
PAul beholde the councel, and sayde: men, and brethren * I haue lyued in all good conscyence before God vntyll this daye. And the hye preste Ananias commaũded them that stode by, to smyte hym on the mouth.

Then sayde Paul vnto hym: God shall
* Deu.xxvii.d smyte the thou paynted wall *. Sittest ꝓ and iudgest me after the lawe: and commaũdest me to be smytten contrary to the lawe?
* Joh.xviii.d And they that stode by, sayde * reuylest thou Goddes hye preste? Then sayd Paul: I wist not brethren, that he was the hye preste. For ‡ Exo.xxii.d it is wrytten: ‡ thou shalt not curse the ruler
B of thy people.

When Paul perceaued that the one parte were Saduces, and the other Pharises, he cryed out in the councell: Men and brethren,
* Philip.iii.a * I am a Pharisey, the sonne of a Pharisey.
* Act.xxiii.c. and.xxvi.b ‡ Of the hope and resurrecyon from death, I am iudged.

And whan he had so sayde, there arose a debate betwene the Pharisyes and the Sa-
* Mat.xxii.c Mar.xii.b. Luke.xx.c duces ād the multitude was deuyded. * For the Saduces saye, that there is no resurrecyon, nether angell, nor spyrete: But the Pharisyes graunt both.

And there arose a greate cry: and whan the Scribes which were of the Pharisyes parte arose, they stroue saying: we fynde none euyll in thys man. Though a spyrete or an angell hath apeared to hym, let vs not stryue agaynst God.

C And when there arose greate debate, the captayne (fearyng, lest Paul shulde haue bene pluckte a sondre of them) commaunded the soudyers to go downe, and to take hym from amonge them, and to bryngе hym into the castell.

* Actes.xvi.b and.xviii.d * The nyght folowynge, God stode by hym, and sayde: be of good cheare Paul: for ‡ Act.xxvii.b as thou hast testifyed of me in Jerusalem ‡ so must thou beare wytnesse also at Rome. And whan it was daye, certayne of the Jewes gathered them selues togeather, and made a vowe, sayinge: that they wolde nether eate nor dryncke, tyll they had kylled Paul. They were moo then fourtye men, which had made thys conspiracyon: And they came to the chefe prestes and elders, ād sayde: we haue bounde oure selues with a vowe, that we wyll eate nothynge, vntyll we haue slayne Paul.

D Nowe therfore gene ye knowledge to the vpper captayne and to the councell, that he bryngе hym forth vnto vs to morowe, as though we wold knowe some thyng more perfectly of him. But we (or euer he come neare) are redy to kyll hym.

Whan Pauls systers sonne hearde of theyr layinge awayte, he went, and entred into the castell, and tolde Paul. And Paul called one of the vnder captaynes vnto him and sayde: bryngе thys younge man vnto the hye captayne: for he hath a certayne thynge to shewe hym. And he toke hym and broughte hym to the hye captayne, and sayd: Paul the presoner called me vnto hym, and prayed me to bryngе thys younge man vnto the, whych hath a certayne matter to shewe the.

E The hye captayne toke hym by the hand, and went with him out of the waye, and asked hi: what is yt that thou hast to tell me? And he sayde: the Jewes are determyned to desyre the, that thou woldest bryngе forth Paul to morow into the counsell, as though they wolde enquyre somwhat of hym more perfectly. But folowe not thou theyr mynes: for there lye in wayte for hym of them, moo then fourtye men, which haue bounde them selues with a vowe, that they will nether eate nor dryncke, tyll they haue kylled hym. And now are they redy, and loke that thou shuldest promes.

The vpper captayne then let the younge F man departe, and charged hym, sayinge: se thou, tell it oute to no man, that thou hast shewed these thynges to me: And he called vnto hym two vnder captaynes sayinge: make ready two hundred soudiers to go to Cesarea, and horsmen threscore, and ten: and speare men two hundred, at the thyrde houre of the nyght. And delyuer them beastes, that they maye sett Paul on, and bryngе hym safe vnto Felix the hye debyte-ꝛ (for he dyd feare lest happlye the Jewes shulde take hym awaye and kyll hym, and he hym selfe shulde be afterwarde blamed, as though he wolde take money,) and he wrote a letter after thys maner.

Claudius Lysias vnto the most myghtey rular Felix, sendeth gretynges. * Thys * Actes.xi.i man was taken of the Jewes, and shuld haue bene kylled of them. Then came I with soudyers, and reskued hym, and perceaued that he was a Romayn. And when I wold haue knowen the cause, wherfore they accused hym, * I broughte hym forth into theyr * Actes.xxiii councell. There perceaued I that he was accused of questions of their lawe. * But was * Actes.xxvi not gyltye of eny thynge worthy of death or of bondes. And when it was shewed me, how that Jewes layde wayte ther for him, I sent hym strayght waye to the, and gaue commaundement to hys accusars, that the

the thynges, which they haue agaynst hym, they shulde tell before the: fare well. Then the soudyers (as it was commaunded them) toke Paul, ād brought hym by night to Antipatras. On the morow they left the horsmen to go with hym, and returned vnto the castle. Which when they came to Cesarea, (and delyuered the epistle to the debyte) presented Paul also before him. When the debite had redde the lettre, he asked of what coūtre he was. And when he vnderstode that he *Dan.xvii.a was of Cilicia * I wyll heare the (sayde he) when thyne accusars are come also: and he commaunded hym to be kepte in Herodes iudgement hall.

¶ The.xxiiij.Chapter.

¶ Paul ys accused before Felix, he answereth for hym selfe.

A
*Actes.xxv.d After fyue dayes, Ananias * the hye preste descended with the elders, and with a certayne oratour named Tartullus, which enformed the debite against Paul. And when Paul was called forth, Tartullus beganne to accuse hym, saying: Seynge that we lyue in greate quietnes by the meanes of the, and that many good thynges are done vnto thys nacion thorowe thy prouidence. that alowe we euer and in all places moost noble Felix with all thākes. Notwithstandynge, ỹ I be not tedious vnto the, I praye the, that thou woldest heare vs of thy curtesya few wordes:

B For we haue founde this man a pestilent felowe, and a mouer of debate vnto all the Jewes in the whole world, and a maynteyner (of sedicyon) of the secte of the Nazarites which hath also enforsed to pollute the tem-
*Actes.xxi.f ple. * Whom we toke, and wolde haue iudged accordinge to our lawe: but the hye captayne Lisias came vpon vs, and with great violence toke hym a waye oute of oure handes, commaundynge hys accusars to come vnto the. Of whom thou mayest (yf thou wilt enquyre) knowe the certenty of all these thinges, wherof we accuse hi: The Jewes lyke wyse affermed, sayinge, that these thinges were euen so.

C Then Paul (after that the debite hym selfe had beckened vnto hym that he shulde speake) answered: With a moare quiet minde do I answere for my selfe, for as moche as I vnderstāde, that thou hast bene of many yeares a iudge vnto thys people, because that thou mayest knowe, ỹ ther are yet, but
*After.xxv.d twelue dayes sence I went vp to Jerusalem for to worshippe, and * they nether founde me in the temple disputynge with eny man, ether raysinge vp the people, nether in the Synagoges, nor in the cytie. Nether can they proue the thynges wherof they accuse me.

D But thys I confesse vnto the, that after the waye (which they call heresye) so worshyp I the God of my fathers, beleuynge all thinges which are wrytten in the lawe & the prophetes, and haue hope towardes God, that * the same resurrecciō of the deed) which * Mat.xxiij.c they them selues loke for also) shalbe, both of iust and vniust. And therfore * study I to haue * Act.xxiij.a allwaye a cleare conscience toward God, and towarde men.

But after many yeares, I came * and * Rom.xv.f Actes.xi.d
brought almes to my people and offerynges
&c (and vowes) in the which they founde me pu- &c rified in the temple, nether with multitude, nor yet with vnquyetnesse &c (and they toke me, &c and cryed, sayinge, allwaye with oure enemye.) Howbeit there were certen Jewes out of Asia, which ought to be here present before the, and accuse me, yf they had ought agaynst me: or elles E lett these same here saye, yf they haue found any cuyll doynge in me, whyle I stande here in the councell: except it be for this one voyce, that I cryed standynge among them. * of * Act.xxiij.a
the resurrecyon from death am I iudged of you thys daye.

Whē Felix heard these thinges, he deferde thē, for he knew very well of that waye, E and sayde. when Lysias the captayne is come downe. I will knowe the vtmost of your matter. And * he commaunded an vnder- * Jer.xxxix.c
captayne to kepe Paul, and to let hym haue Actes.xxvii.d
rest, and that he shuld forbyd none of hys acquaynt aunce to minister vnto him, or to come vnto hym.

And after a certayne dayes, whan Felix came with his wyfe Drusilla (which was a Jewesse) he called forth Paul, and hearde F
hym of the fayth, which is towarde Christ And as he preached of ryghtewesnes temperaunce, and iudgement to come, Felix trembled, and answered: Go thy waye for thys tyme: whan I haue a conuenient season, I wyll sende for the. He hoped also, that money shulde haue bene geuen hym of Paul, that he myght loose him: wherfore, he called hym the oftenner and comened with hym. But after two yeare, Festus Porcius came into Felix rowme. And Felix * wyl- * Act.xxv.d
lynge to shewe the Jewes a pleasure, lefte Paul in prison bounde.

¶ The.xxv.Chapter.

¶ The Jewes accuse Paul before Festus, he appealeth vnto the Emperour, and is sent vnto Rome.

When Festus had receaued the of- A fyce, after thre dayes, he ascēded from Cesarea vnto Jerusalem. Then enformed hi the hye prestes and the chefe of the Jewes, of Paul. And they besought hym, and desyred fauour agaynst hym, that he wolde sende for hym to Jerusalem: and they layde

a wayte for hym in the waye, to kyll hym. Festus answered, that Paul shulde be kept at Cesarea, but that he hym selfe wold shortly departe thyther. Let them therfore (sayde he) which among you are able, come downe with vs, and accuse hym, yf there be any fawte in the man.

B When he had tarryed there amonge them more then ten dayes, he wente downe vnto Cesarea, and the nexte daye sat downe in the iudgement seate, and commaunded Paul to be brought. Which when he was come, the Iewes which were come from Ierusalem, stode aboute hym, and layde many and greuous complayntes agaynst Paul, whych they coulde not prone, as lōge as he answered for hym selfe * that he had nether agaynst the lawe of the Iewes, nether agaynst the temple, nor yet agaynst Cesar offended any thynge at all.

* Act.xxiiii.c and.xxviii.d

C * Act.xxiii.f Festus * wyllynge to do the Iewes a pleasure, answered Paul, and sayde: wylt thou go vp to Ierusalem, and there be iudged of these thynges before me? Then sayde Paul: I stande at Cesars iudgement seate, where I ought to be iudged. To the Iewes haue I no harme done, as thou very well knowest. If I haue hurte them, or commytted any thyng worthy of death, I refuse not to dye. If noone of these thynges are, where of they accuse me, no man maye delyuer me to them, I appeale vnto Cesar. Then spake Festus with deliberacyon, and answered: Thou hast appealed vnto Cesar: vnto Cesar shalt thou go.

D And after a certayne dayes, kynge Agrippa and Bernice came vnto Cesarea to salute Festus. And whan they had bene there a good season, Festus rehearsed Paules cause vnto the kynge, sayinge: * there is a certayne man lefte in prison of Felix, aboute * Act.xxv.f. whom whan I came to Ierusalem, * the hye * Act.xxiiii.a. priestes and elders of the Iewes enfourmed me, and desyred to haue iudgement agaynst hym. To whom I answered: It is not the maner of the Romaynes, for fauoure to delyuer any man, that he shulde perysshe, before that he which is accused, haue the accusars before hym, and haue lycence to answere for hym selfe, concernynge the cryme layde agaynst hym. Therfore, whan they were come hyther, without any delaye, on the morowe I sate to geue iudgment, and commaunded the man to be brought forth.

E Agaynst whom, whan the accusars stode vp, * they brought noone accusacion of soch thynges as I supposed: but had certen questions agaynst hym of their awne superstition, and of one Iesus which was dead, whō Paul affyrmed to be alyue. And because I douted of soche maner of questions, I asked F hym, whether he wolde go to Ierusalem, and there be iudged of these matters. But whan Paul had appealed to be kepte vnto the knowledge of Cesar, I commmaunded hym to be kepte, tyll I myght sende hym to Cesar. Agripa sayde vnto Festus: I wolde also heare the man my selfe. To morowe, (sayde he) thou shalt heare hym. And on the morowe whan Agripa was come and Bernice, with greate pompe, and were entred in to the counсell house, with the captaynes ād chefe men of the cytie, at Festus commaundement was Paul brought forth. And Festus sayde: kyng Agripa, & all ye men which are heare present with vs, ye se this man, about whom all the multitude of the Iewes haue intreated me, both at Ierusalem and also here cryinge, that he ought not to lyue any lenger. Yet founde I nothyng worthy of death, that he had committed. Neuertheles, seying that he hath appealed to Cesar, I haue determined to sende hym. Of whom I haue no certayne thyng to write vnto my lord. Wherfore, I haue brought hym vnto you, and specially vnto the: O kynge Agripa, that after examinacyon had, I myght haue sumwhat to wryte. For me thinketh it vnreasonable, for to sende a prisoner, and not to shewe the causes which are layde agaynst hym.

¶ The.xxvj. Chapter.

¶ Kynge Agrippa heareth Paul, which telleth hym his callynge from the begynnynge.

A Gryppa sayde vnto Paul: A
Gryppa sayde vnto Paul: † art permytted to speake for thy selfe. Then Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for hym selfe. I thinke my selfe happy kīg Agrippa, because I shall answere this daye before the, of all the thinges whereof, I am accused of † Iewes: namely, because thou arte experte in all customes and questions, which are among the Iewes. Wherfore I beseche the, to heare me pacyently.

B My lyuynge that I haue lead of a chylde (which was at the fyrst among myne awne nacion at Ierusalem) knowe all the Iewes, which knewe me from the begynnynge, yf they wolde testyfye. For * after the moost * Phili.iii.a straytest secte of our religion, I lyued a pharisey. And now I stande and am iudged for the hope of the promes made of God vnto † Actes xxiii.b xxvii.f.xxviii.c oure father: vnto which promes our twelue tribes (instantly seruyng God daye & nyght) hope to come. For which hopes sake, kynge Agrippa, I am accused of the Iewes. Why C shulde it be thought a thynge incredyble vnto you, † God shulde rayse agayne the dead? I also verely thought in my selfe, that I ought to do many contrary thynges, cleane agaynst the name of Iesus of Nazareth: * * Actes viii.c. xx.d.xxvii.d 1 Cor.xv.b Gala.ii.c which thynge I also dyd in Ierusalem. And many many of the sayncte dyd I shut vp in prison, and had receaued auctorite of the hye Prestes. And when they were put to deeth, I gaue the sentence. And I punished them ofte in euery synagoge, and compelled them to blaspheme: and was yet more mad vpon them, and persecuted them, euen vnto straunge cyties. About which thinges as I went to Damasco wyth auctorite and licence of the hye Prestes, cue at myddaye. (O kyng) I sawe in the waye a syght from heauen aboue the brightnes of the sonne shyne rounde about me, and them whych iorneyed wyth me.

D When we were all fallen to the erthe, I heard a voyce speakynge vnto me, & saying in the hebrue tonge: * Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is harde for the to kicke agaynst the pricks. And I sayd: Who art thou Lorde? And he sayde: I am Jesus whom thou persecutest, but rise and stand vp on thy fete. For I haue appeared vnto ꝑ for this purpose, to make ꝑ a minister and a witnes both of those thynges whych ꝑ hast sene, & of those thynges in the which I will appeare vnto the, delyuerynge the from the people, and from the gentyls, vnto whom now I sende the, to opē their eyes, that they maye be turned from darcknes to light, and from the power of Satan vnto God, that they maye receaue forgeuenes of synnes, and inheritaunce amōge them whych are sanctified by fayth that is toward me.

* Actes.xx.d and xxiii.f.

E Wherfore (O kynge Agryppa) I was not disobedient vnto the heauenly visyon: but shewed fyrst vnto them of Damasco, & at Jerusalem, and thorow out all the coastes of Jewry, and then to the gentyls, that they shuld repent, and turne to God, and do soch workes as become them that repent. For this cause the Jewes caught me in the temple, and went about to kyll me. Seyng therfore that I haue obtained helpe of God: I contynew vnto this daye, wytnessinge bothe to small & to great, saying none other thynges, then those whych the prophetes & Moses dyd saye shuld come: that Christ shuld suffer, and that he shulde be the fyrst that shuld ryse from deth, and shuld shewe lyght vnto the people, and to the gentyls. As he thus spake for hym selfe: Festus sayde with a loude voyce: Paul, ꝑt beside thy selfe. Moch learnynge doth make the madd. And Paul sayde: I am not mad (most deare Festus) but speake forth the wordes of trueth and sobernes. For ꝑ kynge knoweth of these thynges, before whō also I speake frely: neither thynke I that eny of these thynges are hydden from him. For this thynge was not done in a corner. Kynge Agrippa beleuest thou the Prophetes? I wote well that thou beleuest. Agrippa sayde vnto Paul: Sumwhat thou byrngest me in mynde for to become Christen. And Paul sayde: I wolde to God that not onely thou: but also all that heare me to daye were, not somwhat onely, but all together, soch as I am, except these bondes. And when he had thus spoken, the kynge rose vp, and the debite, and Bernice, and they that sate with the. And when they were gone aparte, they talked betwene the selues, sayinge. This man doeth nothyng worthy of deeth, or of bondes. Then sayde Agrippa vnto Festus. This man myght haue bene let loose, yf he had not appealed vnto Cesar.

F

¶ The. xxvij. Chapter.

¶ Paul shypped towarde Rome. Julius the Captayne intreateth hym curteously, & at the last they suffre shypwracke.

When it was concluded, ꝑ we shuld sayle into Italy they A delyuered both Paul & certayne other prisoners, vnto one named Julius, an vnder captayne of Cesars soudiars. And we entred into a shyp of Adramicum, and loosed from land, apoynted to sayle by the coastes of Asia, one * Aristarcus out of Macedonia, of the con- Colo.iiii.a tre of Thessalonia tarynge styll with vs. And ꝑ nexte daye we came to Sidō. And Julius * courteoully entreated Paul, and gaue * Jer.xxxviii.d. him lyberte, to go vnto his frēdes, & to refresh the hym selfe. And whan we had launched Actes.xxviii.d from thence, we sayled harde by Cypers, because the wyndes were cōtrarye. And whan we had sayled ouer ꝑ see of Cylicia, & Pamphilia, we cam to Myra whych is in Lycia.

And there the vndercaptayne founde a B shyppe of Alexandria ready, that sayled into Italy, and he put vs therin. And when we had sayled slowly many dayes, and scace were come ouer agaynst Gnydon (because the wynde wyth stode vs) we sayled harde by the coaste of Candy, ouer agaynst Salmo, and wyth moche worke sayled beyonde it, & came vnto a place which is called the fayre hauēs. Nye wher vnto was the cytie of Lasea when moche tyme was spent, and whan sayling was now ieoperdous, because also that they had ouerlonge fasted, Paul put the in remembraunce, and sayd vnto the: Syrs I perceaue, that thys viage wilbe wyth hurte and moche damage, not of the ladynge ād shyp onely, but also of your lyues: Neuerthelesse ꝑ vnder captayne beleued ꝑ gouerner & ꝑ master of ꝑ shyp more then those thynges whych were spoke of Paul. And because the hauē was not cōmodious ꝑ to wynter in, many toke cousell to departe thēce, yf by eny meanes they myght attayne to Phenices & there to wynter, whych is an hauen of Candy, and lyeth toward the southwest and northwest wynde. When the south wynde blewe, they supposynge to obtayne their purpose, loosed vnto Asson, and sayled past all Candy.

C

But not long after, there arose agaynst theyr purpose, a flawe of wynde out of the D northeast. And when the shyp was caught & could not resyst ꝑ wynde, we let her go, and draue with ꝑ wether. But we were caryed to an yle whych is named Clauda, and had moche worke to come by a bote, whych they toke vp, and vsed helpe, & made fast ꝑ shyppe, fearinge, lest they should fall ☞ into the Syrtes. And so they let downe a vessell, & were caryed. The nexte daye (whē we were tossed wyth an exceadinge tempest) they lyghtened the shyp, and the thyrde daye we cast out wyth ouer awne handes the takelynge of the shippe. Whē at the last, neither the sunne nor starres in many dayes appeared, and no small tempest laye vpō vs, all hope that we should escape, was then takē awaye. But after longe abstynence, Paul stode forth in the myddes of them, & sayde: Syrs, ye shulde haue harkened to me, and not haue loosed from Candy, neither to haue brought vnto vs thys harme & losse. And now I exhorte you to be of good chere. For ther shalbe no losse of eny mās lyfe amonge you, saue of the shippe onely. For ther stode by me thys nyght ꝑ angell of God, whose I am, and whō I serue, * Acts.xxvi.c saying: feare not Paul * ꝑ must be brought before Cesar. And lo, God hath geuen the all them that sayle wyth the. Wherfore syrs be E of good chere: for I beleue God, that it shalbe euen as it was tolde me. How be it we must * Act.xxviii.a be caste into * a certayne ylonde:

But when the fourtenth nyght was come, as we were sayling in Adria about mydnyght (the shypmē demed, that ther appeared some countre vnto them: and sounded, & foūde it.xx. feddoms. And whē they had gone a lytell further, they sounded agayne, and foūde.xv. feddoms. Then fearynge lest they should haue fallē on some rocke, they cast. iiij. ancres out of the sterne, and wyshed for the daye. As the shypmen were about to flee out of the shyp (whan they had let downe ꝑ bote into the see, vnder a couloure, as though they wolde haue cast ancres out of the forshippe) Paul sayde vnto the vndercaptayne and to the soudyers: excepte these abyde in the shyp ye cannot be safe. Then the soudyers cut of ꝑ F rope of the bote, and let it fall awaye.

And whan the daye beganne to appeare, Paul besought them all to take meate, sayinge: thys is the fourtenth daye, that ye haue taryed and contynued fastynge, receauynge nothīg at all. Wherfore, I praye you to take meate: for this no dout is for youre helth: for *ther shall not an heer fall from the heed of eny of you. And when he had thus spoken, he toke breed and ✣ gaue thankes to God in presence of them all: and whan he had brokē it, he beganne to eate. Then were they all of good cheare, and they also toke meate. We were all together in the shyp, two hundred threscore and syxtene soules. And whē they had eaten ynough, they lyghtened the shyp, and cast out the wheate into the see. * Mat.xiiij. Luc.xxiij. ✣ Mar.viij. and.xxvij.d. 1.Tim.iiij.

When it was daye, they knew not the G lande, but they spyed a certayne hauen with a bancke, into the whych they were mynded (if it were possyble) to thrust in ꝑ shyp. And when they had taken vp the ancres, they cōmitted them selues vnto the see, and lowsed the rudder bondes and hoysed vp the mayne sayle to the wynde, and drue to lande. And whan they chaunced on a place, whych had the see on both the sydes, they thrust in the shyp. And the forepart stucke fast and moued not, but the hynder parte brake wyth ꝑ violence of the waues.

The Soudyars councell was to kyll the presoners, lest eny of them, when he had swome out, shulde ronne awaye. But the vnder captayne wyllinge to saue Paul, kept them from theyr purpose, and commaunded that they whych coulde swymme, shulde cast thē selues fyrst into the see, and scape to lande. And the other he commaunded to go, some on bordes, and some on broken peces of the shyp. And so it came to passe, that they escaped all safe to lande.

¶ The.xxviij. Chapter.

¶ The viper burteth not Pauls hande, he healeth Publyus father, and preacheth Christ at Rome.

A * Act.xxviij.a

AND when they were scaped, then they knewe, that: * the yle was called Melete. And the straungers shewed vs no lytell kyndnes: for they kyndled a fyre, and receaued vs euery one, because of the present rayne, & because of ꝑ colde. And whē Paul had gathered a bondell of styckes, and layde thē on the fyre, ther came a viper out of the heat, & caught hym by the hāde. When the straungers sawe the beast hange on hys hande, they sayde amonge them selues: no doute thys mā is a murtherer: whō (though he haue escaped the see) yet vengeaunce suffreth not to lyue. And he shouke of the viper into the fyre, and * felt no harme. Howbeit B * Mar.xvi.b Luc.x.c they wayted whē he shulde haue swolne, or fallen downe deed sodenly. But after they had loked a greate whyle, and sawe no harme come to hym, they chaunged theyr mynes, and sayde * that he was a God. * Act.xiiij.b

In the.

C In the same quarters were londes of the chefe man of the yle (whose name was Publius) whych receaued vs, & lodged vs thre dayes courteously. And it fortuned that the father of Publius laye sycke of a feuer, and of a bloudy flixe. To whom paul entred in and prayde, and layde hys handes on hym & healeth him. So, when this was done, other also whych had dyseases in the yle, cam and were healed: whych also dyd vs great honour. And when we departed, they laded vs w such thynges as were necessary.

After thre monethes we departed in a ship of Alexandry, whych had wyntred in the yle, whose badge was Castor & Pollux. And whē we came to Cyracusa, we taryed there thre dayes. And frō thence we set a cōpasse, and came to Regium. And after one daye ỳ south wynde blewe, and we came the nexte daye to Putiolus: where we founde brethrē, and were desyred to tary wyth them seuen dayes, and so came we to Rome. And from thence, when the brethren hearde of vs, they came to mete vs at Appiforum, and at the thre tauernes. When Paul sawe them, he thancked God, and were bolde. And when we came to Rome, the vndercaptayne delyuered the prisoners to the chefe captayne of the host: but Paul was suffred to dwell by hym selfe wyth a soudyer that kept hym.

And after thre dayes, Paul called the chefe of the Jewes together. And when they were come, he sayde vnto them: Men and brethrē, though, * I haue cōmitted nothing agaynst the people or lawes of ỳ Elders & yet was I delyuered prisoner from Jerusalem into the handes of the Romayns. Whych when they had examined me, wolde haue let me go, because ther was no cause of death in me. But when the Jewes spake contrary, I was constrayned to appeale vnto cesar: not ỳ I had ought to accuse my people of. For thys cause then haue I called for you, euē to se you, and to speake wyth you: * because that for the hope of Israel I am bounde w̄ this cheyne.

And they sayde vnto hym: we neither receaued letters out of Jewry pertayninge vnto the nether eny of the brethren ỳ came shewed or spake eny harme of ỳ. But we wyll heare of the what thou thynckest. For as cōcernyng thys secte, we know we that * euery where it is spoken agaynst. And when they had appoynted him a daye, ther came many to hym into hys lodgyng. To whom he expounded and testifyed the kyngdom of God and preached vnto them of Jesus: both out of the lawe of Moses and out of the Prophetes, euen from morninge to nyght. And * some beleued the thynges whych were spokē, and some beleued not.

And when they agreed not amonge them selues, they departed, after that Paul had spoken one worde: well spake the holy ghost by Esay the prophet vnto oure fathers, saying: * Go vnto thys people, and saye: wyth youre eares shall ye heare, and shall not vnderstande: and wyth youre eyes shall ye se, & not perceaue.

For the hert of thys people is wexed grose, and wyth their eares haue they had no lust to heare, and their eyes haue they closed: lest they shulde se wyth their eyes, & heare wyth their eares, and vnderstande with their hertes, and shuld be conuerted, and I shuld heale them. Be it knowen therfore vnto you, that thys saluacyon of God is sent to the gētyls, and they shall heare it. And whē he had sayde these wordes, the Jewes departed frō him and had greate disputacions amōge them selues.

And Paul dwelt two yeares full in hys lodgynge, and receaued all that cam in vnto hym, preachinge the kyngdome of God, and teachynge those thynges whych concerne the Lorde Jesus wyth all confydence, no man forbydding hym.

Here endeth the Actes of the Apostles.

¶ The Epistle of the Apostle Sayncte Paul to the Romayns.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

¶ Paul declareth before vnto the Romayns, wherein that the Gospell is vnto the true Israel, and reproueth the lasciuiousnes of the heathen.

Paul the seruaunt of Jesus Christ called to the office of an Apostle * put a parte for ỹ Gospell of God * whych he had promysed afore by hys Prophetes in the holy scriptures of hys sonne, whych was borne (as concerning) * of the seed of Dauid after the flesshe: and hath bene declared to be the sonne of God w̄ power, after ỹ spirite that sanctifyeth, sence the tyme that Jesus Christ oure Lorde rose agayne from deeth * by whom we haue receaued grace & Apostleshyp, that obedience myght be geuen vnto the fayth in hys name amonge all heathen, of whose nombre you be, the electe of Jesu Christ.

To all you that be at Rome, beloued of God and sayntes by electyon. * Grace be w̄ you and peace from God oure father, & from the Lorde Jesus Christ.

First verely I thāke my God thorow Jesus Christ for you all, that youre fayth is spoken of in all the worlde. For God is my wytnes (whom I serue * with my spirite in the Gospell of hys sonne) that wythout ceasynge I make mencyon of you prayinge alwayes * (my prayers) that by some meane, at the last (one tyme or other) a prosperous iorney (by the wyll of God) myght fortune me, to come vnto you. For I longe to se you, that I myght bestowe amonge you some spyrituall gyfte, to strength you withall: that is, that I myght haue consolacyō together wyth you, through the cōmen fayth whych both ye and I haue.

I wolde that ye shuld knowe (brethre) how that I haue often tymes purposed to come vnto you * but haue bene let hitherto) to haue some frute also amōge you, as amōg other of the Gētyls. I am detter both to the Grekes and to the vngrekes, to the learned and to the vnlearned. So that (as moch as in me is) I am redy to preach the Gospell to you that are at Rome also. * For I am not ashamed of the Gospell of Christ, because it is the power of God vnto saluacyō to euery one that beleueth, to the Jewe fyrst, & also to the Gentyle.

For by it is the rygh teousnes of God opened from fayth to fayth. As it is writte * the iust shall lyue by fayth.

For the wrath of God apeareth from heauen agaynst all vngodlynes and vnrygh teousnes of men, whych withholde the trueth in vnrighteousnes: seynge * that it whych may be knowen of God, is manyfest amōge them because God hath shewed it vnto thē. * For hys inuisyble thinges (ỹ is to saye hys eternall power ad godhed) are sene, for as moch as they are vnderstande * by the workes from the creacyō of the worlde: So that they are wythout excuse because that when they knewe God, they glorifyed hym not as God, nether were thankfull but were full of vanities in theyr imaginacions, * and theyr folysh hert was blynded. When they counted them selues wyse, they became fooles * and turned the glory of the immortall God, vnto an ymage, made not onely after the symilitude of a mortall man but also of byrdes, & foure foted * beastes & of crepig beastes. Wherfore, God gaue thē vp, to vnclēnes, thorow the lustes of their awne hertes to defyle their awne bodyes amonge thē selues: whych chaunged hys truthe for a lye, and worshypped and serued the thinges that be made, more then hym that made them, which is to be praysed for euer. Amen. Wherfore, God gaue them vp vnto shamefull lustes: * For euen their wemen dyd chaunge the naturall vse in to that whych is agaynst nature. And lyke wyse also the men, lefte ỹ natural vse of the woman, and brēt in their lustes one wyth another, * men wyth men wrought fylthynes, and receaued to thē selues the rewarde of theyr errour, as it was accordynge.

And as they regarded not to knowe God * euen so God delyuered them vp vnto a lewde mynde, that they shulde do those thynges whych were not comly, beyng full of all vnrygh teousnesse, fornicacyon, wyckednes, couetousnes, malicyousnes, full of envye mother, debate, diceyte, cuyll condicyoned, whysperers, backbyters, haters of God, dyf daynfull, proude, boasters, bringers vp of cuyll thynges, disobedyent to father and mo ther, wythout vnderstandynge, couenaunte breakers, vnlouynge, treucbreakers, vnmer cyfull. Which men, though they knew the ryghtewesnes of God, (consyned not) how that they which comm yt soche thynges, are wor thy of deeth, not only (they that) do the same but also (they which) haue pleasure in them that do them.

¶ The.ij. Chapter.

¶ He reburyth the Jewes, wherin as touchynge synne are lyke the Heathen.

Wherfore art thou inexcusable. O mā, whosoeuer thou be that ☞ iudgest For that same wherin thou iudgest another, thou condēnest thy selfe. For thou that iudgest, doest euen the same selfe thynges. But we are sure, that the iudgement of God is accordynge to trueth, agaynst them whych cōmyt soch thynges. Thynkest thou thys, O thou man that iudgest them whych do soche thynges, and doest euen the very same thy selfe, that thou shalt escape the iudgement of God? Ether despysest thou the ryches of hys goodnes, and pacyence and longe sufferaunce, not knowyng that ☞ the kyndnes of God leadeth the to repentaunce?

But thou after thy stubburnesse, and hertе that cannot repent, heapest vnto thy selfe wrath agaynst ☞ the daye of vengeaunce, when shalbe opened the ryghtewes iudgement of God, which wyll reward euery mā ☞ accordynge to hys dedes: that is to saye, prayse, honoure and immortalite, to them whych contynue in good doyng, and seke immortalite. But vnto them that are rebelles, and that do not obey the trueth, but folowe vnryghteousnes, shall come indignacyon and wrath, tribulacyon and anguyshe vpon the soule of euery mā that doth cuyll: of ☞ Jewe fyrst, and also of the Gētyle. To euery man that doth good, shall come prayse, and honoure, and peace, to the Jewe fyrst, and also to the Gentyll. For there is no respecte of parsonnes, with God. For whosoeuer hath synned wythout lawe, shall also perysshe without lawe. And as many as haue synned in the lawe, shalbe iudged by the lawe. For in the syght of God, they are not ryghteous which beare the lawe: but the doers of the lawe shalbe iustifyed. For whan the Gētyls which haue not the lawe, ☞ do of nature the thynges contayned in the lawe: then they hauynge not the lawe, are a lawe vnto them selues, which shew the dede of the lawe ¶ wrytten in theyr hertes: whyll theyr conscience beareth wytnes vnto them, and also theyr thoughtes, accusynge one another or excusynge, at the daye when the Lord shall iudge the secretes of mē by Jesus Christ, accordynge to my Gospell.

Beholde, thou art called a Jewe, and trustest in the lawe, and makest thy boast of God, and knowest his wyll, and alowest the thynges that be excellent, and art informed by the lawe: and beleuest that thou thy selfe art a gyde of the blynde, a lyght of the which are in darcknes, an informer of them which lacke discretyon, a teacher of the vnlearned, which hast ☞ ensample of knowledge, and of ☞ truthe by ☞ lawe. Thou therfore which teachest another, teachest not thy selfe. Thou preachest, a man shulde not steale: yet thou stealest. Thou that sayst, a man shuld not cō myt aduoutry, breakest wedlocke. Thou abhorrest ymages, and yet robbest God of his honoure. Thou that makest thy boast of the lawe, thorow breakynge the lawe dishonourest God. For the name of God is cuyll spoken of amonge the Gentyls, thorow you as it is wrytten.

For circumcisyon verely auayleth, yf thou kepe the lawe. But yf thou be a breaker of the lawe, thy circumcisyō is turned to vncircumcisyō. Therfore, yf the vncircumcised kepe ☞ ryght thynges cōtayned in the lawe, shall not his vncircumcisyon be counted for circumcisyon? And shall not vncircumcisyon which is by nature (yf it kepe the lawe) iudge the, whych beynge vnder the letter and circūcisyon, doest trāsgresse the lawe? he is not a Jewe, which is a Jewe outwarde. Neither is it circumcisyon, which is outwarde in the fleshe. But he is a Jewe which his hyd wythin, and the circumcisyon of the herte is the true circumcisyon, whych consisteth in the spryte and not in the letter: whose prayse is not of men, but of God.

¶ The.iij. Chapter.

¶ He shewyth what preferment the Jewes haue, and that both the Jewes and Gentyls are vnder synne, and are iustifyed only by the grace of God in Christ.

What preferment then hath ☞ Jewe? Or what aduauntageth circumcisyon? Surely verye moch. First because ☞ vnto them were committed ☞ wordes of God. What then though some of them dyd not beleue? shall theyr vnbeleue make the promes of God without effecte? God forbyd. Let God be true, and euery man a lyar, as it is wrytten: that thou myghtest be iustifyed in thy sayinges, and ouercome, when thou art iudged.

But yf oure vnryghtewesnes make ☞ ryghtewesnes of God more excellent: what shall we saye? Is God vnryghteous, which taketh vengeaunce? I speake after the maner of mē: God forbyd. For how then shall God iudge the worlde? For yf the trueth of God appeare more excellent thorow my lye, vnto his prayse, why am I dempned as a synner: and not rather (as we speake euyll of vs, and as some affyrme that we saye) let vs do euyll, that good maye come therof. Whose damnacyon is iuste.

¶ What then? Are we better then they? No, in no wyse. For we haue all ready proued, how that both Jewes and Gentyls are all vnder synne, as it is wrytten. * there is none ryghteous, no not one: there is none that vnderstandeth, there is none that seketh after God: they are all gone out of the waye, they are all vnprofytable, ther is none that doeth good, no not one. * Theyr throte is an open sepulcre, with theyr tonges they haue disceaued: the poyson of aspes is vnder theyr lyppes. * Whose mouth is full of cursynge and bytternes. * Their fete are swyfte to shed bloud. * Destruccyon and wretchednes are in theyr wayes, and the waye of peace haue they not knowē. * There is no feare of God before theyr eyes.

We knowe that what thynges soeuer ye lawe sayth, it sayth it to thē which are vnder ye lawe. That all mouthes maye be stopped, & that all the worlde maye be subdued to God, because ye * by the dedes of the lawe ther shall no flesshe be iustifyed in hys syght. For by ye lawe cōmeth ye knowledge of synne.

But now is (or) ye ryghtewesnes of God declared wythout the lawe, for asmoch as it is alowed by the testimonye of ye lawe and of ye prophetes. The ryghtewesnes of God, commeth by the fayth of Jesus Christ, vnto all and vpon all them that beleue. (on hym.)

D There is no differēce: for all haue synned, and are destytute of the glorye of God: but * are iustifyed freely by his grace, through the redempcyon that is in Christ Jesu, whom God hath set forth * to be the obtayner of mercy thorow fayth, by the meanes of hys bloude, to declare hys ryghteousnes, in that he forgeueth the synnes ye are passed, whych God syd suffre, to shewe at thys tyme hys ryghtewesnes, that he might be counted iust, and the iustifyar of hym whych beleueth on Jesus.

Where is then thy reioysynge? It is excluded. By what lawe? of workes? Naye: but by the lawe of fayth.

Therfore we holde, that * a man is iustifyed by fayth without the dedes of the lawe: Is he the God of the Jewes onely? Is he not also the God of the Gentyls? Yes, euen of the Gētyls also. For it is God only which iustifyeth the circumcisyon that is of fayth, and vncircumcisyon thorow fayth. Do we then destroye the lawe thorow fayth? God forbyd. But we rather maintayne the lawe.

¶ The.iiij. Chapter.

The declareth by the example of Abraham, how fayth iustifyeth, and not the lawe, nor the workes of Jewes.

What shall we saye then, that A * Abraham oure father (as pertaynynge to the flesshe) byd fynde? If Abrahā were iustyfyed by dedes, then hath he wherin to reioyce: but not wt God. For what sayth the scripture? † Abrahā beleued God, and it was counted vnto him for ryghtewesnes. To hym that worketh, is the rewarde not reckned of fauoure, but of dutye. ☞ To hym that worketh not, but beleueth on him that iustifyeth the vngodly, is his fayth counted for ryghtewesnes. (According to the purpose of the grace of God.) Euen as Dauid describeth the blessednes of that man, vnto whom God imputeth ryghtewesnes wythout dedes. * Blessed are they, whose vnryghtewesnes are forgeuen, and whose synnes are couered. Blessed is that man, to whom the Lorde wyll not impute synne.

Came this blessednes then vpō the vncircumcisyon, or vpon the circumcisyon also? For we saye, that fayth was rekened to Abrahā for ryghtewesnes. How was it then rekened? whan he was in the circumcisyon? or whan he was in the vncircumcysyon? * Not in ye tyme of circumcisyon: but when he was yet vncircumcised. And he receaued the * sygne of circumcisyon, as a seale of the ryghtewesnes of fayth, whych he had yet beynge vncircumcysed, that he shulde be the father of all them that beleue, though they be not circumcised, that ryghtewesnes myght be imputed to them also: and that he myght be father of circumcisyon, not vnto thē onely whych came of the circumcised, but vnto thē also that walke in the steppes of the fayth ye was in oure father Abrahā, before the tyme of circumcisyon.

For the promes (that he shuld be the heyre of ye worlde) happened not to Abrahā or to his seed thorow ye lawe: but thorow ye ryghtewesnes of fayth. * For yf they whych are of ye lawe, be heyres, then is fayth but vayne and the promes of none effecte. Because the lawe causeth wrath. For where no lawe is, there is no transgressyon. Therfore by fayth is the inheritaūce geuen, that it myght come of fauoure: that the promes myght be sure ☞ to all the seed. Not to them onely whych ☜ are of the lawe: but to them also which are of the fayth of Abraham, * which is the father of vs all. (As it is wrytten: † I haue made ye a father of many nacyons) euen before God, whom he beleued, whych restoreth the deed vnto lyfe: and calleth those thynges whych be not, as though they were.

Whych Abrahā, contrary to hope, beleued in hope, that he shulde be the * father of many nacyons, according vnto that whych was spoken: † euen so shall thy seed be. (as the stars of ens of heauen, and the sonde of the see.) And he staynted not in the fayth, nor yet consydered his awne body whych was now deed, euen when he was almost an hondred yeare olde: nether yet that Sara was past chyldeberinge. He staggered not at the promes of God thorow vnbelefe: but became stronge in fayth, and gaue God the prayse, beynge full certifyed, that he whych had promised the same was able also to make it good. And therfore was it reckened to hym for ryghteweines.

* Neuertheles it is not wrytten for hym onely, that it was reckened to hym (for ryghteweines:) but also for vs, to whom it shalbe counted (for ryghteweines,) so ỳ we beleue on hym, ỳ raysed vp Jesus oure Lorde from the deed: whych was delyuered for oure synnes, and was rayed agayne for oure iustificacyon.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

¶ The power of fayth, hope and loue and howe deeth raygned from Adã vnto Christ, by whome onely we haue forgeuenesse of synnes.

BEcause therfore that we are iustifyed by fayth, we are at * peace with God, thorow oure Lorde Jesus Christ: by whom also it chaunsed vnto vs to be brought in thorow fayth, vnto thys grace, wherin we stande, and (for) * reioyce in hope of ỳ glory (of the eternall) of God. Not that onely: but also we reioyce in tribulacyons: knowyng that * tribulacyon bryngeth pacience, pacience bryngeth experience, experience bryngeth hope. And hope maketh not ashamed: because the loue of God is sheed abroad in oure hertes, by the holy ghost whych is geuen vnto vs.

For * when we were yet weake, accordyng to the tyme, Christ dyed for vs whych were vngodly: yet scace wyll eny man dye for a ryghtewes mã. Paraũture for a good man durst a man dye. ✠ But * God setteth out his loue toward vs, seynge ỳ whyll we were yet synners (according to the tyme) Christ dyed for vs. Moch more then now (we that are iustifyed by hys bloud) shall be saued frõ wrath thorow hym.

For yf when we were enemyes, we were reconcyled to God by the deeth of hys sonne: moch more, seynge we are reconcyled, we shalbe preserued by hys lyfe. Not onely this, but we also reioyce in God by the meanes of oure Lorde Jesus Christ, by whom we haue now optayned the attonement.

¶ Wherfore, as by one man, synne entred in to the worlde, and * deeth by the meanes of synne. Euen so deeth also went ouer all men, in so moch as all we haue synned. For euen vnto ỳ lawe was synne in ỳ worlde, but synne is not imputed, whan ther is no lawe: neuertheles deeth raygned frõ Adam to Moses, euen ouer the also ỳ had not synned wyth lyke transgressiõ as dyd Adã: which beareth the similitude of him that was to come.

But the gyfte is not lyke as ỳ synne. For yf thorow the synne of one, many be deed: moche more plenteous vpon many was the grace of God ỳ gyfte by grace: * (for) whych was of one man Jesus Christ. *I.Ihon.i.b

And ỳ gyfte is not ouer one synne: as deeth cam thorow one synne of one ỳ synned. For damnacyon came of one synne vnto condemnacyon: but ỳ gyft came to iustify frõ many synnes. For yf by the synne of one, deeth raygned by the meanes of one: moch more they (whych receaue aboundance of grace and of the gyfte of ryghteweines) shall raygne in lyfe by the meanes of one (that is to saye) Jesus Christ. D

✠ Lykewyse then as by the synne of one there sprang vp euell on all men to condemnacyon: euen so by the ryghteousnes of one, sprynge good vpon all men to the ryghteousnes of lyfe. For as by one mannes disobedience many became synners: so by the obedience of one, shall many be made ryghteous. But * the lawe in ỳ meane tyme entred in, ỳ synne shuld encrease. Neuertheles where aboundance of synne was, there was more plentousnes of grace. That as synne had raygned vnto deeth, euen so myght grace raygne thorow ryghteweines, vnto eternall lyfe, by the helpe of Jesu Christ. ✠ *Gala.iii.d

¶ The. vj. Chapter.

¶ For so moch as we be delyuered thorow Christ from synne, we muste fassyon oure selues to lyue as the seruauntes of God, and not after our awne lustes. The vnfruytfy rewardes of vnryghteousnesse and synne.

WHat shall we saye then? Shall we contynue in synne, that there maye be aboundance of grace? God forbyd. How shall we that are deed as touchyng synne, lyue eny lenger therin? ✠ Knowe ye not that * all we whych are baptysed into Jesu Christe are baptysed to dye wyth him? We are buryed then with him by baptyme, for to dye: that lykewyse as Christ was rayed vp frõ deeth by the glorye of ỳ father, euen so * we also shulde walke in a newe lyfe. For yf we be grafte in deeth lyke vnto hym: euen so shall we be partakers of the resurrecyon: knowyng thys, that oure olde man is crucifyed with hym also, that the body of sinne myght vtterly be destroyed, ỳ hence forth we shuld not be seruauntes vnto synne. For he that is deed, is iustifyed from synne. A *Gala.iii.b Colla.ii.b. *Rom.viij.a

Wherfore * yf we be deed wt Christ, we beleue, ỳ we shall also lyue with hym: knowyng, that Christ beyng rayed from deeth, * dyeth nomore. Deeth hath nomore power ouer hym. For as touchynge that he dyed, he dyed concernynge synne once. And as touchynge that he lyueth, he lyueth vnto God. B *ij. Tim.ii.b ✝Apoc.i.b

Lykewyse

Lykewyse consydre ye also, that ye are deed as touchyng synne, but are alyue vnto God thorow Jesus Christ oure Lorde. ✠ Let not synne raygne therfore in youre mortall bodye, that ye shulde ther vnto obey by the lustes of it. ℭ Nether geue ye youre membres as instrumentes of vnryghteweines vnto synne: but geue ouer your selues vnto God as they that of deed, are alyue. And geue ouer youre membres as instrumentes of ryghteweines vnto God. For synne shall not haue power ouer you. Because (☞) ye are not vnder the lawe, but vnder grace.

What then? Shall we synne, because we are not vnder ꝑ lawe: but vnder grace? God forbyd. ✠ Knowe ye not, how that * to whom soeuer ye commit youre selues as seruaūtes to obey, hys seruaūtes ye are to whō ye obey: whether it be of synne vnto deeth, or of obedience vnto ryghteweines? God be thāked, that though ye were the seruauntes of synne, ye haue yet obeyed with herte vnto ꝑ rule of the doctryne, that ye be brought vnto. * Ye are then made fre frō synne, and are become the seruauntes of ryghteweines. ✠ I speake grosly, because of the infirmytie of youre flesshe. As ye haue geuen youre mēbers seruauntes to vnclennes and to iniquitye, (from one iniquitye to another) euen so now geue ouer youre membres seruauntes vnto ryghteweines, that ye maye be sanctifyed. For whē ye were the seruaūtes of synne, ye were voyde of ryghteweines. What frute had ye then in those thynges, wherof ye are now ashamed. For the ende of those thynges, is deeth. But now are ye delyuered frō synne, & made the seruaūtes of God, and haue youre frute to be sanctifyed, and ꝑ ende euerlastynge lyfe. For * ꝑ rewarde of synne is deeth. but eternall lyfe is ꝑ gyfte of God, thorow Jesus Christ oure Lorde. ✠

℣ John.viij.c. 1.Pet.i.b

* John viij.d. Roma.vi.d.

* Gene.ij.c. Roma.v.f

℣ The.vij. Chapter.

℣ Christ hath delyuered vs from the lawe and death. Paul sheweth what the flesshe and outwarde man is, and calleth it the lawe of the membres.

KNowe ye not brethrē (I speake to them that knowe the lawe) how that the lawe hath power ouer a man, as longe as it endureth. For * the woman whych is in subiecyon to a man, is bounde by the lawe to the man, as longe as he lyueth. But yf the man be deed, she is loosed frō the lawe of ꝑ man, So then * yf whyle ꝑ man lyueth she couple her selfe with another man, she shalbe counted a wedlocke breaker. But yf the man be deed, she is fre from the lawe of the husband, so that she is no wedlocke breaker, though she couple her selfe with another man.

Euen so ye also (my brethren) are deed cōcernynge ꝑ lawe by the body of Christ, that ye shulde be coupled to another (I meane to him that is rysen agayne frō deeth) that we shuld bringe forth frute vnto God. For whē we were in ꝑ flesshe, ꝑ lustes of synne whych were stered vp by the lawe, raygned in oure membres, to bringe forth frute vnto deeth. But now are we delyuered from the lawe, and deed vnto it wher vnto we were in bondage, that we shuld serue in a new conuersacyon of the spirite, and not in the olde conuersacyon of the letter.

What shall we saye then? is the lawe synne? God forbyd: neuertheles * I knew not synne, but by the lawe. For I had not knowne what lust had meant, excepte the lawe had sayd, † Thou shalt not lust. But synne toke an occasyon by the meanes of the commaundemēt and wrought in me all manner of cōcupiscence. For verely without ꝑ lawe, synne was deed. I once lyued wythout lawe: But when the commaundement came, synne reuiued, and I was deed. And the very same commaundement, whych was ordeyned vnto lyfe, was founde to be vnto me an occasyon of deeth. For synne toke occasyon by the meanes of the commaundement, and so discaued me, & by ꝑ same slewe me. Wherfore * the lawe is holy, and the commaundement holy, and iust and good.

* Rom.vij. Gala.iiij

† Exod.xx Deut.v.b

℣ Was ꝑ then which was good, made deeth vnto me? God forbyd. Naye it was synne: ꝑ sinne might appeare (by it which was good) to worke deeth in me: that synne by the commaundement myght be out of measure synfull. For we know, ꝑ the lawe is spirituall: but I am carnall (☞) * solde vnder synne, because (☞) I alowe not ꝑ whych I do. For what I wold, ꝑ do I not: but what I hate, that do I. If I do now that whych I wolde not, I cōsente vnto the lawe that it is good. So then now, it is not I ꝑ do it, but synne that dwelleth in me. For I knowe, that in me (that is to saye in my * flesshe) dwelleth no good thinge. For, to wyll is present with me: but I synde no meanes to performe that whych is good. For the good that I wolde, do I not: but the euyll whych I wolde not, that do I. Yf I do that I wolde not, then is it not I that do it, but synne that dwelleth in me. I synde then by the lawe, that when I wolde do good, euyll is present wyth me. For I delyte in the lawe of God, after the inward man. But I se another lawe in my membres, rebellynge agaynst the lawe of my mynde, and subduynge me vnto the lawe of synne, whych is in my members. O wretched man that I am: who shall delyuer me from thys body subdued vnto deeth? I thanke God thorow Jesus Christ oure Lorde. So then, wyth the mynde I serue the lawe of God, but wyth the flesshe the lawe of synne.

℣ Rom.vij.d ✠ Gala.iij.d

℣ The.viij. Chapter. ✠

℣ (The lawe)

The lawe of the spyrete geueth lyfe. The spyrete of God maketh vs Godschyldren and heyres with Christ. The aboundaunt loue of God cannot be separated.

A Ther is then no damnacyon to the whych are in Chryst Jesu, whych walke not after the flesshe, but after the spyrete. For the lawe of the spyrete of lyfe thorow Jesus Christ, hath made me * free from the lawe of synne, and deeth. + For what the lawe could not do (in as moch as it was weake because of the flesshe) that performed God, and * sent hys sonne in the similitude of synfull flesshe, and by synne dampned synne in the flesshe: ☞ the ryghtewesnes of the lawe, myght be fulfylled in vs, which walke not after the flesshe, but after the spyrete.

*John.viii.d Rom.vi.d. + Heb.vii.c.

*Luke.xv.b. John.iii.d.

☞ ☞

For they that are carnall, are carnally mynded. But they that are spirytuall, are gostly mynded. To be carnally mynded, is deeth. But to be spirytually mynded, is lyfe and peace. ✠ Because that the flesshly mynde is enemyte agaynst God: for it is not obedyent to the lawe of God, nether can be. So then they that are in ☞ the flesshe, cannot please God.

B

☞

But ye are not in ỹ flesshe, but in the spyrete: yf so be that the spyrete of God dwell in you. If eny mā haue not ỹ spyryte of Chryst, the same is none of hys. If Chryst be in you, the body is deed because of synne: but ỹ spyryte is lyfe for ryghtewelnes sake. Wherfore, yf the spyrete of hym that raysed vp Jesus from deeth, dwell in you: euen he that raysed vp Chryst from deeth, shall quycken youre mortall bodyes, because of hys spyrete that dwelleth in you.

C ✠ Therfore brethren, we are detters, not to the flesshe, to lyue after the flesshe. For yf ye lyue after the flesshe, ye shal dye. But yf ye (thorowe the spyrete) do mortyfye the dedes of the body, ye shall lyue. For as many as are led by the spyrete of God, they are the sonnes of God. For ye haue not receaued the spyrete of bondage to feare eny mo[r]are, but * ye haue receaued the spyrete of adopcyon, wherby we crye: Abba father. + The same spyrete certyfyeth oure spyrete that we are the sonnes of God. If we be sonnes, then are we also heyres, ỹ heyres I meane of God, + heyres anexed with Chryst: yf so be that we suffer with hym, that we maye be also glorified together with hym. ✠

*Gala.iiii.a. i.Timo.i.b. ii.Corin.i.b. and b.a. Ephe.i.a.

D ✠ For I suppose that the afflyccyons of thys lyfe, are not worthy of the glory, which shalbe shewed vpon vs. * For the feruent desyre of the creature abydeth, lokyng, whē the sonnes of God shall appere, because the creature is subdued to vanyte, agaynst the wyll therof, but for his will which hath subdued the same in hope. For the same creature shalbe delyuered from the bondage of corrupcyon, vnto the gloryous libertye of ỹ sonnes of God. For we knowe, that euery creature groneth with vs also, and trauayleth in payne, euen vnto thys tyme.

*ii. Co.v.a.

Not onely it, but we also which haue ☞ ỹ ☞ fyrst frutes of the spyryte, morne in oure selues also, and wayte for the adopcyō (of the chyldren God) euen the delyuerraunce of oure bodye. ✠ ✠ For we are sayed by hope. But hope that is sene, is no hope. For how can a man hope for that, which he seyth? But and yf we hope for that we se not, then do we wt pacience abyde for it.

Lyke wyse, the spyrete also helpeth oure infyrmyties. For we knowe not what to desyre as we ought: but the spyrete maketh intercessyon for vs, with grounynges which cannot be expressed. And * he that searcheth the hertes + knoweth, what is the meanynge of the spyryte: for he maketh intercessyon for ỹ sayntes accordyng to ỹ pleasure of God. ✠

*Iere.xvii.b Psalm.vii.c. Jere.xvii.b. + Math.vi.d.

✠ We knowe that all thynges worke for the best vnto them that loue God, which also are called of purpose. For those which he knewe before, he also ordeyned before, that they shulde be lyke fassyoned vnto the shape of hys sonne, that he myght be the fyrst begotten sonne amonge many brethren. Moreouer, whom he appoynted before, them also he called. And ☞ whom he hath called, ☞ them also he iustyfyed: and whom he iustyfyed, them he also glorifyed.

What shall we then saye to these thinges? + yf God be on oure syde, who cā be agaynst vs? which spared not hys awne sonne, * but gaue him for vs all: how can it be, that with hym he shulde not geue vs all thynges also? Who shall laye eny thynge to the charge of Goddes chosen; it is God that iustyfyeth: who is he that can condempne? it is Chryst which dyed, yee, rather which is rysen agayne, which is also on the ryght hande of God, and maketh intercessyon for vs.

+ Ro.viii.b.

*Luke.xv.b. John.iii.b. Ebay.liii.b.

Who shall seperate vs from the loue of God? shall tribulacyon? or angusshe? or persecucyon? other honger? ether nakednesse? ether parell? ether swearde? As it is wrytten: * for thy sake are we kylled all daye longe, and are cōpted as shepe apoynted to be slayne. Neuertheless, in all these thynges we ouercome thorowe hym that loued vs. For I am sure, that nether deeth, nether lyfe, nether Angels, nor rule, nether power, nether thynges present, nether thynges to come, nether heygth, nether loweth, nether eny other creature shalbe able to departe vs from the loue of God, which is in Chryst Jesu oure Lorde. ✠

*Psal.xliiii.d

The. ix. Chapter.

Paul complayneth vpon the harde hertes of the Jewes that wolde not receaue Chryst, and how the Heythen are chosen in theyr stede.

Isaye

A I Saye the truth in Chryst, and lye not, (my conscience also bearig me wytnes by ꝑ holy ghost) that I haue gret heuynes, & contynuall sorowe in my hert. For
* Ex.xxxii.g. * I haue wyshed my selfe to be cursed from Chryst, for my brethre (my kynsmen as pertaynynge to the flesshe) which are the Israelites. To whom pertayneth the adopcyon, ꝑ (of the chyldren) and the glorye, and the couenauntes and * the lawe that was geuen, & the seruyce of God, and the promyses: whose also are the fathers, and they of whom (as concernynge the flesshe) Chryst came, which is God in all thynges to be prayed for euer Amen.

B I speake not these thynges, as though the wordes of God had take none effecte. For
* Roma.ix.d * they are not all Israelites, which are of Israell: nether are they all chyldren straycht
* Gene.xxi.b. waye, that are the seed of Abraha. But * in Isaac shall thy seed be called: that is to saye:
* John.viii.c Roma.ii.d. * they which are the chyldren of the flesshe, are not the children of God. But they which be the chyldren of promes, are counted the
* Ge.xviii.b. seede. For this is a worde of promes, * about thys tyme wyll I come, and Sara shall haue a sonne.

Not onely thys, but also Rebecca was wt chylde by one, eue by oure father Isaac. For yet the chyldren were borne, when they had nether done good nether bad (that the purpo
C se of God by electcyon, myght stande) it was sayde vnto her, not by the reason of wor-
* Gene.xxv.c kes, but by the caller: * the elder shall serue ꝑ younger. As it is wrytten: Jacob haue I loued, but Esau haue I hated. What shall we saye then? is there eny vnrighteweines with God? God forbyd. For he sayth to Moses:
* Exo.xxxiii.d * I wyll shewe mercy to whomsoeuer I shewe mercy: and wyll haue compassyon, on whomsoeuer I haue compassyon. So lyeth it not then in a mans wyll or runnynge, but in the mercye of God. For the scripture sayth † Exod.ix.b. vnto Pharao: * euen for thys same purpose haue I stered the vp, to shewe my power on the, & that my name myght be declared throw out all the worlde. So hath he mercye on whom he wyll, and whom he wyll, he maketh harde herted.

D Thou wylt saye then vnto me, why then blameth he vs yet? For who hath bene able
* Esay.xlv.b and.lxiiii.d Eccle.xxviii.b Jere.xviii.d. to resist his wyll? * But O mā, what art ꝑ, which disputest with God? Shall the worcke saye to the worke man: why hast ꝑ made me on this fassyon? Hath not ꝑ potter power ouer ꝑ clay, euen of the same lompe to make one vessell vnto honoure, and another vnto dishonoure? Eue so, God willyng to shewe hys wrath, and to make his power knowen suffered wyth longe pacyence the vessels of wrath, ordeyned to damnacyon, and to declare the ryches of hys glory on the vessels of mercye, which he had prepared vnto glorye: whō also he called, not of the Jewes onely, but also of the gentyls. As he sayth also to E Osee: * I wyll call them my people which were not my people: and her beloued which was not beloued, (and her to haue optayned mercy, that had not optayned mercy) And it shall come to passe, that in the place where it was sayde vnto them: ye are not my people: there shall they be called the chyldren of the lyuynge God.
* Osee.ii.a 1. Peter.ii.b.

But Esay cryeth ouer Israel * though the nombre of the chyldren of Israel be as ꝑ sonde of ꝑ see, yet the remnaūt shall be saued
* Esay.xi. For he fynysheth the worde verely, and maketh it shorte in ryghteweines. For a shorte worde wil God make on erth. And as Esay sayd before: * except ꝑ Lorde of Saboth had
* Esay.i.a. left vs seede, we had bene made as Sodoma, and had bene lykened to Gomorra.

What shall we saye then? We saye, that the F gentyls which folowed not ryghteweines, haue ouertaken ryghteweines: euen ꝑ ryghteweines which cometh of fayth. Contrary wyse, Israel which folowed ꝑ lawe of rightweines could not attaine to ꝑ lawe of ryghteweines. Wherfore? euē because they sought it not by fayth: but as it were by the workes of the lawe. For they haue stombled at the stōbylynge stone. As it is wrytte: * Behold,
* Esa.xxviii.a 1. Peter.ii.b Acres.iiii.b. I put in Syon a stomblynge stone, & a rocke that mā shalbe offended at. And whosoeuer beleueth on hym, shall not be confounded.

¶ The.x. Chapter.

¶ The vnfaythfulnes of the Jewes. Two maner of ryghteousnes.

B Rethre, my hertes desyre & prayer
A to God for Israel is, ꝑ they myght be saued. For I beare them recorde, that they haue a feruent mynde to God warde, but not according to knowledge. For they beynge ignoraunt of Godes ryghteweines, and goynge about to stablysshe their owne ryghteweines, haue not bene obedient vnto the ryghteweines of God.

For * Christ is the fulfyllyng of ꝑ lawe,
* Matth.v.c to iustyfye all that beleue.

For * Moses wrytteth of the ryghteweines which cometh of the lawe, how ꝑ
* Leui.xviii.c Gala.iii.b. ¶ B man whych doth the thynges of the lawe, shall lyue therby. But the ryghteweines which cometh of fayth, speaketh on thys wyse: Saye not thou in thyne hert, who shall ascende into heauen (that is euen to fetch Chryst downe from aboue.) Other who shall descende into the depe? (that is euen to fetch vp Chryst agayne frō deeth) But what sayth he? * The worde is nye the, euen in thy
* Deu.xxx.c mouth and in thyne herte.

Thys same is the worde of fayth, which we preache:

we preache. For yf thou knowledge with thy mouth that Jesus is the Lorde, & beleue in thyne hert, that God rayled hym vp from deeth, thou shalt be sake. ✠ For to beleue w the hert iustifyeth: and to knowledge with the mouth, maketh a man sake. For the scripture sayth: * whosoeuer beleueth on hym, C shall not be confounded.

There is no difference betwene the Jewe and the Gentill. For one is Lord of all, which is ryche vnto all ỹ call vpõ him. For * whosoeuer doth call on the name of ỹ Lord, shalbe sake. How then shall they call on hym, on whom they haue not beleued? how shall they beleue on hym, of whom they haue not herde? how shall they heare, without a preacher? And how shall they preache except they be sent? As it is written: how beautyfull are the fete of them which bryngе tydynges of peace, and bryngе tydynges of good thyngs. D But they haue not all obeyed to ỹ Gospell. For Esay sayth: * Lorde, who hath beleued oure sayinges? So then fayth cometh by hearynge, and hearynge cometh by the worde of God. But I aske: haue they not herde? No dout, * their sounde went out into all landes: and their wordes into the endes of the worlde. ✠

But I demaũde, whether Jsrael dyd knowe or not? Fyrst Moses sayth: * I will prouoke you to enuy, by them that are no people: by a folysh be nacion I wyll anger you. Esay after that, is bolde and sayeth: * I am founde of thẽ, that sought me not: I am manyfest vnto them, that aske not after me. But agaynst Jsrael he sayth: * all daye lõge haue I stretched forth my hãdes vnto a people ỹ beleueth not, but speaketh agaynst me.

¶ The.xj. Chapter.

¶ All the Jewes are not cast awaye, therfore Paul warneth the Gentyls that be called, not to be hye mynded nor to despyse the Jewes. For the iudgementes of God are depe and secrete.

I Saye then, hath God cast awaye hys people? God forbyd. For euen I also am an Jsraelite, of the seed of Abraham, of the trybe of Beniamin. God hath not cast awaye his people, which he knewe before. Wote ye not, what ỹ scripture sayth of Helias, how he maketh intercession to God agaynst Jsrael, saying: * Lorde, they haue kylled thy Prophetes, and dygged downe thyne alters: and I am lefte alone, and they seke my lyfe. But what sayth the answere of God vnto hym? * I haue reserued vnto my selfe seuen thousande men, which haue not bowed the knee to the ymage of Baal. Euen so also at thys tyme is there a remanaunt lefte accordynge to the electyon of grace. If it be of grace, then is it not now of workes. For then grace is no more grace. But If it be of workes, then is it now no grace. For then were destruynge nomore destruynge. What then? Jsrael hath B not obtayned that which he seketh: but the electyon hath obtayned it. The remnaũt are blynded accordynge as it is written. * God hath geuen them the spryte of vnquyetnes: eyes that they shuld not se, & eares that they shuld not heare, euen vnto this daye. * And Dauid sayth: Let their table be made a snare to take them withall, and an occasyõ to fall, and a reward vnto them. Let theyr eyes be blynded that they se not: and bowe thou downe their backe allwaye.

Jsaye then: haue they therfore stombled, that they shuld vtterly fall awaye together. God forbyd: but thorowe theyr fall is salua-cyon happened vnto the Gentyls, for to prouoke them withall. Wherfore yf the fall of them be the ryches of the worlde, and ỹ mynyshynge of them the ryches of the gentyls: how moch more their perfectnesse? I speake to you gentyls, in as moch as * I am ỹ Apostle of the gentyls, I wyll magnify myne office, yf by any meane I maye prouoke them which are my flesshe, and myght saue some of them. For yf the castynge awaye of thẽ, be the reconcylynge of the worlde: what shall the receauynge of them be, but lyfe agayne from deeth? For yf one pece be holy, ỹ whole heepe is holy. And yf the rote be holy, ỹ braunches shalbe holy also.

Though some of the braunches be brokẽ C of, and thou beynge a wylde olyue tree, wast graft in among them, and made partaker of the rote and fatnes of the * olyue tree, boast not thy selfe agaynst the braunches. For yf thou boast thy selfe, thou bearest not ỹ rote, but the rote the. Thou wilt saye then: ỹ braunches are broken of that I myght be graft in. Thou sayest well: because of vnbeleue they were brokẽ of, and thou stodest stedfast in fayth. Be not hye mynded, but feare: for seynge that God spared not ỹ naturall braũches, take hede, lest it come to passe that he spare not the also.

Beholde therfore the kyndnes and rygorousnes of God: on them which fell, rygorousnes. but towardes the, kyndnes: yf thou continue in hys kyndnes. Or els thou shalt be he wen of, and they agayne * yf they byde not styll in vnbelefe, shalbe grafted agayne. For God is of power to grafte the in agayne. For yf thou wast cut out of a naturall wylde olyue tree, and wast grafted contrary to nature in a true olyue tree: how moch more shall the naturall braunches be grafted in their awne olyue tree agayne.

I wolde not that this secrete shulde be hyd from you my brethren (lest ye shuld be wyse in youre awne conseytes) ỹ partly blyndnes is happened in Jsrael, vntyll the fulnes of the gentyls be come in: and so all Jsrael shalbe saued.

E laued. As it is wrytten. * There shall come out of Syon he that doth delyuer, and shall turne away vngodlynes from Jacob. And this is my couenaunt vnto the, whē I shall take away their synnes. As concernynge ꝑ gospell they are enemies for youre sakes: but as touchyng the election they are loued for the fathers sakes.

* Esay. lix.d. xxvij.xlv.j.d.

For verely, ꝑ gyftes and callynge of God are soch, that it cannot repent hym of them: for loke, as ye in tyme passed haue not beleued God, yet haue now obtained mercy thorow their vnbelefe: euen so now haue they not beleued ꝑ mercy which is happened vnto you: that they also maye obtayne mercy.

☞ For God had wrapped all nacyons in vnbeleue, that he myght haue mercy on all:

O the depnes of the ryches both of ꝑ wysdome and knowledge of God: ☞ how vnsercheable are his iudgementes, & his wayes past fyndynge out: For * who hath knowē the mynde of the Lorde? Or who hath bene hys counseller? other who hath geuen vnto hym fyrst, and he shalbe recompensed agayne? For of hym, and thorow hym, and for hym are all thynges: To hym be glorye for euer. Amen.

* Sapi. ix.d Esay.xl.c. 1.Corin.ij.d.

¶ The. xij. Chapter.

¶ The swete conuersacyon, loue, and workes of soch as beleue in Christ.

I Beseche you therfore brethren, by the mercyfulnes of God, that ye make yō bodies a quycke sacrifice, holy & acceptable vnto God: which is youre resonable seruynge of God & fassyō not youre selues lyke vnto this worlde: but be ye chaunged in youre shape, by the renuyng of your mynde, that ye maye proue what thynge that good, and acceptable, and perfaycte wyll of God is. For I saye (thorowe the grace that vnto me geuē is) to euery man amonge you, that * noman stonde hye in his owne conceate, more then it becōmeth hym to esteme of him selfe: but so iudge of hym selfe, that he be gentle and sober, accordynge, as God hath dealte to euery man the measure of fayth.

* Phylip. iij.c

* Eccle. iij.c. Roma. xij.d.

For as we haue many membres in one body, and all members haue not one office: so we beynge many, are one body in Christ, and euery man among oure selues, one anothers members. ✠ ✠ * Seynge that we haue diuers gyftes accordynge to the grace that is geuen vnto vs: yf eny man haue the gyft of * pphesye, let him haue it that it be agreyng vnto the fayth. * Let hym that hath an office wayte on his office. Let him that teacheth take hede to hys doctryne. Let hym that exhorteth, geue attendaunce to his exhortacyō. If eny man geue, let hym doit with synglenes. Let hym that ruleth, doit wit diligence. If eny man shewe mercy, let hym doit with cherfulnes. Let loue be without dissimulacyō. Hate that which is euyll. & cleaue vnto that which is good. Be kynde one to another with brotherly loue. * In geuynge honoure, go one before another. * Be not slouthfull in the busynes which ye haue in hande. Be feruent in the spirite. ☞ Applye youre selues to the tyme. Reioyce in hope. Be pacient in tribulacion. Continue in prayer. Distribute vnto the necessite of ꝑ sayntes: * be readie to harboure. * Blesse them which persecute you: blesse (I saye) and curse not. Be mery with the that are mery. Wepe also with them that wepe. Be of lyke affectiō one towardes another. Be not hye mynded: but make youre selues equall to them of the lower sorte. ✠

* 1.Cor. xij.b Ephe. iiij.b.

* 1.Cor. xiij.a. * 1.Pet. iiij.d

✠ Be not wyse in youre awne opynyons. Recompence to no man euyll for euyll. Prouyde afore hande thynges honeste (not onely before God, but also) in the syght of all men. If it be possyble, (as moch as is in you) lyue peaceably with all men. Dearly beloued, auēge not youre selues, but rather geue place vnto wrath. For it is wrytten: * vengeaunce is myne, I wyll rewarde, sayth the Lorde.

* Deut. xxxij.d

Therfore, yf thyne enemy hōger, fede him: yf he thyrst, geue hym drynche. For in so doyng ☞ thou shalt heape coles of fyre on hys heade. Be not ouercome of euyll, but ouercome euyll, with goodnes. ✠

¶ The. xiij. Chapter. ✠

¶ The obedyence of men vnto their rulers. Loue fulfylleth the lawe. It is now no tyme to folowe the workes of darkenes.

Let euery soule submyt hym selfe vnto the auctorite of the hyer powers. For * there is no power but of God. The powers that be, are ordeyned of God. Whosoeuer therfore resysteth power, resysteth the ordinaunce of God. But they that resyst, shall receaue to them selfe damnacyon. For rulers are not fearfull to them that do good, but to them that do euyll. Wylt thou be without feare of the power? Do well then: and so shalt thou be praysed of the same. For he is the mynyster of God, for thy welth. But ād yf thou do that which is, euyll, then feare: for he beareth not the sweard for nought: for he is ꝑ mynister of God, to take vengeaūce on hym that doth euyll. Wherfore ye must nedes obeye, not onely for feare of vengeaunce: but also because of conscience. And euen for this cause paye ye tribute. For they are Godds mynysters, seruinge for the same purpose. ✠

* Sapi. vi.a Iohn. iij.d. and. xviij.b.

Geue to euery man therfore hys duetye: * tribute to whom tribute belongeth: custome, to whom custome is due: feare, to whom feare belongeth: honoure, to whom honoure pertayneth. ✠ Owe nothynge to eny man: but thys, that ye loue one another. For he that loueth

* Mat. vij.d and. xxij.b.

that loueth another hath fulfylled the lawe. For these commaundemētes. † Thou shalt not commyt aduoutry: thou shalt not kyll: thou shalt not steale: thou shalt not beare false wytnes: thou shalt not lust, and so forth (yf there be eny other commaundement) it is all comprehended in thys sayinge, Namely: ✠ Loue thyne neyghbour as thy selfe. Loue hurteth not his neyghbour. Therfore is loue the fulfyllinge of the lawe. ✠

✠ This also, we knowe the season howe that it is tyme that we shulde now awake out of slepe. For now is oure saluacyon nearer, then whē we beleued. The nyght is passed, ỹ daye is come nye. Let vs therfore cast awaye the dedes of darcknes, and let vs put on the Armoure of lyght. Let vs walke honestly as it were in ỹ daye lyght: ✱ not in eatynge & dryncknge, nether in chamburyng and wantānes, nether in stryfe & envyinge: but put ye on the Lorde Jesus Christ. ✠ And ☞ make not prouysyō for the flesshe, to fulfyll the lustes of it.

¶ The.xiiij. Chapter.

¶ The weake ought not to be despysed. No man shulde offende anothers conscyence. Agayne, in outwarde thynges shulde no man codēne another.

A Ym that is weake in the fayth, receaue, not in disputynge and troublynge hys conscience. One beleueth that he maye eate all thynge. Another whych is weake, eateth earbes. Let not hym that eateth, despise hym ỹ eateth not. And let not hi whych eateth not, ✱ iudge him ỹ eateth. For God hath receaued him. ✠ What art ỹ ỹ iudgest another mannes seruaūt whether he stā de or fall ỹ pertayneth vnto hys awne master: ye, he shall be holdē vp, that he maye stā de. For God is able to make hym stande.

B This man putteth differēce betwene daye & daye. Another mā coūteth all dayes alyke. ☞ Let euery mās mynde satisfye him selfe. ☞ He that obserueth the daye, doeth it vnto the Lorde. And he that doth not obserue the daye, doeth it for the Lorde also. He that eateth, doth it to please the Lorde, for he geueth God thankes. And he that eateth not, eateth not, to please the Lorde withall, and geueth God thankes. For none of vs lyueth for hym selfe, and no man dyeth for hym selfe. For yf we lyue, we lyue vnto the Lorde. And yf we dye, we dye vnto the Lord. Whether we lyue therfore, or dye, we are the Lordes. For Christ therfore dyed, and rose agayne, and reuyued, that he myght be ✱ Lorde of deed and quycke.

But why doest thou then iudge thy brother? Other, why doest thou despise thy brother? We shalbe all brought before the iudgement seate of Christ. For it is written: as truely as I lyue sayth the Lorde: ✱ all knees shall bowe to me, and all tonges shall geue prayse to God. So shall euery one of vs geue accōptes of hym selfe to God. Let vs not therfore iudge one another eny more.

But iudge thys rather, that no mā put a stomblynge blocke, or an occasyon to fall in hys brothers waye. For ✠ I knowe, and am full certifyed by the Lorde Jesus, that ✱ there is nothynge comen of it selfe: but vnto hym that iudgeth it to be comen: to hym is it comen. If thy brother be greued wyth thy meate, nowe walkest thou not charitablye. Destroye not hym wyth thy meate, for whō Christ dyed. Cause not youre treasure to be euyll spokē of. For the kyngdome of God is not meate and drynke: but ryghtewesnes, ād peace and ioye in the holy ghost. For he that in these thinges serueth Christ, pleaseth God, and is commended of men.

Let vs therfore folowe those thinges which make for peace, and thynges wherwith one maye edifye another. Destroye not the worke of God for a lytell meates sake. ✱ All thinges are pure: but it is euyll for ỹ man, which eateth wyth hurte of conscience. It is good nether to eate flesshe, nether to drinke wyne nether eny thynge, wherby thy brother stōbleth, ether falleth, or is made weake. Hast ỹ fayth? haue it wyth thy selfe before God. Happy is he, that condēneth not hym selfe, in the thynge whych he alloweth. For he that maketh cōscience, is dampned yf he eate: because he eateth not of fayth. For whatsoeuer is not of fayth, that same is synne. ✠

¶ The.xv. Chapter.

¶ The infyrmite and fraylnes of the weake ought to be borne wyth all loue and kyndnesse, after the ensample of Christ.

W E whych are stroge ✱ ought to beare the fraylnes of the, whych are weake, and not to stonde in oure awne conseytes. Let euery man please hys neyghbour vnto hys welth and edifyinge. For Christ pleased not him selfe: but as it is wrytten. ✱ The rebukes of thē which rebuked ỹ, fell on me. ✠ ✱ Whatsoeuer thinges are wrytten afore tyme, they are wrytte for our learnynge, that we thorow pacience and comforte of the scriptures, myght haue hope.

The God of pacyence and consolacyon, graunt you, to be lyke mynded one towardes another, after the ensample of Christ Jesu: ✱ that ye all agreynge together maye wyth one mouth prayse God the father of oure Lorde Jesus Christ. Wherfore, receaue ye one another, as Christ receaued vs, to the prayse of God. And thys I saye, that Jesus Christ was a mynister of the circumcysyon for the trueth of God, to confirme the promyses made vnto ỹ fathers: ✱ that the gētyls myght prayse God for hys mercy, as it is wrytten. For this cause I will prayse the amonge the gentyls, and synge vnto thy name. And agayne he sayth: * reioyse ye gentyles wyth hys people. And agayne, * prayse the Lorde all ye gentyls, and laude hym all ye nacyons together. And agayne Esay sayth: ther shalbe * the rote of Jesse, and he that shall ryse to raygne ouer the gentyls: in hym shall the gentyls trust. The God of hope fyll you wyth all ioye and peace in beleuyng: that ye maye be ryche in hope, thorow the power of the holy ghost.

It is

I my selfe am full certifyed of you (my brethren) that ye also are full of goodnes, & fylled with all knowledge, willinge to exhorte one another. Neuertheles (brethren) I haue some what more boldly wrytten vnto you, partely to put you in remembraunce, thorow the grace that is geuen me of God, that I shuld be the minister of Jesu Christ amonge the Gētyls, & shuld minyster the Gospell of God, that the offeryng of the gentyls myght be acceptable, & sanctified by the holy ghost. I haue therfore wherof I maye reioyse thorow Christ Jesu, in those thinges which pertayne to God. For I dare not speake of eny of those thynges, wheych Christ hath not wrought by me, to make the Gētyls obedient, with worde and dede, in myghty synges & wonders, by the power of the spirete of God: so that from Jerusalem & the coastes rounde aboute vnto Illyrycū, I haue fylled all coūtres with the Gospell of Christ.

So haue I enforced my selfe to preache the Gospell, not where Christ was named, lest I shulde haue bylt on another mannes foundacyon: but as it is wrytten. * To whom he was not spoken of, they shall se: & they that heard not, shall vnderstande. For this cause I haue bene ofte let (as concerninge you) that I could not come vnto you: but nowe, seynge I haue nomore to do in these countrees, and also haue bene desyrous many yeares to come vnto you, whensoeuer I take my iorney into Spayne, I wyll come to you. For I trust to se you in my iorney, and to be brought on my waye thether warde by you, after that I haue som what enioyed your acquaintaūce.

Now go I vnto Jerusalem, and * minister vnto the saynctes. For it hath pleased them of Macedonia and Achaia to make a certayne distribucyon vpon the pooze saynctes, whych are at Jerusalē. It hath pleased them verely, and their detters are they. For yf the Gentyls be made partetakers of their spirituall thynges, their dutie is to minyster vnto them in bodyly thinges. When I haue perfourmed this, and haue brought them this frute sealed, I wyll come backe agayne by you into Spayne. I am sure that whē I come vnto you I shall come with aboundaūce of the blessynge of the Gospell of Christ.

I beseche you brethren for oure Lord Jesus Christes sake, and for the loue of the spirete, that ye helpe me in my busynes with youre prayers to God for me, that I maye be delyuered from the which beleue not in Jewry: & that this my seruice, which I haue to do at Jerusalem, maye be accepted of the saynctes, that I maye come vnto you with ioye, by the will of God, and maye with you be refreshed. The God * of peace be wyth you all. Amen.

The .xvi. Chapter.

The chapter of salutacyons. He warneth them to beware of mis doctryne, and commendeth vnto them certayne godly men, that were louers and bra thren in the trueth.

I Commende vnto you Phebe, oure syster (which is a minyster of the congregacyō of Cenchrea) that ye receaue her in Christ, as it becommeth saynctes, and that ye assyst her in what soeuer busynes she needeth of youre ayde. For she hath suckered many, and myne awne selfe also. Grete Priscilla and * Aquila my helpers in Christ Jesu, wheych haue for my lyfe layde downe their awne neckes. Vnto whom not I onely geue thankes, but also all the congregacions of the Gentyls. Lyke wyse, grete the congregacyō that is in their house. Salute my welbeloued Ephenetes, which is (the spirete frute of Achaia) in Christ. Grete Mary which bestowed moch labour on vs. Salute. Andronicus and Junia my cosyns, and preisoners with me also: which are well taken amonge the Apostles, & were in Christ before me. Grete Amplias my beloued in the Lorde. Salute Urban oure helper in Christ, & Stachys my beloued. Salute Appelles approued in Christ. Salute the, which are of Aristobolus housholde. Salute Herodion my kynsmā. Grete them that be of the housholde of Narcissus, wheych are in the Lorde. Salute Tryphena and Tryphosa, wheych labour in the Lorde. Salute the beloued Persis, which laboured moch in the Lorde. Salute Rufus chosen in the Lorde, and his mother and myne. Grete Asyncritus, Phlegon, Herman, Patrobas, Hercurius, and the brethrē which are wyth the. Salute Philologus and Julia, Nereus and his syster, and Olympha, & all the saynctes which are with them. * Salute one another wyth an holy kysse. The congregacyōs of Christ salute you.

I beseche you brethren, marke them which cause diuisyōs & geue occasiōs of euyll, cōtrary to the doctryne, which ye haue learned: & auoyde the. For they that are suche, serue not the Lorde Jesus Christ, * but their awne belyes, & with swete and flatterynge wordes, deceaue the heartes of the innocentes. For your obedience is gone abroade vnto all men. I am glad therfore no dout, of you. But yet I wolde

D I wolde haue you wyse vnto that which is good, & to be innocente as cõcernynge euyll. The God of peace shall treade Satã vnder youre fete shortely. The grace of oure Lorde Jesu Christ be with you.

Tymotheus my worke felowe, & Lucius, and Jason, & Solipater my kynsmen, salute you, I Tertius salute you, which wrote thys epistle in the Lorde. * Gayus myne hoste & the hoste of all the cõgregaciõ, saluteth you. Erastus the treasorer of the cytie, saluteth you. And Quartus a brother saluteth you. The grace of our Lord Jesu Chryst be with you all. Amen. ✠

To him that is of power to stablisshe you, according to my Gospell, & preaching of Jesus Christ in vtterynge of ꝑ mistery whych was kept secret sence ꝑ worlde beganne, but now is opened by ꝑ scriptures of ꝑ prophetes at the cõmaundemẽt of ꝑ euerlastynge God, to stere vp obedience to the fayth, publysshed amonge all nacions: To ꝑ same God, which alone is wyse, be ✠ (honoure and) prayse thorow Jesus Chryst for euer. Amen.

¶ This Epistle was sent to the Romayns from Corynthum by Phebe, she that was the mynyster vnto the congregacyon at Cenchrea.

¶ The fyrst Epistle of Sayncte Paul the Apostle to the Corynthians.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

¶ He commendeth the Corynthyans, exhorteth the to be of one mynde, and rebuketh the dyuysion that was amonge them. Worldly wysdome is foolyshnes before God, for there is no wysdõ but in the belyefe of God.

A PAul called an Apostle of Jesus Christ, thorow the will of God, and brother Sosthenes.

Unto the congregacyon of God whych is at Corynthum. To them that are sanctifyed by Christ Jesu, called sayncteȝ, with all that call on the name of oure Lorde Jesus Chryst in euery place, ether of theirs or of oures.

* Grace be vnto you and peace frõ God oure father, & from the Lorde Jesus Christ.

✠ I thanke my God allwayes on youre behalfe, for the grace of God, whych is geuẽ you by Jesus Christ, that in all thynges ye are made ryche by hym, in all vtteraunce & in all knowlegde, by the which thinges the testimony of Jesus Christ was confermed in you, so ꝑ ye are behynde in no gyfte, waytinge for the appearyng of oure Lord Jesus Christ, which shall also strength you vnto the ende, that ye maye be blamelesse in the daye (of the commyng) of oure Lorde Jesus Christ. ✠ * God is faythfull, by whom ye are called vnto the felyshyppe of hys sonne Jesus Christ our Lord. I beseche you brethrẽ by the name of oure Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speake one thinge, and that there be no dissencion amonge you: but that ye maye be a whole body: of one mynde and of one meanynge. For it is shewed vnto me (my brethren) of you, by them which are of the house of Cloe, that ther is stryfes amonge you. I speake of the same that euery one of you sayeth: I holde of Paul: I holde of * Apollo: I holde of Cephas: I holde of Christ. Is Christ deuyded? Was Paul crucifyed for you? ether were ye baptysed in the name of Paul? I C thanke God, that I baptysed none of you, but Crispus and Gaius: lest eny shuld saye, that I had baptysed in myne awne name. I baptised also the house of Stephana. Furthermore knowe I not, whether I baptised eny man (of you) or no.

For Christ sent me not to baptyse, but to preache ꝑ Gospell, not w̃ wysdome of wordes, lest the crosse of Christ shulde haue bene made of none effecte. For the preaching of ꝑ crosse, is to thẽ that perisshe, foolishnes: but vnto vs which are saued * it is the power of God. For it is wrytte: * I will destroye ꝑ wysdome of the wyse, and wyll cast awaye the vnderstandynge of the prudẽt. Where is the wyse? * where is the scrybe? Where is ꝑ disputer of this worlde? hath not God made the wysdome of this worlde foolishnes?

For after that the worlde thorowe wysdome knewe not God, in ꝑ wysdome of God, it pleased God thorowe foolyshnes of preachynge, to saue them that beleue. For * the Jewes require a sygne, and the Gzekes seke after wysdome. But we preache Christ crucifyed, vnto the Jewes an occasyon of fallynge, and vnto the Gzekes foolyshnes: but vnto them whych are called both of the Jewes & Gzekes, we preache Christ the power of God and the wysdome of God. For the foolishnes of God, is wyser then men: and the weakenes of God is stronger then men. Brethren, ye se your callynge, how that not many wyse men after the flesshe, not many myghty, not many of hye degre, are called: But God hath chosen the folisshe thynges of the worlde, to confounde the wyse. And God hath chosen the weake thynges, of the worlde, to confounde thynges whych are myghtye. And vyle thynges of the worlde, & thinges which are despised, hath God chosen, yee and thinges of no reputacyon, for to bryngе to nought thynges of reputacyon, that no flesshe shulde reioyce in hys presence. And of hym are ye, in Christ Jesu, whych

of God is made vnto vs, wysdome, & righte-
welnes, and sanctifyinge, and redempcyon.
That accordynge as it is wrytten: he which reioyseth, shulde reioyce in the Lorde.

¶ The.ij. Chapter.

¶ It is not eloquence and glorious paynted wordes of worldly wysdome, that can edyfye, and conuerte soules vnto Christ, but the playne wordes of the Scripture, for they make mencyon of hym and hys crosse.

AND I brethren (when I came to you) came not in gloriousnes of wordes, or of wysdome, shewinge vnto you the testimony of God. Neither shewed I my selfe that I knewe eny thynge amonge you, saue Iesus Christ, euen the same that was crucifyed. And I was among you in weaknes, and in feare, and in moche tremblynge. And my wordes and my preachynge was not w̄ entysynge wordes of mānes wysdome: but in the wynge of the spyrite and of power, that your fayth shuld not stande in the wysdome of men, but in the power of God.

We speake of wysdome amonge the that are perfecte: not the wysdome of this worlde, nether of the rulars of this worlde (whych go to nought) but we speake ꝑ wysdome of God, whych is in secrete & lyeth hyd, which God ordeyned before the worlde, vnto oure glory: which wysdome *none of the rulars of this worlde knewe. For had they had knowlege, they wold not haue crucifyed the Lorde of glory. But as it is wrytten. * The eye hath not sene, and the eare hath not herd, nether haue entred into the hert of man, the thynges which God hath prepared for them that loue hym.

But God hath opened the vnto vs by his spyrite. For *the spyrite searcheth all thinges, ye the botome of Goddes secretes. For what mā knoweth ꝑ thinges of a mā: saue ꝑ spyrite of man which is w̄ in him? Eyē so ꝑ thynges of God knoweth no mā, but ꝑ spyrite of God. And we haue not receaued the spyrite of the worlde: but ꝑ spyrite which cōmeth of God, for to knowe ꝑ thynges ꝑ are geuen to vs of God: which thynges also we speake (not w̄ wordes ꝑ mānes wysdome teacheth, but w̄ wordes wrych ꝑ holy ghost doth teache) ma kyng spirituall cōparisons of spyrituall thinges. ☞ The naturall man perceaueth not ꝑ thinges that belōge to ꝑ spyrite of God. For they are but folysshnes vnto him. Nether can he perceaue the, because they are spyrytually examined. But he ꝑ is spyritual, discusseth all thynges: yet he him selfe is iudged of no mā. * For who hath knowē ꝑ mynde of ꝑ Lord, other who shall informe hym? But we vnderstande the mynde of Christ.

¶ The.iij. Chapter.

¶ Paul reproueth the sectes and authores therof. Christ is the foundacyon of hys church. No man ought to trust in men, but in God.

AND I coulde not speake (vnto you brethre) as vnto spyritual: but as vnto carnall, euen as vnto babes in Christ. * I gaue you mylke to drynke, and not meate. For ye then were not stronge, nether are ye as yet. For ye are yet carnall. As lōge verely as ther is amōge you envyinge, & stryfe & sectes: are ye not carnall, & walke after ꝑ maner of men? For whyle one sayth: I holde of Paul, & another: I am of * Apollo, are ye not carnall? What is Paul? What thynge is Apollo? Onely mynisters are they by whom ye beleued, euen as the Lorde gaue euery mā grace. I haue planted, Apollo watred: but God gaue the encrease. So then, nether is he that planteth eny thyng, nether he that watreth, but God that geueth the encrease. He that planteth and he that watreth, are one. Euery man yet shall receaue hys rewarde, accordynge to his labour. For we are Goddes labourers, ye are Goddes husbandrye, * ye are Goddes buyldyng. Accordynge to the grace of God geue vnto me, as a wyse buylder haue I layde the foundacyon. And another bylt theron. But let euery man take hede, how he bylded vpon. For another foundacyon can no mā laye, then it that is layde, * whych is Jesus Christ. If eny man buylde on this foundacyon, golde, syluer, precyous stones, tymber, haye or stoble: euery mannes worcke shall appeare. For the daye shall declare, whych shalbe shewed in fyre. And the fyre shall trye euery mannes worcke, what it is. If eny mannes worcke that he hath bylt vpon, byde, he shall receaue a rewarde. If eny mannes worcke burne, he shall suffre losse, but he shalbe sake hym selfe: neuertheles, yet as it were thorowe fyre.

✠ * Knowe ye not, that ye are the temple of God, & how that the spyrite of God dwelleth in you? If eny man defyle the temple of God, hym shall God destroye. For the tēple of God, is holy, whych temple ye are. Let no man deceaue him selfe. If eny mā seme wyse to hym selfe amonge you, ☞ let hym become a foole in this worlde, ꝑ he maye be wyse. For ꝑ wysdom of thys worlde is folysshnes with God. For it is wrytten: * he copaseth the wyse in theyr craftynes. And agayne: * God knoweth the thoughtes of the wyse, that they be vayne. Therfore, let no man reioyce in men. For all thynges are youres, whether it be Paul, ether Apollo, ether Cephas: whether it be the worlde, ether lyfe, ether deeth, whether they be present thynges, or thynges to come: all are youres: and ye are Christes, and Christ is Goddes. ✠

¶ The.iiij. Chapter. ✠

¶ The preachers are but mynysters. Iudgyment belongeth only vnto God.

Let

A LEt ✠ a mā this wyse esteme vs, 1.cor.xxij.d.
euen as the mynysters of Chzist, and stewards of the * secretes of God. Furthermoze it is required of the stewardes, that a mā be founde fayth-full. Wyth me is it but a very small thynge, that I should be iudged of you, ether of mans iudgement. No I iudge not myne awne selfe. For I knowe nought by my selfe: yet am I not therby iustifyed. It is the Lozde that iudgeth me. Therfoze iudge nothinge before the tyme vntyll the Lozde come, whych wyll lyghten thinges that are hyd in darknes, and open the counsels of the hertes. And then shall euery man haue prayse of God. ✠

B These thynges (brethre) I haue for an ensample described in myne awne person, & in Apollos, for youre sakes, ỳ ye myght learne by vs, ỳ noman counte of hym selfe beyonde ỳ which is aboue wrytte: that one swell not agaynst another for eny mans cause. For who preferreth the? * What hast thou, that thou hast not receaued? If thou haue receaued it, why reioysest thou, as though ỳ haddest not receaued it? Nowe ye are full: nowe ye are made ryche: ye raygne as kiges without vs: and I wolde to God ye dyd raygne, that we myght raygne with you. *Iam.i.a.

For me thynketh, that God hath set forth vs (which are the last Apostles) * as it were men appoynted to deeth. For we are a gasynge stocke vnto the worlde, and to the Angels, and to men. We are fooles for Chzistes sake, but ye are wyse thorowe Chzyst. We weake, but ye are stronge. Ye are honorable, but we are despysed. Euen vnto this tyme we honger and thyrst, and are naked, & are bofeted with fystes, and haue no certayne dwellynge place, & laboure, * worckynge wyth oure awne handes. We are reuyled, and yet we bleese. We are persecuted, and suffer it. We are euyll spoken of, & we praye. We are made as it were the fylthines of the worlde, the offscowrynge of all thynges, euen vnto thys daye. *pſal.lxxxiij.d Rom.viij.f. C *1.cor.iij. 1.Thes.ij.b 1.Thes.iij.b

D I wryte not these thynges, to shame you: but as my beloued sonnes I warne you. For though ye haue ten thousande instructours in Chzyst: yet haue ye not many fathers. In Chzyst Jesu I haue begotten you thorow ỳ Gospell. Wherfoze, I desyre you to folowe me. (as I folowe Chzyst) For thys cause haue I sent vnto you Tymotheus, which is my deare sonne, and faythfull in the Lozde, whych shall put you in remembraunce of my wayes, that I haue in Chzyst, euen as I teach euery where in all congregacions. Some swell, as though I wold come nomoze at you. But I wyll come to you shortely * yf God wyll: & will know, not ỳ wozdes of the which swell but the power: for the kyngdome of God is not in wozdes, but in power. What wyll ye? *1.cor.xvi.c. Act.xviij.a.

Shall I come vnto you with a rodde, oz els in loue and in the spyrete of softnesse?

The. v. Chapter.

The After what maner Paul curseth the man, that had committed fornicacyon wyth hys mother in lawe.

IT is here goeth a commen sayinge that ther is fornicacion amonge you, and soch fornicacyon, as is not named amonge the gentyls: * ỳ one shuld haue hys fathers wyfe. And ye swell, and haue not rather sorowed, that he which hath done thys dede, myght be put from amonge you. For I verely as absent in body, but present in spyrete, haue determined allready (as though I were present) concernynge hym that hath done this dede, in ỳ name of oure Lozd Jesu Chzist, when ye are gathered together, and my spyrete wt you, with the power of the Lozde Jesus Chzyst * to delyuer hym vnto Satan, for the destruccyō of the flesshe, that the spyrete maye be saued in the daye of the Lozde Jesus. A *Leu.xviij.a *Mat.xviij.f 1.Tim.i.b

Youre reioysynge is not good: knowe ye not, that a lytle leuen sowreth ỳ whole lōpe of dowe? ✠ Pourge therfoze the olde leuen (ỳ ye maye be newe dowe, as ye are swete breed. For Chzist our passeouer is offered vp for vs. Therfoze, let vs kepe holy daye, not with olde leuen, nether with the leuen of malicyousnes & wickednes: but with the swete breed of purenes and trueth. ✠ B

I wrote vnto you in a pistle, that ye shuld not cōpany wyth fornicatours. And I mēt not at all of the fornicatours of this worlde, ether of the couetrous, oz extorcyoners, ether the ydolaters: for then must ye nedes haue gone out of ỳ worlde. But now I dyd write vnto you, * that ye company not together, yf eny that is called a brother, be a fornicator, oz couetrous, oz a worshypper of ymages, ether a raylar, ether a dronckard, oz an extorcionar: wyth hym that is soche, se that ye eate not. For what haue I to do, to iudge thē which are without. Do ye not iudge thē that are within? Them ỳ are without, God iudgeth. * Put awaye the euell from amōge you. *1.Cor.v.d *Deu.xvij.b

The. vj. Chapter.

The Wherwith they are to goynge to lawe together before the Heathē. and reproueth them vnclennesse.

DArre one of you haupnge busynes wyth another, go to lawe vnder the wycked, & not rather vnder ỳ sayntes? * Do ye not knowe, that the sayntes shall iudge ỳ worlde? If the worlde shalbe iudged by you: are ye not good inough to iudge small trifles? knowe ye not, howe that we shall iudge the angels? howe moche moze, maye we iudge thinges that pertayne A *Mat.xix.d. and xx.a.

to the lyfe? If ye haue iudgemētes of worldely matters, take then whych are despysed in the congregacyō, and make them iudges:
B This I saye to youre shame. Is ther vtterly no wyse man amonge you? What not one at all, that can iudge betwene brother and brother, but one brother goeth to lawe w̄ another: and that vnder the vnbeleuers?

Nowe therfore, there is vtterly a faute amōge you, because ye go to lawe one wyth another. Why rather suffer ye not wronge? why rather suffre ye not your selues to haue harme? naye, ye youre selues do wrōge, and robbe: & that the brethrē. Do ye not knowe, how ✠ Gala.v.b. Ephe.v.a. the vnrighteous shall not inheret the kyngdome of God? Be not deceaued. For ✠ neither fornicatours, neither worshyppers of ymages, neither aduoulterers, nether weaklynges, nether abusers of thē selues wyth mānynde, nether theues, nether couetouse, nether dronkardes, nether cursed speakers, nether pyllers, C shall inheret the kyngdome of God. And soch were some of you, but ye are washed: but ye are sanctifyed: but ye are iustifyed by the name of the Lorde Iesus, & by the spirete of oure God.

Bell. errbūd i. Cor. x.c. I maye do all thynges, but ✠ all thynges are not profytable. I maye do all thynges: but I will be brought vnder no mās power. Meates are ordeyned for the belly, & the belly for meates: but God shall destroye both it and thē. Let not the body be applyed vnto fornicacyon, but vnto the Lorde, and the Lorde vnto the body. God hath raysed vp the D Lorde, and shall rayse vs vp by hys power.

✠ i. Cor. vi.c. ✠ Ether knowe ye not, that youre bodyes are the mēbres of Christ? shall I nowe take the members of Christ, and make them the mēbers of an harlot? God forbyd. Do ye not knowe, that he whych coupleth hym selfe w an harlot, is become one body. ✠ For two (sayth he) shalbe one flesshe. But he that is ✠ Gen. ii.d Mat. xix.a. Mar. x.a. Ephe. v.g. ioyned vnto the Lorde is one spirete.

Flie fornicacion. Euery synne that a mā doth, is without the body. But he that is a fornicator, synneth against his awne body. Ether knowe ye not, how that youre bodyes are the temple of the holy ghost, which dwelleth in you, whom ye haue of God, and how that ye are not youre awne? For ye are dearly bought. Therfore glorifye God in youre bodyes, and in youre spirites, which are Goddes.

¶ The. vij. Chapter.

¶ Of mariage, virginyte and widowed heade.

A SO concernynge the thynges wherof ye wrote vnto me: it is good for a man, not to touche a womā. Neuertheles, to auoyde whordome let euery mā haue hys wyfe: and let euery womā haue her husbande. Let the husbande geue vnto the wyfe due beneuolēce. Lykewyse also the wyfe vnto the husbande. The wyfe hath not power of her awne body: but the husbande. And lykewyse the husbāde hath not power of his awne body: but the wyfe. ✠ Withdrawe not youre ✠ Tob. iii.a and. viii.a. Ioel. ii.b. selues one frō another, except it be with consent for a tyme, for to geue youre selues to fastynge and prayer. And after warde come together agayne, lest Satan tempte you for youre incontinencie.

This I saye of fauoure, and not of commaundement. For I wolde that all men were B as I my selfe am: but euery mā hath his proper gyfte of God, one after this māner, another after that. I saye vnto them that be vnmaryed and widdowes: it is good for thē, yf they abyde euē as I do. But and ✠ yf they ✠ i. Tim. v. cannot abstayne, let thē mary. For it is better to mary, then to burne.

Vnto the maryed cōmaunde, not I, but the Lorde: ✠ Let not the wyfe be separated from ✠ Mat. v. & and. xix. a the husband. If she separate her selfe, let her remayne vnmaryed, or be reconciled vnto her husbande agayne. And let not the husbande put awaye his wyfe from him.

To the remnaunt speake I, not the Lorde. If eny brother haue a wyfe that beleueth not, yf she be content to dwell with him, let hym not put her awaye. And the woman whych hath to her husbande an infidell, & consent to dwell wyth her, let her not put hym awaye. For the vnbeleuynge husbāde is sanctified by the wyfe, & the vnbeleuinge wyfe is sanctifyed by the husbande. Or els were your chyldren vncleane: but now are they holye. But C & yf the vnbeleuynge departe, let him departe. A brother or a syster is not in subiecyon to soche. But God hath called vs in peace. For how knowest thou (o womā) whether thou shalt saue thy husbande or no? Other howe knowest thou (o man) whether thou shalt saue thy wyfe or no? but euen as God hath distributed to euery man.

D ✠ As the Lorde hath called euery man, so ✠ Ephe. iiii. let hym walke: and so ordeyne I in all cōgregacyons. If eny man be called beynge circumcised, let him not adde vncircumcisyon. If eny be called vncircumcised, let hym not be circumcised. Circumcisyon is not hynge, and vncircumcisyon is nothinge: but the keppynge of the commaundementes of God.

✠ Let euery man abyde in the same callinge, wherin he was called. ✠ Art thou called a ✠ i. Tim. vi.a seruaūt? care not for it. Neuertheles & yf thou mayst be free, vse it rather. For he that is called in the Lorde, beynge a seruaunt, is the Lordes freman. Lykewyse he that is called beynge free, is Christes seruaunt. Ye E are dearly bought, & be not ye the seruaūtes of men. Brethren, let euery man wherin he is called, therin abyde wyth God.

As cōcernynge virgins, I haue no cōmaundement

dement of the Lorde: yet geue I counsell, as one that hath obtayned mercye of ꝓ Lord, to be faythfull. I suppose therfore ꝓ it is good for the ꝓsent necessite. For it is good for a man so to be. Art thou bounde vnto a wyfe? seke not to be losed. Art thou loosed from a wyfe? seke not a wyfe. But ād yf ꝓ marye a wyfe, thou hast not synned. Lykewyse, yf a virgyn marye, she hath not synned. Neuerthelesse suche shall haue trouble in their flesshe: but I fauoure you.

This saye I brethrē, * the tyme is shorte. It remayneth, ꝓ they whych haue wyues, be as though they had none: ād they ꝓ wepe, be as though they wept not: and they that reioyce, be as though they reioyced not: & they that bye, be as though they possessed not: ād they that vse this worlde, be as though they vsed it not. For * the fassyon of thys worlde goeth awaye. * I wolde haue you without care. He ꝓ is vnmaryed, careth for the thynges ꝓ belong to ꝓ Lord, howe he maye please ꝓ Lord. But he ꝓ hath maryed a wyfe careth for ꝓ thinges ꝓ are of ꝓ worlde, howe he maye please his wyfe. There is differēce betwene a virgin & a wife. The syngle womā careth for ꝓ thinges ꝓ are of ꝓ Lorde, ꝓ she maye be holy both in bodye & also in spirite. Agayne: she ꝓ is maryed, careth for ꝓ thinges ꝓ pertayne to ꝓ worlde, how she maye please her husbande. ☞ This speake I for youre profet, not to tāgle you in a snare: but ꝓ ye maye folowe it which is honest & comly, & ꝓ ye maye cleaue vnto the Lorde without separation.

If eny man thynke that it is vncomly for his virgin, yf she passe the tyme of maryage, and yf so nede require, let him do what he lysteth, he synneth not: let them be coupled in mariage. Neuertheles, he that purposeth surely in his herte, hauynge no nede: but hath power ouer his awne will: & hath so decreed in his hert, that he will kepe his virgin, doth well. So then, he ꝓ ioyneth his virgin in mariage doth well. But he that ioyneth not his virgin in mariage, doth better. * The wyfe is bounde to ꝓ mariage, as lōge as her husbād lyueth. If her husbād dye, she is at libertie to marye with whom she will, onely in ꝓ Lorde. But she is happier, yf she so abyde, after my iudgement. And I thinke verely, that I haue the spirite of God.

¶ The. viij. Chapter.

¶ He reburyeth them that vse lybertye to the slaūder of other, and sheweth howe men ought to be haue them towarde suche as be weake.

AS touchyng thinges * offred vnto ymages, we are sure ꝓ we all haue knowledge. Knowledge maketh a mā swell: but loue edifyeth. If eny man thynke that he knoweth eny thing, he knoweth nothyng yet as he ought to knowe. But yf eny mā loue God, the same is knowen of him.

As cōcernyng ꝓ eatyng of those thynges ꝓ are offred vnto ydols, we are sure, ꝓ ☞ * ꝓ ymage is nothing in the worlde ād ꝓ ther is none other God, but one. And though ther be that are called Goddes, whether in heauē other in erth (as ther be Goddes many, and Lordes many) yet vnto vs is there but one God, which is the father, of whō are all thinges & we for him. & one Lord Jesus Christ, by whō are all thinges, and we by him. But euery mā hath not knowledge. * Some hauing cōsciēce because of ꝓ ymage, vntill thys houre, eate as a thige offred vnto ymages: & so their conscience beinge weake is defyled. But meate maketh vs not acceptable to God. Neither yf we eate, are we the better. Neither yf we eate not, are we the worse.

But take hede, lest by any meanes this libertie of yours be an occasiō of falling to thē ꝓ are weake. For yf some mā se ꝓ which hath knowledge, syt & eate of meate offred vnto ymages, shall not ꝓ cōsciēce of him which is weake, be boldened to eate those thynges, which are offered to ymages. And so thorow thy knowledge shall ꝓ weake brother perysshe, for whom Christ dyed. Whē ye synne so agaynst ꝓ brethrē, & woūde their weake consience, ye synne agaynst Christ. Wherfore * yf meate hurt my brother, I will neuer eate flesshe lest I shulde offende my brother.

¶ The. ix. Chapter.

¶ Loue forbeareth the thinge that she maye do by the lawe. He exhorteth them to runne on forth in the course that they haue begonne.

AM I not an Apostle? am I not free? * haue I not sene Jesus Christ oure Lorde? Are ye not my worke in ꝓ Lorde? If I be not an Apostle vnto other, yet am I vnto you. For the seale of myne Apostleshyppe are ye in the Lord. Myne answer to them that aske me, is this. Haue we not power to eate and to drynke? haue we not power to leade about a woman a syster, as well as other Apostles, and as the brethren of the Lorde, ād Cephas? Ether onely I and Barnabas haue not power thys to do? Who goeth a warfare eny tyme at hys awne cost? who plāteth a vineyarde, and eateth not of the frute therof? Or who fedeth a flocke and eateth not of the mylcke of the flocke?

Saye I these thynges after the maner of mē? Sayth not ꝓ lawe ꝓ same also? For it is wrytten in ꝓ lawe of Moses. * Thou shalt not mosell the mouth of ꝓ ox that treadeth oute the corne. Doth God take thought for oxen? Sayth he it not altogether for oure sakes? For oure sakes no doute this is written: that he whych eareth shulde eare in hope & that he whych threshyth in hope, shulde be partaker of hys hope. * If we sowe vnto you spirituall thynges, is it a great thynge yf we reape youre bodely thynges? If other be partakers of thys power ouer you, wherfore are not we rather?

* Actes.xx.g. Neuertheles * we haue not vsed this power: but suffre all thinges, lest we shulde hinder ꝑ Gospell of Christ. Do ye not knowe, howe ꝑ they which minister aboute holy thinges lyue of ꝑ sacrifyce? They which wayte of the tẽple, are partakers of ꝑ tẽple. Euen so also ordeyned ꝑ Lord ordayne: * that they whych preach the Gospell, shulde lyue of ꝑ Gospell.

C

* Mat.x.d. ‡ Act.xx.g. ‖ Thes.ii. ¶ Thes.iii.b. * But I haue vsed none of these thinges.

Neuertheles I wrote not these thinges, ꝑ it shuld be so done vnto me. For it were better for me to dye, then ꝑ eny man shuld take this reioyfinge from me. For yf I preach the Gospell, I haue nothynge to reioyce of. For necessyte is put vnto me. But wo is it vnto me, yf I preach not the Gospell. If I do it wt a good will, I haue a reward. But yf I do it against my will, an office is committed vnto me. What is my reward then? Verely ꝑ when I preach the Gospell, I make the Gospell of Christ fre, that I misuse not myne auctorite in the Gospell.

For though I be fre frõ all men, yet haue I made my selfe seruaũt vnto all men, that I myght wynne the moo. * Unto the Iewes, I became as a Iewe, to wynne ꝑ Iewes. To them that were vnder the lawe, was I made as though I had bene vnder the lawe, (wt whan I was not vnder the lawe) to wynne thẽ that were vnder the lawe. To thẽ that were wythout lawe, became I as though I had bene wythout lawe (wht I was not without lawe as pertayning to God, but vnder ꝑ lawe of Christ) to wynne them that were wythout lawe. To the weake became I as weake, to wynne ꝑ weake. In all thinges * I fassyoned my selfe to all mẽ, to saue at ꝑ least waye some. And this I do for ꝑ gospels sake, that I myght haue my parte therof.

* Act.xvi.a. Gala.ii.a.

D

* i.Cor.ix.g.

✠ Perceaue ye not, howe that they which runne in a course, rune all, but one receaueth ꝑ rewarde? So rune, that ye maye obtayne. Euery mã ꝑ proueth masteries, abstayneth frõ all thynges. And they do it to obtayne a crowne ꝑ shall perysshe: but we to obtayne an * euerlasting crowne. I therfore so rune, not as at an vncertayne thyng. So fyght I, not as one that beateth the ayer: but I tame my body, & bringe it vnto subiectyon, lest by anye meanes it come to passe, that whan I haue preached to other, I my selfe shulde be a cast awaye. ✠

* ii.Tim.ii.b. i.Pet.v.d.

¶ The.x. Chapter.

¶ The fourth chapter with the ensamples of the olde Testament, and exhorteth them to a godly conuersacyon.

I Brethren, I wolde not that ye shulde be ignorannt, howe that our fathers were all vnder the cloude, and all passed thorowe the see, and were all baptysed vnder Moses * in the cloude and * in the see: and * dyd all eate of one spirituall meate and * dyd all drynche of one maner of spirituall drynche. And they drancke of that spirituall roche that folowed them, * whych roche was Christ. ✠ But in many of them had God no delyte: For * they were ouerthrowen in the wyldernes.

* Exo.xvi. ‡ Exo.xvii. Num.xx. * Mat.xxvi. ‡ Num.xxv.

These weare ensamples to vs ✠ that we shuld not lust after euyll thynges, as they lusted. And ꝑ ye shuld not be worshyppers of ymages, as were some of thẽ, accordynge as it is wrytte: * The people sate downe to eate & drincke, & rose vp to playe. Neither let vs be defyled wt fornicatyõ, as some of thẽ were defyled wyth fornicacyon, & fell in one daye * xxiij. thousand. Neither let vs tẽpte Christ, as some of thẽ tepted, & were destroyed of * serpẽtes. Neither murmure ye, as some of thẽ murmured, & were destroyed of ꝑ destroyer.

B

* Exo.xxxii. Num.xxv.b. * Num.xxi. and.xxv.b. * Num.xvi.

All these thynges happened vnto them for ensamples, but are wrytte to put vs i remẽbraunce, whõ ꝑ endes of ꝑ worlde are come vpon. Wherfore, let him ꝑ thynketh he stondeth, take hede, lest he fall. Ther hath none other tẽptacyon taken you, but soche as foloweth ꝑ nature of man. But * God is faythfull * whych shall not suffer you to be tẽpted aboue youre strength: but shall in ꝑ myddes of the tẽptacyon make a waye, ꝑ ye maye be able to beare it. ✠ Wherfore my deare beloued, fly from worshyppynge of ymages.

* Hu.xvii.f. i.Cor.i.b. i.Thes.b.b ‖ ii.Pet.ii.b

I speake as vnto them whych haue discrecyõ, iudge ye what I saye. Is not (ꝓ ꝑ cupp of blessynge which we blesse, partakynge of ꝑ bloude of Christ? is not ꝑ breed whych we breake, partetakynge of ꝑ body of Christ? because ꝑ we (though we be many) yet are one breed & one bodye, las moche as we all are partakers of one breed. (and of one cupp) Behold Israel after ꝑ flesh. Are not they which eate of the sacrifyce, partakers of the tẽple?

D

E

What saye I then? * that the ymage is eny thynge? or that it whych is offered to ymages, is eny thynge? Nay, but thys I saye: ꝑ the thynges whych the gentyls offer, they offer to deuyls, and not to God.

* i.Cor.viii.

✠ I wolde not that ye shulde haue fellowshyppe wyth ꝑ deuyls. Ye can not drynche of the cup of ꝑ Lorde, and of the cup of deuyls. Ye cannot be the partakers of the Lordes table, and of the table of deuelles. Ether do we prouoke the Lord? Are we stronger then he? I maye do all thynges, but * all thynges are not expedient. I maye do all thynges, but all thynges edify ye not. * Let no mã seke that whych is hys awne: but let euery man seke that whych belongeth to another:

F

* xxiii.xxviii. ‡ i.Cor.xiii.

Whatsoeuer is solde in the fleshe market, that eate, and aske no questyon for conscyence sake. For * the erth is the Lordes, and all that therin is. If eny of them whych beleue not, byd you to a feast, and ye be disposed ye be disposed to go, whatsoeuer is sett before you, eate, askynge no questyon for conscience sake. But and yf eny man saye vnto you: thys is offred vnto ymages, eate not of it for hys sake that shewed it, and for conscience sake. The erth is the Lordes and all that therin is. Conscience I saye, not thyne, 10.Cor.viii.b * but of the other. For why is my liberte, iudged of another mannes conscience? For 1.Tim.iiii.a * yf I take my parte with thankes, why am I euyll spoken of, for that thynge wherfore I geue thankes?

* Psal.xxiiii.

4.Colo.iii.c * Whether therfore ye eate or drynche, or whatsoeuer ye do, do all to the prayse of God. ✠ Se that ye geue none occasyon of euyll, nether to the Iewes, nor yet to ỹ gentyls, nether to the congregacyon of God: euē 31.Cor.x.d as * I please all men in all thynges, not seakynge myne awne profet, but the profet of many, that they myght be saued.

¶ The.xj. Chapter.

¶ He rebuketh them for the abuse and vnsondre dout they had about the Sacramente of the body and blood of Christ, and bringeth them agayne to the fyrst institucyon.

A BE ye the folowers of me, as I am the folower of Christ. I commende you brethren, that ye remember me in all thynges, and kepe the ordinaunces, euen as I delyuered them to you. But I wolde haue you to knowe, that Christ is the heed of euery man. And the man is the * womans heed. And God is Christes 1.Cor.xi.b heed. Euery man prayinge or prophesynge hauing eny thynge on his heed, shameth his heed. Euery woman that prayeth or prophesyeth bare headed, dishonesteth hyr head. For that is euen all one, as yf she were shauen. If the woman be not couered, let her also be shoren. * If it be shame for a woman to be shorne or shauen, let her couer her heed. 1.Deu.xxii.a

A man ought not to couer his heed, for as moch as he is the ymage and glory of God. But the woman is the glory of the mā. For 1.Gene.i.d * the man is not of the woman: but the woman of the man. Nether was the man created for the womans sake: but the woman for the mannes sake. For this cause ought the woman ✠ to haue power on her heed, for the angels sakes: Neuertheles, nether is ỹ man with out the woman, nether the womā without the man in the Lorde. For as the woman is of the man, euen so is the man: by the woman: but all of God.

Iudge in youre selues, whether it be comly that a woman praye vnto God bare heeded. Doth not nature it selfe teach you, that it is a shame for a mā, yf he haue longe heere: and a prayse to a woman: yf she haue longe heer. For hyr heer is geuen her to couer her withall. If any man luste to stryue, we haue no soch custome, nether the congregacyons of God.

This I warne you of, and commende not, that ye come not together after a better maner, but after a worse. For fyrst of all when ye come together in the congregacion, D I heare that there is dyssencyon amōge you: and I partely beleue it. For * ther must be *Mat.xviii.a sectes amonge you, that they which are perfect amonge you, myght be knowen. ✠ Whē ye come to gether therfore into one place, the Lordes supper can not be eaten. For euery man begynneth afore to eate his awne supper. And one is hongry, and another is dronkē. Haue ye not houses to eate and to drincke in? Despyse ye the congregacion of God, and shame thē that haue not? What shall I saye vnto you? shal I prayse you? In this prayse I you not. ✠

✠ That which I delyuered vnto you, I E receaued of the Lorde. For the Lorde Iesus the same nyght, in which he was betrayed, toke breed: and whan he had geuen thankes, he brake it and sayde: * Take ye, and eate: *Mat.xxvi.c Mar.xiiii.b this is my body, which is broken for you. Luke.xxi.b This do ye in the remembraunce of me. After the same maner also he toke the cup, whē supper was done, sayinge: This cuppe is the new testament in my bloude. Thys do as oft as ye drynche it, in remembraunce of me. For as often as ye shall eate this breed, and F drincke this cup: * ye shall shewe the Lordes 1.Cor.ii.b, deeth + tyll he come. Wherfore, whosoeuer, Acteo.i.b shall eate of this bread, or drynche of the cup of the Lorde vnworthely, shalbe gylty of the body and bloud of the Lorde. * But let a 11.Cor.xiii.b man examen him selfe, and so let him eate of Eccle.xxxvii.c the breed, and drincke of the cup. For he that eateth or drynketh vnworthely, eateth and drynketh his awne damnacyon, because he maketh no difference of ỹ Lordes body. For this cause many are weake and sycke amōge you, and many slepe. For If we had iudged G oure selues, we shuld not haue bene iudged. But when we are iudged of the Lorde, we are chastened, that we shulde not be damned with the * worlde. Wherfore my brethren *1.John.ii.c when ye come together to eate, tary one for another. If any man honger, let him eate at home, that ye come not together vnto condemnacyon. ✠ Other thynges will I set in order, when I come.

¶ The.xij. Chapter.

¶ The diuersite of the gyftes of the holy goost, geuen to the cōfort and edifyinge of one another, as the members of a mans body serue one another.

GOncerny nge spirituall thinges A (brethren) I wolde not haue you ignorant. ✠ Ye knowe ỹ ye were gentyls, & went youre wayes vnto domme ymages,

If ỹ euen

euen as ye were led. Wherfore I declare vnto you, that * no man speakyng by the spyrite of God, defyeth Jesus. Also no man can saye that Jesus is the Lorde, but by the holy ghost. * Ther are diuersities of gyftes, yet but one spyrite. And ther are differences of administracyons, and yet but one Lorde. And ther are dyuers maners of operacyons, and yet but one God ☞ whych worcheth all in all. * The gyfte of the spyrite is geuen to euery man, to edifye withall. For to one is geuen thorow the spyrite the vttrance of wisdome. To another is geuen the vttraunce of knowledge by the same spyrite. To another is geuen fayth, by the same spyrite. To another the gyftes of healinge by the same spyrite. To another power to do miracles. To another prophelyye. To another * iudgement to discerne spyrites. To another diuers tonges. To another the interpretacyon of tonges: But these all worcheth euen the selfe same spyrite, diuidynge to euery man a seuerall gyfte, euen as he wyll.

* For as the body is one, and hath many membres, and all the membres of one body though they be many, yet are but one bodye, euen so is Christ. For by one spyrite are we all baptysed to make one body, whether we be Jewes or Gentyls, whether we be bonde or fre, and haue * all dronche of one spyrite. For the body is not one member, but many. If the fote saye: I am not the hande, I am not of the body: is he therfore not of the body? And yf the eare saye, I am not the eye, I am not of the body: is he therfore not of the body? If all the body were an eye, where were then the eare? If all were hearynge: where were the smellynge? But nowe hath God set the membres euery one seuerally in the body as it hath pleased him. If they were all one mẽber: where were ỹ bodye? Nowe are there many mẽbres, yet but one body. And the eye can not saye vnto the hãde: I haue no nede of the. Agayne, the heed can not saye to the fete: I haue no nede of you. Yee rather agree at deale thole membres of the body which seme to be more feble, are necessary. And vpon thole membres of the body which we thinke leest honest, put we more honestye on. And oure vngoodlye partes haue more beautye on. For oure honest membres nede it not: But God hath so disposed the body, ỹ hath geuen the more honoure to that parte whych lacked, lest there shulde be eny stryfe in the body: but that the membres shuld indifferently care one for another. And yf one member suffer, all suffer with him. yf one member be had in honour, all membres be glad also.

Ye are the body of Christ, and membres one of another. And God hath also ordeyned in the congregacyon, fyrst * Apostles, secondarely prophetes, thyrdly teachers, then them that do myracles: after that, the gyftes of healyng, helpers, gouernors, diuersitye of tonges.

Are all Apostles? Are all Prophetes? Are all teachers? Are all doars of miracles? Haue all ỹ gyftes of healinge? Do all speake with tonges? Do all interprete? Couet after the best gyftes. And yet shewe I vnto you a more excellent waye.

¶ The .xiij. Chapter.

¶ The natures and condicions of loue.

Though I spake with the tonges of men and of angels, and haue no loue, I am euen as sounding brasse, or as a tynklinge cymball. And * though I coulde prophesy, and vnderstode all secretes, and all knowledge: yee ☞ yf I haue all fayth, * so that I can moue mountayns oute of their places, and yet haue no loue, I am nothynge. And though I bestowe all my goodes to fede the poore, and though I geue my body euen that I burned, and yet haue no loue, it profyteth me nothynge.

Loue suffreth longe, and is curteous. Loue enuyeth not. Loue doth not frowardly, swelleth not, dealeth not dishonestly * seketh not her awne, is not prouoked to anger, thynketh no euyll, reioyseth not in iniquyte: but reioyseth in the trueth, suffreth all thynges, beleueth all thynges, hopeth all thynges, endureth all thynges. Though that prophesyinges fayle, other tonges cease, or knowledge vanysshe awaye, yet loue falleth neuer awaye.

For oure knowledge is vnperfect, and oure prophesyinge is vnperfect. But when ỹ whych is perfect, is come, then that whych is vnperfect, shall be done awaye. When I was a chylde, I spake as a chylde, I vnderstode as a chylde, I ymagined as a chylde. But assone as I was a man, I put awaye chyldeshnes. Nowe we se in a glasse, enl in a darcke speakyng: but then shall we se face to face. Nowe I knowe vnperfectly: but then shall I knowe euen as I am knowē. Nowe abydeth fayth, hope, and loue, enl these thre: but the ☞ chefe of these is loue.

¶ The .xiiij. Chapter.

¶ That ther is more in the gyfte of prophesye, interpretyng or preachynge, excellith the gyfte of tonges and that they tonges ought to be vsed.

Labour for loue, and couet spretuall gyftes: but most chefly that ye maye prophesye. For he that ☞ speaketh with the tonge, speaketh not vnto men, but vnto God. For no man heareth hym: howbeit in the spyrite he speaketh mysteries. But he that prophesieth, speaketh vnto men for their edifyinge, for their exhortacion and for their comforte. He that speaketh with the tonge, tonge, profiteth him selfe: * he that prophesieth, edifyeth ỹ cõgregacion. ǂ I wolde that ye all spake with tonges: but rather that ye prophesied. For greater is he ỹ prophesyeth, then he that speaketh with tonges, except he expounde it: that the congregacion maye haue edifying. Now brethren, yf I come vnto you speakynge with tonges: what shall I profet you, excepte I speake to you, other by reuelacyon or by knowledge, or by prophesynge, or by doctryne?

B

Moreouer, when thinges without lyfe geue sounde (whether it be a ppe or an harpe) except they make a dyfferẽcyon in ỹ soundes, how shall it be knowen what is pped or harped? For yf the trompe geue an vncertayne voyce, who shall prepare him selfe to the warre? Euen so lyke wyse wha ye speake with tonges, excepte ye speke wordes that haue significacyon, howe shall it be vnderstãde what is spoke? For ye shall but speake in the ayer.

C

Many kyndes of voyces are in the world, and none of them are without significacion. If I knowe not what the voyce meaneth, I shalbe vnto him that speaketh, an alient: and he that speaketh, shalbe an alient vnto me. Euẽ so ye (for as moche as ye couet spyretuall gyftes) seke, that ye maye excell, vnto the edifynge of the congregacyon.

Wherfore, let him ỹ speaketh with tonge, praye, that he maye interpret also. For If I praye with tõge, my spyrete prayeth, but my ☞ vnderstonding doth no good. What is it then? I will praye with the spyrete, and will praye with the vnderstonding. I will synge with the spyrete, and will synge ☞ with the vnderstonding. For ellis, when thou blessest with the spyrete, how shall he that occupieth the rowme of the vnlearned, saye Amen, at thy geuynge of thankes, seynge he vnderstãdeth not what thou sayest? Thou verely geuest thãkes well, but the other is not edified. I thanke my God ỹ I speake with tonges more then ye all. Yet had I leuer in the cõgregacion, to speake fyue wordes with my vnderstonding to ỹ informacion of other rather then ten thousand wordes with the tonge.

D

Brethren, be not ye chyldren in wytte. Howbeit, as concernyng malicyousnes, be children: but in witte be perfect. In the lawe it is wrytten * with londryge tõges, and with londryge lyppes will I speake vnto this people, and yet for all that, will they not heare me, sayth the Lorde. Wherfore ☞ tonges are for a synge, not to them that beleue: but to them ỹ beleue not. Contrary wyse, prophesynge serueth not for them that beleue not: but for them which beleue.

If therfore, when all the cõgregacyon is come together, and all speake with tonges, ther come in they that are vnlearned, or they which beleue not: will they not saye, that ye are out of youre wittes? But and yf all prophesye, and ther come in one ỹ beleueth not, or one vnlearned, he is rebuked of all men, ǂ E is iudged of euery man, ǂ so are the secretes of his hert opened, and so falleth he downe on his face, and worshyppeth God, ǂ sayth, that God is in you of a trueth.

How is it then brethren? As oft as ye come together, euery one of you hath a songe, hath a doctrine, hath a tonge, hath a reuelacyon, hath an interpretacyõ. Let all thinges be done vnto edifynge: If eny man speake with tonge, let it be by two or at the most by thre, and that by course, and let another interprete it. But yf ther be no interpreter, let F him kepe sylence in the cõgregacyon, and let him speake to him selfe and to God.

Let the prophetes speake two, or thre, ǂ * let the other iudge. If eny reuelacyon be made to another that sytteth by, let the fyrst holde his peace. For ☞ ye maye al prophesy one by one, that all maye learne, and that all maye haue comforte. And the spyretes of the prophetes are in the power of the prophetes. For God is not causer of stryfe: * but of peace, as (I teach) in all cõgregacions of the sayncte.

* Let youre wemen kepe sylence in the cõgregacions. For it is not permitted vnto them to speake: but to be vnder obedience, as sayth the lawe. If they wyll learne eny thynge, let them aske their husbandes at home. For it is a shame for wemen, to speake in the congregacion. Spronge the worde of God frõ you? Ether came it vnto you onely? If eny man thynke him selfe to be a prophet, ether spirituall: let him knowe, what thynges I wryte vnto you. For they are the commaundementes of the Lorde. But and yf eny man be ignorãt, let him be ignorãt. Wherfore brethren, couet to prophesye, and forbyd not to speake with tonges. let all thynges be done honestly and in order (among you).

¶ The .xv. Chapter.

¶ The resurrecyon of the dead.

BRethren, as pertaynynge to the A gospell whych I preached vnto you, whych ye haue also accepted, and in the whych ye contynue, by the which also ye are saued: I do you to wit, after what maner I preached vnto you, yf ye kepe it, except ye haue beleued in vayne.

For fyrst of all I delyuered vnto you, ỹ which I receaued: how that * Christ dyed for our synnes, agreynge to the scriptures: * And that he was buried, and that he arose agayne ỹ thirde daye accordyng to the scriptures: ǂ that he was sene * of Cephas, then of the twelue. After that was he sene of moo then fyue hundred brethren at ones: of whych many many remayne vnto this daye, & many are fallen a slepe. After that appeared he to Iames, then to all the Apostles.

And last of all he was sene of me, as of one that was borne oute of due tyme. For I am
B the least of the apostles, which am not worthy to be called an Apostle, because * I persecuted the congregacyon of God. But by
* Actes.viii.a ix.a.xxii.a and xxvi.b Gala.i.c
ꝑ grace of God, I am ꝑ I am. And his grace which is in me, was not in vayne: ✠ But I labored moare aboundauntly then they all, yet not I, but the grace of God which is with me therfore whether it were I or they, so we preach, & so haue ye beleued.

✠ If Christ be preached how that he rose from the deed: how saye some amonge you, that ther is no resurrecyon of the deed: If there be no rysynge agayne of the deed then
C is Christ not rysen agayne. If Christ be not rysen agayne, thē is oure preachig in vayne, and your fayth is also in vayne. Ye and we are founde false wytnelles of God. For we haue testifyed of God, how that he rayled vp Christ: whom he rayled not vp, yf it be so that the deed rise not agayne. For yf the deed rise not agayne, then is Christ not rysen agayne. If it be so that Christ rose not agayne, then is youre fayth in vayne, and ye are yet i youre synnes. Therfore they whych are fallē a slepe in Christ, are perysshed. If in this lyfe onely we beleue on Christ, then are we of all men most miserable.

But now is Christ rysen from the deed, &
* Colos.i.c become * the fyrst frutes of them that slept. For by a man came deeth, and by a man came the resurrecyon of the deed. For as by Adam all dye: euen so by Christ, shall all be made alyue, but euery man in his awne order. ✠ The fyrst is Christ, then they that are Christes at his commynge. Then commeth the ende, ☞ when he hath delyuered
☞ D vp the kyngdome to God the father, when he hath put downe all rule and all auctorite & power. For he must raygne * tyll he haue
* Psal.cx.a 1.Cor.xv.b Ephes.i.d Hebrew.ii.b put all his enemyes vnder his fete. The last enemye that shalbe destroyed, is deeth ꝑ For he hath put all thynges vnder his fete. But whē he sayth all thynges are put vnder him, it is manifest that he is excepted, which dyd put all thynges vnder him. Whē all thynges are subdued vnto him, then shall ꝑ sonne also him selfe be subiect vnto him, ꝑ put all thynges vnder him, that God maye be all in all.
☞ Els what do they, whych are ☞ baptised ouer the deed yf the deed rise not at all? Why are they then baptised ouer them? Yet and why stode we all waye then in ieoperdy? By oure reioysinge which I haue in Christ Iesu oure Lorde, I dye dayly. That I haue foughte with beastes at Ephesus after the maner
E of men, what auaunteth it me, yf the deed
* Mat.xxvii.b Marcion.ii.b rise not agayne: * Let vs eate and drynche, for to morowe we shall dye. Be not ye deceaued: euell wordes corrupte good maners. Awake truely out of slepe, and synne not. For some haue not ꝑ knowledge of God: I speake this to youre shame.

But some man will saye: howe aryse the deed: & what bodye shall they come? Thou foole, * ꝑ which thou sowest, is not quichened, except it dye. And what sowest thou? Thou sowest not that body that shalbe: but bare corne as of wheet, or of some other) but God geueth it a body at his pleasure, to euery seed his awne body. * John.xii.b

✠ All flesshe is not one maner of flesshe: but ther is one maner of flesshe of men, another maner of flesshe of beastes, another of fyshes, & another of byrdes. Ther are also F celestiall bodyes, & ther are bodyes terrestriall. But the glory of the celestiall is one, & ꝑ glory of the terrestriall is another. Ther is one maner glory of the sonne, and another glory of the moone, & another glory of ꝑ sterres. For one starre differeth from another in glory So is the resurrecyon of the deed. It is sowen in corrupcion, it ryseth agayne in incorrupcyon. It is sowen in dishonour, it ryseth agayne in honoure. It is sowen in weaknes, it ryseth agayne in power. It is sowen a naturall body, it ryseth agayne a spretuall body. Ther is a naturall bodye, & ther is a spretuall body: as it is also written: the fyrste mā † Adam was made a lyuinge soule, and the last Adā was made a quyckening spyrete. Howbeit, ꝑ is not fyrst which is spirituall: but that which is naturall, and then ꝑ which is spretuall ✠ The fyrst man is of the erth, erthy: the seconde man is the Lorde frō heauen * (heauenly) As is the erthy, soche are
* A they that are erthye. And as is the heuenly,
G soche are they that are heuenly. And as we haue borne ꝑ ymage of the erthy, so shall we beare the ymage of the heauenly. † Gene.ii.b

This saye I brethren ☞ ꝑ flesshe & bloud
☞ H cannot inheret the kyngdom of God. Nether doth corrupcyon inheret vncorrupcyon. Beholde, I shewe you a mistery. * We shall not all slepe: but * we shall all be chaunged, and that in a moment, in the twynchlynge of an eye by the last trompe. For the trompe shall blowe, and the deed shall ryse incorruptible, & we shalbe chaunged. For this corruptible must put on incorrupcyon: and this mortall must put on immortalite. * 1.Thes.iiii.b * Philip.iii.b

When this corruptible hath put on incorruptiō, and this mortall hath put on immortalite: then shalbe brought to passe the sayig that is written: * Deeth is swalowed vp in victory: * Deeth where is thy stynge? Hell where is thy victory? The stynge of deeth is synne: and the strength of synne is the lawe. But thankes be vnto God which hath geuen vs * victory, thorowe oure Lord Iesus * 1.John.v.d * Esay.xxv.b * Ose.xiii.c * 1.Cor.xv.b * Rom.vi.b

Christ

Chryst. Therfore my deare brethren, be ye stedfast and vnmouable, alwayes ryche in the worke of the Lorde, for as moch as ye knowe, how þ youre labour is not in vayne in the Lorde.

¶ The.xvj. Chapter.

¶ He putteth them in remembraunce of the gatherynge for the poore Christen at Ierusalem, & concludeth hys Epistle with the salutacyons of certayne louynge brethren.

A

*Actes.xx.d Rom.xv.f 1.Cor.viij.a and.xi.a

Oncernyng the * gatherynge for the saynctes, as I haue ordeyned in the congregacyons of Galacia, euen so do ye. ¶ Upon some Saboth daye let euery one of you put a syde at home, and laye vp whatsoeuer is mete, that there be no gatherynges when I come. When I am come, whomsoeuer ye shall alowe by youre letters, them wyll I sende, to brynge youre liberalyte vnto Ierusalem. And yf it be mete that I go also, they shall go wt me.

*Actes.xix.d. 2.Cor.i.c

I wyll come vnto you whan I go ouer to Macedonia. For I wyll go thorowe out * Macedonia. With you parauenture I wyll abyde a whyle: or els tary all wynter, that ye maye brynge me on my waye, whyther soeuer I go.

B

I wyll not se you now in my passage: but I trust to abyde a whyle with you, yf God shall suffre me. I wyll tary at Ephesus, vntyll the fyftyeth daye. For a greate doze and a frutefull is opened vnto me * and ther are many aduersaryes. If * Timotheus come, se that he be with out feare with you. For he worketh the worcke of the Lorde, as I do: let no man therfore despyse him. but conuaye hym forth in peace, that he maye come vnto me. For I loke for him with the brethren.

1.Cor.xvi.c Galath.iiij.b

C

To speake of brother * Apollo (I exhorte you, that) I greatly desyred him, to come vnto you with the brethren, but his mynde was not at all to come at this tyme. Howbeit, he wyll come, when he shall haue conuenient tyme. Watche ye, stonde fast in the fayth, quyte you lyke men, be stronge. Let all youre busynes be done with loue.

*Act.xviij.c 1.Cor.i.b iij.b.iij.a

Brethren, ye knowe the house of * Stephana (& of Fortunatus & Achaicus) how that they are the fyrst frutes of Achaia, and that they haue apoynted them selues to minister vnto the saynctes: I beseche you that ye be obedient vnto soche, and to all that helpe and laboure. I am glad of the commynge of Stephana & Fortunatus and Achaicus: for that whych was lackinge vnto me on youre parte they haue supplied. For they haue comforted my spryte & youres. Loke therfore þ ye knowe them that are soche.

D

The congregacyons of Asia salute you. Aquila and Priscilla salute you moch in the Lorde, and so doeth the congregacyon that is in their house (with whom also I am lodged.) All the brethren grete you * Gyue ye one another with an holy kysse. The salutacyon of me Paul with myne awne hãde. If eny man loue not the Lord Jesus Christ, the same be Anathema maranatha. The grace of þ Lord Jesus Christ be with you: & þ loue be with you all in Christ Jesu. Amen.

*Rom.xvj.c

¶ The fyrst epistle to the Corinthyans, was sent from Philippos, by Stephana and Fortunatus, and Achaicus, and Timotheus.

¶ The seconde epistle of Saynct Paul the Apostle to the Corinthyans.

¶ The fyrste Chapter.

¶ The consolacyon of God in trouble. The loue of Paul towarde the Corinthyans, & hys excuse that he came not vnto them.

Paul an apostle of Jesu christ by the wyll of God, and bro ther Timotheus.

Unto the congregacyon of God, which is at Corinthum, with all the saynctes whych are in all Achaia * Grace be wyth you & peace from God oure father, and from the Lorde Jesus Christ.

*Rom.i.a 1.Cor.i.a Gala.i.a Ephe.i.a 1.Pet.i.a 2.Pet.i.a

* Blessed be God (the father of oure Lorde Jesus Christ) which is the father of mercy, & the God of all comforte, whych comforteth vs in all oure tribulacyon, in so moche that we are hable to cõforte them whych are in any maner of trouble, with the same comforte, wherwith we oure selues are comforted of God. For as the * afflictyõs of Christ are plenteous in vs, euen so is oure consolacyon plenteous by Christ.

*Colloss.i.c

B

Whether we be troubled for youre consolacyon and health, (Or whether we be comforted, it is for youre comforte & saluacyõ) which saluacyon sheweth her power in that ye suffre the same afflictyons, which we also suffre: or whether we be comforted for youre consolacyon and saluacyon: our hope also is stedfast for you: in as moche as we know, how that as ye are partetakers of the afflictyons, so shall ye be partakers also of the consolacyon.

Brethren, I wolde not haue you ignoraunt of oure trouble, which happened vnto vs in * Asia. For we were greued out of measure passing strength, so greatly that we despayred euen of lyfe. Also we receaued an answer of deeth in oure selues, that we shuld not put oure trust in our selues: * but in God, which rayseth the deed to lyfe, and which delyuered vs from so great a deeth: and doth

*Act.xix.d

*1.Reg.xi.b Deu.viij.b

delyuer

delyuer. On whom we trust, that yet hereafter he wyll delyuer, by the helpe of youre prayer for vs, that by the meanes of many persones, thankes maye be geuen of many *2.Cor.xi.c *on oure behalfe, for ỹ gyfte geuē vnto vs.

C For oure reioysinge is this, euen the testimony of oure conscience, that in synglenes ꝑb (of hert) and godly purenes, ỹ not in fleshly wysdom, but by the grace of God, we haue had oure cōuersacyon in the worlde, and moste of all to you wardes. We wryte none other thynges vnto you, then that ye reade ỹ also knowe. Yee, and I trust ye shall fynde vs vnto the ende, euen as ye haue foūde vs partly:
*2.Cor.i.c for we are youre reioysinge, euen *as ye are oures in the daye of the Lord Iesus.

*1.Cor.xvi.a *And in this confidence was I mynded fyrst to haue come vnto you, that I myght haue had one pleasure more with you, and to passe by you into Macedonia, ỹ to haue come agayne out of Macedonia vnto you, and to be led forth of you towarde Iewrye. Whan
D I thus wyse was mynded: dyd I vse lyghtnes? Or thynke I carnally those thynges
*Mat.v.f Iames.v.b which I thinke, that with me shuld be *yee, yee, and naye naye. God is faythfull: For oure preachyng to you, was not yee ỹ naye. For Goddes sonne Iesus Christ which was preached amonge you by vs (euen by me and Siluanus and Timotheus) was not yee ỹ naye: but by hym it was yee: For all the promises of God, by him are yee: and are in him Amen, vnto the lawde of God thorow vs.
E For it is God, which stablysheth vs with you in Christ and stondeth by vs, and hath annoynted vs, whych hath also sealed vs,
*Rom.viii.a Ephe.i.c and *hath geuen the ernest of the spyrite in oure hertes.

✠ I call God for a recorde vnto my soule that for to fauer you with all I came not eny more vnto Corynthum. *Not that we be
*1 Pet.v.a Lordes ouer youre fayth: but are helpers of youre ioye. For by fayth ye stande.

C The.ij. Chapter.

C Declareth the cause of hys absence & exhorteth them to forgeue the man that was fallen, & to receaue hym agayne with loue.

A But I determined this in my selfe, that I wold not come agayne to you in heuynes. For yf I make you sorye, who is it ỹ shuld make me glad, but the same which is made sorye by me? And I wrote thys same vnto you, lest yf I came vnto you, I shuld take heuynes ꝑb (vpon heuynes) of them, of whom I ought to reioyce. Thys confidence haue I towarde you all, that my ioye is the ioye of you all. For out of great affliccyon and anguysshe of hert I wrote vnto you with many teares: not that ye shuld be made sorye, but that ye myght perceaue the loue, whych I haue, most specially vnto you.

If eny man hath caused sorow, the same B hath not made me sorye, but partely: lest I *1.Cor.v.d
shulde greue you all. *It is sufficient vnto the same man, that he was rebuked of many. So that now contrary wyse, ye ought rather to forgeue him, and comforte him: lest that same persone shuld be swalowed vp with ouer moch heuynes. Wherfore, I exhorte you, that loue maye haue strength ouer him. For this cause verely dyd I wryte, that I myght knowe the proufe of you, whether ye shulde be obedient in all thynges. To whom ye forgeue eny thynge, I forgeue also. For yf I forgaue eny thynge, to whom I forgaue it, for youre sakes forgaue I it, in the syght of Christ, lest Satan shuld preuent
C vs. For his thoughtes are not vnknowen vnto vs. ✠

✠ When I was come to Troada for Christes Gospelles sake (and a dore was opened vnto me of the Lord) I had no rest in my spyrite, because I founde not Titus my brother: but toke my leaue of them, and went awaye into Macedonia. Thankes be vnto God, which alwayes geueth vs the victorye in Christ, and openeth the sauer of his knowledge by vs in euery place. For we are vnto God the swete sauoure of Christ, amonge them that are saued, and amōge them which
D perysshe. *To the one parte are we the sa- *Luke.ii.c
nour of deeth vnto deeth. And vnto ỹ other part are we ỹ sauour of lyfe vnto lyfe. And who is mete vnto these thinges? For we are not as the most part are, which choppe and chaunge with the worde of God: but euē out of purenes, and by the power of God, in the syght of God, so speake we in Christ. ✠

C The.iij. Chapter.

C Declareth the preachynge of the Gospell to goue the preachynge of the lawe.

W E begyn to praise oure selues agayne, Nede we as some other, of Epistles of recommendacyon vnto you A or letters of recommendacion from you? Ye are oure epistle wrytten in oure hertes, which is vnderstāde and red of all men, for asmoch as ye declare that ye are the epistle of Christ, mynistred by vs and wrytten, not with ynke: but with the spyrite of the lyuynge God * not in tables of stone, but in
*Ex.xxxiii.d ‡Deut.ix.b Jere.xxxi.f *‡fleshly tables of the hert.

✠ Suche trust haue we thorow Christ to God ward, not that we are sufficient of B
oure selues to thynke eny thyng, as of our selues: but yf we be able vnto any thinge *ỹ *Philip.iii.b
same commeth of God, which hath made vs able to *mynister the newe testament, not *1.Cor.iii.a of the letter, but of the spyrite. For ỹ D letter kylleth, but the spyrite geueth lyfe.

If the

If the minystracyon of deeth thorow the letters fygured in stones, was glorious, so þ the chyldre of Israel coulde not beholde the face of Moses, for the glory of his countenaunce (whych glory is done awaye) why shall not the ministracyon of the spyrete be moch more glorypous? For yf the ministringe of condemnacyon be glorious: moch more doth the ministracyon of ryghteweanes exceade in glory. ✠ For no dout that whych was there glorifyed, is not once glorifyed in respecte of this exceadynge glory. For yf that which is destroyed was glorious, moch more that which remayneth, is glorious.

C

Seyng then that we haue soch truste, we vse great boldnes, & do not as Moses, which * put a vayle ouer his face, that the chyldren of Israel shuld not se for what purpose that serued which is put awaye. * But their myndes were blinded. For vntyll this daye remayneth the same coueringe vntaken awaye in the lecture of the olde testament, whych vayle shalbe put awaye in Christ. But euen vnto this daye when Moses is redde * the vayle hangeth before their hertes. Neuertheles * when they tourne to the Lord, the vayle shalbe taken awaye. * The Lorde no dout is a spyrete. And where þ spyrete of the Lord is, there is libertie. But we all beholde in a myrroure the glorye of þ Lorde with his face open, and are chaūged vnto þ same similitude, from glory to glory, euen as of the spyrete of the Lorde.

* Ex.xxxiiij.d

* Mat.xxij.d
Mar.xiij.d
Luke.xxiij.d
Acte.xxviij.f.
Rom.xj.f
2.Cor.iij.d

* Ex.xxxiiij.d

D

Rom.xi.d
* John. iiij.c

¶ The.iiij.Chapter.

¶ A true preacher is myldest, he corrupteth not the worde of God, but seketh the honoure of Christ, yet though it be wyth the parell of hys lyfe.

A

Therfore, seyng that we haue soch an office, euen as God hath had mercy on vs, we go not out of kynde: but haue cast from vs the cloke of vnhonestye, and walke not in craftynes, nether handle we the worde of God deceatfully, but open the trueth, & reporte oure selues to euery mannes conscience in þ syght of God ✠ If oure Gospell be yet hyd, it is hyd amonge them that are lost, in whom * the God of this worlde * hath blynded the myndes of the which belene not, lest the lyght of the gospell of the glory of Christ whych is þ ymage of God) shulde shyne vnto them.

* John.xij.c
2.Cor.iij.c
Mat.xiij.b
Mar.iiij.b
Luke.viij.b
John.xij.f
Acte.xxviij.f

B

✠ For we preache not our selues, but Christ Jesus to be the Lorde, and oure selues youre seruauntes, for Jesus sake. For it is God, that * commaunded the lyght to shyne out of darckenes, which hath * shyned in oure hertes, for to geue the lyght of the knowledge of the glory of God, in the face of Jesus Christ.

* Gen.i.a
2.Pet.i.b

But we haue this treasure in * erthen vessels, that the excellency of þ power myght be Gods, and not oures. We are troubled on

2.Cor.iv.a

euery syde, yet are we not without shyft. We are in ponertie: but not vtterly without somwhat. We suffre persecucion: but are not forsaken therin. We are cast downe: neuertheles we perysshe not. We all wayes * beare aboute in the bodye, the dyinge of the Lorde Jesus, that the lyfe of Jesu myght also appeare in oure bodye. ✠

C

* Gala.vi.b

* For we which lyue, are alwayes delyuered vnto deeth for Jesus sake, that the lyfe also of Jesu myght appere in oure mortall flesshe. So then, deeth worketh in vs, but lyfe in you. ✠ ✠ But seynge that we haue the same spyrete of fayth) accordynge as it is wrytten: * I beleued, and therfore haue I spoken.) We also beleue, and therfore speake For we knowe, that he which raysed vp the Lorde Jesus, shall rayse vp vs also by the meanes of Jesus, & shall sett vs with you. For all thynges do I for youre sakes * that the plenteous grace by thankes geuen of many, maye redounde to the prayse of God.

* Rom. viij.c

* 1.Cor.j.a

D

Wherfore, we are not wery, But though oure vtwarde mā perysshe, yet the inwarde man is renewed daye by daye. * For oure tribulacyon which is momētany and lyght, prepareth an excedinge & an eternall wayght of glorye vnto vs, while we loke not on the thynges which are sene, but on the thynges whych are not sene. For the thynges whych are sene, are tempozall: but thynges whych are not sene, are eternall. ✠

* Psal.xxxix.b
Rom. viij.d

¶ The. v. Chapter.

¶ Therewarde for sufferynge trouble.

A

For we knowe that yf oure * erthy mācion of this dwellyng were destroyed, we haue a byldinge of God, an habitacyon not made with hādes, but eternall in heauen.

* ij. cor. iiij.b.

For * therfore syghe we, desyring to be clothed with oure mācion which is from heauen: so yet, yf that we be founde clothed, & not naked. For we that are in this * tabernacle, syghe & are greued because we wold not be vnclothed, but wolde be * clothed vpon, that moztalite myght be swalowed vp of lyfe. He þ hath ordeyned vs for this thynge, is God: * which verysame hath geuen vnto vs the erneste of the spyrete.

* Rom.viij.c

* Apo.iij.d

* Rom.viij.c
ij.Cor.v.d.

Therfore, we are alwaye of good cheare, and knowe, that as longe as we are at home in the body, we are absent frō God. For we walke in fayth, not after outward appearance. Neuertheles, we are of good comforte, and had leuer to be absent from the body, and to be present with God. Wherfore, whether we be at home or from home, we endeuoure oure selues, to please him. * For we must all appeare before the iudgement seate of Christ, that euery man maye receaue the workes of hys body accordynge to that he hath

B

* Mat.xxv.c
Rom.xiij.c

hath done, whether it be good or bad.

✠ Seynge then that we knowe, how ꝑ Lorde is to be feared, we fare sayre wyth men. For we are knowen well ynough vnto God. I trust also ꝑ we are knowen in youre consciences.

For we prayse not oure selues agayne vn to you, but geue you an occasyon to reioyce of vs, that ye maye haue some what against them, whych reioyce in the face, and not in
C the herte. For ꝑ we be to feruent, to God are we to feruent. Or If we kepe measure, for youre cause kepe we measure. For the loue of Christ constrayneth vs, because we thus iudge, that ꝑ one dyed for all, then were all
*1.Thess.v.c deed, and * he dyed for all: that they whych lyue, should not hence forth lyue vnto them selues, but vnto him whych dyed for them, & rose agayne. ✠

Wherfore, hence forth knowe we no man
D after the flesshe. In so moch though we haue knowen Christ after the flesshe, now yet hēce forth knowe we hī so no more. Therfore ꝑ eny man be in Christ, he is a newe creature
*Esa.xliii.c Olde thynges are passed awaye, beholde, all Apoc.xxi.a thinges are become * new. Neuertheles, all †Rom.v.b.d thynges are of God, whych hath † reconcyled
Colloss.i.c vs vnto him selfe by Jesus Christ, and hath geuen to vs the office to preache the attonement.
*Colloss.i.c For * God was in Christ, and made agrement betwene the worlde and him selfe, & imputed not their synnes vnto them, and hath committed to vs the preachynge of the attonement. Now then are we messengers in the rowme of Christ euen as though God dyd beseche you thorow vs. So praye we you in Christes stede, that ye be reconcyled
*Esa.liii.b. vnto God: for * he made him to be synne
Rom.viii.a for vs, which knewe no synne, that we by his meanes shulde be ꝑ rygh teweines, which before God is alowed.

C The. vj. Chapter. ✠

C An exhortacyon to receaue the worde of God with thanckefulnesse and amendement of lyfe. The diligence of Paul in the Gospell, & how he warneth yͤt to eschue the cōpany of the Heathē.

A WE also as helpers exhorte you ꝑ ye receaue not the grace of God in vayne. For he sayth: * I haue
*Esa.xlix.c heard the in a tyme accepted: and in the daye of saluacyon, haue I succored the. Beholde, now is that accepted tyme: beholde, now is that daye of saluacyō. Lett vs geue no occasyon of euyll, that in
*1.Cor.viii.a oure office be founde no faute: but in all thynges let vs behaue oure selues * as the mynysters of God.

B In moch pacience, in afflictcyons, in necessitees in anguyshes, in strypes, in presonmentes: in stryfes: in labours, in watchynges, in fastynges, in pureues, in knowledge, in longe suffrynge, in kyndenes, in the holy ghost, in loue vnfayned, in the worde of truth, in the power of God, by the armoure of rygh teweines of the rygh t hande & on ꝑ lyfte
* be honoure and dishonoure: be euyll reported & good reporte: as deceauers, and yet true, as vnknowen, and yet knowen: as dyinge, and beholde, we lyue: as chastened, and not kylled: as sorowing, & yet alwaye merye: as poore, and yet make many ryche: as hauinge nothyng, & yet possessyng all thynges. ✠

Oye Corynthyans, oure mouth is open C
vnto you. Oure hert is made large: ye are in no straȳte in vs, but are in a straȳte in youre awne bowelles: I promyse vnto you lyke reward, as vnto chyldren. Set your selues at large, and ✠ * beare not ye the yoke wᵗ *Deut.vii
ꝑ vnbeleuers. For what felyshyp hath rygh teweines with vnrygh teweines? Or what company hath lyght wᵗ darknes? * Or what *Gene.xiii concorde hath Christ with Belial? Ether what parte hath he that beleueth, with an infidell? Or how agreeth the temple of God with Images for * ye are the temple of the *1.Cor.iii lyuinge God, as sayde God: † I wyll dwell end.vi.b
amonge them, & walcke amonge them, and † Gen.xvii
wylbe their God: & they shalbe my people. Leui.xxvi Wherfore * come out from amonge them, Exo.xxix
and separate youre selues from them (sayth *Esa.lii.
ꝑ Lorde) and touche none vncleane thynge: so wyll I receaue you, and wylbe a father vnto you, and ye shalbe my sonnes & daughters, sayth the Lorde almyghty.

C The. vij. Chapter.

C He exhorteth them to receaue the promyses of God thankefully. The Corinthyans are commended for their obedyence & loue towarde Paul.

SEynge that we haue soche promyses (dearely beloued) A lett vs clense oure selues frō all filthynes of ꝑ flesshe and spyrte, and growe vp to full holynes wyth the feare of God. Understād vs we haue hurte no man: we haue corrupte no man: we haue defrauded no mā. I speake not this to condemne you: for I haue shewed you before, that ye are in oure hertes to dye & lyue with you: I am very bolde ouer you, I reioyce greatly in you. I am fylled with comforte, and am exceadynge ioyouse in all oure tribulacyon. For when we were come into Macedonia * oure flesshe had no rest, but we *Actes.xx were troubled on euery syde. Outwarde was fyghtyng, inward was feare. Neuertheles * God that comforteth the abiecte, *2.Cor.vii comforted vs by the commynge of Titus.

And not by his commynge onely: but also by the consolacyon which we receaued of you: when he tolde vs youre desyre, youre feruent mynde for me: so that I reioyced the more. For though I made you sorry with a letter, I repent not: though I dyd repent. For I perceaue, that the same epistle made B

you

you sorye, though it were but for a season. But I nowe reioyce, not that ye were sory, but that ye so sorowed that ye repented. For ye sorowed godly: so y in nothynge ye were hurte by vs. For godly sorowe causeth repentaunce vnto saluacyon, not to be repented of, ℮ contrary wyse, * worldely sorowe causeth deeth. * 2. Cor. vii. c

℄ For beholde, what diligẽce this godly sorowe that ye toke, hath wrought in you: yee it caused you to cleare your selues. It caused indignacyon, it caused feare, it caused desire. it caused punishment. For in all thynges ye haue shewed your selues, that ye were cleare in that matter. Wherfore, though I wrote vnto you, I dyd it not for his cause that had done the hurt, nether for his cause that was hurte: but ꝑ your good mynde for vs might appeare amonge you in the syght of God.

Therfore, we are comforted, because ye are cõforted: yee, and exceadingly the more ioyed we, for the ioye that Tit⁹ had: because hys spirite was refreshed of you all. I am therfore not nowe ashamed, though I boasted my selfe to hym of you. For as all thynges which we spake vnto you are true, euen so, oure boastynge that I made vnto Titus is founde true. And his inwarde affection is founde aboundant towarde you, whã he remembreth the obedience of you all, howe wt feare & tremblinge ye receaued hym. I reioyce ꝑ I maye be bolde ouer you in all thinges. D

℄ The. viij. Chapter.

℄ He putteth them in remembraunce to helpe the poore sayncters at Ierusalem, accordynge as the Macedonians dyd.

A I Certifye you brethren, of the grace of God which was geuen in ꝑ congregacyons of Macedonia, howe that the aboundaunce of their reioysynge is, that they are tryed with moche tribulacyon. And though they were exceadynge poore, yet haue they geuen exceading richely, and that in singlenesse. For to their powers, I beare them recorde, yee, & beyõde their power, they were wyllynge of their awne accorde, and prayed vs with great instaunce, ꝑ we wolde receaue their benefyte, and suffre thẽ to be partetakers with other * in mynystrynge to the sayncters. And thys they dyd, not as we loked for: but gaue their awne selues fyrst to the Lord, and after vnto vs by the wyll of God: so that we coulde not but desyre Titus, to accomplysshe the same benivolence amonge you also, euen as he had begonne. * Actes. vi. d. xi. xvi. da. xix. xx. a. xxiiii. xxvi. f

B Nowe therfore, as ye are riche in all parties, in fayth, in worde, in knowledge, in all feruẽtnes, and in loue, which ye haue to vs: euen so, se that ye be plentyous in thys benivolence also. This saye I, not commaundynge: but because of feruentnes. I do alowe the vnfaynednesse of youre loue towarde other men. For ye knowe the liberalytie of oure Lord Iesus Christ, that though he was * ryche, yet for youre sakes he became poore that ye, thorowe hys powerte, myght be made ryche. * Roma. v. a.

And I geue councell herein. For thys is expedient for you, which beganne, not to do onely, but also to wyll a yeare ago. Nowe therfore, performe the thynge which ye beganne to do: that as there was in you a redynes to will, euen so, ye maye performe the C dede ‡ of that which ye haue. For * yf there be fyrst a wyllynge mynde, it is accepted accordynge to that a man hath, and not accordynge to that he hath not. ‡ 1. Pet. iiii. c. Prouer. iii. b. * Mar. xii. d. Luke. xxi. a

It is not my mynde that other be sett at ease, and ye brought into combraunce: but that ther be egalnes nowe at this tyme: and that your aboundance maye sucker their lacke: and that their aboundance maye supply youre lacke: that there maye be equalyte, agreynge to that which is wrytten: * he that had moche, had not the more aboundance: & he that had a litle, had neuer the lesse. Thankes be vnto God, which put the same good mynde for you in the herte of Titus, which accepted the requeste: yee, rather he was so well wyllinge, that of his awne accorde, he came vnto you. * Exo. xvi. d

We haue sente with hym the brother, C whose laude is in the gospell thorowout all the congregacyons: and not that onelye, but is also chosen of the congregacions to be a felowe with vs in oure iorney, concernyng this benivolence that is mynistred by vs vnto the prayse of the same Lorde, and to stere vp youre prompte mynde.

For thys we exchewe, that eny mã should rebuke vs in this plentyous distrybucyon, * that is mynistred by vs (to ꝑ glory of the Lorde) and make prouisyon for honest thinges: not onely in the syght of ꝑ Lorde: but also in the syght of men. * Rom. xii. e

We haue sent wt them a brother of ours, whom we haue ofte tymes proued dilygent in many thynges: but nowe moch more diligent. The greate confidence which I haue in you, hath caused me thys to do: partely for Titus sake which is my felowe and helper as concernyng you: partely because of other which are our brethren, and the messengers of the congregacyons, & the glory of Christ. Wherfore, shewe ye vnto them the proffe of youre loue, and of oure * boastynge of you in the syght of the congregacyons. * 1. Thes. i. d.

℄ The. ix. Chapter.

℄ In thys chapter doth he the same that he dyd in the chapter goynge before, that is, he moueth them to helpe the poore brethren at Ierusalem.

A * Actes.xi.d. i.Cor.xvi.a ii.Cor.viii.a. Roma.xv.f.

IF the ministrynge to ꝑ sayntes, it is but superfluous for me to wryte vnto you: for I knowe the redynes of your mynde, wherof I boast my selfe vnto them of Macedonia, that Achaia was prepared a yeare ago: and your ensample hath prouoked many. Neuertheless, yet haue I sent these brethren, lest our boastyng which I make of you shulde be in vayne, in this behalfe, that ye (as I haue sayde) maye prepare your selues: lest parquenture yͤ they of Macedonia come with me, and finde you vnprepared, we (I wyll not saye ye) shulde be ashamed in this matter of boastynge.

B Wherfore, I thought it necessarye to exhorte the brethren, to come before hande vnto you, and to prepare youre good blessynge promysed afore, that it mygte be ready, so ꝑ it be a blessynge, and not a defraudynge.

✠ This yet I saye: he which soweth lytell, * Prou.xi.b. Gala.vi.b shal reape lytell: & * he ꝑ soweth (in geuyng) largelye and freelye, shall reape plenteouslye: And let euery man do, accordinge as he hath purposed in his herte, not grudgyngly, or of necessyte. * For God loueth a cheartfull * Ecclus.xxxv.a and.xxxv.a Eccle.xxxv.a geuer.

C God is able to make you riche in all grace that ye in all thynges hauynge sufficyent vnto the vtmost, maye be riche vnto all maner of good workes, as it is wrytten: * he * Psal.cxii.b hath sparsed abroade, and hath geuen to the poore, his ryghtewesnesse remayneth for euer. He that mynistreth seed vnto ꝑ sower, mynistre bread also for fode: and multyplye youre seede, and increase the frutes of youre ryghtewesnesse, ✠ that on all partes, ye ☞ maye be made ryche ☞ into all synglenes, D which causeth thorowe vs, that thankes are geuen vnto God.

For the office of this mynystracion, not onely supplyeth the nede of the sayntes: but also is aboundaunt herin, that for this laudable mynystringe, thankes might be geuen to God of many, which prayse God for the obedience of youre consentynge to the Gospell of Christ, and for youre synglenesse in distributynge to them, and to all men, and in their prayers for you, which loge after you, for the aboundaunt grace of God in you. Thankes be vnto God, for his vnspeakeable gyfte.

¶ The.x. Chapter.

¶ He toucheth the false Apostles, and defendeth his auctorite and callynge.

A I Paul my selfe beseche you by ꝑ meknesse & softenesse of Christ, which whā I am present amoge you, am of no reputacyon: but am bolde towarde you beynge absent. I beseche you, ꝑ I nede not to be bolde whan I am present, with that same boldnesse, wherewith I am supposed to haue bene bolde, agaynst some, which repute vs as though we walked carnally. For though we walke in ꝑ flesshe, yet B we do not warre fleshly. * For ꝑ weapens * Ephe.vi. of oure warrefare are not carnall thynges, but thynges mygthy in God, to cast downe stronge holdes, where with we ouerthrowe councels and euery hye thynge that exalteth it selfe agaynst the knowledge of God, and bringe into captiuyte all ymaginacio to the obedience of Christ, & are ready to take vengeaunce on all disobedience, when your obedience is fulfylled. Loke ye on thinges after the vtter appearaunce!

If any man trust in hym selfe, that he is C Christes, lett hym consyder this agayne of him selfe, that as he is Christes, euen so, are we Christes. For though I boaste my selfe somwhat more of oure auctorite (which the Lorde hath geuen vs * to edifye, and not to * ii.Cor.x. destroye you) it shall not be to my shame: lest I shulde seme as though I wente about to make you afrayede with letters. For ꝑ epistles (sayth he) are sore, and stronge: but his bodelye presence is weake, and his speache rude. Lett hym that is soche thynke on this wyse: that as we are in wordes by letters, when we are absent, soche are we in dedes, when we are present.

For we cānot fynde in our hertes to make oure selues of the nomber of them, or to cōpare oure selues to them, which prayse thē D selues. Neuertheless, whyle they measure them selues wt them selues, and compare thē selues with them selues, they vnderstande nought. But we will not reioyce aboue measure: but accordynge to the measure of the rule, which God hath distributed vnto vs, a measure to reache euen vnto you. For we stretch not out our selues beyonde measure, as though we reached nott vnto you. For euen to you also haue we come wt the gospell of Christ, and we boast not our selues out of measure of other mennes labours: Yee, and we hope it wyll come to passe, ꝑ when your faith is increased amōge you, we shalbe magnifyed accordynge to oure measure, more largely, and that I shall preache the Gospell in those regions which are beyōde you: & not to boast of those thynges, which by another mans measure are prepared allready. But let him that reioyseth, reioyse in the Lorde. For he ꝑ prayseth hym selfe, is not alowed but he whom the Lorde prayseth.

¶ The.xi. Chapter.

¶ Paul (vnder sufferaunce) cōmendeth him selfe, and defendeth his auctorite agaynst the false prophetes.

WOld to God, ye could haue suffred A me a lytell in my folysshnes: yee, ye do also forbeare me. For I am gelous ouer you wt godly gelousye: For I haue coupled you to one man, that ye shulde make youre selues a chaste virgin vnto Christ, to Christ. But I feare lest it come to passe þ. as the serpent * begyled Eue thorowe hys subtelte, euen so your wittes shulde be corrupte frō the syngleues that ye had toward Christ. For yf he þ cōmeth preache another Jesus then hym whō we preached: or yf ye rece aue another spyete then þ which ye haue receaued, ether another Gospell then that ye haue receaued, ye might right well haue bene content. For I suppose that I was not behynde the chefe Apostles. But though I be rude in speakinge, yet I am not so in knowledge. Howbeit amonge you, we haue bene well knowē to þ vtmost what we are in all thinges. Dyd I therin synne, because I submytted my selfe, that ye might be exalted: & because I preached to you þ Gospell of God free? I robbed other cōgregacyōs & toke wages of them, to do you seruyce. And when I was present wt you, & had nede * I was chargeable to no man: for þ which was lackynge vnto me, the brethre which came frō Macedonia, supplied, and in all thinges I kept my selfe so that I shuld not be chargeable to any man, and so wyll I kepe my selfe.

If the trueth of Christ be in me, thys reioysynge shall not be taken from me in the regions of Achaia. Wherfore? Because I loue you not? God knoweth. Neuertheles, what I do, that wyll I do, to cut awaye occasyon from thē which desyre occasion: þ they might be founde lyke vnto vs, in that wherin they reioyce. For soch false apostles are disceatfull workers, and fassyon them selues lyke vnto the apostles of Christ. And no maruayle: for Satan him selfe is chaunged into the fassyō of an angell of light. Therfore it is no great thynge though hys mynisters fassyon them selues, as though they were the ministers of ryghte wesnes: whose ende shalbe accordyng to theyr dedes.

I saye agayne, lest eny man thynke that I am folyshe: or els euē nowe take ye me as a foole, that I also maye boast my selfe a lytell. That I speake, I speake not after the Lorde, but as it were folyshly, in thys matter of boastinge. Seynge that many reioyce after the flesshe, I wyll reioyce also. ✠ For ye suffre foles gladly, seynge ye youre selues are wyse. For ye suffre yf a mā bryng you in to bondage, yf a man deuoure, yf a mā take yf a mā exalte him selfe, yf a man smyte you on the face. I speake as cōcerning rebuke, as though we had bene weake, (in thys behalfe.)

Howbeit, wherinsoeuer eny man dare be bolde (I speake folyshly) I dare be bolde also. * They are Ebrues, euen so am I. They are Israelites, euē so am I. They are þ seede of Abraham, euen so am I. They are þ mynisters of Christ (I speake as a foole) I am more. In labours more aboundāte: In strypes aboue measure: In prison more plētyouslye: In deeth ofte. * Of the Jewes fyue tymes receaued I euery tyme. xl. strypes saue one. * Thryse was I beaten wt roddes, * I was once stoned, ‡ I suffered thryse shypwracke, Nyght and daye haue I bene in the deepe see. In iorneying often: in perels of waters: in perels of robbers: in ieopardyes of myne awne nacyon: in ieopardyes among þ hethen: * in perels in þ citie: in perels in wildernes: in perels in the see: in perels amonge false brethren: in laboure & trauayle: in watchinges often: in hōger and thyrst: in fastynges often: in colde and nakednes: beside the thinges which outwardly happen vnto me. I am combred dayly, and do care for all cōgregacyons. * Who is weake, and I am not weake? who is offended, & I burne not? If I must nedes boast, I wyll boaste of the thynges that concerne myne infirmyties.

* Deu.xxv.a ‡ Actes.xvi.c
* Act.xiiij.c
‡ Act.xxvij.g
* Actes.x.b
f.Cor.ix.b

The.xij.Chapter.

Paul is taken vp into the thyrde heauen, and heareth wordes not to be spoken.

The God & father of oure Lorde Jesus Christ, which is blessed for euermore knoweth that I lye not.

✠ In the cytie of Damascon, the gouerner of þ people vnder king Aretas, layde watch in the cytie of the Damascens, and wold haue caught me: and * at a windowe was I let downe in a basket thorowe the wall, and so scaped I his handes. Doutles, it is not expedient for me to boast, I wyll come to visyōs and reuelacions of the Lord, I knowe a mā in Christ aboue fourtene yeares ago (whyther he were in the body, I cannot tell, or whyther he were out of the body, I cannot tell, God knoweth) howe that he was takē vp into the thyrde heauen. And I knowe the same man (whither in the body or out of the body, I cannot tell, God knoweth) howe þ he was taken vp into Paradyse, and heard secret wordes, which no man can vtter. Of thys man wyll I boast, but of my selfe wyll I not boast, except it be of myne infirmityes. For though I wolde boast, I shall not be a foole: for I wolde saye the trueth. Neuertheles, I spare you: lest any man shulde thinke of me, aboue that which he seeth me to be, or that he heareth of me.

* Actes.xx.b

And * lest I shulde be exalted out of measure thorowe þ excellēcye of the reuelacions: there was gyuen vnto me vnquyetnes thorowe the flesshe, euen the messenger of Satā to buffet me, because I shulde not be exalted out of measure. For this thynge besought I the Lorde thryse, that it might departe from me. And he sayde vnto me: my grace is sufficient for the. For my strength is made parfect thorow weaknes. Very gladly therfore wyll I reioyce of my weaknes, þ þ strength of Christ maye dwell in me. ✠ Therfore, haue I delectacō in infirmitres, in rebukes, in necessities, in persecucyons, in anguyshes for Chrystes sake. For when I am weake, then am I stronge.

* Iob.6.b

I am become a foole in boasting my selfe. Ye haue compelled me: for I ought to haue bene commended of you. * For in nothynge was I lesse vnto ꝑ chefe apostles, though I be nothing, yet ꝑ tokēs of an apostle were wrought amonge you with all paciēce, and signes and wōders, and myghty dedes. For what is it, wherin ye were inferiors vnto other congregations, except it be herin, that I was not chargeable vnto you. Forgeue me thys wronge. Beholde, nowe the thyrde tyme I am ready to come vnto you: and yet wyll I not be chargeable vnto you. For * I seke not yours, but you. For the chyldren ought not to laye vp for the fathers and mothers, but the fathers and mothers for the chyldren.

I wyll very gladly bestowe, and wylbe bestowed for youre soules, though the more I loue you, the lesse I am loued agayn. But be it, that I was not chargeable vnto you: neuertheles, when I was crafty, I toke you with gyle. Dyd I pyll you by any of them, whom I sent vnto you? I desyred Titus, & with hym I sent a brother. Dyd Titus defraude you of any thyng? walked we not in one spyrite? Walked we not in lyke steppes? Agayne, thynke you ꝑ we excuse our selues vnto you? we speake in Christ in the syght of of God: but we do all thinges (dearly beloued) for youre edifyinge. For I feare, lest it come to passe, ꝑ ꝑ I come, I shall not fynde you soch as I wolde: & ꝑ I shalbe foūde vnto you soch as ye wolde not. I feare, lest ther be amōge you * debates, enuyinges, wrath, stryfes, bakbytynges, whysperinges, swellynges, & sedicyons: and that when I come agayne, God brynge me lowe among you, & I be constrayned to bewayle many of them which haue synned allready, & haue not repented of the * vnclennes and fornicaciō and wantannes which they haue commytted.

The.xiij. Chapter.

She prompteth to come vnto them and exhorteth them so to ordre them selues that he maye fynde them parfecte, and of one mynde.

I Owe come I the thyrde tyme vnto you: * in the mouth of two or thre witnesses shal euery worde be stablyshed. I tolde you before, & tell you before: and as I sayd when I was present with you the seconde tyme, so wryte I nowe beynge absent, to the which in tyme past haue synned, & to all other: that ꝑ I come agayne, I wyll not spare, seynge that ye seke experiēce of Christ * which speaketh in me, which among you is not weake but is myghtye in you. For though he was crucifyed in weakines, yet liueth he thorowe the power of God. And we (no doute) are weake in hym: but we shall lyue with hym: by the myght of God amonge you.

* Examen youre selues, whether ye are in the fayth or not. Proue youre awne selues, knowe ye not youre awne selues, howe that Jesus Christ is in you, excepte ye be castawayes, I trust ye shall knowe that we are not castawayes. I desyre before God that ye do none euyll, not that we shulde seme cōmendable: but that ye shuld do that which is honeste: & let vs be counted as castawayes. We can do nothinge agaynst the trueth: but for ꝑ trueth. We are glad whē we ar weake, and ye stronge. This also we wyllhe for, euē youre perfectnesse. Therfore wryte I these thinges beynge absent, lest whan I am present, I shulde vse sharpenesse, accordynge to the power * which the Lorde hath geuen me to edifye, and not to destrope. Finally ye brethren, fare ye well, be parfect, be of good confort, be of one mynde, lyue in peace, and the God of loue and peace shalbe with you. * Gyue one another in an holy kysse. All the sayntes salute you. The grace of oure Lord Jesus Christ, and the loue of God, and the felyshyppe of the holy ghost be with you all. Amen.

The ende of the seconde epistle to the Corinthyans.

Sent from Philippos a cytie in Macedonia, by Titus and Lucas.

The epistle of
sayncte Paul the Apostle to the Galathians.

The fyrst Chapter.

Paul reiudeth them, because they were fallen awaye from the Gospell, shewyth hys awne conuersyon, magnifyeth hys office and apostlehyp, and declareth hym selfe to be equall with the hye Apostles.

PAul an apostle, not of men, nether by man: but by Jesus Christ, and by God the father, which rayled him vp from deeth: and all the brethren which are with me.

Vnto the congregacions of Galacia. * Grace be with you, and peace from God the father, & frō oure Lorde Jesus Christ, which gaue hym selfe for our synnes to delyuer vs from thys present euyll worlde, accordynge to the wyll of God oure father, to whom be prayse for euer and euer. Amen.

I maruayle, that ye are so soone turned (from Christ which called you by grace) vnto another to another Gospell which is nothinge elles,

but that there be some which trouble you, &
* Acter.xv.a * intende to peruerte the Gospell of Christ.
Neuertheselle, though we oure selues, or an angell from heauen, preache any other Gos-pell vnto you, then ỹ which we haue pre-
B ached vnto you, let him be accursed. As we said before, so saye I nowe agayne, yf eny man preache eny other Gospell vnto you, then ỹ ye haue receaued, lett hym be accursed. Do I now perswade men, or God? Other do I se-
* Iob.xiii.b. ke to please men? * For yf I had hytherto
studyed to please mē, I were not the seruaūt of Christ.

✠ I certifye you brethren, that the Gos-
pell which was preached of me, was not af-C ter the maner of men. For I nether receaued
it, ner learned it of man, but by the reuela-cyon of Jesus Christ. For ye haue heard of
* Act.viii.a. ii.a.xvii.a and.xxvi.b. i.Cor.xv.b my conuersacyon in tyme past, in the Jewes waye, howe that beyonde measure, * I persecuted the congregacyon of God, and spoy-led it, and preuayled in the Jewes waye aboue many of my cōpanions in myne awne ‡ Phil.iii.a. nacyon ‡ beynge a very feruent mayntener
of the tradicyons of the elders.

But when it pleased God, which sepera-
* Acter.xv.c. ted me from my mothers wombe, and * called me hereunto by hys grace, for to declare hys sonne by me, that I shulde preache hym
amonge the Heathen: immediatly I cōme-
* Mat.xvi.c ned not of the matter with * flesh & blonde, nether returned to Jerusalem, to thē which were apostles before me: but went my way-D es into Arabia, and came agayne vnto Da-masco. Then after thre yeare, I returned to Jerusalem to se Peter, and abode with hym fyftene dayes. Other of the apostles sawe I none, saue James the Lordes brother. The thinges therfore which I wryte vnto you:
be holde, before God I lye not.

* Act.xviii.b * After that I came into ỹ coastes of Syria and Cilicia, and was vnknowen as tochinge my person vnto the congregacions of Jewry, which were i Christ. But thys they heard onely, that he which persecuted vs in tyme past, nowe preacheth the fayth, which before he destroyed. And they glorified God in me. ✠

¶ The.ij. Chapter.

¶ He withstondeth Peter in the face. and pro-ueth that the lawe and circumcisyon are not necessarye to saluacyon.

A Then fouretene yeares thercafter,
* Acter.xv.a I went vp agayne to Jerusalem
* with Barnabas, and toke Titus with me. I wēt vp also by reuelacyon, and commened with them of the Gospell which I preache amonge the Gen-tyls (but specially) with them which were counted chyefe, leest I shulde runne or had runne in vayne. Also Titus which was w̄ me, though he were a greke, yet was not cō-pelled to be circumcised: and that because of incommers beynge false brethren, which came in prευely to spye out oure libertye which we haue in Christ Jesu, ỹ they myght bringe vs in to bōdage. To whō we gaue no row-me, no not for the tyme (by waye of subieccyon) because that the trueth of the Gospell
myght contynue with you.

Of them which semed to be somwhat, B
what they were in tyme passed it maketh
no matter to me. * God loketh on the out- * ii.par.xix.c
warde appearaunce of no man. Neuertheles Roma.ii.d.
they which semed greate, added nothynge Acter.x.c
to me. But contrary wyse, when they sawe Ephe.bi.b
ỹ the gospell ouer ỹ vncircūcisiō was cōmit- Collo.iii.b
ted vnto me, as ỹ gospell ouer ỹ circumcisyō Eccle.xxxb.b was committed vnto Peter. For he that was myghty in Peter in the Apostleshyppe
ouer the circūcisyon, the same was myghty in me amonge the Gentyls. When they perceaued the grace that was geuen vnto me,
then James, Cephas ād John, which semed to be pyllers, gaue to me and Barnabas the ryght handes of that felowshyppe, that we shulde be Apostles among the heythen, and they in the circumcisyon: onely that we shuld
remember the poore. * Wherin also I was * Acter. xi.b
diligent to do the same. v.Cor.xi.a

But when Peter was come to Antioche C
I withstode him openly, because he was worthy to be blamed. For per that certayne cam from James, he dyd eate with the Gentyls.
But whē they were come, he withdrue and separated hym selfe from them, fearynge thē which were of the circūcisyon. And the other Jewes dissembled as well as he: in somoche that Barnabas also was browght into their symulaciō. But when I sawe that they wēt not the right waye after the trueth of ỹ Gos-pell, I sayde vnto Peter before them all: yf
thou beynge a Jewe, lyuest after the maner
of the Gentyls, and not as do ỹ Jewes: why causest thou the Gentyls to lyue as do the Jewes? For we which are * Jewes by na- * Phili.iii.a ture, and not synners of the Gētyls, knowe
that a man ‡ is not iustifyed by the dedes of ‡ Roma.iii.c
the lawe, but by the fayth of Jesus Christ:
And we haue beleued on Jesus Chryst, that we might be iustifyed by the faith of Christ,
and not by the dedes of the lawe: because by the dedes of the lawe no flesche shalbe iustifyed.

If whyle we seke to be made ryghte wes D
by Christ, we our selues are founde synners, is then Christ ỹ mynyster of synne? God for-
byd. For yf I buylde agayne the thynges which I destroyed, then make I my selfe a trespasser. For I (thorowe ỹ lawe) haue bene dead to the lawe, ỹ I myght lyue vnto
Christ. I am crucified w̄ Christ. Neuertheles

I lyue: yet nowe not I, but Christ lyueth in me. The lyfe which I nowe lyue in ꝑ flesshe, I lyue by ꝑ fayth of ꝑ sonne of God * which loued me, and gaue hym selfe for me. I despyse not the grace of God. For * yf rygh-tewesnes come of the lawe, then Christ is deed in vayne.

* Ephe.v.a
* Rom.viii.c

¶ The.iij. Chapter.

¶ She rebuketh the vnstablenesse of the Galathyans shewynge the vnperfectnesse of the lawe, and declareth wherefore that it was not geuen for naught.

A

O ye folysshe Galathyans: who hath bewitched you, that ye shulde not beleue the trueth? To whom Jesus Christ was described before ꝑ eyes and amonge you crucifyed. This only wold I learne of you whether ye receaued the spirite by ꝑ dedes of the lawe or by ꝑ preaching of the fayth? Are ye soche fooles, that after ye haue begonne in the spyrete, ye nowe ende in the flesshe? So many thynges ye haue suffred in vayne, yf it be also in vayne. Moreouer, he that mynystreth to you the spyrete, and worketh myracles amonge you, doeth he it thorowe the dedes of the lawe, or by preachyng of the fayth? * Euen as Abraha̅ beleued God, & it was ascribed to hym for rygh-tewesnesse. Ye knowe therfore, ꝑ they which are of fayth, ꝑ same are ꝑ chyldre of Abraha̅.

* Gene.xv.b Roma.iiii.a Jacob.ii.d

B

For the scripture seinge afore hande, that God wold iustifye ꝑ hethen thorowe fayth, shewed before hande glad tydynges vnto Abraham sayinge: * In the shall all nacyõs be blessed. So then, they which be of fayth, are blessed with faythfull Abraham. For as many as are of the dedes of the lawe, are subiecte to the curse. For it is writte̅: * cursed be euery one that contynueth not in all thinges which are writte̅ in the boke of the lawe to fulfyll them. That no man is iustifyed by the lawe in the syght of God, it is eu̅ydent. * For the iuste shall lyue by fayth. The lawe is not of fayth: but the man that fulfylleth the thinges (contayned in the lawe) shal lyue in them. Christ hath deliuered vs from the curse of the lawe, in as moche as he was made accursed for vs: For it is writte̅: * cursed is euery one, that hangeth on tree, that the blessynge of Abraham myght come on the Gentyls thorowe Jesus Christ, that we myght receaue the promes of the spyrete thorowe fayth.

* Gene.xii.a and.xxii.b
* Deu.xxvii.d
* Abac.ii.a Roma.i.c Hebr.x.a 1 Pe.i.viii.a Gal.iii.b Roma.v.a
* Deut.xxi.b

C

Brethren, I speake after ꝑ maner of me̅. Though it be but a mans testame̅t. Yet yf it be alowed, no mā despyseth it: or addeth eny thynge thereto. ✠ To Abraham and hys seede were the promyses made. He sayth not in the seedes, as many: but in thy seede, as of one, which is Christ. Thys I saye, that the lawe which beganne afterwarde, beyonge * foure hundred and thyrtye yeares, doeth not disanull the testame̅t, that was confyrmed afore of God vnto Christ ward, to make the promes of none effecte. † For yf the inheritaunce come of the lawe, it commeth not nowe of promelse. But God gaue it vnto Abraham by promes.

* Gene.xii.b Exo.xx.f Judith.b.b Actes.vij.a
* Rom.iiij.c † Collos.

Wherfore then serueth the lawe? * It was added because of transgression (tyll the seed came, to whom the promes was made) and it was ordeyned * by angels in the hand of a mediator. A mediator is not a mediator of one, but God is one. * Is the lawe then agaynst the promes of God? God forbyd. For yf there had bene a lawe geuen which coulde haue geuen lyfe: then no doute rygh-tewesnes shulde come by the lawe. But the scripture concluded all thinges vnder synne, that the promes by ꝑ fayth of Jesus Christ shulde be geuen vnto them that beleue. ✠ D But before that fayth came, we were kepte vnder the lawe, and were shut vp vnto the fayth which shulde afterwarde be declared.

* Roma.v.c and.viii.b
*Actes.viij.g
* Rom.viii.c 1.Timo.i.b.

Wherfore, the lawe was oure scolemaster vnto Christ, that we shulde be iustifyed by fayth. But after that fayth is come, we are no lenger vnder the scolemaster. For ye are all chyldren of God, because ye beleue in Christ Jesu. For * all ye that are baptised haue put on Christ. There is no Jewe, neither Gentyll: there is nether bonde, ner fre: there is nether man, ner woman. For ye are all * one in Christ Jesu. If ye be Christes, then are ye Abrahams seede, and heyres accordynge to the promes.

*Roma.vi.a
* Job.xvi.c

¶ The.iiij. Chapter. ✠

¶ Paul sheweth that thorowe Christ we be deliuered from the lawe, and rebuketh the vnthankfulnesse of the Galathians.

A

And I saye, that ꝑ heyre (as longe as he is a chylde) differeth not from a seruaunt, though he be Lord of all, but is vnder tuters and gouerners, vntyll the tyme that the father hath appoynted. Euen so we also, when we were chyldren, were in bondage vnder the ordynaunces of the worlde. But when the tyme was full come, God * sent hys sonne, made of a wom̄, and made bonde vnto the lawe, to redeme them which were bonde vnto the lawe: that we (thorowe election) might receaue the inheritaunce that belongeth vnto the naturall sonnes. Because ye are sonnes, * God hathe sent the spyrete of hys sonne into oure hertes, cryinge: Abba father. Wherfore nowe, thou art not a seruaunt: but a sonne. If thou be a sonne, thou arte also an heyre of God, thorowe Christ. ✠

* Luke.ii.b Joha.iii.b. Roma. viii.a
* Rom.viii.c

Notwithstandynge, when ye knewe not God, ye dyd seruice vnto them * which by nature

* 1.Cor.viii.a

nature are no Goddes. But nowe after that ye haue knowen God (yee rather are knowē of God) how is it that ye tourne agayn vnto the weake and *beggarly ordinaunces, wherunto agayne ye desyre ꝑ fleshe to be in bondage? Ye obserue dayes, and monethes, and tymes, and yeares. I am in feare of you, lest I haue bestowed on you labour in vayne. *Colos.ii.d

Brethrē, I beseech you, be ye as I am: for I am as ye are. Ye haue not hurt me at all. Ye knowe how thorowe infirmitie of ꝑ fleshe, I preached ꝑ Gospell vnto you at the fyrst. And my tẽptacyō which was in ꝑ fleshe, ye despysed not, nether abhorred: but receaued me as an angell of God: euē as Christ Iesꝰ. What is then youre felicyte? for I beare you record, ꝑ yf it had bene possible ye wolde haue plucked out your awne eyes, and haue geuē thē to me. Am I therfore become your enemye, because I tell you the trueth?

C They are gelous ouer you amysse. Yee, they intende to exclude you, that ye shuld be feruent to them ward. It is good all wayes to be feruent in a good thinge, and not onely whan I am present with you.

My lytell chyldren, of whom I trauayle in byrth agayne, vntill Christ be fashyoned in you, I wolde I ware with you now, and coulde chaunge my voyce: for I stande in a doubte of you. Tell me: ye that desyre to be vnder the lawe, do ye not heare of the lawe?

✠ For it is wrytten, that Abrahā had two sonnes *the one by a bonde mayde, *ꝑ other by a fre womā. Yee, and he which was borne of the bonde woman, was borne after the fleshe: but he which was of the fre mā, was borne by promesse. Which thynges are spoken by an allegorye. For these are two testamentes the one from the mounte Syna, which gendreth vnto bondage, which is Agar. For mounte Syna is Agar in Arabia, and bordereth vpon the cytie, which is nowe called Jerusalez, and is in bondage with her chyldren. *Gene.xvi.a *Gene.xxi.a Deut.xi.a

D But *Jerusalem, which is aboue, is fre: which is the mother of vsal. For it is written. *Reioyce thou baren, that beareste no chyldren: breake forth and crye, thou ꝑ trauaylest not. For the desolat hath many moo chyldren, then the which hathe an husbande. Brethren, we are after Isaac, the chyldren of promes. But as then he that was borne after the fleshe, persecuted hym that was borne after the spryte, euen so is it nowe. Neuertheles, what sayth the scripture: *put awaye the bonde womā and her sonne. For the sonne of the bonde woman shall not be heyre with the sonne of the fre woman. So then brethren, we are not chyldren of the bonde woman: but of the fre. ✠ *Apoc.xvi.a *Esa.liiii.a *Gene.xxi.b

¶ The.v. Chapter.

¶ He laboureth to drawe them alwaye frō circumcisyon, shewyng them the battayll betwixte the spryte and the fleshe, and the frutes of them both.

STande fast therfore in the liberty wherwith Christ hath made vs fre, and wrappe not youre selues agayne in *the yoke of bondage. A *Esa.ix.a

Beholde, I Paul saye vnto you, that *yf ye be circumcised, Christ shall profyte you nothynge at all. Ye testyfye agayne to euery man which is circumcised, that he is bonde to kepe the whole lawe. Christ is become but in vayne vnto you. As many of you as are iustifyed by the lawe are fallen frō grace. We loke for, and hope in the spryte to be iustifyed thorowe fayth. *For in Jesu Christ, nether is circumcisyon any thynge worth, nether yet vncircumcysion but faith *which worketh by loue. Ye dyd rūne well: who was a let vnto you, that ye shulde not beleue the trueth? (consent vnto no man.) Euen the counsell which came not of hym that calleth you. *A lytell leuen doth leuē ꝑ whole lompe of dowe. *Act.xvi.a *Gala.vi.a *i.Cor.xiii.a *i.Cor.v.a.

✠ I haue trust towarde you in ꝑ Lorde, that ye shalbe none other wyse minded. But he that troubleth you, shall beare his iudgement whatsoeuer he be. Brethren, yf I yet preach circumcisyon, why do I then yet suffre persecucyon? Then is the slaunder of the crosse ceased. I wolde to God, they were separated from you, which trouble you: Brethren, ye were called into libertye: only *let not youre libertye be an occasion vnto the fleshe: but by loue (of the spryte) serue one an other. For all the lawe is fulfylled in one worde, which is this: *thou shalt loue thyne neyghboure as thy selfe. If ye byte and deuoure one another: take hede, lest ye be lykewyse consumed one of another. ✠ B *Rom.xiii.a *i.Cor.viii.a *Gala.v.b

✠ I saye, walke in the spryte, and fulfyll not the lust of the fleshe. For the fleshe lusteth contrary to the spryte, and *the spryte contrary to the fleshe. These are contrarye one to the other, so that ye cannot do whatsoeuer ye wolde. But and yf ye be led of the spryte, then are ye not vnder the lawe. The dedes of the fleshe are manyfeste, which are these: aduoutery, fornicacyō, vnclennes, wātānes, worshypping of ymages, witchcraft, hatred, variaunce, zele, wrathe, stryfe, sedicyons, sectes, enuyinge, murther, dronkennes, glottonye, and soche lyke: of the which I tell you before as I haue told you in tyme past, that *they which commyt soch thinges shall not be inheritours of the kyngdome of God. Contrarely, the frute of the spryte is, loue, ioye, peace, longe sufferinge, gētylnes, goodnes, faythfulnes, mekenes, temperaūce. *Agaynst suche there is no lawe. They truelye that are Christes, haue crucifyed the fleshe with the affections and lustes. C *Mat.xvi.b *Gala.v.b D *i.Cor.vi.b *Ephe.v.a. *i.Timo.i.b

✠ If we lyue in the spryte, let vs walke

in the spyete. Let vs not be desirous of vayne glozye, prouokinge one another, enuying one another.

¶ The. vj. Chapter.

¶ He exhorteth them to brotherly loue, and one to beare with another. In the ende he warneth them to beware of circumcision.

A

BRethren, if a man also be taken in eny faute, ye which are spirituall, helpe to amende hym in the spyete of meaknes: cõsyderinge thy selfe, lest thou also be tempted. * Beare ye one an others burthen, and so fulfyll the lawe of Christ. For yf any mã seme to him selfe that he is somwhat, when in dede he is nothinge, the same deceaueth his awne mynd. Let euery mã proue his awne worke, and then shall he haue reioysinge onelye in hys awne selfe, & not in another. For * euery man shall beare his awne burthen.

* Gala. vi. b.

* Rom. xv. a

* Iac. iviii. c

‡ Roma. xv. f
i. Cor. xi. b

* Let hym that is taught in the worde, ministre vnto him that teacheth him in all good thinges. Be not deceaued, God is not mocked. For * whatsoeuer a man soweth, that shall he also reape. For he that soweth in his flesshe, shall of the flesshe reape corrupcyon. But he that soweth in the spyete, shall of the spyete reape lyfe euerlastynge. * Let vs not be wery of well doinge. For when the tyme is come, we shall reape without weryne sse. Whyle we haue therfore tyme, lett vs do good vnto all men, and specially vnto them which are of the houshold of fayth.

* Iob. iiij. b.

* ii. Thes. iii. b

¶

Ye se howe large a letter I haue wrytten vnto you with myne awne hande. As many as desire with vtwarde apperaunce to please carnally, the same constrayne you to be circumcised, onely lest they shulde suffre persecutyon for the crosse of Christ. For they them selues which are circũcysed, kepe not ỹ lawe, but desyre to haue you circumcysed, ỹ they myght reioyce in youre flesshe.

D

God forbyd that I shulde reioyce, but in the crosse of oure Lorde Iesu Christ, wherby the worlde is crucifyed vnto me, & I vnto ỹ worlde. For * in Christ Iesu nether circũcysion auayleth eny thynge at all: nor vncircũcision: but a newe creature. And as many as walke accordynge to thys rule, peace be on thẽ and mercy, & vpon Israell, that pertayneth to God. From hence forth, let no mã put me to busynes. * For I beare in my body the markes of the Lorde Iesu. Brethren, the grace of oure Lorde Iesu Christ be with youre spyete: Amen.

* Gala. vi. a

‡ i. Cor. iiii. c

¶ The epistle vnto the Galathyans was sent from Rome.

¶ The epistle of

sayncte Paul the Apostle to the Ephesyans.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

¶ The ryche fastynge ordinaunce and electyon of God in sayngе all men thorowe Christ Iesus hys sonne, we are ordeyned vnto good workes, the dominyon of Christ.

PAul an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the wyll of God. A To the sayncte which are at Ephesus, and to them which beleue on Iesv Christ * Grace be with you, & peace from God our father, and from the Lorde Iesus Christ. * Blessed be God the father of oure Lorde Iesus Christ, which hath blessed vs with all maner of spirituall blessyng in heuenly thinges by Christ accordinge as he had chosen vs in hym, before the foudacions of the worlde were layde, that we shulde be holy, and without blame before hym, thorowe loue. Which ordeyned vs before thorowe Iesus Christ to be heyres vnto hym selfe, accordinge to the good pleasure of hys wyll, to the prayse of the glozy of hys grace, wherwith he hath made vs accepted thorowe the beloued.

* Roma. i. a. ii. Cor. i. a. i. Cor. i. a. i. Pet. i. a. Gala. i. a. ‡ i. Pet. i. a

B

* By whome we haue redempcyon thorowe his bloude, euen the forgeuenes of synnes, accordinge to the ryches of grace: wherof he hath mynystred vnto vs aboundantlye in all wisdeme and prudence. And hath opened vnto vs the mystery of hys wyll, accordynge to hys good pleasure, which he had purposed in hym selfe, to haue it declared * whã the tyme was full come, that he myght set vp all thynges perfectly by Christ (both the thynges which are in heuẽ, and the thynges which are in earth) euen by hym by whõ we are made heyres, and were therto predestinate accordynge to the purpose of hym by whose power all thynges are wrought accordinge to the purpose of hys awne wyll: ỹ we (which before beleued in Christ) shuld be vnto the prayse of hys glozy.

* Colo. i. b

* Gala. iii. a

C

In whom also we beleue, for asmoche as we haue hearde the worde of trueth, euen the Gospell of youre saluacyon: wherin, whan ye had beleued * ye were sealed with the holy spyete of promes which is ỹ erneste of oure inheritaunce, for the recouerynge of the purchased possessyon, vnto the prayse of hys glozy.

* Rom. viii. c. ii. Cor. i. b and. v. a.

Wherfore I also, after that I hearde of ỹ fayth, which ỹ haue in ỹ Lorde Iesu, & loue vnto

D

vnto all ꝑ sayntes) * cease not to geue thākes for you, makynge mencyon of you in my prayers: that the God of oure Lorde Jesus Chryst, the father of glory, maye geue vnto
you the spyrete of wysdome and reuelacyō, by the knowledge of him selfe, and lyghten the eyes of youre myndes, that ye maye knowe
what the * hope is, where vnto he hath called you, and howe riche the glorye is of his in heritaunce vpon the sayntes, and what is ꝑ excedinge greatnes of his power to vs warde, which beleue accordynge to the workyn-ge of ꝑ his mighty power, which he wrought
in Chryst, when he rayse him from the deed,
* and set him on his ryght hande in heauēly
thinges, aboue * all rule, & power, & myght and dominion, and aboue euery name that is named, not in this worlde onely, but also in the worlde to come: and * hath put all thyn-ges vnder his fete, and hath made him aboue
all thinges * the heed of the congregacyon,
which is his body and the fulnes of him, that fylleth all in all.

* Roma.i.b. Philip.i.b. Colo.i.a. 2.Thess.i.a
* Roma.xv.c
* Psal.cx.a.
* Dani.vii.d
* Psal.viii.b Hebr.ii.d. 1.Cor.xv.b 1.Ephe.b.c. Colo.i.c.

¶ The.ij. Chapter.

¶ Paul sheweth them what maner of people they were before their conuersyon, and what they are nowe in Chryst.

ANd you hath he quickened where as ye were deed in treaspasses and synnes, in the which * in tyme passed ye walked, accordyng to the course of this worlde, cue after the gouernour that ruleth in the ayer, the spyrete that nowe worketh in the chyldren of vnbelefe * amonge whom we all had oure conuersacyon also in tyme past, in the lustes of oure flesshe, and fulfylled the wyll of the flesshe and of the mynde: and ☞ were by nature the chyldren of wrath, euen as well as other.

* Rom.b.a. Colo.i.c.
* Colo.iii.a.
☞

But God which is riche in mercy (for his greate loue wher with he loued vs, euen whē we were deed by synnes) quyckened vs to-
* Eph.ii.b. gether in Christ (* by grace are ye saued) and ☞ rayse vs vp together with hym and made vs sytte together with him amonge them of heauen in Christ Jesu. That in tymes to come, he myght shewe the exceadynge, ryches of hys grace, in kyndnes to vs warde thorowe Christ Jesu. For by grace are ye made safe thorow fayth, and that not of youre selues. It is the gyfte of God, and cōmeth not of workes, lest eny mā shulde boast him selfe
* Titus.i.b. For we are his worcemanshyppe, created in Christ Jesu vnto * good workes, whiche God ordeyned, that we shulde walke in thē.

Wherfore, remember that ye beynge in tyme passed gentyls in the flesshe, were called vncircumcysyon from that whych is called
* Philip.iij.a. Colo.ii.b. * circumcisyon in the flesshe, which circumcision is made by handes: remember (I saye) that at that tyme ye were without Christ, beynge aliauntes from the comen welth of Israel, and straungers from the testamentes of the promes hauynge no hope, and beynge with out God in this worlde. But nowe by ꝑ meanes of Christ Jesu, ye which somtyme were farre of, are made nye by the bloude of Chryst.

For he is oure peace, which hath made of both one, and hath broken downe the wall that was a stoppe betwene vs, and hath also put awaye thorowe his flesshe, ☞ the cause of hatred, euen the lawe of commaundemēts contayned in the lawe wrytten, for to make of twayne one newe man in hym selfe, so makynge peace, and to reconcyle both vnto God in one body thorowe the crosse, & slewe hatred therby: and came, and preached peace to you which were a farre of, and to the that were nye. For thorowe hym we both haue ☞ an intraunce, in one spyrete vnto the father.

✠ Now therfore, ye are not straungers, and forayners: but citesyns with the sayntes & of the housholde of God: and are buylt vpō the * foundacyon of the Apostles and Prophetes, * Jesus Chryst him selfe beynge the heed corner stone, in whom what buyldynge soeuer is coupled together, it groweth vnto an holy temple in the Lorde, in whom ye also are buylt together, to be an habitacyō of God thorowe the (holy) ghost. ✠

* 1.Cor.iii.b. * Esa.xxviii.b Actes.iiii.b Roma.ix.f. Psal.cxviij.c Matth.xxi.b. Actes.iiii.c. 1.Pet.ii.b.

¶ The.iij. Chapter.

¶ She weth the cause of hys presonment, desyreth them not to faynte because of hys trouble, and prayeth God to make them stedfast in hys spyrete.

FOr this cause, I Paul am a prysoner of Jesus Christ for you
A hethē: If ye haue hearde of the mynistracyō of the grace of God * which is geuē me to you war-
* Act. xiii.a. de. For * by reuelacion she wed he the mistery
* Gala.i.b. vnto me, as I wrote afore in feawe wordes wher by when ye reade, ye maye vnderstand my knowledge in ꝑ mistery of Christ, which mistery in tymes passed was not opened vnto the sonnes of men, as it is nowe declared vnto hys holy Apostles and Prophetes by the spyrete: that the Gentyls shulde be inheritours also, and of the same body, and partetakers of hys promes in Christ, by the meanes of the Gospell, wherof I am made a mynyster, accordinge to the gyfte of the grace of God which is geuen vnto me after the worckynge of hys power.

Vnto me the * least of all sayntes is this ☞ grace geuen, that I shulde preache amonge
* 1.Cor.xv.a. the Gentyls ꝑ vnsearcheable riches of Christ and to make all men se, what the felyshyppe of the mystery is, * which from the begynnynge of the worlde hath bene hyd in God which made all thinges thorow Jesus Christ: to the intent, that nowe vnto the rulers and powers in heauēly thinges, myght be knowē

by the cõgregaciõ, the manyfolde wysdome of God, accordynge to the eternall purpose, which he wrought in Christ Jesu oure Lord, by whom we haue boldnesse and entraunce with the confidence which is by the fayth of hym. ✠ Wherfore I desyre, ꝑ ye faynt not * Colo.i.d. because of my tribulaciõs * that I suffre for youre sakes: which is youre prayse.

C For this cause I bowe my knees vnto ꝑ father of oure Lorde Jesus Christ, which is father ouer all that is called father in heauen and in erth, that he wolde graunt you accordynge to the ryches of hys glorye, that ye maye be strengthed with might by his spyrite in the inner man, that Christ maye dwell in youre hertes by fayth, that ye beynge roted and grounded in loue, myght be able to comprehende with all sayntes, what is ꝑ brede and length, deepth and heygth: & to knowe the excellent loue of the knowledge of Christ that ye myght be fulfylled with all fulnes, which commeth of God.

Unto hym that is able to do exceadynge aboundantly aboue all that we aske or thynke accordynge to the power that worketh in vs, be prayse in the congregacyõ by Christ Jesus, thorowe out all ages worlde without ende. Amen. ✠

C The.iiii. Chapter. ✠

C He exhorteth them vnto meknes, to laye aside the olde conuersacyon of gredy lustes, and to walke in a newe lyfe.

A Therfore (which am a presoner of the Lordes) exhorte you, * that ye walke worthy of the * i.Cor.vij.d. vocacyon wherwith ye are called, with all lowlynes and mekenesse, with humblenes of mynde, forbearynge one another thorowe loue, and be diligent to kepe the vnitie of the spyrite thorowe the bonde of peace, beynge one body, and one spyrite, euē as ye are called in one hope of your callinge. One Lorde, one fayth, one baptyme one God and father of all, which is aboue all and thorowe all, and in you all. ✠

25 * Rom.xii.b. i.Cor.iii.d. ✠ * Unto euery one of vs is geuen grace, accordynge to the measure of the gyfte of Christ. Wherfore he sayth: * whan he went vp an hye, he ledde captiuitye captyue, and gaue gyftes vnto men. That he ascended: what meaneth it? but that he also descended fyrst into the lowest partes of the erth: * he * Iohn. iii.b that descended, is euen the same also that ascended vp, aboue all heauens, to fulfyll all thynges.

C And the very same made * some Apostles, some Prophetes, some Euangelistes, * i.Cor.xii.b. some Shepherdes and Teachers: to the edifyenge of the sayntes, to the worke and mynistracyon, euen to the edifyinge of the body of Christ, tyll we all come to the vnitye of fayth, and knowledge of the sonne of God, vnto a perfecte man, vnto the measure of the full perfecte age of Christ. ✠ That we hence forth shulde be nomore chyldre, * wauerynge & carped aboute with euery wynde of doctrine, by the wylynes of men, thorowe craftynes, wherby they laye a wayte for vs to beceane vs. But let vs folowe the trueth in loue, and in all thynges growe in hym, * which is the heed, euen Christ, in whom ꝑ all the body be coupled and knet together thorow out euery ioynt wherwith * one ministreth to another (accordynge to the operacyon as euery parte hath hys measure) he increaseth the body, vnto the edifyinge of it selfe thorowe loue. * Colo.ii.d. D * Ephe.i.b. and.b.c. Colo.d.c. ‡ Roma.xij.b. i.Cor.iii.d.

✠ This I saye therfore, and testifye thorowe the Lorde, that ye hence forth walke not, * as other Gentyls walke, in vanite of * Roma.i.b. i.Petr.iii.c. their minde, whyle they are blinded in their vnderstandynge, beynge farre from a godly lyfe, by the meanes of the ignorancy that is in them, and because of the blyndnes of their hertes: which beynge past repentaunce, haue geuen them selues ouer vnto wantannes, to worke all manner of vnclennes, euē with C gredines. But ye haue not so learned Christ. If so be that ye haue hearde of him, and haue bene taught in him, as the trueth is in Jesu: (as concernynge the conuersacyon in tyme past) to laye from you that olde man, which is corrupte, accordynge to the deceauable lustes. ✠ ✠ To be renued also in the spyrite of youre mynde, and * to put on that newe * Rom.vi.d. man, which after God is shapē in ryghtewelnes and true holynes. Colo.iii.a.

Wherfore, * put awaye lyinge, & speake * Leui.xix.c. euery mā truth vnto his neyghboure, for as moche as we are members one of another.

☞ * Be angrye, and synne not: let not the ☜ sunne go doune vpon youre wrath, nether * Psal.iiij.a geue place vnto the backbyter. * Let hym * Leui.xix.c. ‡ stole, steale nomore: but let him rather ‡ ii.Thes.iii.b labour with his handes ꝑ thynge which is good, that he maye geue vnto him that nedeth. ✠

Let no fylthy communicacion procede out of youre mouth: but ꝑ which is good to edifye withall, as oft as nede is: ꝑ it maye minister grace vnto the hearers. And greue not ye the holy spyrite of God * by whom ye are sealed * Rom.viij.c. ii.Cor.i.c. vnto the daye of redēpcyon. Let all bitternes & fearines & wrath & rorynge & cursyd speakynge, be put awaye fro you, with all malicyousnes. Be ye courteouse one to another, mercyfull, forgeuynge one another, euen as God for Christes sake hath forgeuen you.

C The.v. Chapter. ✠

C He exhorteth them vnto loue, warneth them to beware of all vnclennes. He teacheth howe wemen shulde obeye their husbandes, and howe louyngly men ought to intreate their wyues.

BE ye * therfore followers of God as A deare chyldre, and walke ye in loue * i.Pett.ii.d. euen as * Christ loued vs, and gaue him selfe for vs an offrynge and ‡ Gala.ii.b. sacrifice

a facrifyce of a swete sauer to God * As for fornicacyon and all vnclennes, or couetousnes let it not be once named amonge you, as it be commeth sayntes: or fylthines or folysshe talkynge, or iestinge, which are not cōly: but rather geuynge of thankes. For thys ye knowe that * no whormōger, ether vncleane person, or couetous person, (which is a worshypper of ymages) hath eny inheritaūce in the kyngdome of Chryst and of God.

* Let no man deceaue you with vayne wordes. For because of soche thynges cometh the wrath of God, vpon the chyldren of disobedience. Be not ye therfore companyons of them. Ye were somtyme darckenes, but nowe are ye lyght in the Lorde.

* Walke as childre of lyght (For ꝑ frute of the spirite consysteth in all goodnes, and ryghteweines and trueth.) † Searchynge what is acceptable vnto the Lorde. And haue no felysshyppe with the vnfrutefull workes of darckenes: but rather rebuke them. For it is shame euē to name those thynges which are done of them in secrete: but all thynges, when they are brought forthe by the lyght, are manifeste. For whatsoeuer is manifeste, that same is lyght. Wherfore he sayth: awake thou that slepest, and stonde vp frō deeth, and Chryst shall geue the lyght.

† Take hede therfore howe ye walke circumspectly: not as vnwyse, but as wyse mē: wynnynge occasyon, because the dayes are euyll. Wherfore, be ye not vnwyse, but vnderstande what the wyll of the Lorde is, and be not droncke with wyne wherin is excesse: but be fylled with the spirite, speakynge vnto youre selues * in psalmes and hymnes, and spirituall songes, syngynge and makyng melodie to the Lorde in youre hertes, gyuynge thankes allwayes for all thynges, vnto God the father in the name of oure Lorde Jesus Chryst, submittynge youre selues one to another in the feare of God. †

Ye wemē, submit youre selues vnto youre awne husbandes, as vnto the Lorde. For * the husbande is the wyues heed, euen as Chryst is † the heed of the congregacyon, and the same is he that ministreth saluacion vnto the body. Therfore, as the congregacyō is in subiectyon to Chryst, lyke wyse let the wyues also be in subiectyon to theyr husbandes in all thinges. Ye husbandes, loue youre wyues, euen as Chryst also loued the congregacyon, and gaue hym selfe for it, to sanctifye it, and clensed it in the fountayne of water thorow the worde, to make it vnto him selfe a glorious congregacyon, without spot or wrynckle, or eny soche thynge: but ꝑ it shulde be holy, and without blame. So ought men to loue theyr wyues, as their awne bodyes. He that loueth hys wyfe, loueth hym selfe. For no man euer yet hated hys awne flesshe: but norysheth and cherisheth it, euen as the Lorde doth the congregacyon. For we are members of his body, of his flesshe, and of hys bones. ‡ For thys cause shall a man leaue father and mother, ꝫ shall be ioyned vnto his wyfe, and of two shalbe made one flesshe. Thys is a greate secrete, but I speake of Chryst and of the congregacyon. Neuertheles, do ye so, that euery one loue hys wyfe euen as hym selfe, and let the wyfe reuerence her husbande.

The.vi. Chapter.

Howe chyldren shulde be haue them selues towarde their parētes. Seruauntes towarde their masters, An exhortacyō to the spirituall battayll.

* Hyldren, obey youre fathers and mothers in the Lorde: for that is ryght † honoure thy father and mother, (the same is the fyrst commaundemēt in the promes) that thou mayst prosper, and lyue longe on the erth. Ye fathers moue not youre chyldren to wrath: but * bringe them vp thorowe the doctryne and informacyon of the Lorde. Ye seruauntes, obeye them that are youre bodely masters, with feare ꝫ tremblynge, euen with the synglenes of youre herte, as vnto Chryst: not doynge seruice vnto the eye, as they ꝑ go about to please men: but as the seruauntes of Chryst, doynge the wyll of God from the herte with good wyll, seruynge the Lorde, and not men. Knowynge thys, that whatsoeuer good thynge eny man doeth, the same shall he receaue agayne of God, whether he be bonde or free. And ye masters, do euen the same thynges vnto them, puttinge awaye threatenynges: knowynge, that youre master also is in heauen, * nether is ther eny respecte of person with hym.

† Finally my brethren, be stronge thorowe the Lorde and thorowe the power of his myght. Put on all the armoure of God, that ye maye stande agaynst the assautes of ꝑ deuyll. For we wrestle not agaynst blonde and flesshe: but agaynst rule, agaynst power, agaynst worldy rulers, eue gouerners of the darckenes of thys worlde, agaynst spirituall craftynes in heauenly thynges.

Wherfore take vnto you ꝑ whole armoure of God, that ye maye be able to resyste in the euyll daye, and stande perfecte in all thinges.

Stande therfore, * and youre loynes gyrd with the trueth, hauynge on the brest plate of ryghteweines, ꝫ hauynge shoes on youre fete, that ye maye be prepared for the Gospell of peace. Aboue all, take to you the shylde of fayth, wherwith ye maye quenche all ꝑ fyrye dartes of the wycked. And take the helmet of saluacyon, and the swearde of the spirite, which is the worde of God. † * And praye all wayes with all maner of prayer and supplicacyon ‡ Gene.ii.d. Matth.xix.a. Marke.x.a. i.Cozin.vi.b. Ephe.v.g.

* Colo.iii.b. ‡ Exod.xx.b.

* Deu.vi.b.

* ii.Par.xix.c Actes.x.e Roma.ii.b. Eccle.xxxv.b. Colo.iii.c.

* Luke.xii.e. i.Petr.i.c.

* Ephe.vi.a. i.Thes.v.b.

plicacyon in the spyrete: and watch ther vnto with all instance and supplycacyon for all † Colo.iiii.a. saynctes and for me, † that vtteraunce maye be geuen vnto me ꝑ I maye open my mouth frely, to vtter ꝑ secretes of my Gospell (wher of I am messenger in bondes) that therin I maye speake frely, as I ought to speake.

D But that ye maye also knowe what condicyon I am in, and what I do, Tichicus the deare brother and faythfull mynyster in the Lorde, shall shewe you of all thynges, whom I haue sent vnto you for ꝑ same purpose, that ye myght knowe what case we stande in, and that he myght comforte youre hertes. Peace be vnto the brethre and loue with fayth, from God the father and from the Lorde Jesus Chryst. Grace be with all them which loue oure Lorde Jesus Chryst syncerely. Amen.

¶ Sent from Rome vnto the Ephesyans by Tichicus.

¶ The epistle of saynt Paul the Apostle vnto the Philippyans.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

¶ He exhorteth them to increase in loue, in knowledge, and experience of Godly thynges.

A PAul and Tymothe the seruaũtes of Jesu Chryst. To all the saynctes in Chryst Jesu, which are at Philippos with the Bishops and Deacons.

Grace be vnto you and peace from God oure father, and from the Lorde Jesus Chryst.

✠ I thanke my God with all remem-
* Roma.i.b. Colo.i.a. braunce of you * all wayes in all my prayers for you, and praye with gladnes: because ye are come into ꝑ felowshyppe of the Gospell from the fyrst daye vnto nowe ✠ and am surely certyfyed of thys, that he which hath begonne a good worke in you, shall perfourme it vntyll the daye of Jesus Chryst, as it becommeth me, so iudge I of you all, because I haue you in my herte: for as moche as ye all are companyons of grace with me, euen in my bondes, and in the defendynge and stablisshynge of the Gospell.

B For God is my recorde, howe greatly I
* Ephe.i.d. longe after you all, from the very herte rote in Jesus Chryst. * And thys I praye, that youre loue maye increase yet more and more in knowledge, and in all vnderstandynge, that ye maye accepte the thynges that are most excellent, that ye maye be pure, and so-che, as offende no mã vntyll ꝑ daye of Chryst: beynge fylled with the frute of ryghtewesnes, which cometh by Jesus Chryst vnto the glory and prayse of God. ✠

I wolde ye shulde vnderstonde (brethre) that the thynges which happened vnto me, chaũced vnto the greate furtheraunce of the Gospell: So that my bandes in Chryst, are manifeste thorowe out all the iudgemẽt hall and in all other places: In so moche that many of the brethren in the Lorde beynge encoraged thorowe my bandes, dare more boldly speake the worde without feare. Some preache Chryst of enuie and stryfe, and some of good wyll. The one parte preache Chryst of stryfe and not syncerely, supposynge to adde more aduersytie to my bandes. Agayne the other parte preache of loue, because they knowe, that I am set to defende the Gospell.

What then? So that Chryst be preached anye maner of waye, whether it be by occasyon, or of true meaninge, I am glad therof, ye and wyll be glad. ✠ For I knowe, that this C shall chaunce to my saluacyon, * thorowe * ii. Cor.i.b.
youre prayer and ministrynge of the spyrete of Jesu Chryst accordinge to my expectaciõ, and hope, that in nothinge I shalbe ashamed: but that wyth all boldnesse, (as all wayes euen so nowe also) Chryst shall be magnifyed in my body, whether it be thorowe lyfe, or thorowe deeth. For Chryst is to me lyfe, and deeth is to me auauntage.

If it chaunce me to lyue in the flesshe, that thinge is to me frutefull for the worcke, and what I shall chose I wote not. For I am cõ strayned of these two thinges. * I desyre to be * Ephe.iii.a loosed, & to be wt Chryst which is moche & far better. Neuertheles, to abyde in ꝑ flesshe is more nedfull for you, And thys am I sure of, that I shall abyde, and cõtinue with you all, for youre furtheraunce and ioye of youre fayth, that youre reioysinge maye be ꝑ more aboundant thorowe Jesus Chryst in me, by my commynge to you agayne.

Onely let youre conuersacyon be, * as it D
be commeth the Gospell of Chryst: that whether I come & se you, or els be absent, I maye yet heare of youre condicyon, that ye contynue in one spyrete, and in one soule, labourynge as we do, to mayntayne the fayth of the Gospell, and in nothinge fearynge youre aduersaryes, which is to them a cause of perdicyon, but to you of saluacyon, & that of God: for vnto you it is geuen for Chryst, that not onely ye shulde beleue on hym: but also that ye shulde suffre for hys sake, hauynge euen soche a fyght, as ye sawe in me, and nowe heare of me.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

¶ He exhorteth them to vnyte and brotherly loue, and to beware of stryfe and vayne glory. And for a sure ensample, he layeth Chryst before them.

Ither

A IF ther be therfore eny consolacyon in Christ, yf ther be eny cõforte of loue, yf ther by eny fellishyppe of the spyrete, yf ther be eny compassion and mercy: fulfyll ye my ioye, that ye be lyke mynded, hauinge one loue, beynge of one accorde, and of one mynde, that nothinge be done thorowe stryfe or of vayne glory, but in mekenes of mynde, let euery man esteme another better
1.Corin. 7.f. and.viii.b. then hym selfe. * Loke not ye euery man on hys awne thinges, but euery mã on the thinges that are other mens. ✠ Let the same mynde be in you, that was also in Christ Iesu: which whan he was in the shape of God, thought it no robbery to be equall with God
Hebr. 2.a. Neuertheles he made hym selfe of no reputacion, takynge on hym the shape of a seruaunte, and * became lyke vnto men, and was founde in his apparell as a man. He hũbled him selfe, and became obedient vnto the B deeth, euen the deeth of the crosse. Wherfore, God also hath exalted him on hye, and geuen him a name which is aboue all names: that
Col.2.b. in * the name of Iesus ‡ euery knee shulde
‡ Esay.xlv.c. ‡ Rom.xiiii.c bowe, both of thinges in heauen and thynges in erth and thynges vnder the erth, and that all tonges shulde confesse, that Iesus
* Acter.2.f. Roma.xiiii.b Christ is the * Lorde, vnto ỹ prayse of God the father. ✠

Wherfore (my dearly beloued) as ye haue alwayes obeyed, not when I was present onely, but nowe moche more in myne absence, euen so worcke out youre awne saluacion
2.Corinth. ii.d. with feare and tremblyng. * For it is God, which worketh in you, both the wyll and also the dede, euen of good wyll.

1.Pe.iiii.b. * Do all thynge with out murmuringe, ‡ dysputynge, that * ye maye be fochea no
1.Pet.ii.b man came complayne on: and vnfayned sonnes of God without rebuke, in the myddes of a croked and peruerse nacyon: amonge whõ se that ye shyne as lyghtes in the worlde, hol
C dynge faste the worde of lyfe, that I maye
* ii. Cor. i.c. 1.Thessa.ii.c. * reioyce in the daye of Christ, howe that I haue not runne in vayne, nether haue labourred in vayne.

Yee and though I be offered vp vpon the offeringe ‡ sacrifyce of youre fayth: I reioyce and reioyce with you all. For the same cause also do ye reioyce, and reioyce with me.

Acter.xvi.a 1.Ther.iii.b I trust in the Lorde Iesus, for to * sende Timotheus shortly vnto you, ‡ that I also maye be of good comforte, when I knowe what case ye stande in. For I haue no man that is so lyke mynded to me, which with so pure affeccyon wyll care for youre matters. For all other seke theyr awne, and not the thynges which are Iesus Christes. ye knowe the proffe of hym, howe that as a sonne with the father, so hath he with me bestowed hys seruice in the Gospell. hym therfore I hope to sende, assone as I knowe howe it wyll go with me. I trust in the Lord, that I also my selfe shall come shortly.

But I supposed it necessary to sende bro- D ther Epaphroditus vnto you, my companiõ in labour and felowe souldier, youre Apostell, which also ministreth vnto me at nede. For he longed after you all, and was full of heuynes, because that ye had hearde saye, that he had bene sycke. And no doute he was sicke, in somoch that he was nye vnto deeth. But God had mercy on him: and not on him onely, but on me also, lest I shulde haue sorowe vpon sorowe. I sent hym therfore the more diligẽtly: that when ye se hym, ye maye reioyce agayne, and that I maye be the lesse sorowfull. Receaue him therfore in the Lorde with all gladnes, and * make moche of * Rom.xvi.d. i.Thessa.v.c. soche: because that for the worke of Christ he wẽt so farre, that he was nye vnto deeth, and regarded not hys lyfe: to fullfyll that, which was lackynge on youre parte towarde me.

¶ The iij. Chapter.

¶ He warneth them to beware of false teachers, whom he calleth dogges and enemyes of Christ, and reproueth mannes awne ryghteousnes.

MOreouer, (brethren) reioyce ye in I the Lorde. It greeueth me not to wryte one thynge often to you. For to you it is a sure thynge. Be ware of dogges, beware of euyll workers. Beware of dissensyon. * For we are circum- *Roma.ii.d. Ephe.ii.c.
cisyon, which serue God ‡ in the spyrete, and ‡ 1 Joh. iiii.c. reioyce in Christ Iesu, and haue no confy- Roma.i.a.
dence in the fleshe: though I myght also reioyce in the fleshe. If eny other mã thynketh that he hath wherof he might trust in the flesshe: I haue more: beynge circumcysed the eyght daye, of the kynred of Israel, of the trybe of Beniamin * an Ebrue borne of the * 2.Cor.xi.c. Ebrues ‡ as concernynge the lawe, a Pha- ‡ Act. xxiii.b. and.xxvi.b.
risaye: as concernynge feruentnes, I persecuted the congregacyon, as touchynge the ryghteweines which is in the lawe, I was vnrebukable.

* But the thynges that were vauntage * 3.Cor.viii.f
vnto me, those I counted losse for Christes B sake. ye I thynke all thynges but losse for the excellencye of the knowledge of Christ Iesu my Lorde. For whom I haue counted all thynge losse, and do iudge thẽ but vyle, that I maye wynne Christ, and be founde in him not hauynge myne awne ryghteweines of the lawe: but that which is thorow the fayth of Christ: euen the ryghteweines which cõmeth of God thorowe fayth: that I maye knowe hym and the vertue of hys resurrecyon, and the felowshyppe of hys passyons, whyle I am conformable vnto hys (deeth) yf by eny meanes I myght attayne vnto the resurrecyon of the deed.

Not that

C Not that I haue attayned vnto it all ready, or that I am all ready perfecte: but I folowe, yf that I maye cõprehende that, wherin I am comprehẽded of Chryst Jesu. Brethren, I counte not my selfe that I haue gotten it as yet, but this one thynge I saye: I forget those thinges which are behynde, & endenoure my selfe vnto those thinges which are before, and (accordinge to the marke apoynted) I preache to the rewarde of the hye callynge of God thorowe Chryst Jesu. Let vs therfore as many as be perfect, be thus wyse mynded, and yf ye be other wyse mynded, God shall open the same also vnto you. Nenertheiesse vnto that which we haue attayned vnto, lett vs proceade by one rule, that we maye be of one accorde.

D * 1. Cor. 11. c and. 5. d. ✠ * Brethren, be folowers together of me, and loke on them which walke euen so, as ye haue vs for an ensample. For many walke (of whom I haue tolde you often and nowe tell you wepynge) that they are ẏ enemies of ẏ crosse of Chryst, * whose ende is dãnation, whose God is theyr belly and glory to theyr shame, which are worldely mynded. But oure conuersacyon is in heauen, frõ whence we loke for the sauioure, euen ẏ Lorde Jesus Chryst, which shall * chaunge oure vyle bodie, that he maye make it lyke vnto hys glorious body, accordynge to the workynge, wherby he is able also to subdue all thynges vnto him selfe. ✠

* Rom. 8. b. * 1. Cor. 15. g.

C The. iiii. Chapter.

C He saluteth certayne of them, exhorteth them to be of honeste conuersacyon, and thanketh them because of the prouision that they made for him beyng in prison.

A Therfore my brethrẽ (dearly beloued and longed for) my ioye and crowne, so continue in the Lorde ye beloued. I praye Euodias, and beseche Sintiches, ẏ they be of one accorde in the Lord. Yee and I beseche the faythfull pocketfelowe, helpe ẏ wemen which laboured with me in the Gospell, and with Clement also, and with other my labourers whose names are in ẏ boke of lyfe. ✠ * Reioyce in ẏ Lord alwaye and agayne I saye reioyce. Let youre softenes be knowen vnto all men: The Lorde is euen at hande. Be carefull for nothynge: but in all prayer and supplicacyon let youre peticyons be manifeste vnto God with geuynge of thãkes. And the peace of God (which passeth all vnderstandynge) kepe youre hertes and myndes thorowe Chryst Jesu. ✠

* Luke. 10. c. Actes. 18. b. 1. Thes. 2. b.

B Furthermore, brethren, whatsoeuer thinges are true, whatsoeuer thynges are honeste, whatsoeuer thinges are iuste, whatsoeuer thynges are pure, whatsoeuer thynges are cõuenient, whatsoeuer thinges are of honeste reporte: yf ther be eny vertue, yf ther be eny prayse, thynke (of necessynge) those same haue ye in youre mynde, which ye haue bothe learned & receaued, hearde also and sene in me those thinges do, and the God of peace shalbe with you. I reioyce in the Lord greatly, ẏ nowe at C the last youre care is renyued agayne for me, in that wherin ye were also carefull, but ye lacked opportunite. I speake not because of necessite. For I haue learned in whatsoeuer estate I am, * therwith to be content. I know howe to be lowe and I knowe howe to excede. Euery where and in all thinges I am instructed, both to be full and to be hongrye, both to haue plenty and to suffre nede. I can do all thinges thorowe Chryst which strengtheneth me. Not withstãdynge ye haue well done, ẏ ye bare parte wt me in my tribulaciõ.

* 1. Tim. 6. b.

Ye of Philippos knowe also that in the begynnynge of the Gospell, when I departed from Macedonia, no congregacyon bare parte with me, as concernynge geuynge & receaninge, but ye onely. For when I was in Thessalonica, ye sent once and afterward agayne vnto my necessite: not ẏ I desire gyftes: but I desyre aboundant frute on youre parte. Neuertheles I receaued all, and haue plentie. I was euen fylled after that I receaued of Epaphroditus ẏ thinges, which were sent from you, an odoure of a swete smell a * sacrifyce accepted and pleasaunt to God. My God shall supplye all youre nede thorow his glorious riches by Jesu Chryst. Vnto God & oure father be prayse for euermore. Amen. Salute all the sayntes in Chryst Jesu. The brethren which are with me, greate you. All the sayntes salute you, most of all they which are of the emperours housholde. The grace of oure Lord Jesu Chryst be with you all. Amen.

D

* Rom. 15. d. Hebr. 13. d.

C Thys Epistle was wrytten from Rome by Epaphroditus.

C The epistle of saynt Paul the Apostle to the Collossyans.

C The fyrst Chapter.

C He geueth thankes vnto God for theyr fayth, loue and hope: prayeth for theyr increase, and sheweth howe we are the kyngdome of God, ordayned by Chryst, which is the hed of the congregacyon.

Paul an Apostle of Jesu Chryst A by the wyll of God, and brother Timotheus.

To the sayntes which are at Colossa, and brethren that beleue in Chryst. * Grace be vnto

* Gala. 1. a. Ephe. 1. a.

you

you and peace from God oure father, & from the Lorde Jesu Christ.

* We geue thankes to God the father of oure Lorde Jesus Christ * alwayes for you in oure prayers. For we haue hearde of youre fayth in Christ Jesu, and of the loue which ye beare to all sayntes, for ỹ hopes sake which is layd vp in store for you in heauẽ, of which hope, ye herde before by the true worde of the Gospell, which is come vnto you: euen as it, is frutefull (and groweth) as it is also amõge you, from the daye in the which ye hearde of it, and had experiẽce in the grace of God thorowe the trueth, as ye learned of * Epaphra oure deare felowe seruaunt, which is for you a faythfull minister of Chryst, which also declared vnto vs youre loue which ye haue in the spyrete.

For this cause we also, sence ỹ daye we herde of it, haue not ceased to praye for you, and to desyre, that ye myght be fulfylled with the knowledge of hys wyll, in all wysdome and spyrituall vnderstandynge, ỹ ye myght walke worthy of the Lorde that in all thinges ye maye please * beynge frutefull in all good workes, and encreasynge in the knowledge of God, strengthed with all myght, thorowe hys glorious power, vnto all pacience and longe sufferynge with ioyfulnes + geuynge thankes vnto the father, which hath made vs mete to be partakers of the inheritaunce of sayntes in lyght,

Which hath delyuered vs from the power of derknes, and hath translated vs into the kyngdome of hys dere sone * by whom we haue redemption thorowe his bloude euen ỹ forgeuenes of sinnes * which is ỹ ymage of ỹ inuisyble God, fyrst begotten of all creatures. * For by him were all thynges created, that are in heuen, and that are in erth: visyble and inuisyble, whether they be maieste or lorde shyppe, ether rule or power. All thynges were creatyd by hym and for hym, & he is before all thynges, and by him all thynges haue their beynge.

And * he is the heed of the body, euen of the congregacyon: he is the begynnynge and * fyrst begotten of the deed, that in all thynges he myght haue the preeminence. For it pleased the father, that in him shulde all fulnes dwell, and by him to * reconcyle all thinge vnto him selfe, and to set at peace by hym thorowe ỹ bloude of hys crosse, both thynges in heauen and thinges in erth.

And you * which were somtyme farre of and enemyes, because youre myndes were set in euyll workes hath he nowe yet reconcyled in ỹ body of hys flesshe thorowe deeth, to make you holy, and vnblameable, & with out faut in hys awne syght, yf ye contynue grounded and stablysshed in the fayth, and be not moued awaye from the hope of the Gospell, wherof ye haue herde, howe that it is preached amõge all creatures which are vnder heauen, wherof I Paul am made a mynyster.

Nowe ioye I * in my sufferinges + for you and fulfyll that which is behynde of the passyons of Christ in my flesshe, for hys bodies sake, which is the congregacyon: wherof I am made a mynister, accordynge to the ordinaunce of God, which ordinaunce was geuen me vnto you warde to fulfyll the worde of God, that * mistery which hath bene hyd sence the worlde beganne, and sence the begynnynge of generacyons: ‡ but nowe is opened to his sayntes, to whom God wolde make knowen what the gloryous ryches of thys mystery is amonge the Gentyls, which ryches is Chryst in you, the hope of glory, whom we preache, warnynge all men, and teachynge all men in all wysdome, to make all men parfecte in Christ Jesu. Wherin I also laboure and stryue, euen as farforth as his strength worketh in me myghtely.

The.ii. Chapter.

What greate care Paul toke for all congregacyons. He exhorteth them to be stedfast in Christ, to beware of false teachers and worldly wisdome, and describeth the false prophetes.

For I wolde that ye knewe howe greate care that I haue for you and for them that are at Laodicia, and for as many as haue not sene my parson in the flesshe, that their hertes myght be comforted whan they are knet together in loue, and in all ryches of full vnderstandynge, for to knowe the mistery of God the father, and of Chryst, in whom are hyd all the treasures of wysdome and knowledge. * Thys I saye, lest eny man shulde begyle you wt entysynge wordes. For though I be absent in the flesshe, yet am I with you in the spyrete, ioynge and beholdynge youre order, and youre stedfast fayth in Chryst. As ye haue therfore receaued Christ Jesu ỹ Lorde euen so walke ye in hym, so that ye be rotyd and buylte in hym, and stablysshed thorow fayth, as ye haue learned: and therin be plenteous with geuynge thankes.

* Beware, lest eny man spoyle you thorowe philosophy and discreatfull vanitie, after the tradicyon of men, and after the ordinaunces of the worlde, & not after Christ. For in hym dwelleth all ỹ fulnes of the God heed bodely, and ye are cõplete in him: which is the heed of all rule and power, by whom also ye are * circumcised with circumcisyon which is done with out handes, for asmoche as ye haue put of the synfull body of ỹ flesshe thorowe the circumcisyon that is in Christ, in that * ye are buried with hym thorowe baptisme, in whom ye are also risen agayne thorowe fayth, that is wrought by the operacyon of God which raysed him from deeth.

* And ye

* Roma.b.a. Ephe.ii.d Colo.i.c. * And ye whā ye weare deed thorowe synne and thorowe the vncircumcisyō of youre flesshe, hath he quyckned with him, and hath forgeuen vs all oure trespaces ✠ and hath put out ꝑ hāde wryptynge that was agaynst vs, contayned in the lawe written: and that hath he taken out of the waye, and hath fastened it to hys crosse, and hath * spoyled rule and power, and hath made a shewe of them openly, and hath triumphed ouer them in his awne person.

* Gene.iij.c. Luke.xi.c. Iohn.xij.c.

Let no man therfore trouble youre conscience aboute meate and drynche or for a pece of an holy daye, or of the newe mone, or of * Sabboth dayes, * which are shaddowes of thinges to come: but the body is in Chryst.

* Deut.viii.a and.x.a.

D Let no man make you shote at a wrōge marke, by the humblenes and holynes of angels, in the thynges which he neuer sawe, beynge causelesse puft vp with his fleshly mynde, & holdeth not the heed, wherof all the body by ioyntes and couples receaueth nouryshment & is knet together, and encreaseth with the increasynge that commeth of God.

Wherfore, yf ye be deed with Chryst from ꝑ * ordinaūces of ꝑ worlde, why as though ye yet lyued in the worlde, are ye led with tradicions? Touch not, tast not, handell not: which all perisshe thorowe ꝑ very abuse: after the commaundmentes and doctrynes of men: which thynges out wardly haue the similitude of wysdome by superstition and hūblenes of mynde, and by hurtynge of the body, and in ꝑ they do the flesshe no worshyppe vnto the nede therof.

* Mat.

¶ The.iii. Chapter. ✠

¶ He putteth them in remembraunce of the spirituall resurrecyon, to laye aside all maner of corrupte lyuynge, to be frutefull in all godlynelle & vertue, & sheweth all degrees theyr dutye.

A IF ye be then rysen agayne with Chryst, seke those thynges which are aboue, where Chryst sytteth * on the ryght hande of God. Set youre affeccyon on heauenly thynges, and not on erthye thynges. For ye are deed, and youre lyfe is hyd with Chryst in God. When soeuer Chryst (which is oure lyfe) shall shewe hym selfe, then shall ye also appeare with hym in glory. ✠

* Ephe.i.d. Hebr.i.a. x.c.xii.a.

☞ Mortifye therfore youre erthy membres: fornicacyon, vnclennes, vnnaturall lust, euyll concupiscence, and couetousnes, which is worshyppynge of ydoles: for which thynges sake the wrath of God vseth to come on the disobedyent chyldren * amonge whom ye walked sometyme, when ye lyued in them.

☞ * Ephes.v.a.

B But nowe put ye also awaye frō you all soch thinges: wrath, frarines, maliciousnes, cursed speakynge, fylthy communicacyō out of your mouth. Lye not one to another, seyng that ye haue put of the olde man with hys workes, and haue * put on the newe man which is renued into the knowledge & ymage of him that made hym, * where is nether Gentyle nor Iewe, circumcisyon nor vncircumcisyon, Barbarous or Scythian, bonde or fre: but Chryst is all in all thinges.

* Rom.b. Ephe.iiij. * Gala.iij.

✠ Therfore as electe of God, holy & beloued, put on tender mercye, kyndnes, humblenes of mynde, meknes, longe sufferynge, forbearynge one another, & forgeuynge one another, yf any man haue a quarell agaynst another: as Christ forgaue you, euē so do ye. Aboue all these thinges put on * loue which is the bonde of perfectnes. And the peace of God rule in youre hertes: to the which peace ye are called in one body. And se that ye be thankfull. Let the worde of Chryst dwell in you plenteously with all wysdome. Teache and exhorte youre awne selues, * in Psalmes, and hymnes, and spirituall songes syngynge with grace in youre hertes to ꝑ Lorde And ‡ whatsoeuer ye do (in worde or dede) do all in the name of the Lord Iesu, geuynge thankes to God the father by hym. ✠

* Galathy. ffff.d. * pſa.xxxv. Ephe.v.a. ‡ i.Corin.x.

* Ye wyues, submyt youre selues vnto youre awne husbandes, as it is comly in the Lorde: Ye husbandes, loue youre wyues and be not bytter vnto them. * Ye chyldre, obey youre fathers and mothers in all thinges, for that is well pleasynge vnto the Lorde. Ye fathers, prouoke not youre chyldren, or (to anger) lest they be of a desperate mynde. * Ye seruauntes be obedient vnto them that are youre bodyly masters in all thinges: not with eye seruice as men pleasers, but in synglenes of herte, fearynge God. And whatsoeuer ye do, do it hertely, as though ye dyd it to the Lord, and not vnto men: knowynge, ꝑ of the Lord ye shall receaue the rewarde of inheritaunce, for ye serue the Lorde Christ. But he ꝑ doth synne, shall receaue for hys synne. * Nether is ther any respect of persones or (with God.)

* Ephe.v. I.Pet.iii.a. D * Ephe.vi. * Ephes. Titus.ii. i.Pe.ii.b. * ii.Par. Actes.x.a. Eccle.xxxv. Roma.ii.b. Colo.iij.c.

¶ The. iiii. Chapter.

¶ He exhorteth them to be frequent in prayer, to walke wysely vnto them that are not yet come to the true knowledge of chryst, and saluteth them.

* Masters, do vnto youre seruauntes that which is iust and equall knowynge, that ye also haue a master in heauen.

A ‡ Ephes.vi.

* Cōtinue in prayer, & watch in the same with thankes geuynge, prayēge also for vs * that God maye open vnto vs the doore of vtteraunce, that we maye speake the mystery of Christ (wherfore I am also in bondes) that I maye vtter it, as it becommeth me to speake. * Walke wysely towarde them that are without, and lose no opportunite. Let youre speache be alwayes well sauored & powdred with * salt, that ye maye knowe, howe ye ought to answer euery mā.

* Ephe.vi. * Ephe.v. * Mat.v.b. Marc.ix.b. Luke.xiv.a. Galath. Ephes. Coloss.

Of all my

Of all my busynes shal ye be certified by Tichicus, the beloued brother and faythful mynyster and felowe seruaunt in the Lord, whō I haue sent vnto you for the same purpose, that he myght knowe whath ye do, & that he myght comfort youre hertes, wyth one Onesymus a faythfull and beloued brother, which is one of you. They shall shewe you of all thynges, which area doinge here.

*Act.xxvii.a

*Aristarchus my prelon felowe saluteth you, and ‡Marcus Barnabas systers sone: touchynge whom, ye receaued commaūdementes. If he come vnto you, receaue hym: and Jesus which is called Just⁹, whych are of the circumcisyō. These only are my worke felowes vnto ꝑ kyngdome of God, which haue bene vnto my consolacyō. *Epaphras the seruaūt of Chryst, (which is one of you) saluteth you, and all wayes laboureth feruently for you in prayers, that ye maye stāde perfect and full, in all ꝑ wyll of God. For I beare hym recorde, that he hath a feruent mynde for you and them that are of Laodicia and them that are of Hierapolis. Deare Lucas the Physycion greteth you, and *Demas. Salute the brethren whych are of Laodicia, and salute Nymphas, and the cōgregacyon, whych is in hys house, And whē the Epystle is reed of you, make that it be reed also in the congregacyon of the Laodicians: and that ye lyke wyse reade the Epistle of Laodicia. And saye to Archyppus: take hede to the office that thou hast receaued in the Lord, that thou fulfill it. The salutacion by the hande of me Paul Remēber my bōdes, the grace (of oure Lorde Jesu Chryst) be wyth you. Amen.

*Colloss.iii.a

‡ii.tim.iiii.b

*ii.tim.iiii.c

C Sent from Rome by Tychicus: and Onesymus.

C The fyrst Epistle of Sayncte Paul the Apostle to the Thessalonyans.

C The fyrst Chapter.

C He thanketh God for them, that they are so stedfast in fayth and good workes, and receaue the Gospell wyth soch earnestnes.

A PAul and Sylvan⁹ & Timothe. Unto the congregacyon of ꝑ Thessalonyans, in God the father, and in the Lorde Jesus Chryst.

*Grace be vnto you, and peace from God our father, and from the Lorde Jesus Chryst.

* Roma.i.a. i.Corint.i.a. ii.Corint.i.a Galat.i.a. Ephes.i.a. 1Thessa.i.b Philip.i.a. Ephes.i.b Colloss.i.a

We geue god thankes ‡ alwaye for you all: makynge mencyō of you in our prayers without ceasynge, & call you to remēbrance becawse of the worke of your fayth, and labour in *loue, and becawse ye haue contynued ī ꝑ hope ‡ of oure Lorde Jesus Chryst, in ꝑ syght of God our father. ✠ We knowe brethren (beloued of God) how that ye are electe. For oure Gospel came not vnto you by *worde onely, but also by power, and by the holy goost, and by moch certaynty, as *ye knowe, after what maner we be haued oure selues amonge you, for your sake. And ye became folowers of vs and of the Lorde, receaynge the worde with moch affliccyō, with ioye of the holy goost: so that ye were an ensample to all that beleue in Macedonia and Achaia. For from you sounded out the worde of the Lorde, not in Macedonia and in Achaia onely: but youre fayth also which ye haue vnto God, spred her selfe abroade in all quartars, so that it nedeth not vs to speake eny thynge at al. For they thē selues shewe of you, what maner of entring in we had vnto you and how ye tourned to God from ymages, for to serue the liuynge and true God, and for to loke for hys sonne *from heauen, whom he rayled from deeth: ✠ euen Jesus, which delyuereth vs from ‡ the wrath to come.

*i.Thes.iiii.b ‡i.Timo.i.a B

*i.Corin.ii.a

*i.Thes.ii.a C

D

*Actes.i.b. ‡John.iii.b.

C The.ii.Chapter.

C He putteth them in mynde of the godly conuersacyon that he led amōge them (when he preached the Gospell vnto them) thanketh God that they receaue hys worde so trutefully, and exciteth hys absence.

A FOr ye youre selues (* brethrē) knowe of oure entraūce in vnto you, how that it was not in vayne: but euen after that we had suffred before, and were * shamfully entreated at Philippos (as ye knowe) then were we bolde in oure God, to speake vnto you the Gospell of God, in *moch stryuynge. For oure exhortacyon was not to bringe you to erroure, nor yet to vnclennes, nether was it wyth gyle: but as we were alowed of God, that the Gospell sholde be committed vnto vs: euen so we speake, not as they that * please mē, but God, whych tryeth oure hertes.

A *i. Thes.i.b.

*Actes.xvi.c

*Actes.xvi.b

*Galat.i.b.

Nether led we oure cōuersacyon at eny tyme with flatterynge wordes, as ye knowe: nether by occasyon of couetеousnes. * God is recorde: nether sought we prayse of men nether of you, nor yet of eny other, when we myght haue bene ī auctorite, as ꝑ Apostles of Chryst, but we were tender amonge you, euen as a norse cherysheth her children, so were we affectyoned towarde you: our good wyll was to haue dealte vnto you, not the Gospell of God onely: but also oure awne soules, becawse ye were deare vnto vs.

B

*Philip.i.a.

C

✠Ye remember brethren oure labour, and trauayle.* For we laboured daye & nyght
*Actes.xx.g. xi.Thess.iii.b i.Corint.ix.c
because we wolde not be chargeable vnto eny of you, and preached vnto you the Gospell of God. Ye are witnesses, and so is God how holyly & iustly & vnblameably we behaued oure selues amõge you that beleued, as ye knowe, how that we bare soch affeccyon vnto euery one of you, as a father doth vnto chyldren, exhortynge, confortyng, and besechyng you, that ye wolde walke worthy of God, whych hath called you vnto his kyngdome and glorye.

For this cause thãke we God also without ceassyng, because ỳ when ye receaued of vs ỳ worde (wherwith ye learned to know God) ye receaued it not as the worde of man: but euen as it was in dede, the worde of God, whych worketh also in you that beleue. ✠
D For ye brethren became followers of the cõgregacyons of God whych in Jewry are in Christ Jesu: for ye haue suffred lyke thynges of youre kynsmen, as we oure selues haue suffered of ỳ Jewes. Whych as they killed the Lorde Jesus, and their awne Prophetes, euen so haue they persecuted vs: and God they please not, and are contrary to al men, & hynder vs, that we shuld not speake vnto the Gentyls, that they myght be saued, to fulfyll their synnes alwaye. For * ỳ
*Luke.xxi.f.
wrath of God is come on them, euen to the vtmost.

For as moch brethren as we are kept frõ you for a season, as concernynge the bodyly presence (but not in the herte) we endeuored ỳ more to se you personally with great desyre. And therfore we wold haue come vnto ‡ Daniel.x.c.
you, I Paul once and agayne: ‡ but Satan withstode vs: for what is oure hope or ioye or crowne of reioysing? * are not ye it in the
*ii.Corin.i.c and.viii.b
presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at his cõmynge? yes, ye are oure glorye and ioye.

The.iii.Chapter.

The sheweth how greatly he was reioysed, whē Timothe tolde him of their fayth & loue.

Wherfore, sence we coulde no lẽger forbeare, we thought it good to remayne at * Athens alone, and sent Timothe oure brother & mynyster of God, and the helper forth of oure labour in the Gospell of Christ, to stablisshe you: and to confort you concernyng our fayth * that no man shulde be moued i these afflictyons. For ‡ ye your selues knowe,
*Ephes.iii.c ‡ John.xv.c. Actes.xiiii.d. psal.xxxiiii.b prouer.xviii b. ii.Timo.iii.c that we are euen apoynted there vnto.

For when we were wyth you, we tolde you before, that we shude suffre tribulacyon, euen as it came to passe, and as ye knowe. For this cause when I coulde no lenger forbeare, I sent that I myght haue knowledge of your fayth, lest by some meanes ỳ tempter had tempted you, and lest oure labour had bene bestowed in vayne. 25

But now lately, when Timothe came frõ you vnto vs, & declared to vs your faith & your loue, & how ỳ ye haue good remẽbraunce of vs alwayes, desyrynge to se vs as we also desyre to se you. Therfore brethren we receaued cõsolacyõ by you, in all our aduersite & necessite, through your fayth. For now are we alyue, yf ye stãde stedfast in the Lorde. For what thãkes can we recõpence to God agayne for you, ouer al ỳ ioye, ỳ we ioye for your sakes before our God: prayig nyght and daye exceadyngly, ỳ we might se you presently, and myght fulfyll the thynges which are lackynge vnto youre fayth.

God him selfe oure father, and oure Lorde C
Jesus Christ shall gyde oure iorney vnto you: the Lord also shall increace you & make you flowe ouer in loue one toward another, and towarde all men, euen as we do toward you, that he maye make youre hertes stable & vnblameable, in holynes before God oure father, at the commynge of oure Lorde Jesus Christ with all saynctes.

The.iiii.Chapter. ✠

The exhorteth them to stedfastnesse, to kepe them selues from synne & honestly conuersacyon to loue one another: reproueth idelnesse, & speaketh of the resurrecyon.

Furthermore, we beseche you (bre- A thren) and exhorte you by ỳ Lord Jesus, ỳ ye increace more & more euẽ as ye haue receaued of vs, how ye ought to walcke and to please God. For ye knowe, what cõmaundementes we gaue you by oure Lorde Jesu Christ. For this is the wyll of God * euen youre holynes, ỳ ye *Rom.vi.a. Ephes.v.a shuld abstayne from fornicacyõ, & that euery one of you shuld knowe ‡ how to kepe his vessell in holynes and honoure, and not in ‡i.Cor.vii.a
the lust of concupiscence * as do the hethen
*Roma.i.c.
which know not God, ỳ noma oppresse and defraude his brother in bargaynyng: becau- 25
se ỳ the Lord is the auenger of all soch thinges, as we tolde you before, and testifyed. For God hath not called vs vnto vnclenes but vnto holynes. ✠ * He therfore ỳ despy-*Luke.x.c.
seth, despyseth not man, but God, whych hath sent ‡ his holy spirite amonge you. ✠
‡i.Cor.iii.b and.vi.b. *i.Thess.ii
✠But as touchynge brotherly * loue, ye C nede not, ỳ I wryte vnto you. ‡ For ye are ‡ John.xiii.b and.xv.b i.John.iiii.b
taught of God, to loue one another. Yea and that thynge verely ye do vnto all ỳ brethrẽ which are i all Macedonia. We beseche you brethren, that ye encreace more & more, and that ye studye to be quyet, & to medle with youre awne busynes, and * to worke wyth
*Actes.xx.f i.Corin.iv.c ii.Thess.iii.b
youre awne handes, as we cõmaunded you: that ye maye behaue youre selues honestly towarde them that are wythout, and that nothynge be lackynge vnto you. ✠

✠I wolde

D ✠I wolde not brethren that ye shulde be ignorannt cõcernynge them whych are fallen aslepe, that ye sorowe not as other do, whych haue * no hope. For yf we beleue, þ Jesus dyed, & rose agayne: euen so them also which slepe by Jesu, wyll God bryngе agayne vp̃ hym. For thys saye we vnto you in þ worde of the Lorde, that we whych shall * lyue, & shall remayne in the cõmynge of the Lorde, shall not come yer they whych slepe. For the Lorde hym selfe shall descende from heauẽ with a showte & the voyce of the * Archangell and trõpe of God. And the dede in Christ shall aryse fyrst: then we which shall lyue (euen we which shall remayne) shall be caught vp with them also in the cloudes, to mete the Lorde in the ayer. And so shall we euer be with the Lorde. Wherfore, comforte your selues one another w̃ these wordes. ✠

Hap.ii.a.b.

1.Cor.xv.g.

mat.xxiiij.c
Danie.vii.a.

¶ The.v. Chapter.

¶ He enkourmeth them of the daye of dome, and commynge of the Lorde, exhorteth thẽ to watch, and to regarde soche as preach Gods worde amonge them.

A FInally of the tymes & seasons (brethren) it is no nede that I wryte vnto you: for ye your selues know perfectly, þ * the daye of the Lord shall come, euen as a theefe in the nyght. For whẽ they shall saye, peace and all thynges are safe, then shall * soden destruccyon come vpõ them (as sorowe commeth vpon a woman trauaylynge with chylde) & they shall not scape. But * ye brethren are not in darcknes, þ that daye shulde come on you as a theefe.

mat.xxiiij.b
1. Pet.iij.c
Apoc.iii.a.
and.xv.c.
* Jere.xv.b.

* Iohn.xii.c
Ephe.v.c.

✠ Ye are all the chyldren of lyght, and the chyldren of the daye. We are not of the nyght nether of darknes.

B * Therfore let vs not slepe as do other: but let vs watch, & be sober. For they that slepe, slepe in þ nyght: & they that be dronken, are dronken in the nyght. But let vs whych are of the daye, be sober * armed wyth the brest plate of fayth and loue, and with hope of saluacyon for an helmet. For God hath not appoynted vs to prouoke wrath vnto oure selues, but to obtayne saluacyon by the meanes of oure Lorde Jesu Christ * which dyed for vs: that whether we wake or slepe, we shulde lyue together wyth him.

Rom.viii.b

Ephes.vi.b

xii.Cor.v.c.

Wherfore, comforte your selues together, & edifye euery one another, euẽ as ye do. ✠

C We beseche you brethren, that ye knowe them * which laboure amonge you, and haue the ouersyght of you in the Lorde, & geue you exhortacyon, that ye haue them in hye reputacyon thorowe loue, for theyr workes sake, and be at peace with them.

Gala.vi.b.
i.Tim.v.c.
Phil.ij.d.

✠ We desyre you (brethrẽ) warne them þ are vnruly, comforte the feble mynded, lyft vp the weake, be pacient towarde all men.

* See that none recompence euyll for euyll vnto eny man: but euer folowe that whych is good, both amonge your selues, and to all men. * Reioyce euer ✠ * Praye contynually. In all thynges geue thanke: for this is the wyll of God thorowe Christ Jesu towarde you.

mat.v.g.

D
1 Phil.iij.a.
✠
* Lu.xviii.a.

Quẽche not the spyrite. * Despyse not prophesynges. Examen all thynges, kepe that which is good. Abstayne from all euell appearaunce. The very God of peace sanctifye you thorowe out. And I praye God þ youre whole spyrite, and soule and body, maye be preserued: so that in nothyng ye maye be blamed in the commynge of oure Lorde Jesus Christ.

1.Cor.xiiij.g.

* Faythfull is he which calleth you, which wyll also do it. Brethrẽ, praye for vs. * Salute all the brethrẽ wyth an holy kysse. I charge you in the Lorde, that this Epistle be red vnto all the holy brethren. * The grace of the Lorde Jesus Christ be wyth you. Amen.

1.Cor.i.b.
and.x.c.
1 Rom.xvi.c.
1.Cor.xvi.b
ii. Cor.xiii.c.
ii. Tes.iii.b

¶ The fyrst Epistle vnto the Thessalonians was wrytten from Athens.

¶ The seconde Epistle of Sayncte Paul the Apostle to the Thessalonyans.

¶ The fyrste Chapter.

¶ He thanketh God for their faythe and loue, and prayeth for the encrease of the same.

PAul and Syluanus and Timotheus. A

Vnto the congregacyon of the Thessalonyãs in God oure father, and in the Lord Jesus Christ.

* Grace be vnto you and peace from God oure father, and from the Lorde Jesus Christ.

Rom.i.a.
i.Cor.i.a.
Ephe.i.a.

We are bounde to * thanke God all wayes for you brethren (as it is mete) because that youre faythe groweth exceedyngly, and euery one of you swymmeth in loue towarde another betwene youre selues, so that we oure selues boast of you in the congregacyons of God, ouer your pacyence & faythe in all your persecucyons & tribulacyõs, that ye suffre, which is a token of the ryghtewes iudgement of God, that ye are counted worthy of the kyngdome of God, for which ye also suffre. It is verely a ryghtewes thyng with God that he recompence tribulacyon to thẽ that trouble you: and to you which are troubled, rest wyth vs, when the Lorde Jesus

Rome.i.b.
Philip.i.b
Colos.i.a.
Ephe.i.b.

B

C

shall shewe hym selfe from heauen with the Angels of hys power, with flamynge fyre, which shall rendre vengeaunce vnto them y knowe not God, * and that obeye not the Gospell of oure Lorde Jesus Christ * which shalbe punyshed with euerlastynge damnacyon, from the presence of the Lorde, and from the glory of his power, * whē he shall come to be glorifyed in his sayntes, and to be come marueylous in all them that beleue: because oure testimonie that we had to you, was beleued euen the same daye. * Wherfore, also we praye allwayes for you, that our God will make you worthy of this calling, & fulfyll all delectacyō of goodnes & the worcke of fayth, wt power: that the name of oure Lorde Jesus Chryst maye be glorifyed by you, and ye by hym, accordynge to the grace of oure God, and of the Lorde Jesus Christ.

* Mose. ii. b.
* Esay. b. c.
* mat. xvi. c.
* Colo. f. a. Philip. i. b.

¶ The ij. Chapter.

¶ He sheweth them, y the daye of the Lorde shall not come, tyll the departynge from the fayth come fyrst: and therfore he exhorteth them not to be diseased, but to stande stedfast in the thynges that he hath taught them.

A

WE beseche you (brethren) by the cōmynge of oure Lorde Jesu Christ, and in that we shall assemble vnto hym, y ye be not sodenly moued frō youre mynde, ner be troubled, nether by spyrite, nether by wordes, nor yet by letter whych shulde seme to come from vs, as though the daye of Christ were at hande. Let no man deceaue you by eny meanes, for the Lorde shall not come excepte ther come * a departynge fyrst, and that that synfull man be opened, the sonne of perdicyon, whych is an aduersarye: and is exalted aboue all that is called God, or that is worshypped: so that he doth syt * in the tēple of God, boastynge him selfe to be God.

* Dani. xi. g. i. Timo. iiii. a
* i. Cor. iii. b and. vi. b.

B

Remember ye not, that when I was yet wyth you, I tolde you these thynges? And now ye know what wythholdeth: euē that he myght be vttered at hys tyme. * For the mistery of y iniquitie doeth all readye worcke: tyll he which now letteth, be takē out of the waye. And then shall that wycked be vttered, * whom the Lorde shall consume with the spyrite of his mouth, and shall destroye wyth the appearaunce of hys commynge. Euen hym whose commynge is after the worckynge of Satan, with all lyinge power * sygnes and wonders, and with all deceauablenes of vnrygh teousnes, amonge them that perysshe: because they receaued not the loue of y trueth, that they myght be saued. * And therfore, God shall sende them stronge delusyon, that they shulde beleue lyes: that all they myght be dāned, whych beleued not the trueth: but had pleasure in vnrygh teousnes.

* i. Iohn. ii. c
* Esa. xi. a.
* mat. xxiiii. c
C
* Roma. i. b.

But we are bolde to geue thākes alwey to God for you (brethē beloued of y Lorde) for because that God hath from the begynnynge chosen you to saluacyō, thorowe sanctifyinge of the spyrite, and thorow beleuing of y trueth, wher vnto he called you by oure Gospell, to obtayne the glorye of oure Lord Jesu Christ.

✠ Therfore brethren stande fast, & kepe the ordinaūces which ye haue learned: whether it were by oure preachinge, or by Epistle. Oure Lorde Jesu Christ hym selfe, and God and oure father (which hath loued vs, and hath geuen vs euerlastynge consolacyō, and good hope thorowe grace) cōforte youre hertes and stablysshe you in all good sayēge and doynge.

D

¶ The iij. Chapter.

¶ He desyreth them to praye for him, that y Gospell may prospere, and geueth them warnynge to eschewe the vnthryfty: and yf they will not labour with their handes, that they shall not eate.

FUrthermore brethē praye ye for vs, * that the worde of God maye haue passage, and be glorifyed, as it is also with you: and that we maye be delyuered from vnreasonable and frowarde men. For all mē haue not fayth: but the Lord is faythfull, whych shall stablysshe you, and preserue you from euyll. We haue confydence thorowe the Lord to you warde, y ye both do, & wyll do the thynges which we commaunde you. And the Lord gyde youre hertes to the loue of God and to the pacyente waytynge for Chryst. ✠

A

* Ephe. vi. c. Colos. iiii. a.

✠ We require you brethren by y name of oure Lorde Jesu Christ * y ye withdrawe youre selues from euery brother, y behaueth him selfe inordinatly, & not after y institucion which he receaued of vs. For ye your selues know, howe ye ought to folowe vs. For we behaued not oure selues inordinatly amōge you. Nether toke we breed of eny man for naught: but * wrought wt laboure & sweate nyght & daye, because we wolde not be chargeable to eny of you: not but that we had an ensample: but to make oure selues an ensample vnto you to folowe vs. For when we were wyth you, this we warned you of, y yf eny wolde not worcke, the same shulde not eate.

B

* i. Cor. b. b

* Actu. xx. d. i. Cor. iv. i. Thes. ii. d. and. iiii. f.

C

For we haue heard saye that ther are some whych walke amonge you inordinatly, worckynge not at all, but beynge busybodyes. Them that are soch, we commaunde and exhorte, by oure Lorde Jesu Christ, that they worcke with quietnes, and eate their awne breed: * Brethren be not ye weery in well doynge. ✠ If eny man obey not oure sayinge, sende vs worde of him by a letter: and * haue no companye with him, that he maye be ashamed. And count him not as an enemy: but warne him as a brother.

* Gala. vi. d.

D

i. Thes. iii. b.

The very

The very Lorde of peace geue you peace allwayes, by all meanes. The Lord be with you all. The salutacyō of me Paul, with myne awne hande. This is the token in all Epistles. So I wryte. *
The grace of oure Lorde Jesus Christ be wyth you all. Amen.

*i.Tes.v.d Philip.iiii.b

¶Sent from Athens.

¶ The Epistle of Sayncte Paul vnto Timothe.

¶The fyrste Chapter.

¶He exhorteth Timothe to wayte vpon hys office: namely, to se that nothynge be taught but Gods worde. He sheweth also wherfore ꝑ lawe is good, and telleth that Christ Jesus came into ꝑ worlde, to saue synners.

A * Actes.xx.c.

PAul an Apostle of Jesus Christ, * by the commyssyō of God our sauyour, ‡ Lord Jesus Christ, which is * our hope.

*i.Thes.i.a

‡ Act.xvi.a.

Unto * Timothe hys naturall sonne in the fayth.

*i.Cor.i.a. Gala.i.a.

* Grace mercy and peace from God oure father, ‡ frō ꝑ Lord Jesus Christ our Lorde.

*Actes.xix. and.xx.

As I besought the to abyde styll at Ephesus (whē I departed into * Macedonia) euē so do, that ꝑ cōmaunde some, that they folowe no straunge doctrine, nether geue hede * to fables ‡ endles genealogyes whych brede doubtes more then Godlye edifynge, which is by fayth. for the ende of the commaundement is, * loue out of a ‡ pure herte, and of a good conscience, and of fayth vnfayned: frō the whych thynges, because some haue erred, they are turned vnto vayne iāgelynge, because they wolde be doctours of the lawe, and yet vnderstande not what they speake, nether wherof they affyrme.

*ii. Tim.ii.c Titus.iii.c. i.Timo.iiii.a

B * Rom.viii.c ‡ Act.xv.b.

* Rom.bii.b Gala.iii.c. ‖Gala.v.b.

We knowe, that * the lawe is good, yf a man vse it lawfully: knowynge thys, * howe that the lawe is not geuē vnto a rygh teous man, but vnto the vnryghteous and disobedyent, to the vngodly and to synners, to vnholy and vncleane: to murtherers of fathers and murtherers of mothers, to manslears, to * whoremongers: to them that defyle them selues whyth mankynde: to mānstealers: to lyars, to periured, and yf ther be eny other thynge that is cōtrary to the hollsome doctryne, accordynge to the Gospell of the glory of the blessed God, whych Gospell is committed vnto me.

* Leui.xx.b. Roma.i.b.

C * Actes.ix.a. and.xvii.a. i.Cor.xv.b. Gala.i.c.

And I thanke Christ Jesus oure Lorde, whych hath made me stroge: for he counted me true, and put me in office where as before I was a blasphemer, * and a persecuter, ‡ a Tyraunt. But yet I obtayned mercy, because I dyd it ignorauntly thorowe vnbelefe. Neuertheles, ꝑ grace of oure Lorde was exceadynge aboundaunt with fayth and loue, whych is by Christ Jesu.

This is a true sayinge (and by all meanes worthy to be receaued of vs) ꝑ * Christ Jesus came into ꝑ worlde, to saue synners, of whom I am chefe. Not withstandynge for this cause optayned I mercy, that Jesus Christ shulde kyst shewe on me all longe pacīēce, to declare an ensample vnto thē which shulde beleue on him vnto eternall lyfe. So then vnto God, kynge euerlastynge, immortall * inuisyble, wyse onely, be honoure and prayse for euer and euer. Amen.

* Mat.ix.b Mar.ii.c. Luke.xix.a John.iii.c.

D Colos.i.c.

Thys commaundement commyt I vnto the sonne Timotheus ☞ accordynge to the prophesyes, whych ī tyme past were prophesyed of the, that thou in them shuldest fyght a good fyght, hauynge fayth and good conscyence: whych some haue put awaye from them, and as concernynge fayth haue made shypwracke. Of whose nombre is * Hymeneus and * Alexander whom * I haue delyuered vnto Satā, that they maye lerne not to blaspheme.

* 1.Tim.ii.c 2.tim.iiii.c. * mat.xviii.a i.Cor.v.a

¶The.ij.Chapter.

¶He exhorteth to prayer for all men. He wyll not haue wemen to be euer costly apparelled, nor to teach in the congregacyon, but to be in sylence, ꝑ to obeye their husbandes.

A EXhorte therfore, that aboue all thynges, prayers, supplicacyons, intercessions, and geuynge of thākes be had for all men: * for kynges, and for all that are in auctorite, that we maye lyue a quyet and a peaceable lyfe, wyth all Godlynes and honestye. For that is good and accepted in ꝑ syght of God oure sauyour, which ☞ wyll haue all mē to be saued, and to come vnto the knowledge of ꝑ trueth. For ther is * one God, and one * mediator betwene God and man, euen the man Christ Jesus, which gaue him selfe a raunsome for all men, that it shulde be testifyed at hys tyme, * where vnto I am ordayned a preacher and an Apostle. I tell the truethin Christ and lye not: beynge the teacher of the gentyls wyth fayth and veritye.

* Jere.xxix.c Baruch.i.c.

☞

* Jeh.xvii.a * Heb.ix.b. Gala.iii.c.

* Roma.i.a. act.ix.c 1.Tim.i.c.

B I wyll therfore that the men * praye euery where, lyftynge vp pure handes without wrath, or doubtinge. Lykewise also the wemen, that they araye them selues in comlye apparell wyth shamfastnes and discrete behaueour, not wt broyded heare, ether golde or pearles, or costly araye: but as becometh wemen, that profesle godlynesse thorowe good workes. * Let the woman learne in sylence wyth all subiectcyon. But I suffre not a woman to teach, nether to vsurpe auctorite ouer the man: but to be in sylence. For

* John.viii.c

* i.Cor.xiiii.g

Adam was fyrst fourmed, & then Eue. Adã also was not deceaued, but the womã was deceaued, and was subdued to the transgressyon. Notwythstãdynge thorowe bearynge of chyldren she shalbe saued, yf they contynue in fayth and loue, and holynes, wyth discretyon.

¶ The.iij. Chapter.

¶ What maner of mã a bysshoppe or prestes ought to be. The propertyes alle requyred in a deacõ or mynyster.

A THis is a true sayinge: If a mã desyre the office of a Bysshoppe, he desyreth an honest worke. A Bysshoppe therfore must be blameles, ✠ husbande of one wyfe, dilygent, sober, discrete, a keper of hospitalite: apte to teach: not geuẽ to ouer moch wyne, no fyghter, not gredy of fylthye lucre. but gẽtle, abhorrynge fyghtynge, abhorrynge couetousnes, one ✠ ruleth well his awne house, one ✠ hath chyldren in subiectyon with all reuerence. For yf a man cãnot rule his awne house, howe shall he care for the congregacyon of God? he maye not be a ponge scoler, lest he swell and fall into the iudgement of the cuyll speaker. He must also haue a good reporte of them wbych are without, lest he fall into rebuke, and snare of the cuyll speaker.

B Lyke wyse must the mynysters be * honest, not double tonged, not geuẽ vnto moch wyne, nether gredy of fylthy lucre: but holdynge the mysterye of the fayth with a pure conscience. And let them fyrst be proued, and then let thẽ mynister so, that no man be able to reproue them.

*Actes.vi.a.

Euen so must theyr wyues be honest, not cuyll speakers: but sober and faythfull in all thynges. Let the Deacons be the husbandes of one wyfe, and such as rule theyr chyldren well, and their awne housholdes. For * they that mynister well, get them selues a good degree and greate lybertye in ✠ fayth, wbych is in Christ Iesu.

*mat.xxv.b

These thynges write I vnto the trustinge to come shortely vnto the: but and yf I tarie longe, that then thou mayst yet haue knowledge, howe thou ought est to behaue thy selfe in the house of God, wbych is the congregacyon of the lyuynge God, the pyllar & grounde of trueth. And without doute great is that mystery of godlynes: * God was shewed in the flesshe, was ☞ iustifyed in the spyrete, was sene amonge the Angels, was preached vnto the gentyls, was beleued on in the worlde, and receaued vp in glory.

*Iohn.i.b

☞

¶ The.iiij. Chapter.

¶ The prophecyed of the latter dayes, and exhorteth Timothe to be diligent in readynge of the holy scripture.

A THe spyrete speaketh euydently, that * in the latter tymes some shall ✠ departe from the fayth, and shall geue hede vnto spyrets of errour, and deuelysshe doctrines of them which speake false thorowe ypocrysye, & haue their cõsciẽces marked wt an hote yrõ, forbyddynge to mary, & cõmaũdynge to abstayne frõ meates * which God hath created to be receaued ✠ with geuynge thãckes, of them wbych beleue, & knowe the trueth. For * all the creatures of God are good, & nothynge to be refused, yf it be receaued with thãkesgeuynge. For it is sanctified by the worde of God & prayer. If thou put ✠ brethrẽ in remẽbrãce of these thynges thou shalt be a good mynyster of Iesu Christ * wbych hast bene norysshed vp in ✠ wordes of ✠ fayth & of good doctrine, wbych thou hast cõtinually followed. But * cast awaye vngostly and olde wyues fables.

A *Gene.i.b. ✠ 1.Tim.iii.d Actes.xvbii. *Gene.i.b. Eccli. xxxix.c Mar.vi.b. Roma.viii.c Titus.i.b * ii.tim.iii.b *i.Tim.i.d. ii. Tim.ii.c. Titus.iii.c.

Exercyse thy selfe rather vnto godlynes. For * bodely exercyse profyteth lytell: but godlynes is profytable vnto all thynges, as a thinge which hath promyses of ✠ lyfe that is nowe, & of the lyfe to come. This is a sure sayinge, & by all meanes worthy to be alowed. For therfore we bothe laboure & suffre rebuke, because we haue a stedfast hope in the lyuynge God, which is the sauioure of all men, specially of those that beleue. Soch thynges commaunde & teache. * Let no man despyse thy youth ✠ but be vnto thẽ that beleue, an ensample, in worde, in conuersacyõ, in loue, in spyrete, in fayth, in purenes.

B ✠ Colos.iii.b. *Titus.ii.c. ✠ Titus.ii.b i.Pet.b.a. ii. Timo.i.c.

Tyll I come, geue attendaũce to readynge, to exhortacyon, to doctrine. Despyse not the gyfte that is in the, wbych was geuen ✠ thorowe prophesye, with ✠ * layinge on of handes by ✠ auctorite of presthode. These thynges exercyse, and geue thy selfe vnto them, that it maye be sene, howe thou profytest in all thynges. Take hede vnto thy selfe, and vnto learnynge, and continue therin. For yf thou shalt so do, thou shalt saue thy selfe, & them that heare the.

C *Actes.vi.b. viii.c.viii.a. and.xix.a. ii.tim.i.b. ii. Timo.i.b.

¶ The.v. Chapter.

¶ She teacheth hym howe he shall behaue hym selfe in rebukinge of all degrees. An order concernynge wyddowes.

A REbuke not an elder, rygorously * but exhorte him as a father: the yõgermen, as brethren: the elder wemen, as mothers: the yonger as systers, wt all purenes. Honoure wyddowes, which are true wyddowes. If eny wyddow haue chyldren or nevews, let thẽ learne fyrst to rule their awne houses godly * & to recompense their elders. For ✠ is good & acceptable before God. She ✠ is a true * wyddowe & frõdelesse, putteth her trust in God, & cõtynueth in supplicacyons and prayers nyght & daye. But she ✠ lyueth in pleasure, is deed, euen yet alyue. And these thynges cõmaũde that they maye be without rebuke. But yf eny prouide not for her awne (& specially for them of her housholde) the same hath denyed the fayth, and is worse then an infydell.

*Leui.xix.a. Eccli. iii.b.c. *Luke.ii.f.

Let no

Let no wyddowe be chosen vnder threscore yere olde, & soch a one as was ỹ wyfe of one man, and well reported of men in good wor-kes: yf she haue brought vp chyldrē, * yf she haue lodged strangers, yf she haue washed
the saynctes fete, yf she haue ministred vn-
to them whych were in aduersytie, yf she ha ne bene contynually geuē vnto all maner of good worckes. The yonger wyddowes refuse. For whē they haue begōne to were wā tō agaynst Christ, they will mary, haupnge
damnacyon, because they haue cast a waye
their fyrst fayth. And also they learne to goo
from house to house ydle: yee not ydle onely,
but also tatlers and busybodyes, speakynge
thynges which are not comly.

I will therfore that the yonger wemen
* mary, to beare chyldrē, to guyde the house, and geue none occasyon to the aduersary to speake euyll. For many of them are all ready turned backe, and are gone after Satan. And yf eny man or woman that beleueth haue wyddowes, let thē mynyster vn-
to them, & let not the congregacyon be charged: that there maye be sufficyent for them
that are wyddowes in dede.

The elders that rule well, are worthy of double honoure, most specially they whych laboure in the worde & teachynge. For the scripture sayth: * thou shalt not mosel the mouth of ỹ ore that treadeth out the corne.
And * the labourer is worthy of his reward.
Agaynst an elder, receaue none accusacyon:
but * vnder two or three witnesses. ☞ Thē that synne, rebuke openly, that other also maye feare.

I testifye before God and the Lord Jesus Christ & the electe angels, that thou obserue
these thynges without hastynesse of iudge-ment, & do nothige parcially. * Laye hādes sodēly on no mā, nether be partaker of other mēs synnes: kepe thy selfe pure. Drynke no lenger water, but * vse a lytell wyne for thy stōmakes sake and thyne often dyseases.

Some mennes synnes are open before hā-
de, and go before vnto iudgemēt: & some mē-nes synnes folowe after. Lykewyse also good worckes are manifest before hāde, and they that are other wyse, cannot be hyd.

¶ The. vi. Chapter.

¶ The dutye of seruauntes towarde their masters. Agaynst soch as are not satisfied with the worde of God. Agaynst couetousnes. A good lesson for ryche men.

Let as many * seruaūtes as are vn-
der the yoke, counte their masters worthy of all honour, that ỹ name
of God & hys doctryne be not euyll spoken of. & they whych haue bele-uynge masters, despyse thē not because they are brethren: but rather do seruye, for as moch as they are beleuynge and beloued, &
partakers of the benefyte.

These thynges teach & exhorte. * If eny man folowe other doctrine, and enclyne not vnto the wholsome wordes of oure Lorde Jesu Christ, and to the doctrine which is accordynge to Godlynes, he is pufte vp, and knoweth nothynge: but wasteth hys brayn-
nes about questiōs and * stryfe, of wordes,
wherof sprynge enuye, stryfe, raylynges, euyll surmisynges, vayne disputacyon of mē
that haue corrupte myndes, & that are * robbed of the trueth: which thynke, that lucre is godlynes. From them that are soch separate thy selfe. Godlynes is greate ryches * If a man be content with that he hath. * For we brought nothynge into the worlde, nether
maye we cary any thynge out.

But when we haue fode and rayment we must ther with be content. They that wylbe ryche, fall into temptacyon and snares, & (of the deuyll) & into many folysshe & noysome lustes, which drounе men into perdicyon & de-structcyon. For couetousnes of money is the rote of all euyll: whych whyll some lusted after, they erred from the fayth, & tanglyd thē selues with many sorowes. But thou man of God, flye soch thynges. Folowe ryghtewesnes, godlynes, fayth, loue, pacīēce, meaknes. Fyght the good fyght of fayth. Laye hande on eternall lyfe, wher vnto thou art
also called, and hast professed a good profes-syon before many witnesses.

I geue ỹ charge in ỹ syght of God, * which quickneth all thynges, & before Jesu Christ (which vnder Poncius Pylate wytnessed a good witnessyng) ỹ thou kepe ỹ cōmaundē-
mēt, & be without spotte and vnrebukeable,
vntyll the appearynge of oure Lorde Jesus Christ, * which appearyng (in hys tyme) he shall shewe, that is blessed & myghty onely,
kynge of kynges, & Lorde of Lordes, whych onely hath immortalite, and dwelleth in the lyght that no man can attayne, * whom no man hath sene, nether can se, vnto whom be honoure and rule euerlastynge. Amen.

Charge thē which are ryche in this world,
that they be not hye mynded, ner * trust in vncertayne ryches, but in the lyuinge God (which geueth vs aboundantly all thynges to enioye thē) that they do good: that they be riche in good worckes: that they be redy toge
ne & gladly to distribute, * layng vp in store
for thē selues a good fundaciō against ỹ tyme
to come, ỹ they maye obtayne eternall lyfe.

O Timothe, saue that which ys geuen the
to kepe, and avoyde vngostly vanyties of voyces and oppositycons of science falsly so called: whych science whyle some professed,
they erred as concernynge the fayth. Grace
be with the. Amen.

¶ Sent from Laodicea, which is the cheffest cytie of Phrigia.

Pacatiana.

¶ The secõde Epistle of Maynet Paul the Apostle vnto Timothe.

¶ The fyrste Chapter.

¶ Paul exhorteth Timothe to stedfastnesse and pacyence in persecucyon, and to contynue in the doctryne that he had taught hym. & commendacyon of Onesyphorus.

PAul an Apostle of Jesus Christ, by the wyll of God, accordynge to the promes of lyfe which is in Christ Jesu.

To Timothe hys beloued sonne.

Grace mercy and peace from God the father, & from Jesu Christ our Lorde.

*Act.xvii.a. Roma.i.a. Philip. iii.a. I thanke God, *whom I serue from myne elders with pure conscience, that without ceasynge I make mencyon of the in my prayers nyght and daye, desyringe to se the, myndefull of thy teares: so that I am fylled with ioye, when I call to remembraunce the vnfayned fayth that is in the, which dwelt fyrst in thy graundmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunica: & I am assured that it dwelleth in the also.

*1.Tim.iii. & Rom.viii.c Wherfore I warne the that thou stere vp the gyfte of God which is in ꝑ * by the puttynge on of my handes. * For God hath not geue to vs the spryte of feare: but of power, * Roma.i.b. and of loue, and of sobrenes. * Be not thou therfore ashamed of the testimony of oure Lorde, nether be ashamed of me * whych am his presoner: but suffre thou aduersytie with the Gospell, accordynge to ꝑ power of God, *Titus.iii.b Ephes.i.a. which *saued vs, and called vs with an holy callynge, not accordynge to oure dedes, but accordynge to his awne purpose & grace, whych was geuen vs thorowe Christ Jesu (before the worlde beganne) but is nowe ¶ declared openly by ꝑ appearynge of oure sauyour Jesu Christ * whych hath put awaye *1.Cor.xv.a Heb.ii.a. deeth, and hath brought lyfe and immortalite vnto lyghte thorowe the Gospell, * where- 2 Roma.i.a. and.vi.c. vnto I am apoynted, a preacher & Apostle, 1. Timo.ii.b. and a teacher of the Gentyls: for the whych cause I also suffre these thynges. Neuertheles, I am not ashamed. For I knowe, and am sure, that he (in whom I haue put my trust) is able to kepe that whych I haue cõmitted to hys keppynge, agaynst that daye.

1.Timo.iiii.b Titus.ii.b 1.Pet.v.a. * Se that thou haue the ensample of the holsome wordes, whych thou hast heard of me with fayth and loue that is in Christ Jesu. That good thynge, whych was committed to thy keppynge, holde fast thorowe ꝑ holy goost, which dwelleth in vs. This ꝑ knowest, howe that all they which are in Asia, be turned from me: of whych sorte are Phigelus and Hermogenes. The Lorde geue mercye vnto the housholde of Onesyphorus for he ofte refreshed me, * and was not ashamed of my chayne: but when he was at Rome, he sought me out very diligently, & fonde me. The Lorde graunt vnto hym that he maye fynde mercye with the Lorde at that daye. And in howe many thynges he ministred vnto me at Ephesus, thou knowest very well. * Act.xix.c Roma.i.c.

¶ The.ij. Chapter.

¶ Lyke as in the fyrst Chapter, so here he exhorteth him to be constant in trouble, to suffre manfully, and to abyde fast in the wholsome doctryne of oure Lorde Jesus Christ.

THou therfore my sonne, be stronge in the grace (that is thorowe Christ Jesu) and in the thynges that thou hast heard of me by many wytnesses. The same commytte thou * to faythfull men, which shalbe apte to teach other also. Thou therfore suffre afflyccyons as a good soudier of Jesu Christ. No man that warreth, entagleth hym selfe wyth worldly busynes, and that because he maye please hym, whych hath chosen hym to be a soudier. And though a man stryue for a mastery, yet is he not crowned, except he stryue lawfully * The husbandman that laboureth, must fyrst receaue of the frutes. Consyder what I saye. The Lorde geue the vnderstandynge in all thynges. A *Titus.i.b. *1.cor.ix.c.

Remember that Jesus Christ * of the sede of Dauid, rose agayne from deeth accordyng to my Gospell, wherin I suffre trouble as an euyll doar, euen vnto bondes. But ꝑ worde of God was not bounde. Therfore * I suffre all thynges, for the electes sakes, that they myght also obtayne ꝑ saluacion, which is in Christ Jesu, with eternall glory. B *Mat.i.a. Roma.i.a. * Acte.ix.i.

It is a true sayinge * for yf we be dede wt hym, we shall also lyue wyth hym. & If we be pacient, we shall also raygne wyth hym. * If we denye hym, he also shall denye vs. If we beleue not, yet abydeth he faythfull. he cannot denye hym selfe. Of these thynges ¶ put them in remembraunce, and testifye before the Lorde, that they folowe no contencyous wordes: which are to no profet, but to the peruertynge of the hearers. *Roma.vi.b 2 Tim.ii.c *Luke.xii.b 2 Roma.iii.a Heb.xviii.c.

Study to shewe thy selfe laudable vnto God, a workman ꝑ needeth not to be a shamed distributynge the worde of trueth iustly. * As for vngodlye vanyties of voyces, passe thou ouer them. For they will encrease vnto greater vngodlynes, & their wordes shall fret euen as doeth the disease of a cancre: of whose nombre is. * Hymeneus and Philetus, whych (as concernynge the trueth) haue erred, sayinge, that the resurrecyon is past all redy, and do destroye the fayth of some. *1.Tim.i.b. *1.Tim.i.b. and.vi.b.

But ꝑ sure grounde of God standeth still, and hath this seale: * ꝑ Lorde knoweth them that are *Iohn.x.i

D that are hys. And let euery man that calleth on the name of Chryst, departe from iniquite. Notwythstandynge * in a greate house are not onely vesseles of golde and of syluer: but also of wood and of erthe: some for honoure, and some vnto dyshonoure. Yf a man therfore pourge him selfe from suchmen, he shalbe a vessell sanctifyed vnto honoure, mete for the vses of the Lorde, and prepared vnto all good workes. *Rom.ix.b.

Lustes of youth auoyde, but folowe ryghtwesnes, fayth, loue and peace, with the that call on the Lorde with a pure herte. * Folysshe and vnlearned questiõs put from the, knowinge, þ they do but gendre stryfe. The seruaunt of the Lorde must not stryue: but be gentle vnto all men * apte to teach, and one that can suffre the euyll with meaknes, and can * informe them that resyst (the trueth) yf that God at eny tyme wyll geue them repentaunce, for to knowe þ trueth: and that they maye come to them selues agayne out of the snare of the deuyll, which are holden captiue of hym at hys wyll. 2.Tim.i.a. and.ii.b. 2.Tim.iij.a Gala.vi.a.

C The.iij.Chapter.

C She prophecyeth of the parleous tymes, setteth oute hypocrytes. Persecucyon for the Gospell.

A Thys knowe, that * in the last dayes shall come parelous tymes. For men shalbe louers of their awne selues, coueteous, boasters, proude, cursed speakers, dysobedient to fathers and mothers, vnthankfull, vngodly, vnkynde, trucebreakers, falsecaccusers, riatours, fearce, despisers of them which are good, traytours, heady, hye mynded, gredy vpon volupteousnes more then the louers of God, hauynge a symilitude of godlynesse, but haue denyed the power therof: and fle from such abhorre. For of thys sorte are they, * which entre into houses, and bringe into bondage wemen laden wt synne, which wemen are led with diuers lustes, euer learnynge, and neuer able to come vnto the knowledge of the trueth. A Rom.xv.f. i.Tim.iiii.a. i.Pet.ii.a. Iude.i.c. B Titus.i.c. C Exo.vii.b.

* As Iannes & Iambres withstode Moses, euē so do these also resyst the trueth: men they are of corrupt myndes, and lewde as cõcernynge the fayth: but they shall preuayle no lenger. For their madnes shalbe vttered vnto all men euen as theirs was. But thou hast sene the experiẽce of my doctryne, fastyõ of lyuynge, purpose, fayth, longe sufferynge, loue, pacience, persecucyons, and afflictyons whych happened vnto me at Antioche, at Iconium, and at Lystra: which persecutiõs I suffered pacyently. And from them all, the Lorde delyuered me. Yee, and * all they that wyll lyue godly in Chryst Jesu shall suffre persecutyon. But the euyll men & deceauers shall wexe worse and worse, whill they deceaue and are deceaued them selues. * Act.xiiii.d. Pla.xxxiiii.b Prou.xxiiij.b Eccle.ii.a.

But contynue thou in the thynges which thou hast learned, which also were committed vnto the, knowinge of whom thou hast learned them, and for as moch also as * of a chylde thou hast knowen the holy scriptures which are able to make the learned vnto salnacyon thorow the fayth which is in Chryst Jesu. * All scripture geuen by inspiracyon of God, is profitable to teache, to improue, to amende and to instruct in ryghteousnes, that þ man of God maye be perfecte & prepared vnto all good workes. D *i. Tim.iii.a. *ii.Pet.i.b.

C The.iiij.Chapter.

C She exhorteth Timothe to be feruent in þ worde & to suffre aduersite, maketh mencion of his awne death, & byddeth Timothe come vnto hym.

I Testifye therfore before God, & before þ Lord Jesu Chryst, which shall iudge the quicke and dead at hys apearinge in hys kyngdom, preache thou þ worde, be feruẽt, in season & oute of season. Improue, rebuke, exhorte wt all longe sufferynge and doctryne. For þ tyme will come, whẽ they shall not suffer wholsome doctryne: but after their awne lustes shall they (whose eares ytche) gett them an heepe of teachers, and shall withdraw their eares from the trueth, and shalbe turned vnto fables. But watche thou in all thynges, suffre afflictyons, do the worke thorow lyke an Euangelist, fulfyll thyne office vnto the vtmost. (Be sober) A

For I am now ready to be offered, and the tyme of my departynge, is at hande. I haue foughte a good fyght, I haue fulfylled my course, I haue kept the fayth. From hẽce forth ther is layde vp for me * a crowne of ryghteousnes, which the Lorde (that is a ryghteous iudge) shall geue me at that daye: not to me onely, but vnto all them also that loue his cõminge. Do thy dylygẽce that thou mayest come shortly vnto me. B *i. Cor.ix.b. i.Pet.v.b.

For Demas hath forsaken me, and loueth thys present worlde, and is departed vnto Thessalonica. Cresces is gone to Galacia, Tytus vnto Dalmacia. Onely Lucas is with me. Take * Marke, and bringe him with the, for he is profitable vnto me for the mynystracyon. And Tychycus haue I sent to Ephesus. The cloke that I lefte at Troada with Carpus, (when thou cõmest) bringe with the, and the bokes, but specially the partchement. Alexander the coppersmyth dyd me moch euyll: the Lorde reward hym accordynge to hys dedes, of whom be thou ware also. For he hath greatly wythstande oure wordes. C *Colo.iiij.a

At my fyrst answerynge, no man assisted me, but all forsoke me. I praye God, that it maye not be layde to their charges: ✠ Notwythstandynge the Lorde assysted me, and strengthed me, that by me the preachynge shulde be fulfylled to the vtmost, and that all ꝑ Gentyls shulde heare. And I was delyuered out of the mouth of the lyon. And the Lorde shall delyuer me from all euyll doynge, and shall kepe me vnto hys heuenly kyngdom. To whom be prayse for euer and euer. Amen. ℣

D

*2. Tim.iv.a. Rom.xvi.a. 2. Tim.i.d. 2 Acts.xx.b. and.xxi.f.

Salute Prisca and * Aquila ꝙ the housholde of * Onesiphorus, Erastus abode at Corinthum. * Trophimus haue I lefte at Myletum sycke. Do thy diligẽce, that thou mayest come before winter. Eubolus gretith the, and so doth Pudens, and Linus, Claudia, and all the brethre. The Lorde Jesus Christ be with thy spirite. Grace be with you. Amen.

¶ The seconde Epistle vnto Tymothe, was wryten from Rome, when Paul was presented the seconde tyme vnto the Emperoure Nero.

¶ The Epistle of Saynct Paul vnto Tytus.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

¶ Paul exhorteth Titus to ordeyne prestes or bysshoppes in euery cyte. ꝙ declareth what maner of men they ought to be ꝑ are chosen to that office. ꝙ chargeth Titus to rebuke soch as withstande the Gospell.

A

PAul the seruaũt of God, and apostle of Jesu Christ accordinge to the fayth of goddes electe, and accordynge to the knowledge of the trueth, which is after godlynes in ꝑ hope of eternall lyfe, which

*Rom.xvi.a. God * (that cannot lye) promysed before the worlde beganne: but hath opened his worde at the tyme appoynted thorowe preachinge, which is commytted vnto me, accordynge to the commaundement of God oure saue-

*1. cor.xvi.c. oure. To * Titus hys naturall sonne after the commen fayth.

1. Tim.i.a. 2. Tim.i.a. ✠ Grace mercy ꝙ peace from God ꝑ father ꝙ from the Lorde Jesu Christ oure sauioure.

B

For this cause left I the in Creta, ꝑ thou shuldest refourme the thynges that are vnperfect, ꝙ shuldest * ordeyne elders in euery

*1. Tim.iii.a. cyte, as I had appoynted the. If eny be blamelesse, the husband of one wyfe, hauynge faythfull childre, which are not slaundred of

*1. Tim.iii.a ryote, neither are disobedient. * For a bysshope must be blamelesse, as ꝑ stewarde of God:

*1. Tim.i.b. Ephe.v.b. not stubborne, not angrye * not geuen to moch wyne, no fyghter, not geuen to fylthy lucre: but a herer of hospitalite, one that loueth goodnes ✠ (prudent) sobre, ryghteous, C godly, temperat, and such as cleueth vnto ꝑ true worde of doctryne, that he maye be able also to exhorte by wholsome learnynge, ꝙ to improue them that saye agaynst it.

For ther are many vnruely and talkers C of vanite, and disceauers of myndes, specially they that are of the circumcision, whose

*2. Tim.iii.b. mouthes must be stopped * which peruert whole houses, teachinge thinges which they ought not, because of fylthy lucre. One of the selues (euen a prophete of their awne) sayde: The Cretyãs are all wayes lyars, euyll beastes, slowe belyes. Thys wytnes is true: wherfore rebuke thou thẽ sharply, that they maye be sounde in ꝑ fayth, not takynge hede to Jewes fables and commaundementes of D men that turne awaye the trueth. * Vnto ꝑ

*Rom.xiiii.a. pure, are all thynges pure: but vnto thẽ that are defyled and vnbeleuynge, is nothynge pure: but euen the mynde and conscience of them is defyled. They confesse ꝑ they knowe God: but with the dedes they denye hym seinge they are abhominable and disobedient, ꝙ vnapte vnto euery good worcke.

¶ The .ii. Chapter.

¶ He telleth hym howe he shall teache all degrees to behaue them selues.

BUt speake thou the thinges which A become wholsome learning. That the elder men be sober sage, discrete, sounde in the fayth, in loue, in

*1. Tim.iii. patyence: the elder * wemen lykewyse, that they be in soche rayment as becommeth holynes, not beynge false accusars, not geuen to moch wyne, but that they teache honest thynges, to make the younge wemen sobre mynded, to loue their husbandes, to loue their chyldren, to be discrete, chast, huswyfly good, obedient vnto their husbandes, that the worde of God be not euyll spoken of. Yonge men lykewyse exhorte, that they be sobre mynded.

*In all thinges shewe thy selfe an ensam- B *1. Pet.iii.b. ple of good worckes in ꝑ doctryne, with hone- 1. Pet.b.a. stie, grauytie, ꝙ with the wholsome worde which cãnot be rebuked: that he which with standeth, maye be ashamed, hauinge no euell thynge to saye of you. * Exhort seruauntes, *Ephe.vi.a. 1. Pet.ii.d. to be obedient vnto their awne maisters, ꝙ to Colo.iii.b. please thẽ in all thiges, not answering agayn- 1. Tim.vi.a. ne, nether to be pickers, but ꝑ they shewe all good faythfulnes, ꝑ they maye do worshippe to the doctrine of God oure sauioure in all thynges. ✠ For the grace of God, ꝑ bryngeth saluacyon vnto all men, hath appeared and teacheth vs ꝑ we shulde denye vngodlynes and * worldy lustes, ꝙ that we shulde *1. Johan.ii. lyue soberly, and ryghteously, and godly in thys thys presēt worlde, lokynge for ỹ blessed hope & appearinge of the glory of the greate God, & of oure sauioure Jesu Christ, whych *gaue him selfe for vs, to redeme vs from all vnrygh tewesnes, and *to pourge vs a peculiar people vnto hym selfe * feruently geuen vnto good workes. These thynges speake, and exhorte, ¶ and rebuke, with all feruentnes of commaundynge. * Se that no man despyse the.

*Rom.viij.a Gala.i.a. 2 Cor.v.b.c. *Ephe.v.b.

*1.Tim.iij.b.

¶ The iij. Chapter.

¶ Of obedience to such as be in auctorite. He warneth Titus to beware of foolishe and vnprofitable questyons.

Warne them * that they submytte them selues to rule & power: that they obey the officers: that they be ready vnto euery good worke: ỹ they speake euyll of no mā: that they be no fyghters, but gentle, shewynge all mekenes vnto all men. For we oure selues also were somtyme foolyshe dysobedient, deceaued, seruynge diuerse lustes and voluptuousnes, lyuynge in malicyousnes and enuye, full of hate, hatynge one another.

*Rom.xiij.a 1.Pet.ij.c.

A

B

¶ But after that the kyndnes and loue of oure sauioure God to man warde appeared, * not by ỹ dedes of righteousnes which we wrought, but accordynge to hys mercye he saued vs * by the fountayne of the newe byrth, and renuynge of the holy goost, which he shedd on vs abountdātly, thorowe Jesus Christ oure sauioure, that we iustifyed * by hys grace, shulde be made heyres accordinge to ỹ hope of eternall lyfe, ¶ Thys is a true sayinge.

*1.Tim.i.b. *Iohn.iij.a. *Peter.i.b. *Ephe.ij.b.

C

Of these thynges I wyll that thou certifye, that they which beleue in God, myght be diligent to go forwarde in good workes. For these thynges are good and profitable vnto men, * Folyshe questyons, and genealogies, and braulynge, thorowe stryuinges aboute ỹ lawe, auoyde: for they are vnprofytable and superfluous. A man that is an auctor of sectes, * after the fyrst & the seconde admonycion auoyde: knowynge, that he (that is soche) is peruerted & synneth euen damned by hym selfe.

1.Tim.i.a 2.Tim.ij.c. *Rom.xvij.c

D

When I shall sende Artemas vnto ỹ, or Tychicus, be diligent, to come to me vnto Nichopolis: For I haue determined there to winter, Bringe zenas the lawear & Apollos on their iorney diligently, that nothynge be lackynge vnto the. And let oures also learne to excell in good workes, as farforth as nede requyreth, that they be not vnfrutefull. All ỹ are with me, salute the. Greete the ỹ loue vs in the fayth. Grace be with you all. Amen.

¶ Wrytten from Nychopolis a cytie of Macedonia.

¶ The Epistle of Paul vnto Philemon.

¶ She exhorteth to beare of the fayth and loue of Philemon, whom he desyreth to forgeue hys seruaunt Onesimus, and louyngly to receaue hym agayne.

PAul ỹ prisoner of Jesu christ and brother Timothe.

A

Unto Philemon the beloued, and oure helper, and to the beloued Appia, and to Archippus oure felowe souldier and to the congregacyon that is of thy house.

*Grace be vnto you and peace, from God oure father, & from the Lorde Jesus Christ.

*1.Cor.i.a. 2.Cor.i.a. Gala.i.a.

I thanke my God, makynge mencyon allwayes of the in my prayers, whē I heare of thy loue & fayth, which thou hast towarde the Lorde Jesu, and towarde all sayncte, so that the felushyppe of thy fayth is frutefull in ỹ knowledge of euery good *(worke) which is in you towarde Jesus Christ. For we haue great ioye and consolacyon in thy loue: because that by the (brother) ỹ sayntes herte are comforted.

B

*is

Wherfore, though I myght be bold in Christ to commaunde the, that which was thy dewtye to do: yet for loues sake I rather beseche the, though I be as I am, euen olde Paul, & nowe a prisoner of Jesu Christ. I beseche the for my sonne * Onesimus whom I haue begotten in my bōdes, (which in tyme passed was to ỹ vnprofitable but nowe profitable both to the & to me) whō I haue sent home agayne. Thou therfore receyue hym, that is to saye myne awne bowels, whom I wolde fayne haue retayned with me, ỹ in thy steade he myght haue mynystred vnto me in the bōdes of the Gospell. Neuertheles, without thy mynde wolde I do nothinge, that the good whych thou doest, shulde not be as it were of necessite, but wyllyngly.

*Colos.iij.b

C

For happly he therfore departed for a season, that thou shuldest receaue hym for euer, not nowe as a seruaūt: but aboue a seruaūt, euen a brother beloued, specially to me: but howe moche more vnto the, both in ỹ flesshe, and also in the Lorde? If thou coūt me therfore a felowe, receaue him as my selfe. If he haue done the anye hurt, or oweth ỹ ought, that laye to my charge. (I Paul haue writtē it with myne awne hande) I wyll recōpence it. So that I do not saye to the, howe that thou owest vnto me euen thyne awne selfe also. Euē so brother, let me enioye the in the Lorde: Comforte my bowels in the Lorde. Trustynge in thyne obediēce, I wrote vnto the, knowynge, that thou wylt also do more

D

then

then I saye. Moreouer, prepare me lodginge for I trust that thorowe the helpe of youre prayers, I shalbe geuen vnto you. Ther salute the, Epaphras my felowe preloner in Christ Jesu, Marcus, Aristarcus, Demas, Lucas, my helpers. The grace of oure Lorde Jesu Christ be with your spirite: Amen.

¶ Sent from Rome by Onesimus a seruaunt.

¶ The Epistle of Saynct Paul the Apostle vnto the Hebrues.

¶ The fyrst Chapter. ✠

¶ Howe God dealt louyngly wyth them of ỹ olde tyme in sendynge them hys Prophetes, but moch more merely hath he shewed hy in ỹ he sent hy hys awne sonne. Of the moost excellent glory of Jesus Christ, which in all thynges is lyke to his father.

1 GOd in time past diuersly and many wayes, spake vnto the fathers by Prophetes: but in these last dayes he hath spoken vnto vs by his awne sõne, whõ he hath made heyre of all thynges * by whõ also he made the worlde. * Which (sonne) beinge ỹ bryghtnes of his glory, and ỹ very ymage of his substance rulynge all thynges with ỹ worde of hys power, hath by hys awne person pourged oure synnes, and sytteth on the ryght hande of the maiestye on hye: beynge so moch more excellent then the angels, as he hath by inherytaunce obteyned a more excellent name then they.

* Colo.i.c. Hebrue.i.a.

5 For vnto which of the angels sayde he at eny tyme: * Thou art my sonne, thys daye haue I begotten the? And agayne * I wyll be hys father, and he shalbe my sonne. And agayne, when he bringeth in the fyrst begotten sonne into the worlde, he sayth. And * let all the angels of God worshippe hym. And vnto the angels he sayth. † he maketh hys angels spirites, and hys ministres a flamme of fyre. But vnto the sonne he sayth: * Thy seate (O God) shalbe for euer and euer The scepter of thy kyngdome is a ryght scepter. Thou hast loued ryghteousnes, and hated iniquyte. Wherfore, God, euē thy God hath anoynted the with ỹ oyle of gladnes aboue thy felowes.

* Actor.xiii.c. Hebr.v.a. Hebr.vii.b.

* Psa.xcvi.a

‡ Psal.ciiii.a

* Psal.xlv.b.

* And thou Lorde in ỹ begynnynge hast layde the foũdacyon of the erth. And the heauens are the worckes of thy handes. They shall perysshe, but thou endurest. But they all shall weare olde also as doth a garment: & as a vesture shalt thou chaunge them, & they shalbe chaunged. But thou art euen the same and thy yeres shall not fayle. ¶ Vnto whych of the angels sayde he at eny tyme: * Syt on my ryght hande, tyll I make thyne enemyes thy foote stole? Are they not all mynystrynge spirites, that are sent to mynyster, for theyr sakes whych shalbe heyres of saluacyon?

* Psal.cx.a. Mat.xxii.b. 1.Cor.xv.b.

¶ The .ii. Chapter.

¶ He exhorteth vs to be obedyent vnto the newe lawe which Christ hath geuen vs and not to be offended at the infirmyte and lowe degree of Christ, because it was necessary ỹ for oure sakes he shulde take soch an humble state vpõ hym, that he myght be lyke vnto hys brethren.

THerfore, we ought to geue the more ernest hede to the thynges that are spoken vnto vs, lest at any tyme we perysshe. For yf ỹ worde whych was spokē by angells was stedfast: And euery transgression and disobedience receaued a iust recompence of rewarde, howe shall we escape, yf we despyse so great saluacyõ, which at the fyrst began to be preached of the Lorde hym selfe, and was cõfirmed vnto vs warde, by them ỹ hearde it: * God bearynge wytnes therto, both with synges & wonders also & with diuers myracles, & gyftes of the holy goost, accordynge to hys awne wyll. A

* Mar.xvi.

For vnto the angels hath he not subdued the worlde to come, wherof we speake, but one in a certayne place wytnessed, sayinge, * What is man, that thou art myndfull of hym. Or the sonne of man, that thou visitest hym? Thou madest hym a lytle lower then the angels: thou hast crowned hym with honour & glory, and * hast set hym aboue the workes of thy handes. Thou hast put all thynges in subiectyõ vnder hys fete. In ỹ he put all thynges vnder him, he left nothynge that is not put vnder him. Neuertheles, we se not yet all thynges subdued vnto him: but him that was made lesse then the angels, we se that it was Jesus, which is crowned with glory and honour for ỹ sofferynge of death: that he by the grace of God, shulde tast of deeth for all men. B

* Psal.viii.a. and. cxliii.c

* Psal.viii. 1.Cor.xv.b.

For it became him, for whom are all thinges and by whom are all thynges (after that he had brought many sonnes vnto glory) that he shulde make the Lorde of their saluacyon perfecte thorowe afflictyons. For both he that sanctifyeth and they which are sanctifyed, are all of one. For whych cause sake he is not ashamed to call them brethren, sayinge: I wyll declare thy name vnto my * brethren, in the myddes of the congregacyon wyll I prayse the. And agayne: I wyll put my trust in hym. And agayne: beholde, here am I and the chyldren whom God hath geuen me. C

* Psal.xxii. Johan.xx.b.

For as moch then as the chyldren are partetakers of flesshe and blond, he also him selfe lyke-

De lyke wyse toke parte with them that (thorowe deeth) he myght expell hym that had lordshyppe ouer deeth, that is to saye the deuyll, and that he myght delyuer them, which thorowe feare of deeth were all there lyfe tyme subdued vnto bondage. For he in no place taketh on hym the angels: but the seed of Abraham taketh he on hym. Wherfore, in all thynges it became hym to be made lyke vnto his brethren, that he myght be mercyfull, and a faythfull hye Preste in thynges concernynge God, for to pourge the peoples synnes. For in that it fortuned hym selfe to be tempted, he is able to succour the also that are tempted.

¶ The.iij. Chapter.

¶ He requyreth vs to be obedyent vnto the worde of Christ, which is more worth then ye ceremoniall lawe of Moses. The punyshement of such as will neder harden their hartes.

Therfore holy brethren, partakers of the celestiall callynge cõsyder the ambassadour and hye preste of oure profession Christ Jesus, howe that he is faythfull vnto hym that put hym in the office, euẽ as was Moses in all his house. For loke howe moche honoure he (that hath buylded a house) hath more then the house it selfe, so moch honour is he counted worthy of more then Moses. For euery house is buylded of some mã. But he that ordeyned all thynges, is God. And Moses verely was faythfull in all hys house, as a mynyster, to beare witnes of those thynges which were to be spoken afterwarde. But Christ as a sonne, hath rule ouer the house, whose house are we, yf we holde fast the cõfydence and * the reioysynge of that hope, vnto the ende. *Rom.v.a.

Wherfore (as the holy goost sayth:) to daye yf ye wyll heare hys voyce, harden not poure hertes, as in the prouokynge, in the daye of temptacyon in the wyldernes, where poure fathers tempted me, proued me, and sawe my workes.xl.yeare. Wherfore I was greued with ye generacyon, and sayde: They do all waye erre in their hertes: they verely haue not knowen my wayes, so yt I sware in my wrath: they shall not enter into my rest. Take hede brethrẽ, lest at anye tyme ther be in anye of you a frowarde herte subiect vnto vnbeleue, that he shulde departe frõ the lyuynge God: but exhorte ye one another dayly, while it is called to daye: lest eny of you were harde harted thorowe the deceytfulnesse of synne.

We are made partetakers of Christ, yf we kepe sure (vnto the ende) the begynnynge of the substãce, so longe as it is sayde: to daye yf ye wyll heare hys voyce, harden not youre hertes, as in the prouokynge, for some when they hearde dyd prouoke: howe be it not all ye came out of Egypt by Moses: But with whom was he displeased.xl.yeares? Was he not displeased with them that had synned, whose carkases were ouerthrowen in the desert? To whom sware he that they shulde not enter into his rest, but vnto them that were not obedient? And we se, that they coulde not enter in, because of vnbeleue:

¶ The.iiij. Chapter.

¶ The Sabboth or rest of the Christen: punyshemẽt of vnbeleuers: the nature of ye worde of God.

Let vs feare therfore, lest eny of you (forsakynge ye promes of entringe into hys rest) shulde seme at anye tyme to haue bene disapoynted. For vnto vs is it declared, as well as vnto them. But it profyted not thẽ, that they hearde the worde: because they whych hearde it, coupled it not with fayth. For we which haue beleued, do enter into his rest, as he sayde. Euẽ as I haue swornе in my wrath: they shall not enter into my rest. And that spake he verely longe after that the workes were made, and the foundacyon of the worlde layde. For he spake in a certayne place of the seuenth daye, on thys wyse. * And God dyd rest the seuenth daye from all hys workes. And in thys place agayne: They shall not enter into my rest. *Gen.ij.a.

Seynge therfore it foloweth, that some must enter therinto, and they (to whom it was fyrst preached) entred not therin for vnbeleues sake, he apoynteth a certayne daye after so longe a tyme sayinge in Dauid (as it is rehearsed) this daye yf ye wyll heare hys voyce, harden not youre hertes. For yf Josue had geuẽ them rest, then wolde he not afterwarde haue spoken of another daye. There remayneth therfore yet a rest to the people of God. For he that is entred into hys rest hath ceased also from his awne workes, as God dyd from his.

Let vs study therfore to entre into that rest, lest eny man fall after the same ensample of vnbeleue. For the worde of God is quycke, and myghty in operacion, and sharper then eny two edged swearde: & entreth through, euen vnto the diuidynge a sonder of the soule and the spyrete, and of the ioyntes and the marye: and is a discerner of ye thoughtes and of the intentes of the herte: nether is ther eny creature that is not manifest in the syght of him: But all thinges are naked and open vnto the eyes of him, of whom we speake.

Seynge then, that we haue a great hye preste which is entred into heauen (euen Jesus the sonne of God) let vs holde the profession. (of oure hope) For we haue not an hye preste, which cannot haue cõpassyon on oure infirmities: but * was in all poyntes tempted, lyke as we are: but yet with out synne. *Phil.ij.a.

Let vs therfore go boldely vnto the * seate of grace, *Ebr.xij.b.

of grace, that we maye obtayne mercy, and fynde grace to helpe in tyme of nede.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

¶ Christ is ours hye preste, and stode of grace, and more excellent then ꝑ hye prestes of the olde lawe.

A FOr euery hye preste that is taken from amonge men, is ordeyned for men, in thynges pertaynynge to God * to offer gyftes and sacrifyces for synne, which
* Leui.ix.b. can haue compassion on the ignorannt, and on thē that erre out of the waye, for as moch as he him selfe also is compassed with infirmitie. And for the same infirmities sake he is bounde to offer for synnes, as well for him selfe, as for the people. And no man taketh honour vnto him selfe, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron.

B Euē so Christ also glorified not him selfe, to be made the hye preste: but he that sayde vnto him, * thou art my sonne, this daye
* Psal.ij.b. Actu.xiij.c. Hebr.i.b. haue I begoten the, glorifyed him. As he
* Psal.cx.b. sayeth also in another place: * thou art a Preste for euer after the order of Melchisedech ¶ which in ꝑ dayes of his flesshe, whan he had offered vp prayers and supplicacions, with stronge crienge and teares (vnto him that was able to saue him from deeth) and was hearde because of hys reuerence, though 28 he were ꝑ sonne (of God) yet learned he obedience, by those thynges which he suffered: & he beynge perfecte, was the cause of eternall saluacion vnto all thē that obeyed him: and is called of God an hye Preest, after the order of Melchisedech.

C Wherof we wolde speake many thinges but they are harde to be vttered: seynge ye are dull of hearinge. For whē as cōcernynge the tyme, ye ought to be teachers, yet haue ye nede agayne, that we teache you the fyrst principles of the worde of God: and are become ſ such as ſ haue nede of * mylke: and
* 1. Cor.iij.a. not of stronge meate: for euery man that is fed with mylke, is inexperte in the worde of ryghteousnes. For he is but a babe. But stronge meate belongeth to them that are perfecte euen those, which (by reason of vse) haue their wittes exercised to discerne both good and euyll.

¶ The. vj. Chapter.

¶ He goeth forth with the thynge that he began in the latter ende of ꝑ fyfte chapter, and exhorteth them not to fayne, but to be stedfast & pacyent: for so moch as God is sure in hys promyse.

A Wherfore leauynge ꝑ doctryne that pertaynyth to the begynnynge of Christen men, let vs go forth vnto perfection, not layenge agayne the foundacyon of repentaunce frō deed workes and of fayth towarde God, of baptysynges, of doctryne, and of layinge on of handes, and of resurrecyon from deeth, and of eternall iudgement. And so wyll we do * If God permytte. ☞ For it can not be ☜ that they which were once lyghted, and haue * Act.xiij.b. and.xvij.c. tasted of the heauenly gyfte, & were become partakers of the holy goost, and haue tasted of the good worde of God, and of the power of the worlde to come: * yf they fall awaye * Mat.xij.b. 6. Pet.ij.b. Hebr.x.b. (and as cōcernynge them selues crucifye the sonne of God a fresshe, and make a mocke of him) that they shulde be renued agayne by repentaunce.

For the erth which dryncketh in ꝑ rayne B that cōmeth oft vpon it, and bringeth forth herbes mete for them that dresse it, receaueth blessinge of God. But that grounde which beareth thornes and bryars, is reproued, and is nye vnto cursynge: whose ende is to be burned. Neuertheles (deare frendes) we trust to se better of you, and thynges which accōpany saluacion, though we thus speake. C For God is not vnrygh teous * ꝑ he shulde * Mat.xv.c. forget youre worke and labour that proceedeth of loue, which loue ye shewe in his name, which haue ministred vnto the sayntes, and yet minister. Yee, and we desyre, ꝑ euery one of you shewe the same diligence, to the full stablisshinge of hope, euen vnto ꝑ ende, that ye fayne not, but be folowers of them, which thorowe fayth and pacience receaue the enheritaunce of the promyse.

For when God made promes to Abrahā Gen.xxij.c. because he had none greater to sweare by * he sware by him selfe, sayinge: Surely I will blesse the, and multiplie the in dede. And so after that he had taried pacyently, he enioyed the promes. For men verely sweare by hym D that is greater then them selues, and * an * Exo.xxij.c. othe to confyrme the thynge, is to them an ende of all stryfe. So God wyllinge very aboundantly to shewe vnto the heyres of promes, the stablenes of his counsayl, added an oth: that by two immutable thynges (in whych it was vnpossible that God shulde lye) we myghe haue a stronge consolacyon, which hitherto haue fled, for to holde fast the hope that is set before vs, whych hope we holde as an ancre of the soule both sure and stedfast, whych hope also entreth in, into those thynges which are with in the vayle, where the fore runner is for vs entred, euen Iesus, that is made an * hye preste for euer, * Hebr.vij.a after the order of Melchisedech.

¶ The. vij. Chapter.

¶ He cōpareth the prestehode of Christ vnto Melchisedech, but to be farre more excellent.

A This Melchisedech kynge of * Sa- A lem (which beinge preste of ꝑ most * Gen.xiiij.b hye God, met Abraham, as he returned agayne from the slaughter of the kynges and blessed him: to whom also Abraham gaue tythes of all thynges) fyrst is called by interpretacion kynge of ryghteousnes: after that, kynge of Salem (that is to saye, to saye, kynge of peace) wythout father

wythout mother, wythout kynne, & hath neither begynnynge of dayes, nether yet ende
of lyfe: but is lykened vnto the sonne of God
and contynueth a preste for euer. Consyder what a man this was, vnto whom also the patriarke Abrahā gaue tythes of the spoy-
*Gen.xxviij.b les. And verely * those chyldren of Leuy, i.Mat.xxiij.b which receaue the office of the prestes, haue
a commaundement to take (accordinge to ꝑ lawe) tythes of the people, that is to saye, of their brethren, yee thongh they spronge out of the loynes of Abraham. But he whose kynred is not counted amonge them, receaued tythes of Abraham, ād blessed him that had the promises. And no man denyeth, but that he which is lesse, receaueth blessynge of him which is greater. And here mē that dye, receaue tythes. But there he receaueth ty-thes, of whō it is wytnessed, that he lyueth.
And to saye the trueth, Leuy hym selfe also which vseth to receaue tythes payed tythes
in Abraham. For he was yet in the loynes of hys father whan Melchisedech met Abraham.

*Roma.vi.c. * If now therfore perfeccion came by the Galat.iii.c. preshod of ꝑ Leuytes (for vnder that preshod the people receaued the lawe) what ne-
ded it furthermore, that another preste shuld
ryse to be called after the order of Melchise-dech, and not after the order of Aaron? For yf the preshod be translated, then of necessitie must the lawe be translated also.

For he of whom these thynges are spokē
pertayne vnto another trybe, of whom ne-*Matth.i.a. uer man serued at the aultare. For it is evident that oure Lorde spronge * of the trybe
C of Juda, of whych trybe spake Moses no-thinge concerninge preshod. And it is yet a more euident thynge, yf after the similitude
of Melchisedech there aryse another preste,
wbych is not made after the lawe of ꝑ car-nall commaundement: but after ꝑ power of ꝑ endlesse lyfe. (For after thys maner doth *Psal.cx.b he testifie * thou art a preste for euer, after the Hebr.viii.c. order of Melchisedech) ☞ Then ꝑ cōmaun-demēt that went afore, is disanulled, because of weaknes and vnprofytablenes. For
*Rom.viii.a. * the lawe brought not thynge to perfeccion:
Galat.iii.c. but was an introduccyō to a better hope, by ꝑ whych we drawe nye vnto God. And therfore is it a better hope, because ꝑ thing was not done without an othe. For those prestes were made without an othe, but thys preste
*Psal.cx.a. with an othe, by hym that sayde vnto hym.
* The Lorde sware, and wyll not repent:
Thou art a preste for euer after the order of Melchisedech. And for that cause was Jesꝰ
a stablysher of a better testament.

And amonge them many were made prestes, because they were not suffred to endure
by the reason of deeth. But this man (because he edureth euer (hath an euerlastēg presth-hode) Wherfore, he is able also euer to saue
them to the vttemost, that come vnto God
by him, seynge he euer lyueth * to make in- *1.Tim.ii.a. tercession for vs. 1.Joha.ii.a.

For soch an hye Preste it became vs to haue,
which is holy, harmlesse, vndefiled, separate frō synners, made hyer then heauen. Which nedeth not dayly (as yōder hye prestes) * to *Leuit.ix.b.
offer vp sacrifice. First for his awne synnes
and then for ꝑ peoples synnes. For that dyd
he once, when he offered vp hym selfe. * For ꝑ *Hebr.v.a.
lawe maketh men prestes, which haue infirmitie: but the worde of ꝑ oth that came sence the lawe, maketh ꝑ sonne preste, whych is perfecte for euermore.

C The.viii. Chapter.

C The office of Christ is more worthy then the prestes office of the olde lawe, whyche was vnperfecte, and therfore abrogate.

Of the thynges which we haue spo- A ken, thys is the pyth: that * we ha- *Hebr.vi.b
ue soch an hye preste as sytteth on and.x.c.
the ryght hande of the seate of ma-iestye in heauen, and is a mynyster of holy thynges, and of the true tabernacle, whych
God pyght, and not man. For euery hye preste is ordeyned to offer gyftes and sacrifices: wherfore it is of necessite, that this man haue some what also to offer. For he were not a preste, yf he were on the erth where are prestes, that accordynge to the lawe offer gyftes whych serue vnto the ensample, and *shadowe of heauenly thynges: euen as the ‡Collo.ii.c.
answere of God was geuen vnto Moses, Hebr.x.a.
when he was about to fynysh the tabernacle. ‡ Take hede (sayde he) that thou make *Exo.xxv.b.
all thinges accordinge to the patrone which Actes.vii.c.
is shewed to the in the mount.

But now hath he obtayned a preshode B
so moch the more excellent, as he is the mediator of a better testament, which was cō-firmed in better promyses. For yf that fyrst testamēt had bene soch, ꝑ no faute coulde haue bene founde in it, then shulde no place haue bene sought for the seconde. For in rebukynge them, he sayth vnto them. * Beholde *Jere.xxxi.c
the dayes come (sayth the Lord) and I wyll
fynysh vpon the house of Israel, and vpon
the house of Juda, a new testament: not like
ꝑ testamēt that I made with theyr fathers
in ꝑ daye, when I toke them by the handes, to leade thē out of the land of Egypte. For they contynued not in my testament, and I regarded them not sayth the Lord.

For this is the testamēt, that I wyll ma- C
ke wꝺ the house of Israel: After those dayes (sayth ꝑ Lord) I wyll put my lawes in their myndes, ād in their hertes I will write thē, and I wylbe their God, and they shalbe my people. And they shall not teache euery man his

hys neyghboure, and euery mā hys brother, saying: knowe the Lord: for they shall knowe me, from the least to the moste of them: For I wilbe mercyfull ouer their vnrighteousnes, and their synnes & their iniquities will I thinke vpō nomore. In that he sayth a new testamēt, he hath worne out the olde, For that which is worne out & waxed olde, is redy to vanyshe awaye.

¶ The .ix. Chapter.

¶ The prayse & worthynesse of the olde testament and how farre the new exceadeth it.

A The olde testament then had verely ordynaunces, and seruinges of God, and worldly holynes. ✠ For * there was a fore tabernacle made, wherin was the lyght, and the table, and the shewe breed, whych hys called holy. But within the seconde vayle was there a tabernacle, whych is called holyest of all, whych had the golde senser, and the arcke of the testament ouerlayde round about with golde, B wherin was the golden pot with * Manna, and * Aarons rodde, that spronge and * the tables of the testamēt. Ouer the arcke were the Cherubins of glory, shadowyng ỳ seate of grace. Of which thynges we cannot now speake particularly.

When these thinges were thus ordeyned, the prestes went allwayes into the fyrst tabernacle, whych executed ỳ seruice of ỳ holy thinges. But into the seconde went the hye prest alone * once euery yeare: not wyth out bloud * which he offered for him selfe, and for the ignorauances of the people. Wherwith ỳ holy goost thys signifyed, that the waye of holy thynges was not yet opened, whyll as yet ỳ fyrst tabernacle was stādyng. Which was a symilitude for the tyme then present, in which were offered gyftes and sacrifices, that coulde not make the minister parfecte, as pertayning to the cōscyence, wyth onely meates & drinckes, & diuers washinges and iustifyinges of the flesshe, whych were ordeyned vntyll the tyme of reformacyon.

✠ But * Christ beynge and hye prest of good thynges to come, came by a greater & more perfecte tabernacle, not made wyth hādes: that is to saye, not of thys buylding, D nether by the bloude of goates & calues: but * by hys awne bloude he entred in once into the holy place, and founde eternall redempcyon. ✠

For yf the * bloud of oxen and of gotes & ỳ ashes of a yong kow, whē it was sprinckled, purifieth the vnclene, as touchyng the purifyinge of the flesshe: how moch more shall the bloud of Christ (which thorow the eternall spyrete, offered him selfe without spot to God) pourge youre conscience from deed workes, for to serue the lyuinge God?

And for this cause is he the * mediator of the new testamēt, that thorow deeth which chaunsed, for the redempcion of thole transgressiōs that were vnder the fyrst testamēt they whych are called, myght receaue ỳ promes of eternall inheritaunce. E ✠ For where as is a testament, ther must also (of necessite) be ỳ deeth of hym that maketh the testament. For the testament taketh auctorite whē mē are deed: for it is yet of no value, as lōge as he ỳ maketh ỳ testamēt is alyue, for which cause also nether ỳ first testamēt was ordeyned without bloude. For whē Moses had declared all the commaundement to all the people accordyng to the lawe, he toke the bloud of calues and of goates, with water & purple wolle, and yssope, and sprickled both the boke, & all the people, saying: * this is ỳ bloud of the testamēt, whych God hath appoynted vnto you. Moreouer, he sprinckled the tabernacle wyth bloud also, and all the ministringe vessels. And almost all thinges are by the lawe purged with bloud, & without sheadinge of bloud is no remissyon.

It is nede thē, that the similitudes of heauenly thynges be purifyed wyth soch thynges: but that the heauenly thynges them selues be purifyed w better sacrifyces then are those. * For Christ is not entred into ỳ holy places that are made wyth handes (whych are symilitudes of true thynges) but is entred into very heauen, for * to appeare now in the syght of God for vs: not to offer hym selfe ofte * as the hye prest entreth into ỳ holy place euery yeare with straūge bloud, for thē must he haue often offered sence ỳ worlde began. But now in the ende of the worlde, hath he appeared once, to put sinne to flight by the offerynge vp of him selfe. And as it is apoynted vnto all men that they shall once dye, and then cōmeth the iudgemēt * euen so Christ was once offered, to take awaye ỳ sinnes of many, & vnto them that loke for hym shall he appeare agayne without synne vnto saluacyon.

¶ The .x. Chapter.

¶ The olde lawe had no power to clense awaye synne, but Christe dyd it with offeryng of his body once for all. An exhortacio to receaue this goodnesse of God thanckfully with patience and stedfastnes sayth.

For the lawe (hauynge the * shadowe of good thynges to come, and not ỳ very fashion of ỳ thynges them selues) can neuer with those sacrifices which they offer, yeare by yeare continually make the cōmers therunto parfayt. For wold not then those sacrifices haue ceased to haue bene offred, because that the offerers once purged shuld haue had no more cōscience of synnes? Neuertheles, in those sacrifyces, is there mencyon made of synnes euery yeare. * For the bloude of oxen and of goates can not take awaye synnes.

Wherfore

W Wherfore, when he cōmeth into ꝓ worlde he sayth: * Sacrifyce and offerynge ꝓ wold est not haue: but a body hast ꝓ ordeyned me: Burnt offerynges also for synne hast ꝓ not alowed. Then sayd I: lo, I am here. In the begynnyng of the booke it is writtē of me, ꝓ I shuld do thy will, o God. Aboue, whē he sayeth: sacrifice & offeryng, & burnt sacrifyces and synne offerynges ꝓ woldest not haue, nether hast ꝓ alowed thē (whiche yet are offered by ꝓ lawe) then sayd he: Lo, I am here, to do thy will, o God: he taketh awaye the fyrst to stablisshe the latter, by wych will we are made holy, euyn by ꝓ offe ryng of ꝓ body of Iesu Christe once for all.

C And euery preest is ready dayly ministrig and offryng ofte tymes one maner of oblacion, which can neuer take awaye synnes. But thys man after he hath offered one sa crifice for synnes, is set downe for euer * on the ryght hād of God, & from hēce forth ta ryeth tyll his foes be made his fote stole. For wt one offerige hath he made parfecte for euer, them ꝓ are sanctyfyed. The holy goost him self also beareth vs recorde, euen whē he tolde before: This is ꝓ testamēt ꝓ I will make vnto them: after those dayes (sayth ꝓ lorde) I will put my lawes i their hertes, & in their myndes will I write thē, & their synnes & iniquities will I remēber nomore. And where remission of these thyn gers is, ther is nomore offeryng for synne.

D Seyng therfore brethren, ꝓ by ꝓ meanes of ꝓ bloud of Iesu * we haue libertye to en ter into ꝓ holy place, by ꝓ new & lyuig waye wych he hath prepared for vs, through ꝓ vayle (that is to saye, by his flesshe.) And seing also ꝓ we haue an hye preest wych is ruler ouer ꝓ house of God, let vs draw nye wt a true herte in a sure fayth, sprynckeled in our hertes & ꝓ euyll conscīēce put awaye & washed in our bodyes wt pure water: let vs kepe ꝓ profession of our hope, wout wauering (for he is faithfull ꝓ promysed) & let vs cōsider one another, to ꝓuōke ꝓ we maye pronoke vnto loue, & to good workes, not forsakynge ꝓ felishyppe ꝓ we haue among our selues, as the maner of some is: but let vs exhorte one another, & so moch the mo re, because ye se that the daye draweth nye.

E * For yf we synne wylfully after ꝓ we haue receaued ꝓ knowledge of the trueth, ther remayneth nomore sacrifyce for syn nes, but a fearfull lokyng for iudgement, & violēt fyre, wych shall deuoure ꝓ aduersa ries. He ꝓ despiseth Moses lawe, dyeth wy thout mercy * vnder two or thre witnesses: how moch worse (suppose ye) shall he be pu nished which treadeth vnder fote ꝓ sonne of God: & counteth the bloude of ꝓ testamēt, wherwith he was sanctyfyed, as an vnholy F thyng, & doth dispyte to ꝓ spyrite of gra te. For we knowe hym ꝓ hath sayd: * It be longeth vnto me to take vēgeaunce. I wyll recōpēce sayth ꝓ Lorde. And agayne: ꝓ Lord shal iudge his people. It is a fearfull thyn ge to fall into ꝓ hādes of the lyuyng God.

Call to remēbraunce the dayes that are passed, in the wych after ye had receaued lyght, ye endured a greate fyght of aduersi ties, partly wyle all men wondred & gased at you for the shame and tribulacyon ꝓ was done vnto you: partly, whyle ye became cōpanyōs of them which so passed their tyme. For ye became partakers also of ꝓ afflyccyōs wych happened thorow my hō des, & toke in worth the spoylyng of your goodes, & that wyth gladnes: knowynge in your selues, how that ye haue in heauen a better & an enduring substaūce. Cast not awaye therfore your cōfydēce, wych hath a great recōpence of reward. For ye haue nede of pacyēce, that after ye haue done the wyll of God, ye myght receaue ꝓ promes. For yet a very lytell whyle, & he ꝓ shall co me wyll come, & wyll not tary. But * the iust shall lyue by faith. And yf he withdra we him selfe, my soule shall haue no pleasu re in him. It is not we ꝓ withdrawe our sel ues vnto dāpnacion, but we partayne vn to fayth, to the wynnynge of the soule.

* Heb.xi.a. Roma.i.c. Gala.iii.b.

¶ What fayth is, and a cōmendacyon of the same. The stedfast beleue of the fathers in olde tyme.

¶ The.xi. Chapter.

FAyth is a sure confydēce of thynges, wych are hoped for, & a certaynte of thynges wych are not sene. For by it the elders obtayned a good report. Thorowe fayth we vnderstande, that * the worlde was ordeyned by ꝓ worde of God, and that thinges wych are sene, were ma de of thynges * wych were not sene. ‡ By fayth Abel offered vnto God a more plen teous sacrifyce then Cayn: by wych he obteyned witnes ꝓ he was ryghteous, God testifyinge of his gyftes: by wych also he beyng deed, yet speaketh.

A

* Gene.i.b.

* Iohn.viii.c. Roma.i.c. ‡ Gene.iiii.a.

By fayth was * Enoch translated, ꝓ he shulde not se death: nether was he foūde: for god had take hi awaye. For a fore he was take awaye, he obteyned a good report, ꝓ he pleased God: but without fayth it can not be ꝓ anye man shuld please hi. For he ꝓ cōmeth to God, must beleue that God is, & that he is a rewarder of thē that seke hym.

* Gene.v.d. Sap.iiii b. Eccl.xliiii.b. and.xlix.c.

B

By fayth ‡ Noe beyng warned of God, eschued the thynges which were as yet not sene, and prepared the arke to the sauynge of hys houshold, thorow the wych arke, he * condempned the worlde, and became heyre of the ryghtewesnes which is accor dyng to fayth.

‡ Gene.vi.b. Eccle.xliiii.b

* Matt.xii.d.

By fayth ‡ Abraha, when he was called

* Gene.xi.d. Actes.vii.a.

Hym obeyed

obeyed, to go out into a place, which he shuld afterwarde receaue to inheritaūce: & he wēt out, not knowing whether he shuld go.

By fayth he remoued into ꝑ lāde of ꝓmes, as into a straūge countre, whā he had dwelt in tabernacles: & so dyd Isaac & Jacob heyres wᵗ hym of the same ꝓmes. For he loked for a cytie hauyng a foundacyon, whose buylder and maker is God.

b Gene.xxi.a * Thorow fayth Sara also receaued strength to cōceaue and be with chylde, and was delyuered of a childe whē she was past age, because she iudged him faythful which had ꝓmysed.

*Gene.xv.a. And therfore spraūge ther of one (euē of one whych was as good as deed) * so many in multitude as are ꝑ starres of ꝑ skye, & as ꝑ sond, ꝑ which is by ꝑ see shore innumerable.

☞ These all dyed accordige to fayth, ☞ whā they had not receaued the ꝓmises: but a Job.viii.g 1 Gen.xxiii.b 1. Par. xxix.d Psal. xxxix.c * sawe them a farre of, and beleued them, & saluted them, and cōfessed, * that they were straungers and pilgrems on the erthe. For they that saye soch thynges, declare, ꝑ they seke a coūtre. Also yf they had bene myndfull of ꝑ countre, frō whence they came out, they had leasure to haue returned agayne: but now they desyre a better (ꝑ is to saye) a heauenly. Wherfore God himselfe is not ashamed * to be called theyr God for he hath ꝓpared for them a citye.

* Exod. iii.f. 1 Gene.xii.a. Gene. xxii.c By fayth Abraham offered vp Isaac, when he was ꝓued, and he offered him beyng his only begotten sonne, in whō he had receaued the ꝓmyses. And to hym it was sayde, in Isaac shal thy seed be called: for he consydered, that God was able to rayse vp agayne frō deeth. Therfore, receaued he hi also for an ensāple of the resurrectiō. * By

* Ge. xxbii.d fayth did Isaac bielle Jacob and Esau, concernyng thynges to come.

*Gen.xlix.a By fayth Jacob when he was a dying, bielled both the sonnes of Joseph, & bowed him selfe towarde the toppe of hys scepter.

*Gene.l.b. By fayth Joseph when he dyed, remembred the departig of the childrē of Israel, & gaue commaundement of hys bones. *By

*Exod.ii.a. Actes.vii.a fayth Moses when he was borne was hyd thre monethes of his father & mother because they sawe he was a ꝓper childe, nether feared they the kynges commaundement.

*Exod.ii.b. By fayth Moses when he was great, refused to be called the sonne of Pharaos daughter, & chose rather to suffre aduersitie wyth the people of God, then to enioye the pleasures of synne for a season, and estemed the rebuke of Christ greater riches then the treasures of Egypt. For he had respect vnto the rewarde.

*Exod.xii.c. By fayth he forsoke Egypt & feared not the fearcenes of ꝑ king. For he endured, euē as though he had sene hi which is inuisible.

* Thorow fayth he ordeyned ꝑ passeouer and ꝑ effusyon of bloud, lest he ꝑ destroyed the fyrst borne, shulde touch them. K

*Exo.xiii. * By fayth they passed thorow ꝑ reed see as by drye lande: which when the Egyppeans had assayed to do, they were drowned.

*Josu.vi. * By fayth ꝑ walles of Jericho fell downe after they were cōpassed about seuē dayes.

*Josu.ii. 6.vi.d * By fayth ꝑ harlot Raab perished not wᵗ the that were disobedient, when she had receaued the spyes to lodgyng peaseably.

And what shall I more saye: for ꝑ tyme wyll be to short for me to tell of Gedon, of ‡Barach, & of *Sāpsō, & of ‡Jephthae, * of Dauid also ‡ & Samuel, & of ꝑ ꝓphetes:

‡Jud.vi. *Jud.xiii. ‡Jud.xiii. *Jud.ii.a. ‡1.reg.xvii. ✝ Which thorow fayth subdued kyngdomes wrought righteousnes: ☞ obteyned ꝑ ꝓmyses: * stopped ꝑ mouthes of lyōs: ‡ quenched ꝑ violēce of fyre: * escaped ꝑ edge of ꝑ swearde: ‡ out of weaknesse, were made strōge: waxed valient in fyght: turned to flight the armyes of the alientes * the wemen receaued theyr deed rayled to lyfe agayne. ☞

* i.reg.xi ‡1.reg.xvii Dan.vi.f *Dan.iii.c ‡Dan.vi.c *iii.reg.x Other were racked, & wolde not be delyuered, ꝑ they myght inherete ✝ a better resurrectiō. Agayne, other were tried wᵗ mockynges & scourgiges, moreouer, wᵗ bōdes & prysonmēt: * were stoned, were hewē asunder, were tempted, were slayne wᵗ swearde, walked vp & downe in shepe skynnes, and goates skynnes, being destitute, troubled & vexed: which mē ꝑ world was not worthy of: they wādred in wildernesses: & in mountaynes, and in dennes, and caues of erth. G

* iii.Reg. xvi.b Of.xvii.d. iii.Reg.xv c. iii.reg.xii

And these all thorow fayth obtained good reporte, ✝ & receaued not ꝑ ꝓmes, because God had ꝓuided a better thing for vs, ꝑ they wᵗ out vs shuld not be made parfecte.

¶ An exhortacyon to be pacient & stedfast in trouble and aduersitie, vpon hope of euerlastynge rewarde. A commendacyon of the new Testament a boue the olde.

¶ The.xii. Chapter.

Wherfore, let vs also (seyng ꝑ we are compassed with so great a multitude of witnesses) * laye awaye all that presseth doune, and the synne ꝑ hangeth so fast on, let vs runne with pacīce vnto the battayle ꝑ is set before vs, lookyng vnto Jesus ꝑ captayne & finisher of our fayth, which (for the ioye ꝑ was set before him) abode the crosse, & despised the shame, & is set downe * on the ryghte hande of the throne of God. Consyder therfore, how ꝑ he endured such speakige agaynst hym of synners lest ye shuld be wery and faynte in your mindes. For ye haue not yet resysted vnto bloud, strouynge agaynst synne. And haue forgotten the exhortacion, which speaketh vnto you as vnto childrē? my sonne, despyse not thou ꝑ chastenyng of the Lord, nether faynt, when ꝑ art rebuked of hym: for whom ꝑ Lord loueth, hym he chastneth:

*Ephe.iii. Colos.iii.a i.Pet.iii.d *Ephes.i.a Col.iii.a Heb.i.a.

yee

per, he scourgeth euery sone þ he receaueth.

If ye endure chastening, God offereth him selfe vnto you as vnto sonnes. What sone is he whom the father chasteneth not? If ye be not vnder correccion (where of all are part takers) then are ye bastardes, and not sones. Therfore seyng we haue had fathers of our flesshe which corrected vs, & we gaue them reuerence: shall we not much rather be in subiection vnto the father of spirites, & lyue? And they verely for a feaw dayes, nurtred vs after theyr awne pleasure: but he nurteth vs for our profit, to the intent that he maye mynister of his holynes vnto vs. No maner chastisyng for the present tyme semeth to be ioyous, but greueous: neuertheles afterwarde, it bringeth þ quyet frute of ryghteweines, vnto thē which are exercysed therby.

*Stretch forth therfore þ handes which were let downe, and the weake knees: and se that ye haue strayght steppes vnto youre fete, lest eny halting turne you out of the waye: yee let it rather be healed. Folow peace with all men and holynes: with out the which no man shall se þ Lorde. And lokе, þ no mā be destitute of the grace of god, lest anye roote of bytternes springyng vp and trouble, & therby many be defyled: þ ther be no fornicator, or vncleane person, as Esau * whych for one meale of meate solde his birthryght. For ye knowe how that afterwarde when he wolde by inheretaunce haue optayned blessyng, he was put by, For he founde no place of repentaunce, though *he sought it with teares.

For ye are not come vnto the *mounte þ is touched, & vnto burnyng fyre, nor vnto stormе, & darckнes, and tempestes of wedder, and sounde of a trōpe, and the voyce of wordes: which *voyce, they (that hearde it) wyshed awaye, that the cōmunicacyon shuld not be spoken to thē, For they coulde not abyde that which was commaunded. *If a beast touche the mountayne, it shall be stoned, or thrust thorow with a darte: so terrible was þ syght which appeared. Moses sayde: I feare and quake. But ye are come vnto the mount Syon, and to the citye of the lyuynge God, the celestiall Ierusalē: and to an innumerable syght of angels, and vnto the cōgregaciō of the fyrst borne sonnes; whych are wrytten in heauen, and to God, the iudge of all, & to the spirites of iust and parfecte men, and to Iesus the mediator of the new testament, & to the *sprynckлynge of bloud that speaketh better then the *bloud of Abel.

Se that ye despyse not hym, þ speaketh. For yf they escaped not, whych refused him that spake on erth: moch more shall we not escape, yf we turne awaye from hym, that speaketh from heauen: whose voyce then shoke the erth, and now hath declared sayinge: yet once more will I shake, not þ erth onely, but also heauen. Where as he sayth: yet once more, it signifyeth the remouyng awaye of those thynges which are shaken as of thinges which haue ended their course: that the thynges which are not shaken, maye remayne. Wherfore, yf we receaue the kyngdome which can not be moued, we haue grace, wherby we maye so serue God, and that we maye please hym with reuerence ‡ and godly feare. For our God is a consumyng fyre. ‡Deut.iiii.b

¶ He exhorteth vs vnto loue, to hospitalyte, to thynke vpon soch as be in aduersite, to mayntayne wedlocke, to auoyde couetousnesse, to make moch of them that preach Gods worde, to beware of straung learnyng: to be content to suffre rebuke with Christ, to be thankfull vnto God, and obedient vnto soch as be in auctorite.

¶ The.xiii. Chapter.

Let brotherly loue continue * We not forgetfull to lodge straungers, For therby haue dyuers mē ‡ lodged angels vnwares. Remember them that are i bondes, euen as though ye were bounde wt thē your selues. Be myndfull of thē which are in aduersyte, as ye which are yet in the bodye. Wedlocke is to be had in honoure among all men, and the bed vndefyled. As for whore kepers & aduoutrers God shall iudge them. Let your cōuersacyon be without couetousnes and *be cōtent with soch thynges as ye haue all ready. For he hath sayd: ‡ I will not fayle the, nether forsake the: so that we maye boldly saye: the Lorde is my helper, and I will not feare what mā maye do vnto me. Remember them whych haue the ouersyght of you, whych haue spoken vnto you the worde of God. Whose fayth se that ye folowe, and consider the ende of theyr conuersacyon.

Iesus Christ yesterdaye and to daye, and the same continueth for euer. ✠ We not carved aboute with diuers and straunge learnyng. For it is a good thynge that þ herte be stablysshed with grace, & not wt meates, which haue not profited them that haue had theyr passyme in them. We haue an aulter, wherof they maye not eate, which serue in the tabernacle. *For the bodyes of those beastes whose bloud is brought into the holy place by þ hye preest to purge synne, are burnt with out the tentes. Therfore Iesus also to sanctifye the people with hys awne bloud, suffered * without the gate. Let vs goo forth therfore vnto hym, out of the tentes, and suffer rebuke with hym. For here haue we no cōtinuynge cytie: but we seke one to come.

By hi therfore do we offer sacrifyce of laude alwayes to God: þ is to saye, the frute of those lippes, which cōfesse his name. To do good ¶ to distribute, forget not, for * vñ such sacrifyces God is pleased. ✠ Obeye the that haue the ouer syght of you, ¶ submyt your selues vnto them, for they watch for your soules, euen as they that must geue a compte: that they maye do it with ioye, ¶ not with greefe. For that is an vnprofitable thyng for you. Praye for vs. For we trust we haue a good conscience among all men, and desyre to lyue honestly. But I desyre you ¶ more, that ye so do, that I maye be restored to you the sooner.

* Eccl.xvij.b Actes.x.d. Roma.xij.a 1 Pet.iiij.b.

D

* Ex.xxviij.b Iosu.i.a 1 Petri.v.d.

The God of peace that brought agayne from deeth our Lorde Jesu * the great shepperde of the shepe, thorow the bloud of the euerlastyng testament, make you parfect i all good workes, to do hys wyll, and bryng to passe, that the thyng which pe do, maye be pleasaunt in his syght thorowe Jesus Christ. To whom be prayse for euer whyle the world endureth. Amen. ✠

I beseche you brethren, suffre the worde of exhortacio: for we haue wrytte vnto you i feawe wordes. Ye knowe our brother Timothe, that he is at libertye: with whō (yf he come shortly) I wyll se you. Salute the that haue the ouersyght of you, and all the sayntes. They of Italy salute you. Grace be with you all. Amen.

¶ Sent from Italy by Timotheus.

¶ The Epistle of Mayster James.

¶ He exhorteth to reioyce in trouble, and thankfully to receaue the worde of God, trewe relygyon ys beuocpon what it is.

The fyrst Chapter.

JAmes the seruaunt of God ¶ of the Lorde Jesu Christ, sendeth greetyng to the twelue trybes which are scattered abroade. ✠ My brethren, count it for an exceedyng ioye, when ye fall into diuers temptacyons: knowyng this, that * the tryyng of your fayth gendreth pacience: and let pacience haue her parfect worke, that ye maye be parfecte and sounde, lackyng nothyng.

* Job.xiij.a Sapien.iij.a Roma.v.c.

* Job.xxviij.c Eccle.vij.c Matth.vij.a. Luke.xj.b

If eny of you lacke wysdome, * let hym aske of him that geueth it: euē God, which geueth to all men indifferētlye, and casteth no man in the teeth: and it shalbe geuen hi. But let him aske in fayth, and waner not. For he that douteth, is lyke a wane of the see, which is tost of the wyndes and caryed with violēce. Nether let that man thinke, that he shall receaue eny thig of the Lorde.

A wauerynge mynded man, is vnstable in all his wayes. Let the brother which is of lowe degre reioyce whan he is exalted. Agayne: let hym that is riche, reioyce whan he is made lowe. * For euen as the flower of the grasse, shall he passe awaye. For as ¶ sonne ryseth with heat, ¶ the grasse wydereth, ¶ hys flower falleth awaye, and the beautie of the fashyon of it perisheth: euen so shall the rich man perishe in his wayes.

* Esa.xl.b Eccle.viiij.b, 1.Pet.i.b

Happy is the man that endureth temptacyon: for when he is tryed, he shall receaue the crowne of lyfe, which the Lorde hath promysed to them that loue hym. ✠

Let no man saye when he is tempted, that he is tēpted of God, for as God can not be tempted with euill, so nether he hymselfe tempt eny man. But euery man is tēpted, whan he is drawne awaye, ¶ entysed of hys awne concupiscence. Then, when lust hath conceaued, she bryngeth forth synne: ¶ synne when it is finished, bryngeth forth deeth. Do not erre my deare brethren, * ✠ Euery good gyfte, and euery parfayt gyft, is from aboue, and commeth downe frō the father of lyghtes w̄ whome is no variablenes, nether is he chaunged vnto darcknes. * Of hys awne wyll begat he vs with the worde of trueth, that we shulde be the fyrst frutes of hys creatures.

* Iam.i.a

Wherfore (deare brethren) * let euery mā be swyfte to heare, slowe to speake, slowe to wrath. For the wrath of man worketh not that which is rygh teous before God.

* Ephe.iiij.b Colo.iij.a

* Wherfore laye a parte all fylthynes ¶ superfluyte of malicyousnes, and receaue w̄ meknes, the worde that is graffed in you, which is able to saue your soules. ✠

D

* And * se that ye be doars of the worde ¶ not hearers onely, deceauing your awne selues. For * yf eny man heare the worde and declareth not the same by his workes, he is lyke vnto a man beholding his bodely face in a glasse. For assone as he hath loked on hym selfe, he goeth his waye, ¶ forgetteth immediatly what hys fashyon was. * But who so loketh in the parfayt lawe of libertye, and contynueth therin (yf he be not a forget full hearer, but a doar of the worke) the same shalbe happye in his dede.

Roma.ij.b * Matth.v.b. Luke.vj.g

* Matt.vij.b

If eny man among you seme to be deuoute ¶, refrayneth not hys tōg, but deceaueth hys awne hert, thys manes deuocpō is in vayne. Pure deuocpon and vndefyled before God the father, is this: to vysyt the fatherlesse ¶ widdowes in theyr aduersyte, ¶ to kepe hi selfe vnspotted of the worlde. ✠

¶ He forbydeth to haue eny respect of persones, and not to bost of fayth where no deades are.

¶ The seconde Chapter.

A My brethren,esteme not the fayth of our Lorde Jesus Christ ꝑ Lorde of glory* wt respecte of persõs
*Leuit.xix.c For if ther come into youre company a man wearyng a golde ryng,clothed in goodly aparell, and ther come in also a poore mã in vyle raymẽt,& ye haue a respecte to him that weareth the gaye clothing, and say vnto him: Syt thou here in a good place:and saye vnto the poore: stande thou there,or syt here vnder my fote stole:are ye not partiall in youre selues, and haue iudged after cupyll thoughtes?

Harken my deare beloued brethrẽ. hath not God chosen the poore of thys worlde, soch as are ryche in fayth, & heyres of the kyngdome,whych he promysed to thẽ that
B loue hym? But ye haue despysed the poore. Do not ryche mẽ execute tyrannye vpõ you, and draw you before the iudgement seates. Do not they speake cupyll of that good name which is called vpon ouer you?

Yf ye fulfyll the royall lawe,accordynge ‡Leuit.xix.d Math.xxii.d. Marc.xii.c. Roma.xiii.c. Galat.v.b to the scripture.‡(Thou shalte loue thyne neghboure as thy selfe) ye do well. But yf ye regarde one person more then another, ye commyt synne,& are rebuked of ꝑ lawe, as transgressours. Wholsoeuer shall kepe ꝑ whole lawe,& * yet fayle in one poynt, he *Iacob.v.cf C is gyltie of all. For he ꝑ sayd: Thou shalt not commyt adulterye,sayde also: ꝑ shalt not kyll. Though thou do none adulterye, yet yf thou kyll, thou art become a transgressor of ꝑ lawe. So speake ye,and so do, as they that shalbe iudged by the lawe of li *mat.v.b.viii.b bertye. For he shal haue iudgemẽt without mercy * that sheweth no mercy: and mercy reioyseth agaynst iudgement. ✠

What auayleth it my brethren,though a mã saye he hath fayth,yf he haue no dedes? Cã fayth saue him If a brother or a syster be naked & destitute of dayly fode, & one of you saye vnto them: departe in peace,God sẽd you warmnes & fode, notwtstãdyng ye geue thẽ not those thinges which are nedful to the body,what shal it helpe? Euen so fayth,yf it haue no dedes: is deed in it selfe:

But some mã wyll saye: ꝑ hast fayth, & I haue dedes: shewe me thy fayth by thy de-
D des:& I will shewe the my fayth by my dedes. Beleuest ꝑ that ther is one god? Thou doest well. The deuyls also beleue,& trẽble.

But wilt ꝑ vnderstande. (O thou vayne man) ꝑ fayth without dedes is deed? Was Gene.xxii.b not Abrahã oure father iustifyed thorow workes,whẽ he had offered Isaac his sõne vpõ the aulter? Thou seest,how that fayth
*Gene.xv.b. Roma.iiii.a. Galath.iii.a wrought wt his dedes,& through the dedes was the fayth made parfecte:& ꝑ scripture was fulfylled,which sayth: * Abrahã beleued God, and it was reputed vnto hym for ryghteweines: & he was called ꝑ frende of God. ✠ Ye se then how that of dedes a mã is iustifyed, and not of fayth onely. Lykewyse also, was not Raab the harlot iustifyed thorow workes,* when she had receaued the messengers, and had sent thẽ out another waye? For as the body, wythout the spyrete is deed, euen so fayth wythout workes is deed also. ✠ *Iosu.ii.a

¶ What good and euell commeth thorow the tonge. The duetie of soch as be lerned The difference betwirte the wysdome of the Gospell, & the wysdome of the worlde.

¶ The.iii.Chapter.

My brethren,* be not euery mã a mayster,knowinge how ꝑ we shal receaue ꝑ greater damnaciõ: for in many
*Mat.xviii.f thinges we synne all. ‡ If a man synne not in worde, ꝑ same is a perfecte mã,& able also to tame all ꝑ body. Beholde. we put bittes in to ꝑ horses mouthes, ꝑ they maye obeye vs, & we turne aboute all the body of thẽ. Beholde also ꝑ shyppes, whych though they be so great,& are dryuẽ of fearce wyndes,yet are they turned about wyth a very small helme whyther soeuer ꝑ violence of ꝑ gouerner will. Euen so the tonge is a lytel member also,and boasteth great thynges.
‡Iaco.viii.a.

Beholde,how gret a thynge a lytell fyre kyndleth,and the tonge is fyre,euẽ a world of wyckednes. So is the tonge set amonge oure membres, that it defyleth the whole body,and setteth a fyre all that we haue of nature,and is it selfe set a fyre euen of hell.
25
All the natures of beastes, and of byrdes, and of serpentes, & thinges of ꝑ see are meked and tamed of the nature of man. But ꝑ tonge can no man tame. It is an vnruely cupyll,full of deedly poyson. Ther wt blesse we God the father,and therwith curse we men,* which are made after the (ymage and) symilitude of God. Out of one mouth
C *Genes.i.d proceadeth blessing and cursyng. My brethrẽ,these thiges ought not so to be. Doth a fountayne send forth at one place swete water and bytter also? Can the fygge tree (my brethren) beare olyue beries: ether a a vyne beare fygges? So can no fountayne geue bothe salt water & fresshe also. Yf eny mã be wyse & endued wt knowledge amõge you, let hym shewe his workes out of good conuersacion with meknes of wysdome.

But yf ye haue bytter enuyeng & stryfe in your herte,reioyce not: nether be lyars agaynst the trueth: For soch wysdome descendeth not frõ aboue: but is erthy,naturall,& D diuelisshe. For wher enuyẽg & strife is, there is vnstablenes, & all mãer of cupyll workes. But ꝑ wysdome ꝑ is frõ aboue, is first pure, thẽ peasable, gẽtle,& easy to be entreated,full of mercy and good frutes, without iudging,without simulacion: yee, & ꝑ frute of ryghte weselues is sowen in peace, of them that mayntene peace.

¶ Warre and fightyng commeth of couetousnesse. The frendshippe of the worlde is enmytie before God. An exhortacyon to flye couetousnesse and the enmytie of this lyfe.

¶ The. iiii. Chapter.

FRom whence cōmeth warre, and fyghtyng amōge you? come they not here hence? euen of youre lustes, that fight in your membres? Ye lust, and haue not. Ye enuye & haue indignacyon, & can not obtayne. Ye fight & warre. Ye haue not because ye aske not. Ye aske and receaue not, because ye aske amysse: euen to consume it vpon youre lustes. Ye aduouterars, and wemen of briche matrimonye: knowe ye not how that * the frendshipp of the worlde is enmytie vñ God? Whosoeuer therfore wilbe a frende of ye worlde, is made ye enemye of God. Ether do ye thynke ye the scripture sayth in vayne. The spirite ye dwelleth in vs, lusteth euen cōtrary to enuy: but geueth more grace (wherfore he sayeth: God resisteth the proude, but geueth grace vnto the lowly.)

Submit your selues therfore to God: but * resyst ye deuyll, and he will flye from you. Drawe nye to God, and he will drawe nye to you. Clense your hādes ye sinners, & pourge your hertes ye wauerynge mynded. Suffre afflictions & mourne, & wepe. Let your laughter be turned to mournyng, & youre ioye to heuynes. * Humble youre selues i ye sight of ye lorde, & he shal lyft you vp. Backbyte not one another, brethren. He ye backbyteth his brother, & he ye iudgeth hys brother, backbyteth the lawe, and iudgeth the lawe. But & yf ye iudge ye lawe, ye art not an obseruer of ye lawe: but a iudge. Ther is one lawe geuer (and iudge) which is able to saue and to destroye. * What art thou ye iudgest another? ¶ Go to now ye that saye: † to daye and to morow let vs go into soch a cite, and continue there a yeare, and bye and sell, and wynne: & yet can not ye tell, what shall happen on ye morow. For what thing is your lyfe? It is euen a vapour, that appereth for a lytell time, and then vanisheth awaye: For that ye ought to saye: * yf the Lord will, and yf we lyue, let vs do this or that. But now ye reioyce in your boastynges. All soch reioysynge is euyll. Therfore † to hym that knoweth how to do good, and doth it not, to hym it is synne.

¶ He threatneth the wycked ryche men, exhorteth vnto pacience, to beware of swearing. One to knowledge his fautes to another, one to praye for another, and one to labour to bring another to the trueth.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

GO to now ye ryche men. Wepe, and howle on your wretchednes ye shal come vpō you. Your riches is corrupte, your garmentes are motheaten. Your golde & syluer is canckred, and the rust of the shalbe a wytnes vnto you, & shall eate youre flesshe as it were fyre.

Ye haue heaped treasure together (cum watch to your crimes) in your last dayes. Beholde * ye hyre of labourers which haue reaped downe youre feldes (which hyre is of you kept backe by fraude) crieth: & the cryes of the which haue reaped, are entred in to ye eares of ye Lord Sabaoth. Ye haue lyued in pleasure on the erthe, & bene wantō. Ye haue norysshed youre hertes, as in a daye of slaughter. Ye haue condempned and kylled the iust, and he hath not resisted you.

Be paciēt therfore brethren, vnto ye cōmynge of ye Lord. Beholde, ye husbāde man wayteth for ye precyous frute of the earth, & hath lōge pacience thervpō, vntyll he receaue ye early & the latter rayne. Be ye also pacient therfore, and settle youre hertes, for the commynge of ye Lorde draweth nye. Iudge not one agaynst another brethren lest ye be damned. Beholde, ye iudge stādeth before the doore. Take (my brethren) ye Prophetes for an ensample of sufferige aduersytie, and of pacience, which spake in ye name of the Lorde. Beholde, * we counte the happy which endure. Ye haue heard of the pacience of Job, and haue knowē what ende the Lorde made. For the Lord is very pitiefull and mercyfull.

¶ But aboue all thynges my brethren * sweare not, nether by heuē, nether by earth, nether eny other othe. Let your yee be yee, ād your naye naye: lest ye fall into ypocrisy. If any of you be vexed, let hi praye. If eny of you be mery, let him synge Psalmes. If eny be diseased amonge you, let hym call for the elders of the congregacyon, and let thē praye ouer him, & * anoynte him with oyle in the name of the Lorde, and the prayer of fayth shall saue the sycke, and the Lord shal rayse him vp: and yf he haue committed synnes, they shalbe forgeuen hym.

Knowledge youre fautes one to another: and praye one for another, ye ye maye be healed. For the feruēt prayer of a ryghteous man auayleth moch. Helyas was a man vnder infirmitees euen as we are, and he prayed in his prayer that it myght not rayne: * and it rayned not on the earthe by ye space of thre yeares & syxe mōethes. And he prayed agayne, and the heauē gaue rayne, and the earth brought forth her frute.

Brethren, yf eny of you do erre from the trueth and another conuert hym, let the same knowe that he which conuerteth the synner from goyng a strape out of hys waye, shall saue a soule from deeth, and shal hyde the multitude of synnes.

¶ The ende of the epistle of Saynt James.

¶ The

¶ The fyrst Epistle of sayncte Peter the Apostle.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

¶ He teacheth that thonely the aboundant mercy of God we are begotten ageyne to a lyuely hope: how fayth must be tryed: how the saluacyon in Christ is no fayned, but a thinge prophecyed of olde. Exhorteth them to a godly conuersacyon, for so much as they are now borne anewe by the worde of God.

A

PEter an Apostle of Jesu Chryst, to them that dwell * here and there as straūngers thorowout Pontus, Galacia, Capadocya: Asia, and Bethynia, electe accordyng to ꝑ forknowledge of God ꝑ fayre thorow the sanctifynge of the spirite vnto obedience & * sprynckelyng of the bloude of Jesus Chryst.

* Grace be wyth you and peace be multiplyed. * Blessed be God the father of oure Lord Jesus Chryst, whych accordyng to his aboundant mercye begat vs agayne vnto a * lyuely hope (by that that Jesus Chryst rose agayne from deeth) to an inheritaūce immortall and vndefyled, and that perisheth not, reserued in heauen for you, whych are kept by the power of God thorow fayth, vnto saluacion, whych is prepared alreadye to be shewed in the last tyme, in the whych ye reioyce, though now for a season (yf nede require) ye are in heuynes, thorowe manifolde temptacyons, that the triall of youre fayth beyng moche more precious then golde that perysheth (though it be * tryed with fyre) myght be founde vnto laude, glory and honoure, at the apperynge of Jesus Chryst, whō ye haue not sene, & yet loue hym, in whome euen now, ‡ though ye se hym not, yet do you beleue, and reioyce with ioye vnspeakable and glorious receauynge the ende of your fayth, euen the saluacyon of youre soules.

Of whych saluacyon haue * the Prophetes enquyred and searched, whych prophesyed of the grace that shuld come vnto you, searchyng when or at what tyme the spirite of Christ (whych was in them) shuld sygnifye, whych spirite testifyed before, ꝑ passiōs that shuld happen vnto Christ, & the glory that shulde folowe after, vnto whych Prophetes it was also declared, ꝑ not vnto them selues, but vnto vs, they shulde mynyster the thynges whych are now shewed vnto you of the, whych (by the holy goost * sent downe frō heauen) haue in the Gospell preached vnto you the thynges, whych the angels desyre to beholde.

Wherfore * gyrde vp the loynes of youre mynde, be sober, & trust perfectly on ꝑ grace that is brought vnto you (by ꝑ declaryng of Jesus Chryst) as obedient chyldren, ꝑ ye gene not youre selues ouer vnto youre olde lustes, by whych ye were led, whan as yet ye were ignorāt of Christ: but as he which called you, is holy, euen so be ye holy also in all maner of conuersacyon, because it is wrytte: * Be holy, for I am holy.

And yf so be that ye call on ꝑ father, which wythout respect of person iudgeth * accordig to euery mannes worke, se that ye passe the tyme of youre pilgremage in feare. ✠ For as moch as ye knowe, how that ye were not redemed wyth corruptible thynges (as syluer & golde) from youre vayne conuersacō, whych ye receaued by the tradicion of the fathers: but * wt ꝑ precious bloude of Christ, as of a lambe vndefyled, and wythout spot, whych was ordeyned before hande, euen before ꝑ worlde was made: but was declared in the last tymes * for your sakes, whych by his meanes do beleue on God, ꝑ raysed hym vp frō deeth, & * glorifyed hym, ꝑ ye might haue fayth and hope toward God: euen ye whych haue purifyed youre soules thorow the spirite, in obeynge the trueth wyth brotherly loue vnfayned, se that ye loue one another wyth a pure hert feruētly: for ye are borne a newe, not of mortall seed, but of immortall, by the worde of God, which lyueth and lasteth for euer.

* For all flesshe is grasse, and all the glory of mā is as the floure of grasse. The grasse wydereth, and the flouze falleth awaye, but the worde of the Lord endureth euer ✠ And thys is the worde, whych by the Gospell was preached vnto you.

¶ The .ij. Chapter. ✠

¶ He exhorteth men to laye aside all vice, to abstayne from fleshly lustes, and to obeye worldly rulers. How seruaūtes shulde behaue them selues toward their masters. He exhorteth to suffre after the ensample of Christ.

WHerfore laye aside all malicyousnes & al gyle, & fayndenesse & enuy and all backbytinge: & * as new borne babes, desyre ye ꝑ mylke (not of the body but of the soule) which is wt out discreate: ꝑ ye maye growe ther by (vnto saluacyon) If so be ꝑ ye haue tasted, how gracious the Lorde is, to whō ye come, as vnto a lyuinge stone, disalowed of me, but chosē of God & precious: & ye as lyuinge stones, are made a spirituall house an holy preesthode, for to offer vp spirituall sacrifyces, acceptable to God by Jesus Chryst. Wherfore it is cōtayned also in ꝑ scripture: ‡ beholde I put in Sion a stone to be layed in ꝑ chefe corner, electe & precious. & he ꝑ beleueth on him shall not be cōfounded. Unto you therfore whych beleue he is precious: but vnto them which beleue not * ꝑ stone which ꝑ buylders refused, the same is begonne to be ꝑ heed of the cozner, and a stone that men stomble at, and a rocke wherat they be offended whych stöble at the wozde, and beleue not that, wher on they were set. But ye are a chosen generacion, a royall * preſthod, ‡ an holy nacyon, a people whych are wonne: that ye should shewe the vertues of hym, that called you out of darcknes into hys meruelous lyght, * whych in tyme past were not a people, but are now the people of God: which some time had not optayned mercye, but now haue optayned mercye. ✠

* Ex.xix.c. ‡ Deut.vii.a.

* Ose.ii.d Rom.ix.c.

C ✠ * Dearly beloued, I beseche you as straungers and pylgrems, abstayne * from fleshly lustes, which fyght against the soule, & se that ye haue honest conuersacion amöge the Gentyles, that where as they backbyte you as euyll doars * they maye se your good workes, and prayse God in the daye of vysytacion.

‡ Gala.v.c. * Rom.vii.d

* Mat.v.d.

‡ Rom.xiii.a. Tit.iii.a. * Submyt youre selues therfore vnto all maner ordinaūce of man for the lordes sake, whether it be vnto the kynge, as vnto the chefe herd: other vnto rulars, as vnto them that are sent of hym, for the punyshemēt of euyll doars, but for the laude of them, that do well. For so is ꝑ wyll of God, that wyth well doyng ye maye stoppe the mouthes of foolysh & ignorant men: as fre, & not as hauinge the lybertie for a cloacke of maliciousnes, but euen as the seruauntes of God * honoure all men. Loue brotherly felesshyppe. Feare God, honoure the kynge.

* Mom.xiii.c.

‡ Ephe.vi.a. Colo.i.d. 1. Tim.vi.a. Tit.ii.b. * Mat.v.a. * Seruauntes, obey your masters wt feare not onely yf they be good & courteo: but also though they be froward * For it is thāke worthye ✠ yf a mā for cōsciēce towarde God endure grefe, and suffer wrong vndeserued. For what prayse is it, yf when ye be buffeted for your faultes, ye take it paciētly? But & yf when ye do well, ye suffer wröge & take it paciently, then is ther thāke wt God.

For here vnto verely were ye called: for

D ✠ Christ also suffered for vs * leauynge vs an ensample, that ye shulde folowe his steppes, whych dyd no synne, nether was there gyle fou̇nd in hys mouth: whych whē he was reuyled, reuyled not agayne: when he suffered, he threatened not, but cōmitted the vengeaunce to hym that iudgeth ryghteously * whych hys awne selfe bare our synnes in his body on the tree, that we beyng deliuered from synne, shuld lyue vnto ryghteousnes. By whose strypes ye were healed. For ye were as shepe goyng astraye: but are now turned vnto the shepeherd and bysshope of youre soules. ✠

* 1. Pet.ii.d John.viii.d. Ephe.v.d. * Phat.viii.c. Esa.liii.b.

¶ The.iij. Chapter.

¶ Wyues ought to obeye their husbandes, & in their apparell, & behauyr of men folowe their wyues. For ornamentes all men to vnite and loue, and patiently to suffre trouble. Of baptyme.

LIkewyse * ye wyues be in subiectyon to youre husbandes, that euen they whych obeye not the wozde, maye without the wozde be wöne by the conuersacyon of the wyues, whyll they beholde youre chast conuersacyon coupled wyth feare. Whose apparell shall not be outward wt bzoyded heare, & hangyng on of golde, ether in puttynge on of gozgyous apparell: but let the hyd mā which is in the herte, be without all cozruptyon, so that the spzete be at rest and quyete: whych spzete is before God a thynge moch set by. For after this maner in the olde tyme dyd the holy wemen which trusted in God, tyer them selues, and were obedient to their husbandes, euē as Sara obeyed Abzaham, and called hym Lozde: whose daughters ye are, as longe as ye do well, & are not afrayde for anye terrour.

A * Ephe.v.c. Colo.iii.c.

B

Lykewyse, ye mē, dwell with them accozdynge to knowledge: geuyng honoure vnto the wife, as vnto ꝑ weaker vessell & as vnto them ꝑ are heyzes also of the grace of lyfe that youre prayers be not hyndzed. ✠ In cōclusyon, be ye all of one mynde, of one hart & loue as bzethren, be pitifull, be courteous (mete) not rēdzynge euyll for euyll, or rebuke for rebuke: but cōtrary wise, bleſſe: knowinge that ye are ther vnto called, euē that ye shulde be heyzes of the blessynge. * For he that doth longe after lyfe, and loueth to se good dayes, let hym refrayne his töge from euyll, & his lippes ꝑ they speake not gyle. Let hi eschue euyll, & do good: let him seke peace, and ensue it. For the eyes of ꝑ Lozd are ouer the ryghteous, and hys eares are open vnto their prayers. Agayne the face of the Lozde is ouer them that do euyll.

C * psal.xxxiiii.c.

Moreouer, who is it that wyll harme you, yf ye folowe ꝑ whych is good? Yee, * happy are ye, yf anye trouble happen vnto you for righteweisnes sake. * Be not ye afrayed for anye terroure of them, nether be ye troubled but sanctifye the Lozde God in youre hertes ✠ Be ready allwayes to geue an answere to euery mā that asheth you a reason of ꝑ hope that is in you, and that with meakenes and feare: hauynge a good conscience * that where as they backbyte you as euyll doars, they maye be ashamed, ꝑ falsely accuse youre good conuersacion in Chryst.

* Mat.v.d. ‡ Ela.viii.c. Matth.x.d. ‡ 1. Pet.iii.d. Tit.ii.a.

‡ For it is better (yf the wyll of God be so) that ye suffre for well doynge, then for euyll doinge.

‡ 1. Pet.ii.d. Matth.v.a.

D * For as moch as Christ hath once suffered for synnes, ꝑ iust for the vniust, to bzig vs to God, and was kylled, as pertayninge to the flesshe: but was quyckened in the spzete.

* Roma.b.d.

In wyych spzete he also went & preached vnto the spzetes that were in prison, which some

some tyme had bene disobedyent, when the
* Gene.vj.a. longe sufferynge of God was once loked for in the dayes of Noe * whyll the arcke was ‡ Gene.vij.c a prepayrynge: ‡ wherin fewe, that is to saye viij. soules, were saued by the water, like as ✠ ✠ * baptyme also now saueth vs, not the
* Roma.vj.a puttynge awaye of the fylth of the flesshe,
but in that a good conscyence consenteth to God, by the resurrecyon of Jesus Christ,
whych is on the ryghte hāde of God: ✠ and
* Hebr.i.b. is gone into heauen, * angels, powers, and
xpo.xj.b.c. myght subdued vnto hym.

¶ The.iiij Chapter.

¶ He exhorteth men to cease from synne: and no man to suffre as an euell doer, but as a Christen man.

FOr as moch then as Christ hath suffred for vs in the flesshe, arme ye youre selues lykewyse with the same mynde: for he whych suffereth in the flesshe, ceaseth from synne that he hence forwarde shulde lyue (as moch tyme
as remayneth in the flesshe) not after the lustes of men, but after the wyll of God. For it is sufficyent for vs, that we haue spent the tyme that is past of the lyfe, after the wyll
* Roma.i.d of the * Gentyls, walkynge in wantonnes, Ephe.iiij.d lustes, in excesse of wynes, in excesse of ea-
tynge, in excesse of drynkynge ❧ (in vyanenesse)
and in abompnable ydolatrie.

And it semeth to the an inconuenyēt thyn-
ge, that ye runne not also with them vnto ỹ same excesse of ryote, & therfore speake they euyll of you, whych shall gene acomptes to him, that is ready to iudge quicke and deed.
For vnto thys purpose verely was ỹ Gos-pell preached also vnto the deed, that they shuld be iudged lyke other men in the flesshe, but shuld lyue before God in the spyrete. The ende of al thinges is at hande.

✠ Be ye therfore sober, and watch vnto
prayer. But aboue all thynges haue feruēt ‡ Gene.xix.a loue among your selues. For loue shall couer
Actes.x.f. the multitude of synnes. * Be ye herberous ‡ Philip.ij.b one to another, ‡ wythout grudgynge. As euery man hath receaued the gyfte, euen so mynister the same one to another, as good mynisters of the manyfolde grace of God.

¶ If eny man speake, let him talke as the wor-
* Rom.xij.b. des of God. * If eny man mynister, let him
xij.Col.viij.f. doit as ‡ of the ablyte, whych God mynis-treth vnto hym. That God in all thynges maye be glorifyed thorow Jesus Christ, ✠
to whom be prayse and dominion for euer
and euer. Amen.

Dearly beloued, maruayll not that ye are proued by fyre (whych thyng is to trye you)
as though some straūge thing happened vnto you: but reioyce, in as moch as ye are partakers of Christes passyons: that when hys glory appeareth, ye maye be mery and glad.
* Mat.v.b. * If ye be rayled vpon for ỹ name of Christ, i.Pet.iiij. happie are ye. For the glory and the spyrete end.iiij.c. of God resteth vpon you. On their parte he is euyll spoken of: but on youre parte he is glorifyed.

Se ỹ none of you be punyshed as a mur- D
therer, or as a theefe, or an euyll doar, or as a busybody in other mens matters. If eny mā suffre as a Christen mā, let him not be ashamed: but let hi glorifye God on this behalfe.
For the tyme is come, that iudgement must begynne at the house of God. If it fyrst be-gynne at vs, what shall the ende be of them, whych beleue not the Gospell of God? And
* yf the ryghteous scarcely be saued: where * Pro.xi.b
shall ỹ vngodly ād ỹ synner appeare? Wherfore, let thē ỹ are troubled accordyng to the wyll of God, cōmyt their soules to him with well doynge, as vnto a faythfull creator.

¶ The.v.Chapter.

¶ A special exhortacyon for all bysshopes and preestes. He exhorteth yonge persones to submyt them selues to the elder, and euery one to loue another.

THe elders which are amonge you, A
I exhorte, which am also an elder,
and a wytnes of the afflyccyons of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shalbe opened: * I exhorte ye Christes * Actes.xx.f.
flocke, asmoch as lyeth in you, takynge the ouersyght of them, not as compelled therto,
but wyllyngly: ❧ (after a godly sorte) not for the 40
desyre of fylthy lucre: but of a good mynde,
* not as though ye were lordes ouer the pa- * 1.Col.ij.c
rysshes: but ‡ that ye be an ensample to the ‡ 1.Tim.iiij.b
flocke * (and that with good wyll) And when the Tit.ij.b
chefe shepherd shall appeare, ye shal receaue, B 1.Pet.v.b * an incorruptibile crowne of glorie. Lyke- ij.Tim.iij.b
wyse ye yonger, submyt your selues vnto
the elder: Submit youre selues euery man,
one to another, knyt youre selues together
in lowlynes of mynde. For God resysteth
the proude, and geueth grace to the humble ✠ Submyt youre selues therfore vnder the myghty hande of God, that he maye exalte
you, when the tyme is come. * Cast all your * Mat.vj.d.
care vpon him: for he careth for you. Luke.xij.c

Be sober and watch, for youre aduersary C
ỹ deuyll as a roaring lyon * walketh about, * Job.i.b.
seking whom he maye deuoure: ‡ whom re- ‡ Jacobi.iiij.a syst stedfast in the fayth, knowing, ỹ the same afflyccyons are apoynted vnto your brethren, that are in the worlde. But the God of all grace whych hath called vs vnto hys
eternall glory by Christ Jesus, shall hys
awne selfe (after that ye haue suffred a lytell afflyccyon) make you perfect: settle, strength and stablysshe you. To him be glory and do-minyon for euer, and euer. Amen. ✠

By Syluanus a faythfull brother vnto D
you (as I suppose) haue I wryttē brefly,
exhortynge and testifyynge, how that thys
is the true grace of God, wherin ye stande.
The cōgregacyon of them whych at Babylon are companyons of youre electyon, salu-

teth you, and so doth Marcus my sonne.
*Rom.xvi.c. *1.Cor.xvi.b. Gyue ye one another wyth the kysse of loue. Peace be w̄ you all, which are in Christ Jesu. Amen.

¶ The secōde Epistle of Sayncte Peter.

¶ The fyrste Chapter.

¶ For so moch as the power of God hath geuen vs all thynges pertaynynge vnto lyfe, he exhorteth vs to make oure callynge knowne by good workes, and fruites of faith. He maketh mencyon of hys awne deeth.

A SImon Peter a seruaūt, and an Apostle of Jesus Christ, to them whych haue obtayned lyke precyous fayth w̄ vs thorow ꝓ rygh̄teweines of oure God ād sauioure Jesus Christ.

*1.Pet.i.a. *Grace be vnto you, and peace be multiplyed thorow the knowledge of God and of Jesus oure Lorde. Accordynge as his godly power hath geuen vnto vs all thinges that pertayne vnto lyfe and godlynes, thorow the knowledge of him that hath called vs by glory, and vertue, by the whych are geuen vnto vs excellent and moste greate promyses, that by the meanes therof ye myght be *partakers of the godly nature, yf ye flye ꝓ corrupcyon of worldly lust. *John.i.c Coloss.ii.c.

B And herunto geue all diligence: in youre fayth mynyster vertue: & vertue knowledge: *1.Cor.viii.a *in knowledge temperaunce, in temperaunce pacience: in pacience godlynes, in godlynes brotherly kyndnes, in brotherly kyndnes loue. For yf these thynges be amonge you, and be plenteous, they wyll make you that ye nether shalbe ydle nor vnfrutefull in the knowledge of oure Lorde Jesus Christ. But he that lacketh these thynges, is blynde and gropeth for the waye wyth his hāde, and hath forgotten, that he was pourged from hys olde synnes.

C Wherfore brethren, geue the more diligence for to make youre callynge & electiō sure (& by good workes) For yf ye do soch thynges, ye shall neuer fall. Yee and by this meanes an entrynge in shal be mynistred vnto you aboundantly into the euerlastyng kyngdome of oure Lorde and sauioure Jesus Christ.

Wherfore, I wyll not be negligēt to put you all wayes in remēbraunce of soch thynges though ye knowe them youre selues, and be stablished in the present trueth. Notwythstandynge I thynke it mete (as longe as I am in *thys tabernacle) to stere you vp by puttyng you in remembraunce, for as moch, as I am sure, that shortly I must put of thys my tabernacle, *euen as oure Lorde Jesus Christ shewed me. I wyll euer also *II.Cor.v.a ꝓ John.xxi.d

geue my diligence, that ye maye haue wherwyth to stere vp the remembraunce of these thinges after my departyng. For we haue not folowed deceatfull fables, when we opened vnto you the power and commynge of oure Lorde Jesus Christ, but *wyth our eyes we sawe his maiestie: euen then verely when he receaued of God the father honoure and glory, and when there came soch a voyce to hym from the excellent glorye. *Thys is my dere beloued sonne, in whom I haue delyte. This voyce we hearde come from heauen, whan we were wyth hym, in the holy mounte. *1.John.i.a D *Mat.xvii.b. and.iii.b. Marke.i.b. Luke.iii.b

We haue also a ryght sure worde of prophecye, wher vnto yf ye take hede, as vnto a *lyght that shyneth in a darcke place, ye do well, vntyll the daye dawne, ād the daye starre aryse in youre hertes. For so that ye fyrst know thys: that no prophecye in the scripture hath eny pryuate interpretacyon: For the scripture came neuer by the wyll of man: but holy men of God spake, as they were moued by the holy goost. *II. Pet.i.iii.b

¶ The.ij. Chapter.

¶ The prophecyeth of false teachers, and sheweth their punysshement.

THer were false prophetes also amōge the people, euen as *ther shalbe false teachers amonge you: whych prevely shall bryng in damnable sectes (euen denyenge the Lorde that hath bought them and bryng vpon them selues swyft damnacyon, and many shall folowe their damnable wayes, by whom the waye of trueth shal be euyll spoken of, and thorow couetеousnes shall they wyth fayned wordes make marchandyse of you, whose iudgement is now not farre of, and their damnacyon slepeth not. A *Actes.xx.f i.Tim.iiii.a. ii. Tim.iii.a. ii.Pet.iii.d. Jude.i.e.

B For yf God spared not the angels ꝓ synned, but cast them downe into hell, ād delyuered them into chaynes of derknes (to be punyshed) to be kept vnto iudgemēt: nether spared ꝓ olde worlde, but saued *Noe ꝓ rygh̄te preacher of rygh̄teweines, and brought in ꝓ floud vpon the worlde of the vngodly, and turned the cyties of Sodom and Gomor into asshes: ouerthrewe them, damned them, and made on them an enlample vnto those that after shulde lyue vngodly. And iust *Lot vexed wyth the vncleanly conuersacyon of ꝓ wycked, delyuered he. For he beynge rygh̄teous, and dwellynge among them in seynge and hearyng, vexed his rygh̄teous soule from daye to daye wyth their vnlawfull dedes. *The Lorde knoweth how to delyuer the godly out of temptacyon, and to reserue the vniuste vnto the daye of iudgement for to be punyshed: but chefely thē that walcke after the flesshe in the lust of vncleanes, and despyse auctorite. Presumpteous are they, and stubborne, B *Gene.vii.a C *Gene.xiii.f *Job.xxi.b i.Cor.x.c.

and stubborne, whych feare not to speake
C evyll of thē that excell in worshippe. When ꝑ angels which are greater both i power ꝛ might, receaue not of ꝑ Lord rayling iudg-mēt agaynst thē selues. But these as brute beastes, naturally brought forth to be taken and destroyed, speake evyll of the thin-ges ꝑ they vnderstande not, ꝛ shall perisshe
in their awne destruccion, ꝛ receaue the re-warde of vnryghtwesnes.

They coūt it pleasure to lyue deliciously
for a season. Spottes they are ꝛ fylthynes:
which lyue at pleasure i their owne disceа-
uable wayes, fearfulle ꝛ scornige you: hauig
eyes full of aduoutrie, and ꝑ cānot cease from synne: begyling vnstable soules. Her-tes they haue exercysed with robrie. They are cursed chyldren which haue forsake the ryght waye, and are gone astraye folowyn-ge the * waye of Balaam the sonne of Bo-D sor, which loued the rewarde of vnryghtewesnes: but was rebuked of hys iniquitie.
The tame and dōme beast, speakynge with mannes voyce, forbade the madnesse of the Prophete.

* These are welles without water: cloudes
* Iud. i.b that are, caried with a tēpest, to whom the myst of darckines is reserued for euer. For when they haue spoken the greate swelling wordes of vanytie, they entyse thorow lustes in the volupteousnes of the flesh, them
that were cleane escaped: euen them ꝑ now lyue in errour: while they promes them libertie, where as they thē selues are ꝑ bonde
* Iob. viii.b seruaūtes of corruption. * For of whom a Roma. vi.c. mā is ouer come, vnto ꝑ same is he brought ꝛ Hebr. ii.a. in bondage. ꝛ For ꝑ they (after they haue
and. v.c. escaped from the fylthynes of the worlde thorow the knowledge of the Lord and the saiyour Iesu Christ) are yet tāgled agame
* Mat. xii.b. therin, and ouercome * then is the latter ende worse wyth them then the begynninge.
For it had bene better for thē, not to haue knowne ꝑ waye of ryghteousnes, thē after they haue knowen it, to turne frō the holy commaundement ꝑ was geuen vnto them:
* Prou. xxi. But the same is happened vnto thē that is vsed to be spokē by ꝑ true prouerbe. * The dogge is turned to his awne vomet agayne
and the sow ꝑ was washed is turned agayn-ne to her walowynge in the myer.

C Of ꝑ daye of ꝑ Lord, whose longe tarynge is saluacion.

C The. iii. Chapter.

THis is the seconde epistle that I now
write vnto you dearly beloued, wher
with I stere vp your syncere mynde,
by putting you in remembraunce, that ye maye be myndefull of the wordes (whych were tolde before of the holy Prophetes)
and also the commaundement of vs whych
be Apostles of the Lorde and saiyour

* This fyrst vnderstande, that ther shall * 2 Tim. iii.c.
come in the last dayes, mockers ⁊ (in disceat- iii. Pet. ii.a fulnesse) whych wyll walke after their awne & iii.
lustes, ⁊ saye: Where is the promes of hys Iud. i.a.
commyng? For sence the fathers dyed, all i. Tim. iiii. ⁊ thynges continue in the same estate wherin ii. Timot. ii.
they were at the beginninge. For this they knowe not (and that wylfully) how that ꝑ B
heauens a great whyle ago were, ⁊ the erth out of the water appeared vp thorow the water, by the word of God: by the whych
thynges the worlde that then was, perysshed
beynge ouerrunne wyth water. * But the * Iob. xviii.b
heaues and erth whych are now, be kept by Esa. ii.b.
hys worde in store, and reserued vnto fyre,
agaynst the daye of iudgement ⁊ perdicion
of vngodly men.

Dearly beloued, be not ignorant of this one thige, howe that * one daye is with the * Psalm. xc.a Lorde as a thousande yeare, ⁊ a thousande i. Corin. xii.b
yeare as one daye. The Lord that hath pro mised, is not slacke, as some mē count slack
nes: but is pacyent to vs warde: for almoch
as he wolde haue no man lost, but wyll re-
ceaue all men to repentaunce.

Neuertheles * the daye of the Lord wyll C
come as a theke in the nyght, in the which * ma. xxiiii.b daye, the heauens shall passe awaye in ma- i. Thessa. v.a ⁊ ner of a tempest, and the elemētes shal melt Apo. iii.a with heat: the erth also ⁊ the workes that and. xvi.b are therin, shall burne. Seyng thē that all these thinges shal perisshe, what maner persons ought ye to be in holy conuersacyon,
and godlynes: lokyng for, and hastinge vn-
to the commynge of the daye of God, by whō the heauens shall perisshe with fyre, ⁊
the elementes shall melt with heate? * Ne- * Apo. xxi.a.
uertheles, we (accordig to his promes) lo-
ke for a new heauē and a new earth, wherin
dwelleth ryghteousnes.

Wherfore dearly beloued, seynge that ye loke for such thinges, be diligent ꝑ ye maye D
be founde of hym in peace, wythout spotte
and vndefyled. And suppose that the longe sufferinge of the Lord is saluacyon, euen as oure derely beloued brother Paule also (ac-cordinge to the wysdome geuen vnto him)
hath wrytten vnto you, ye, almost i euery
epistle, speakynge of such thinges: amonge
which are many thinges harde to be vnderstāde, which they that are vnlearned ⁊ vnstable, peruert, as they do also ꝑ other scriptures vnto their awne destruccio. Ye ther fore beloued, (seynge ye be warned afore
hād) beware, lest ye, wyth other men be also plucked awaye thorow the errour of the wycked, and fall from your awne stedfastnes: but growe in grace, ⁊ in the knowledge of oure Lorde and saiyoure Iesus Christ.
To whom be glory both now and for euer.
Amen.

The

¶ The fyrst Epistle of Mayster John the Apostle.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

¶ Christ wryteth of the euerlastynge worde of God. The bloude of Christe is the purgacyon from synne. No man is wythout synne.

THat which was from the begynnynge, whyche we haue hearde, whyche we haue sene wyth oure eyes, whych we haue loked vpon, and our hãdes haue handled, of ẏ word of ẏ lyfe. And the lyfe appeared, & we haue sene and beare wytnes, & shewe vnto you * that eternall lyfe, whyche was wyth the father, & appeared vnto vs. That which we haue sene & herde, declare we vnto you, ẏ ye also maye haue fellowshyppe with vs, and that oure fellowshyppe maye be wyth the father and his sonne Jesus Christ. And thys wryte we vnto you, ẏ (ye maye reioyce, and that) youre ioye maye be full.

* 1ohã. yviii.a

And this is the tydynges whych we haue hearde of hym & declare vnto you, ẏ God is lyght, & in him is no derknes at all. If we saye, ẏ we haue feloushippe with hym, and walcke i derknes, we lye, & do not ẏ truth. ☞ But & yf we walke in lyght euen as he is in lyght, then haue we felloshippe wt̃ him, and * the bloude of Jesus Christ his sonne clenseth vs from all synne.

* Hebr. ix.d. Apoca. i.b.

* If we saye that we haue no synne, we deceaue oure selues, and the trueth is not in vs: * If we knowledge oure synnes, he is * iii. Reg. viii. c. ii. Para. vi. g. * Iob. viii. c. Psal. xxxii. b and. xxxiv. c. Luke. xv. d.

faythfull & iust, to forgeue vs oure synnes, and to clense vs from all vnrighteousnes. If we saye we haue not synned, we make hym a lyar, and hys worde is not in vs.

¶ Christ is oure aduocate. Of true loue, & how it is tryed.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

MY lytell chyldren, these thinges write I vnto you, that ye synne not. And yf eny man synne, we haue an aduocate wyth the father, Jesus christ, the ryghteous: & he it is ẏ obtayneth grace for oure synnes, not for oure synnes onely: but also for ẏ synnes of all the worlde. ✠ And herby we are sure ẏ we knowe hym, yf we kepe hys commaundementes. * Iob. viii.d. * He that sayth I knowe hym, and kepeth not hys commaundementes is a lyar, and the veritye is not in hym. But whoso keepeth hys worde, in hym is the loue of God parfect i dede: herby knowe we that we are in him. He ẏ sayth he bydeth in hym, ought to walke euen as he walked. ✠

BRethren, I wryte no newe cõmaundement vnto you: but that olde commaundemẽt, which ye haue had frõ the begynnynge. The olde commaundement is the worde, which ye haue hearde from the beginninge. Agayne, a newe commaundement I wryte vnto you, that is true in him, and the same is true also in you: for the derknes is past, and the true lyght now shyneth. ✠ He that sayth how that he is in the lyght, & yet hateth his brother, is in derknes euen vntyll thys tyme. He that loueth his brother, abyde th in the lyght, and ther is none occasion of euyll in hym. He that * hateth his brother, is in derknes, & walketh in derknes: and can not tell whyther he goeth, because that derknes hath blynded hys eyes. * Leui. xix.d

Babes I wryte vnto you, how ẏ youre synnes are forgeuẽ you for his names sake. I wryte vnto you fathers, how that ye haue knowne him that is from the beginnynge. I wryte vnto you ponge men, how ẏ ye haue ouercome ẏ wicked: I write vnto you lytell chyldren, how ẏ ye haue knowen ẏ father. I haue wryten vnto you fathers, how that ye haue knowne hym that is from the beginnynge. I haue wrytẽ vnto you ponge men, how that ye are stroge, and the worde of God abydeth in you, and ye haue ouercome that wycked.

Se that ye loue not * the worlde, nether the thynges that are in the worlde. If eny mã loue the worlde, the loue of the father is not in hym. For all that is in the worlde (as the lust of the flesshe, and the lust of the eyes, & the pryde of life) is not of the father, but of the worlde. And the worlde passeth a waye and the lust therof: but he that fulfylleth the will of God, abydeth for euer. * Iob. xvii.b

D

Lytell chyldren, it is the last tyme, and as ye haue herde how that Antichrist shall come, euen now are there many begonne to be Antichristes allredy, wherby we knowe, ẏ it is the last tyme. * They went out frõ vs, but they were not of vs. For yf they had bene of vs, they wolde no dout haue cõtinued with vs. But that it myght appeare, that they were not of vs. * Actuũ. xx.f

Neuertheles, ye haue an oyntmẽt of him ẏ is holy, and ye knowe all thinges. ✠ I haue not wrytẽ vnto you, as though ye knewe not ẏ trueth: but as though ye knewe it (& knowe also) ẏ no lye cõmeth of trueth. Who is a lyar, but he that denyeth that Jesus is Christ? the same is Antichrist, that denieth the father & the sonne. Whosoeuer denyeth the sonne, the same hath not the father. (¶ he that knowlegeth the sonne, hath the father also) Let therfore abyde in you that same which ye hearde from the beginninge. If that which ye hearde from the beginnynge shal remayne in you, ye also shall contynew in the sonne, and in the father. And thys is the promes that he hath promysed vs, euen eternall lyfe.

These

These thinges haue I writen vnto you, concernynge tyē that disceaue you. And the anoyntinge which ye haue receaued of him dwelleth in you. And ye nede not, that eny man teach you: but * as ỹ anoyntinge teacheth you of all thinges, and is true, and no lye, and as it hath taught you, euen so byde therin. And now babes abyde in hym: that when he shall appeare, we maye be bolde, & not be made ashamed of hym at hys commynge. If ye knowe that he his righteous, knowe also ỹ euery one which doth righteousnes, is borne of hym.

*1 Ioh. iiii. d. Ioh. b. c.

¶ The synguler loue of God toward vs: and how we agayne ought to loue one a nother.

¶ The. iii. Chapter.

BEholde, what loue the father hath shewed on vs, that we shuld be called* (& be in dede) ỹ * sonnes of God. For this cause ỹ worlde knoweth you not, because it knoweth not hym. Derarely beloued, now are we ỹ sonnes of God & yet it doth not appeare, what we shalbe. But we knowe, that when it shall appeare, we shalbe lyke him. For we shall se hym as he is. And euery mā that hath this hope in him, pourgeth him selfe, euē as he also is pure. Whosoeuer commytteth synne, committeth vnrighteousnes also, and synne is vnrighteousnes. And ye knowe, that he appeared, to take awaye oure synnes, and in him is no synne. As many as byde in hym, synne not: whosoeuer synneth, hath not sene hym, nether knowne hym.

A

*Luke. xv. f. Ioh. i. b.

Babes, let no man deceaue you. He that doeth ryghteousnes, is ryghteous, euen as he is ryghteous. He that cōmitteth synne, is of the deuyll: * for the deuyll synneth sence the beginnynge. For this purpose appeared the sonne of God, to lowse the workes of ỹ deuyl. Whosoeuer is borne of God, synneth not: for his seed remayneth in him, and he cānot synne, because he is borne of God. In thys are the chyldren of God knowen, and the chyldren of the deuyll. Whosoeuer doeth not ryghteousnes, is not of God, nether he that loueth not hys brother.

B

*Gene. iii. a. Ioh. viii. f.

¶ For this is the tidinges, that ye hearde from the beginninge, that ye shuld loue one another, not as * Cayn which was of that wicked, and slewe his brother. And wherfore slewe he hym? Because his awne workes were cuyll, and hys brothers good. ✠ Marueyle not my brethrē though ỹ world hate you. We knowe, that we are trāslated from deeth vnto lyfe, because we loue the brethren. * He that loueth not hys brother, abydeth in deeth. Whosoeuer hateth his brother, is a mā slear. And ye knowe, ỹ no man slear, hath eternall lyfe abydynge in hym.

*Gene. iiii. b

*1 Ioh. iii. d

Herby perceaue we loue: because he gaue his lyfe for vs: & we ought to geue oure lyues for the brethren. But whoso hath thys worldes good and * seyth hys brother haue neade: and shutteth vp his cōpassion from him: how dwelleth the loue of God in hym? My babes, let vs not loue in worde nether in tonge: but in dede & in veritie. ✠ Herby we knowe, that we are of the veritie & can quyet oure hertes before hym. For yf oure herte condēpne vs, God is gretter thē oure herte, and knoweth all thinges. Dearly beloued, yf oure herte condempne vs not, then haue we truste to God warde: & * what soeuer we aske we receaue of hym, because we kepe his cōmaundementes, & do those thinges which are pleasinge in his syght.

*Deute. vi. b

C

*1 Ioh. iii. d. and. iv. c Ioh. vi. b. and. xvi. f. Iaco. i. a. ✠ Ioh. b. f. † Ioh. viii. b.

And † this is hys cōmaundement, ỹ we beleue on the name of his sonne Jesus Christ, and loue one another, as he gaue cōmaundement. And he that kepeth hys commaundementes, dwelleth in him, & he in him, and herby we knowe that he abydeth in vs, euē by the spyrete which he hath geuen vs.

¶ Differences of spyretes, & how the spyrete of God maye be knowne from the spyrete of errroure. Of the loue of God and of oure neyghboures.

¶ The. iiii. Chapter.

DEarly beloued * beleue not euery spyrete: but proue ỹ spyretes, whether they are of god or not, for † many false prophetes are gone out into the worlde. Herby shall ye knowe ỹ spyrete of God. Euery spyrete that confesseth that Jesu Christ is come in the flesshe is of God. And euery spyrete which confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesshe, is not of God. And this is that spyrete of Antichrist, of whom ye haue hearde, howe ỹ he shulde come: and euē now alredy is he in the worlde.

A

*1 Ioh. iii. d. Deute. xiii. a. † 2 Pa. xviii. a Mark. xiii. a. Luke. xxi. b.

Lyttell chyldren, ye are of God, and haue ouercome them: for greater is he that is in you, then he that is in the worlde. They are of the worlde, therfore speake they of the worlde, and the worlde heareth them. We are of God. He that knoweth God, heareth vs: he ỹ is not of God, heareth vs not. Herby knowe we the spyrete of veritie, and the spyrete of errroure.

B

Dearly beloued * let vs loue one another: for loue cōmeth of God. And euery one that loueth, is borne of God, and knoweth God. He that loueth not, knoweth not God: for ✠ God is loue. In this appeared ỹ loue of God to vs ward, because ỹ * God sent hys onely begotten sonne into the worlde, ỹ we might liue thorow him. Herein is loue, not ỹ we loued God, but ỹ he loued vs, & sent hys sonne to be the agrement for oure synnes.

*1 Ioh. viii. b. and. xv. b. 1. Tessalo. i. b

*1 Ioh. iv. c. Roma. v. d.

Dearly beloued, yf God so loued vs, we ought also to loue one another. * No man hath sene God at eny tyme. If we loue one another, God dwelleth in vs, & hys loue is parfect in vs. Herby knowe we ỹ we dwell

C

*Ex. xxxiii. d Iudic. b. c. Deuter. iiii. b Io. i. c. 9. d. i in hym,

in hym. And he in vs: because he hath geuen vs of hys spiete. And we haue sene, & do testifye, that the father sent ꝑ sonne to be the sauyour of the worlde. Whosoeuer confesseth, ꝑ Jesus is the sonne God, in him dwelleth God, & he in God. And we haue knowē and beleued the loue ꝑ God hath to vs.

D God is loue, & he that dwelleth in loue, dwelleth in God, and God in him. Here I is the loue perfect in vs, ꝑ we shuld haue trust in the daye of iudgement: For as he is, euē so are we i this worlde. Ther is no feare in loue, but parfect loue casteth out feare, for feare hath paynfulnes. he ꝑ feareth, is not parfect in lone.

We loue him, for he loued vs fyrst. If a man say, I loue God, and yet hate his brother, he is a liar. For how cā he ꝑ loued not hys brother whom he hath sene, loue God whom he hath not sene? And this cōmaundement haue we of hym: ꝑ he which loueth God, shuld loue his brother also. ✠

¶ To loue God, is to kepe his commaundementes. Faych ouercōmeth the worlde. Euerlastynge lyfe is in the sonne of God. Of the synne vnto death.

¶ The.v. Chapter.

A Whosoeuer beleueth ꝑ Jesus is Christ, is borne of God. And euery one that loueth hym which begat, loueth him
John. viii. c. also which was begotten of him. * By this we knowe, ꝑ we loue the chyldren of God, when we loue God, and kepe his commaundementes. For this is the loue of God, that
* Mat. xii. b. We kepe his commaūdementes, and * his cōmaundementes are not greuous. ✠ For all that is borne of God, ouercommeth the
B worlde. And this is the * victory that ouer
1. Cor. xv. g. commeth the worlde, euē oure fayth. Who is it ꝑ ouercōmeth the worlde, but he which beleueth, that Jesus is the sonne of God?

This Jesus Christ is he that cam by water & bloud, not by water onely, but by water and bloud. And it is the spiete that bea
C reth wytnes, because the spiete is trueth.
(For ther are thre which beare recorde in heauen, ꝑ father, ꝑ worde & ꝑ holy goost, And these thre are one.) And ther
D are thre which beare recorde in earth, ꝑ spiete & water, and bloud: & these thre are one.
If we receaue the wytnes of mē, the witnes of God is greater. For this is the witnes of E God (which is greater) which he testifyed of his sonne. He that beleueth on the sōne of God, hath the witnes in hym selfe. ✠ He that be beleueth not God, hath made him a liar because he beleued not the recorde ꝑ God gaue of hys sonne. And this is ꝑ recorde, how ¶ that God hath geuē vnto vs eternall lyfe, & this lyfe is in hys sonne. He that hath the sonne hath lyfe: & he that hath not the sonne of God, hath not lyfe.

These thynges haue I wrytte vnto you that beleue on the name of the sōne of God, that ye maye knowe, how that ye haue eter
nall lyfe, & that ye maye beleue on the name of the sonne of God. And thys is ꝑ trust that we haue in hym: that * yf we aske eny
* Mat. vii. a. and. xxi. c. Mar. xi. b. Luke. xi. b. John. xiiii. b. xv. b. xvi. f. Jaco. i. c. 1. John. iii. b. D thynge accordynge to hys wyll, he heareth vs. And yf we knowe ꝑ he heare vs what soeuer we aske, we knowe, that we haue the petycyons, that we desyre of hym.

If eny man se hys brother synne a synne not vnto deeth, let him aske, & he shall geue him lyfe for the that synne not vnto deeth. Ther is a synne vnto deeth, for which saye I not ꝑ a mā shuld praye. All vnrygh te wel nes is synne, & ther is synne not vnto deeth.

We knowe, that whosoeuer is borne of God, synneth not: but he that is begottē of God, kepeth hym selfe, & that wycked toucheth hym not. We knowe, that we are of God, and the worlde is all together set on wyckednes. We knowe, that the sonne of God is come, and hath geuē vs a mynde to knowe hym which is true: & we are in hym that is true, through is sonne Jesu Christ. This same is very God, and eternall lyfe. Babes kepes youre selues from ymages.

Amen.

¶ The seconde epistle of Sayncte John.

¶ He wryteth vnto a certayne lady, reioyseth that her children walke in ꝑ trueth, exhorteth them vnto love, warneth them to beware of such deceauers as denye that Jesus Christ came in the flesh, prayeth them to continue in the doctrine of Christ, & to haue nothinge to do with them that bringe not this lernynge.

THe elder to the electe lady ād her A childrē, whom I loue in ꝑ trueth: and not I onely, but also all that haue knowē the trueth for ꝑ truthes sake whych dwelleth in vs, and shalbe in vs for euer.

With vs shall be grace, mercye, & peace from God the father & from the lord Jesus Christ ꝑ sonne of the father, i trueth & loue.

I reioysed greatly, that I founde of thy childrē walkinge in trueth, as we haue re
B reaued a cōmaundement of the father. And now beleche I ꝑ lady, not as though I wro
C te a newe cōmaundement vnto the, but that same which we haue had frō the beginynge, that we shuld * loue one another. And this
* Joh. xiiii. f. 1. John. v. d. is the loue, that we shulde walke after hys commaundement.

This commaundement is (that as ye ha
D ue hearde frō ꝑ beginnynge) ye shuld walke in it. For many deceauers are entred into the worlde, which confesse not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesshe. This is a decea
E uer and an Antichrist. Loke on your selues that we loose not that we haue wrought: but that we maye haue a full reward. Who ¶ soeuer

soeuer trāsgresseth & bydeth not i ꝓ doctryne of Christ, hath not God. He ꝓ endureth i ꝓ doctrine of Christ, hath both ꝓ father & ꝓ sonne. ¶ If ther come eny vnto you, & brige not this learnige, him receaue not to house: nether byd hi God spede. For he ꝓ byddeth hi God spede, is partaker of hys cuyl dedes ¶ (Beholde, I haue tolde you before, that ye shulde not be ashamed in daye of the lorde.) I had many thynges to wryte vnto you, neuertheles I wolde not wryte w̄ paper and ynke: but I trust to come vnto you, & speake w̄ you mouth to mouth, that oure ioye maye be full: the sonne of thy electe sister grete the. Amen.

¶ The thyrde epistle of sayncte John.

¶ He is glad of Gayus, that he walketh in the truth: exhorteth them to be loynge vnto the poore Christen in theyr persecucion, sheweth the vnkynde dealynge of Diotrephes, and the good reporte of Demetrius.

A

THe elder vnto ꝓ beloued Gayus whō I loue in the trueth. Beloued I wilshe in all thynges that thou prosperedest, and faredest well, euen as thy soule prospereth. For I reioyced greatly, whē ꝓ brethren came, and testifyed of the trueth that is in the, how thou walkest in the trueth. I
B haue no greater ioye, thē for to heare, how that my sonnes walke in veritye. Beloued thou doest faythfully, what soeuer ꝓ doest to ꝓ brethren, and to straūgers, which beare wytnes of thy loue before the congregacyon. Which brethren if thou bringe forwardes of theyr iorney (after a godly sorte) ꝓ shalt do well: because that for his names sake they wēt forth: and toke nothynge of the Gētyls. We therfore ought to receaue such, that we myght be helpers to the trueth. I wrote vnto the congregaciō: but
C Diotrephes which loueth to haue the preeminence amōge them, receaueth vs not.

Wherfore yf I come, I will declare hys dedes which he doeth, tellinge on vs w̄ malicious wordes, nether is therewith contēt. Not onely he him selfe receaueth not ꝓ brethren: but also he forbyddeth thē ꝓ wolde, and thrusteth them out of the congregaciō.
D Beloued, folowe not that which is cuyll, but that which is good. He that doeth well is of God: but he that doeth cuill, seyth not God. Demetrius hath good reporte of all men & of the trueth it selfe. yee, and we oure selues also beare recorde, & ye knowe, that oure recorde is true. I had many thiges to wryte: but I will not with ynke and penne wryte vnto the. I trust I shall shortly se ꝓ & we shall speake mouth to mouth. Peace be vnto the. The louers salute the. Grete the louers by name.

¶ The Epistle of Sayncte Jude.

¶ He rebuketh such as bringe dyuysed with their awne lustes, repugnāt the trueth. He exhorteth ye to edifye ayne another, to praye in ꝓ holy ghost to conclaue in loue to loke for the commynge of the Lorde.

IUdas the seruaūt of Jesus A
Christ ꝓ brother of James. To them which are called, and sanctifyed in God the father, and preserued in Jesu Christ. Mercy vnto you and peace and loue be multiplyed.

Beloued, when I gaue all dyligence to wryte vnto you of the commen saluacyon, it was nedeful for me to write vnto you, to exhorte you, that ye shuld contynually laboure in the fayth, which was once geuen vnto ꝓ sayncte. For ther are certayne vngodly mē crafftely crept in, of which it was writte afore tyme vnto such iudgement. They turne ꝓ grace of oure God vnto wantonnes, and denye God (which is the onely Lorde) and oure Lorde Jesus Christ.

My mynde is therfore to put you in remembraūce, for as moche as ye once knowe this, how that the Lorde (after that he had B delyuered ꝓ people out of Egypt) destroyed them which after warde beleued not. The āgels also which kept not their fyrst estate, but lefte their awne habitacion, he hath reserued in euerlastynge chaynes vnder darcknes vnto ꝓ iudgemēt of the greate daye:
* euen as Sodome & Gomore, and the cy- * Gen. xix.
tyes aboute them (which in lyke maner defyled thē selues with fornicacyon, and folowed C straūge flesche) are set forth for an ensample, & suffre ꝓ payne of eternall fyre. Lykewyse, these beyng disceaued by dreames, defile ꝓ flesche, despise rulars & speake euyll of them that are in auctorite.

Yet Michael the archāgell when he stroue agaynst the deuyll, & disputed about the body of Moses, durst not geue raylinge sentence, but sayde, the Lorde rebuke the. But these speake euyll of those thynges whych they knowe not: and what thynges they knowe naturaly (as beastes which are wythout reasō) i those thiges they corrupte thē selues. Wo be vnto the, for they haue folowed ꝓ waye of * Cain, & are vtterly geuē to * Gen. iiii.b.
the errour of Bala for lukers sake * & perish * Num. xvi.c
she in ꝓ treason of Core. These are spottes D which of your kindes feast together, w̄ out feare, lyuynge lawlesse, and after ther awne pleasure. Cloudes they are with out water, caryed about of windes, trees w̄ out frute at gatherynge at geatherige time withered, twyse deed, & plucked vp by ꝑ rotes. They are ꝑ ragynge waues of ꝑ see, fompynge out their awne shame. They are wandrynge sterres, to whom is reserued the myst of darckenes for euer.

Enoch the seuenth from Adam prophesyed before of such, sayinge. * Beholde, the Lord shall come with thousandes of sayncters, to geue iudgement agaynst all men, & to rebuke all that are vngodly amonge the of all their vngodly dedes, which they haue vngodly committed, and of all their cruell speakynges, which vngodly synners haue spoken agaynst hym.

* Apoca.i.b. Iuda. iii.c.

E These are murmurers, cõplayners, walkyng after their awne lustes, whose mouthes speake proude thinges. They haue mẽ in greate reuerence because of aduantage. But ye beloued, remẽber the wordes which were spoken before of the Apostles of oure Lord Jesu Christ, how that they tolde you * that there shuld be begylers in the last tyme, which shuld walke after their awne vngodly lustes. These are makers of sectes, sensyle, hauynge no spyrite.

* Actua. xx.f. i. Tim. iiii.a. ii. Tim. iii.a. ii. Pe. ii.g Iuda. iii.a.

But ye derlye beloued, edifye youre selues in your most holy fayth, prayinge in ꝑ holy goost, and kepe your selues in the loue of God, lokynge for the mercy of oure Lord Jesus Christ, vnto eternall lyfe. And haue compassion of some, separatinge them, and other saue with feare, pullinge them out of the fyre: (and haue compassion on the other) and hate the fylthy vesture of the flesshe.

F

Vnto him that is able to kepe you fre frõ synne, & to present you fautelesse before the presence of his glory w̃ ioye (at the comynge of oure Lorde Jesus Christ) to God oure sauyour: (thorow Jesu Christ oure lorde) which onely is wyse be glory, maiesty, dominion, and power, (before all worldes) now and euer. Amen.

¶ The reuelacyon of Sayncte John the diuine.

¶ Happie are they that heare the wordes of God and kepe it. He writeth to the seuen congregacions in Asia, seeth seuen candelstickes, and in the myddes of them, one lyke vnto the sonne of man.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

THe reuelacyon of Jesus Christ which God gaue vnto him, for to shewe vnto hys seruauntes, thynges whych muste shortely come to passe. ✠ And when he had sent, he shewed by hys Angell vnto his seruaũt John, which bare recorde of the worde of God, and of the testymony of Jesus Christ, and of all thynges that he sawe. happy is he that readith, and they that heare the wordes of the prophesy, and kepe those thynges which are writtẽ therin. For the tyme is at hande.

John to the seuen congregacions in Asia. Grace be vnto you and peace, frõ hi which is and which was, and which is to come, & from the seuen spretes which are before his trone, & frõ Jesus Christ, which is a fayth full wytnes, & fyrst begotten of the deed: & Lorde ouer the kynges of the erth. Vnto him that * loued vs, and washed vs from oure synnes in hys awne bloude, & made vs kynges ād prestes vnto God his father, be glory and dominion for euermore. Amen. * Beholde, he cometh with cloudes, & all eyes shall se hi, & they also which pearsed him. And all kynredes of the erth shall wayle. on (ouer hym) Euẽ so: Amen. I am Alpha and Omega, the begynnyng and ꝑ endynge, sayth the Lorde almyghty, which is and which was, and which is to come.

* Heb. ix.a. i. Pet. ii.b. i. John. i.b.

* At tyme and. xxb. c Dan. vii.b

I John youre brother, and companiõ in tribulaciõ, and in the kyngdome & pacience in Jesu Christ, was in the yle that is called Pathmos, for ꝑ worde of God, and for the witnessig of Jesu Christ: I was i the spyrite on a sondaye, & herde behynde me a great voyce, as it had bene of a trompe, sayinge: I am Alpha and Omega, the fyrst and the laste. That thou seyst, wryte in a boke, and sende it vnto the seuen cõgregaciõs which are in Asia, vnto Ephesus, & vnto Smyrna and vnto Pergamos, and vnto Thiatira, and vnto Sardis, & vnto Philadelphia, and vnto Laodicia.

And I turned backe to se the voyce that spake to me. And when I was turned: I sawe seuen golden candelstickes, & i the myddes of the candelstickes, one lyke vnto the sonne of man, clothed with a lynnẽ garmẽt downe to the fete, and gyrd about the papes w̃ a golden gyrdle. His heed, & his heares were whyte, as whyte woll, & as snowe and hys eyes were as a flame of fyre: & hys fete lyke vnto brasse, as though they brent in a fornace, and his voyce as the soũde of many waters. And he had i his ryghte hãde. vii. starres. And out of his mouthe wẽt a sharpe two edged swearde. * And his face shone, euen as the sonne in his strength.

* Mat. xvii.

And when I sawe him, I fell at his fete. euen as deed. And he layde his ryghte hãde vpõ me, saying vnto me: feare not. * I am ꝑ fyrst & the laste, & and am a lyue, and was deed. And beholde * I am a lyue for euermore & haue ꝑ keyes of hell & of deeth. Wryte therfore the thynges which thou hast sene, and the thynges which are, and the thinges which muste be fulfylled here after: ꝑ mistery of the. vii. starres which thou sawest in my ryghte hãde, and the. vii. golden candelstickes. The. vii. starres are the messẽgers of the. vii. cõgregaciõs, And the seuen candelstickes delstickes which thou sawest, are the seuen congregacyons.

* Esa. xlviii. * Roma. vi.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

¶ He exhorteth foure congregacyons to amende, & sheweth the rewarde of hym that ouercõmeth.

A VNto the messenger of ꝑ cõgregacyõ of Ephesus wryte: these thynges sayth he, that holdeth the seuen starres in hys ryght hande, and that walketh in the myddes of the seuen golden cãdelsticks. I knowe thy worckes, and thy labour, & thy patiẽce and how thou canneste not forbeare them whych are cupll: and hast examined them whych saye they are Apostles, and are not: & hast founde them lyars, & hast suffred. And hast patience: and for my names sake hast labored, and hast not faynted. Neuertheles, I haue sum what agaynst the, because thou hast lefte thy fyrst loue. B Remember therfore from whence thou art fallen, & repent, and do the fyrst worckes. Or elles I wyll come vnto the shortly, & wyll remoue thy cãdelsticke out of his place, except thou repent. But this thou hast, because thou hatest the dedes of the * Nycolaitans, which dedes I also hate. Lett hym that hath eares, heare what the spyrete sayth vnto ꝑ cõgregacyõs. To hym that ouercõmeth, wyll I geue to eate of the * tree of lyfe, which is in ꝑ myddes of the Paradyse of God. *Act.vi.b. *Gene.ii.b.

C And vnto the angell of the cõgregacyon of Smyrna wryte: These thynges sayth he that is fyrst, & the laste, which was deed, and is alyue. I know thy worckes & tribulacyon and powerte, but thou art ryche. And I knowe ꝑ blasphemy of them, whych call them selues Iewes & are not: but are the cõgregacyon of Sathan. Feare none of those thynges, which thou shalt suffre. Beholde, the deuyll shall caste some of you into preson, to tẽpte you, & ye shall haue tribulacyõ ten dayes. Be faythfull vnto ꝑ deeth, and I wyll geue the a croune of lyfe. Let hym that hath eares, heare, what ꝑ spyrete sayth to the cõgregacyons. He that ouercõmeth, shall not be hurt of the seconde deeth.

D And to the messenger of the cõgregacyon in Pergamos wryte: This sayth he, which hath the sharpe swearde with two edges: I knowe thy worckes, & where thou dwellest, euen where Sathanas seat is, and thou kepest my name, & hast not denyed my fayth. And in my dayes Antipas was a faythfull wytnes of myne, whych was slayne amonge you, where Sathan dwelleth. But I haue a fewe thynges agaynst ꝑ: because thou hast there, them that mayntayne ꝑ doctrine of Balam * which taught in Balake, to put occasyon of synne before the chyldren of Israel, ꝑ they shulde eate of meate dedycat vnto yboles, and commyt fornycacyon. *Nu.xxxi.d.

Euen so hast thou them that mayntayne ꝑ doctryne of the Nycolaitãs, which thynge I hate. But be cõuerted, or elles I wyll come vnto ꝑ shortly, and wyll fight agaynst the with ꝑ swearde of my mouth. Let hym E that hath eares, heare, what ꝑ spyrete sayth vnto ꝑ congregacyõs. To hym that ouercõmeth, wyll I geue to eate Manna that is hyd, & wyll geue hym a whyte stone, & i the stone a newe name wrytten, which no man knoweth, sauynge he that receaueth it.

And vnto ꝑ messenger of ꝑ cõgregacyon of Thyatira wryte. Thys sayth the sonne of God, which hath eyes lyke vnto a flãme of fyre, & hys fete are lyke brasse: I knowe thy worckes, & thy loue, servyce, and fayth, and thy pacience, & thy dedes, which are mo F at the last then at the fyrst. Notwithstandynge I haue a fewe thynges agaynst the, because thou sufferest that woman * Iesabell, which called her selfe a Prophetisse, to teache & to deceaue my seruauntes, to make them cõmyt fornycacyon, & to eate meates offered vp vnto yboles. And I gaue her space to repẽt of her fornycacyon, & she repẽted not. Beholde, I wyll caste her into a beed: & them that cõmyt fornycacyon with her, into great aduersytie, excepte they turne frõ their deades. And I wyll kyll her chyldren with deeth. And all the congregacyõs shall knowe, that * I am he which searcheth the reynes & hertes. And I wyll geue vnto euery one of you acordynge vnto hys worckes. *iii. Reg.xvi. *iiii. Reg.ix.b. Ierc.xvii.b.

Vnto you I saye, and vnto other of them G of Thyatira, as many as haue not this lernyng & which haue not knowen the depnes of Sathan (as they saye) I wyll put vpon you none other burthen, but ꝑ which ye haue alreadp. Holde fast tyll I come, & whosoeuer ouercõmeth & kepeth my worckes vnto the ende, to hym wyll I geue power ouer nacyõs, * & he shall rule them w a rodde of yron: & as ꝑ vesselis of a potter, shall they be broken to shyuers. Euen as I receaued of my father, so wyll I geue hym the mornyng starre. Let hym that hath eares, heare, what ꝑ spyrete sayth to the cõgregacyons. *Psal.ii.b.

¶ The iii. Chapter.

¶ He instructeth and exhorteth the Angels of the cõgregacyons, declarynge also the rewarde of hym that ouercommeth.

AND wryte vnto the messenger A of ꝑ congregacion ꝑ is at Sardis: this sayth he ꝑ hath ꝑ seuẽ spyretes of God & the seuen starres. I know thy worckes, thou hast a name that thou lyuest, and thou art deed. Be awake, and strengthe the thynges which remayne, ꝑ are redy to dye. For I haue not founde thy worckes perfayete before my God. Remẽber therfore, how thou hast receaued & heard, & hold fast, & repent. #o

An If thou

xvi. Thessa. b. 4. ii. Pet. iii. c.

* If thou shalt not watche, I wyll come on the as a theefe, & thou shalt not know what houre I wyll come vpon the. Thou hast a fewe names in Sardys, whych haue not defyled theyr garmentes, & they shall walke wyth me in whyte, for they are worthy. He that ouercōmeth, shalbe thus clothed in whyte araye, and I wyll not put out his name out of the boke of lyfe, and I wyll confesse hys name before my father, and before hys Angels. Let hym that hath eares, heare, what the spyrete sayth vnto the congregacyons.

And wryte vnto the angell of the congregacion of Philadelphia: this sayth he that is holy and true, which hath ỹ keye of David: * whych openeth and no man shutteth, and shutteth, & no man openeth. I knowe thy workes. Beholde, I haue set before the an open doze, and no man can shut it, for thou hast a lytell strength, & haste kept my sayinges: & hast not denyed my name. Beholde, I make them of the cōgregacyon of Sathan, whych call them selues Iewes, and are not, but do lye: Beholde, I wyll make them that they shall come, and worshyp before thy fete: and shall knowe, that I haue loued the.

* Esa. xxii. f. Iob. xii. c.

Because thou hast kept ỹ wordes of my pacyence, therfore I wyll kepe the from the houre of temptacyon, which wyll come vpon all the worlde, to tempte them that dwell vpon ỹ erth. Beholde, I come shortly. Holde that which thou hast, that no man take awaye thy crowne. Hym that ouercōmeth, wyll I make a pyllar in the temple of my God, & he shall go nomore out, And I wyll wryte vpon hym, the name of my God and the name of the cyrye of my God, new Ierusalem: whych cōmeth downe out of heauen from my God, and I wyll wryte vpon hym my new name. Let hym that hath eares, heare, what the spyrete sayth vnto the congregacyons.

And vnto ỹ messenger of ỹ cōgregacyon whych is in Laodicia, wryte: This sayth (Amen) the faythfull and true wytnes, the begynnyng of ỹ creatures of God. I know thy workes, that thou art nether colde nor hotte: I wolde ỹ were colde or hotte. So then because thou art betwene bothe, and nether colde ner hote, I wyll spewe the out of my mouth, because thou sayest: I am ryche & incresyd wyth goodes, and haue nede of nothyng, and knowest not, how thou art wretched & mysserable, and poore, & blynde and naked. I counsell the to bye of me, golde tryed in the fyre, that thou mayste be ryche: and whyte rayment, that thou mayste be * clothed, ỹ thy fylthy nakednes do not appeare, & anoynt thyne eyes wyth eye salue that thou mayste se.

* Reuel. iii. b. Heb. xii. b.

As many as I lone, I rebuke, & chasten, Be feruent therfore, and repent. Beholde, I stande at the doze, & knocke. If eny man heare my voyce, and open the doze, I wyll come in to hym, and wyll suppe with hym, and he with me. To hym that ouercōmeth wyll I graunte to syt with me in my seate, euen as I ouercame, & haue sytten with my father in his seate. Lett hym that hath eares heare, what the spyrete sayth vnto ỹ congregacyons.

¶ The. iiii. Chapter.

¶ He seeth the heauen open, and the seate, and one sytynge vpon it, and. xxiiii. seates about it with xxiiii. elders sytynge vpon them, and foure beastes praysing God daye and nyght.

AFter this I loked, and beholde a doze was open in heauē, and the fyrst voyce whych I hearde, was as it were of a trompett talkynge wyth me, whych sayde: come vp hyther, and I wyll shewe the thynges whych must be fulfylled hereafter. And immediatly I was in the spyrete: & beholde, a seate was sett in heauen, and one sate on the seate. And he that sat, was to loke vpon, lyke vnto a Iasper stone and a Sardyne stone. And ther was a rayne bowe aboute ỹ seate, in syght lyke to an Emeralde. And aboute ỹ seate were. xxiiii. seates. And vpō the seates. xxiiii. elders syttyng, clothed in whyte rayment, and had on theyr heades crownes of golde.

And out of the seate proceded lyghtynges, & thundrynges, & voyces, & ther were seuen lampes of fyre, burnynge before the seate, whych are the seuen spyrytes of God, And before ỹ seate ther was a see of glasse, lyke vnto Cristal, and in the myddes of the seate, & rounde about the seate were foure beastes full of eyes before & behynde. And the fyrst beast was lyke a lyon, & the secōde beaste lyke a calfe, & the thyrde beast had a face as a man, & the fourth beast was lyke a flyynge Egle. And ỹ foure beastes had eche one of them. vi. wynges about hym, & they were full of eyes wyth in. And they had no rest daye nether nyght saying. * Holy, holy, holy, Lord God almyghty, whych was, and is, and is to come.

* Esaie. vi. b.

And when those beastes gaue glory and honour & thankes to hym ỹ sate on ỹ seate, (which lyueth for euer & euer) the. xxiiii. elders fell downe before hym ỹ sat on ỹ trone & worshypped hym that lyueth for euer & cast theyr crownes before ỹ trone saying: thou arte worthy o Lord (our God) to receaue glory, & honoure, and power, for thou hast created all thynges, & for thy willes sake they are, & were created.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

¶ He seyth the lābe opēynge the boke, and ther for the foure beastes, the. xxiiii. elders, and the angels prayse the lambe, and do hym worshyppe.

A ND I sawe in ỳ ryght hande of
hym that sat in the trone, a boke wrytten with in & on the ba-cksyde, sealed with seuē seales.
And I sawe a stronge angell,
which preached w̄ a lowde voyce: Who is woꝛthy to open the boke, & to lose ỳ seales therof. And no man in heauē ner in erth nether vnder ỳ erth, was able to open ỳ boke, nether to loke theron. And I wepte moch
because no man was fou̇nde woꝛthy to open & to reade the boke, nether to loke theron.
25 And one of the elders sayde vnto me We-pe not: Beholde, a lyon of ỳ tribe of Juda,
the rote of Dauid, hath obtayned to open
the boke, and to lose the seuen seales therof.
And I behelde, and lo, in the myddes of the seate, and of the foure beestes, and in ỳ myd-des of the elders, stode a lambe as though he had bene kylled, hauynge seuen hoꝛnes,
and seuen eyes, whych are the seuen spꝛetes
of God, sent into all the woꝛlde. And he came, and toke the boke out of the ryght han
de of him that sate vpon the seate.
C And when he had taken ỳ boke, the foure
beastes and .xxiiii. elders fell downe befoꝛe
ỳ lābe, hauyng (euery one of them) harpes & golden vialles full of odoures, which are the pꝛayers of sayncters, & they songe a new songe, saying: thou art woꝛthy to take the boke, & to open the seales therof: foꝛ ỳ wast
kylled, & hast redemed vs by thy bloud out of all kynredes, & tōges, & people, & nacyōs,
and hast made vs vnto ourꝫ God, kynges,
and pꝛestes, & we shall raygne on the erth.
D And I behelde, and I hearde the voyce of many angels about the trone, & about the beaste & the elders, and I hearde thousand thousandes, saying w̄ a lowde voyce: Woꝛ
thy is the lābe that was kylled to receaue
power, & ryches, & wysdome, and strength, and honour, & glozy, & blessynge. And all ỳ creatures whych are in heauen, & on ỳ erth, & vnder the erth, & in the see, & all that are in them, herde I sayinge, blessyng, honour,
glozy, & power be vnto hym that sytteth
vpon ỳ seate, & vnto the lābe foꝛ euermoꝛe.
And the foure beastes sayd: Amen. And the xxiiii. elders fell vpon their faces, and woꝛshypped hym that lyueth foꝛ euermoꝛe.

¶ The. vi. Chapter.

¶ The lambe openeth the. vi. seales, and many thynges folowe the openynge therof.

A ND I sawe, when the lambe opened one of ỳ seales, and I herde one of the foure beastes saye, as it were ỳ noyse of thonder: come & se: and I sawe. And be-holde ther was a whyte horse: and he that sat on hym, had a bowe, and a crowne was geuen vnto hym, and he went foꝛth cōqueryng & foꝛ to ouer come. And when he had opened the seconde seale, I herde the seconde beaste, saye: come and se. And ther wēt out another hoꝛse that was redd, & power was geuen to hym that satt theron, to take peace from the erth, & that they shuld kyll one another. * And ther was geuen vnto hym * Esa. xxvii. a.
a great swearde.
23 And when he had opened the thyꝛde seale
I herde ỳ thyꝛde beaste saye, come & se. And I behelde, & lo, a black hoꝛse: & he that sate
on him, had a payꝛe of balāces in his hāde.
And I herde a voyce in ỳ myddes of ỳ foure
beastes, saye: a measure of whete foꝛ a pe-ny, & thꝛe measures of barly foꝛ a peny and oyle and wyne se thou hurte not. And when he had opened the fourth seale, I herde the voyce of ỳ fourth beaste saye, come and se:
& I looked. And behold a pale hoꝛse: & his name that sate on him was deeth, & hell fo-
lowed after hym, & power was geuen vnto
them ouer ỳ fourth parte of ỳ erth, to kyll
wyth swearde, & wyth hōger, & wyth deeth
that cōmeth of vermen of the erth.
And when he had opened the fyft seale, C
I sawe vnder ỳ aultre * the soules of them Iob. xvii. b.
that were kylled foꝛ ỳ woꝛde of God, & foꝛ
ỳ testymony whych they had, & they cryed
with a lowde voyce, sayinge: How lōge taryest thou Lord, holy & true, to iudge & to auēge oure bloud on them ỳ dwel on ỳ erth?
And lōge whyte garmētes were geuen vnto euery one of them. And it was sayde vnto them, that they shuld reste yet foꝛ a lytle
season vntyll the nomber of theyꝛ felowes,
and bꝛethꝛen, & of them ỳ shulde be kylled
as they were, were fulfylled.
And I behelde, when he had opened the syxt seale: & lo, ther was a great erthquake
and the sunne was as blacke as sacke cloth
made of heere. And ỳ mone wexed all, euen
as bloud, and the starres of heauen fell vn-
to the erth, euen as a fygge tree casteth frō
her vntymely fygges, when she is shaken of a myghty wynde. And heauen vanished awaye, as a scroll when it is rolled to gether. And all mountaynes and yles, were moued out of theyꝛ places. And ỳ kynges of the erth, and the gret men, and the ryche
men, and ỳ chefe captaynes, & the myghty
men, & euery bondman, and euery free man,
hyd them selues in dennes, and in rockes of Oseę. x. b.
the hylles: * and sayde to the hylles and Luce. xxiii. b.
rockes: fall on vs, & hyde vs from the pꝛesence of hym that sytteth on the seate, and from the wꝛath of the lambe: foꝛ the grete daye of his wꝛath is come, and who is able to endure?

¶ The. vii. Chapter.

¶ He seeth the seruaunters of God sealed in their
foꝛ heades out of all nacyons and people, whych
though they suffer trouble, yet the lambe leadeth
them, ledeth them to the fountaynes of lyuynge
water, and God shall wype awaye all teares frō their eyes.

A And after that, I sawe .iiii. ãgels stãde on the .iiii. corners of ꝑ erth holdynge ꝑ foure wyndes of the erth, ꝑ ꝑ wynde shuld not blowe on ꝑ erth nether on ꝑ see, nether on eny tree.
✠ And I sawe another angell ascẽde from the rysynge of the sunne, which had ꝑ seale of the lyuyng God, & he cryed wyth a loude voyce to ꝑ foure Angels (to whom power was geuẽ to hurte ꝑ erth & the see) sayng: hurt not the erth nether the see, nether the trees, tyll we haue sealed the seruauntes of ourr God in their forheades.

B And I hearde ꝑ nõbre of thẽ wbych were sealed, & ther were sealed an. C. & .xliiii. M. of all the trybes of the chyldren of Israel. Of the trybe of Juda were sealed. xii. M. Of the trybe of Ruben were sealed. xii. M. Of the trybe of Gad were sealed. xii. M. Of the trybe of Aser were sealed. xii. M. Of ꝑ trybe of Neptali were sealed. xii M. Of ꝑ tryb of Manasses were sealed. xii. M. Of ꝑ trybe of Symeõ were sealed. xii. M. Of the trybe of Leuy were sealed. xii. M. Of the trybe of Jsacar were sealed. xii. M. Of ꝑ trybe of Zabulon were sealed. xii. M. Of the trybe of Joseph were sealed. xii. M. Of ꝑ trybe of Bẽiamin were sealed. xii. M.

C After this I behelde, & lo, a gret multitude (which nomã coulde nõbre) of all nacyõs & people, & tõges, stode before ꝑ seate, & before ꝑ lãbe, clothed wyth lõge white garmẽtes, & palmes in their handes, & cryed with a lowde voyce, sayinge: Saluacyon be asscribed to him that sytteth vpon ꝑ seate of ourr God, & vnto ꝑ lambe. And all the angels stode in the cõpase of the seate, & of ꝑ elders & of ꝑ foure bestes, & fell before the seat on their faces, and worshypped God, sayinge, Amen: Blessinge & glory & wysdome & thãkes and honour, & power, & myght, be vnto ourr God for euermore. Amen. ✠

D And one of the elders answered, sayinge vnto me: what are these which are arayed i lõge whyte garmẽtes, & whẽce came they? And I sayde vnto him: Lord thou wotest. And he sayde to me: these are they, wbych came out of great tribulacyõ, & made their garmẽtes large, & made them white by the bloude of ꝑ lambe: therfore are they in the presence of ꝑ seate of God & serue hym daye & nyght in his tẽple, & he that sytteth in the seate wyll dwell amonge them. They shall hunger no more, nether thyrst, nether shall the sunne lyght on them, nether eny heate. For ꝑ lãbe wbych is in ꝑ myddes of ꝑ seate, shall fede them, & shall leade them vnto fountaynes of lyuynge water, & God shall wype awaye all teares from their eyes.

¶ The. viii. Chapter.

¶ The seuenth seale is opened, there is syleuce in heauen, the foure angels blowe their trompettes, & greate plages folowe vpon the earth.

A And when he had opened the seuenth seale, ther was sylẽce in heauen aboute the space of halfe an houre. And I sawe. vii. angelles standyng before God, & to them were geuen seuen trõpettes. And another ãgell came & stode before ꝑ aultre, hauynge a golden senser, & moch of odoures was geuẽ vnto him, that he shulde offre of the prayers of all saynctes vpon the golden aulter, wbych was before ꝑ seate. And the smoke of the odoures wbych cam of the prayers of all saynctes, ascended vp before God out of the Angelles hande. And ꝑ Angell toke the senser, and fylled it wyth fyre of the aulter, and caste it into the erth, and voyces were made, & thonderynges & lyghtnynges, and erthquake.

B And ꝑ seuen Angels wbych had ꝑ seuen trõpettes, prepared them selues to blowe.
The fyrst Angell blewe, & there was made hayle & fyre, which were myngled wt̃ bloud, & they were cast into ꝑ erth: & ꝑ thirde parte of (of the erth was set on fyre, and the thirde parte) of trees was burnt, and all grene grasse was wyth. And ꝑ secõde angell blewe: & as it were a gret mountayne burnyng wt̃ fyre was caste into the see, and ꝑ thyrde parte of the see tourned to bloude, and the thyrde parte of the creatures which had lyfe, dyed, & the thyrde part of shyppes were destroyed.

C And the thyrde Angell blew, & ther fell a gret starre from heauen, burnyng as it were a lãpe, & it fell into the thyrde parte of the ryuers, & into fountaynes of waters, & the name of ꝑ starre is called wormwod. And ꝑ thyrde parte was turned to wormwod. And many men dyed of the waters, because they were made bytter.

D And the fourth Angell blew, and ꝑ thyrde parte of the sunne was smytten, and ꝑ thirde parte of the mone, and the thyrde parte of starres: so that the thyrd part of them was darckned. And the daye was smytten, that the thyrde part of it shulde not shyne, & lykewyse the nyght. And I behelde and herde an Angell flynge thorow the myddes of heauen, sayinge with a lowde voyce: Woo, woo, to the inhabiters of the erth, because of ꝑ voyces to come of the trõpe of the thre Angels, wbych were yet to blowe.

¶ The. ix. Chapter.

¶ The fifth and syxt Angell blowe their trompets: so: the starre is fallen from heauen: the locustes come out of the smoke. The fyrst wo is past: the foure angels that were bounde are loosed, and the thyrde parte of men is slayne.

A And the fyrst Angell blewe, and I sawe a starre fall from heauen vnto the erth. And to him was geuen the kaye of the bottomlesse pytt: And he opened the bottomlesse pytt, and the smoke of the pytt arose as the smoke of a gret fornace. And the sunne, and the ayer the ayer were darckned by the reason of the smoke of ꝑ pytt. And there came out of the smoke locustes vpon the erth, & vnto them was geuen power, as the scorpions of the erth haue power. And it was commaunded them, that they shuld not hurt the grasse of ꝑ erth: nether eny grene thynge: nether eny tree: but onely those men which haue not ꝑ seale in their forheades. And to them was cõmaũded, that they shulde not kyll them, but that they shulde be vexed .v. monethes, & their payne was as the payne ꝑ commeth of a scorpion, when he hath stonge a man.

* And in those dayes shall men seke deeth, and shall not finde it, & shall desyre to dye, and deeth shall flye from them.

And the symilitude of the locustes was lyke vnto horses prepared vnto battayll, & on their heades were as it were crounes, lyke vnto golde, and their faces were as it had bene ꝑ faces of men. And they had heere as the heere of wemen. And their teethe were as ꝑ teeth of lyõs. And they had habbergions, as it were habbergions of yron. And the soũde of their winges, was as the soũde of charrettes, when many horses rũne to gether to battayle. And they had tayles lyke vnto scorpiõs, and there were stynges i their tayles. And their power was to hurt mẽ .v. monethes. And they had a kyng ouer thẽ, which is ꝑ angell of ꝑ bottomlesse pytt, whose name in the Hebrewe tong, is Abadon: but in the Greke tonge, Apollion ꝑ is to saye: a destroyer. One wo is past, & beholde, two wooes come yet after this.

And the syxt Angell blewe, and I herde a voyce from the .iiii. corners of the golden aultre, which is before God, sayinge to the syxt Angell, which had the trõpe: Lose the foure Angelles, which are bounde in ꝑ grete ryuer Euphrates. And the foure Angelles were loosed, whych were prepared for an houre, for a daye, for a moneth, & for ayere, for to slee ꝑ .iii. part of men. And the nõbre of horsmen of warre were .xx. thousande tymes .x. M. And I herde the nõbre of them: & thus I sawe ꝑ horses in a vision, & them ꝑ sate on them, hauynge fyrye habbergiõs of a Jacincte couloure, & brymstone, & the heades of ꝑ horses were as ꝑ heades of lyons. And out of their mouthes went forth fyre and smoke, & brymstone. And of these thre was ꝑ thyrd part of men kylled: that is to saye, of fyre, smoke, and brymstone: whych proceded out of the mouthes of them: For their power was i their mouthes & in their tayles, for their tayles were lyke vnto serpentes, & had heades, & with them they dyd hurt: And ꝑ remanaũt of ꝑ men whych were not kylled by these plages, repẽted not of the dedes of their handes ꝑ they shulde not worshyppe deuyls, & ymages of golde and syluer, and brasse, and stone, and of wood, whych nether can se, nether heare, nether go. Also they repẽted not of their murther, and of their sorcery, nether of their fornycacyon, nether of their theefte.

¶ The.x. Chapter.

¶ The Angell hath the booke open: he sweareth ther shalbe noms ze tyme: he geueth the booke vnto John, which eateth it vp.

And I saw another myghtye angell come downe from heauen clothed w a cloude, & the rayne bowe vpon his heed. And his face as it were the sunne, & his fete as it were pyllars of fyre, and he had in his hãde a lytell boke open, and he put his ryght fote vpon ꝑ see, & his lyfe fote on the erth. And cryed wyth a lowde voyce, as when a lyon roreth. And when he had cryed, seuen thonders spake their voyces. And when ꝑ .vii. thõdres had spoken their voyces, I was about to wryte. And I herde a voyce from heauen, sayinge vnto me: seale vp those thynges whych the .vii. thondres spake, & wryte them not.

And ꝑ Angell which I sawe stõde vpon the see, & vpon the erth, lyfte vp his hande to heuen, and sware by him that lyueth for euer more, wich created heauen, & the thynges that therin are (and the erth and the thynges that therin are) and the see, & the thynges which therin are: ꝑ there shulde be no lenger tyme but in the dayes of the voyce of the seuenth Angell, when he shall begyn to blowe: euen the mystery of God shalbe fynysshed, as he preached by his seruauntes ꝑ prophetes.

And ꝑ voyce which I herde from heuen, spake vnto me agayne, & sayd: * go & take the lytle boke which is open in the hande of ꝑ angell which standeth vpon ꝑ see, & vpon ꝑ erth. And I wẽt vnto the angell, & sayde to him: geue me the lytle boke, and he sayde vnto me: take it, & eate it vp, & it shall make thy belly bytter, but it shalbe i thy mouthe as swete as hony. * And I toke ꝑ lytle boke out of his hande, & eate it vp, & it was in my mouth as swete as hony: and as sone as I had eatẽ it, my belly was bytter. And he sayde vnto me: ꝑ must prophesy agayne amonge the people, and nacyõs, and tõges, and to many kynges.

¶ The.xi. Chapter.

¶ The temple is measured. The seconde wo is past.

And then was geuen me a rede, lyke vnto a rodd, & it was sayde vnto me. Ryse & meate the temple of God, & ꝑ aulter, & them ꝑ worshippe therin, & the quere which is wtin ꝑ tẽple, cast out & meate it not for it is geuen vnto the Gẽtyles, & ꝑ holy cytye shall they trade vnder fote .xlii. monethes. And I wyll geue power vnto my two witnesses, & they shall prophesy a thousande, two hundred &

lx. dayes, clothed in sacke clothe. These are two olyue trees, & two candelstyckes, stan-25 dynge before the God of the erth.

And yf eny man wyll hurt the, fyre shall procede out of their mouthes, and consume their enemyes. And yf eny man wyll hurt them, thys wyse must he be kylled. These haue power to shut heauē, that it rayne not in the dayes of their prophelying: and haue power ouer waters to turne them to blonde, and to smyte ꝑ erth with all maner plages, as often as they wyll.

And when they haue fynyshed their testimony, the beast that cam out of ꝑ bottomlesse pyt, shall make warre agaynst them, & shall ouercome them, & kyll the. And their bodyes shall lye in the stretes of the greate cytye, which spyritually is called Sodom and Egypte, where oure Lorde was crucyfyed. And they of the people & kynredes, & tōges, & they of ꝑ nacyōs, shall se their bodyes .iii. dayes and an halfe, & shall not suffre their bodyes to be put in graues. And they that dwell vpon ꝑ erth, shall reioyce ouer them, and be glad, & shall sende gyftes one to another, for these two prophetes vexed them that dwelt on the erth.

C And after .iii. dayes & an halfe, the spryte of lyfe from God, entred into them. And they stode vp vpon their fete, & greate feare came vpon them whych sawe them. And they herde a greate voyce frō heauen, sayinge vnto them. Come vp hyther. And they ascended vp into heauen in a cloude, & their enemyes sawe the. And ꝑ same houre was ther a great erthquake, and the tenth parte of the cytye fell, and in the erthquake were slayne names of men seuen. M. and ꝑ remnaūt were feared, and gaue glory to ꝑ God of heauen. The second woo is past, & behold, the thyrde woo wyll come anone.

D And ꝑ seuenth Angell blewe, & ther were made greate voyces in heauen, sayinge: the kyngdoms of this worlde are oure lordes, and his Christes, & he shall raygne for euer more (Amen.) And the .xxiiii. elders, whych syt before God on their seates, fell vpon their faces, & worshypped God, sayinge: we geue the thākes O Lord God almyghtye: whych arte & wast, & arte to come, for ꝑ haste receaued thy great myght, and hast raygned. And the nacyōs were angry, and thy wrath is come, & the tyme of ꝑ deed ꝑ they shuld be iudged and that ꝑ shuldest geue rewarde vnto thy seruauntes the Prophetes and Sayncters, & to them ꝑ feare thy name small & great & shuldest destroye the, which destroye ꝑ erth. And the tēple of God was opened in heauen, & ther was sene in his tēple, ꝑ arcke of his testamēt, & ther folowed lightnynges, and voyces, and thōdrynges and erthquake, and moch hayle.

C The .xii. Chapter.

C The seuenth Angell blowyth his trompet. There apeareth in heauen a woman clothed with the Sunne: Michael fyghteth with the dragon, which persecuteth the woman.

AND ther appered a gret wōder A
i heauen: A woman clothed vō
ꝑ sonne, & the mone vnder her fete, & vpon her heed a croune
of .xii. starres. And she was vō childe, & cryed trauaylinge in byrth, & payned redy to be delyuered. And ther appered another wōder i heauen, for beholde, a gret red dragon hauynge .vii. heddes, & ten hornes & seuen crounes vpon hys heades: and 25 hys tayle drue the thyrde parte of the starres (of heauen) and cast them to the erth.

And the dragon stode before the woman
30 whych was redy to be delyuered: for to deuoure her childe as sone as it were borne. And she brought forth a man childe, which shulde rule all nacyōs with a rodd of yron. And her sonne was taken vp vnto God, & to his seate. And ꝑ woman fled into wyldernes, where she had a place, prepared of God, ꝑ they shulde fede her there a. M. .ii. hundred and .lx. dayes.

C And ther was a great battayll in heauen, Michael & his angels fought with the dragon, & ꝑ dragon fought & his Angelles, and preuayled not, nether was their place founde eny more in heauen. And the great dragon, that olde serpēt, called the deuyll & Sathanas, was cast out. Which deceaueth all ꝑ worlde. And he was cast into the erth & his āgelles were cast out also (with hym)

And I herde a lowde voyce sayinge: in heauen is now made saluacyon and strēgth & the kyngdome of oure God, & the power of hys Christ. For (the accuser of our brethren) is cast doune, which accused the before (our) God daye and nyght. And they ouercame him by the blonde of the lambe, and by the worde of their testimony, & they loued not their lyues vnto ꝑ deeth. Therfore reioyce heuēs, & ye that dwell in them. Woo to the inhabiters of the erth, and of the see: for the deuyll is come downe vnto you, which hath great wrath, because he knoweth ꝑ he hath but a short tyme.

And when ꝑ dragon sawe ꝑ he was caste vnto ꝑ erth, he persecuted ꝑ woman, which brought forth ꝑ man childe. And to ꝑ woman were geuen two wynges of a great Egle, ꝑ she myght flye into the wyldernes into her place, where she is norysshed for a tyme, tymes, & halfe a tyme, frō ꝑ presence of ꝑ serpent. And ꝑ dragon cast oute of hys mouth water after ꝑ woman as it had bene a ryuer, because she shuld haue bene caught of the floud. And ꝑ erth holpe the woman, and ꝑ erth opened her mouth & swalowed vp ꝑ ryuer, which ꝑ dragon cast out of his mouth, mouth. And the dragon was wroth wyth the woman: and went, & made warre wyth the remnaunt of hyr sede, which kepe the cō maundementes of God, and haue the testimony of Jesus Christe. And he stode on the see sande.

¶The.xiii.Chapter.

¶ A beast ryseth out of the see with seuen heades and ten hornes. Another beast cōmeth out of the earth with two hornes.

A AND I sawe a beaste ryse out of ꝑ see, hauyng seuen heddes, and ten hornes, and vpon his hornes ten crounes, & vpon his heed, ꝑ name of blasphemy. And ꝑ beast which I sawe, was lyke a catte of ꝑ mountayne, and hys fete were as ꝑ fete of a beare, & hys mouth as the mouth of a lyon. And ꝑ dragon gaue hym his power & his seate, & gret auctorite: and I sawe one of his heedes as it were wounded to deeth, & his deedly woūde was healed. And all the worlde wondred at the beast, & they worshypped ꝑ dragon, whych gaue power vnto the beast, and they worshypped ꝑ beast sayinge: who is lyke vnto the beast? who is able to warre with hym?

B And ther was geuen vnto hym a mouth, that spake great thynges & blasphemyes, & power was geuen vnto hym, to do.xlii. monethes. And he opened his mouth vnto blasphemy agaynst God, to blaspheme his name & his tabernacle, & them that dwell in heauen. And it was geuen vnto hym to make warre with the Saynctes, & to ouercome thē. And power was geuen him ouer all kynred, and people, and tonge, and nacion, and all ꝑ dwell vpon ꝑ erth worshypt hym: whose names are not written in the boke of lyfe of the lābe, which was kylled from the begynnynge of the worlde. If eny man haue an eare let hym heare. He ꝑ leadeth into captyuyte, shall go into captyuyte: * he that killeth with a swearde, must be kylled with a swearde. Heare is the pacyence, & the fayth of the saynctes.

*Mat.xxvi. Apoc.xi.a

And I behelde a nother beast cōmyge vp out of the erth, and he had two hornes lyke a lambe, & he spake as dyd the dragon. And he dyd all ꝑ the fyrste beast coulde do in his presence, & he cauled the erth, & them which dwel therin, to worshyppe the fyrst beast, whose deedly wounde was healed. And he dyd grett wonders, so ꝑ he made fyre come doune from heauen in ꝑ syght of men. And deceaued them that dwelt on the erth, by ꝑ meanes of those sygnes whyche he had power to do in the syght of the beast, sayinge to them that dwelt on ꝑ erth: ꝑ they shuld make an ymage vnto the beast, whych had the wounde of a swearde, and dyd lyue.

D And he had power to geue a spyrete vnto the ymage of the beast, & that the ymage of the beast shuld speake, and shuld cause, ꝑ as many as wolde not worshyppe the ymage of ꝑ beast, shuld be kylled. And he made all, both small & gret, ryche & poore, fre & bond, to receaue a marke in theyr ryght hādes or in theyr foreheddes. And ꝑ no man myght by or sell, saue he that had the marke or the name of the beast, other the nōbre of his name. Here is wysdome. Let hym that hath wytt, count the nōbre of the beast. For it is the nombre of a man, and his nōbre is syxe hondred, threscore and syxe.

¶The.xiiii.Chapter.

¶ The lambe standeth vpon the mount Syon, and the vndefyled congregacyon with hym. The angell exhorteth to the feare of God, and telleth of the fall of Babylon.

A AND I loked, and lo, a lambe stode on the mount Syon, & with hym an.C.&.xliii. thousande hauynge his (names his) fathers name writ- ten i theyr foreheddes. And I herde a voyce from heuen, as the sounde of many waters, and as the voyce of a gret thoundre. And I herde ꝑ voyce of harpers harpynge with theyr harpes. And they songe as it were a newe songe, before the seate, & before ꝑ foure beastes, & ꝑ elders, & no man coulde learne ꝑ songe, but ꝑ hondred &.xliiii.M. which were redemed from ꝑ erth. These are they, which were not defyled wt wemen, for they are virgyns. These folowe the lambe whyther soeuer he goeth. These were redemed from men, beynge ꝑ fyrste frutes vnto God and to the lambe, & in their mouthes was foūde no gyle. For they are with oute spot before the trone of God.

B

And I sawe, another angell flye in ꝑ mydes of heauen haynge the euerlastyng gospell, to preache vnto them ꝑ syt & dwell on the erth, & to all nacyōs, kynreds, & tonges & people, saying wt a lowde voyce: * Feare God, & geue honour to hym, for the houre of his iudgemēt is come: and worshyppe him, ꝑ made heauen & erth, & the see, & foutaines of water. And there folowed a nother angell, saying: * Babylon is fallen is fallen that greate cyte, for she made all nacyons drynche of the wyne of her fornycacyon.

*Act.xiiii.d

*Esaie.xxi.d Hier.li.a

C And ꝑ thyrd angell folowed them sayinge wt a loude voyce: If any man worshyppe ꝑ beast and his ymage, & receaue his marke in his forehed, or on his hāde, ꝑ same shall drincke the wyne of ꝑ wrath of God, which is powred in the cup of his wrath. And he shalbe punyshed in fyre & brymstone, before the holy angels, & before the lambe.

And the smoke of theyr torment ascendeth vpeuermore. And they haue no rest daye nor nyght, which worshyppe the beast & his ymage & whosoeuer receaueth the prynt of his name. Here is the pacyence of saynctes heare are they that kepe the commaundementes and the fayth of Jesu.

And I hearde a voyce from heauen sayinge vnto me: wryte. Blessed are ꝑ dead, which here after dye in the Lorde, euen so sayth ꝑ spirete: that they rest from theyr labours, but theyr workes folowe them.

And I loked, and beholde a whyte clowde, and vpon the clowde one sytt̄ynge lyke vnto the sonne of man, hauyng on his heed a golden crowne, and in his hande a sharpe sykle. And another angell came out of the temple, cryeng with a lowde voyce to hym that sate on the clowde: * Thrust in thy sykle & repe, for thy tyme is come to repe, for the corne of ꝑ erth is rype. And he that sate on the cloude, thrust in hys sycle on the earth, and the erth was reped.

* Ioel. iii. c.

And another angell came out of the temple, whych is in heauen, hauyng also a sharpe sykle. And another angell came out frō the aultre, whych had power ouer fyre, and cryed with a lowde crye to hym that had ꝑ sharpe sykle, & sayde: thrust in thy sharpe sykle, & gaddre the clusters of the erth, for her grapes are rype. And the angell thrust in hys sharpe sykle on the erth, & cut downe the grapes of the vyneyarde of ꝑ erth: and cast them into the gret wynefat of ꝑ wrath of God, & ꝑ wynefat was troden with out the cytie, and bloud came out of ꝑ fat, euen vnto ꝑ horse bridles, by ꝑ space of a thousande, and. vi. C. furlonges.

¶ The. xv. Chapter.

¶ The seuth seuen Angels, hauyng seuen vyalles full of wrath.

AND I sawe another sygne in heuen gret and meruellous, seuen Angels, hauyng the seuen laste plages, for in them is fulfylled the wrath of God. And I sawe as it were a glassye see, myngled wt fyre, & them that had gotten victory of the beast, and of hys ymage, and of the nombre of hys name, stande on the glassye see, hauyng the harpes of God, and they songe the songe of Moses the seruaunt of God, & the songe of the lambe, sayinge: Gret and marueluous are thy workes: * Lorde God almyghtye, iuste & true are thy wayes, thou kyng of Saynctes. Who shall not feare o Lorde, & glorify thy name? For thou only arte holy, and all gentyls shall come and worshyppe before the, for thy iudgementes are made manyfeste.

Exa. xvi. c. Hierr. ii. a.

AND after that, I loked, and beholde, the temple of the tabernacle of testimony was open in heauen, and the seuen Angels came out of the temple whych had the seuen plages clothed in pure and bryght lynnen, and hauyng theyr brestes gyrded with golden gerdels. And one of the fowre beastes gaue vnto ꝑ seuen Angels seuen golden vyalles, full of the wrath of God, whych lyueth for euermore. And the temple was full of the smoke of the glory of God & of hys power, and no man was able to entre into the temple, tyll ꝑ seuen plages of the seuen Angels were fulfylled.

¶ The. xvi. Chapter.

¶ The Angels powre out theyr vyalles full of wrath.

AND I herde a great voyce out of the tẏple saying to the seuen ãgels: go poure vayes, powre out poure vyalles of wrath vpon the erth. And ꝑ fyrst Angell wēt, & powred out his vyall vpon the erth, & there fell a noysome, & a sore botche vpon the men whych had the marke of the beast, & vpon them whych worshypped hys ymage. And the secōd Angell shed out hys vyall vpon the see, and it turned as it were into the bloud of a dead man: and euery lyuyng thyng dyed in the see. And the thyrde Angell shed out his vyall vpon the ryuers and fountaynes of waters, & they turned to bloud. And I herde an Angell saye: Lorde, which arte and wast, thou arte ryghteous & holy, because thou hast geuen soche iudgementes, for they shed out ꝑ bloud of saintes, and prophetes, & therfore hast ꝑ geuen them bloud to drynke: for they are worthy. And I herde another saye: euen so Lorde God almyghty: true and ryghteous are thy iudgementes.

And the fourth Angell powred out hys vyall on ꝑ sunne, & power was geuen vnto him to vexe men with heat of fyre. And the men raged in gret heate: & spake euyll of ꝑ name of God, which hath power ouer those plages, & they repēted not of theyr euill dedis, to geue him glory. And the fyft Angell powred out his viall vpon ꝑ seate of ꝑ beaste, and his kyngdome wexed derke, & they gnewe theyr tōges for sorowe, and blaspheme ꝑ God of heauen for sorowe & payne of theyr sores, & repented not of theyr dedes.

And ꝑ syxt Angell powred out his vyall vpon ꝑ gret ryuer Euphrates, & the water dryed vp, ꝑ the wayes of the kynges of the east shulde be prepared. And I sawe thre vnclene spretes lyke frogges come out of ꝑ mouth of ꝑ dragon, & out of ꝑ mouth of the beast, & out of the mouth of ꝑ false Prophete. For they are the spretes of deuyls, worke kyng myracles, to go out vnto the kynges of the erth and of ꝑ whole world, to gather them to the battayle of that gret daye of God almyghty. * Beholde, I come as a theefe. Happy is he that watcheth, and keepeth hys garmentes, lest he walke naked, and men se hys fylthyness. And he gathered

* mat. xxiiii. b. ii. Pet. iii. c. i. Thessa. v.

red them together into a place called in the Hebrue tonge Armagedon.

And the seuenth Angell powred out hys vyall into the ayre. And ther cam a greate voyce out of heauen from ꝑ seate, saying, it is done. And ther folowed, voyces, thödringes, and lightenynges, & ther was a greate erthquake, suche as was not sence mẽ were vpon the erth, so mighty an erthquake & so great. And the great cytye was deuyded in to thre partes, and ꝑ cyties of all nacyons fell. And greate Babylon came in remembraunce before God, to geue vnto hyr ꝑ cup of the wyne of the fearcenes of his wrathe. Euery yle also fled awaye, and ꝑ mountaynes were not founde. And ther fell a greate hayle (as it had bene talentes) out of heauẽ vpon the men, and the mẽ blaspheмed God: because of the plage of the hayle, for it was great, and the plage of it sore.

¶ The. xvii. Chapter.

¶ The describeth the woman sittynge vpon the beast with ten hornes.

A ANd ther came one of the seuẽ Angels, whyche had the seuen vyalles: and talked wyth me, sayenge vnto me: come, I wyll shewe vnto the, the iudgemẽt of the great whore that sytteth vpon many waters, wyth whome haue cõmytted fornicacion the kynges of the erthe, and the inhabyters of the erth are droncken wyth the wyne of hir fornicaciõ. And ꝑ spirete caryed me awaye in to the wyldernes. And I sawe a woman syt vpon a rose colored beast, full of names of blaspheмye, whyche had seuen heades and ten hornes. And the womã was arayed in purple and rose coloure, and decked wyth golde, precious stone, and pearles, and had a cup of golde in her hande, full of abhominaciõs and fylthynes of her fornicacion. And in her forheade was a name writen, a mystery, gret Babylon the mother of whordom and abominacions of the erth. And I sawe the wyfe droncken wyth the bloude of saynctes, and with the bloude of the wytnesses of Jesu. And when I sawe her: I wondred with great meruayle.

And the Angell sayde vnto me: wherfore maruaylest thou? I wyll shewe the the mystery of the womã, and of the beast ꝑ beryth her, which hath seuẽ heades and ten hornes. The beast that thou sawest, was, and is not, and shall ascẽde out of the bottomlesse pyt, and shall go into perdiciõ, & they that dwel on the erth shall wondre (whose names are not writen in the boke of lyfe from the begynnynge of the worlde) when they behold the beast that was and is not. And here is a mynde that hath wysdome.

¶ The seuen heades are seuen moũtaynes, on which the woman sytteth, they are also seuẽ kynges. Fyue are fallẽ, and one is, and another is not yet come. And when he cometh, he must continew a shorte space. And the beast that was, & is not, is euen ꝑ eyght and is one of the seuen, and shall go into destrucciõ. And the ten hornes which ꝑ sawest are tẽ kynges which haue receaued no kingdom as yet, but shall receaue power as kynges at one houre wyth ꝑ beast. These haue one mynde, and shall geue their power and strength vnto the beast. These shall fyght with the lambe, & the lambe shall ouercome thẽ. * For he is Lorde of lordes, and kynge of kynges, and they that are on his side, are called, and chosen, and faythfull. * 1. Tim. vi. e

And he sayde vnto me: the waters whych D thou sawest, where ꝑ whore sitteth, are people, and folke, & nacions, and tonges. And the ten hornes, which thou sawest vpon the beast, are they that shall hate the whore, & shall make her desolate and naked, & shall eate her flesshe, & burne her wyth fyre. For God hath put in theyr hertes to fulfyll his wyll, & to do wyth one consent, for to geue their kyngdome vnto the beast, vntyll the wordes of God be fulfylled. And the womã which thou sawest, is ꝑ great cytye, whiche raygneth ouer the kynges of the erth.

¶ The. xviii. Chapter.

¶ The louers of the worlde are sory for the fall of Babylon, but they that be of God haue cause to reioyce for her destruction.

A ANd after that, I sawe another Angell come from heauen, hauyng gret power, and the erthe was lyghtened wyth hys bryghtnes. And he cryed myghtely with a stronge voyce, sayinge: * Great Babylon is fallen, is fallen, and is become the inhabitacion of deuyls, and the holde of all fowle spretes, and a cage of all vncleane and hatefull byrdes, for all nacyons haue dronkẽ of the wyne of the wrath of her fornicacion. And the kynges of the earth haue commytted fornicacion wyth her, and the merchaunters of the erth are wered ryche of the aboundaunce of her pleasures. * Esa. xxi. f Jeremie. l. a

And I herde another voyce from heauẽ, B saye, come awaye from her my people, ꝑ ye be not partakers of her synnes, and ꝑ ye receaue not of her plages. For her synnes are gone vp to heauẽ, & God hath remẽbred her wickednes. Reward her euẽ as she rewarded you, & geue her double accordyng to her workes. And powre in double to her in the same cuppe which she tilled vnto you. And as moche as she glorifyed her selfe and lined wãtonly, so moche powre ye in for her of punyshement and sorowe, for she sayde in her selfe: * I syt beynge a quene, & am no wyddowe, and shall se no sorowe. Therfore shal her plages come i one daye, deeth, & sorowe, and honger, & she shalbe brent with fyre: for stronge is ꝑ Lorde God which shal iudge her. * Esa. xlvii. b

C

And

And the kynges of the erth shall bewepe her and wayle ouer her, which haue cõmytted foznicaciõ with her, & haue lyued wantonly with her, whẽ they shall se the smoke of her burnyng, & shall stande a farre of, foz feare of her punithement, sayinge. * Alas, Alas, that gret cytie Babylon, ỹ myghtye citie: foz at one houre is thy iudgemẽt come. And the marchauntes of the erth shal wepe and wayle in them selues, foz no man wyll bye theyr ware eny moze, the ware of gold and siluer, & precious stones, nether of pearle, and raynes, and purple, and skarlet, and all thynne wodde, and all maner vessels of yuory, & all maner vessels of most precious wodde, & of bzalle & pzõ, and marble: & synamõ, and odours, & oyntmentes, and frãckin sence, & wyne, and oyle, and fyne floure, and wheate, beastes, and shepe, and hozses, and charetes, and bodyes, and soules of men.

And ỹ apples that thy soule lusted after, are departed frõ the. And all thinges which were deyntie, and had in pzice, are departed frõ the, & thou shalt synde thẽ nomoze. The marchaũtes of these thynges whyche were wexed ryche, shall stãde a farre of from bir, foz feare of ỹ punyshement of her, weppinge and waylynge, & saying: * Alas, Alas, that gret cytie, ỹ was clothed in raynes and purple, and scarlet, and decked with golde, and pzecious stones, & pearles: foz at one houre so great ryches is come to nought.

And euery shyppe gouerner, and all they that occupied shyppes, and shypmen which wozke in the see, stode a farre of, and cryed, when they sawe the smoke of her burnyng, saying: what cytie is lyke vnto this gret cytie? And they cast dust on theyr heddes, and cryed wepping, & waylyng, & sayde: * Alas, Alas, that great cytie, wherin were made riche all that had shippes in ỹ see, by the reasõn of her costlynes, foz at one houre is she made desolate.

Reioyce ouer her thou heauen, and ye holy Apostles and Pzophetes: foz God hath geuen your iudgemẽt on her. And a mighty angell tohe vp a stone lyke a gret mill stone and cast it into ỹ see, saying: with such vyolence shall that gret citie Babylõ be cast, & shalbe founde no moze. And ỹ voyce of harpers, and musycions, & of pypers, and trõpetters shalbe herde no moze in the: and no craftes mã, of whatsoeuer craft he be, shalbe founde eny moze in the. And the soũde of a mylle shalbe herde no moze in the, and candell lyght shalbe nomoze burnynge in the: and the voyce of the brydegrom and of the bryde, shalbe herd no moze in ỹ, foz thy marchaũtes were the gret mẽ of ỹ erth. And wt thyne inchaũtment were deceaued al naciõs: & in her was founde the bloude of the Pzophetes, & of the sayntes, & of all ỹ were slayne vpõ ỹ erth.

The.xix. Chapter.

Cỹ xix. is geuen vnto God foz iudgyng the whoze, and foz auengynge the bloude of his seruauntes. The Angell wyll not be worshypped. The foules and bzydes are called to the slaughter.

AND after that, I herde a greate voyce of moch people in heauen saying: Alleluia. Saluacion & glozy & honour & power be ascribed to ỹ Lozde our God, foz true and ryghteous are his iudgementes, foz he hath iudged the gret whoze which dyd cozrupt the erth wt her foznicaciõ, & hath auẽged the bloud of his seruaũtes of hyr hãde. And agayn they said: Alleluia. And smoke rose vp foz euermoze. And ỹ. xxiiii. elders, & ỹ. iiii. bestes fell downe, & worshipped God that sate on ỹ seate, saying: Amẽ, Alleluia. And a voyce came out of the seat, sayinge: pzaise our Lozd God all ye ỹ are his seruaũtes, & ye ỹ feare hym both small and great.

And I herde ỹ voyce of moche people euẽ as the voyce of many waters, & as the voyce of strong thõdzynges sayinge: Alleluia, foz the Lozd our God omnipotẽt raygneth. Let vs be glad and reioyce, & geue honoure to him, foz the mariage of the lãbe is come, and hys wyfe made her selfe ready. And to her was graunted, that she shuld be arayed with pure and goodly raynes. Foz the raynes is the righteweslnes of sainctes. And he sayd vnto me, wzyte, * happy are they whiche are called vnto ỹ supper of ỹ lãbes mariage. And he sayd vnto me: these are ỹ true sayinges of God. And I fell at his fete, to worshippe him. And he sayde vnto me: se ỹ do it not. Foz I am thy felow seruaũt, & one of thy bzethzẽ, euẽ of them ỹ haue the testimony of Jesus. Worshyppe God. Foz the testimony of Jesus is ỹ spzete of prophesy.

And I sawe heauẽ open, & behold a whyte hozse: & he ỹ sat vpon him was called fayth full & true, & in righteweslnes he doth iudge & make battayle. His eyes were as a flãme of fyze: & on his heed were many crownes: & he had a name wzytten, that no man knew but he him selfe. * And he was clothed wyth a vesture dypt in bloude, & his name is called ỹ wozde of God. And the warriers which were in heauen, folowed him vpon whyte hozses, clothed wyth whyte & pure raynes: and out of hys mouthe went a sharpe two edged swerde, that wyth it he shulde smyte the hethen. And he shall rule them wyth a rodde of yron, and he trode ỹ wynefat of fearsnes and wzath of almyghty God. And hath on hys vesture and on his thygh a name wzytten: Kyng of Kynges, and Lozde of Lozdes.

And I sawe an Angell stãde in the sonne, and he cryed with a loude voyce, sayinge: to all the fowles that flye by the middes of heauen: come and gather youre selues to gether vnto

vnto ꝓ supper of ꝓ great God, that ye maye eate flesshe of kynges, and the flesshe of hye captaynes, and the flesshe of myghty men, & the flesshe of hozses, and of them that syt on them, and the flesh of all free men and bonde men and of small and great. And I sawe the beast, and the kynges of the earth, and their warriers gathered together to make batayle agaynst hym that sat on the hozse, and agaynst his soudiers.

And the beast was take, & with hym that false prophet that wrought miracles before hym, with whych he deceaued them that receaued the beastes marke, & them that worshypped hys ymage. These both were cast quicke into a ponde of fyre burnynge wyth brymstone: & the remnaunt were slayne wt the swearde of hym ꝓ sat vpō the hozse, which swearde proceaded out of his mouth, & all ꝓ foules were fulfylled wyth theyr flesshe.

¶ The. xx. Chapter.

¶ The dragon is bounde for a. M. yeres. The deed aryse, and receaue iudgement.

A AND I sawe an Angel come downe frō heauen, hauyng the kaye of ꝓ bottomlesse pyt, and a greate chayne in hys hand. And he toke ꝓ dragon ꝓ olde serpente, which is the deuyll & Satanas, & he bounde hym a thousande yeres: and cast hym into ꝓ bottomlesse pyt, and he shutte hym vp, and set a seale on hym, that he shulde deceaue ꝓ people nomoze, tyll the thousande yeres were fulfylled. And after that he must be loosed foz a lytell season.

23 And I sawe seates, and they sat vpō thē, & iudgemēt was geue vnto thē: and I sawe the soules of them that were beheaded foz ꝓ wytnes of Iesu, and foz the wozde of God: & which had not worshipped the beast, nether his ymage, nether had take hys marke vpō their fozheades, oz in their handes: and they lyued, and raygned with Christ a. M. yere: but the other of the dead mē lyued not agayne, vntyll the thousand yere were finished. This is that first resurrection. Blessed and holy is he, that hath parte in the first resurrection. Foz on such shall the seconde deeth haue no power, but they shalbe the Priestes of God & of Christ, and shall raygne wyth hym a thousande yere.

Apoc. xix. and xxiii. And whē the thousand yeres are expyred, C Satan shalbe lowsed out of his prison and shall go out to deceaue ꝓ people, whych are in the foure quarters of the erth, Gog & Magog, to gather them together to battayle, whose nombze is as the sonde of the see: and they went vp in the playne of the erth: & cōpased the tētes of the sayntes about, & the beloued cytie. And fyre came downe frō God out of heauen, and deuoured them: and the deuyll that deceaued them, was cast into a lake of fyre and brymstone, where the beast and the false prophetes shalbe tormented daye and nyght foz euermoze.

And I sawe a great whyte seate, and him that sate on it, from whose face fled awaye both ꝓ erth and heauen, and their place was nomoze founde. And I sawe the dead, both D great and small stonde before God: And the bokes were opened, and another boke was opened, which is the boke of lyfe, & the dead were iudged of those thynges whych were written in the bokes accordyng to their dedes: and the see gaue vp her dead which were in her, and deeth and hell deliuered vp the dead, which were in them: & they were iudged euery man accordyng to his dedes. And deeth and hell were cast into the lake of fire. This is the seconde deeth. And whosoeuer was not founde wrytte in the boke of lyfe, was cast into the lake of fyre.

¶ The. xxi. Chapter.

¶ In thys chapter is described the new and spirituall Ierusalem.

AND I sawe a newe heauē and a new A earth. Foz the fyrst heauen, and the Esa. lxv. & and. xlvi. Apoc. xxi. fyrst earth were vanysshed awaye, and ther was nomoze See. ✠ And I John sawe that holy cytie, newe Ierusalē come downe from God out of heauen, prepared as a bryde garnished foz her husband. And I herde a greate voyce out of heauen sayinge: beholde, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he wyll dwell wyth them. And they shall be hys people, and God hym selfe shalbe wyth them, and be theyr God. * And 25 God shall wype awaye all teares frō theyr eyes. And there shalbe nomoze deeth, nether sozowe, nether crycnge, nether shall ther be eny maze payne, foz the olde thynges are gone. And he that sate vpō the seate, sayde: * Beholde, I make all thynges newe. ✠ * Esa. lxv. Apoc. xxi. And he sayde vnto me: wzyte, foz these wozdes are saythfull and true. 1. Cor. v. b

And he sayd vnto me: it is done, I am Alpha and Omega, the begynnyng & the ende I wyll geue to hym that is a thyrst, of the well of the water of lyfe, &c. He that ouercommeth shall enheret all thynges, and I wyll be hys God, and he shalbe my sonne. But the fearfull and vnbeleuynge, and the C abhominable, and murdzers, & whozmongers, and sozcerers, and ydolaters, and all lyars shall haue theyr parte in the lake which burnyth with fyre and brymstone, which is the seconde death.

And there cam vnto me one of ꝓ seuen Angels which had the seuen vyalles full of the seuē last plages: & talked with me sayinge: come hyther, I wyll shewe the ꝓ bryde, the lambes wyfe. And he caryed me awaye in ꝓ spyrite

spete to a great and an hye mountayne. and he shewed me the great cytie holy Jerusalē, descendyng out of heauen frō God: hauyng
D the brightnes of God. And her shynynge was lyke vnto a stone moste precious, euen lyke a Jasper cleare as Cristall: & had walles great & hye, & had .xii. gates & at ꝑ gates xii. Angels: and names written, which are the names of the .xii. trybes of Israell: on ꝑ East parte .iii. gates, & on the Northside .iii. gates, & towardes the South .iii. gates, & from the West thre gates, and the wall of the cytie had .xii. foundacyons: and in them ꝑ twelue names of ꝑ lambes .xii. apostles.

E And he that talked with me, had a golde reade to measure the cytie with all and the gates therof & the wall therof. And the cytie was bylt .iiii. square, and the lēgth was as large as the bredth, & he measured ꝑ cytie with the (golden) rede .xii. M. furlonges: and the length & the bredth, and the heyth of it, were equall. And he measured the wal therof .an. cxliiii. cubytes: the measure that the angell had, was after the measure that man vseth. And the byldynge of the wal of it was of Jasper. And the cytie was pure golde, lyke vnto cleare glasse, and the foūdacions of the wall of the cytie were garnished with al maner of precious stones. The F fyrst foundacion was Jaspis, the seconde Saphyre, the thyrde a Calcedony, ꝑ fourth an Emeralde, the fyft Sardonix, the syxte Sardeos, the seuenth Crysolite, the eyght Berall, the .ix. a Topas, the tenth a Crisoprasos, the eleuenth a Jacynte, the twelueth an Amathist.

The twelue gates were twelue pearles, euery gate was of one pearle, and the strete of the cytie was pure golde, as thorow shynynge glasse. And I sawe no temple therin.
G For the Lorde God almighty and the lambe are the temple of it. *And the cytie hath *Esa. lx. b
no nede of ꝑ sonne, nether of ꝑ mone to lighten it. For the brightnes of God dyd lyght it, and the lambe was the lyght of it. And the people which are saued shall walke in the lyght of it. And the kinges of the earth shall bringe their glory (and honour) vnto it. * And ꝑ gates of it are not shut by daye. *Esa. lx. c
For there shalbe no nyght there. (And vnto it shal euery bringe ꝑ glory & honour of the nacions.) And there shall enter into it none vncleane thinge, nether whatsoeuer worketh abhominacion or maketh lyes: but they only which are wrytten in the lambes boke of lyfe.

¶ The .xxii. Chapter.

¶ The ryuer of the water of lyfe. The frutefulnes and lyght of the cytie of God. The Lorde geueth ouer his seruauntes warnynge of thinges to come. the angell will not be worshipped. To ꝑ worde of God maye nothyng be added nor mynished.

AND he shewed me a pure ryuer of A watter of lyfe, clere as Crystall: proceadynge out of the seate of God, and the lambe. In the middes of the strete of it, and of either syde of the ryuer, was ther woode of lyfe: which bare twelue maner of frutes: & gaue frute euery moneth: & the leues of the wood serued to heale ꝑ people with all. And ther shalbe no more curse, but the seate of God and the lambe shalbe in it: and hys seruauntes shall serue hym. And they shall se hys face, and his name shalbe in their foreheddes B
*And there shall be no nyght there, & they *Esa. lx. b
nede no candle, nether light of the sunne: for the Lorde God geueth the lyght, and they shall raygne for euermore.

And he sayde vnto me: these sayinges are faythfull and true. And the Lorde God of ꝑ holy Prophetes sent hys Angell to shewe vnto hys seruauntes, the thynges whyche must shortly be fulfylled. Beholde, I come shortly. *Happy is he that kepeth ꝑ sayinge *Apoca. i. a of the prophesy of thys boke. I am John, which sawe these thynges and herde them. And when I had herde & sene, *I fell doune C to worshyppe before the fete of the Angell, *Apoca. vi. b whyche shewed me these thynges. And he sayde vnto me: se thou do it not, for I am thy felowe seruaunt, & thy felowe seruaunt of thy brethren the Prophetes, and of them which kepe the sayinges of (the prophesye of) D thys boke. But worshyppe God.

And he sayde vnto me: seale not the sayinges of the prophesy of this boke. For the tyme is at hande. He that doeth euyll, let him do euyll styll: and he which is filthy, let him be fylthy styll: and he that is ryghteous, let hym be more ryghteous: & he that is holy, let hym be more holy. And beholde, I come shortly, and my rewarde is with me, to geue euery man accordynge as his dedes shal be. I am Alpha and Omega, ꝑ begynninge and the ende: the fyrst and the last. Blessed are they that do his cōmaundementes, that their power maye be in the tree of lyfe, and maye entre in thorow the gates vnto the cytie. * For without shalbe dogges and in- *Gen. xliiii. Apoca. i. b chaunters, and whoremongers, and murtherers, and ydolaters, & whosoeuer loueth or maketh leasynges.

I Jesus sent myne Angell, to testifye vn- D to you these thynges in the congregacions. I am the rote and the generacion of Dauid and the bryght morninge starre. And the spirite and the bryde saye come. And let him that heareth, saye also: come. * And let him *Esay. lv. a that is a thyrst: come. And let whosoeuer Joha. vii. f wyll, take of the watter of lyfe, free.

I testifye vnto euery man that heareth ꝑ wordes of the prophesy of thys boke: * yf *Deut. xiii. a and. xii. b Prou. xxx. a eny mā shall adde vnto these thynges, God shall shall adde vnto hym the plages þ are wrytten in thys boke. And yf eny man shall mynusche of the wordes of the boke of this prophesy, God shall take away hys parte out of þ boke of lyfe, and out of þ holy cytie, and from the thynges which are written in this boke. He wyche testifyeth these thynges, sayeth: be it. I come quyckly. Amē.

Euen so come Lorde Jesu.
The grace of our Lorde Jesu Christ be wyth you all.
Amen.

¶ The ende of the newe Testament,

¶ A Table to fynde

the Epistles and Gospels vsually red in the church, after Salysbury vse, wherof þ first lyne is the Epistle, & the other the Gospell: Whose begynning thou shalt fynde in þ boke marked with a crosse ✠ and the ende wyth halfe a crosse, ✠ conteyned within the letters,
A.B.C.D. &c.

¶ On the fyrst Sondaye in Aduent.
Thys also we. Roma.xiii.c
And whan they drue nye. Matth.xxi.a
¶ On the wednisdaye
We pacyent therfore bzethren. Jacob.v.b
The begynnynge of Marc.i.a
¶ On the frydaye
Herken vnto me Esaie.li.a
In those dayes came John Matth.iii.a ¶ On the seconde sondaye in Aduent Whatsoeuer thynges Roma.xv.a
And there shalbe sygnes Luke.xxi.c
¶ On the wednisdaye
Thus sayeth the Lorde zacha.viii.a Uerely I saye vnto you Matth.xi.b
¶ On the frydaye
I haue set watchmen Esai.lxii.b
John beareth wytnesse John.i.b
¶ On the thyrde sondaye in Aduent
Let a mā thys wyse esteme vs 1.Cor.iiii.a Whan John beynge Matth.xi.a
¶ On the wednisdaye
Thys is the worde Esaie.ii.a
And in the syxte monieth Luke.i.c
¶ On the frydaye
There shall come a rod Esaie.xi.a
And Mary arose in Luke.i.b
¶ On the.iiii. sondaye in Aduent.
Reioyce in the Lorde Philip.iiii.a
And this is the recorde John.i.b
¶ On the wednisdaye
Be glad than Joel.ii.f
And thys rumoure of Luke.vii.c
¶ On the frydaye
Be glad and reioyce zacha.ii.c
Take hede, beware Marc.viii.b ¶ On Christmasse euen
Paule the seruaunt Roma.i.a
When his mother Mary Matth.i.c
¶ On Christmasse nyght at the.i.masse
For the grace of God Titum.ii.b
And it chaunced in those Luke.ii.a
At the seconde masse
But after that the kyndnesse Titus.iii.a
The shepeherdes spake to Luke.ii.c
At the thyrde masse
God in tyme past Hebre.i.a
In the begynnynge was John.i.a
¶ On sayncte Steuens daye
Steuen full of fayth Actes.vi.c
Wherfore beholde I send Matth.xxiii.d
¶ On S. John the Euangelist daye
He that feareth God Eccle.xv.a Folowe me. Peter turnyd John.xxi.f
¶ On Chyldermasse daye
And I loked and loo Apocalyp.xiiii.a
An angell of the Lorde Matth.ii.c ¶ On the sondaye after Christmasse
And I saye that the heyre Galat.iiii.a
And his father and mother Luke.ii.c
¶ On newyeares daye
For the grace of God Titus.ii.b
And whan the eyght daye Luke.ii.c ¶ On the twelfe euen.
For the grace of God Titus.ii.b
But whan Herode was Matth.ii.d
¶ On the twelfe daye
Get the vp by tymes Esaie.lx.a Whan Jesus was borne Matth.ii.a ¶ On the fyrst sondaye after. xii. daye
O Lorde I wyll thanke the Esaie.lx.a
The next daye after John John.i.d ¶ On the.ii. sondaye after. xii. daye
And I beseche you therfore Roma.xii.a Whan he was twelue Luke.ii.c ¶ On the.iii. sondaye after. xii. daye
Seynge that we haue Roma.xii.b
And the thyrde daye John.ii.a
¶ On the.iiii. sondaye after. xii. daye.
Be not wyse in youre Roma.xii.c
Whan Jesus came. Matth.viii.a

¶ On

¶On the .v. sondaye after .xii. daye
Owe nothynge to any man Roma. xiii. a
And whan he entred into Matth. viii. c
¶On the .vi. sondaye after .xii. daye
Put ye on therfore Coloss. iii. b
The kyngdome of heauen Matth. xiii. d
¶On septuagesima sondaye
Perceaue ye not how that they i. Cor. ix. d
The kyngdome of heauen Matth. xx. a ¶On Sexagesima sondaye
Ye suffre fooles gladly ii. Corin. xi. d
Whan moche people were Luke. viii. a
¶On Quinquagesima sondaye
Though I spake i. Corin. xiii. a Jesus toke vnto hym the Luke. xviii. d
¶On Ashwednisdaye
Now therfore sayeth Joel. ii. c
Moreouer whan ye fast, be Matth. vi. a
¶On the frydaye
Crye now as loude Esaye. lviii. a
Ye haue hearde that it is Matth. v. g
¶On the fyrst sondaye in lent
We also as helpers ii. Corin. vi. a Then was Jesus led of Matth, iiii. a
¶On the wednisdaye
And the Lorde sayde Exod. xxiii. c
Then certayne of ꝑ Scrybes Matth. xii. d
¶On the frydaye
The same soule that Ezech. xviii. c
After this was John. v. a
¶On the seconde sondaye in lent Farthermore brethren i. Thessalo. iii. a
And Jesus went Matth. xv. c
¶On the wednisdaye
But Mardoch thought Hester. xiii. d
And Jesus goynge vp to Matth. xx. b
¶On the frydaye
Cursed be the man Jere. xvii. b
Jean of myne awne. John. v. c ¶On the thyrde sondaye in lent
Be ye therfore the Ephe. v. a
And he was castynge out Luke. xi. b
¶On the wednisdaye
Honoure thy father Exod. xx. b
Then came vnto Jesus Matth. xv. a
¶On the frydaye
And the congregacion had Nume. xx. a
Then came he m to John. iiii. a
¶On the fourth sondaye in lent
For it is wrytten that Gala. iiii. c
Jesus went John. vi. a
¶On the wednisdaye.
And Exe. xxxvi. e Esay. i. c
And Jesus goynge by John. ix. a
¶On the frydaye
And after these actes iii. Reg. xvii. c
A certayne mā was sycke called John. xi. a ¶On the .v. sondaye in lent
But Christ beynge Hebre. ix. e
Whych of you can rebuke John. viii. f
¶On the wednisdaye
And the Lorde spake Leuit. xix. a
And it was at Jerusalem John. x. e
¶On the frydaye.
Lorde, all they that for Jere. xvii. c
Then gathered the hygh John. xi. f
¶On Palme sondaye
Let the same mynde be Philip. ii. a
Ye knowe that after two Mat. xxvi. a
¶On the wednisdaye
Who hath geuen Esa. liii. a
The feast of swete breade Luke. xxii. a ¶On good frydaye.
The Lorde spake vnto Exo. xii. a Whan Jesus had spoken John. xviii. a
¶On Easter euen
Yf ye be therfore rysen Col. iii. a
Upon an euenynge of the Mat. xxviii. a ¶On Easter daye.
Pourge therfore the olde i. Cor. v. b
And whan the sabboth was Mar. xvi. a
¶On the mondaye
But Peter openyd Actu. x. d
And beholde two of them Luke. xxiiii. b
¶On the tewsdaye.
Ye men, and brethren, ye chyl. Actu. xiii. d
Jesus stode in the myd Luke. xxiiii. d
¶On the wednisdaye
Ye men of Israell, why Actu. iii. c
Afterwarde dyd Jesus John. xxi. a
¶On the thursdaye
The angell of the Lorde Actu. viii. c
Mary stode without at John. xx. b
¶On the frydaye
For as moche as Christ i. Pet. ii. c
Then the eleuen disciples Mat. xxviii. d
¶On the saterdaye
Laye awaye therfore i. Pet. ii. a
On the fyrst daye of the John. xx. a
¶On the fyrst sondaye after Easter.
For all that is borne of i. John. v. a
The same daye at nyght John. xx. d
¶On the seconde sondaye after Easter
Christ also suffred for i. Pet. ii. d
I am the good shepeherde John. x. b
¶On the thyrde sondaye after Easter
Dearly beloued I i. Pet. ii. e
After a whyle, and John. xvi. c
¶On the fourth sondaye after Easter
Euery good gyfte Jaco. i. c
But now I go my waye John. xvi. b
¶On the .v. sondaye
And se that ye be doers Jaco. i. d
Verely, ye. whatsoeuer ye shall John. xvi. f
¶On the mondaye
Knowledge youre faultes Jaco. v. d
Yf eny of you shall Luke. xi. a
¶On the tewsdaye
Exhorte therfore i. Tim. ii. a
And when Jesus sat ouer Mar. xii. d
¶On the wednisdaye
The multitude of the Actu. iiii. g
These wordes spake Jesus John. xvii. a
¶On the Ascencion daye

The Table.

-phearyd Actu.i.a War.xvi.c
¶ On the sondaye after the Ascencion.
Be ye therfore sobre and i.Pet.iiii.b
But whan the confortter John.xv.b ¶ On Wytsondaye euen
It fortuned, whyle apol. Actu.xix.a Yf ye loue me, kepe my John.xiiii.b
¶ On wytsondaye
And whan the dayes Actu.ii.a Yf a man loue me John.xiiii.c
¶ On the mondaye
And he commaunded vs Actu.x.f
For God so loued the John.iii.c
¶ On the tewsdaye
Whan the Apostles Actu.viii.c
Verely, verely, &c. he that John.x.a
¶ On the wednisdaye.
But Peter stepped vp Actu.ii.c
No man can come vnto John.vi.c
¶ On the thursdaye
Then came Philip into a cytie Actu.viii.a Jesus called the twelue Luke.ix.a
¶ On the frydaye
Ye men of Israell, heare Actu.ii.b
And it happened vpon a daye Luke.v.b
¶ On the saterdaye
And the nexte Sabboth Actu.xiii.f
And when he was ryssen Luke.iiii.f
¶ On trinite Sondaye.
After thys I loked, and Actu.viii.a Ther was a man of the John.iii.a
¶ On corpus Christi daye
That whyche I delyuered i.Cozin.xi.b
For my flesshe is meate John.vi.f
¶ On the fyrst sondaye after trinite.
God is loue, and he that i.John.iiii.b
Ther was a certayne Luke.xvi.c ¶ On the seconde sondaye after trinite
Marnayle not my brethren i.John.iii.c
A certayne man made Luke.xiii.d ¶ On the thyrde sondaye after trinite
Submyt your selues i.Pet.v.b
Then resorted vnto hym Luke.xv.a ¶ On the fourth sondaye after trinite
For I suppose that the Roma.viii.a
Be ye therfore mercy Luke.vi.f
On th. v. sondaye after trinite
In conclusion be ye i.Pet.iii.b
It came to passe that whan Luke.v.a ¶ On the. vi. sondaye after trinite
Knowe ye not, that Roma.vi.a
For I saye vnto you: Matth.v.c.
¶ On the. vii. sondaye.
I speake grossy be Roma.vi.d
In these dayes whan War.viii.a ¶ On the eyght sondaye
Therfore brethren Roma.viii.c
Beware of false Matth.vii.b
¶ On the.ix. sondaye
We shulde not lust after i.Cor.x.b
And he sayde also vnto Luke.xvi.a ¶ On the.x. sondaye
Ye knowe that ye were i.Cozin.xii.a
And as he was come Luke.xix.f
¶ On the eleuenth sondaye
Brethren as partaynynge i.Cozin.x.a
And he tolde thys Luke.xviii.b
¶ On the twelueth sondaye
Haue we suche trust ii.Cozin.iii.a
And he departed War.vii.b
¶ On the.xiii. sondaye
To Abram and hys Gala.iii.c
Happy are the eyes Luke.x.b
¶ On the.xiiii. sondaye
I saye walke in the spyrite Gala.v.c
And it chaunced as he Luke.xvii.c ¶ On the.xv. sondaye
Yf we lyue in the spyrite Gala.v.d
No man can serue two Matth.vi.d ¶ On the.xvi. sondaye Wherfore I desyre Ephe.iii.b
And it fortuned after Luke.vii.b ¶ On the.xvii. sondaye
I therfore whyche Ephes.iiii.a
And it chaunsed Luke.xiiii.a ¶ On the.xviii. sondaye
I thanke my God i.Cozin.i.a
But when the Pharyses Matth.xxii.b ¶ On the.xix. sondaye
To be renewed Ephes.iiii.a
He entred also Matth.ix.a
¶ On the.xx. sondaye
Take heede therfore Ephe.v.d
And Jesus answered Matth.xxii.a ¶ On the.xxi. sondaye
Fynally my brethren be ye Ephesi.vi.b
And ther was a certayne John.iiii.f
¶ On the.xxii. sondaye
I thanke my God in Philip.i.a Therfore is the kyngdome Matth.xviii.a ¶ On the.xxiii. sondaye
Brethren be followers Philip.iii.d
Then went the Pharises Matth.xxii.b
¶ On the.xxiiii. sondaye
For thys cause we also Collosse.i.b
Whyle he thus spake Matth.ix.e
¶ On the last sondaye after trinite
Beholde, the tyme come Hiere.xxiii.b
After these thynges John vi.a
¶ On the wednisdaye in the Ember weke afore Wighelmasse
Beholde the tyme come Amos.ix.b
And one of the company War.ix.b
¶ On the frydaye
O Israell turne the nowe Osee.xiiii.a
And one of the Pharyses Luke.vii.
¶ On the saterdaye
For there was afore tabern. Hebre.ix.
A certayne man had Luke.xiii.
¶ In the dedication of the churche.

And I John sawe the Apocal.xxi.a
And he turned in,and Luke.xix.a

¶ Here endeth the table of the Epistles and Gospels of the Sondayes.

¶ Here followeth the table of the Epistles & Gospels whych are vsed to be red on dyuers sayncters dayes in the yeare.

¶ On sayncte Andrewes daye
For to beleue with Roma.x.a
Jesus walkynge by Matth.iiii.c
¶ On the conception of our Lady
As the vyne haue I Eccle.xxiiii.c
The boke of the generacion Matth.i.a
¶ On S. Thomas the Apostle daye
Therfore are ye not Ephes.ii.b
But Thomas one of John.xx.f
¶ On candelmasse daye.
Beholde, I wyll sende Malach.iii.a
And whan the dayes Luke.ii.b
¶ On S. Mathias the Apostle
And in those dayes Peter Actu.i.c
In that tyme Jesus Matth.xi.b
¶ On the daye of the Annunciacio or gretynge of our Lady.
Moreouer God spake vnto Ach. Esa.vii.ii
And in the syxt moneth Luke.i.c
¶ On S. George daye
Counte it all maner ioye Jacob.i.a
I am the true vyne John.xv.a
¶ On S. Markes daye
But now euery one of Ephe.iii.a
I am the true vyne John.xv.a
¶ On S. Philippe and Jacobs daye
Then shall the ryghteous Sap.v.a
And he sayde vnto his John.xiiii.a ¶ On the xxv[illegible]
herken vnto m[illegible]
When Elisabeths tyme Luke.i.f
¶ On S. Peter & Paules daye
At the same tyme Actu.xii.a
Jesus came into the Matth.xvi.c
¶ On S. Mary Magdalene daye
Who so fyndeth Prouer.xxxi.b
And one of the Pharyses Luke.vii.f
¶ On S. James the Apostle daye
Now therfore ye are not Ephes.ii.d
Then came to hym Matth.xx.c
¶ On the Assumpcion of oure lady.
In all these thynges Eccle.xxiiii.b
It fortuned that as they Luke.x.g
¶ On S. Bartylmewes daye.
Now therfore ye are not Ephes.ii.d
And there was a stryfe Luke.xxii.c
¶ On the natiuite of oure lady
As the the vyne haue I Eccle.xxiiii.c
The boke of the generacion Matth.i.a
¶ On S. Mathues daye
The lykenes of foure Ezech.i.b
And as Jesus Matth.ix.a
¶ On S. Mighels daye
And he shewed it Apocalyp.i.a
In that houre came the Matth.xviii.a
¶ On S. Lukes daye
The lykenes of foure Ezechiel.i.b
After thys appoynted Luke.x.a
¶ On S. Simon and Jude daye
But we knowe that Roma.viii.c
This commaunde I you John.xv.c
¶ On all halowe daye
And I sawe another Apocalyp.vii.a
Jesus seynge the people Matth.v.a
¶ On all soules daye
I wolde not brethren i. Thessalo.iiii.d
Then sayde Martha John.xi.c

¶ The ende of the table.

The ende of the newe Testament:

and of the whole Byble, Fynyshed in Apryll, Anno M.CCCCC.xl.

Adño factū est istud.

And I John sawe the Apocal.xxi.a
And he turned in, and Luke.xix.a

¶ Here endeth the table of the Epistles and Gospels of the Sondayes.

¶ Here followeth the table of the Epistles & Gospels wbych are vsed to be red on dyuers sayntes dayes in the yeare.

¶ On sayncte Andrewes daye
For to beleue with Roma.x.a
Jesus walkynge by Matth.iiii.c
¶ On the conception of our Lady
As the vyne haue I Eccle.xxiiii.e
The boke of the generacion Matth.i.a
¶ On S. Thomas the Apostle daye
Therfore are ye not Ephes.ii.d
But Thomas one of John.xx.f
¶ On candelmasse daye.
Beholde, I wyll sende Malach.iii.a
And whan the dayes Luke.ii.d
¶ On S. Mathias the Apostle
And in those dayes Peter Actu.i.c
In that tyme Jesus Matth.xi.d
¶ On the daye of the Annunciacio or gretynge of our Lady.
Moreouer God spake vnto Ach. Esa.vii.b
And in the syxt moneth Luke.i.c
¶ On S. George daye
Counte it all maner ioye Jacob.i.a
I am the true vyne John.xv.a
¶ On S. Markes daye
But now euery one of Ephe.iii.a
I am the true vyne John.xv.a
¶ On S. Philippe and Jacobs daye
Then shall the ryghteous Sap.v.a
And he sayde vnto his John.xiiii.a ¶ On the [illegible]
herken vnto m[illegible] pe
When Elisabeths tyme Lunc.i.f
¶ On S. Peter & Paules daye
At the same tyme Actu.xii.a
Jesus came into the Matth.xvi.c
¶ On S. Mary Magdalene daye
Who so fyndeth Prouer.xxxi.b
And one of the Pharyses Luke.vii.f
¶ On S. James the Apostle daye
Now therfore ye are not Ephes.ii.d
Then came to hym Matth.xx.c
¶ On the Assumpcion of oure lady.
In all these thynges Eccle.xxiiii.b
It fortuned that as they Luke.x.g
¶ On S. Bartylmews daye.
Now therfore ye are not Ephes.ii.d
And there was a stryfe Luke.xxii.c
¶ On the natiuite of oure lady
As the the vyne haue I Eccle.xxiiii.c
The boke of the generacion Matth.i.a
¶ On S. Mathues daye
The lykenes of foure Ezech.i.b
And as Jesus Matth.ix.a
¶ On S. Mighels daye
And he shewed it Apocalyp.i.a
In that houre came the Matth.xviii.a
¶ On S. Lukes daye
The lykenes of foure Ezechiel.i.b
After thys appoynted Luke.x.a
¶ On S. Simon and Jude daye
But we knowe that Roma.viii.e
This commaunde I you John.xv.e
¶ On all halowe daye
And I sawe another Apocalyp.vii.a
Jesus seynge the people Matth.v.a
¶ On all soules daye
I wolde not brethren i.Thessalo.iiii.d
Then sayde Martha John.xi.c

¶ The ende of the table,

The ende of the newe Testament:

and of the whole Byble, Fynyshed in Apryll, Anno. M.CCCCC.xL.

✠

A dño factū est istud.